

DEATH COMES AFTER AUTO STRIKES GIRL

Six-Year-Old Irene Pickard Is Victim of Tragedy Tuesday

Struck by an automobile Tuesday afternoon as she walked behind a threshing machine that was passing by her grandparents' home on Base Line road, six miles west of Northville, Irene Pickard, six years old, died Wednesday morning at St. Joseph's hospital, Ann Arbor.

Edward Waterstead, R. E. D. No. 1, South Lyon, driver of the car, was exonerated.

According to stories of the tragedy, Irene was walking with her 11-year-old brother, William, behind the moving threshing machine. She is said to have walked out of the path following the threshing machine directly in front of the Waterstead car giving the driver no opportunity to turn out.

She had attended the district school and would have entered the second grade in September.

She leaves her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Pickard, and her brother, William, besides her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Hartman, at whose home she was staying with her mother, and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Pickard, also grandparents.

The funeral will be held this (Friday) afternoon at two o'clock from the Schrader funeral home. The Rev. Cora M. Pennel of Salem will officiate.

The entire community is in deep sympathy with these grief-stricken parents in their great sorrow.

P. H. GRENNAN BACK AFTER QUICK TRIP TO CHICAGO MEETING

Phil Grennan, head of the Farm Crest Bakery of Detroit, who lives on the Six Mile road near the Plymouth road, was called to Chicago during the early part of the week to confer with other large employers regarding the National Industrial Recovery act now being put into effect all through the country by President Roosevelt.

Mr. Grennan is well known here for his extensive activities in promoting the annual Northville Horse Show held along with the fair, Aug. 23 to 26.

Mr. Grennan returned here yesterday (Thursday) from his trip.

BUSINESS MEN AND OTHERS URGED TO USE PARKING LOT

Residents of Northville are urged to use the lot at the corner of Main street and Center street to park their cars when they are down town leaving the streets free for the use of visitors and shoppers. The lot has recently been regraded by the village officers under the supervision of Earl Montgomery, local street commissioner. Space is provided for 20 cars.

SHOWERS ON SUNDAY BRING RELIEF FROM DEVASTATING HEAT

Sudden and refreshing showers coming late last Sunday brought welcome relief from the intense heat that prevailed during the latter part of last week. Most of the day the thermometer hovered around the 100 degree mark and few believed relief, temporary or otherwise, would be had by evening. A strong wind accompanied the shower and helped to send the mercury down to a more normal temperature.

CHORUS REHEARSALS TO BE RESUMED

After an interval of vacation from the rehearsals for the cantata "Queen Esther" while the director, Geo. L. Howes of Detroit, who is making his home in Northville temporarily, underwent a series of treatments at the University hospital, Ann Arbor, the practice will be resumed next week. The plans in the mean time have grown and the cantata to be given will be even bigger and better than was originally arranged. Some new material will be added to the chorus which will make for its improvement.

On the whole expressions of approval because the cantata will be postponed until cooler weather have been heard.

REFORESTATION YOUTHS REBEL AT POOR FOOD

Seven Northvillians Return To Village From Camp At Kenton

"We're fed up on beans," declare the seven boys who have "struck" from the C. C. 1612 from Kenton, where they have been stationed in the reforestation work for the past few weeks. "The food was terrible," the boys say, "so we fled from it all and came home to mother's good cooking for a time."

The Northville boys who have come back are Russell Alger, Irving Ware, Chester Bud, Frank Hinchman, Jas. Coffey, Dick Kerr and Monroe Weston.

"And were not the only ones who could not stand it," say these boys. About 15 have left camp, some from Plymouth, Farmington, Trenton and other places. The Northville boys plan to return in a week or two when they hope conditions will be improved.

LEGION TEAM GETS TWO MORE WINS

Beating Hazel Park here in a thrilling eleven inning game, 6-5 Saturday afternoon, and trouncing Farmington 17-10 there Sunday afternoon, the Northville Legion baseball team has hit its stride.

In the overtime contest Saturday Coach Ray Van Alenburgh's efforts surpassed their previous best efforts. Airy fielding and hitting kept the score down and going into their half of the ninth inning, Northville was on the short end of a 5-3 score. Hochkins, hurler, was put in as a pinch-hitter when Moose and Riley were on base. He hit a triple scoring both the base-runners and tied the count at five all.

In the eleventh inning with Moose on base, Hochkins again came through with a single bringing in Moose and winning the game. Ray Westphall, Northville pitcher, held the Park boys to only four hits.

Sunday at Farmington the boys ran away with their opposition and garnered 26 hits from three pitchers for a total of 17 runs. Farmington reached Hochkins for 15 hits of which ten were turned into runs.

Saturday afternoon the boys met the Royal Oak nine, as yet undefeated, in a game here at the fair grounds. In a previous game there Northville was defeated and the local team is sure that it can beat the intruders tomorrow if given good support by Northville spectators. Royal Oak carries a heavy rooting barrage wherever it travels and it is hoped that all Northville will turn out to give encouragement at the local team.

Sunday the Northville juniors will meet Pontiac in a game to be played there.

OUTSIDE CONTACTS KEEP NORTHVILLE ALIVE SAYS PASTOR

"Northville is fortunate," said Rev. H. G. Whitfield to an audience of Presbyterians and Methodists Sunday "to be within easy access of a large city so that real outstanding characters come to us often bringing refreshing interests and new ideas."

"Northville is in reality a cosmopolitan community with outside contacts which keep it liberal and free from narrowness."

"This outside influence," said he, "is the salvation of any town."

In striking contrast, the speaker described the small isolated village where everyone is related to everyone else and the community stagnates in self-satisfaction.

Blue Ribbon Belgian Horses and Brown Swiss Cattle Win Praise As Experts Visit Porath Farm

As a part of the annual South-eastern Michigan Horse Tour, nearly 35 horse breeders from all over Michigan inspected the beautiful Belgian horses at the Julius Porath & Sons farm on the Six Mile road near here last Friday.

The party was conducted by Professor Ralph Hudson of the Michigan State College, at East Lansing, and Mr. Moxley of the Colt Club of the college, and during the day stopped off at several notable horse farms in this part of the state. These included, besides the Porath's the Ira Wilson & Son farm near Fowlerville, the John A. Brown farm at South Rockwood, the C. E. Sorenson farm near Farmington, and the A. L. Knack farm at Anchorville.

At the Porath farm, Manager Jas. Robertson put on a regular "fair" for the party. He showed them all of the 33 fine Belgian draft horses, hatched the Porath prize three year

GIRLS START ACTIVITIES AT PLAYGROUNDS

Salem, Rotary Are Heading Two Six-Team Leagues

Grade school girls will have their turn at the playground starting Monday from 8:30 each morning to 11:30 each evening, week day and the older girls will begin from 1:30 to 3:30 each afternoon.

No playground activities will be held on Saturday or Sunday afternoons when Coach Thompson will get a little time off.

Jane Lester and Catherine McKenna will officiate the girls' play.

SENIOR LEAGUE

The Senior Playground League games which are being played nightly at the school grounds are drawing the attention of many townspeople to witness them besides providing recreational activity for those taking part. Many of the games have ended with scores far different than anyone expected.

In the "A" League Salem has taken the lead with two games won and none lost. In the "B" League the top leaders are the Rotary club, who after losing part of their players to the Methodist team, staged a royal comeback against that team Wednesday night and defeated them 5-1.

A. L. ANDERSONS HAVE MOVED TO DETROIT

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Anderson, who have resided here for the past two years, moved to Detroit Thursday. Mr. Anderson will continue to publish his magazine, "The National Stethoscope," in Northville.

During his stay in Northville Mr. Anderson has been quite closely associated with the Record in his editing of the Stethoscope and has made a number of valuable contributions to the Record. Both he and Mrs. Anderson have many friends here who will regret their leaving.

STREET NAMES TO BE CURB-STENCILLED

George Snyder, Pontiac, who petitioned the council and received permission to stencil the names of all street intersections on the adjoining curbs without cost to the village, started Thursday morning and expects to complete his work in four days.

Following this Mr. Snyder will solicit Northville residents to be allowed to stencil the complete house numbers on the curbs in front of their homes for the sum of twenty-five cents.

NEW MEAT MARKET STARTS TOMORROW

Henry Pullberg, former manager of the Plymouth Purify Market No. 2, will open a modern, up to date meat market at 104 East Main street, next to Horton's drug store Saturday morning.

The new market will be equipped with eight, ten, and twelve feet counters, two counter scales, an eight by ten-foot ice box, and other supplementary equipment. The entire store has been redecorated in green and cream colors.

Mr. Pullberg brings ten years' experience as a butcher with him to the Ideal Cash Market, as the new place will be called, and is well known to many people in this community.

As a good will offering on his first day in the new store Mr. Pullberg is offering a package of bacon free with each purchase of $1.00 or more. Favors will also be distributed.

2,000 ATTEND STREET DANCE

Another Big Event Tomorrow

"Let's go to Northville!"

That is the cry that rings through every household near Northville and neighboring communities Saturday evening when the whole family looks forward to a free Street Dance and Treasure Hunt offered by the merchants of this town.

Going into its sixth consecutive week the entertainment draws a crowd of over 2,000 into Northville each Saturday night at eight o'clock when Scott Montgomery and his Rhythm Kings take their seats on North Center street between Main and Duquoin streets to start the famous dance that sets the many couples dancing. At nine p. m. the dancing ceases and the Treasure Hunt begins.

Crowds pour up and down the business section grasping the tickets they have received from merchants during the week looking for the numbers posted in the store windows. Should they hold the corresponding number on their ticket they will receive a handsome award.

SCHULER VISITORS AVERT TRAGEDY AT FARMINGTON HOME

Credit Carolyn Stewart, nine years old, and Jimmy Schmidt, seven years old, of Detroit, with saving the lives Wednesday afternoon of two Farmington children who would have burned to death in their beds had not the alert house guests of Mrs. L. J. Schmidt glimpsed the fire on the roof of their home on Powers road just outside of Farmington.

Mrs. Schmidt is housekeeper for Father Jos. G. Schuler at 239 Thayer Boulevard and her visitors were invited to accompany Father Joe on his trip to Farmington.

Returning about five o'clock in the afternoon the youngsters glimpsed the blaze and informed Father Schuler, who seeing the roof on fire, immediately told the lady of the house.

Rushing upstairs they found two children peacefully asleep in their beds as the flames ate at their blankets.

The children were awakened and taken from the house while the Farmington Fire department put out the blaze.

AMERICAN LEGION POST AND AUXILIARY HEAR WELFARE TALK

On Tuesday, July 25, the American Legion Auxiliary and Post had the pleasure of listening to Miss Ruth A. McIntyre, child welfare case worker for the American Legion department of Michigan.

This is Miss McIntyre's third tour of the state of Michigan. Miss McIntyre's topic was intended to acquaint all with Legion's Child Welfare program, particularly for the tuberculous and under-nourished child.

It was very gratifying to the listeners to hear of the work that is being carried on along that line by the Legion Post and Units in the state of Michigan.

Miss McIntyre is especially interested in this line of work and therefore her talk was most enjoyable. She also spoke of the Children's Ballet at Otter Lake, what a beautiful home it is for children, illustrating her talk with many pictures.

A luncheon was served at one o'clock in her honor. Other guests present were Mrs. Bray, Mrs. Harry Wagenschultz and Mrs. Ward Lester, school nurse, chairman of the local Red Cross and President of the Parent-Teachers' Association respectively.

ATCHISON HOSPITAL

A ten-poung daughter, Irene Gertrude, was born July 22, to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Matthews of Plymouth.

Mrs. Herr is gaining steadily in strength and if her present improvement continues she will be able to return home next week.

Mrs. Chas. A. Sessions is still a patient in the hospital, gaining slowly.

COOL IN THE BASEMENT

Chas. E. Rogers found a way for his family and guests to beat the withering heat of Sunday—it was 102 in the shade at the north side of the Rogers home. Headquarters for the day were established in the recreation room in the basement where the temperature was the enjoyable one of 70 degrees.

from the merchant. At nine-thirty the dancing is resumed.

Saturday evening, despite ninety degree temperature, a large throng was again attracted to the streets of Northville and the evening's entertainment progressed without delay or interruption.

The merry-makers defied the heat and testified to the popularity of the street dance by prolonging their stay here until after midnight. Merchants kept their stores open until nearly the last of the visitors had left town.

The entertainment has aroused widespread comment from people living far away from Northville. Many of those who attended Saturday were from other communities and their remarks complimenting the merchants of this community on their enterprise and initiative in holding the weekly free entertainment were heard on every side.

Tomorrow evening the free entertainment will again be held through the cooperation of the merchants and as usual, everyone is invited to partake in the fun.

DR. SPARLING AND DR. HARRIS SPEAK AT EXCHANGE CLUB

Northville exchangers journeyed to Tennessee through the eyes of a guest, Dr. S. Harris, and then took a long jump with exchange Dr. H. I. Sparling, recently returned from the charming island of Bermuda, at their weekly luncheon at the Methodist church house Wednesday night.

Dr. Harris spoke briefly on the charms of the Rhea Lake country, Tennessee, as a summer resort. He complimented exchangers on the beauty of the countryside around Northville and expressed a desire to meet the members in their places of business and to talk to them concerning their work.

Dr. Sparling told of spending several days in New York before embarking on the "Queen of Bermuda," a large ocean liner, on which he and his wife, Dr. Irene, Sparling, were taken to the coral island, Bermuda.

Fishing and swimming facilities are excellent and the opportunities for unnumberable interesting side trips are many. Glass bottomed row boats according to the doctor, afford a picturesque view of the many coral formations in and around the island.

Sea travel, he said, afforded some of the passengers both on the trip there and the return but luckily he was spared the discomfort attendant to sea-sickness.

Kenneth Rathbun told exchangers that the club cup had been picked out and the members approved the motion to place the award in the poultry show of the Northville Wayne County Fair to be held August 23-26.

John Mills of Detroit was also a guest.

REV. H. G. WHITFIELD REMINDED OF BIRTHDAY

As evidence of the high esteem in which they hold their friend, Rev. H. G. Whitfield, a group of about fifteen young married folks of the Presbyterian church dropped in to surprise him and wish him "many happy returns" on the occasion of his birthday, Monday evening, July 24.

The pleasantest kind of an evening was spent together by these folks who pay high tribute to their pastor who not only maintains the dignity of his profession but "as such a real friend that we feel so at ease with him—he is so human."

Gifts of various kinds were added tokens of their regard. Light refreshments were served by the hostess.

15 DRUM-BUGLE CORPS ENTER FAIR CONTEST

$300 In Awards To Go To Winners Of Event

The blare of bugles and the roll of drums will be a feature of the fair day, Northville Wayne County Fair, to be held here August 23 to 26, according to Secretary Floyd A. Northrop.

About 15 Legion Drill teams with their colorful uniforms and shiny instruments will enter into competition on American Legion Day, Saturday, August 26, for prizes amounting to $300. The bands will meet at the Northville village hall at noon and parade to the fair grounds where all but three of the teams will be eliminated and that evening the final judging will take place in front of the fair grandstand.

All of the Legion posts in this district have been invited to attend including teams from Detroit, Highland Park, Royal Oak, Birmingham, Ypsilanti as well as many others.

These teams are preparing to go to the National American Convention to be held in Chicago during September. For this reason the various teams will be on their toes to train to meet competition with other states. Drilling experts counts as much in determining the winner as does the quality of the music played.

Competitive spirit will be well displayed by band leaders, for the $300 prize money will go a long way in defraying trip expenses of the winning team to Chicago.

The fair will literally be in the hands of the Legion on the final day and the reputation of that organization for putting on a good show is well known.

Don't miss American Legion Day, August 26.

ROYAL NEIGHBORS HOLED PICNIC AT RIVERSIDE PARK

The annual summer picnic of the Royal Neighbors of America was held Wednesday, July 26, at Riverside Park with camps from Dearborn, Belleville, and Northville attending. Seventy-five members with their children enjoyed a public dinner served at noon. Games and races featured the afternoon's activities.

Miss Maxine Sutherland of Windsor, Canada, was awarded an electric clock by the Belleville group.

The winners in the races were: Balloon Race—Mame Wall, Belleville.

Girls over 14—Martha Wall, Belleville.

Ladies' running race, under 165 lbs.—Irene Wmg, Dearborn.

Ladies' running race, over 165 lbs.—Lula Jackson, Belleville.

Slipper throwing—Ruth Barnabee, Belleville.

Girls over six and under ten—Marion Giamartini, Dearborn.

Young boys' race—Buddy Giamartini, Dearborn.

Older boys' race—Albert Dalph, Belleville.

Girls from 10 to 14 years—Dorothy Langer, Belleville.

Girls under 5 years—Helen Mills, paugh, Ypsilanti.

E. C. Langfield Tells of World Influence of Rotary Clubs As He Reports Boston Convention

Northville Rotarians had an unusual treat at their luncheon program Tuesday at the Presbyterian church house in hearing their delegate to the recent convention of International Rotary at Boston, Mass., tell of his experiences. His vivid descriptions and word pictures were greatly enjoyed by the company.

Perhaps the most startling statement made by Mr. Langfield was his story of conversations with Chinese and Japanese delegates in which he was told that one of the greatest reasons for the laying down of arms between these two nations was the good-will influence of Rotary. The Northville Rotarian asked one of the Chinese delegates if any Chinese city could entertain 10,000 delegates who came from 64 countries to attend the annual world meeting and the Chinese Rotarian replied that the Chinese believed that they could care for the

NORTHVILLE STREET DANCE ORCHESTRA IS LOCAL PRODUCT

Scott Montgomery's Kings Please All With Music

Scott Montgomery's Rhythm Kings are an answer to the oft-asked question of "Can Northville produce a good dance orchestra?"

The answer is emphatically in the affirmative according to over 2,000 visitors to this community Saturday evening and the 40 merchants who each week contribute to the support of the Free Street Dance for which the Rhythm Kings provide the music.

Playing at a greatly reduced fee and rendering the highest type of modern dance music the six boys have pleased everyone with their entertainment.

Many times an "outside" orchestra has been hired in Northville at a charge in excess of what the local boys would have asked if their organization had been formed. Now that they are playing together regularly they are open for any parties or dances for which the services of a dance orchestra would be required.

The six boys composing the orchestra are: Alfred Strasen, Herbert Sailor, Cleon Dye, Wm. Seeger, Peter Perkins, and Scott Montgomery, leader.

LEAVE FOR ISLE ROYALE

Dr. and Mrs. Fandori and two children leave today for a two weeks vacation at Isle Royale. They will make their headquarters at John's Harbor, on the eastern end of the island. The Fandori family were there last year and were so entranced with the charm of the unusual spot that they return again this year. The doctor will be in his office again Monday, August 14.

LOCAL NEWS

Mrs. A. M. Gibson and Miss Hulda Gibson of Flint are guests of the former's niece, Mrs. Chas. R. Smith, Thayer Blvd.

Mrs. Mae Dey of Lansing and Arthur Beyer of Detroit are guests at the Cowell House. W. J. Cowell "is himself again" after his recent illness.

Dr. and Mrs. E. S. Harris, and son, Albert, of Newbern, Tenn., and Miss Ruth Lowrey, Shannon, Miss., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Shives.

Rev. H. G. Whitfield, accompanied by his wife and little daughter, Betty Hale, will leave early in August for a month's vacation in Peterboro, Ont., at the homes of the parents of both.

"READER" PROTESTS V. J. BROWN ARTICLE

Northville Mich. July 23, 1933

Northville Mich. Gentlemen—

It seems to me you could find more uplifting news to fill the columns of your so-called progressive paper than the article you published in your issue of July 21, 1933, as copied from the Ingham County News in reference to teachers, etc., by V. J. Brown. What the people of any good community want to read are facts and not a lot of idle chatter by some disgruntled individual.

I happen to be a taxpayer and my taxes are paid in full to date. Just how much taxes does the author pay?

No, I am not a teacher, just a successful salesman.

Very truly yours, Reader.

E. C. Langfield Tells of World Influence of Rotary Clubs As He Reports Boston Convention

The Northville Rotarian asked one of the Chinese delegates if any Chinese city could entertain 10,000 delegates who came from 64 countries to attend the annual world meeting and the Chinese Rotarian replied that the Chinese believed that they could care for the great convention in one of their chief cities and do as well as other nations have done.

The International convention, which was held June 26-30, was the finest ever held, said Mr. Langfield who has had the privilege of attending two other gatherings. The spirit of international good will shown was remarkable, he said. A large number of wives of delegates were at Boston and 200 cars were constantly at their disposal for sight-seeing purposes. One of the finest treats that the delegates and their wives had was a ride on the ocean. They left Boston in sweltering heat but were soon glad to come down from the upper deck of the boat because of the cold breezes.

Many distinguished men from different nations appeared on the five-day program said Mr. Langfield. Especially fine, he said, was the spirit

WILL THE SALOON COME BACK?

With Alabama, Arkansas and Tennessee all voting last week to repeal the 18th amendment, the end of prohibition is now definitely in sight. The wets claim that the first of January, 1934, will see the close of the dry era.

Ours is a government by majorities and the majorities have surely turned their backs very completely on prohibition. The democrats get the credit for the coming of liquor again. Now this question is raised: "What will they do about the saloon?" President Roosevelt demanded and will get repeal. He is also on record as saying: "We must rightly and morally prevent the return of the saloon." We just wonder how they are going to do it. We shall know more about it a year from now. In the meantime the beer business doesn't seem to have made many men rich.

WILL THE SALES TAX STICK?

In a speech at Hastings, former congressman, John C. Ketcham, predicted that the sales tax might be so unpopular that the people would demand its withdrawal. If this were done, Mr. Ketcham would favor an income tax, although he said that Detroit interests would bitterly oppose this. His reason for favoring the income tax is that the tax falls on those who can afford to pay it. The sales tax is really an income tax that is hitting hardest the man of small means.

The injustice of the sales tax is seen right here in The Record office. We have to pay the tax on job printing, although this is a manufactured product, and although three-fourths of the cost of most jobs lies in labor and overhead and not stock.

Yes, the people are going to get mightily sick of the sales tax before we get through paying it. The other day we bought a quart of raspberries and after paying the 20 cents had to turn around and pay the one cent tax. By the time one does this all day long, he is going to get good and "tax-minded."

And when the people find that they are actually paying millions more than they ever paid in taxes, they are going to rise up and demand that taxes must be stopped in the only way they can be stopped, viz., by cutting costs. Lansing is going to be a hot spot for the next two or three years.

BROWN'S CRITICISM OF THE SCHOOLS

If you have been reading the series of articles on state government by Representative-Editor V. J. Brown of Mason in this paper, you will see that he knocks over a lot of idols. You understand, of course, that The Record does not necessarily approve of all that Mr. Brown writes. We do, however, approve of his raising these pertinent questions about our taxes and about honesty in government. We do approve of the people knowing something about what is going on in the "inner circles" at Lansing.

Last week Editor-Representative Brown stepped on a lot of toes in pointing out the vast sums our schools cost us and the elaborate system of lobbying used to get favorable legislation for the schools. We think he is right in saying that real education can get along without so many fads. We do believe he is right in saying that the costs of our state colleges and the university are terrific. We are commencing to think that this business of college education is being unfairly pressed on the shoulders of a lot of common folks whose children never see the inside of college halls. Just as one sample, is it fair in these times for the university at Ann Arbor to be paying scores of men salaries of ten thousand dollars and over?

If our state schools are to be for all the people, fine. But what of this new-fangled idea of recent years that only the top third of our high school graduating classes are worthy to be admitted to college? Don't the lower two-thirds stand more in need of college than the brilliant one-third at the top? Are we to have a caste system of education?

Mr. Brown has had the courage to rebel at some of our school costs. He may not be right in all his conclusions but certainly we should think over what he has to say.

THE PLIGHT OF COMSTOCK

Governor William A. Comstock, part of the Michigan "new deal" handed us by the voters last fall, is having plenty of trouble—and the kind of grief that you can't laugh off.

Last week he was condemned by a committee from the legislature—dominated by his own party leaders—and then called upon by the legislature in outspoken terms to cease his alliance with the well known Mr. Leeböve, whose influence in state affairs, especially in the prisons, has been called "sinister." That was one of the most severe rebukes ever given a Michigan governor by his own party and by unanimous action of the legislature.

Now comes a worse blow to the prestige of the governor, which has been sadly limping of late. A move was started at Jackson a few days ago to recall the governor. H. J. Bowersox, who voted for the governor last fall but now regrets it, is back of the plan to oust Comstock.

While the revolt against the governor is found every where throughout Michigan, the fact remains that it is a very difficult thing to recall a public officer, no matter how unpopular he is. It will take 25 per cent of the vote of last fall to petition for an election and afterward the election to pass on the recall will be held. While the talk to ask the recall of the governor has been going the rounds for the past month or so, it will take a great deal of organization, work and money to oust Comstock. We doubt if it can be done. But if the move did succeed there would then have to be still another election to elect a new governor. In the meantime, Lieut. Governor Allen E. Stebbins would become acting governor and does anyone who knows anything of the proceedings of the last legislature think for a moment that the lion man is experienced enough to fill the governor's chair in these trying times?

Further, a recall movement would tend to make a martyr of the governor and further entrench Mr. Leeböve, the friend of gangsters, at Lansing. Heaven forbid that!

No, everything considered, we shall have to put up with the governor until January 1, 1935. It would make matters perhaps worse to throw him out now and try another "new deal." Unless all signs fail, Mr. Comstock will be a one-term governor. And certain it is that the people are going to demand at the next election that worthy men be named as candidates for this high office. What has been happening at Lansing since January 1 ought also to be a lesson to the voters not to name men to office on a "slogan." The ballyhoo of the "new deal" certainly has cost Michigan a high figure for its experiment with untied men.

WANDERING THOUGHTS

What will the new wage-hour code do to Northville workers? Maybe the Record gang won't have to work every Wednesday night to "get out" the paper.

Congratulations to those Northville home owners who are painting their houses. They are doing double duty: Making a prettier home town and giving work to worthy men.

Sure good times are coming back. Look at the new cars that Northville is buying! Every new automobile means that more men can go back to work or stay at work. Now let's build a few new houses and put the builders at work.

Pretty hard to get up much sympathy for the folks who got hit in the stock market crash last week. The only man who can afford to fool around the stock market buzz saw is the one who can afford to lose some money. When will the "suckers" learn that?

We like the optimism of the officers and friends of the Northville Wayne County Fair. With fewer fairs this year, people certainly should be glad to run out to Northville to enjoy the best fair of its kind in the state. Paste the dates—August 23 to 26—in your hat.

The death of Mrs. Fred P. Simmons was a distinct loss to Northville. She was truly a "good woman," the finest tribute that can be paid to her. We do not wonder that those Florida people sent their expressions of keen regret. She had left her splendid impress for good on people there during the 15 years that she and Mr. Simmons have been going to Clermont. How futile does life seem when these worthy people slip from us! And yet how rich the legacy they leave—something that can never be taken from us.

A QUESTION FOR MR. VOELKER

(Cheboygan Observer)
State Supt. of Public Instruction Voelker, who made campaign boasts that he could get anything he wanted of the present administration, now concludes that an extra session of the legislature is necessary to keep state schools open. THE MAIZE AND BLUE

(V. J. Brown in Ingham County News)

It really looks as though the market value of a University of Michigan diploma in civil engineering is going up. During the spring election we heard (and could not believe) that if Van Wagoner were elected highway commissioner, Michigan State graduates would get the run-around to make way for graduates of the University of Michigan.

We laughed when we heard the statement which was reported to have been made by one of those now in a high position in the highway department set up. After reading a highway magazine last week we are beginning to wonder. Out of eight key men of the new administration seven are from the University of Michigan and the eighth is from Purdue. The seven Michigan men are Murray D. Van Wagoner, commissioner; Harry C. Coons, deputy commissioner; G. Donald Kennedy, business manager and consulting engineer; Varnum B. Steinbaugh, road engineer; L. W. Millard, acting Cissel, engineer of bridge design. We are not laughing so heartily over the rumor as we did four months ago.

THE PRESIDENT'S GREAT POWER

(M. H. DeFoe in the Charlotte Republican Tribune)

The man in the street has not sensed the great power conferred upon the President under the Industrial Recovery Act. By executive order, President Roosevelt has virtually wiped child labor out of existence not only for the present but forever and dozens of desired industrial objectives heretofore considered impossible are being set up as standard practice. Much of this business idealism will continue thanks to the present economic emergency. In other words, much permanent good is to come out of the emergency.

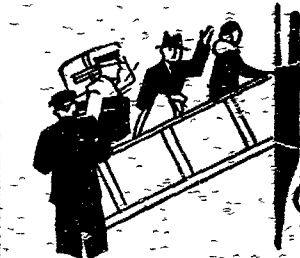

The President, by his signature, is making into law many policies that have been sidestepped by a dozen congresses. Merle Thorp, writing in the Nation's Business, the house organ of the United States Chamber of Commerce, says the sponsors of the recovery program hope:

"to remove from the homes of thirty million wage-earners the fear that the next pay envelope may contain notice of a cut in their wages; to do away with business competition based solely on the exploitation of labor; to make it possible to restore wage scales that have been unavoidably and unreasonably cut in the past three years; to give business men the power they now lack, namely, to agree among themselves under governmental supervision as to what constitutes unfair competition; and then to help business drive out such ruthless competition once and for all"

IN ANSWER TO A LADY'S LETTER

A lady writes to say that she does not understand why an 8-cylinder car does not cost more to run than a car with fewer cylinders. She refers to my statement that our Ford V-8 develops more power on a gallon of gas than any car we have made.

The use of 8-cylinders does not mean the addition of two or four extra fuel consumers. It is not, for example, a 4-cylinder engine multiplied by two. Our 8-cylinder engine takes the fuel supply of an ordinary 4-cylinder engine and divides it eight ways. And why?

By reducing four larger explosions into eight smaller ones, we get engine smoothness and quietness. Eight-cylinders indicate the way the gas is used, not the amount. It is just the difference between going upstairs in four long jumps or in eight ordinary steps.

Two things use up gas—bad engine design and useless car weight. Besides having an engine that gets a high percentage of power out of the fuel, the Ford V-8 has a light, strong body and chassis so that no power is wasted in moving excess weight.

The only extravagance about the new Ford V-8 engine is in the building of it. The extravagance is ours—the economy is yours.

The whole question of car economy needs clearing up. An economical car gives economy all round. Price, operation, upkeep, all play their part. If what you save on gas you lose elsewhere, that is not economy.

As to upkeep, our dealers say that in recent years the improved quality of Ford cars has cut down their repair business 50 per cent.

As to price with quality,—judge for yourself.

As to economy, here is the record of a stock car three weeks out of shop in Oklahoma:

On a run of 10,054 miles at the rate of 1,000 miles a day—the Ford V-8 gave 18.8 miles per gallon of gas. Not a drop of water was added to the radiator. The oil was changed once in 1,000 miles.

That should answer a lot of questions.

The Children's Fun
Of all the regrets of my life I have never regretted the time I have spent playing with the children. Often it is hard to stop in the midst of fruit canning and come out and admire the children's tent or to "crawl in once" and see how nice it is, but it enhances the value of the possession to have mother appreciate it, and it makes for enthusiasm and your hold on the affections and confidence of the children.

A few short years and the laughing little girl who teases you to play house with her will be out battling the world earning her own living; struggling to keep her vigor amidst unfavorable surroundings, perhaps, or suffering loneliness and homesickness in a strange city. Lay down your sewing and share her crackers and water at her doll tea-party. Her childish laughter is worth more than the ruffles on her frock.

Do not shoo the boy out of the house with his hammer and saw and boards and nails. Find him a place to build his visions under the friendly home roof—even if you have to clear a corner of the parlor for it. Late years have taught us to shudder at what the future may bring to our growing boys. Trouble enough in this old world and their young shoulders may have to slip under the burdens, no knowing how soon. Toss him the ball when he asks you to. Nothing on earth is more important than that. Side track anything you have on hand while the lad still does you the honor to beg for your company. Soon enough he will find entertainment far away if you drive him to it.

And when they wish to bring their young friends home for a frolic, turn the house over to them. Your sheets are none too good to serve as curtains for their drama; your rugs are not too choice to be danced over by innocent young feet; you can buy a new piano later if you have to but you cannot re-buy a wasted opportunity to bring your children up in happiness.

They and we pass this way but once, and their abiding with us is so brief after all. Let us be certain that their childhood is the time of joy they have a right to expect. And when we apportion our time, let us make a generous allotment to family fun, and then, no matter what the future may bring, we have at least packed their memories with bright spots of sweetness "where neither moth nor rust can corrupt nor thieves break through and steal."

SHOCKING RECORD WRITTEN BY THE 1933 LEGISLATURE

FUTURE GENERATIONS WILL BE ASTOUNDED BY REVELATIONS OF 1933 LEGISLATIVE SESSIONS

Bribery Charges Added To Lobbying And Political Patronage Disgraced The State Of Michigan, Citizens Disgusted By Laming Disclosures

By V. J. Brown of the Ingham County (Mason) News
Last week the discussion was upon the subject of lobbying as it is carried on at the state capitol. Fortunately indeed that the chapter devoted to this subject was written before the final adjournment of the legislature was taken, or rather it might be more accurate to say that it is fortunate the chapter was written before the events of Monday and Tuesday which preceded the final adjournment. Otherwise there might have crept into the text some of the bitterness which marked those closing hours and some of the charges which the journals of the house and senate of those two days contain.

Recently there fell into the hands of this writer a volume containing the public documents of the state senate of Michigan for the year 1933. No reader of that volume can fail to be impressed with the importance of the matters then under consideration and the degree of serious deliberation given those matters by the various committees and commissions entrusted with their solution.

The reader of the record of the state legislature of 1933, 25 years hence a half-century hence or a hundred years in the future will stand aghast at what that record discloses.

Committee Frank

The report of the house committee appointed to investigate open charges of lobbying, discusses the question with frankness. That record will show that open offers of money for votes for and against pending legislation were more common than decent citizens care to admit. The very fact that this record shows that certain senators and representatives were openly offered cash which was promptly refused naturally leads one to suspect that these money-passing lobbyists must have found some takers somewhere else they would not have become so bold. That the very legislation thus openly opposed with offers of money eventually failed of passage over the veto of the governor is certainly disturbing in its sinister setting.

Then, too, there is that matter concerning the activity of one Isaiah Leebowe. He is referred to in the report as one whose "desires are evil and whose purposes are malevolent." This report, lobby and Leebowe subjects alike, are made a part of the official journal of the house of representatives of the great state of Michigan, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred thirty-three.

The report, as it appears in the official journal for future generations to read, states: "The governor saw fit to present himself before the committee in defense of Mr. Leebowe." Testimony of the governor, quoted in the report and the journal, has the governor confessing that "He (Leebowe) is a friend of mine." A student of state history a century from now will also learn that the same Isaiah Leebowe was a generous contributor to the campaign funds of William A. Comstock in at least two of his pre-election campaigns and that following his election in 1932 William A. Comstock persistently refused to make a disclosure of the sources of such campaign contributions or the purposes for which the money was used, as required by law.

Contradictory Report
After quoting what the governor testified to under oath, the report uses the word "howe'er" in a significant way and proceeds to disclose other testimony of a contradictory character.

Earlier in the session the governor in addressing a body made the statement that the "new deal" administration was making history. It was and is. But what a history! One may quote freely from this historic report because it so happens that the resolution which led to the appointment of the lobby investigating committee was offered by a democratic member of the house. Its chairman is a democrat and a majority of its members are democrats. The issue is not and never has been one of political play. Rather it grew out of an outraged decency still existing among the vast majority of the membership of the legislature.

This chapter on lobbying is assuming a length never intended and yet there is more that ought to be said.

Economy Measures Passed

So called economy measures introduced on the first day of the session as the result of a commission appointed by act of the 1932 special session, numbered 98. Of this number 63 passed both houses and eight were supplanted by other bills which passed or their purpose was accomplished by other means. Two were very properly vetoed by the governor because in the course of their passage they became loaded with amendments of an entirely different character. This makes a net of 60 out of a possible 98, a batting average of .704 which is good in any league.

What happened to the remainder? Well about an even half dozen had to do with removing statutory salaries for judicial and quasi-judicial county and district officials and reducing statutory salaries for circuit and supreme court judges. Most of these bills in modified form finally emerged from the judiciary committee of the house and were passed. They went to the waiting pigeon holes prepared for them by the judiciary committee in the senate and they too are there to make history while taxpayers still continue to dig up for boom time salary checks.

Revision of the statutes governing the department of labor and industry, intended to merge and solidify departmental activities and cut down on personnel, were lost because of the demands for democratic patronage while similar measures intended to cut severely into the number engaged in the work of the public utilities commission met a similar fate because the republicans still held forth in that department and partisan supporters did not care to vote to dislodge them. The taxpayer shall pay in both these instances.

Then too there is that $75,000 savings which would have been made possible by the adoption of the commission recommendations regarding a reduced personnel and reduced pay for senate and house session employees. The house passed the bill after many attempts but the patronage grabbers sent the measure to its death in the senate. Even the promises of the senate that the measure would be dug up during the final days of the session and passed in time to head off patronage extravagance in 1935 were not kept. This measure, too, will add to history in the making.

Still more history was made. Never before did the entire membership of the senate return for the final adjournment and never before did 96 members of the house show up for roll call on that day. Every district this side of the straits was represented except the Alpena district and only illness prevented Rep. Cameron from answering "here." One member traveled more than 600 miles to be present to vote against the governor's bundle of vetoes.

Patronage Whip Cracks
Sixty-seven votes are required in the house and 22 in the senate to override an executive veto. In the senate the required number was secured without trouble but even the most determined efforts, made in the house failed because the administration cracked the whip and threatened any who strayed from the reservation. It was openly declared that patronage would be taken away from any who dared oppose the governor. The official purveyor of political jobs Commissioner Debo, was right on hand too, to watch the roll calls.

One member who has a brother in a soft job and a lot of friends on the payrolls, turned tail at the last moment and voted "no" along with the others who had said less about how they were intending to vote. When evidence of weakening showed, William M. Donnelly, temporarily assuming the role of party spokesman, also assumed the role of a modern Legree and swung the party whip with biting sarcasm and with no attempt to conceal his purpose or the threats being made. Again history was made.

State Payroll Grows
During the session some weeks ago a certain bill was pending which if adopted would have severely cut into the revenues of an important state department. A ranking member of the committee openly boasts that he secured good jobs for eight of his constituents as pay for keeping the bill from coming to the floor of the house—another bit of history. It is a known fact that jobs have been dealt in as freely as sweets in a candy shop. Rumors of barter and trades with prison parolés as the consideration are also rife.

The story of what lobbying really

Records Smashed by Fair Crowds

All attendance records have been shattered by A Century of Progress—the Chicago World's Fair. Here is a typical daily scene of crowds parading down the colorful Avenue of Flags—a scene in which visitors from all the world participate. Eighty-two miles of free exhibits are located in the Exposition.

means and what it has cost the taxpayers in the past and what it will cost in the future might be extended to pages of type. The practice of swapping votes is nothing new but it must be confessed that during the session just closed it reached heights heretofore unattained. Within the next 49 days the fact-seeking taxpayer will be able to discover on the payrolls of this state more job holders than at any previous time in history.

Orphans and Dog Racing

History was made in another respect. It has long been the practice to swap votes on bills. In fact most local measures and most bills of a minor character ride through on vote-swapping combinations. But here is the ace of spades. A measure was introduced to close the present state school for dependent and neglected children at Coldwater. Expenditures carried on over a period of years have proved that the children can be better cared for in the homes of citizens of this state at less expense to the taxpayer than at the institution. It was proposed that an available building near Ann Arbor be acquired and that it be used, merely as a receiving home where children would be readily available to the clinics held in connection with University hospital and made ready for reception into boarding homes. Out of these selected homes they would be readily assimilated into local public schools. Sociologists are agreed that such a plan is much better for the children. The figures prove it cheaper for the state. The vacated Coldwater institution was to be used as an overflow from Lapeer and Wajahunga institutions; the higher grade inmates thus gaining greater advantages.

What prevented the passage of this measure? It passed the senate but it could not be pried loose from the committee which held it in the house. Inquiry disclosed the startling fact that a trade had been made between a senate member who for selfish purposes desired its defeat and a house member who wanted certain concessions on the horse and dog racing bill. Did anyone ever before hear of children being traded outright for dogs and race track gamblers? It has been done and that makes more history.

Something was said above about the economy program. The budget for general purposes was reduced more than one-third below the 1932 special session figures when 15 percent was lopped off. The totals are more than $10,000,000 below those of 1931. This looks encouraging but when the $12,000,000 for welfare relief and the $15,000,000 school aid and the old age pension measure and the cost of administering the beer bill and the sales tax measure and the newly created bureau to protect bondholders and similar agencies and other new ventures into governmental activities are counted in, the savings made are swept away as before a tropical typhoon.

The budget and its application to the various departments and institutions including the university and the colleges will be discussed in a later issue.

ROSA A. SMITH

Rosa A. Smith—passed from this life on July 19, 1933, at the home of her son, Floyd, in Ann Arbor. She was born on April 21, 1852, in Northfield Township and was the daughter of Aaron Van Atta. She received her education at the district school adjacent to her home and continued her studies in the Ann Arbor high school.

On December 20, 1871, she was united in marriage to Duella Smith of Salem, and thereafter resided in Salem until 1925, when she moved to Ann Arbor. Her husband was called to the higher life on May 19, 1930.

Rosa Smith's gracious presence in the community of Salem and her willingness to engage in every endeavor for its betterment, made her greatly beloved by young and old. In 1886 she united with the Salem Baptist church and sang in the choir there for twenty-five years. She was prominent in temperance work and wore the "white ribbon" many years.

Her memory will long be cherished by her son, Floyd W. Smith, and his wife, Fannie, and the grandsons, Clarence and Newton. The latter was left a motherless babe and was reared by his grandmother with lavish care. There are two little great-granddaughters, Rosa Helen and Barbara June.

Rev. Cora M. Pennell had charge of the memorial services held in the son's home on Saturday afternoon, July 22. B. E. and Sarah Stanbro sang two numbers. Interment was made in Salem-Walker cemetery.

All who took part in the service, including the escort of former neighbors, had been chosen by Mrs. Smith, and were appreciative of the honor thus accorded them.

Mrs. Elizabeth Morton

Mrs. Elizabeth Ann Morton died at Sessions hospital Friday evening, as the result of a long-continued incurable malady from which she had been a sufferer. She was taken to the hospital about eight days before for medical care. Mrs. Morton had reached the advanced age of 93 years.

Elizabeth Ann Brown, daughter of Andrew and Elizabeth Brown, pioneers to Michigan from New York, was born in Naftin township near Plymouth, December 5, 1841. Her girlhood years were spent on the old farm in primitive simplicity.

Elizabeth Brown was married to Frank Morton who bravely shouldered arms and fought for the union in the Civil war under General Custer. Returning, he worked on his farm for the remainder of his life. After his death, about twenty years ago, Mrs. Morton came to her home on Plymouth road, where she lived modestly as a good friend and neighbor. In spite of her advanced years she took her part in the local Woman's Relief Corps, and the W. C. T. U. and was a loyal member of the Presbyterian church. Mrs. Morton's mind remained clear and active during her latter years when she enjoyed reading and quiet domestic tasks.

Some years ago her brother, Andrew Brown, came to make his home with Mrs. Morton after a stroke and was given tender care by this sister. None knew of the patient suffering of this aged sister as she unselfishly ministered to the one who needed her most. Not until compelled to, did she give up and consent to be taken to the hospital.

The funeral service was held at the Schrader funeral home Monday afternoon with Rev. H. G. Whitfield, her pastor, officiating. The burial was made in the old family lot in the Newburg cemetery beside her parents and husband. There were no children. Two nieces and one nephew survive. Mrs. Zunker of this village, Mrs. May Bridger of Los Angeles, Calif., and Harvey Grissel and one brother, Andrew Brown.

CHEVROLET

There is only one type of body construction which Chevrolet will permit on the chassis of the cars it builds. That's the type which every test—and every experience has proved to be the safest, strongest, and best. Not steel alone, because steel alone is not enough. But a Fisher body of steel reinforced by hardwood! The same kind of construction used on practically all the highest-priced cars in America.

Chevrolet well knows that steel alone has one distinct advantage: it's cheaper. Steel also is strong—up to a certain point. BUT—beyond that point, steel alone will bend and crumple under severe stress or shock. It takes the strength and supporting solidity of a hardwood reinforcement to give you the full protection and full satisfaction you want in a motor car body today.

If you're thinking of buying a new low-priced car, better watch this matter of bodies, and watch it carefully. Insist on steel reinforced by hardwood! Fortunately, the only low-priced car with this preferred type of body is also the only car with a proven valve-in-head six, with Fisher Ventilation; Cushion-Balanced Power; a Starterator. That car is Chevrolet—America's most economical automobile.

Mr. and Mrs. Mills Entertain At Dinner Tonight—

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Mills will be hosts to a group of twelve friends at their home this evening (Friday) when a buffet dinner will be served, the guests enjoying the spacious porch.

Mrs. Anderson Honored by Friends At Sunshine Shower—

A party of intimate friends of Mrs. A. L. Anderson honored her at an informal sunshine shower at the home of Mrs. Bertha Neal Tuesday evening. The time was pleasantly spent visiting and with games directed by Mrs. Robert Masters. Refreshments concluded the evening when the hostess was assisted by Mrs. Howard Steller.

Mrs. Anderson's friends regret that she and her husband are leaving their home in Northville and moving to Detroit.

Northville Ladies Are Guests At Rosamund Hills—

At a delightful luncheon served at Rosamund Hills, Mrs. Grace Daratt, of the Southfield road, was hostess to a party of Northville friends Thursday afternoon. Those included were Mrs. W. G. Lapham, Mrs. Harry B. Clark and Miss Lois Brookman. Following luncheon the ladies returned to the home of Mrs. Daratt.

Woman's Club Hold Annual Picnic At Cass Benton Park—

The annual picnic of the Northville Woman's Club fell on a very hot day, Friday, but twenty members who braved the heat found shade of the great trees of Cass Benton Park very cool and refreshing. Picnic dinner was enjoyed together and games followed directed capably by Mrs. Chas. Murphy. Many of the party said it was one of the pleasantest times the club has ever enjoyed.

Mrs. Ruzik Hostess to Detroit Friends Tuesday Afternoon—

A club comprised of eight Detroit ladies enjoyed a pleasant afternoon as guests of one of their number, Mrs. Henry C. Ruzik, at her home on Powers road Tuesday afternoon. Previous to a tournament of bridge the party had a dainty luncheon at the Lone Pine Tea Room. Mrs. Ruzik is spending the few months at her summer home.

College Roommates Play Golf And Dine Together—

Renewing old ties of friendships formed in college days when they were roommates at Michigan State Normal in Ypsilanti, E. L. Mills and Track Coach Lloyd Olds of the Michigan State Normal college met in golf on the course at Meadowbrook Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Olds accompanied her husband and both were dinner guests at the Mills home.

The Angoves Entertain First Group In New Home—

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Angove delightfully entertained a group of friends at their home on Dunlap street, Thursday evening, July 20, where they have recently moved. The affair might have been called a "house warming" by these friends who felt nothing lacking in the warmth of hospitality extended.

After a delectable six o'clock dinner the evening was spent with cards when high honors were carried off by Mrs. E. R. Eaton and A. C. Schrader.

Those comprising this party with Mr. and Mrs. Angove were: Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Schrader, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Eaton, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Mills, Dr. and Mrs. H. S. Willis, and Mr. and Mrs. J. N. McLoughlin.

Mrs. Barron Welcomes Detroit D. A. R. at the W. H. Yerkes Home—

A party of forty-five daughters of the American Revolution belonging to the Fort Ponchartrain chapter of Detroit came out Friday to enjoy a day with Mrs. Allan W. Barron at the W. H. Yerkes home, East-Cady street.

Picnic dinner was spread on tables in the beautiful back yard which the ladies from the city especially appreciated.

Included also in the pleasant occasion were several Northville members of the Sarah Ann Cochrane chapter of which Mrs. Barron was a former member. Mrs. Don P.

Yerkes, Sr., Mrs. Carl H. Bryan and Mrs. Levi M. Eaton. Mrs. Dean Grunwald, mother of Mrs. Barron, and Mrs. C. C. Yerkes were guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Entertain At Family Dinner—

Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Bryan had the pleasure of having as their dinner guests Thursday evening a group of relatives. Included in this family party with the Bryans and Mrs. Elizabeth Thayer were Dr. and Mrs. F. J. Sober of Detroit, and Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Munn of South Lyon.

Merry-Go-Round Girls Meet Wednesday—

Another happy day in the history of the Merry-Go-Round Girls, that oldest and most original of all of Northville's clubs, occurred Wednesday when Mrs. Archie Morris and Mrs. Elizabeth Olds, the latter from Detroit, entertained this club at the Morris home.

Dinner together was enjoyed as usual and so well acquainted as all of these "girls" that a good time was inevitable.

Joining with their friends were Mrs. Minnie Parker and Mrs. Ada Ambler from Detroit. Mrs. Grace Stanley, of Rochester, Mich., a guest of Mrs. L. A. Babbitt, was also present.

Fifty Detroit Children Make Merry On The Village Green—

Though Northville children pass the village park very often, unimpaired of the accustomed luxury of shade trees and green grass, fifty children from the big city made the trip out for the second time to revel in the joys of the country Sunday.

Last year this same bunch of children from St. Matthews Lutheran church, 3141st Ave., Detroit, came out and held their picnic here where they had such a good time that they were eager to come again.

After a series of games and races all were ready for a hearty picnic dinner when Reinhold Kuken contributed many favors to help give the kiddies a good time. Mrs. Kluck's cousin, Miss Hildegrade Hergert is a teacher in this Sunday school and Rev. John Ernest is the minister.

Record Family Takes Time Off Duty for a Picnic Together—

The doors of the Record office closed Friday at 5 p. m. and the members of the Record "family," eighteen strong, including the families of those who had them, gathered around one big table at Cass Benton park for a picnic supper together.

The occasion was in reality in honor of one of the boys, George Silos, who has been a loyal and faithful member of the staff for over a year and who was about to leave to accept a position in Detroit.

Included in the party were Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Anderson, Mr. Anderson being editor of the National Sittoscope and a frequent writer for the Record, and Eugene Smith, editor of the Maybury Fluoroscope.

A ball game followed supper with old and young, fat and lean taking turns at bat. The "gang" found it was just as much fun to play together as to work together.

Harry B. Clark Is Remembered On His Birthday—

Harry B. Clark never knew he had so many friends until they began pouring into his home on the evening of his birthday, Wednesday. Over thirty strong they came bearing gifts, some serious, some jokes.

The Clark home offered its best hospitality and the tables were filled with the good things for which Mrs. Clark is famous. It was a buffet dinner with small tables set on the porch and elsewhere about the house. The crowning feature was a huge birthday cake beautifully decorated with pink and white roses and the inscription "Happy Birthday Harry, in Your Mitty Sixties!" and the honoree knew at once that the gift was from his old friend, Phil Grennan, who was unable to be present having been called to Washington.

The party was made up of friends from Detroit, Dearborn, Birmingham and Northville.

Mrs. Henry J. Luths of Walled Lake Is Hostess To Committee—

Mrs. Henry J. Luths was hostess Wednesday last, at her home at South Lake Drive, Walled Lake, to the members of the sewing committee of the auxiliary of the Salvation Army. This committee has for years clothed the children of the Edwin Denby Memorial Children's Home of Redford when they were still at the old Buhi home on Fort street and the Boulevard. The ladies meet every Friday from November to June for an all day sewing session at the Booth Memorial hospital, which is also located on the grounds of the Buhi homestead and during the summer meet several times for various festive affairs.

Those present were: Mrs. Wm. E. Brownlee of Grosse Ile, chairman of the committee and the Mesdames Bruce, Brown, Nona Campbell, Roy Ellis, J. Ellison, M. Lovis, Quine, Henry Stamer, L. Fay, of Walled Lake. Miss Edna G. Luths, who is secretary of the Auxiliary, assisted her mother as hostess.

EVERY FIBER EVERY CORD EVERY PLY IS BLOWOUT PROTECTED BY Gum-Dipping

BLOWOUTS are caused by frictional heat generated in the fibers of the cotton cords in a tire. Firestone is the only tire built with every cotton fiber saturated and coated with pure rubber—to prevent destructive heat. This is one of the reasons why Firestone Tires have been on the winning cars in the 500 mile Indianapolis Race for 14 consecutive years—the world's most severe blowout test.

Rubber has gone up 242%, cotton 115%—substantial tire price increases must follow. We will give you an attractive allowance for your old tires on new Firestone High Speed Tires.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Richardson and daughters, Dorothy and June, are expected to return Monday from a week's visit at Warkworth, Ontario, Canada, with Mr. Richardson's mother, Mrs. E. J. Richardson.

Mr. and Mrs. John Turco and children of Fenton, Mich., are guests of James Spagnuolo for the week-end. Miss Spagnuolo left today for a few days' visit with Albert Turco at his home in Fenton, Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Casterline and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dixon were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dana Briggs and family on Sunday, July 23, the occasion being the third birthday anniversary of little Dorothy Briggs.

After several weeks' illness at her home with Mrs. Gladys Grinnell, South Wing street, Mrs. Beulah W. Pearl will return Tuesday to her duties as director of special education at the Children's Unit of the Maybury sanatorium.

Mrs. Robert Austin of Ann Arbor will be returning home tomorrow (Saturday) from the University hospital with her infant daughter, Jean Marie. Mrs. Austin was formerly Miss Dolores Eaton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Eaton.

The Rev. H. G. Whitfield will have a special message this Sunday which will be of interest to the Men's Clubs of both churches and the Nellie Yerkes Auxiliary and the Service League. All members are urged to be present at the regular service at the Methodist church.

Elijah Hartshorn of Byron, who is visiting at the home of his granddaughter, Mrs. Hugh Babbitt, and his daughter, Mrs. A. T. Holcomb, of Novi, tells some very interesting tales of the pioneer days. He remembers having shot deer 14 miles north of Flint at Brent Creek, 75 years ago. Mr. Hartshorn came to Michigan from Canada in 1878. He is now 91 years old and enjoying good health.

Mrs. Eaton Honors Guests at Luncheon—

Honoring her house guest, Mrs. Harry Austin of Cleveland, and her sister, Mrs. Ward Rice of Kalamazoo, Mrs. E. R. Eaton entertained a group of twelve friends at luncheon Wednesday at the Lone Pine Tea room.

The guests were seated at one long table and the menu was dainty and delicious.

At the close of luncheon the party went to the home of Mrs. Eaton on Hillcrest, where the hours of the afternoon were spent with contract.

Mrs. E. E. Miller won high honors and Mrs. E. B. Cavell, second.

Those present were Mrs. Eaton, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Cavell, Mrs. C. B. Washburne, Mrs. J. R. Walker, Mrs. L. C. Stewart, Mrs. LeRoy Stewart, Mrs. E. C. Hinkley, Mrs. Scott Lovell, Mrs. H. R. Richardson and the guests of honor, Mrs. Austin and

Older Members of Church Are Guests at the Maise Thursday—

To give those older members of the Presbyterian church, who are unable to attend services regularly, an opportunity for a pleasant social time together Rev. and Mrs. H. G. Whitfield threw open the doors of the maise to them hospitably Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Whitfield gallantly played the part of chauffeur and called for the guests and returned them to their homes.

The hours of the afternoon were delightfully spent in renewing old friendships and enjoying an impromptu program. Delectable refreshments were served by Mrs. Whitfield.

Mrs. Rice, Mrs. Austin is the mother-in-law of Mrs. Eaton's daughter (Dolores), Mrs. Robert Austin.

CHURCH NEWS

Methodist Church

Rev. Frank N. Miner, Pastor
During the month of July the pastor is on his vacation and the Rev. H. G. Whitfield of the Presbyterian church, together with his congregation and Sunday school will worship with the Methodist congregation at the Methodist church at 10:00 a. m. with Sunday school at 11:00.

Novi Baptist Church

Sunday school at 10:30 a. m.
Preaching service at 11:45 a. m.
Young People's hour at 7:00 p. m.
Evening service at 8:00 p. m.

Baptist Church

Services both morning and evening at the Baptist church at 10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. respectively. At 10 a. m. the pastor, Rev. W. Boscoe Barbour, will preach on the subject: "Jesus, and the Social State," and at 7:30 p. m. on the subject, "Preaching to the People." Leon Safford, Glenn Angell and the pastor returned from the Kalamazoo conference Monday afternoon. Those of us who enjoyed this great privilege desire to share the benefits with others. The laymen of the Baptist churches of Michigan desire this to be an annual event.

St. Paul's Lutheran

Leo C. Eckstaedt, Pastor
220 Elm St.
The Lord promises us Christians in Matthew 18, 20: "Where two or three are gathered together in My name, there I am in the midst of them."

Tremendous is the responsibility that rests upon the members of the Christian church. To His church God has entrusted His means of grace. For the preaching of His saving Gospel, the administration of His holy sacraments and the proper exercising of church discipline He holds His church responsible. Well might we shrink from handling this blessed work committed to our trust, if it were not for the promise of the Savior: "Where two or three are gathered together in My name, there I am in the midst of them."

Here we have the blessed Savior's assurance that, whenever, and wherever a number of Christians are gathered together for the purpose of carrying out the Lord's work, He will be present. He the God-man, the great Head of His church Himself, with all His grace, help and gifts invisibly, yet none the less truly.

How encouraging this promise that the omnipresent Lord at all times manifests Himself to those who meet and are gathered together in His name. It assures us that God is ever ready to hear His servants in whatever corner of the world they lift up their prayers to Him; is ever ready to grant their petitions, to guide their counsels; to ratify the decisions made in accordance with His word, to give effect to the sentence issued in His name by those who meet together in His name in the simple earnestness of childlike Christians, in the energy of that faith which has turned wholly to the Lord.

But do we always live up to this fact and promise? Is it our one absorbing thought: "I am going to church because my Lord is there; I am going to church to hear His message of grace and truth; I am going to worship Him and seek the strength His presence imparts." Are we always conscious of the fact that in the united prayers of the Christians lies the strength of the church?

Yet that is the spirit and purpose which should bring us Christians together and into that spirit we should train ourselves every day of our lives. Then as Luther says, "What more terrible thing could happen to all the spirits of the devil?"

Let us therefore zealously carry out the Lord's work, in spite of all difficulties and disappointments, "for the Lord of hosts is with us; the God of Jacob is our refuge."

The hour of worship every Sunday morning is 10 o'clock. English worship is held every Sunday of the month at the usual time. Our annual Mission Festival will be held on the 3rd Sunday in August with two divine services, 10 A. M. and 3 P. M.

A cordial invitation is extended to all to worship with us. Let us ever walk with Jesus.

Salem Congregational Church

Rev. Lucius M. Stroh, Minister
Pastor Philip Witich of Chicago, Illinois, brought a very stirring and powerful sermon last Sunday to a large and appreciative audience.

The pastor is accompanying her uncle and cousins to Chicago for a visit with them and to attend the World's Exposition. Mrs. Stroh expects to be gone a week or ten days. In her absence Fred Lewis will fill the pulpit. Mr. Lewis is a very able and capable speaker and we wish all the members to give him their whole-hearted support in attendance.

Next Wednesday evening prayer meeting will be held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Kehrl of Salem. Thursday, July 27, ice cream social on church lawn in the evening. Mrs. R. W. Kehrl and Mrs. Ralph Wilson will entertain the "Silver Tea" the first week in August. The exact time and place will be announced later.

Next Saturday, July 29, the Ladies' Auxiliary society will hold a bake sale in Plymouth and the last Saturday of each month succeeding. Each lady will kindly send her baked goods Saturday morning promptly to Mrs. Kehrl's home in Salem or direct to Plymouth.

The parsonage and garage have been painted a nice coat of white and green trimmings in the past two weeks. This is a great improvement to the property.

Come to church next Sunday

Salem Federated Church

The hour of worship begins at 10:30 o'clock, and on July 30 our pastor's theme will be "Stop, Look, Listen."

"Read the seventh chapter of Judges in preparation for the Bible school lesson on Gideon, and learn the golden text: 'The Lord is the strength of my life; of whom shall I be afraid?' Psalm 27:1."

"I will meet you at the hymn sing at 7:30 on Sunday evening." The younger people of the church are planning for their Young People's week, an annual August event. The week will begin with a big day on Sunday, August 6, when the young people will take over the responsibility of the regular church services. Ralph Compton of Lansing, and Shirley Kinde of Kinde are the young preachers chosen for Y. P. week. See next week's paper for further details. The week is to include a special prayer meeting, a banquet, a "splash party" and other events including the Sunday school picnic to be held in Cass Benton Park on Tuesday, August 8.

Christian Science Churches

"Love will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, July 30."

Among the Bible citations in this passage (Acts 9:17): "And Ananias went his way, and entered into the house, and putting his hands on him said, Brother Saul, the Lord, even Jesus, that appeared unto thee in the way as thou earnest, hath sent me, that thou mightest receive thy sight, and be filled with the Holy Ghost."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 236): "Saul of Tarsus beheld the way—the Christ of Truth—only when his uncertain sense of right yielded to a spiritual sense, which was always right. Then the man was changed. Thought assumed a nobler outlook, and his life became more spiritual."

Church of Our Lady of Victory

Friday, August 4, is the first Friday of the month when the pastor will bring Holy Communion to all the sick of the parish. This visit will be immediately after the 8:00 o'clock Mass that morning.

The first of a series of afternoon card parties was held in the church basement yesterday (Thursday) afternoon. An appreciative crowd of ladies attended. It was sponsored by Mrs. M. Lake and Mrs. D. Marvin. Our usual monthly bake sales are being substituted by a cash donation by the ladies on each fourth Sunday. This was held last Sunday, and it will be reported as to results next Sunday.

Our local church is always open to inspection and view at any time people, either Catholic or Protestant, who wish to avail themselves of that opportunity. The pastor will be pleased to explain to such visitors the properties and ceremonies of the Catholic church.

THE OTHER DAY

By Miss "19"

Who should we see at the street dance but Don Robinson, back from Cleveland for a few days' visit. Also, Jean Baldwin, there with Nan and Tom McLoughlin. Did Nelson Schrader, Jr. show you the sleight-of-hand trick he got at the World's Fair? He can make a dime disappear very easily, but who can't?

It looks so familiar to see Warner (Thunder) Neal tearing down the street on one of his important missions. Foss Van Atta began his duties of soda jerk at Stewart's drug store when Ward started up North to camp with the Boy Scouts. The Record office added a new worker to its staff in the person of John Mills of Detroit, who has just finished his first year at Hillsdale college, another journalist. If the Record seems better you'll know why.

Konath Kerr suggested that Junior Schrader have an orchestra to play "Tiger Rag" while he paints his father's house so that he will get finished in a couple of days; otherwise the rhythm of painting will be more in the form of a waltz and it may be two weeks before the job is done. Elmer Perrin, Junior Schrader, "Ad" Schwenker, Phil Paul and Ruth Mary Baldwin went swimming at Whitmore Lake. Florence Ballo still smiles at her customers in spite of such hot weather. She's looking forward to her vacation which is coming soon.

We saw Arlene Richardson and Esther Parmenter tripping the light fantastic down at the street dance Saturday night. We miss Harry Hoffman's smiling face about the town—he's down in Jackson having a better time. We saw Bob Cousins driving the family's new Ford V-8 and he seems to be enjoying it immensely. Gertrude Deal, Florence Johnson, Violet Johnson, Maurice Giles and a few others of those who are musically inclined are up at Interlochen warbling along with the other birds. Sally Richardson is back in town once more after her visit to Flint. Alex Johnson is getting quite gifted as an adding machine.

See you again next week.

DETROIT AIR RACES WILL START FRIDAY

The buzz and whirl of racing planes over the crowds, air turtles, dog fights, spectacular stunts at 300 miles an hour, attacks on the baby speed records, a race for the Baby Ruth Trophy on a five-miles rectangular course, delayed parachute jumping, balloon bursting, have all been thrown into the kaleidoscope of the Detroit Air Races to be held at the Wayne County Airport, Goddard and Middle Belt Roads, July 28, 29 and 30. Sixteen acrobatic and racing events each day staged by world famous stunt and speed fliers are commanding the interest of the entire state in aviation development.

Plans were completed finally this week by the aircraft bureau of the Detroit Board of Commerce and the Wayne County Road Commissioners to bring fifty of the country's most famous fliers here, to create for the interest of the public many army and navy events, to attack two world air records, and give to the people of the state one of the finest demonstrations of flying skill in a series of remarkable events ever seen in this country. The show will go on for three days with eighteen events on the roster every day.

The mayors of Michigan towns will officially open the air races Friday, July 28, with ceremonies welcoming the fliers and their friends and the events will be in harmony with the thought of National Defense Day.

CHINCH BUGS IN COUNTY

Wayne County is suffering from a severe infestation of chinch bug, especially in the southern part. These insects are small, about 1/8 inch long with a triangular white patch on the back. They develop in grain or hay fields and when grass is cut they migrate rapidly to other fields. This movement can be stopped by plowing or otherwise working a dust furrow between the infested field and the one toward which the insects are going. If they have already migrated when found, a furrow can be laid out inside the new field.

The dust furrow stops migration temporarily because the insects travel by crawling and cannot get through the dust easily. A log or weight should be hauled through the furrow about once an hour to stir up the dust and destroy the insects; the infestation only lasts a few days. If a hard floor can be made in the trench, the insects are sometimes strung along in the bottom.

A good rain does damage to the insects because they are washed into the ground cracks and disease destroys them.

Dance of the Food Fads

by "The Man Who Remembers"

WHILE it lasted the Dance of the Food Fads had more followers than the Tango or the Charleston. First you strangled your natural appetite. Then you selected your food by adding up the calories from a list that looked like the closing prices on the stock market page.

Diet cranks undertook to re-fashion the body lines of the Nation. Thin women grew thinner—fat women fatter. The number of undernourished children increased.

Like Tom Thumb golf, the Food Fads faded out. Calories, vitamins, proteins, violet rays and the whole tribe of diet mischief makers sneaked home to the long haired professors who had turned them loose.

The return to sane thinking and sane eating is under way. Folks are going back to old fashioned food that is good for them. They are eating more wholesome white bread. Bread is Nature's most appetizing and nourishing food. The Dance of the Food Fads is over.

SALLY BELL BREAD, baked just right to hold moisture, and its flavor enhanced by the addition of honey, is just the bread for your discriminating taste.

Federal Government May Spend Half Million Dollars in Four Public Projects Near Plymouth

(From The Plymouth Mail)

Four of the major projects to be recommended by the Wayne county road commission to the federal government as a part of United States public work projects in Wayne county are in the vicinity of Plymouth. These projects, which have the approval of the Detroit city, county as well as state officials, call for an expenditure of considerably over half a million dollars within a distance of five miles of Plymouth.

The projects listed by the county road commission are of such a nature that if the government gives approval to the expenditures, work can be started immediately.

One of the first improvements recommended by the commission is the widening of the Ann Arbor cut-off road from the forks near Newburg to the Washtenaw county line. It is recommended that the present 20 foot paying be widened to 40 feet at a cost of $194,000. The distance is something like six or seven miles that the proposed project covers.

The commission also recommends that a grade separation be constructed at the point where the Golden road crosses the Pere Marquette tracks. This is about a half mile east on the Golden road from the south Main street intersection. The cost of this project is placed at $150,000. The survey for this work has been completed for some time and the officials of the Pere Marquette have agreed to the plan.

Another grade separation project recommended is for the Pere Marquette crossing at the Ford road in Nankin township, about three miles southeast of the Golden road separation. The cost of this project is placed at a similar amount to the one at the Golden road.

The other heavily listed project is the widening of the Ford road from the Wayne road to the Canton Center road at a cost of $60,000. Wayne county officials believe that they will have no difficulty in getting the federal government to approve these projects when they go to Washington July 26.

THE LEAN DOG

By Robert G. Yerkes

An item in a Detroit paper reveals the United States Attorney General has ruled that no beer may be handled in a building designated as a post office or postal branch. Too bad, Tom, there goes your chance!

The Northville street dances on a Saturday evening are getting plenty of attention. It's not the direct results of each Saturday night that count, either. It's the fact that people know Northville is alive and coming. It won't take long until business is much better. At town that won't stay down, that laughs and carries on in spite of all that can be done to it will attract people. A certain percentage of those people will move here. Result—bigger and better village—better business.

Chairman Ulrich has a job he can keep. Of all the thankless positions, that's it. And does anybody appreciate the work he does? Some few, perhaps. But what he hears mostly are individual complaints. "Why not this?" and "Why not that?"

Main street cannot be blocked off because it's part of our highway system, so we understand. As for the other complaints, it is impossible to adopt all suggestions embodied in them. These affairs must be run to benefit the greatest number of people, and when that is done, all of Northville will receive some returns for the efforts made.

In the last week's "Thirty Years Ago Column" of the Record, we noted an item concerning a returned uncle and Aunt Wilber, starting on a vacation trip to Grayling. They spent eight days on the Au Sable and had lots of fun. Camping in their little single pole tent at night, cooking the fish they caught, paddling downstream all day—that's the life! But do young folks do it nowadays? Not much! It's left to the Boy Scouts.

110 MILES AN HOUR

(Emerson O. Gildart in Utica Sentinel)

The railroads, at least a few of them, are out to demonstrate that they "ain't dead yet."

The Union Pacific's new streamlined passenger train, built to do 110 miles an hour, is a challenge to the railroad's keenest competitor, the autobus. The device is now undergoing hurricane tests in the engineering laboratory of the University of Michigan, and gives great promise of another transport revolution.

The stream-lined flyer will be propelled by a gasoline engine which will furnish power to a dynamo furnishing electricity to wheel motors. Carrying 25,000 pounds of mail and baggage and a maximum of 120 passengers, it will shoot along the rails at a speed far beyond anything practicable or safe on the highways. Its motors will have a 600-horsepower capacity, with which the 110-mile speed can be sustained. At the contemplated speed of 90 miles, only 500 horsepower will be needed. To convey an equal load by the conventional type of train, with its equivalent of three cars would require 1700 horsepower; while six buses would be required, totaling 1500 horsepower, and then the rail speed could not be duplicated. It would appear that in this new device the railroads have a weapon of offense which their competitors by water or pike can never hope successfully to combat.

WHAT OTHER EDITORS ARE THINKING ABOUT

WHAT LIES AHEAD?

(The LaGrange, Ind., Standard)

It is quite evident from the eighteenth amendment votes in Alabama and Arkansas that the amendment will be repealed. Whether or not we approve, we cannot fail to see the handwriting on the wall. The only thing to do is to work together in good spirit for some plan other than national prohibition that will be the least detrimental. Repealists have studiously stayed away from outlining any plan, knowing that there is no plan that will not have a hundred faults. We had hoped that something nearer a solution might be worked out on the basis of legalizing light drinks and leaving hard drinks outlawed. We can see whiskey only as an unmitigated curse. But the majority say that it must be placed on sale and the majority rules in America.

THE WORLD'S KEY MAN

(Christian Science Monitor)

President Franklin Delano Roosevelt of the United States is, at this hour, undoubtedly the world's key man. His own country fixes its eyes on him as the stupendous industrial recovery program gets underway with the filing of competitive codes at Washington. A hundred serious questions arise to which he and his chief aids must supply immediate and positive answers. Legal authority gives every word weight. The W. E. C. at London refuses to warm to the Roosevelt public works idea as suitable for other countries, yet from London and every European capital, statesmen watch Washington and the consciousness that what the leader there is doing must profoundly affect the welfare of their own nations. A brave man moving in a critical hour to meet a world's need deserves every mental and moral support. The day's chief news may be told in terms of things that appear to hark back to one steady-thinking man.

TAXPAYER'S PARADISE

(The Trenton Times)

Eight Michigan communities have been receiving a lot of favorable publicity lately because of the fact that they are known as taxless towns. This information comes from the Utilities Information Bureau of Michigan, which lists Pawamo, Saranac, Appleton, Cass City, Clifton, Gagetown, Luther and Ulysses as being in this class. In other words these eight Michigan communities charged their residents nothing for local government in 1932.

Living in these towns may be quiet but at least it is inexpensive to the taxpayers. Village government in Michigan has always been "of the best." In the smaller places citizens actually fight for the opportunity to serve their communities without pay. Whatever the small cost of local government it is easily borne, and often there is enough left in the treasury at the end of the year to care for the expenses of the next.

Village and township government should be encouraged and preserved. Both are inexpensive, both are close to the people, both create respect for all government in the minds of the people they serve.

Miss Blanchett Becomes Bride

(O'ra C. Lane)

A very lovely wedding was solemnized in the Congregational church of Salem, Mich., last Tuesday, July 18, at 4 p. m. when Miss Lydia Berger Blanchett, became the wife of O'ra C. Lane both of Toledo, Ohio. Miss Berger is a life-long friend of Mrs. Stroh.

Miss Berger was attended by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Mary Berger, as matron of honor and her brother John as best man.

The rostrum and altar of the church was beautifully banked with ferns and baskets of flowers.

The bride was most charming in an all over-gold lace dress, over rose, with rose hat, veil and slippers to match. She carried a lovely corsage of pink roses tied with loops of ribbons. The matron of honor wore a powder blue silk crepe gown, white hat and slippers. Her corsage was of yellow tea roses and velvet ribbons.

Rev. Lucia M. Stroh, officiated with a few fitting remarks and scripture then read the service using the ring ceremony. Other members and friends attending the wedding were: Mrs. A. Baeschlin, Mrs. Carl Berger, Virginia Lane and Mr. and Mrs. Kaiser all of Toledo; Miss Elizabeth Wittich, Mrs. Wittich and Mr. Raymond Wyneparry of Detroit.

The entire bridal party of thirteen then proceeded to Northville to the Lone Pine Tea Room and partook of a most delectable four course six o'clock dinner. The table was lovely with color scheme of pink and

How All the People Had a Hand In Building Nation's Credit Structure

Banker Describes the Way Loans and Securities of Banks Are Based on the Hopes and Plans of All Classes—Values Dependent on Public's Ability to Meet Obligations

By FRANCIS H. Sisson, President American Bankers Association in The Forum

CREDIT may be informally described as future hopes, plans and good intentions converted into present purchasing power. The farmer, the manufacturer, the merchant, the home buyer, the purchaser of goods, the investor and the speculator all borrow at times. They plan to repay with the earnings of their crops, proceeds of the sale of their goods, incomes from their wages and salaries or profits from the resale of their securities at enhanced market values, each as the case may be.

The greater part of these various forms of credit is obtained by the borrowers directly or indirectly through the expansion of the loans and investments of the banks. It is this which creates the notes, securities and mortgages in the portfolios of the banks. The banks are able to extend these loans because people deposit money with them.

Even under the best conditions the plans of a small percentage of borrowers go wrong through mistakes, hard luck or dishonesty, and the judgment of the banks in such cases is proved by the after event to have been at fault. The losses caused under such conditions are ordinarily fully met by funds set aside out of the earnings of the banks for just this purpose and do not affect the depositors' money.

In the vast majority of cases and in the overwhelming volume of business involved the confidence of the banks in their customers and the confidence of the customers in their own ability to carry out their plans and obligations to successful conclusions are wholly justified. This is the normal economic situation under which credit adds to the welfare and progress of society.

The Faith of the Banks

Such was the structure of hopes, good intentions and common confidence in one another that existed among all classes of the nation's community life when the series of economic shocks began to shake the nation's social fabric in 1929. The people had deposited billions of dollars with the banks because they had confidence in them. The banks had loaned large volumes of these deposits on farm and home mortgages and on notes of manufacturers, business men and finance concerns, and had invested in the standard securities of the nation's corporations, state and local government units and the national government itself, because they had confidence in the citizenship and the business conditions of the nation.

Their mortgage and other loans to owners of farms aggregated $6,500,000,000. Loans on urban real estate were $4,000,000,000. Loans to individuals secured by U. S. Government, municipal and corporate securities, totaled $11,000,000,000. Loans to industrial and commercial enterprises in connection with the production and distribution of the nation's infinite varieties of goods amounted to almost $19,500,000,000. Investments in Federal, State and municipal bonds were almost $6,000,000,000, and in corporate securities $11,000,000,000.

This great credit structure was built while the country was at peace, while the farms and factories were productive, while the nation and the world provided great active markets for their outputs, while the earnings of all kinds of enterprise were large, while the working people of the nation were fully employed, while wages and salaries were steady and generous, while prices of commodities were strong and while the minds of the people were dominated by confidence.

Great Changes Came to the Nation

They suddenly almost as if the sun itself had lost part of its vitality, everything changed. Our foreign markets failed and disappeared. Industry slackened. A rapid drop in all kinds of commodity values set in. The earnings of business fell. Unemployment developed. Wages and salaries went down. Domestic markets shrank. Fear became general. The securities markets became panic-stricken as the prices of stocks and bonds withered to fractions of their former values. It was the greatest disintegration of human plans, economic conditions and worldly values ever witnessed.

These destructive changes cut tight through the qualities and values of the loans and investments, the notes and securities in the banks. Business men and manufacturers could not repay their notes to the banks due. Many governmental units and corporations defaulted the payments on their bonds. Property underlying real estate mortgages became worth less than the face of the mortgages. The market values of standard securities became less than the banks had paid for them as investments or accepted them as collateral for loans.

This meant, in fact, that the ability of borrowers to carry out the future hopes, plans and good intentions that I have defined above as the basis of credit had become impaired to a far greater extent than had ever before occurred in the nation's history. The resulting losses could not be absorbed by the banks alone out of the normally ample funds that had been set aside against the expectancy of a certain inevitable percentage of human plans gone wrong.

Banks Showed All Reasonable Care

It was in loans and investments whose values thus became so unforeseeably impaired that the banks, in all confidence, in all good faith, in all humanly reasonable care and good judgment had entrusted the billions of dollars of deposits customers entrusted to them.

These loans and investments were under all normal conditions as good as gold itself. Indeed, if the banks instead had filled their vaults with gold bars, and then some unknown cosmic ray had transmuted them into lead, the results would have been scarcely more startling than the depreciation that was caused in the assets of the banks by the unforeseeable economic forces which permeated and debased them.

The inevitable result was that, when the banks urgently needed the money they had entrusted to those assets, so that they could meet the unreasonable demands of their depositors, they could not get it back.

It was not that our banking system and methods were of themselves weak or reprehensible, apart from the rest of the life of the nation, as has been made to appear.

It was not that our banks were permeated with incompetency or dishonesty or with lower standards of business ethics than were the other forms of human activity with which their own fate and activities were inextricably interwoven, as it almost seemed at times, there was a concerted national conspiracy to lead our people to believe.

The great fact of American banking is that it shared fully in the plans and hopes and hazards of the American people, and when those plans went wrong, the banks carried their share of the burden and suffered their share of the misfortune.
