

HORSE SHOW FINEST EVER GIVEN HERE

Exceptionally Large Number of High Class Entries
Is Made

Increasing in popularity and prestige each year of its existence, the Northville Wayne County Fair's three day horse show, Aug. 24, 25, 26, this year surpassed its previous best efforts.

Such names as Ainsworth, Crittenden, Hettich, Ordway, Greiman, all shining lights in the equestrian world, astride such mounts as Bugle Call, On Parade, Buck Forest, Chief, and others gave horse enthusiasts thrill after thrill with the perfection of their performances, the excellence of their lines and general conformation.

Valley Gray Wins
Valley Gray, owned by Charles H. Ainsworth, ran true to form by capturing a blue in the open jump, the colorful jumpers' stake, and the touch and out class of the senior show and garnered a share of the other awards. Patty Dore, a comparative newcomer to the Stewart Hoffman Stables to local horse circles, showed the way in the ladies' three-gaited (any height) class in the road hacks class, and finished well up in the list of other three-gaited classes. Iderton, another Ainsworth horse, took Miss Evelyn Greiman's trophy in the ladies' hunters class. On Parade, entered by Mr. and Mrs. John J. Hettich, Northville, dominated the five-gaited combination field, but bowed to Grand Peavine of the Crystal Springs Stables in the Farm Chest $100 five-gaited saddle horse class.

Gold Step, a Howard Dickey entry, captured the gentlemen's five-gaited open class and the fine harness class, and Kalingo, a familiar name, entered by Mrs. J. A. Blackwood, took the blue in the lightweight hunters group. Chester McDonald, Jimmy Casson up, stepped out in front of the field in the three-gaited saddle horse class (over 15.2) to win the $200 cash prize and the blue ribbon.

Trophy to Sweet Esther
Sweet Esther performed sweetly enough in the exciting final event of the show to capture the president's trophy for hunters and jumpers over a "tuned" course, Iderton running the Arner entry a close second.

The junior horse show, held Thursday, so far as officials of the show can find, is the only exhibit for juveniles of its kind in the state or in the country. Juniors are allowed to enter in all shows but a special exhibit for them such as is featured at Northville is an original event here.

KING'S DAUGHTERS
The King's Daughters will hold their first meeting of the season at the home of Miss Inez Bryan, South Wing street, Tuesday at 3 p. m., Sept. 5.

Prince Louis Ferdinand Comes To Hoffman Home in Northville And Leaves Aristocracy Behind

(From the Detroit News)
By GARNET WARFEL
When Prince Louis Ferdinand, second son of Crown Prince Wilhelm of Prussia, first came to America several years ago for what his family called "an experiment in democracy," the august Hohenzollerns never dreamed to what lengths the youth would go.

Instead of hobnobbing with aristocracy or living the life of a wealthy bachelor, the prince has elected to work as a regular employee of the Ford Motor Co., and has chosen among his very closest friends, Fred Hoffman, another Ford employee, of Northville.

The prince has been a visitor at the Hoffman bungalow on River street several times. He rides horseback on his favorite mount from Hoffman's stables, and then eats a hearty dinner at Mrs. Hoffman's table.

Detroit Visitor Criticizes
Some Unlovely Spots
Of Village

"I wish Northville could clean up its weeds," says Mrs. T. R. Carrington, whose rock garden and flowers are among the beauty spots of the village. "I had a letter from a friend in St. Petersburg, Florida," she continues, saying that the well-to-do workers have cleaned every nook and corner of that city and the result is remarkable. It cost the city no cash whatever."

In a walk through the village recently Mrs. Carrington noticed large quantities of weeds going to seed which will be scattered and plant a fine crop for next year. Along the curbs of the streets she observed weeds carelessly neglected which give the town a run-down appearance.

It is previous to the recent fair, she remarks, with large numbers of visitors pouring into town, each person had put his own premises in perfect order the whole tone of the town would have been raised. One Detroit man was heard to observe, "There are some parts of your beautiful village that are perfect eyesores which a little fixing would change completely."

NORTHVILLE GROUP SEES BABE RUTH IN LAST APPEARANCE

"Babe Ruth's star is setting," said several of the Northville group who went to Detroit Tuesday afternoon and saw the New York Yankees defeat the Detroit Tigers without the help of the Babe's big stick. He fanned twice and got only one hit and was not in the game the last two innings after New York got a big lead. On the other hand the Northville fans saw one Mr. Lazarro of the East Side of New York do the kind of hitting that Babe Ruth used to do.

Wm. E. Forney made the arrangements for the trip. Others who enjoyed the game were: David B. Bunn, Harry B. Clark, E. M. Bogart and sons, Ralph and Warren, Percy Angove, E. H. Lapham, Rev. Frank N. Miner, Elmer Perrin, Dr. Selady, Dr. Wilbur H. Johnson, Floyd Lanning, James Spagnuolo, Orlov G. Owen, Chas. E. Rogers, Walter W. Ware and sons, Irving and Herbert, Herman Hartner, Don Yerkes, Sr., R. T. Baldwin and son, Paul.

(NOTE: Since the above was written it developed that the Northville men saw the last game that Babe Ruth played as a regular of the New York Yankees. Big headlines in Detroit papers the past two days carried the story that Ruth was "through.")

CROWD TRIES TO "CRASH" FAIR GATE

About 8:30 Saturday night, the final evening of the Northville Wayne County fair, a crowd gathered outside the west gate at the fair grounds, tried to "crash" through, past the attendants, into the grounds.

It looked as if they were going to succeed until Officer Joseph Ranko of the sheriff's office, stationed at the west gate, summoned several other deputies to help him. The presence of the "law" was sufficient and the mob subsided.

SCHOOL ALL SET TO OPEN SEPTEMBER 18

Few Changes Made; Students
Are Urged To Enroll
Early

Plans are now completed for the opening of the Northville public schools on Monday, Sept. 18, Supt. R. H. Amerman said Wednesday.

Few very changes were found necessary, he said, and with the exception of a different policy affecting the grade school and kindergarten, the school year of 1933-34 will go on much the same as last year.

This change, made in the interests of economy, is the abolishing of the semi-annual promotion in the grades. "According to Supt. Amerman, a plan has been set up whereby the mid-year sections may be absorbed gradually. This will be accomplished by double promotions where advisable, and by the gradual advancement of individual students. All of this will be done with the knowledge and consent of the parents of the students advanced," Mr. Amerman said. No mid-year classes will be started the second semester.

The superintendent stressed the fact that parents planning to start children in the kindergarten should enroll them in September. All children who will reach the age of five years by next February should be started this September, also, he said.

The superintendent's office will be open beginning Monday, September 11, throughout the week, for the purpose of consultation with parents and students regarding the class curricula. Seventh and eighth grade pupils should plan to register with Mrs. Ida B. Coope in the junior high room on either September 14 or 15, Mr. Amerman said. He also stated that senior high students are requested to register with Assistant Principal Paul B. Thompson in the kindergarten between the 11th and 15th of September. By having the registration completed before school opens, authorities believe much time can be saved and confusion avoided. Students were urged to observe the above schedule and help to carry it out.

Further plans and announcements, still being worked out, will appear in next week's Record.

USED SCHOOL BOOKS MAY BE TURNED IN SEPT. 11

For the benefit of those who have not already turned in their used books, the "high school book store" will be open from 9 until 3 o'clock on Monday, Sept. 11.

No used books will be taken in the first week of school. Those wishing credit for books should not fail to bring them to the high school on the above mentioned date.

Many Exhibitors Show Products Schrout Wins Best Display Cup

The exhibits at the Northville Wayne County fair this year were better perhaps than ever before. That is the opinion of the heads of the various displays of horticulture, agriculture, draft horses, swine, sheep, poultry, the Woman's department, and those in the Main hall.

In the fruit exhibit, Ralph Foreman, member-in-charge, says "the exhibits speak for themselves. The department was unusually good considering conditions." In this department, Loren Flint, of Novi, took first in the big displays; Will Foreman, second; Fred Foreman, third; John Miller of Plymouth, fourth; and Mrs. Myrtle Hills, fifth. Mrs. Hills, who also won a first in the vegetable exhibit, had the only tray of peaches at the fair. They were raised on her farm on the west Base Lane road.

A very novel display was a plate of prickly pears, exhibited by Messrs. Bomarto and Larinnetto of the Ten-Mile road. These pears came from Italy seven months ago, and were awarded a special premium.

Dr. Marshall of the Michigan State college acted as judge. He was attending the fair for the first time and was much surprised at the fruit exhibit. "It was one of the largest displays of any small county fair," he said.

In charge of this department were Ralph Foreman, Loren Flint, and L. N. Bogart of Novi. They expressed themselves as greatly pleased with (Continued on Page Eight)

German Wins On 40th Anniversary

When Harry German, Sr. started pitching in the Northville fair game against Plymouth he, must have realized he was celebrating his fortieth year anniversary on the playing field.

The way the Detroit Free Press described it is that he defeated his opponents 12 to 1, and did not allow a man to first base until the seventh inning, then only allowing two hits the remainder of the game.

In 1893, just 40 years ago, "Don Yerkes, Sr. was the ace pitcher in these parts; but one day in the absence of Pitcher Yerkes, German was called on to pitch a game for the town team against Farmington. Harry won his game and since that time has been a moundsman. Both games were played on the same lands once known as the Purdy Yerkes farm and now more familiarly, the fair grounds.

Strangely enough, Don, Sr. sat in the grandstand Thursday and saw the game pitched by German and commented that the now veteran hurler once played left field, while Don was a pitcher and the left garden was well taken care of.

First Polo Game Under Lights Is Seen by Crowded Grandstand At the Fair Thursday Evening

The first outdoor polo game to be held under electric lights was played on the Northville race track before a crowded grandstand Thursday evening. P. H. Grennan's Farmcrest team heaped vengeance on the Detroit Racing and Hunt club team for two previous defeats by whipping the Detroit outfit 16 to 6.

For Farmcrest, P. H. Grennan filled the number one position, Bobby Nichols, number two, and Bill Boyer, number three. For Detroit, Volney Bayley head down the number one job, Joel Dobbs number two, and Perry Williams, number three Outplayed in the first chukker.

NORTHVILLE FAIR WINS TRIUMPH

Uniformly Large Crowds Are Present to Witness The Varied Attractions

Estimates Place 10,000 As Number That Attended During the Four Days

With beribboned drum sticks, flashing bugles and colorful uniforms, four American Legion drum and bugle corps concluded the seventeenth annual Northville Wayne County Fair Saturday evening by holding the finals of a competitive contest on the race track in front of the grandstand before 3,000 people. Fred W. Beaudry, Post No. 126, of Detroit, won first prize with a score of 94.85 points.

The four drill teams had paraded throughout the afternoon before the judges and the exhibition at the evening performance was the final event before the prizes, totaling $300, were awarded.

APPLE DEVELOPED BY LOREN B. FLINT

An apple developed by Loren B. Flint, Twelve Mile road, that may prove to be a new variety that will become nationally known and take its place alongside the honored members of the apple race—Northern Spy, Baldwin, McIntosh, Greening Steele's Red, and so on—made its first official bow to the world last week at the horticultural exhibit at the Northville Wayne County fair.

The new apple, due to a resemblance to the McIntosh apple, has been named "L. M. Mc" by Mr. Flint. Like many developments in the plant world, the discovery of the new fruit came about by chance. About 25 years ago an apple tree in the Flint orchards was cut down but refused to die and a new sprout came up and formed a new tree that a few years ago began to bear fruit. About two years ago Mr. Flint noticed that the apples on the tree were strangely different, so much so that he sent for Roy Gurnsey, expert of the Greening Bros nursery at Monroe, who agreed with him that the apple seemed to be a new variety. Scions were taken from the tree and the new variety is now being studied scientifically to see whether it will be added to the apple family.

The "L. B. Mc" is highly colored and ripens ten days earlier than the McIntosh, which, by the way, is a first cousin of the well known Snow Apple.

DETROIT BOY FAINTS AT THE FAIRGROUNDS

Overcome by heat, exhaustion and lack of food, a young boy from Detroit fainted on the Midway of the fair Thursday evening. He was rushed to Sessions hospital by a sheriff's patrol car where he was revived.

APPENDECTOMY IS PERFORMED TUESDAY ON N. C. SCHRADER

Nelson C. Schrader, president of the Northville Wayne County fair and well known furniture merchant here, was operated on at Sessions hospital Tuesday afternoon at about 4:30 o'clock for the removal of his appendix. The operation was pronounced successful and the patient is showing remarkable recovery.

Mr. Schrader was taken quite ill approximately a year ago just previous to fair time, but recovered quickly after a heritage of tremendous vitality. According to attending physicians he is resting comfortably and showing spartan courage for one who has had to withstand so much ill health.

The next issue of the Northville telephone directory is about to go to press. The phone company urges that if anyone wants their name listed or a telephone installed in their home, or to list a change of address, the order must be placed by Monday, Sept. 11.

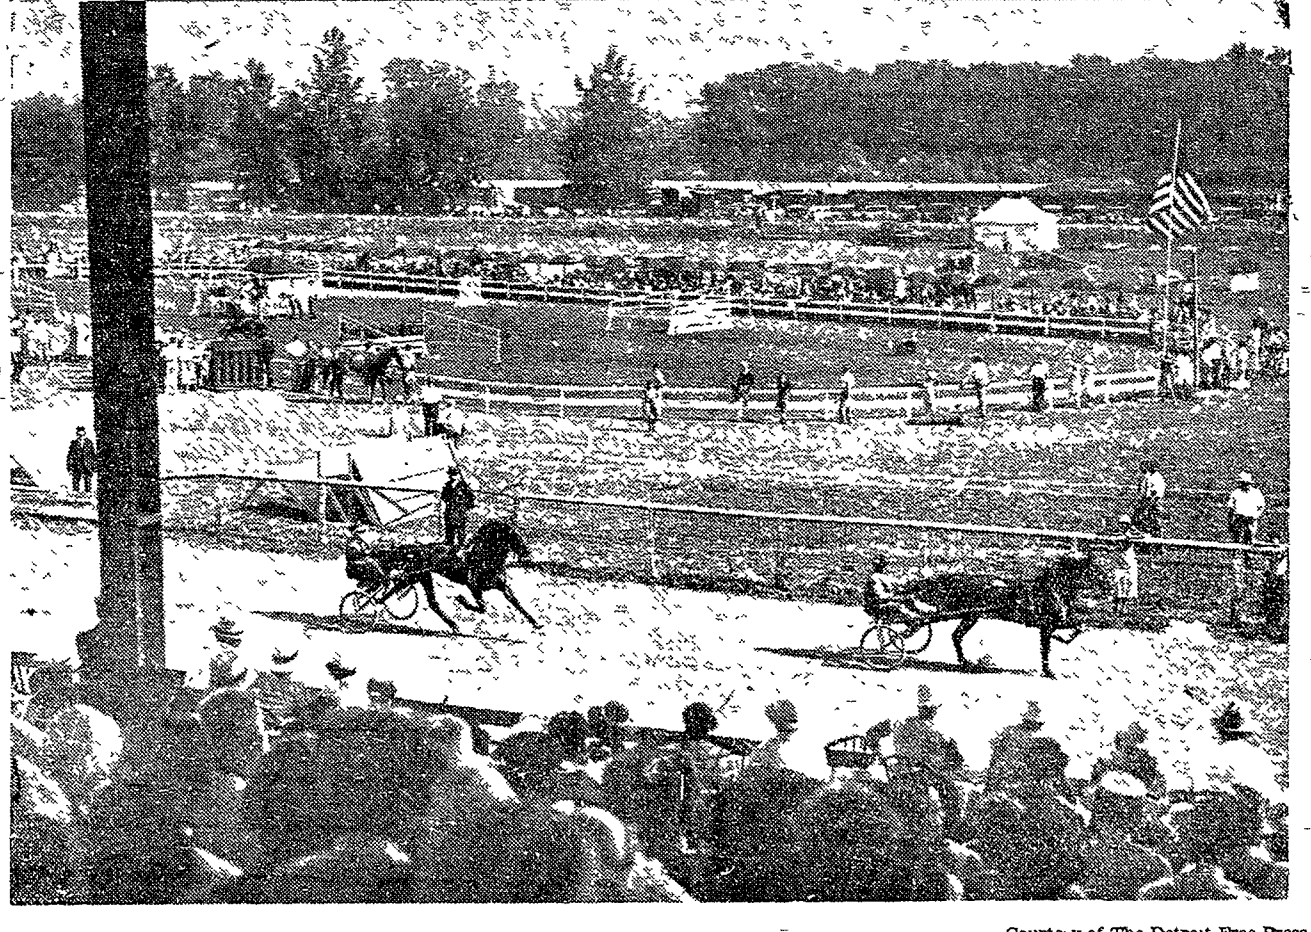

Northville Milk Producers and Consumers Will Be Governed By Code of "The Detroit Milk Shed"

Under the provisions of President Roosevelt's Agricultural Adjustment Act, a code for the milk industry has been adopted, affecting a large number of farmers in and around the vicinity of Northville.

This code, which became effective at midnight, Sunday, August 27, is entitled Marketing Agreement for Milk Detroit Milk Shed. It concerns three parties, the farmer, the contracting distributor or dealer, and Henry A. Wallace, United States Secretary of Agriculture, and while it does not exactly fix prices, it does strictly regulate and equalize the prices at which milk may be sold. It also provides for the allotment of a "base" or amount of milk that may be sold by each producer at a fixed price. Another important feature of the code is that it states that the prices of milk sold from retail stores shall be the same as those of milk delivered by a retail wagon.

This marketing agreement for milk starts out by defining the Detroit sales area which takes in all of Wayne county and parts of Oakland and Macomb counties. It goes on and minutely describes the "Detroit Milk Shed," which briefly is an area radiating approximately 60 miles from Detroit.

Under "Exhibit A" of the code, milk is divided into three classes. All milk sold as milk by dealers falls under class I. Fifteen per cent of that amount, which is supposed to take care of the cream trade, is class II. All milk used for by products such as butter, cheese, etc., comes under the class III head. Exhibit A goes on to state that "each contracting distributor shall be obligated to pay the following prices (Continued on Back Page)

SOON THE SCHOOL BELL

"Goodbye to summer" can soon be sung. And we hate to see it go. We reached out just yesterday for some more summer days and rather to our amazement, we found that there are only a few left. We thought summer had just started but we looked up at the calendar and found that September 1 comes this week. And we went out to pick a flower and found the leaves turning dry and fall-like. We looked out to the friendly woods across the River Rouge and thought we saw the branch of a tree turning brown and gold. And the "kids" are saying that school starts September 18. And the fair grounds are deserted and the fair is only a memory for 1933.

Well, welcome to the fall. Michigan is glorious in September, October—yes, even in November, and we won't feel so badly after all, when we can start the first fireplace fire or go out and look at the harvest moon. It is good to live—summer or fall or winter. And we don't want to die in the springtime.

WHY MEN DRINK

It has always been a source of wonderment to us why so many men have to drink liquor to round out a "good time." Well, the other day, in talking about "drinking parties" we got a new idea—to us—of why men drink so freely at these convivial gatherings.

"Just why do men drink as they do at these occasions?" we asked a good friend who knows something of the surrounding of these happy get-togethers. "Well, Dick, I'll tell you," he said. "The phlegmatic man needs a little liquor to get him stimulated so he can rise above his phlegmatic ways."

That explanation has puzzled us. No one ever called us "phlegmatic," so maybe that is why we find more comfort in leaving liquor alone. But we are not sure the explanation is right. We know a lot of non-phlegmatic chaps—good men, too—who can hold up their end when it comes to filling the flowing bowl.

Just why do men drink?

COÖPERATION DOES IT

We heard Nelson C. Schrader say in a speech the other day that cooperation by everyone had made the Northville Wayne County fair the success it has been. After seeing part of last week's fair we think and know that "Nels" is right.

A hundred different forces pulling together, recognizing each other's rights and overlooking each other's frailties, working toward the common goal of success for the fair, made last week's big event another great success. We are all proud of that success.

"You have every reason to be very proud of your fair," said Congressman George A. Dondero to a Record representative Saturday. And the congressman said it as though he meant it.

One family that came 75 miles last year for the first time to see the horse show, were back again this year.

We heard one good critic say that the free acts were among the finest he ever saw. A woman came out from Detroit to see our fair for the first time and when the last fireworks died into the beautiful night, she said with sincerity: "Well, I have had a wonderful day at your fair."

We do not say that our fair is perfect—nothing is, except the love of a good woman. We heard some criticism of the fair but as we told some of the critics: "Those things will all be worked out, if we just go at it in the right way." If you know of any way to make the fair better, there is nothing the officials would like better than to get your cooperation and constructive help.

The 1933 fair is now history and good history. "The best is yet to be" and the 1934 fair will be there, not only "bigger and better" but with a finer appeal to all classes of folks here in Northville and in every direction. Northville can be proud of its fair.

THE MENACE OF DEFAMATION

A very thought provoking statement was made in Detroit Sunday by one of its outstanding pastors whose word carries great weight among all classes of people. It is worth thinking over—by that class of people who think for themselves and are not misled by demagogues.

He was talking about the banking grand jury in Detroit which last week at times reminded one more of a circus demonstration than a serious effort to find out why it has not been possible to open the closed banks of Detroit—and aid 800,000 depositors. The preacher in effect said that if the charges and accusations that have been hurled at so many of Detroit's finest leaders are continued, it will not be long before faith and confidence in Detroit and in its institutions will be broken down to a large degree and the entire city will suffer.

Now isn't that true? And isn't it time that sane and sober thinking replaces the dangerous prejudice and "grandstand" braggadocio and theatrics that marked the grand jury investigation last week when a radio performer made such outrageous charges against good men that it brought about an upheaval of popular indignation among those of his own faith?

Read these words from the preacher, Dr. M. S. Rice, and then ask yourself how much longer Detroit is going to tolerate the destructive tactics that have been running wild there for months, like prairie fire, in this case fanned by the gales of intolerance and hatred.

"It is high time in this much-troubled town of ours that we were brought to our senses in the fact that the place to clear crime is in a court of regular criminal constitution, rather than to subject us to the spectacle of a super-gossip session where men can gratify personal accusations, and be protected and listened to by eager audiences of those who care not if the characters of all shall be crushed beneath the hatreds of a few."

"Another six months of defamation in the wholesale manner we have been listening to of late, of negative accusations from a holier-than-thou assumption, will undermine all our foundations and leave us in the ragged wretchedness of the ruins of our great city."

"We have built here a city of great industry and integrity and we cannot afford to have it now torn down in ruthlessness of personal hatreds."

WANDERING THOUGHTS

"If you ask us," courtesy and kindness are still among the big foundation stones of any business success.

We saw an unusual sight in Detroit the other day. A new house going up. Northville, let's go.

Well, what will Coach Ted Watts' high school football team do? We are all for them, no matter whether they win or lose.

The house has been lonesome for a few days. Little Phil has gone to Detroit to Ad. Schwenger's home for a visit—and was he excited? These little kindnesses to children make some very happy memories.

"It is a pretty good rule when you're away from home, to speak well of our community and its neighbors or keep quiet." So says the editor of the paper at Charlotte, Mich., a good town. Amen, brother. And it's also fine to speak well of it at home. After living in quite a quota of towns, it is our observation that the knocker of the home town doesn't mean much to the progress of the community. Someone suggests that the NRA limit the home town knocker to two minutes a week.

If the NRA does nothing more than do away with child labor and wipe out the "sweat shops" of our land it will be a marvelous blessing. President Roosevelt has shown great courage in attacking these vicious evils of our economic system. In such a land of plenty as ours, with all its marvelous resources and possibilities of manufacture for every good thing for man, there certainly should be some way for reasoning men to put all these good things of life within reach of all. All power to our president as he tries to bring about a new day of hope for the discouraged and the downtrodden!

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION

What should Northville do in the next year?

WHAT OTHER EDITORS ARE THINKING ABOUT

MICHIGAN AND GAMBLING

(Uncle Sammel)

For the first time in half a century, the grand old State of Michigan has entered into a gambling contract. It's a slap in the faces of all Christian citizens.

IT MUST NOT FAIL!

(Chas S Seed in Rochester Clarion)

Now comes a sort of whispering campaign. "Wonder if the Industrial Recovery campaign is going to work out? Maybe it will, but I doubt it!"

"That is not the American spirit with which to face this gigantic battle of the ages. Either we are going to win this fight, or America and the whole world with it, is going to plunge to depths unheard of and undreamed."

This is no time for "Doubting Thomases." Discourage them whenever one puts in an appearance. Point out that all our old inhibitions, all our old doubts, our fears, our misgivings, must go into the discard. We are far out at sea in a new and untried boat. We have a calm and courageous captain at the wheel. If we have the faith of a sturdy people we will arrive at the haven of safety.

But get this firmly fixed in your mind: If the boat goes down—all on board must perish. There will be no saving of the few.

STUPID OLD RACE

(From Public Service Magazine)

Throughout his teaching Jesus kept reminding men that this was God's world and that God had provided His own laws for its government. That is about the hardest lesson men have had to learn.

The fact that we have brought the world to a sorry mess by prolonging our attempt at governing it by every other kind of law but God's law seems not yet to have made enough of us realize the indispensability of Divine rule. And it is so simple. For example, ment of education and only seven, or 5.38 per cent, were given a mental age rating of from 17 years, 8 months to 18 years, 7 months. That entitled them to classification as "superior."

At the other end of the scale, 14 men, or 10.77 per cent, were given mental age ratings of from 2 years to 10 years, 7 months, classifying them as feeble-minded.

SCHOOL COSTS

(Upland Calif.) News

We hear continual kicking about costs of schools being too high—and they are. On the other hand, nearly twice as much money is spent annually in the United States for candy and tobacco as for maintenance of all public education. This startling comparison was made by Dr. Martin L. Darsie, dean of the Teachers college at the University of California at Los Angeles. In 1928, said Dr. Darsie, the United States spent a total of $2,448,633,61 on public education in all its phases. During the same year we spent $3,921,460,000 for candy and tobacco. And there was no comparison in regard to buying the latter two articles. As regards candy there is no doubt a great deal of waste, as well as pleasure, to be derived, but the expenditure for tobacco is much worse than throwing away the amount of cash squandered. However, the point is that we hear so much complaint from those who buy these non-essentials, whereas for a considerably less amount spent on our public schools we hear a great deal of complaint from the parents.

In 1928 the state of California spent $130,188,176 on public education, according to Dr. Darsie, which he says represents $98.57 per year for each child in average daily attendance in the elementary schools and $188.61 per year for each high school student.

A WORD FOR THE BANKERS

(W. H. Berkeley in Cassopolis Vigilant)

We have a lot of respect for the country bankers who have kept their banks going and tried to serve their respective communities during the depression. We believe that in the main they have been earnest men sincerely desiring to render a distinct service.

When the big banks of the cities collapsed, many country bankers found their reserve funds tied up, but a lot of them had so planned their business that they were able to carry on. Then came a period of fear that gripped even the banking departments, which insisted that country bankers must reduce their loans and must press their borrowers for payment on notes.

The country banker was caught between two millstones. On the one hand were the bank examiners demanding action on farm paper, and on the other hand was the banker's knowledge of his customers and of their ability to pay under present conditions, for the average country banker knows his bank's patrons far better than any bank examiner. The banker knows not only their property worth but their moral worth; he knows what their battle is with grain and pork prices still too low and butterfly bringing only a little more than half what it should. He knows these people will pay, but he also knows that the bank examiner does not know it.

A constant urge for the payment of loans to banks tends just to that same extent to stagnate other business, and the banker knows that, too. If there was reasonable relief in this direction, and government aid to pry loose the millions tied up in default banks, we believe there would be a revival of business that would surpass the efforts of NIRA.

Exhibit and Field Day Events At the Training School Tuesday Make Program of Great Interest

A hand concert, field day sports, a spontaneous program, and finally, dancing in the open under the mellow light of Japanese lanterns made Tuesday an eventful day at the Wayne County Training School.

The field day program for the boys began on the previous day with 100 yard dashes and all kinds of unique handicap races. Most exciting of all was the "Dizzy" race and the tug-of-war.

On Tuesday afternoon and evening these sports were continued, the rivalry running high.

At four o'clock a whole bus-load of band boys came out from the city sent by the Detroit Department of Recreation, directed by G. W. Brewster, known in Northville as the band led by Vaughn Sunderland in an open air concert of both classical and popular selections. This was received with demonstration by the young audience.

In the afternoon an entertainment was put on by the girls under the direction of their leader, Miss Helen W. Trull, who tactfully asked "What would you like to do?" The responses were hearty.

On exhibition during the day in the recreation club room were the results of long happy hours spent by these girls during the summer. Each had been encouraged to make something with her hands and the results have been surprising. Real talent has been discovered. One girl exclaimed, "Oh, I can't wait to show my mother all I've learned!"

Using materials at hand, scraps of paint, old pieces of glass, tinfoil from candy wrappers, really lovely effects in panels have been worked out. These and other specimens of the variety of summer projects were exhibited—nature study, gardening, sewing, fine laundry, baking and various forms of handicraft. The theory being worked out is that the busy child is better and happier.

Both Mrs. Trull and her assistant, Miss Dorothy Wisely, say that this has been an unusually happy summer. This event came as the climax to the summer activities.

"We're like one big family," said their director as she watched the girls dancing together, many of them in gay gowns of their own making, to the music of the little old phonograph on the terrace of the recreation hall at the conclusion of the happy day.

TEACHERS ASK FOR NRA COOPERATION TO ACHIEVE GOALS

A code asking for NRA cooperation on behalf of the public schools and the public school teachers has been submitted to General Hugh Johnson by Henry R. Liville, president, and Florence Curtis Hanson, secretary-treasurer, of the American Federation of Teachers.

The code, which calls attention to the plight of the teachers' 25% of whom are unemployed, and which lists basic elements considered necessary for the proper maintenance of the educational system, together with suggested formulae for achieving these basic elements, was refused on the ground that teachers in general are public employees and so fall outside of the jurisdiction of the NRA.

The submitted code called for federal grants of funds and collection of non-paid taxes to supply the necessary school funds in communities where the school funds available from taxations are not sufficient to maintain schools commensurate with the needs of the community.

The organized teachers sought NRA cooperation in achieving the following basic needs:

- A living wage.
- Security of tenure.
- Decent working conditions.
- Right to establish teachers' unions, and to affiliate with organized labor.
- Opportunity for culture and professional study.
- Maintenance of standards.
- Provision for old age.

Comet Todd Breaks Track Record For 2:17 Pace; Harness Races Prove Highly Exciting

Comet Todd, driven by Creasy, broke the Northville track record for the 2:17 pace Thursday, the opening day of the races at the fair by turning in the good time of 2:08 seconds. The former record of 2:08 1/2 seconds was made in 1932.

One of the outstanding features of the harness races was the winning of first money by Mary Jane in the 2:28 trot and Ravenwood in the 2:22 pace, the "get" of Raven Direct, the black stallion owned by E. M. Starkweather, who was member in charge of the draft horses at the Northville Wayne County fair.

The harness race finishes were all sufficiently close and exciting to give grandstand patrons many thrilling moments. During one day's races all of the finishes saw the first four to the line not more than four feet apart from each other.

Following are the complete results of the three days' races:

FALL BRAE BURN PROGRAM FULL OF ATTRACTIVE EVENTS

The summer program of events, at the Brae Burn Golf Club was concluded last week when the last round of the President's Cup Handicap was shot off.

The tournament and entertainment committee has issued a "fall program of events which carries with it attractive trophies and promises keen competition."

Each Saturday and each Sunday a prize tournament for guests will be staged. No entrance fee will be charged. Northville golfers are cordially invited to play Brae Burn and participate in these tournaments. Green fees 25c week days, 50c Saturdays and Sundays.

Complimentary Ladies' Day
Every Thursday during the month of September the Brae Burn club extends a cordial invitation to the lady golfers of Northville to play Brae Burn without charge.

The qualifying rounds for the club championship will be played Saturday, Sept. 9. The twelve low scores to qualify. The following day, Sept. 10, the championship will be decided on thirty-six holes. All indications point to an exciting contest in this event. Ralph Wood, the 1932 champion, is in good form, but will find a stronger line-up of competitors than the 1932 field presented.

EVELYN GRENNAN ONLY GIRL TO WIN IN EXCITING RACES

Pony and horse races in which youngsters from Northville and vicinity entered with great enthusiasm proved as usual to be one of the highlights of the fair.

In the two quarter mile races Miss Evelyn Grennan, the only girl to enter, astride Buck, a polo pony from the Farmers' stables, captured first place with Leo Kohler, Henry Hoffman and Frank Campbell, Jr. in a swift pursuit. In the other quarter mile Jack McLoughlin on Wings took first, Leo Kohler on Blaze second, Henry Hoffman on Lad third, and Miss Evelyn Grennan rode Plymouth, another polo pony to fourth place.

In the eighth mile race Jack McLoughlin rode Wings, to first place in a large field of close competition and Don Reynolds, young son of Sheriff Reynolds of Oakland county, took the race from a large field of young riders.

In the relay race, Friday, the Plymouth team, consisting of Hotton, Slagel, Clark and Smith finished first followed by the Northville team of Baldwin, Kohler, McLoughlin, and Hoffman. A Detroit team also ran.

A paper will be read concerning a debating class of considerable renown and which was organized in the early days of the old school now known as the Masonic Temple. This paper or record has been preserved by Wesley Severance, a member of the class.

A ball game between the Walled Lake league team and another snapshot team is being planned to begin at 3:00 p. m. Also foot races, etc., will be held on the school grounds.

Floyd Parmelee, Cameron Rose, Mrs. D. L. Bentley, and Mrs. Gladys Tremper have been selected as the reception committee for the school reunion and Mrs. L. M. Phelps, Mrs. Mae Rhodes, and Mrs. Barbara Cornell are in charge of the program.

EXCHANGES NAME THREE FOR LOCAL BLUE EAGLE SQUAD

L. C. Stewart, Clifford Turnbull, and Dr. J. E. Seligson were the three members appointed by the Northville Exchange club to take positions of the NRA committee here at the meeting held Wednesday noon at the Methodist church house.

At an informal meeting and following a pleasant luncheon, members pushed back their chairs to take the pencils and paper distributed by Orlow G. Owen and Robert G. Yerkes to try their hands at writing limericks. Each member wrote one line and then passed the poem along to his neighbor. When the limericks were finished they were read aloud to the amusement of all.

In a short business meeting attention was again called to the unfinished boulevard between Seven Mile road and the new sunken garden spot on the Northville-Plymouth road by Secretary Sherrill Appleby. He said that Exchange and Rotary members had been promised two years ago that this would be completed and he declared that it is now time to see that the promise was fulfilled.

Guests attending the luncheon were E. E. Brown former editor of The Northville Record and Jas. Richard Patrick-Lyons of the Edison office.

Obituary

FRANK A. LEWIS
Frank A. Lewis, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Lewis, formerly of Northville, died Monday evening, August 28 at the age of nearly 58 years.

Frank Lewis was born in Northville in 1875 and spent his boyhood and early youth in this village graduating from the high school with the class of '94. He was a school mate of Harry German and throughout the subsequent years remained a loyal friend.

When the United States took up war with Spain Frank Lewis enlisted in the army, together with his friend Myron Taylor. In active encounters in the Philippines, Frank barely escaped alive receiving a severe bullet wound in the leg which had to be amputated.

At the close of the war he entered the University of Michigan together with the late Thad J. Knapp and Ralph Horton, and received his degree some years later.

His first year of law practice was with the late C. C. Yeikes here in Northville. Later he practiced in Flint, making his home since with his brother, J. Clyde Lewis.

The funeral service was held at Flint Thursday noon and the remains were brought back to the home town for interment in Oakwood cemetery. A brief service was held at the grave with the American Legion in charge of the ceremonies with military rites.

One sister, Mrs. Richard Taft, of South Lyon, and one brother, J. Clyde Lewis, of Flint, alone survive in the family.

WARE FAMILY HOLDS POPCORN MONOPOLY

If Walter Ware had a larger family he might have had quite a monopoly of business enterprises on the Northville fair grounds. As it was he had a chain of five stands beside one display booth operated by various members of his family with a little outside assistance. Four of these were popcorn stands in various parts of the grounds, while in another Mrs. Ware turned out the fluffy candy floss which made folks' mouths water. BALL GAMES DRAW MANY DURING FAIR

The Northville Wayne County fair presented last week, among many other things, some very good entertainment in baseball. This included three games on three successive days between Plymouth and Carleton; Newburg and South Lyon, and Farmcrest and West Point Park. Many fans were in attendance.

On Thursday, with Northville's "grand old man" Harry German, Sr. in the box, Carleton nearly shut out Plymouth, 12-1, allowing only two hits. Harry is 58 years old and the occasion was the fortieth anniversary of his entrance into baseball.

In a close game that lasted 12 innings, Newburg defeated South Lyon, 9-7 on Friday. This game was a see-saw affair that kept a large crowd interested all the way through. In the concluding game on Saturday, the West Point Park team beat Farmcrest, 9-3. Thus, as in the other games, contained some very good playing.

It was noted by many that Milt "Bobber" Brown did not umpire as he has for many years past. "Bobber" was hired by the fair association but at the last minute was not able to attend and sent substitutes.

Mr. Ware obtained the right to run these booths from a man whose entire outfit was run in an auto accident while on his way to the fair.

GARAGE OWNERS OF OAKLAND ORGANIZE

Garage owners of Oakland county met at the Novi town hall Monday, August 28, and formed the "Association of Oakland County Garage Owners."

Mr. Kilgus, director of the Automotive Maintenance Association of Michigan, gave a talk explaining the Detroit code. The group will meet at the Post Ford garage in Walled Lake Tuesday, Sept. 5, to work out further details of the code.

The following officers were named at the meeting: President, Walter Tuck, Novi; vice-president, Maynard Post, Walled Lake; secretary-treasurer, Howard Otis, Farmington.

LINE OF FRIENDLY SHOES INSTALLED AT THE MEN'S SHOP

Announcement of the installation of a complete shoe department, carrying the Friendly brand of shoes in the Men's Shop, owned by Orlow G. Owen, has been made recently. Shelves to accommodate the stock of shoes have been constructed in the store and Mr. Owen states that he is ready to fill the shoe needs of people in this vicinity. Three price ranges of $4.00, $5.00 and $6.00 in the Friendly shoes and a full stock of new fall styles, he believes, will make profitable this new addition to the haberdashery and dry cleaning agency he now operates.

RATTENBURY WINNER IN HARNESS RACES AT ANN ARBOR FAIR

George Rattenbury, who is prominent throughout harness racing circles in the state, entered his horse, Miss Helen Czar in the races at the Washtenaw County fair at Ann Arbor and won in the 2:28 pace.

Following a new experiment, the races at Ann Arbor are being run after dark in the evening. The track was brilliantly lighted and spectators could follow the horses almost as plainly as in the daytime.

Miss Helen Czar, a pacer of high quality, well-known around this locality, performed very well in Mr. Rattenbury's hands.

FRANCES COUSINS BAKES BREAD TO AID COLLEGE FUND

With the finest kind of family loyalty, Frances Cousins, sixteen-year-old Northville girl, the daughter of Mrs. Jenny Cousins, has risen to the occasion to help augment the funds to send her brother and sister to college this fall.

This clever little girl believes that if you "knead the dough" you can "knead the dough." For the past three years Frances has taken great pride in the light, tasty loaves of bread she has baked for the family.

"Perhaps other folks would like some of my homemade bread," said she. So she rises early each morning, mixes her yeast, kneads the spongy mass and bakes the loaves to golden brownness.

One day Frances baked 17 loaves and delivered them all to customers. "Not much profit in it, but it's nice to do something for Bob and Eunice," she says. "We all have our fun."

Frances can do other things besides bake bread. She plays the violin in an orchestra and is a good student. She will enter the Junior class in the local high school this fall.

THIS WEEK

By H. H. WHITE

I am not an economist in any sense of the word nor do I pretend to be but as I read books on economy and those dealing with the present economic situation in our Western World today—periodicals, newspaper articles and editorials by experts and specialists to say nothing of the discussions you hear everywhere by the man on the street I am forced to the following obvious conclusions:

The welfare of the world can be restored and at the same time increased by putting our best informed and intelligent minds and brains to cope with the obvious and admitted errors of recent history. Among these changes would be an all-round lowering of trade restrictions and tariffs. Liquidate some, if not all of the war debts weighing down the nations. Armaments must be cut. Price levels must be stabilized concerning commodities, also money must be on a par basis.

Confidence must be restored, and also credit between nations so that loans may be had on good security without benefit of war. The laborer must get a fair return for his efforts, and an added share in the profits in whatever industry he is identified with.

This in my way of thinking is a good program, and quite simple. In fact I have not suggested anything startlingly new. But this is what will be necessary for any new leadership to do who takes over the reins today to lead the world in general out of its present financial bewilderment and economic chaos.

As I said in the outset of this article these suggestions are simple, in fact, they are platitudes well known to the average well-informed individual of today. But we are undergoing a great industrial revolution today, whether we are aware of it or not as was recently acknowledged by our president when he was advised of the fact as to his greatness as a president when he replied to the effect that he would be among the good ones or the last one.

I am not an alarmist nor am I a pessimist but anyone with half a brain cannot help but see the great industrial upheaval we are in today and going through plus all the skepticism and unbelief which is undermining our western civilization today as against the Christian ideals which established it. This viper of disbelief, lack of confidence and faith is eating into our laws, our art, our emotions, and our discipline our morals, and everything that is good in placing them back where they belong lies our solution and the avoidance of general anarchy, and the collapse of our present civilization.

I wonder if we are so lacking in perceiving these things that we will not do something about it for if we do not it means the inevitable surrender of our present civilization.

MRS. CLEANTHA SLOAN DIES AT HOME HERE AT AGE OF NINETY

After eight years of helpless illness, Mrs. Cleantha A. Sloan passed away at the home on South Center street Friday, August 25, at the age of ninety years.

Cleantha A. Richardson was born in Hilderbrand, Northumberland County, Ontario, May 31, 1843. At the age of three years she came to Michigan with her parents when they settled on what is now a part of the Maybury sanatorium property formerly known as the J. A. Whipple farm.

Later the family moved to Clinton county, where Cleantha was married to Oliver Sloan, Dec. 23, 1869. In 1864 Mr. and Mrs. Sloan moved back to this locality settling on the farm known as the Sloan homestead or the West Seven Mile road. Here she spent the active years of her life and reared her three children.

In the midst of her busy life she found time for the best things. She was an active member of the local Baptist church and a great reader.

Mr. Sloan died in 1911. In 1920 she and her two daughters moved to the present home.

Mrs. Sloan is survived by her son, Marvin H., who lives on the old homestead, which has been in the Sloan family since 1837, and two daughters, Cora and Grace, with whom she lived.

The funeral service was held at the home Monday afternoon, August 28, at 2 p. m., conducted by Rev. Frank N. Miner. Burial was made in the family lot in Rural Hill cemetery.

At the funeral the following poem which had been a favorite of Mrs. Sloan for many years, was read by the speaker:

She Is Just Away
I cannot say, and I will not say
That she is dead. She is just away!
With a cheery smile and a wave of the hand
She has wandered into an unknown land
And left us dreaming how very fine
It needs must be, since she lingers there,
And you—oh you, who the wildest yearn
For the old-time step and the glad return
Think of her faring on, as dear
In the love of There, as the love of Here,
Think of her still as the same, I say,
She is not dead—she is just away!
—James Whitcomb Riley

H. B. Clark and depleted their land, or Mrs. Clark lost all count of these who dropped in during the evening.

Among the guests who were included in all of these festivities were those prominent in the nursing activities including the judges, L. R. MILK DEALERS TO BE "CODE-GOVERNED"

f. o. b. any point in the Detroit sales area for the milk which such contracting distributor (dealer) has purchased: Class I, $1.85 per cwt.; Class II, $1.25 per cwt.; Class III, three and a half times the price in the Chicago market of 92 score creamery plus 20 cents. The "92 score" means a first grade of butter. All of these prices are for 3.5% butter fat and are subject to a three cent differential for each one tenth of 1% change in the butterfat content, and to hauling rates that are now in effect.

The code is supposed to prevent unfair prices and "cut-throat" competition and is very carefully worked out with the intention of treating all parties alike. However, due to what authorities say is an apparent oversight, the code now reads so as to compel small dealers in this particular locality to pay 15 cents per cwt. more than the larger companies. This, it appears, is because each dealer is required to pay the same price f. o. b. anywhere in this sales area while the large concerns are allowed to deduct an additional 14 or 15 cents hauling charge to the city.

Another provision of the agreement is that all milk delivered to dealers in a calendar month shall be paid for on the fifteenth of the following calendar month.

The code provides that in case of members of the Michigan Milk Producers Association, the usual "pool fee" will be deducted. In the case of non-members of the association, an amount equal to the association dues and fees shall be deducted by the dealer and paid to the Dairy and Food Council, a section of the Milk Bottle Exchange, for advertising and credit benefits. This makes it immaterial as to whether or not the dealer belongs to the Michigan Milk Producers Association. He will be treated exactly the same in either case. In the idea of the base allotment for milk in classes one and two, the selling is definitely limited. The Marketing Agreement contains many rules and statements pertaining to this allotment, how it is awarded, in case of selling cattle, in case of new shippers, etc. Important among these are: (1) Any producer who ceases to market milk in the Detroit sales area, shall lose his base; (2) Any new producer who shall receive the right to ship milk to be sold in the Detroit sales area after the bases have been allotted, shall be allowed a base of 50% of his average daily production for the first 90 days that he produces in the Detroit Milk Shed.

While the code as a whole went into effect August 27, the section relating to allotment of bases did not become effective until today, Friday, Sept. 1.

All handlers of milk, including pasteurizing plants, intermediate dealers, and stores, are automatically licensed by the U. S. Secretary of Agriculture whether they have signed the code or not, and will be held responsible to carry out its provisions to the letter.

A federal authority or committee is to be appointed by Secretary Wallace to sit as a court and hear complaints, make adjustments, levy fines, and settle all other differences or disputes that shall arise over this agreement.

Each milk distributor and producer in the Detroit Milk Shed, which includes Northville and surrounding territory, has a copy of this code, which contains many carefully worded parts and sections in its 40 pages.

McCULLY STORE IS REDECORATED AND WILL REOPEN SOON

Complete redecoration of the McCully Shoe store and the construction of a partition and other improvements will be part of the features to attract customers to the opening of the store to occur sometime soon, announced John McCully, proprietor, this week.

The shelves of the store have been rebuilt, new seats installed for the comfort of patrons and a partition to shut off the rear end of the store has improved the looks of the store 100 per cent, say those who have had the privilege of viewing the improvements.

Our Policy

- (1) BUILD CITIZENSHIP
- (2) A HIGH-GRADE FACULTY
- (3) DEVELOP CHARACTER

The Northville Public schools have always insisted upon mastery of fundamentals and high scholarship as builders of worthy citizenship. Worthy character is not to be attained without hard work. Therefore, students who are earnest, who wish to learn, and who are anxious to fit themselves for usefulness are invited to come to Northville Public Schools, where they are assured of every encouragement.

Since the influence of good teaching upon the student's success is well known only high grade teachers of known ability are provided. In the high school only college or university graduates are employed. Many of the members of the high school faculty have completed considerable graduate work at higher institutions.

It is believed that the combination of good teachers, earnest students and cooperative patrons produces the "setting" in which to build EDUCATED CHARACTER.
