

LEGION DANCE ON NOV. 11 TO BE BIG EVENT

Meadowbrook Inn To Be Site of Joy Train
Excursion

All aboard! That is all aboard for the Legion Armistice Day dance, Nov. 11, to be held at the Meadowbrook Inn on the Ten Mile road, one mile east of the Northville, under the auspices of the Lloyd Green post, No. 147.

Chairmen of the committee, Robert G. Yerkes and Claude "Bete" Kelly, will be engineers in charge of the train, and the excursion promises to be a happy one for the travelers who purchase the official tickets entitling them to journey to several stations and enjoy full stop-over privileges.

According to the entertainment committee refreshments will be plentiful, amusement will be of a unique and interesting nature, and King Hoda's orchestra will provide the music for those passengers who wish to dance.

The Armistice Day dance given by the local Legion post is an annual event and one that is heartily supported by all Northville. Opening the fall social season in this community the Legionnaires have never failed to produce an interesting program for the benefit of those who have made it a point to attend the Legion's functions.

Although all plans for the event have not yet been completed Legion officials hint that a deep, dark plan of entertainment is being plotted the nature of which will not be revealed until the passengers have arrived at their destination—Meadowbrook Inn.

The 100 long excursion tickets go on sale today (Friday) at Northville's two drug stores, at the Record office, at The Man's Shop and several other points of vantage in the community besides being obtainable from any local Legionnaire.

W. A. ELY WELCOMED AS ROTARY MEMBER AT TUESDAY MEETING

W. A. Ely, supervisor of Northville township, was welcomed as a member of the Northville Rotary club at the weekly luncheon Tuesday noon at the Presbyterian church house.

In presenting the new member, E. H. Lapham, who had charge of the program, said: "Bill will make an ideal Rotarian. I have known him for many years and no matter how hard it is, he always does the job given him to do." Percy Angove, vice-president, who presided in the absence of President Chas. E. Rogers, who is in California, placed the Rotary pin on Mr. Ely.

Dr. H. Handorf, who represented the club at Detroit last week when officials of International Rotary spoke, told of the great plans that are being made by Detroit for the entertainment of 10,000 delegates at the annual conference at Detroit next June. Delegates will be present from 69 countries.

An impressive, although informal, feature of the meeting was a round table discussion in which every member spoke briefly on "What Rotary means to me."

DR. IDA ALEXANDER TO ADDRESS WOMEN

Under sponsorship of the State Board of Health, a series of six health lectures will be given without cost to the women of Northville and its vicinity by Dr. Ida Alexander.

These lectures will be given in the village library and will last only one hour, so that mothers may get home to prepare their children's lunches.

The first of this series on the subject, "Anatomy," will be given at 9:30 a. m. on Wednesday, Nov. 1, and will lay a foundation for those subjects following which will be: Physiology, Personal Hygiene, Nutrition, Preparation of Foods, Prevention of Contagious Diseases, Child Management and Pre-natal Care.

It is hoped that a large number of women will take advantage of this opportunity offered by the health department and will appreciate this unusual privilege. If any have neighbors whom they can offer transportation it will be appreciated. Come prepared to ask any questions and enjoy a real school of information helpful to all.

These lectures will be given each Wednesday morning beginning Nov. 1 for six consecutive sessions.

PRESBYTERIANS' FALL FESTIVAL SCORES TRIUMPH

Crowds Carry Away All The Produce; Meals Draw
Thousands

Wearily but triumphant, the Presbyterian women "folded their tents" at the close of their Harvest Festival Wednesday evening and sat down to reckon their profits.

Not one glass of jelly was left of all that morning's sparkling array. Not one can of fruit, not one pie or cake. Only a few vegetables and a straggling can or so of pickles remained, like the "last rose of summer."

So great a crowd descended upon the supper which the young women of the Nellie Yerkes auxiliary served that the supplies of food became as low as Mother Hubbard's cupboard before the hunger of the crowd was appeased. At noon the Woman's Union had served very satisfactorily 175 folks.

When the women sat down under the canopy of white leaves to count their profits, the total was found to be around $200 of clear profit, well earned.

Much of the credit for the success of the enterprise goes to Mrs. H. B. Clark who, with a large corps of co-workers, spent hours during the summer canning for this Harvest Festival, an annual event in the village.

Chairmen of various committees were Mrs. Carvel president, Mrs. H. R. Richardson, Mrs. C. C. Yerkes, Mrs. H. B. Clark, Mrs. Adelle Brock, Mrs. Martin Sloan, Mrs. Scott Lovell and Mrs. Ida Hendry. Mrs. Frederick Hedge supervised the luncheon and Mesdames Arlo Haug and Clyde Schoultz, the supper.

FARMINGTON COMES NOV. 10

Northville high school's next home game will be staged here Friday, November 10 with Farmington. The game will be a real battle and our neighboring village promises to send over a big throng of rooters.

SALEM CHURCH BAZAAR

The Salem Congregational church ladies will hold their annual bazaar on the afternoon of Thursday, Nov. 23, at the Salem town hall.

All kinds of fancy work, aprons, baked goods, fruit, vegetables and some made candies will be for sale in attractively decorated booths. Starting at 6:00 p. m. o'clock the ladies will serve a Thanksgiving dinner of roast chicken biscuits, etc.

DR. STALKER HONORED

Stalker Hall will be the new name of the student center formerly called Wesley Hall in connection with the First Methodist Episcopal church of Ann Arbor. This is in honor of the late Dr. Arthur W. Stalker, who was pastor there for 25 years. Dr. Stalker was the father of George H. Stalker of Northville.

BEG YOUR PARDON

The Record was in error last week in saying that Mrs. Edward Teshka of Osseo underwent an operation. It was her husband, Edward Teshka, who had a critical operation at Ann Arbor and his friends will be sorry to hear that this condition has not improved.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

Mrs. Eva Johnson has left for a three weeks' visit at White Cloud. Mrs. E. H. Babbitt and son, Louis, of the company of relatives, returned Monday morning from a week-end at the World's Fair.

Friends of Dr. E. H. Douglas, former head of the William H. Maybury Sanatorium, will be interested to know that his new address is 19425 Angyle Crescent, Detroit, Mich. Dr. and Mrs. Robert Haskell returned Monday from a visit in the East where they visited their son, Robert, a student in St. Stephens college, on the Hudson. While in New York they were guests of Dr. and Mrs. T. P. Brennan at White Plains and found them very delightfully located in this interesting city close to New York City. Returning they stopped at Painesville, Ohio, where their daughters, Mary and Margaret, are students in Lake Erie college.

ROLL CALL OF RED CROSS TO BEGIN NOV. 11

Half Of Membership Fee of One Dollar Helps Local Need

November 11 will be Roll Call Day for the Red Cross. If you have not already joined this great, national organization you are urged to join now.

Membership fee is $1, one-half of which remains here at home for local needs.

The local Red Cross, of which Mrs. F. Wagenschutz is chairman, has taken upon itself the support of the Baby Clinic, heretofore sponsored by the Northville Woman's Club. Your support will be needed more than ever now.

Be ready when the call comes. Support of this great work is needed more this year than ever. Resources were never more vitally needed than in this fourth year of economic distress.

Memberships, which as stated above, cost one dollar or more, are used to support the unemployment relief work of chapters and national organizations, nation-wide disaster relief work, health work in hundreds of communities, safety through teaching first aid and life saving and welfare work through six million children who are members of the Junior Red Cross.

One of the most important tasks that ever faced the Red Cross is that of helping to keep up the morale of the veterans of our various wars and assisting with their problems of compensation payments, arising from changes in government regulations. During the year the Red Cross has made a practical contribution to the relief of suffering, that of flour alone amounting to 10,000,000 barrels. The needy and distressed have been given 104,000,000 garments, the cloth for which was produced from 844,000 bales of cotton. The flour was milled from 55,000,000 bushels of wheat, both wheat and cotton being furnished by the government.

One hundred twenty disasters engaged the financial and personal forces of the Red Cross during the year, and more than a million dollars was spent in relief of families who lost their all in hurricanes, storms, fires, earthquakes and other calamities.

President Franklin Roosevelt has given his sanction and approval to the work of the Red Cross, saying, "I can be counted on to foster and aid in every way in my power the great work your organization (The Red Cross) must carry on."

This is an organization free from color or creed, one that everyone can join and feel that the money paid for a membership is being wisely and fairly expended. The cooperation of women's organizations, such as the Women's Club, Legion Auxiliary, Eastern Star, Maccabees, etc., is solicited, as well as the men's clubs, all of whom should be vitally interested in assisting with the beneficent work done by the Red Cross.

EXCHANGE MEMBERS ANSWER QUESTIONS

A series of questions, each one requiring a two minute answer from the Exchange who held it, was the program held Wednesday noon at the Methodist church house under the supervision of Clifford Turnbull, Northville electrician.

The questions related to problems of the club, of the community, and of the members of the club who enjoyed the frank discussion which gave rise to varying opinions on the subjects mentioned.

Approximately ten questions, all of them requiring thought and a knowledge of the subject, were answered by Exchanges. Following the meeting a board of control meeting was held at which only the officers were present.

CORRECTION

There was a misunderstanding and a mistake that Fred Foreman was to occupy the pulpit of the Salem Federated church last Sunday, Oct. 22. The facts are that he was one of three who were to give short talks.

De-Ho-Co Leads Bowling League, New Church Teams To Form For Play Every Monday Evening

Detroit House of Correction still leads the Recreation bowling league, the team turning in consistently high scores.

Thursday, Oct. 19, the A. & P. Seniors garnered a total of 2,619 pins to beat the American Legion team's score of 2,276 pins. The Pool Room gathered 2,521 pins and defeated the A. & P. Juniors, who scored 2,413.

Monday evening Booth's golfers knocked down 2,119 pins to the Twin Pine's Mikken's 1,904 pins. A new team will enter this league, the Methodist church young men having formed a team. It is probable that the Presbyterian church will soon have a team to form the nucleus of a church league to play Monday evenings.

Tuesday Ladies' Night, a week-end sanatorium team with most of its strong players attending a nurses' convention in Detroit, was defeated by the Northville Girls' team 899 pins to 680 pins.

Wednesday evening, De-Ho-Co came through to beat the American Legion team 2,591 pins to 2,218 pins. The Legion boys managed to slip one game over the lads from the House of Correction but it was not sufficient to stem the tide of pins that the Guards gathered. The Recreation team bowled 2,454 pins which was not enough to win the Sanatorium team's total of 2,628 pins.

Mr. Rebb of the Sanatorium team won the box of cigars donated by Bernard Sports company for the high single game score with a sheet of 225. De-Ho-Co has the high three game average honor this week with Dr. A. A. Holcomb holding high single honors. His score is 253.

NORTHVILLE THEATRE TO OPEN SOON?

Ambler Store To Be Show If Penniman Does Not Open

Agitation for several weeks to have a theatre functioning in Northville was climaxed this week by the knowledge that unless the Penniman Allen theatre, which has been dark for nearly a year, opens soon, a show will be started in the Ambler store on East Main street.

A committee composed of village officials and business men of Northville conferred a short time ago with Harry Lush, manager of the Northville and Plymouth Penniman Allen theatres, and were informed, they said, that the show would be open this month. Mr. Lush stated that the opening depended on many things and informed The Record that he would make a statement as soon as the opening has been made.

Sherrill Ambler, owner of the store on East Main street, which formerly housed the Fyffal clothing store, declared this week that his store has been approved as a theatre by state officials and that it would be opened as such soon unless the Penniman Allen theatre planned to open.

Members of the committee that saw Mr. Lush relative to opening the Penniman theatre were William Gregory, Merrill Saxel and Fred Lyke.

ALEX JOHNSON, JR. TO DELIVER MILK FOR TWIN PINES

Alex H. Johnson, Jr., will soon Northville, has taken over the milk delivery for the Twin Pines Dairy company (Smith's) located on the West Main street road.

BABY CLINIC

Seven babies were brought to the Baby Clinic Wednesday morning to have the benefit of expert examination and checking up on their feeding and general progress by Dr. B. W. of Detroit.

Seven contented mothers took their babies along to be assured that they were developing normally.

It is to be regretted that many mothers of babies who need this care find it impossible to bring them. Those supervising this most worthy enterprise wish it to be known generally that all babies are welcome and there is no cost whatever to the mothers.

It is hoped that those knowing of babies who need examination will encourage their mothers to bring them and assist if possible in their transportation.

SHERWIN A. HILL GETS MENTION IN DETROIT NEWS

Admiralty Law Is Life Work
Of "Greenhead"
Host

The Detroit News carried the following "Birthdays" story of Sherwin A. Hill.

Admiralty law is the specialty of Sherwin Alonzo Hill, one of Detroit's leading lawyers. But fine horses and fancy cattle are his avocation, which he raises on his country estate, "Greenhead," near Northville.

For many years Mr. Hill has been identified with nearly all the important marine litigation in the Federal Court, including the case of the "Benjamin Noble," in which his client, the Cambria Steel Co., won out in an appeal before the Supreme Court of the United States.

Immediately following his graduation from Ann Arbor with an LL. B. in 1907, he entered the office of Shaw, Warren, Cady & Oakes, specializing in the practice of admiralty law. He studied under John C. Shaw, who was then the leading admiralty practitioner in the Great Lakes district. Upon the death of Mr. Shaw in 1911, he undertook all of the admiralty work of the firm, becoming a junior partner, and in March, 1914, became a full partner. The firm name was then changed to Warren, Cady, Ladd & Hill. Subsequently it was again changed to Warren, Hill & Hamblen. He was born in Detroit, Oct. 22, 1885.

MISS AGNES BALLANTYNE DIES FRIDAY, OCT. 20

After a long lingering illness, Miss Agnes Ballantyne passed away Friday, Oct. 20, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. C. Lapham near Farmington, where she had been taken for care four weeks previously. She was 79 years of age.

Miss Ballantyne was born in Flint but had spent most of her life in this vicinity making her home for years with her sister, the late Mrs. Chas. A. Ponsford. For the past year or more she lived with her niece Mrs. Beth Ponsford-Lapham until her illness became critical.

During her long stay in Northville Miss Ballantyne held a real place in the life of the village. She was an active member of the Presbyterian church, a member of the King's Daughters and an honorary member of Orient chapter, O. E. S.

In earlier years Miss Ballantyne was a teacher of domestic science in the Flint school for the deaf for 28 years.

Funeral services were held at the home of her niece, Mrs. Lapham, on the Six Mile road, Monday, Rev. H. G. Whitfield officiating. The remains were borne to her girlhood home in Flint where interment was made.

The only survivors of near kin are one brother, Wm. Ballantyne, of Detroit, one sister, Mrs. May Franklin, Saginaw and a niece Mrs. Lapham.

GIANT INDIAN SKELETON FOUND AT ORCHARD LAKE

The skeleton of a giant Indian, who roamed the Orchard Lake district a century ago, was unearthed Monday on the Orchard Lake Country club grounds and now occupies a display case at the club. Workmen were excavating for a sewer near the lake front when it was found. All bones are in fair condition, but the feet could not be found. The skeleton was buried in a crouched position, in Indian fashion. Bones were those of an exceptionally large man. A collection of Indian relics were unearthed recently on the club grounds by other laborers digging sewers.

POST OFFICE GANG DRIVES TO CHICAGO FOR FOOTBALL FAIR

Northville is well represented at any of the major football games that take place in the mid-west and Saturday's game between the University of Michigan and the University of Chicago at the Wanda City will be no exception.

Starting Friday noon from the post office in Arthur Schnate's car will be D. J. Stark, Roy Clark, Elmer Perrin, and Arthur. The four plan to view the fair and to take in the football game thus killing two birds with one stone.

The group has laid its plans quietly and with great forethought. A leak in the plans brought out the fact that one member has "held out" three dollars from his weekly pay-check which he turns over usually to his wife and is planning on a little extra spurge. Other members of the party are promising to protect his secret for a share of the spoils.

THE GOVERNOR AND SHERIFF WILCOX

What do you think of the spectacle of our governor moving so slowly to take any action in the case of Sheriff Thomas Wilcox, whom Judge Skillman found guilty of misconduct on many counts?

Judge Skillman heard hundreds of witnesses and the charges against the sheriff of Wayne county are appalling.

But Governor Comstock went hunting and in effect said: "Why worry?" Where are all the promises he made last year in which he said he would clean up the state government? Does common decency in office mean nothing to our governor?

Is it any wonder that people lose faith in their state government when such pitiful exhibitions of disregard for justice are given by our state executive?

Nero fiddled while Rome burned. Governor Comstock went to the horse races when he should have been dismissing Wayne county's sheriff. How do you like the picture?

LOYALTY TO THE NRA

From all quarters of the state come the report that the NRA is bringing great discouragement to the smaller business people who are facing heavier costs and no increase in revenue. Another discouraging feature is the dishonesty and "chiseling" on the part of many. "Why should I be penalized when the dishonest man gets away without doing his part?" is the appeal of many.

All good citizens wish to be loyal to the N. R. A.—even though such a good man (and democrat) as Senator Carter Glass of Virginia refuses to fly the Blue Eagle for his two newspapers. How long can this loyalty last if business men are unable to meet their costs? What will happen after December 31 when the blanket codes run out? If the burden of the N. R. A. is not to fall evenly on the shoulders of all, both great and small, then continued loyalty to it can hardly be expected. However, we all owe it now out continued and consistent support to give it a fair trial.

OWNING YOUR HOME

Even though one can in three days rent cheaper—if he can find the house in Northville—than he can own a home, there is infinitely more satisfaction for the home owner. The man and wife who own their own vine and fig tree and can plant down their feet on the solid ground beneath them and say: "This is ours," get a content and thrill, if you please, that can be found nowhere else.

So for the sake of the present home owner and the home owner-to-be we give two items of good cheer.

From good sources we hear that the government, within a few months, may have a plan whereby the citizen who has his lot or land paid for can have a new home practically all financed by the government. With all the changing material values, it is still eternally true that the dearest of man's possessions is his fireside. It is true that the home owner has been crushed by taxes but it is unthinkable that the burden will not be lifted before long and the old time peace and content will return to the home.

The other bit of good news comes from Chicago. A real estate authority there predicts that a "realty boom" is on the way.

We make no claim to prophecy but we have the deep conviction that the home owner is going to come into his own before long. You are going to see more homes built right here in Northville—and the start may come next year. Right now it is very difficult to find a modern house for rent in Northville and as a result, we are continually losing residents who go to Plymouth. Before long some of these folks are going to stop right here and build a home in the most picturesque section of Wayne county.

A YEAR FROM NOW

Just about twelve months from now we shall be in the midst of another political campaign. When November, 1934, rolls around Michigan will decide whether it wants a democratic administration for another two years.

Will Governor Comstock run again? Who will be the republican candidate—Frank Fitzgerald, Ex-Governor Alex. Groesbeck or someone else?

The return of Comstock for another two years would, in the opinions of many of those familiar with conditions at Lansing, be a tragedy. Little was expected of him by many of those who knew his record but he has done worse than even little. He has done nothing to earn another term and he has done many things that should keep him out of office. He has lost prestige steadily since he went into office—among both democrats and republicans. There are many reports that he will not attempt to run again. If this is so, the people of Michigan should be profoundly grateful.

What are the chances of the republicans to re-capture the state government? Three big factors put the democrats in power at Lansing: (1) The Roosevelt landslide—not even the democrats now compare our president with our governor. (2) The sentiment for legalizing of beer, and the state-wide feeling that democracy stood for beer; (3) The economic unrest which made men and women strike out blindly for any kind of a change and—as it worked out at Lansing—any kind of a candidate, no matter how much of a misfit.

If the republicans can harmonize their difficulties and put up a united front, there should be little question next November that we can see an end of the demoralization that has prevailed at our state capital.

We just have the feeling that the voters next November are going to be more careful in listening to the promises of men running for office.

WANDERING THOUGHTS

Take time for your friends. Your money is uncertain—friends are priceless.

We know a Northville woman who keeps in good health by walking five (5) miles a day. And she has her own car.

"Where is the band?" was the question you heard on every side at the football game last Friday. That shows that folks appreciate the band, if they don't always say so.

"Breaks" do lose and win football games. Trenton defeated N. H. S. through an unfortunate fumble. Well, maybe Northville will get a break like that in the Plymouth game. If so, watch out, Rocks.

Detroit strikers who assault fellow-workers and nearly crush their skulls can hardly expect much sympathy from the public. If there was ever a time when strikes should be avoided it is now.

Speaking about farmers, the average pay for day-work in this area the past few weeks has been $1.25 per day.

And that is all the burdened farmer can afford to pay. How is a man going to buy a radio or washing machine on $1.25 a day?

We must help the administration put it (N. R. A.) over if humanly possible," said Herbert Hoover the other day. Let the men in congress and out, who for four years blocked every move of President Hoover to put the country on its feet, think that over down deeply in their hearts.

The farmers' strike calls for sympathy. No class of people has felt the deflation more than the man on the soil. Yet we still believe that there is no more independent person in the world than the farmer. He can not build any new barns—or even fences—these times but unless he is too deeply in debt for his farm, he can have a roof over his head and three "squares" a day. Many a city home doesn't have that.

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION

How much money should parents plan to leave to their children?

HEALTH IS CHEAP

"Did you ever stop to think how cheap it is to keep healthy? Here are three cheap things that are chief factors toward building up health: Fresh air, it's free; Rest, it costs nothing; and Good Food, it's cheaper than bad."

BUT WHAT WILL THE P. M. DO WITH IT?

(Joe Haas in Holly Herald)

A troubled conscience is a terrible thing. A letter mailed at National City, Calif., addressed to "U. S. Post Office, Holly, Mich.," and containing a 5c stamp, was received this week with the following note: "In coming through your town I found, or took 5c. I now return it."

TIME IS CAPITAL

(Dearborn Press)

Any young person who tells me that the depression has been a dead loss to him, any young person who has just loafed and waited and fretted, has already put a black mark against himself. There is one cardinal waste we reprehend in ourselves or others, and that is the waste of time. Time is working capital. And time is just as valuable now—I think much more valuable than it was during the so-called "prosperity." For then we had no time to think. Our working time and spare time was taken up. It was almost useless to us as immortal beings. We expended it on things which vanish in the wind.

TWO KINDS OF SHIRTS

(Case Hough in The Broadcaster, official organ of The Plymouth Rotary Club)

Many, many kinds of copy have come from the results of copy-writers to tie-in the NRA with products they are advertising.

Probably the cleverest, and by far the most effective was an ad that appeared in the New York newspapers last week, by Bloomingdale (Manhattan Department store).

Divided in half, the page showed a man's shirt at the top of each half, one to sell at 89c, and the other at $1.25. Copy admitted both shirts to be made of the same kind of material, pre-shrunk, collar attached. But in the 89c shirt, copy further stated that the man who grew the cotton lost money; textile workers who spun the yarn were half starved. Shirt makers were getting less than $5 per week, and still their employer, lost money due to cut-throat competition. This part of the copy closed with this: "At 89c it is a bargain built on misery, distress, losses and suffering all along the line—a bargain that threatened the very structure of this country."

Under the other shirt it was pointed out that the material was the same, but the textile workers, spinning the yarn were receiving living wages. The workmanship in the shirt was different; though, because the shirt makers were working on full, "not empty, stomachs. All the way through the shirt was different, though appearing the same to the eye. This part of the copy finished thus: "At $1.25 it is a real bargain, a sound one too, for your welfare, and sound for the welfare of the country. Which one do you prefer to wear? Effective isn't it?"

TRUTH IN ADVERTISING

(V. J. Brown in The Ingham County News)

The NRA retail code contains a clause prohibiting the use of advertising or selling methods which tend to deceive or mislead the customer. Such a clause honestly enforced would bar such advertising as is now being used by manufacturers of Camel cigarettes to entice new addicts.

In daily papers Monday was an advertisement purporting to show that the New York Giants won the pennant because 21 out of 23 players smoked Camels. The advertisement was an insult to the intelligence of the public.

Every person will agree, especially smokers, that smoking does not steady the nerves unless the nervous system has already been drugged with nicotine. There are few smokers, the writer included, who will not admit that smoking is a habit detrimental to the health, expensive to the pocketbook and one that should be abandoned.

Advertising of cigarettes, aside from pointing out the grades of tobacco used and the care used in manufacturing, should be prohibited. The nation should not allow its youth to be exploited for the selfish group of cigarette manufacturers.

Society women who allow their names to be used in testimonials, athletes who sell their names for a few thousand, and actors and actresses who peddle their picture for cigarette advertising are prostituting their fame and talents in order for cigarette manufacturers to declare an extra dividend. National magazines and newspapers who accept such advertising are helping the boys and girls to harden themselves with a foolish habit, and a habit that in later years they will recognize as harmful.

Advertising must not misrepresent. That is the meaning of one of the NRA retail codes. We hope that one of these fearless NRA administrators will enforce it against the manufacturers of cigarettes and the publishers of magazines and newspapers who accept their cigarette advertising filled with vicious, even though ridiculous, statements.

Met our hitherto unseen friend, Mary G. Raymond, of Albion, and she's the same cheerful, kind friend we pictured her to be. Pressed together in the after-show crowd we struggled along the hall for several minutes before a mutual friend introduced us.

Ned Junod came along the street the other A. M. and a little boy stepped up and asked him what he was going to do on Halloween.

All unsuspectingly Nippy told the youngster that he would be free and the kid asked, "Well, Mister, can I use your face that night, then?"

Speaking of beers, beers, smiles, and smirks, as we were the other evening while bowling, Irv Ulrich up-and spake forth, "Some people like to smirk cigarettes but I smirk a pipe."

Joke!

Three hermits who lived together came home one evening, according to a Northville business-woman, and one said to the others, "I saw a grey horse on the mound today."

They spoke no more for the rest of the evening.

The next night as they sat down to dinner another of the hermits spoke up and said, "I saw that brown horse you spoke of yesterday."

This concluded the conversation.

The following evening when the two hermits who had spoken the two previous evenings came home they saw that their colleague had picked all of his belongings and was ready to leave.

"What's the matter," they queried, "are you moving?"

THIS WEEK

By H. H. WHITE

Lothrop Stoddard has written an excellent book for children, entitled, "The Story of Youth"—and I have never read or seen a book for children that so ably covers the territory of history for youths as does this book.

The author writes the book in understandable English for children and makes it a living tableau. It is an outline of history, having centuries for dates and each century is portrayed in its own individuality of beliefs, styles and customs.

It pictures how children lived in Babylonian times; sterner Egyptians; the feckless Greeks; armored Romans; adventurous Vikings; hardy Teutons and the ardent Crusaders. The Elizabethan period is gallantly portrayed, and the slaves of what the author calls the Industrial Revolution.

Stoddard is unusually well equipped as a historian, and writes this book with a broad background. He spent a long time gathering the material and the young reader will find unusual glimpses of how children fared and lived in olden times.

Rich and varied in its style of information and yet written like a child's novel, this sort of book is the first of its kind ever to be written and it is good fortune, indeed, that this book has recently come to our local library and there is plenty of enjoyment involved coupled with historical information for the youngster who likes history.

Homemaker's Corner

By MRS. EDITOR

"Backward, Turn Backward"

One hundred years old! Small wonder that the little old church in a neighboring village made a big occasion of the celebration and paid honor to the memory of the "pillars" who had sustained this place to the third generation.

Back to the scene of one of the periods of childhood we went. Brief was the period; for there are no long stops in the rolling stone life of preachers' kids.

They learn to be at home quickly in whatever parsonage is provided and to look with cheerful tolerance on the well paper chosen by the Ladies Aid. Very early they learn with cold philosophy that things do not matter too much for "I'm a Pilgrim."

"Drive slowly past the parsonage," we urge.

What! It used to have a new look! Gone are the cherry trees where we played house with our sister and little brothers and the Carpenter girls from across the road.

It was here our "big sister" put a new flavor into our little girlhood by organizing the "Sunny Sisters' Secret Society." Smart "big sister," who could even make darned stockings together fun!

Into the church farther down the street we go. The same old vestibule where our mother used to pause with the little group for a final pat on the stubborn red locks of one little brother and a straightening of the ruffled sailor collar of the curly-head.

Then down the aisle we filed to a foremost pew, our mother leading the procession with dignity, the velvet bow of her small bonnet tied with correctness under her left ear.

Sitting in this pew the other evening, small wonder that memories flooded over us. There stood the same old pulpit where our father preached as if it seems to us no man before or after has preached. Hadn't we played quietly in the "study" where those sermons were worked out and didn't we know the life that backed his words?

It was not an uncommon occurrence on a Sunday morning for one of us to be beckoned to the railing and told in a whisper to "Go home and get the glass sugar bowl!" The Brown baby was to be baptized. Squeak, squeak, we made our blushing way down that aisle.

Up there in that choir loft two little sisters sang their first duet in public while our music teacher, Mrs. Jones, played the organ. "It was Easter morning. We can still remember the continued fragrance of lilies and our new wool dresses."

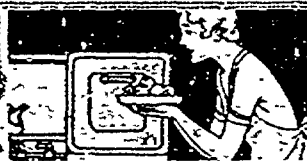

And that Christmas tree. Looming to the ceiling it was wonderful to a nine-year-old little girl!

Those were the days when folks brought presents to the tree. It was the preacher's child's harvest and was balm to many a wound.

A train rumbled off in the distance during the exercises. We listened and soon "big brother" Carl was beside us, just home from college. For the time the tree was eclipsed by this hero who was whispering the college yell in our ears:

"What's the score?"

Ten to four!

No wonder he was excited. He was on the Albion team that "kicked" the U. of M.

That was years ago.

Where now are the old familiar faces in that church? The long-white-bearded Sylvester Calkins, who was our father's friend and wise counselor?

Where the kind-faced women with even "crimps" who brought us doughnuts? Where the "class leader" who rubbed his roughened hands together as he made his way down the line asking each for his "experience?" Nearer and nearer he came to the corner where we sat fearfully in our high backed pews.

Where was good old "brother" Striker, who was accustomed now and then to burst forth quaveringly:

"Host every sail To catch the gale. Each sailor ply his oar. The night begins to wear away We soon shall reach the shore?"

"Reach the shore"—yes, most of these old friends have finished their course.

The service is over. Back to the present we come abruptly but we close the door with the slow solemnity with which one closes an old album that has stored long-silent memories.

The November Port Election

The special election in the townships on Tuesday, Nov. 7 on the question of authorizing a Port Commission for Wayne County should not be neglected by the voters, although no individual candidates are to be voted upon that day. The Port Commission involves the whole township area, for new industries and those already established, and attracts the interest of those owning lands outside of Detroit and industries within the county. Instead of voting for their neighbors the voters on this occasion will vote for themselves, in the way of improving their property values.

Enjoy These Advantages of Electric Cooking!

CLEAN. Electric heat is as clean as sunlight. Imagine a stove that supplies only PURE heat from a glowing wire! There is no smoke or soot to blacken utensils or soil kitchen walls and curtains.

WATERLESS COOKING. With your electric range you use no water for roasts and only half a cup for vegetables.

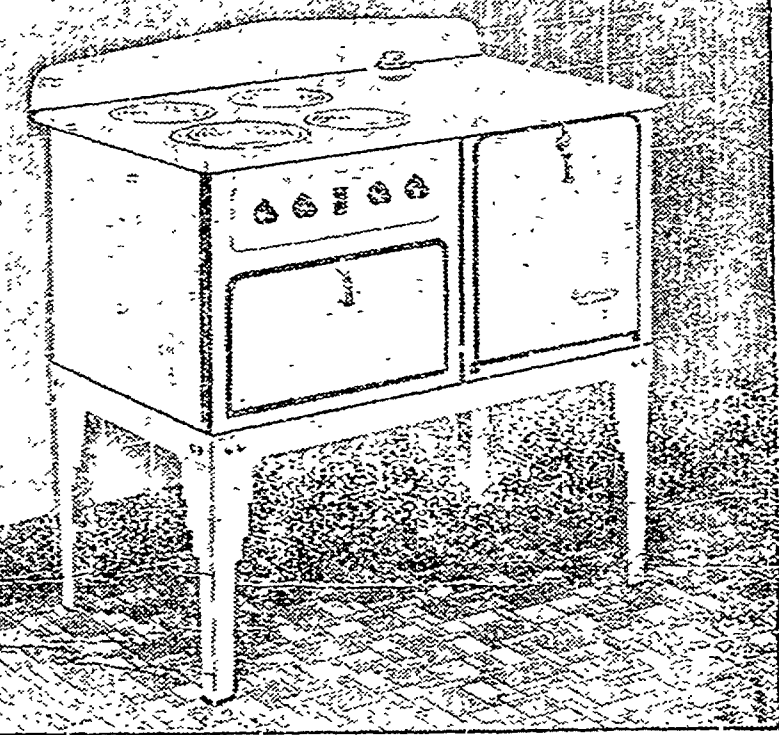

MODERN. Unusually attractive in design, these modern electric ranges do much to brighten and add a feeling of newness to your entire kitchen. They are finished in smooth, lustrous porcelain and sparkling metal—features of special importance to the woman who likes to keep things clean.

HEALTHFUL. Electric cooking seals in nourishing juices and natural elements in meats and vegetables. Important minerals are retained, instead of being lost in steam. Half-a-cup of water is ample to cook vegetables, and there is no flavorless residue of water to be poured down the sink when the cooking is finished.

FULL FLAVORED. Electric cooking has a deliciously different flavor—a natural flavor in foods. Meats and vegetables cook to melting tenderness in their own juices—and cakes are light and fire-grained, with a uniform, even texture. You must TASTE the golden, fluffy biscuits and flaky pastries that one can bake in an electric oven!

Woman's Club Holds First Regular Session of the Year

Meeting for the first time under the new regime of holding semi-monthly meetings, thirty-six members of the Northville Woman's Club opened its season's program, Friday.

The general subject for the year will be Progress in America. In initiating this study a book, "Drums," by Jas. Boyd, dealing the early colonial history of America, was reviewed by Mrs. Carl H. Bryan. So ably handled was this story of the revolutionary period with vivid descriptions of active encounters so that the hearers were held with breathless interest even though this followed an already full program.

Mrs. Bryan reviewed this historical novel with skill. So smoothly did she weave the plot of the tale with quotations from the book that it read like one continuous fascinating story, and laid a fine foundation for the following study.

Previous to this, book review series of interesting reports from the recent city federation held in Detroit were brought by Mesdames John Christensen, Percy Angove, L. M. Eaton, Marvin F. Sloan, H. S. Willis, Geo. C. Harper and Mrs. E. L. Mills. Mrs. Eaton's report was prepared by Mrs. P. A. Hauer, in the absence of Mrs. Eaton.

Mrs. I. W. Linton, late of Oklahoma, was a new member welcomed for the first time.

Mrs. Helen Hacking Becomes Bride of Elmer Palmeter

In the presence of about one hundred relatives and close friends, Mrs. Helen Rachael Hacking and Elmer Palmeter, the latter of Wayne, took the solemn marriage vows at the Presbyterian church, the Rev. H. G. Whitfield officiating, Tuesday evening, Oct. 24.

Before the chancel stood tall baskets of late autumn blossoms. Welcoming the guests at the church entrance and ushering them were two young men in conventional evening clothes, Kenneth Eichen, a cousin of the bride, and Philip Clausen of Detroit.

Richard Shipley at the organ played a number of selections as the guests assembled. At eight o'clock the music modulated into the wedding march from Lohengrin as the bride party entered the church.

At the altar the clergyman, Rev.

Mr. Whitfield, with the groom and best man, Francis Pierce, awaited the bride and her bridesmaids. Proceeding her were the two maids of honor, Miss Shirley Warner and Miss Florence Kiefer, both of Detroit and intimate friends. Then followed the bridesmaid, her twin sister, Miss Hazel Hacking.

On the arm of her uncle, Clarence Thompson, the bride approached the altar, where she was joined by the groom and the impressive ceremony was pronounced which made them man and wife.

The bride was lovely in a long white satin gown with full sleeves and flowing veil of white tulle, caught round her head with a dainty cap of lace. In her arms she carried a sheaf of white roses, gardenias, and buds of the valley.

The bridesmaid wore peach taffeta and carried Johanna Hill roses. The maids of honor wore harmonizing pastel shades. Miss Warner in pale green satin, carrying talisman roses, and Miss Kiefer in pale blue carrying butterfly roses. All three attendants wore becoming turbans in varying rose shades.

Following the ceremony to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march the bride left the church on the arm of her husband followed by the remainder of the party who assembled at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Charlotte Thompson, Fairbrook Ave., where a reception was tendered to sixty guests.

Beautiful lunch was served from a beautifully appointed table where the bride cut the wedding cake.

Mrs. Palmeter is one of Northville's popular young women and has been a resident of this place all her life, graduating in the local high school with the class of 1929. Since losing her mother in infancy she has been in the care of her grandmother, Mrs. Thompson, who has been as a mother to her.

Mr. Palmeter holds a position as engineer with the Detroit Edison Co. of Wayne. After a visit at the World's Fair in Chicago and a motor tour through the South the young couple will be at home in their new residence in Wayne. Congratulations are extended.

Among the guests at the wedding were the parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Palmeter of Hart, Mich., an aunt of the bride, Mrs. Gertrude Eichen of Detroit, besides relatives and friends from Detroit, Wayne and Ann Arbor and Northville.

GOD ANSWERS PRAYER
There hath not failed one word of all His good promise which He promised by the hand of Moses, His servant. 1 Kings, 8:36.

God has made surprisingly big promises to those who pray. "Call upon Me in the day of trouble; I will deliver thee." "Ask, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you. For every one that asketh, receiveth; and he that knocketh, and to him that knocketh it shall be opened." "He shall call upon Me, and I will answer him; I will be with him in trouble."

What astonishing promises! Certainly we ought to be found at the "throne of God" every hour of the day, making known our wants and our need. But, alas, how seldom we pray.

"As we go to the throne-room to make our requests known, we remember that we have not always heeded the call to prayer, that we often have forgotten the Lord in the day of prosperity and health. So prayer reveals us to ourselves. As we ask for favors, we realize that we have not always served the Lord, who is rich in mercy toward us. Therefore we must first seek His forgiveness as we come in prayer, pleading that He would blot out our transgressions through Christ's precious blood."

As we come to God in prayer, paying out our hearts to Him, we learn that God is very near to everyone that seeks Him. He does answer prayer. He does deliver us. This removes every fear from our hearts. This closeness of God lifts us out of despair. I must trust Him, I cannot worry.

Thus as I leave the throne-room with my answered prayers, I come forth from His presence completely transformed. I am hopeful, I believe. I am persuaded that nothing in life or in death today or tomorrow can harm me. Though I may not understand God's methods for today, I know that His thoughts are thoughts of goodness and of mercy toward me. So I will praise the Lord as I patiently wait upon Him.

Thus let us daily come with our troubles, with our weaknesses, with our sins, to the Lord, believing that every one who abeths himself. Oh, what price we often forfeit. Oh, what needs, pain we bear. All because we do not carry Everything to God in prayer!

This Sunday morning, we will celebrate our annual Reformation Festival. An appropriate message will be delivered by the pastor. The service and Sunday School will begin at 10 o'clock.

Christian Science Churches

"Everlasting Punishment" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, October 29.

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Isa. 55:7): "Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts; and let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 32): "The pardon of divine mercy is the destruction of error. If men understood that real spiritual sources to be all blessedness they would struggle for recourse to the spiritual and be at peace; but the deeper the error into which mortal mind is plunged, the more intense the opposition to spirituality, till error yields to Truth."

DO YOU REMEMBER WHEN?

The burned car tracks on Main street carried a heavy passenger traffic and many freight cars? Freight came into town by the 'on and by the railroad regularly? Hundreds of carloads of manufactured goods were sent from the local station?

You never heard of a chain store or its possible effect upon merchandising?

Cakes, pastries and bread did not come in fancy printed covers that cost money and add nothing to your nourishment?

You did require a pair of shoes or gloves to match every outfit that you owned?

Or had a little time to get acquainted with your local merchant and how interested he was in your success?

There was no clock in the Methodist church tower?

Such a thing as a luncheon club was unheard of?

Card games were the exception and not the rule?
