BANK TO SEND MORTGAGES TO GOVERNMENT

Home-Owners Loan Corp. To Be Asked For Aid

Northville, home-owners get a good "break."

Approximately 100 mortgages on homes and parcels of property which are about to be or have been foreclosed within the last two years will be sent by the Depositors State bank to the Home Owners Federal Loan corporation for refinancing within the next two weeks, according to an announcement made by officials this week.

Government approval of the applications sent in by the bank will mean that the fortunate home-owners will have 18 years in which to pay off their mortgage, if he chooses to take that long, at an interest rate of five per cent. The regular interest rate for refinancing, it is said, is approximately seven per cent.

Applications for home-owners to use in applying for the aid extended by the Federal Loan corporation are available at the Depositors State bank. Officials invite those who have mortgages at the bank to come in and review their financial situation with the aim of obtaining help from the government.

The applications are being sent in batches of 25 and 30 by local bank officials and aid is virtually certain to be received soon, it is believed.

1199 People Attend Christmas Program at Training School On Sunday Afternoon, Dec. 24

Showing marked appreciation of the efforts of the children of the Wayne County Training school, a large company of 1199 people attended the Christmas entertainment given at the auditorium Sunday afternoon.

The first part of the program was a playlet, "The Rag Doll's Christmas Eve," in which forty characters among the younger children took part. The performance was very clever and the children entered heartily and with keen enjoyment into their acting. In charge of this part of the program was Mrs. Lorena Hubbs, assisted by a committee comprised of Miss Elizabeth Hooey, Mrs. Bernice Gofings, Miss Lu Conney and Miss Fanny Bailey.

A Christmas operetta, "The Toy-maker," was the second part of the program with 72 of the older children taking part in gay costumes. A combination of music and story, the presentation of the scenes in the Toy-maker's shop was sparkling and light. Mrs. Trill, Miss Esther McSwain and Mrs. Flora Belle Sullivan were the directors of this op-

DRUG-STORE GIVES AWAY 15 DOLLS ON CHRISTMAS MORNING

Christmas morning Horton's drug store played Santa Claus to 15 girls, who were awarded prizes in Horton's annual doll contest.

The 15 to receive beautiful dolls were, in their finishing order: Mary Ellen Bobbitt, Gail Ann Peters, Arlene Blake, Betty Helene Whitfield, Alberta Sutton, Lillian Girardin, Mary Burgess, Shirley Lyke, Joan Cavell, Maria Hatchett, Doris Arndt, Dorothy Congo, Donna Miller, Dorothy Stremich, and Helen Dixon.

Although there were many more entered in the contest these were the winners of prizes. Mary Ellen Bobbitt headed the list having a lead of over half again as much on her nearest competitor. Votes were given to each contestant on the basis of purchases made by friends and relatives who turned the votes over to the doll seekers.

The doll contest is an annual event. Sponsored each year at Christmas time by the C. R. Horton drug store.

BUSY WEEK AT POSTOFFICE

About the same amount of mail was handled as last year during the holiday rush, says Postmaster Carrington. As far as delivery goes the fine weather we had facilitated the distribution, he continued.

An average of about 80 bags of parcels arrived at the postal station every day last week, and about the same amount of cards and letters as usual. Figuring the amount of help we had and the amount of mail handled we did just about the same business as last year, concluded Mr. Carrington.

HUNTERS' BALL JANUARY 7 TO BE GALA EVENT

King's Daughters Sponsor Annual Event At School

Plans for the Hunters' Ball are in full swing.

Northville hunters are getting out their suits, brushing them up and polishing their guns so that they may appear in picturesque regalia in the miniature forest to be arranged at the high school gym on the evening of Jan. 7.

This annual affair is one of the jolliest community affairs of the year. Everyone turns out, old and young. Those who are too old to "ball" sit on the sidelines and delight in the grace of the younger set. Some of those who thought they had forgotten how to be out on the floor dancing the steps of other years.

No dress-up affair this. Formal dress would not be in keeping with the rough attire of the hunters. The public is invited to join in this general good time and incidentally add to the philanthropy funds of the King's Daughters.

Tickets will be on sale for 25 cents. Mrs. L. C. Stewart is in charge of the ticket sale.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

Due to an oversight, the name of Jack McCrumb was left out of the article on the Northville Woodcraft club last week.

The many friends of Gust Bernhardt will be glad to know that he was able to be taken to the home of his son, Henry, on the Beck road in time to enjoy Christmas with his family. He is much improved.

SANTA CLAUS BRINGS GIFTS TO CHILDREN

Chief W. H. Safford and Earl Montgomery Make Many Calls

It was just a quarter to one Christmas morning when the thermometer down near zero when a very chilly and "naughty" Santa Claus (three off his red coat and whiskers and stretched his frost-bitten feet out to the warmth of the radiator.)

Beside him sat his faithful helper "Ho, hum!" they groaned, "that was the most fun we've had for a long time," they agreed.

These two were Chief of Police Wm. H. Safford and his assistant, Earl Montgomery. Together they had distributed 100 bags of candy and 150 toys ranging from lovely dolls to inexpensive playthings.

An effort was made not to overlook a single child who might otherwise have been left out. Christmas morning found an empty stocking.

Children of families where, even the greater number of manworking, things might be a little uncertain were gladdened by gifts made possible through the kindness of a number of Northville people. Christmas Eve brought them, candy and nuts, popcorn balls, assorted toys, jack knives and handkerchiefs.

The older people of the community were also remembered. The Kings Daughters put up and distributed 25 baskets of food with everything in them that would assure the recipients of a fine Christmas dinner. General baskets of assorted fruits were sent to those who were forced to spend the day as invalids.

Two years ago employees of the city started a fund among themselves to buy toys for the children who might not receive any, and this year the public was invited to contribute. Any money, left with the Chief of Police W. H. Safford, chairman of the fund in the future, and gifts will be formed. He said and shared with the children.

Happiness, relief in many homes where Santa was a reality, doubtless, and happiness also fills the hearts of the who in any way helped to make this a very merry Christmas for everyone.

Mrs. W. H. Safford, as chairman of the visiting committee, and all the who worked with her did their best to make this year a happy one for the entire community.

ROTARIANS DISCUSS CHRISTMAS AT THEIR LUNCHEON TUESDAY

The Tuesday luncheon of the Northville Rotary club vibrated with the spirit of Christmas and although the attendance, due to holiday activities, was smaller than usual the meeting was one of the finest of the year.

The Rev. Harold G. Whitfield first took the members and guests in a brief visit around the world and described how Christmas is observed in Christian lands. Then he conducted a Christmas forum, calling on each one present to give some thought or what Christmas meant to him. This proved to be intensely absorbing as each voiced the spirit of the holiday and its great meaning of good will to the world.

All were agreed that it is the one great "family day" of the year. Chas. P. Paul, a Rotarian from Dayton, Ohio, said that even though the sending of Christmas cards has been commercialized in some ways yet he and his family found that these Christmas greetings keep and taken sample after sample of that "good old sweet cider" that Mr. Don P. Yerkes, Sr. officiated as "Santa Claus" and presented each one with a small gift, accompanied by an apt bit of poetry.

Chas. E. Rogers was in the president's chair and guests were Mr. Paul and Jack Blackburn.

COUNTY TAX TIME EXTENDED TO JAN. 10 ON APPLICATION

A notice has been received from the office of the county treasurer to the effect that state and county taxes must be paid prior to Monday, Jan. 1, 1934, in order to avoid the penalty.

"If for any reason you cannot pay during this month, make application to Jacob F. Sumner, county treasurer, and payment may be extended to January 10, 1934," is the encouraging news received in an advertisement from the treasurer's office which was received too late for publication this week.

Taxes are also payable at the Depositors State bank to Mrs. Jenny Cousins, township treasurer.

School will start in the high school building as usual on Tuesday, Jan. 2.

MRS. STANBRO IS ORGANIST SINCE 1962 AT SALEM

Salem Musician Still Is An Active Worker Despite Age

In the "Believe It or Not" section of the Detroit Times for Dec. 25, there appeared a notice of the fact that Mrs. Sarah Stanbro, of S. E. Mich., has been organist at Salem church for the past 71 years. Mrs. Stanbro is 85 years of age.

At the present time she makes her home with her son, Louis S. Stanbro, in South Lyon, but as soon as it warms up in the spring she moves to her home in Salem. People of Salem say that she knows the history of the Baptist church better than anyone in Salem. Her cheerful personality and is her friend of all both young and old.

Mrs. Stanbro and her husband, who died, were the most sought after singers in the surrounding territory and they traveled many miles in horse and buggy to sing for people. She still has one of the best 100 voices to be heard in this territory according to those who have heard her sing.

She has served as organist at the Salem Baptist church since 1962 and before that time she played at the Baptist church.

The company issued 100 per cent participation certificates to those who in light of the business upturn had through their efforts brought about improved business for the Telephone company. Mr. Crowe's picture appeared in the December issue of the Michigan Bell organization magazine along with 192 other "100 per centers."

Parmenter Cider and Vinegar Mill Has Been Doing Business At Same Place For 60 Years

In the W. A. Parmenter cider and vinegar mill on the Base Lane road near the condenser, Northville has an industry that is 60 years old, and it is still going strong. Men of the community, young and old, have gone to the "old cider mill" and taken sample after sample of that "good old sweet cider" that Mr. Parmenter has so good naturedly given them.

"This mill was started by my father, B. A. Parmenter," stated Mr. Parmenter, "in 1874, when he moved from the farm known as the Ralph Horton farm. The mill was started on the present site and was first propelled by horse power, and that was my first job, I had to drive the horses. This power only ground the apples, then it was necessary to run the press by hand power. Later we changed to steam and then finally Sam Wilkinson convinced us to change to electricity, and we have never been sorry—at that time Sam was working for the town for owning the power and we were the first industry in town to use electric power."

At one time our capacity was about 100 bushels of apples in ten hours, and that was only grinding them. Now it is no task to grind and press 1,000 bushels in the same length of time. And in 1932 we in-

CWA WORKERS BUSY DESPITE BAD WEATHER

School Board Members Help Keep Inside Projects Going

A special meeting of officers of the local CWA and members of the school board met at the village hall Tuesday evening and discussed the necessary improvements that could be accomplished inside of the school buildings. Present weather might keep up grading of the school grounds and suggestions were made as to further repairs that must be made other than those included in the original plan.

The work originally planned is being completed as rapidly as possible, but at that there may be need to extend the vacation of those in the grade building for another day, or two. Painting and plastering are being done, and a new stairway is being constructed in place of the present one in the old building. All of the rooms in the grade building were in great need of paint, according to Dr. Paul R. Alexander, a member of the school board. Dr. Alexander and Sherrill Ambler were chosen by the school board to serve as supervisors of repairs, and to meet with the local CWA officials.

There are more repairs that need to be done, but as yet there has been no authorization given them by the local CWA committee. The floor in the classroom has been in there since the building of the school 17 years ago and the top in the grade building is also in need of repair, according to Dr. Alexander. If further aid is furnished by CWA there is several other repairs that need about but the school has no money to carry them out, he concluded.

EXCHANGE CLUB TO CANCEL BACK DUES OF OLD MEMBERS

Starting the New Year with a clean slate, members of the Northville Exchange club voted Wednesday at the meeting, held at the Methodist church, to "write off" all of the back dues of members who have dropped out of the club providing they come back to the club in January with the first meeting of the new year.

It is agreed that this will have the effect of the club's membership list being up to date and the club's records being correct and in a better position to carry on its business.

Officers of the club placed Dr. H. E. Sparling, who has been club president since 1931, as president for 1934. In place of Dr. Sparling, Dr. Robert G. Yerkes was elected first vice-president, Maurice Lapham, second vice-president, Kenneth R. Rutherford, third vice-president. The officers of secretary and treasurer were announced and the duties were voted in one person. Charles A. Dolph a charter member of the club.

Nelson C. Schrader and Sam Wilkinson, also charter members, were elected members of the board of control. Dayton Bunn and Ogden G. Crowe were unanimously elected to succeed themselves as sergeant-at-arms and song-leader respectively.

PRETTY GOOD TRAITS

"Full of laughter"—"Eager to contribute to life." We jotted down those two phrases from that unique column, "Men Who Walked Our Streets," in this newspaper. In these particular cases "Men" was used generically for last week's column was all about women. These words made us think. We got to thinking what a great thing it would be if we had a whole community full of folks—men and women—who were "full of laughter and willing to contribute to life." Man, wouldn't things hum in this old town!

BEAUTIFUL NORTHVILLE

"We had some visitors the other day and took them for a ride around Northville," said a Northville citizen. "Well, they were certainly impressed with the beauty of our community."

Northville is a favored spot. And there are many, many splendid people here. And more will come as the months roll by.

Pride in our homes might well be a goal for the new year. More painting of homes, more flower gardens, more beauty spots—all these will help to further Northville's good name. And kindly treatment of those who come to see us will add to our good reputation.

SOME 1934 RESOLVES

A little "resolving" is a good thing the first of the year. Mill posts make us take stock, inventories cause us to look at ourselves and honestly ask: "What better way can I do it?" The first of a new year makes a thoughtful man wonder what he can do next year that he did not do in the one just past; or not do something that has been costly the past year.

How would it be the coming year if we all resolved a few simple things like these:

- (1) To give our own community some one definite service.
 - (2) To try to see the other person's viewpoint before passing judgment.
 - (3) To be less critical of others and more careful to look for our own faults.
 - (4) To try to live out the Golden Rule.
 - (5) To laugh more at life.
- There's a quartet of resolves, the carrying out of which won't hurt anyone.

WHAT YOU EXPECT OF HIM

The daily papers carry the stories that former president, Herbert Hoover, refuses to join the ranks of some Republicans who wish to try obstructionist tactics against the administration of President Roosevelt. Instead, Mr. Hoover asks for a full hearted support of our chief executive. In other words, he puts the interest of the people above that of partisan politics.

Who that knows Herbert Hoover, personally or by reputation, would expect anything else of our former president? The Record editor was among the small group of Michigan newspaper men who sat in the study of Herbert Hoover for two hours on a September evening in 1932 and we state only the most apparent truth when we say that every man of that group came away profoundly impressed with the ability, character and idealism of the man who now, in his quiet retreat at Palo Alto, California, urges the people to "stand by the president." And whenever we happen to meet one of those men who made the unforgettable trip to the national capital, he will tell us again of his great faith in Herbert Hoover.

Herbert Hoover is for his country before his party—he could not be anything else. The diamond is always a diamond.

COME ON, 1934

"The year is dying—let it die." One of history's most eventful years has slipped away into the past and we stand on the brink of a new year. Twelve wonderful months they have been—for a new world is being made right around us. Of course they have brought sorrow, untold disappointment and real suffering and we have all had our share. We say that they are wonderful months, for out of the travail of them will come the birth of a new era that will bring more lasting peace, comfort and material prosperity to the millions of our great land. That good will not come out of all this past four years of grief is unthinkable—a new and better world must be ahead.

So we say: "Welcome to 1934." It should be a good year for all of us here in Northville. In fact we have the abiding faith that we shall all make it a good year for ourselves and those around us. In a material way the skies are brighter—hardly a man who can work and wants to work now, is out of a job. After all the economic collapse of the past four years, we do seem to be on the up-grade. Surely real prosperity cannot be held from us much longer, with all the forces that are working for a better life for the millions of our great land.

So let us look forward with hopeful hearts to the greatest year of our lives.

So we wish you all a "Happy New Year." We believe you will have it. Northville is an ideal place in which to live. We can get out of the community life here just about what we put into it. If we set out to be neighborly, friendly and helpful, we cannot fail to find it a good year. If you make up your mind to be a builder during 1934 it will indeed be a good year for you—the best you ever had. As you set out on the waters of a new year, we wish you "bon voyage." May pleasant breezes sometimes, gales at other times, carry you to shores of content, achievement and blessing.

That is our wish for you for 1934.

"The best is yet to be."

WANDERING THOUGHTS

"Happy New Year! And many of them!"

How may we improve The Northville Record the coming year?

He who puts out his hand to help some boy during 1934 will find it a rich and fruitful year.

If you hold all your old friends and win two or three new ones in 1934, it will be the best year of your life.

With the turn of the year you can get ready for political talk. Michigan votes next fall at the primaries and at the November election. And will it be some campaign?

"It is the little courtesies that cause us to go to certain Northville business places," says a local man. "For example, I don't buy gasoline where they don't wipe off my windshield once in a while."

"Just talked to a Northville boy, back from a CCC camp in the north. 'It has been a wonderful thing for me,' he says. 'I have gained 20 pounds and feel the best I have in years. We get to bed on time and get up early but the regular hours are fine for your health.' The government did a great thing for these thousands of boys when they turned them out into the great outdoors and taught them how to live systematically and work honestly. When these lads get old enough to go to work for themselves they will look back on this experience as one of the finest periods of their life."

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION

What is your biggest ambition for 1934?

WHAT OTHER EDITORS ARE THINKING ABOUT

TOWNSHIP GOVERNMENT

"O. Gifford in Utopia, Michigan, we are informed, is one of only three states that still retain the township system of government. A profit deal has been made out of the waste of retaining 10,000 'entirely superfluous' officers. There is much force to this still, it is not to be said in favor of officers, who to their credit are as Michigan township officers are."

IDEAL LANDS THAT PAY

"Thomas A. Conlin in Crystal Falls, Michigan, D.D."—

A friend of mine told me the other day, of a letter he had received from a former resident of a town of 100 miles from here. This man went south several years ago and purchased a cotton plantation of 300 acres. My friend wrote to this cotton planter suggesting that he come back north and occupy his lands again. The reply my friend got was a laugh to his suggestion. "Do you know," said the cotton planter, "that I just received from the federal government $6,600 for letting my land here lie idle; $22 per acre for the cotton I didn't raise. Can any northern land lying idle yield as much?"

BARLEYCORN AS A COMPANION

(George Averil in Burnham, Michigan)

Michigan is not all set to let the citizenship of John J. Barleycorn. This highly spirited fellow roamer of the earth for untold centuries, once again will wander in our midst, uncontrolled except as human beings, whether public officials or merely citizen-taxpayers, place restrictions upon him. While it is desirable and quite necessary for public officials to watch Barleycorn very carefully, the chief vigilance must be exercised by Mr. and Mrs. Citizen. After all, the only real reason that prohibition failed was because too many citizens refused to be law-abiding; they either had too strong a personal desire for liquor, or they honestly felt that their personal rights were infringed upon. A "repealed" John Barleycorn will be just as difficult to restrain as a "prohibition" John Barleycorn. The value of any restrictions or control lies only in the willingness of the whole people to restrict and control themselves by complying with the intent of the restriction or control statute; if statutes have to have a policeman for every citizen for enforcement, then the statutes will always fail, of course.

TOO MANY FILLING STATIONS

(Robert D. Gifford in the Eaton Rapids Journal)

This is a great and free country. Every man is supposed to do just about as he pleases, regardless of government or individual. It has been altogether too free. It is now time we are told what we can do and what we cannot do, when for the best interest of the greatest number of people. The idea that every man has a right to enter business regardless of qualifications, finances or results, is entirely wrong. Other countries do not stand for it and it works for the benefit of the citizenry.

The idea, for instance, that every man has a right to start a filling station is entirely wrong. About thirty of them have been started in Eaton Rapids, several of which have been locked up and the property left vacant at a loss to some one. They have assisted in making it impossible for the legitimate, early located station to make a living. At the present time Eaton Rapids has just about three times as many stations as is necessary for the financial health of any of them. Statistics prove that only one station should be erected and operated for each 400 cars. Eaton Rapids has one for about every 100 or 150 cars.

FAITH IN BANKS

(Fred D. Reister in Ionia, County News)

We are nearing the time when guarantee of bank deposits will be undertaken for the first time on a nation-wide scale. True that efforts in this direction by the various states have met with failure, but with Uncle Sam in the role of guarantor better results can be expected. There has been considerable opposition by the big bankers to this form of depositor insurance. No doubt many of the objections raised were well taken but these are unusual times demanding unusual remedies.

Half of the banks of a decade ago have failed. Their failures brought tremendous losses to depositors and great loss to stockholders and managers. Confidence in our banking system was destroyed and billions of dollars went into being. Now the government is engaged in the task of getting closed banks open and restoring public faith in all banks. If guaranteed bank deposits will help to accomplish this purpose it is well worth trying. Once public faith has been restored the family sock will be disengaged of its contents and savings accounts will show a splendid increase.

BOOZE MONEY FOR SCHOOLS

(By Ray S. Corliss in Parma News)

The Michigan legislature has " earmarked" the revenue from the sale of hard liquors for the support of schools, most of them drastically in need of financial assistance. Since many of these same schools were on the verge of closing, or having the school term shortened, the situation now resolves itself into this: The more men and women who drink of hard liquors, the better chances their children can remain in school. The more drunkards, the more efficient our educational system.

How times do change. Twenty years ago the argument was that thousands of children could not attend school because their fathers "drank up" the money that should have bought them warm clothing.

Wake Up Your Liver Bile—Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it! They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul. This often breaks out in pimples. Your head aches and you feel drowsy and out. Your whole system is poisoned. It takes three (3) CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "top and bottom" again. They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for CARTER'S Little Liver Pills. Look for the name CARTER'S Little Liver Pills on the red label. Beware of a substitute. 25¢ at drug stores. C. 1931, C. M. Co.

IDEAS

Gleaned by a Northville Idealist

Nature has not been niggardly in the provisions which she has made for our physical needs. Everywhere we turn we see a superabundance of her bounties. In nothing needed for human welfare is there any lack. Yet, in the midst of plenty, we perish of hunger.

We are assured that our abundance is the source of our distress. Therefore, farmers are paid to destroy their crops and are equipped to raise less when the world needs more.

Grain that should go to feed the poor is given to livestock. Cattle are sleek and families are undernourished. Swine are well fed and the stomachs of little children are empty.

It is a mad world where human beings go hungry and hogs grow fat. To expect the people to eat cake where there is no bread is to overlook one of the most tragic lessons of history.

There is no lack of wealth. We have enough to meet the legitimate needs of every one if our wealth were equitably distributed. Yet the most amazing contrasts exist side by side.

A favored few possess fabulous fortunes beyond their needs or their capacity to enjoy, while multitudes are oppressed by the direst poverty. The shocking spectacle of millions walking our streets hungry and helpless constantly faces us.

The concentration of wealth and power in the hands of a steadily narrowing minority; the control of the means of production and distribution, the ownership of the resources of the nation by a privileged few, threaten the economic freedom and security of the people as a whole.

It becomes increasingly clear that only as we have a wider and more equitable distribution of income so that those who have the capacity to consume shall have the power to purchase can we hope for the return of the nation to permanent prosperity.

Only as we have a more democratic and widespread control of our economic resources, wealth, and power shall we be assured of social safety.

We do not presume to pass judgment upon the means and methods by which the present distressing conditions may be alleviated and avoided in the future, but we would insist that some way should, and must be found, and, if necessary, new principles of social justice be accepted and applied that will place all men, the great as well as the

THIS WEEK

By H. H. WHITE

Recently, while waiting for an appointment in a hotel lobby, I overheard a much heated discussion by a group of typical prosperous Americans concerning conditions in this country. To them it seemed to be a matter almost beyond argumentation that any restriction of personal liberty which would tend to increase industrial production in this country by, say ten per cent, was wholly justified.

Their contention was that such increased efficiency would tend to give domestic industry an advantage in competition with other nations. If this were true, industrialism would reduce the present world almost to abject and complete servitude. I think we might very well pause, and question whether such a premise might not defeat its own purpose. It is doubtful if in the end industrial slaves would be as efficient or show as much initiative as free men. But somehow the generally accepted idea, which is erroneous, is that individual liberty has strong, on a basis of Christian Brotherhood.

no place in the present machine age.

Machinery does not necessarily menace freedom but the greater representation of the public into power seeking groups which mass machine production makes possible.

The machine did not create the lust for power for it only provided a new amphitheatre in which the struggle for power is ever going on.

It has also made possible the rise from the common mass a new industrial leadership, many of whose constituency have yet to grasp the relative importance of freedom and culture.

In such a scene I think the machine by putting it within their reach, has not only increased the power but the lust for it, and there are so many men who are incapable of using it wisely.

THE DUSTY CORNER

by Alec Milne

Now that Christmas is over, we have only one thing to worry about. Three years ago Aunt Gertrude gave us a tie, a fine one of red and purple stripes. Two years ago we gave it to Cousin Merritt. One year ago he gave it to Uncle Jerry, and this year Uncle Jerry gave it to us. Nice stuffy play, no fumbles. And suddenly yesterday afternoon Aunt Gertrude asked if we had ever had a tie like that before and without thinking we said quite emphatically, "No." Merry Christmas.

After Christmas Christmas came, as we thought it would. Presents received, some quite good. Christmas passed, as Christmas should.

Time moves on, a month has gone. Of presents received, some passed on.

Oh the wonderful gifts we sent to cheer Friends we knew both far and near. Will bring us bliss throughout the year.

The Consequence of Christmas Scene: Anywhere, in any village, on Main street. Characters: Two high school girls. They meet and their faces light up as though they were meeting their only friend in Northville. They nearly kiss in their enthusiasm.

Sue—"Sally!" Sally—"Sue!" Together—"Gee, I'm glad to see you!"

They stand a little apart and look at each other.

Sue—"Say, Thassa a fine coat to be just wartin' downtown. Is it fit for Christmas?"

Sally—"Yeah. Do ya think so?" Thassa keen scarf you have on.

Sue—"Jah-uh! My b I love it to me."

Sally—"I think's just grand, and it matches yer coat, too."

Sue—"A dreamy look in her eye!" "Well, I must be goin'." I gotta date."

Sally—"With your steady?" Sue—"No. A college fella home frikin' holidays. He's sorta cute."

Sally—"Don't these college B. F.'s have the keenest line though?" Sue—"I'll say. And this one's tall and good looking."

Sally—"You're tryin' to get bored—Yeah. I suppose. Well I guess I better go. I hafta run anerrand."

Sue—"An I must run home and get ready."

Sally—"Come over t'morra an' tell me about your b.g. date."

Sue—"Bye." Sally—"Bye."

"Yes, that's why she shot him."

Let the car speak for itself

HUNDREDS of thousands of people now own and drive Ford V-8 cars. Some neighbor or friend of yours has one. If we told you what we think of the car, you might say we are prejudiced, so we let the car and its owner tell you.

Economy of operation is one of the first points they will emphasize—the owner will boast of it and the car will prove it.

The 1934 car is even better than the 1933—and that was our best car up to its time. The new car is more beautiful—faster—more powerful—gives more miles to the gallon—better oil economy—is easier riding—cheaper to own and operate than any car ever built.

You owe it to yourself and your pocketbook to ask our Ford Dealer to let you see this car, and let you drive it for yourself. At the wheel of the car you will be sure to reach a right decision. The Ford V-8 will tell you its own story.

Mrs. Willis, Sr., of North Carolina, mother of Dr. Willis who has been here for some weeks, will accompany her son back to his home in Baltimore today.

A card from Alton D. Orvas, a former Northville resident now living in Santa Monica, California, asks that the Record call attention to the fact that the Rose Festival at Pasadena will be broadcast over a nation-wide radio network on New Year's day. According to Mr. Orvas there are reported to be between 300,000 and 350,000 people who witness this colorful event each year.

It was a real family reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sessions Christmas day when their three children with their families were all together. Around the Christmas dinner table there were gathered James, with his wife and two sons, Jack and Robert, of Plymouth, Amy, (Mrs. Ralph Simonds) with her husband and two children, Keith and Ruth, of Armada, and Ruth of this place.

Coming out from their home in Highland Park, Mr. and Mrs. Ross E. Dusenbury were hosts to a Christmas party at the home of Mrs. W. G. Yerkes. Present with Mr. and Mrs. Dusenbury and their two sons, George and Charles, were: Mrs. Yerkes, Mr. and Mrs. Bernice E. Larson and daughter, Marion, and Rev. and Mrs. H. G. Whitfield, and daughter, Betty Helene. Carl Yerkes, a brother of Mrs. Dusenbury, of Webberville, was also a guest.

N. H. S. LOSES TO FARMINGTON, 24-21

In an unusually exciting overtime game, the Northville high school basketball squad was defeated by Farmington, 24 to 21, in the local gym last Friday evening. The Orange and Black second team had better luck, winning 38 to 14.

Farmington started off with a snappy offense, quickly going into the lead. Coach Watts' cohorts rallied, however, and tied the score. For the first half it was a see-saw affair, with first one team going ahead and then the other. The half ended, however, with Northville in the lead, 10 to 7.

In the first quarter Dayton Deal, Northville left forward, was put out of the game by Referee Odds of Ypsilanti Normal, thus handicapping the home team. He was replaced by Bill Duguid, who gave a good account of himself.

The even playing continued in the last two periods. Making seven fouls at the first half, Northville committed more than twice as many during the entire game. Although the Farmington boys did not quite equal this, they came close. In fact, there were almost as many fouls as there were field shots. Farmington had a considerable edge on the points made from fouls.

The last quarter marked some fast play. With Hoffman making three long shots from mid-court, Northville battled to tie the score. Farmington was ahead 19 to 17, when, just as the final whistle blew, Capt. Paul Baldwin looped the ball through from right below the basket, tying the score.

Going into the three minute overtime period with the score at 19 all, Spiller of Farmington quickly put Farmington in the lead with a long shot. Then Baldwin and Westphall each sank a foul shot, again making the score tie. Then Northville, trying desperately, committed three fouls, one right after the other, and Farmington scored points on all. The whistle sounded shortly after, ending the overtime period and the game with the score 24-21 in Farmington's favor.

Northville's reserve squad completely outplayed its Farmington rivals, winning by a score of 38 to 14. Over 200 people from both Northville and Farmington witnessed these games, and excitement reached a high peak.

In order for Northville to have a chance at the suburban league basketball title, the team must defeat Trenton. The two teams meet at Trenton in Northville's next game Jan. 5.

The Northville line-ups were as follows:

First team—Hoffman, Deal, Deal, Baldwin, C. Marburger, J. Westphall, L. Substitutes—Duguid, Bray, Myers.

Second team—Duguid, J. Lyke, J. Meloughlin, C. Schradler, J. Myers, J. Substitutes—Geo. Westphall, Junod, Angove, Bender, Bray, Carrington.

AN APPRECIATION

"I want to thank all those who donated toward the toy fund for the children to the extent of money and toys. Especially are we indebted to The Northville Record for space given in their paper to this cause.

We put forth our best efforts to see that each child was not forgotten and if we missed any it was because we ran out of toys and candy, or didn't have the names. Before next Christmas arrives we shall endeavor to have a larger organization so that we will have a thorough knowledge of every child in the community. We did our best this year and shall try to do better next year.

W. H. SAFFORD,
Chairman of Christmas Funds.

Need—What did Miss West say after you kissed her?

Yes—She told me to call on Friday 1-rearier, because that was another night.

Surgery is nothing to the man who has to keep his eye on the back of the car in front all day Sunday.

Every Monday Morning

By "AD" SCHWENGER

About 800,000 people in Detroit are wondering why the investigation didn't discover the same things about Detroit banking that U. S. Senate Prosecutor Pecora is today bringing to light.

Requires "Special Handling"
Of all the Christmas stories we heard during the late Yule season, Postmaster Huston of Detroit had the funniest.

He's In Again!
Our New Year's resolution to "lay off" of Sam Stater suffered a severe blow when we heard of him spending 20 minutes making people get up in a theatre recently in order to find a lost hat; then he came out to his car and found that he had lost his keys and had to sit disconsolately while a locksmith forged another set.

Tsk, tsk
We're For You!
Team-work, humility, and willingness to learn still beats individual starting for winning basketball games.

Time to get out the ice skates!
Hooryay!

Something Real
All government reports, politicians' speeches, newspaper accounts notwithstanding, the best business news we've heard yet is that merchants in Northville and Detroit sold out their stocks to the walls. They absolutely must order new merchandise now and that is bound to start factory wheels to turning again.

MEMORIES OF MEN WHO WALKED OUR VILLAGE STREETS

The years rush away and old familiar scenes stand forth again as the folks who recall the joys in those two columns of men and women, which this paper has seen carry on for the weeks past.

When the Kelly Institute had a branch in Northville it may be recalled that Ope Reed, the novelty, was one of the star patients. He came from Arkansas for treatment. He recently celebrated his eighty-first birthday at his new home in Chicago, Dec. 21.

WILLIAM PHILLIPS, contractor, manufacturer, village council member, naturally robust, successful, a legislator, a competent citizen who left his impress upon township affairs.

PHILIP S. PORTER, a genial, man, small acreage farmer, made a living, made friends and passed to the inner highway with the "well done" of his fellow men.

JAMES D. COVERT, native of New York State, flowing white beard, kindly, active in all good interests, a neighbor well beloved.

FRED QUIGLEY, slight of build, sandy haired, railroad agent, salesman, circuit court reporter, business college teacher, chief clerk for Governor Warner and newspaper correspondent who put Novi into print every often.

ASA PORTER, short, lean and steady, a factory worker until he was 80 years old and then retired. A quiet citizen who made the daily rounds without much fuss or feathers.

GARDNER SIMMONS, a farmer with four hundred acres to look after, a big man physically, a great talker, and a dominant personality. GEORGE RAYSON, English born, came to Canada and then to Northville. A shoemaker by trade, vitally interested in village affairs, several times councilman, a trained fireman and said he was a "tough one" in his youth.

JOHN IVES, village iron keeper, strict adherer to liquor regulations, and made some money out of his hotel.

JOSEPH C. NICODEMUS, man about town, educated for the ministry, could speak five languages and served in the regular army.

"ENTER THE YEAR WITH NEW TRUST"

—REV. EICKSTAEDT

"The year begins with Thee."

And Thou begin'st with woe."

—We sing in a well-known New Year's hymn. For us Christians the beginning of the year is so arranged that we are still thinking and speaking of the nativity of our Lord. We are thinking and speaking of His poverty, the shedding of His blood in circumcision, His flight from Herod, and the slaughter of the innocents. Therefore we sing, "The year begins with Thee, and Thou begin'st with woe."

It is well that such thoughts should occupy our minds at this time of the year, when we are meditating upon life, its course, and its purpose. Even the world admits that "into each life some rain must fall," some distress, some suffering, some burdens, some struggles, some disappointments; perhaps some very bitter, bitter experiences come to us all. We are not to be foolish optimists, who can only be awakened from their fool's paradise by the fearful jar of some actual occurrence. The sober-minded Christian knows that Jesus has said: "Ye shall weep and lament." But, on the other hand, we should not be pessimists. We know that one and only Helper in all times of need, namely, that Jesus whose very name teaches us that He is the God appointed and God-anointed Helper in all need.

With this Jesus in mind, we are to live our whole life, we are to live the new year before us. Every day we wish to be found in Him, not having our own righteousness, which is of the Law, but that which is through the faith of Christ, the righteousness which is of God by faith. We want to know the fellowship of His sufferings and be made comfortable unto His death.

We Christians are to remember that the disciple is not above his Master; that, as the Master has suffered, so the disciple must suffer. As He passed through trial and sorrow to glory and glory, so God has decided that we should follow Him through trial, through pain, through contempt, enmity, and opposition to triumph and to our kingdom and our throne.

There is a danger that in time of stress when passing through the deep waters and enduring the assaults of lightning, a threat and fear within, the Christian may become weak and discouraged. The grace of the Christian also is still accompanied with doubts and misgivings, and when he experiences the loss of the wind-blowing of the sea of tribulation and temptation, he may cry out, "Lord, save us, we perish!"

At such times we are to look to Jesus, the Author and Finisher of our faith, that He may support our faith within us and give us the victory over the world.

And will He give us the victory over the world? Yes, again, to Jesus Christ is the only person ever born into this world who in His power conquered every foe that ever rose against Him. Born amid circumstances so discouraging that scarcely any one else was born under more unfavorable conditions in a filthy stable, under suspicion of being an illegitimate child. He lived a life of poverty, not having as much as the wild birds of the air, the foxes have a place where to lay their heads, and died as painful and shameful a death as any one ever endured. And yet, this Man is the only one whose banner and ensign has ever ceased to move forward in this world and whose followers have continued to grow and are still growing, and whose words, spoken by His mere breathless endurance and are now widely read and respected than those of any other man. Indeed, the day is drawing nearer and nearer when every knee shall bow before Him and every tongue confess that He is the Lord, to the glory of God the Father.

Every weapon has been tried against him—force, money, slander, treachery, perversion. There is no earthly power of power of hell, no deceit and falsehood of earth or hell, that has not been tried against Jesus. And yet He is victorious, and He promises to overcome of His believers, disciples and followers, the greatest victory over all foes, a kingdom, a crown, a throne, and an inheritance—unconquerable, undimmed, and that fadeeth not away.

To know Jesus, to know His life to believe in Him, to trust Him for righteousness, for guidance, and for victory over all foes, even over death, that is what the world needs, and above all things, my dear reader, that is what you need, that is what I need, you need it in the day of your trial, and you need it much more in THE BRIGHT DAY. For all history and experience, together with the Word of God itself, show us that the bright days, the days when all seems well with us, when fortune smiles and prosperity surrounds us, are the most dangerous days of all.

Let us be sure therefore above all things, first and foremost, to live our lives, to enter this new year and to continue in it, face to face with Jesus, trusting in His mercy, who sacrificed all for us, and trusting in His power, who raised Himself from the "dug-hill" of Bethlehem's stable to a name that is above every name and to the throne, not only of a king, but to the throne of the King of Kings and Lord of Lords.

When mealtime comes, my husband is very healthy; but when the meal is done and the dishes are to be washed, he gets sick and has to take a nap. N. W. B.
