

MASONS AND O. E. S. HONOR SELECT GROUP

Members of Long Standing Are Guests at Dinner Friday

To do honor to their members of longest standing the members of Orient chapter, No. 77, of O. E. S. and the Northville lodge, No. 184, P. & A. M., held a gathering Friday evening which was one of the big events of their year.

The company sat down to a delicious cooperative dinner planned and directed by Mrs. Edith Strantz. The tables were attractive with cut flowers and the dinner was the occasion of very pleasant sociability. Daughters of members assisted in serving.

Referring to the chapter room after dinner a program of unusual interest was carried out. Worshipful Master Chub J. Smith and Worshipful Master Vance Masters were presiding officers. Mr. Smith welcomed the company and called the names of those brothers who have been Masons for fifty years or more.

Their names and the number of years in Masonry are: Alexander B. McCullough, 67 years; Spencer Clark, 53; T. G. Richardson, 57; James L. Monroe, 54; Charles Sessions, 52; Dean Griswold, 50; Herbert D. Dean, 50; Frank Hamilton, 50; John W. Dolph, 50; Phil Clark, 49; Frank M. Perrin, 48; Aloise Sessions, 46; Harry A. Bore, 46; Delores Leavenworth, 45; Dr. August T. Holcomb, 43; Louis P. VanValkenburgh, 44; George M. Pickett, 44; Bert C. Clark, 44; Samuel J. Wilkinson, 40.

With appropriate remarks Mrs. Masters spoke with appreciation of the faithful members of Orient chapter who had been members many years. The only two present were Mrs. Flora Babbitt and Mrs. Emma Stark, both of whom were charter members and life members.

The other are: Miss Evelyn Boyce, Mrs. Allie Phillips, Mrs. Bert Stark, Mrs. Olga Yerkes, Mrs. Elizabeth Wheeler, Mrs. Ida Joslin, Mrs. Zoe Power and Mrs. Mary Robinson.

Attorney Wm. E. Kirby of Highland Park was introduced by Worshipful Master Smith and he stirred his hearers with a very comprehensive talk on the importance of Masonry throughout history. Mr. Kirby maintained that religion has been held intact through the years by the brotherhood of Masonry which has been made of so many varied creeds.

A travelogue with moving pictures illustrating a tour from Traverse City on across Canada, proved a highly entertaining conclusion to this program.

Community singing led by Orlow G. Owen, with Mrs. Katherine Johnston at the piano, put everyone in a pleasant mood for the program which followed.

NEW HI-SPEED CHECK CHART SYSTEM WINS MOTORISTS' FAVOR

Hi-Speed's exclusive Check Chart system has won favor with hundreds of Northville motorists because of its accuracy and speed, states Maylon O. Hinman, manager of the station located here on the corner of Main street and North Wing streets.

The check chart system provides for lubrication by factory specifications, says Mr. Hinman, and a reminder of the approximate time for new lubrication is mailed to each of the Hi-Speed customers.

Extra service for which there is no charge, says Mr. Hinman, includes checking and filling with air all tires, checking the battery, filling the radiator with water, and cleaning windows.

THE E. M. B. FOOD MARKET INSTALLS A NEW MEAT GRINDER

The E. M. B. Food Market has just doubled its meat grinding capacity. The installation of a latest type of Hobart electrical driven cutter turned the trick.

E. M. Bogart, the big boss of the E. M. B. store, says that the new machine will turn out eight pounds of ground meat in sixty seconds. The new machine is in keeping with the up-to-date equipment that is found in the Food Market.

ARTHUR S. NICHOLS WILL BE CANDIDATE FOR JUSTICE OF PEACE

Arthur S. Nichols has announced himself as a candidate for Justice of Peace of Northville township on the Republican ticket. It is generally believed an attorney should hold that office, say the friends of Mr. Nichols.

NORTHVILLE TEAM PLAYS IN COURT TOURNAMENT AT YPSI

H. S. Quintel, First Meets Sacred Heart of Dearborn

This week-end the Northville high school basketball team plays at Ypsilanti in the district tournament at the Central high school gymnasium. There will be eight class C teams playing. Last night (Thursday) Northville was to play Sacred Heart of Dearborn at 6:30 p. m.

The eight teams in class C include Belleville, Roosevelt of Ypsilanti, Romulus, Lincoln Consolidated, of Ypsilanti, Northville, University High of Ann Arbor, and Saline.

If Northville wins the first game they will meet the winner of the University High-Saline game at 8:30 p. m. Friday and should they win this game they will then meet the winner of the other bracket of play in the final game at 8 o'clock Saturday evening.

Northville finished third in the suburban league, with Farmington and Trenton tying for first.

P. T. A. WILL HEAR FISH STORY MAR. 8

Parents are especially urged to attend the meeting of the Parent-Teachers' association to be held in the high school on the evening of Thursday, March 8, when an unusual treat will be in store.

Dennis Strong, secretary of the Detroit Y. M. C. A., a man who has had years of experience in the problems of youth, will be the speaker. His theme will be a very unique one—"The Big Fish Just Awaits." Between now and the date of the meeting may be guessing what the "big fish" means. If you are a good fish story with a real point you had better be on hand.

Mr. Strong has the reputation of being an especially forceful, interesting speaker, one of the best in the Detroit Council of Parent-Teachers' associations. Fathers should make an extra effort to be present on March 8.

The annual election of officers will take place at the business session.

O. E. S. MASONIC BALL TO BE HELD ON MARCH 23RD

Northville townspeople and those of surrounding villages are eagerly awaiting the Eastern Star-Masonic Ball which will be held Friday evening, March 23.

Those planning to attend may be assured of a fine party with an eight piece orchestra furnishing music for the event. Light refreshments will be served during the evening.

The price of admission will be one dollar a couple.

SERVICE LEAGUE

The members of the Service League of the Methodist Episcopal church will hold a regular meeting Tuesday evening, March 6, at the home of Mrs. William Liebetreu on Grace avenue. All members are urged to attend.

Those planning to attend may be assured of a fine party with an eight piece orchestra furnishing music for the event. Light refreshments will be served during the evening.

The price of admission will be one dollar a couple.

Bowling League Winners Honored At Big Banquet Given by Bob Lee At The Meadowbrook Inn, Friday

"And a goodly crowd was there—approximately 50 members of the bowling fraternity in Northville attended the House League banquet sponsored at the Meadowbrook Inn on Ten Mile road by Bob Lee, head of the Recreation bowling alleys, Friday evening.

There were speeches, an appetizing fish dinner, refreshments, and good entertainment including a four piece ladies' band and a pair of peppy tap dancers that drew enthusiastic rounds of applause again and again from the audience.

Seated around a long table the assembly sat down to dinner with all of the rally that good fellowship brings to a group of 50 or more bowlers. The talk ran to "spliffs" and "strikes" with a sprinkling of "back-up" balls and other mysterious technical phrases known only to bowlers. This one dragged a little and immediately his neighbor topped his story with one that was just a little bit better. This one told of his hard luck and another smothered his excuses with a laugh.

During the course of the dinner the maestro himself, none other than the genial Bob Lee, was called upon to give a speech.

"I'm glad that you all had a good time," said Bob, "and I want you

ONLY $151 OF SCHOOL SCRIP UN-REDEEMED

The Year Will Be Completed Without Further Issue

The Northville school district issued approximately $8,000 in scrip last summer to take care of expenses accruing during the summer and early fall and now, after only about six months, all but $151.13 have been redeemed. Exactly $7,978.87 in scrip was issued.

According to statements from Russell H. Amerman, superintendent of schools, the scrip was issued last summer in the community to pay for current expenses in the school district, and was not due for redemption until next August.

Through the payment of an unexpected amount of delinquent taxes it was possible for the school officials to pay off nearly all of the scrip issue. The last redemption of approximately $1,400, announced this week, will leave a balance of approximately $150, which from past experience, should soon be redeemed.

"At the present," stated Mr. Amerman, "the outlook is splendid. I think that we'll be able to complete the school year without issuing any more scrip or otherwise borrowing money."

Under the Emergency School Aid fund which increases the amount of money granted the school, and known as primary money, the Northville school district will receive an appropriation March 1. This money is being granted as a result of the additional 15 million dollars made for state school aid.

This latest issue of scrip included all of the sales in scrip which are five dollar quantities and the notes in Series "A" from number 1 to 3,495. The money is now at the Depositors State bank waiting to be claimed by holders of the scrip.

WOMAN'S CLUB

The Northville Woman's club will be hostesses to the Farmington Woman's club this afternoon (Friday), when Mrs. J. H. McCall of Detroit will speak on world events that are happening. There will be special music with a social time and tea, concluding the afternoon. Miss Ethel MacFadyen, school in the Woodward Avenue Presbyterian church, will sing two groups of songs, accompanied by Mrs. Sherman, also of Detroit.

WORLD WIDE GUILD GIRLS WORK FOR WHITE CROSS

The World Wide Guild Girls, under the direction of Mrs. Nagy, are making articles for the White Cross. Dolls are being dressed and put aside for the White Cross use. All Guild Girls please meet next Friday at 4:00 o'clock, at Mrs. Nagy's.

TO NORTHVILLIANS IN FLORIDA

Northville sends winter good wishes to all its sons and daughters enjoying the sunshine and balmy breezes down in Florida.

Greetings to you all. To these we send our congratulations for having missed the most honest-to-gosh February written in the Northville history books for nearly a half a century.

Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Bunn, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Corrin, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hall, Miss Lena Kohler, Miss Goldie Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Langfield, Miss Ella Lockwood, Mrs. Stewart Montgomery and son, Scott, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Pardee, Mrs. Mae Rhodes, T. G. Richardson, Fred Simmons, Mrs. Mary Yerkes, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. N. Sessions and daughter, Ruth, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Seeley, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Yerkes, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Yerkes and children and Miss Hazel Gordukes.

Friends, you have certainly this winter gotten your money's worth for going to Florida. You have missed a February during which on nine days and nights the temperature went down to zero. You have missed one night when the mercury fell to 20 below and you dodged several other days when the reading was five and ten below zero.

But, Northvillians, down in the Southland, March is now here and it came in yesterday in a mild manner, with cloudy skies and temperature not far below freezing. A fine Michigan spring is in the offing. "We'll be seeing you in April or May."

MURPHY PRESIDES AT DEMOCRAT MEET

Approximately 250 members and friends of the Roosevelt Democratic club for the suburban district of Wayne county met for a dinner and program at the Mayflower hotel in Plymouth, Monday night. Elmer B. O'Hara, county clerk, was the chief speaker of the evening. The meeting was presided over by M. J. Murphy.

Mr. Murphy, who is a well known figure in the community, made a speech in which he emphasized the importance of the club and the need for clean politics, and explained fully the best tax situation.

These meetings, which will be held from time to time, will enlighten the members of the club on various political questions.

NATIONAL OFFICER TO VISIT EXCHANGE CLUB HERE MARCH 7

Herold M. Barter, national secretary of Exchange clubs and in charge of the administration of the organization's national headquarters at Toledo, Ohio, will be the honored guest and speaker at the National Recovery meeting to be held by the local Exchange club here on Wednesday, March 7, as part of the Exchange Club National Recovery tour, announces Charles A. Dolph, local club secretary.

The tour, which was launched on October 1 and will continue until every Exchange club in the United States has been personally contacted by the national secretary, is one of the three major phases of the comprehensive national recovery program adopted by the recent 17th annual National Exchange club convention at Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

In addition to the tour, the National Recovery program embraces active cooperation with the National Recovery administration and the National Recovery crusade, both of which will bring untold benefit to the entire locality. This threefold program for economic and civic recovery already has developed into the most stupendous project ever undertaken in the history of the Exchange.

Under the national recovery tour, which will keep National Secretary Barter on the road for many months, every Exchange club town and city from coast to coast and from the Great Lakes to the Gulf, will be brought the constructive message of the national convention.

During the afternoon of his visit here, the national secretary will confer with club officers and other members of the board of control, past presidents, committee chairmen, and other club leaders. This club service conference will be devoted exclusively to a discussion of club functioning problems and plans for the future.

BAKE SALE—March 3. The Methodist Ladies' Aid society will hold a bake sale at Lyke's hardware store. All members are asked to contribute.

FAMILIES ROUTED BY LEAKING GAS

Occupants of several homes in Orchard Heights were routed Tuesday night by gas from leaking mains. The gas was found to be coming from a main that had been cut by a car wheel. The gas was found to be coming from a main that had been cut by a car wheel.

OTIS TEWKSBURY AND ALBERT LOWRY ARE VETERAN NEWSBOYS

A cold, creaking winter morning. Sparks of dusky smoke rising in the frosty air from Northville chimneys. Shivering forms swathed in tan robes make a "high drive" from many a doorway after a frozen milk bottle and the morning paper lying outside.

And where did this paper come from? Two hours before, while most of Northville was turning over in snug blankets for one more snooze, a high school boy still in his teens, was tumbling out of bed to the tune of an alarm clock and hurrying out on his paper route.

For seven years, with scarcely a break, young Otis Tewksbury has been carrying the Detroit Free Press to his patrons. Rain, ice, blizzards, balmy summer dawns—it's all the same to this plucky boy who is on a bike when the snow is not too deep on his legs when drifts are high. On Sunday's he drives Dad's car.

No warning does young Otis need to be thrifty. He hasn't he jingled his own cash in his "jeans" for seven years buying his own clothes and paying his school expenses.

Otis will graduate from high school in June with a good record, and has had time to train as a track man.

Equally commendable for faithfulness is Albert Lowry, also a high school senior, who has carried an afternoon route for the same number of years, earning his own expenses. These two boys are the veteran newsboys of the village, but their manager, Vere Sonnenburg, boasts of a pretty steady gang who are unusually dependable. Four Parmenter brothers, Alfred, Robert, Lawrence and Raymond, are all in the game with Dick and Sydney Junod, Jack Shubert, Jack Trinkl, and a great many others who have had their beginning with a bunch of papers under their arm.

REPUBLICANS HOLD BANQUET THIS EVENING

Philip Neudeck and Capt. Denniston Will Be Speakers

Northville Republicans will hold a good fellowship banquet this evening (Friday) at the Presbyterian church house beginning at 6:30 o'clock.

The banquet is sponsored by the Northville Community Republican club headed by Supervisor William A. Ely, and the banquet arrangements are in charge of Elmer L. Smith, township clerk, Charles Scholick and Mrs. Wm. Sefford.

Philip Neudeck, Wayne county assessor prosecuting attorney, will be the main speaker of the evening and Capt. Edward Denniston, head of the Detroit House of Correction, will also give an address.

Further entertainment will include a program of vocal selections by "The Elfers." This trio is composed of Miss Gertrude Dea, Miss Florence Johnson, and Miss Eleanor Grosvener, who have made a success of their songs at several local events.

Tickets for the banquet are 35 cents each and can be obtained from any member of the committee in charge or from either the Northville drug company or from Horton's drug store.

MARIE L'ANCOVE HEARD IN RECITAL

The drawing room of the Mayflower hotel was filled to capacity Wednesday evening to hear the youthful pianist, Marie L'Ancove, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Ancove, in a piano recital.

Although Marie is only eleven years old, her playing was of a high order and her technique was of a high order. Her playing was of a high order and her technique was of a high order.

Additional attraction to the program was the giving of solos rendered by Miss B. Horton with her rich contralto.

Mr. and Mrs. Ancove are receiving the congratulations of their friends on the talent manifested by their young daughter.

Dr. A. T. Holcomb of Novi Makes Great Record of Service in His 50 Years as Country Physician

To have ministered to the sick for a whole half century and to still be the "young strong" is the enviable record of Dr. A. T. Holcomb of Novi.

There is no one quite so close to the community's heart as the old family physician who has welcomed into the world hundreds of "fellow grown to manhood and womanhood and has listened to the woes of two generations. Dr. Holcomb is a native of Canada and is one of three brothers who have followed the medical profession. He attended the Collegiate Institute at St. Catharines, Ont. Later he came to Detroit and was a student in the Detroit College of Medicine and Surgery and finally received his degree from the Western Reserve University, Cleveland, O.

His first "shingle" was hung out in Shawansee county and many a thrilling tale can the doctor tell of these early days up in that new frontier.

No pavements in those days and that part of the country and with horse and buggy he had to drive over clay roads in muddy weather or through almost impassable snow drifts in winter. Sometimes they were impassable but the doctor always used his ingenuity and "traded the grade" by some means and reached his patient.

It was while practicing in Judds Corners in Shawansee county that Dr. Holcomb met and married Miss E. May Hartshorn on August 6, 1888. She has been his life companion throughout the intervening years.

Here were born their son, August A., and daughter, May, now Mrs. K. H. Ebbott of Northville.

PAUL STEENCKEN IS COMING HOME AFTER NAVY LIFE

N. H. S. Grad Is Expected in Northville Next Month

When the expressman stopped at the door of Mrs. Joseph Hoeft one day last week leaving a wooden box labelled "San Pedro, Calif.," her heart skipped a few beats. It must mean that her son, Paul, was coming home.

Paul Steencken has been in the United States naval service for the past three years, with headquarters at the California seaport, San Pedro. In all this time he has not been off duty to visit home.

Small wonder then that his mother spent most of the day looking eagerly down the road and in between trips to the window basking those good things that Paul had best if she had had a "fatted calf" she would have killed it.

The sun went down. Paul did not come that day, but very soon came word that he had been transferred to Norfolk, Va., and after his discharge would return home next month.

Graduating from Northville high school in the class of 1930, Paul Steencken is now twenty-one years of age. He has made a fine record in the navy with the rank of second class seaman.

In swimming contests he won three medals. He hopes to go to college to study electrical engineering.

BAPTISTS RESPOND WITH GENEROUS GIFT

Sunday was an important day in the history of the local Baptist church when Stewardship Sunday was observed.

At the morning worship the pastor, Rev. Kendall S. North, spoke on the subject, "Our Atonement." At noon the whole congregation was invited to join in a cooperative family dinner.

At 3 o'clock the congregation gathered in the auditorium to listen to Rev. J. D. Crompton, pastor of the Coronado Baptist church at Bedford, delivered an address, "The Joy of Giving." The Plymouth Baptist made a generous contribution.

So effective were the messages on the subject of giving that they evoked a hearty response in the hearts of the people, judging by their contribution of $100 to apply on the church debt. This all-day meeting proved to be a stimulus to the whole membership.

BOTH PARTIES IN TOWNSHIP TO NOMINATE

Republicans and Democrats Will Hold Caucuses Monday

Voters of Northville township will have the privilege of voting for a complete ticket in either the republican or democratic column this year. Both parties are holding caucuses Monday, March 5, at the village hall, the republicans meeting at 2:30 p. m. in the afternoon and the democrats meeting in the evening at 7:30.

For over a quarter of a century, up until last year, republicans had little opposition, but this year the democrats promise them competition and plenty of it. They say that they will name a full ticket Monday.

Meanwhile several prominent Northville citizens are being mentioned as democratic "material." There is a rumor that M. J. Murphy will be a candidate for township clerk, but Mr. Murphy refuses to make a statement. Dr. E. B. Cavel says that he might run for supervisor. Mrs. Lillian Blake may be a candidate for township treasurer, but she too, refuses to commit herself. The democrats are keeping their plans a secret until after their caucus.

All present incumbents will again be candidates on the republican ticket. The present officials are: W. A. Ely, supervisor; Elmer Smith, clerk; Mrs. Jennie Cramer, treasurer; E. A. Kehler, highway commissioner; Wellington Roberts, justice of the peace; C. L. Dubur, member of the board of review; Guy Martin, highway overseer, and Philip Donohue, Frank Perrin and the Trifles committee. The present justice of the peace are Wellington Roberts, Harold White, Dean Griswold, Harry Blake.

Arthur S. Nichols has announced himself as a candidate for Justice of Peace of Northville township on the Republican ticket. It is generally believed an attorney should hold that office, say the friends of Mr. Nichols.

With a record of 100 per cent. in the last election, the democrats are looking for a number of tickets to hold to Northville over a year ago and the long here are since graduate of Northville high school.

RECREATION LEAGUE REPEATS SCHE AT HIGH

The Recreation League repeated the first night of the high school and last Thursday at the high school and last Thursday at the high school.

Agagelines is continuing in the lead in the Recreation basketball league at the half way mark and it looks as if none of the other teams will be able to overtake the Service-men. Last Thursday they easily disposed of their last foe, the Record office, by a score of 32 to 12. Bob McCordie led the victors scoring 13 points. Rifenburg counted six for the Newspermen.

Two Pines outplayed the Maybury Sanatorium team and won easily 44 to 17. Alex Johnson scored 18 points for the winners.

Dodge, forward, scored 9 points for the Men's Shop as it defeated the Salem quintet 16 to 10.

In last night's games the Men's Shop met Twin Pines at 7 p. m. Salem was to play Casterline's at 8 p. m. and the Record met Maybury Sanatorium at 9.

At the conclusion of this schedule the four teams in the first four places will be eligible for a chance in the play-off.

MRS. EDWARD PORTER DIES IN BAY CITY

Mrs. Jennie Wendenburg has restored the world of the death of Mrs. Edward Porter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jackson Welch, who passed away at her home in Bay City, Saturday morning, Feb. 24. Mr. Porter is an attorney in that city.

Mr. and Mrs. Welch will be remembered as pioneer residents of this vicinity. Mrs. Porter was the eldest of three children, a son, Chas. takes pride in the prizes taken at the state fair. Content and happy in good health and refusing to retire from the practice he loves, Dr. Holcomb bids fair to serve his fellowmen for years to come.

The Record joins with all of his friends in best wishes for continued years of health and activity.

"STAY AT HOME" NIGHT

We know of a family where one evening a week is religiously devoted to "family night." Its hours are set apart for the members of the family, father and mother and children, to enjoy together. What good sense! When the years have drifted the parents and children apart, what sacred memories will cluster around the thoughts of those "family nights" together. These memories will be priceless.

All too short are these days of the children at home. If we could only step on the coat tails of Father Time and say: "Stop," how gladly would we do it.

WEATHER NOTE

In our last issue we had a little weather note, written on Friday, February 15, telling how lovely the day was—bright sunshine, birds singing, tra-la-la.

Well, when the Record came out and people read that editorial last Friday, they must have smiled. And we can't blame them. Northville was again in the grip of a near-zero cold wave. Snow was on the ground and bitter winds were howling around the corners.

So all we can say is: Michigan weather is like a woman. It has "infinite variety" and no two days are alike. With all its temperamental ways, (still like the woman) we love it still.

FRED W. GREEN TAKES FINE STAND

The announcement of former governor, Fred W. Green, that he will not be a candidate for the United States Senate against Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, will make the local leader stronger than ever among his host of republican friends in Michigan. And further, his announcement that he will back the candidacy of Frank D. Fitzgerald for governor, will also make for unity among the republicans. Green believes that it is time that republicans "got together" and presented a united front. That is correct. There is every indication of a republican comeback this fall if the republicans forget their petty quarrels.

THE SELFISH MAN.

We heard two men talking about a certain selfish person.

Both agreed that the man or woman who thinks solely of self loses a lot of life and not only that, but spoils a lot of fun for others. Both agreed that selfishness never pays in the long run but that the selfish person loses out eventually. On the other hand they said that the unselfish individual finds many good things poured into his lap—while he modestly wonders how they got there.

Having seen a number of deeply-dyed selfish folks during our life, we agreed with the couple we heard talking. The selfish person "misses the goal"—what greater tragedy than that? And the person who thinks first of others finds life sweet and fine, to the very end.

THE DEATH OF CONGRESSMAN HOOPER

It was with a touch of personal grief that the writer read last Friday morning of the sudden death of Congressman Joseph L. Hooper of Battle Creek. He was "our" congressman when we lived in Albion and he had earned us with his fine personal life and his splendid oratory.

Rep. Hooper died of a heart attack after making a defense of Col. Chas. A. Lindbergh. He was only 56 years of age, which emphasizes again how many men drop out of life when they should have left many years of service. In the case of Congressman Hooper, he had definitely announced that he would not be a candidate for his sixth term. Perhaps he had a personal health problem and planned to leave the strenuous public life in order to live longer. Certainly he could not have closed his splendid career in a finer way than he did, in the defense of the nation's hero, Lindbergh.

Dr. Arthur H. Harrop, a member of the faculty of Albion college, a great student of government and an outstanding speaker, will be one of the strong contestants for the place.

THE LESSON OF LENT

We could banish every thought of depression from this great country of ours if every community could be transformed by the spirit of Lent. This is a strong statement but true.

Graft, dishonesty, meanness, selfishness, indecency—these are the rocks that line the road to a new prosperity. Our old standards of integrity have broken down and we have to double lock our houses to keep our silverware. In Detroit, stealing has even become so defiant that sometimes whole houses are torn down and carried away—and no one stops them.

Catholics and protestants alike are devoting these days of Lent to the spiritual considerations of life. Of course the observance on the part of many is perfunctory and formal. But a vast majority of the thousands who are going to the churches or listening to the radio services are moved by a real spirit of devotion.

Give men and women everywhere the Golden Rule in their lives and our rampant lawlessness will disappear. Crime and vice spring from men's hearts. And in the same way, honesty, well doing and well acting and personal righteousness arise from motives that are within. If this country could have a revival of Lenten fervor it would do more for the country than all the PWAs, CWAs and AAAs put together. The "Kingdom of Heaven is within you." So also is the "kingdom of evil." Change men's hearts and you will change a nation.

ARE TWO BATH ROOMS A LUXURY?

Speaking of bath rooms—we had to wait in line this morning (Friday) for our morning shave—who is there to say that two bath rooms in a house is treason? "If you ever build a house," says a friend, "by all means put in two bath rooms—you will find it one of the finest investments you ever made."

True, most of us older folks grew up without any bath room and all the plumbing was outdoors. Well do we remember during our high school days at 924 Pine street, Port-Huron, that we took our weekly bath out in a cold annex back of the warm kitchen. And when we entered those waters they were in the good old family wash tub. And we never had the use of a modern bath room until we went to college.

Why not two bath rooms—if your family has any size at all? The two of them probably could be installed for a little more than the price of the family car. And they will last a lot longer and give more satisfaction than a half dozen automobiles.

Speaking of bath rooms and furnaces, we never could figure out why more farmers do not install them. We have known many farmer-friends who had money "out at interest" who refused to spend the few hundred dollars that would have made their homes as comfortable as those of the folks in the city. We have sometimes wondered if this were not the reason that some young folks have left the farm.

One way to bring back better times would be to put in more bath rooms and furnaces. The nation, the statisticians tell us, is still short about ten millions or twenty millions of each.

WANDERING THOUGHTS

Keep up your insurance. Last year 45,000 men died after giving up their insurance. What a tragedy for the families.

We hope that those folks who have been making disparaging remarks about Col. Chas. A. Lindbergh heard the remarkable tribute that Will Rogers paid him in his radio talk Sunday evening.

We are going to hold this against the winter of 1931: It killed our peach buds. How would you like to be a fruit grower and see hundreds of dollars wiped out in a few nights of below zero weather?

A news item from last Friday's Detroit Free Press, dated Feb. 22—led by Lawrence Bailey, senior and athlete, 155-lb. high school pupils petitioned the Village Council to ban sale of beer and liquor in the village.

Most of these young folks have been hearing about what beer gardens in Detroit have done to the boys and girls of that city.

Your chances of being wrecked or run into by a drunken driver are 45 per cent greater than they were a year ago," says Wm. H. Berkey, of The Cassopolis Vigilant, one of the state's most level-headed country editors. Mr. Berkey got his figures from the office of the secretary of state. Wait until one or two people in every community are killed or injured by drunken drivers and then watch the reaction against liquor.

We find this in a trade journal that comes to our desk:

"Take Time To Live":

"Time to love and be loved, for love is the greatest thing in the world;

"Time to loaf and dream, and grow a great soul;

"Time for service; time to be a good neighbor, and to help make our community a better place in which to live;

"Time for music that washes away from the soul the dust of everyday life.

"Time for worship, for the spiritual stimulus of being in tune with the Infinite.

"Yes, let us take time to live. Let us pray as did Matthew Arnold, 'Calm, calm me more nor let me die before I have begun to live.'"

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION

What are you doing for your home town?

WHAT OTHER EDITORS ARE THINKING ABOUT

WILL YOU DO IT FOR THE HOME TOWN?

(Wm. E. Canfield in The Livingston County Press, Howell)

If you want the place in which you live to be a place in which it is good to live, it is up to you to do all you can to make it so. If you do all you can to make it a good place to live and the other fellow does the same, then no one will need to complain. To do that though, you will have to be loyal to it, stick to it and fight for it. But that is only a part of it; you'll also have to do a great deal of hard work for it.

PICKARD GIVES WARNING

(Frank Byrce in Grand Lodge Independent)

Frank Pickard, who is chairman of the Liquor Control Commission, made a pretty stiff statement last Saturday. He said the repeal of the 18th amendment was full of dynamite and that every effort was being made by the old powers to bring back the conditions which existed before the 18th amendment was enacted and he made this significant pronouncement: "The Liquor Commission is fighting to keep the business clean." Pickard said, "If we can't, then I, despite the fact that I am a wet, will be one of hundreds of thousands of other wets who will vote to bring back prohibition."

TEAM VS. TRACTOR

(R. D. Gifford in Eaton Rapids Journal)

A good practical farmer that we know bought a team for $300 a few years ago, when his neighbor bought a tractor for $3,000.00. The "horse farmer" has made a consistent profit out of his farm, even during the depression; and his team is as efficient today as when he bought it. The "tractor farmer" is broke—too much capital invested for the possible earning power of the land. The tractor is on the scrap heap.

BEER JOINTS IN A COLLEGE TOWN

(Schuyler Marshall in The Clinton County Republican News)

Lloyd Olds, athletic director at Ypsilanti State Normal, was in the office last Saturday and said that investigation of beer joints in Ypsilanti revealed some very bad conditions. A high school girl was attacked by some men and this caused a furor. If men, women, boys and girls are allowed to mingle in a drinking place where dancing is allowed and bedrooms are available, there can be but one result. In Chicago a number of residential sections will vote on local option at the coming April primary election.

SQUARE SHOOTING

(Fred Keister in Ionia County News)

The loud mouths, who have been going about the state claiming that it took "cash on the line" to do business with the Liquor Control Commission, have taken to their dugouts since the news became broad-cast that Chairman Picard was preparing to bribe, charges of criminal slander against them. Any man who can supervise the liquor traffic on the largest scale in state history, and at the same time maintain a fine reputation for honest dealing, is a credit to Michigan. Society could use a few more men of that particular type.

A STRANGE STORY

(B. Theodore H. Millington in Birmingham Eclectic)

"I had a store on the main street, a Mason, Rotamen a church member, a bank stockholder, a bank depositor, owned his own home free and clear, had a few thousand dollars out on mortgages, etc. and a good many accounts on his books. One from people he had known all his life. These accounts had accumulated during the panic. He had been one of those solid middle-class persons whose aggregate number makes the real backbone of America."

Then came the bank panic and his bank went with the rest. His deposit was tied up against his double stock liability, which was more than he could pay except by collecting in his bank accounts, and his loans. But his debtors could not pay. When he tried to press them renege of them said something about wheat-futures, then he could not understand—but he got no more.

The bank closing meant an assessment against him for his stock liability and he lost his business. The newspapers were full of stuff about gold dollars, silver dollars, paper dollars, printing press money, revaluation of the dollar, 50 cent dollar, etc., none of which he understood very well but it looked to him like a new scheme for avoiding just payments of debts.

The one thing he was sure of was that he had been a good citizen. He had always supported every good public movement, always paid his debts, had been frugal, and the trouble he now was in was none of his making. It hurt him to realize that the people whom he had been glad to befriend by loans and credit in the past now said he was a hard and inhuman capitalist, if he could only collect a fourth of what was owing to him he could pay the bank and save his house, which was now going to be put up for sale.

He wanted to pay the bank in full regardless of the sacrifices it might cost him. That, he felt, was a stockholder's plain and simple duty to the depositors. But why honest people publicly, and without shame, could favor paying honest debts with 50 cent dollars, paper currency or printing press money, he could not well understand. He was sure that either himself or everybody else had gone stark crazy.

A knock on the door startled him. When he opened it, there stood his boyhood friend shouting a lusty greeting. This friend now proceeded to relate how, after the war, he had gone West and eventually drifted into gold mining. He had saved up his gold for several years till he could get enough to fork back and build a house next door to his old friend. It had been slow and hard work, but lately he had heard that gold was much higher in price, so he had decided to come out. He had sold his gold at the Federal Reserve in Denver for nearly twice what he had expected, and had a Chicago draft for $10,000 in his pocket.

So he said, "I want to buy that lot of yours next door. I believe your price was $2,000. I will pay you that and begin to build right away."

The old man realized that this gold miner knew nothing of the depression, but his native honesty compelled him to inform him about it and that, owing to present conditions, he would be glad to sell the lot for $500.

To this proposition, the miner turned with sorrow and said:

"What do you think I am? When I get twice as much money for the gold as it was worth just because some professor in Washington had gone nutty, is that any reason I should cheat an old friend? Your lot is just as good to me now as it was 15 years ago and you have paid taxes on it all the time besides. I would have paid you $2,000 then, if I had the money, and now that I have it I will pay the same price."

At this, the old man's face took on a strange expression. His eyes had a bewildered look and his voice trembled as he replied:

"You say you will pay me $2,000 for the lot when I offer it for $500? Other people say if they ever pay me what they owe, they will pay with 50 cent dollars. You must be crazy, too. My wife is dead, my children are gone, grown and married. I have lost everything. I have gone crazy and now my good old boyhood friend has gone crazy, too. I have nothing more to live for."

Fumbling under the pile of papers and magazines on the table filled with articles on money and banking which he had been reading and trying to understand, he produced an automatic revolver and before the thinner could stop him, he put a bullet through his own head and fell dead.

So died the respectable middle-class man, the backbone of our civilization, the burden bearer of taxes, of debt reductions, of church support, of charity donations, a savings depositor and a government bond buyer, solid, dependable, reliable and honorable. Was he to blame for his troubles? To him, two and two no longer seemed make four.

This type of citizen includes every kind of professional man, salaried official, farmer and wage earner who is frugal, conservative and living within his means. So, in our desire to lighten the debt load for the debtor, let us not forget the unorganized, stolid, helpful, kindly middle-class lest we destroy that element of our civilization which saved up the money which the debtors borrowed, spent and now no longer can pay in full.

Song of the Politician

I smile now gleefully
The sun shines every day to me,
I shake the hand of all I meet,
My happiness is quite complete.
I say hello to young and old
All men to me are great and bold
I listen to all they have to say,
And agree they will be great some day.

A man I know is dreading the Thought of spring weather. He has
A brand new car and is very much Afraid the damp spring days will Cause his car to have rheumatism
In the knees.

We understand that the brain
Trust has finally decided that one
Of the next things that we can
Look forward to with a great deal
Of certainty is the coming of spring.

A man I know was walking to Work one fine spring morning. He Was feeling fine. It seemed to him
That he had never enjoyed the walk
So much in his life. The birds were Singing in the trees, the sun was Shining brightly, everyone felt happy.

As he passed people they looked at him and waved, enthusiastically.
Everyone seemed to know him. Men going by in cars waved and pointed he waved back and continued on his way. Finally, he thought, that all
Of these people are so happy, guess
It's just the weather.

Another man went by and he was Waving frantically and pointing just Then he was thinking of the raspberry bushes he was going to plant that evening—so he waved back enthusiastically and pointed at the car.
He kept on walking toward the plant at which he was employed, he Sniffed a little, smoke, he thought
To himself, someone is cleaning out
The house. Spring is a great season.

He was nearly at the plant and
He could still smell the odor of burning leaves and cloth and everything
That could be taken out of the house.
That was another thing he had to Think about cleaning out the house.
Going toward him now a man
Stared very intently. Drawing closer
He noticed the man's coat.
"Look," he said, "your coat is on fire."

The man reached excitedly into his side pocket from where the smoke was coming, and extracted the smoke, of a cigar that he had been smoking during the noon hour. Spring is a great season.

"LITTLE WOMEN"

We saw "Little Women" on the screen the other evening. A Right out from the pages of the favorite story of our girlhood, Louisa M. Alcott's "Little Women," stepped our heroines and those of thousands of girls of two generations. Just as we had dreamed them, Meg, Jo Beth and Amy lived before us, played, worked, laughed and cried while always the beloved "Marmee" loomed in the background to make it a real home.

For weeks packed houses have been seeing this picture in our large-est cities. And what is the charm that makes this simple story such a favorite? No tragic scenes, no doubtful mysteries, no exciting love scenes. Critics say it is a tribute to the "deep-down fineness in human nature that they love this picture of a real home, wholesome to the core and true to life. It is the actual story of the lives of four Sisters who lived in a homely old brown house in New England.

Some years ago we went through this old house and found that some historical society had restored much of the furnishings used when the Alcott family lived there. Many tourists stop here in the course of the year to pay tribute to a story that had helped them over many a rough place in life.

In girlhood it was our big sister who read this to us and taught us to play we were these "Little Women." When hardships had to be gone through we remembered "Jo's" burned "breadth," her soiled gloves, her sacrificed hair, and we marched through our own embarrassment without flinching.

It is doubtful if there was ever a book written that did more to make folks appreciate sweet family relation. It places a halo around even the humblest home.

Not far from the old brown house in Concord, Mass., lie the four sisters. Nearby is the grave of the friend of their father, Ralph Waldo Emerson, marked by its simple uncut granite rock.

As we stood by the grave of Louisa
M. Alcott we felt like saying, "Thank you for giving us this true story, Jo."
We wish that all the moving pictures that our children must see were as wholesome as "Little Women."

WARNER NEAL WINS PLACE AS REPORTER ON MICHIGAN DAILY

F. Warner Neal, former editor of the Northville high school Orange and Black page, and part-time worker for The Record, has been appointed as a reporter on The Michigan Daily, the University of Michigan's official organ at Ann Arbor. It was announced this week.

An indefatigable worker, Warner is said to possess many of the qualities that made his father, P. S. Neal, a capable editor of The Record for many years. Warner is in his first year at the University and is paying his own expenses by working his way through.

Warner's first stories for the Daily have appeared in several of this week's issues.

Obituary

GEORGE F. NORDMAN

George F. Nordman, whose home was at 8317 Colfax avenue, Detroit, passed away last Thursday morning, Feb. 22, after an illness extending over a year. He was 68 years of age. Funeral services were held at the Harris funeral home in Detroit Saturday afternoon at one o'clock with burial in Rural Hill cemetery, Northville.

Mr. Nordman is survived by his wife, Sylvia C. Richardson, two daughters, Winifred and Mrs. Helen Auld, besides several brothers and sisters. Mrs. Nordman is a niece of T. G. Richardson of Northville and Marvin Bogart of Wixom.

MRS. NICHOLAS NEVISON

Following a period of illness and suffering for the past eight years Mrs. Nicholas Nevison passed away at her home on East Cady street, Wednesday morning.

Roslyn Connors was born in Ottawa, Quebec, in 1897. Forty-five years ago she was married to Nicholas Nevison and the new home was established in this village, where they have since been residents.

Northville will remember Mrs. Nevison best as the busy, faithful helpmate of her husband when he conducted the baking business for many years in the location now the site of the Depositors State bank. Here she served the public graciously, always greeting them with her customary good cheer.

Two daughters were born to Mr. and Mrs. Nevison, Hazel, who died in 1923, and Edna Nevison Monroe, a teacher in the Highland Park schools, who has spent much time with her mother during the years of invalidism.

For the past two years Mrs. Nevison has been cared for by Mrs. Eva Roberts of Ann Arbor.

Too busy for activity in outside matters during the years of her health, Mrs. Nevison devoted her time to her husband's work and to her children by whom she was repaid in unstinted love. A wide circle of friends were glad to enjoy the unselfish qualities in the character of Mrs. Nevison, who took greatest delight in doing "good deeds of kindness that most folks leave undone." She was a member of Our Lady of Victory church and of the Altar Society.

Of her patience during her suffering and years of partial helplessness, one friend, pay this tribute: "She had the sweetest disposition of anyone I ever knew, forgetting herself in her interest in others."

Beside her husband and one daughter, Mrs. Nevison is survived by one brother, Fred Johnson, of Detroit.

The funeral mass will be read at Our Lady of Victory church Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, with Rev. Fr. Jos. G. Schuler officiating, assisted by Rev. Fr. Frank C. LeFevre of Plymouth. Interment will be made in Rural Hill.

MRS. ALICE GARDNER

Mrs. Alice Gardner died Monday evening, Feb. 26, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Cora Dalley, in Redford. Death came without warning. Mrs. Gardner being in apparently her usual good health. She was well known in Northville, having visited frequently in the home of her daughter, while they were residents here. She is a sister of Earl J. Cobb.

The funeral was held Thursday, when after brief service at the home in Redford, the remains were taken to the church in Cherry Hill, the former home. A son, Ed. Boyer, was called from Omaha.

THE OTHER DAY

Miss "15"

We enjoyed immensely the humorous play given Monday evening by members of Mr. Lee's music group.

Eddie Angove was especially good at eating apples, fighting, and not giving a darn about the supposed family life.

Peggy Blake portrayed her part of the mother very well. Marjorie Turnbull was typically Irish and looked very lovely, especially in the last act. Henry Hoffman was equally as good in turning from a young man very conscious of his social position to one holding beefsteak over one eye after growing there, was Irish in him, also.

Evelyn Ambler showed her ability as the young banker's daughter and her father, Maurice Giles, was very good in his conquests with the widow, and countless played by Winifred McCordie, with her French accent, down that Charles Strautz as the count, who turned out to be a crook took the part naturally (we mean, the part of the count).

Alfred Parmenter, as Uncle Larry, a showman, was very good as he always is, in "funny" parts. Ralph Bogart, as Henry's rival, did nicely, and Ida Altman, as the Hawaiian dancer in Uncle Larry's show, and Eddie Angove's "sweetie pie" showed her ability to care for Eddie and "Schlappie," the dog. Mary Louise Boyden did well in the part of Sarah, the reluctant maid. We hope Mr. Lee directs another play soon.

We hear that Ruth Taylor is now employed at the Maybury sanatorium. Inga Stamann did write from Flint and tells us that she is having a splendid time and likes the young people there very much.

Catherine Stalter's father tells us that she has had some work in the operating room in her training at Western Reserve hospital and gets a big thrill from it. We believe Catherine is a born nurse and follows in the footsteps of her mother.

Bernice Clark came home last Saturday and informs us that she will spend next week-end at Michigan State and while there will attend the Delta Sigma Phi party in the company of Kenneth Wood.

Bobby Nichols was in town last week-end and also Tuesday. "Chucky" Menninger, a graduate of Northville high school and now studying at Michigan State college, stopped in Northville on his way to other places to see his pal, Geo. Beasley. Chuck's coming back next week-end too. The "hum town" gets in one's blood, must be.

This week's unanswerable question: Has "Doodle" Hyde the mumps? See you next week.

Will Rogers Will Be Seen at the Penniman-Allen Saturday Evening: "Son of Kong" Comes on March 7th

Declaring it to be the most poignant and human comedy he has had to date, an enthused Will Rogers will have the stellar part in "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington," the new Fox production to be shown Saturday, March 3, at the Penniman Allen theatre. The story by Ann Cameron, appeared in the Saturday Evening Post several years ago and is considered a classic of humorous writing.

Elaborate plans were made to make this film one of the most pretentious comedies of the screen, and from advance reports the film lives up to the expectations of the producers. Rogers, himself, who is acknowledged America's greatest humorist in all fields of expression endorses "Mr. Smith" as the most amusing situation that it has ever been his fortune to play in.

In the film he is cast as the heroically idealistic head of a family of six. Through a bank failure, he and his family are left penniless and put out of their home. He gathers up his tormented brood, puts them in a dilapidated car and speeds westward, hoping to secure a job in some other community. Extraordinary adventures with petty gambling and the trials and tribulations of migration from one auto camp to another constitute the comedy with pathos elements of the story.

A considerable part of the picture was filmed on location, with numerous auto camps and scenic spots as settings. Some of the splendidly employed as the background for the film are the spectacular eruptions of Old Faithful Geyser, the beauty of the falls and lake in Yellowstone Park, and the awe-inspiring magnificence of the Grand Canyon.

Heading the cast in support of Will Rogers, Zasu Pitts, the screen's foremost comedienne, plays the part of Rogers' wife. Other members of the cast noted for their careful selection, are Richard Hudson, Florence Desmond, Harry Green, Charles Starrett, and Eugene Pallett. James Cruze directed from the screen play by Ralph Spence and Sonya Levien.

"Son of Kong" RKO-Radio's sequel to "King Kong" has struck a stronger note of public appeal than its sensational predecessor. The new adventure spectacle includes a powerful romance between two of its human characters, and a menace to the city that reveals a heart of gold.

The picture will be shown Wednesday, March 7, at the Northville Penniman Allen theatre.

Many will remember the terrific punch of the original production; its terrific sequences—and its gigantic ape fascinated with a mortal girl.

According to Ernest R. Sedgewick, who directed "King Kong" and who holds the same spot for "Son of Kong"—the sequel, the terrors, demonstrating the first fantasy have been given a different application in the sequel, the plot of which gets down to a more romantic basis.

"Son of Kong" is said to have more thrills, but they are treated in a more sympathetic theme than in "King Kong."

Christian Science Churches

"Christ Jesus" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, March 4.

Among the Bible quotations is "his passage (Luke 17: 20-21): "And when he was demanded of the Pharisees, when the Kingdom of God should come, he answered them and said, "The Kingdom of God cometh not with observation: Neither shall they say, Lo here or, lo there! for be hold the Kingdom of God is within you."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 246): "Let unbelief, pride, covetousness, envy, jealousy, anger, and all the passions of the heart, be put away, and the Kingdom of heaven will be within us, and sin, disease and death will diminish until they finally disappear."

PROGRAM OF FEBRUARY 23 BIG SUCCESS

An extremely fine assembly program was presented last Friday afternoon. It was given by several World History students and took the form of a play entitled, "The Origin of Our National Songs."

Each player assumed a role as one of the country's patriotic song-writers, and recounted their own story as to how they were inspired to write the melodies. After each story-teller had finished his tale stirring music of the song they composed drifted into the assembly hall. Those taking part in the program were: Wayne Sheller as John Hopkins, the author of "Hail Columbia"; Sam Wit as Scott Key, who wrote "The Star Spangled Banner"; Leslie Pierpont as Daniel Emmett, who is credited with having written "Doodle Land"; Edith Barley as Julia Howe, the authoress of "The Battle Hymn of the Republic"; and Bob Second as Reverend Samuel Smith, the author of "America."

The music was furnished by Ralph Bogart, Ernest Racz and Maurice Giles, accompanied by Kathleen Rinck on the piano, Charles Strautz as violinist, and Dorella McIntosh playing the flute.

It is sincerely hoped that the student body may enjoy many more dramatizations as excellent as this one proved to be.

SOCIAL SCIENCE NOTES

The World History classes have been studying about the feudalism of ages past. Various projects have been worked out by the students in connection with the subject; some have written letters describing their visit to a castle occupied by some lord or baron, others have written the sort of newspapers they supposed were edited during that period, and still others have made drawings of implements used by the people who lived at such a time. An especially clever newspaper was printed by Irene Modos.

The Vocations class has been enjoying the weekly broadcasts every Friday afternoon from the University of Michigan. Fortunately, such programs are given at the same time the class meets, and the information the students gain is most valuable. "Journalism as a Profession" was the title of the address given last week by Professor Brum of the college. The speaker will be remembered as having addressed the student body here some time ago.

The United States History classes are looking forward to a party—the first of April. The boys have challenged the girls to a contest, and the side having the highest grades at the end of the month will be entertained by the defeated. The committee making arrangements for the affair are Helen Christensen, Tom Carrington, and Dorothy Richardson.

GOING TO BEING AT, AND COMING FROM THE SHRINE CIRCUS

(By Mary Harper)

A car slid to a stop in front of the house. Someone inside the car yelled, "M-A-R-Y, are you ready?" A window banged open somewhere in the upper region of the house, and a voice answered, "Yeah, as soon as I get my hair combed." Just a minute. That minute turned out to be ten minutes, but after frantic honking from the car, Mary came out pulling on her coat.

"Oh, hello, everybody. Well, here we go, I really hope I didn't keep you waiting long, but do you know I'm all jittery because I haven't seen a real circus for so long. Of course I was too little (well, you don't need to believe it) to remember the other one I saw. And gee whiz, I can hardly wait—oh hello, Alice, I didn't see you, you know if someone ever said that to me I should feel flattered—and I'll be there's Peg. What fun!

"Oh-h-h, Peggy, is h-e-e going to drive?—oh dear, here's where I hold on."

"Oh, for goodness sake, what hit my head, it felt like the roof of the car. It's the blind on the back window—I wonder what they have those things for anyway. No, Peg, I am sure it goes this way—there, there—it's fixed—don't touch it! Oh, glory be, there it goes again. Better leave it down. But now that we're turned around how do we get back? Oh, at last, but my coat feels like it's on backward and it hat feels like nobody's business. (This is where they all start giggling.)

"Oh, here we are already! Just look at the cars! Gee, I hope we get some seats—oh, Jane look at the Shriners, selling the squeaky toy elephants, I thought elephants roared, didn't you?—well, never mind, forget it. Gee, look at that car—I wish I were rich, and could have a car like that." (But her companions fervently wish she weren't.)

"Are those our seats? Hot up here, isn't it? Oh, goodie, here comes the parade! I sure feel sorry for the clowns, I bet they don't get much money for all their work. Wouldn't you like to know about the life of circus people?"

"Hot chat! Hot chat!" Cried Beatty, he's in the cage now. Oh!—if my heart was ever nearer to my mouth than right now, will somebody please tell me? That bon was awful—they say Beatty loves his lions—well he can have them.

"Do you girls want me to be quiet for a while? Well, I will anyway—oh, gee! That tight-rope walker is going to fall—no he isn't, either, yes he is, no—there, what did I tell you?—he didn't. Did you see the trapeze performer fall into the net? Those nets are nice and springy—wouldn't they be swell to have in our gym?"

"Oh dear! Is everything over all ready? These steps are kind of funny—first a couple of long ones, then short ones. If this crowd pushes anymore, I'll be flatter than a pancake, won't you? Guess I'd better not talk anymore—losing my wud!" (Much to the satisfaction of her weary pals.)

(And so on, far into the night.)

Can you deliver it, when we arrived in our home town, our worthy driver very innocently remarked, "I had a good time—except for the girls in the back seat. They didn't talk enough." Oheegosh!

All's well that ends well—so said someone.

THE INQUIRING REPORTER

What do you enjoy most about attending school this year?

CAROLYN WUSCHACK (Junior)—I believe that I like sewing and office practice best.

PAUL BALDWIN (Senior)—Public speaking and commercial law interest me most.

LEILA HAYSTEAD (Junior)—My favorite subjects are office practice and history.

DOROTHY RICHARDSON (Junior)—French is my favorite subject and I enjoy all sports. I also like the different plays the classes put on.

LUCILLE CAVELL (Senior)—I have the most fun at basketball practice, but public speaking ranks first among my studies.

JANE LESTER (Senior)—I am most fond of library work.

TOM McLOUGHLIN (Sophomore)—Athletics, friends, and certain subjects.

MARY JANE JUNOD (Senior)—The friends and knowledge it offers one.

FRANCES COUSINS—I like music better than anything else.

Mutiny in the Ranks

The definition of retaliation is "to pay evil with a similar evil," and that is just what we are going to do. Merely because we said that a certain someone giggles, she and "The Observer" combined forces and—well, you probably know what the result was. To even the score we will describe both of them to you.

Many people have wondered who "The Observer" is. It is a "she" you could surmise that by reading her column, for no "he" would display such tact and imagination. She is five feet nine inches tall, has greenish-gray eyes (don't take too much stock in that—we never are positive of the color of anyone's eyes), and a rather full mouth—not cavernous, just full. Her erect carriage and Venus-like being are her mother's fault (beh, beh, could we fix you, "Observer").

She holds an important office and in carrying out the various duties connected with it, she finds it necessary to consult Mr. Amerman at frequent intervals, but she doesn't mind that a bit (Who can blame her?)

There are many other things we could say, but, since she was kind, we shall be likewise.

What! After all this you don't know who she is? Why it's Jane Lester!

And now the second party and the one who, we believe, perpetrated the whole catastrophe.

In spite of reports to the contrary this girl does giggle. She is approximately five feet seven inches, has dark brown hair, greenish-gray eyes (it must be that planning and doing part makes the eyes), her pictures were the envy of the senior class. She plays guard on the basketball team of her grade, and, incidentally, she holds the coveted position of captain.

She is a quiet and efficient worker—quite, that is, until a wise remark is made, and then, oh! that giggle.

The last point is that she is the associate editor of the Orange and Black. Need we say more?

THE OBSERVATION COLUMN

(By "The Observer")

A very popular and gracious person is the next victim on my list. She is well-mannered, and never out-spoken—a lady in every sense of the word. Children emerging from her tutelage just bristle with knowledge. The junior class, much to the loss of the other grades of the high school, seems to be her favorite group. Do not think by this that I mean that she is impartial to any one class, to the contrary, she is always upon-fair action by all. She is "up" on the latest duties of girls' basketball and is often called on to referee their games. A warm support of Northville, she can be seen at practically every game, here as well as away, applauding displays of good sportsmanship or ability on either side.

Her association with the schools of this town has been a long and pleasant one and, for the best of all concerned, I truly hope that it will continue to be just that—long and pleasant.

SENIOR WHO'S WHO

Robert James Reed

Robert James Reed was born in Detroit on August 15, 1913. Two years later his parents moved to Northville (taking their two-year-old son with them).

Bob was a member of the school's football team in his junior and senior years, and a member of the track team last year (this year's team hasn't been selected yet). He has played in the community band for the past four years and his ability as an artist has made his services most valuable to the school.

Bob's pastimes are reading and almost any kind of sport; his one and only hobby is art.

He desires to continue in the field of his hobby after graduation in June.

Drucilla G. McIntosh

Drucilla was born on August 18, 1915 in Belleville, Michigan. One year later the McIntosh family moved to North Branch, living there until 1933. In that year they moved to Northville where we hope they'll remain for many years to come.

Drucilla belonged to the band and orchestra in North Branch for six years; she is a member of the N. H. S. orchestra and community band this year. Drucilla has been chosen to serve on a committee for the Senior Prom.

Her favorite pastimes are hiking and music; sewing is her special hobby.

Drucilla plans to enter training as a nurse at St. Joseph's Mercy hospital in Pontiac next year.

All three typing classes have been working on rhythmic exercises with the victrola. They are trying very hard to carry out some of the suggestions given them by Dorothy Dr.

The ninth hour class has a better showing than the third hour class in the airplane race, as there are two orange planes (3rd hr.) and only one blue plane which haven't gotten away from the take-off field.

Can you imagine a class of seniors asking for a test? Well, believe it or not, the Commercial Law class did!

CORNER FOR BOOK LOVERS

(By Rita Sprenger)

Once upon a time there was a little girl who was quite fond of books. Every time she read a new one, she wished it were hers. What could she do? She couldn't own a whole library and anyway there were some books she wasn't so really keen about, but still she'd like to own them all. Necessary, or so she said, for she was the mother of invention, so she invented.

I know all about it, you see, because I was that girl.

A package of A-B-C file cards and another of book report cards were all that I needed. Oh, yes, and a box to keep them in. This was easy. A small wooden recipe box or any plain cardboard one will suit the purpose nicely. My favorite books were then arranged alphabetically according to the author's name. This was written on the small red line at the top of the card on the left hand side. Opposite were the dates of his life and the type of story or poem that it happened to be. On the first blue line was the title of the book, and following it a brief (often very brief) summary.

Now I was in the seventh grade when I started my file it has quite a wide literary scope. For example, under "A" I have listed Jane Abbott, Carl Akley, Alexander (former Grand Duke of Russia), Hervey Allen, and George Arliss.

One would scarcely expect to find the latter writer peacefully holding his place between two such characters as "Anthony Adverse" and "Tinker Boy," but yet he does. And I need only to turn to number four of the "G's" and there is Zane Gray with his six-shooter, hard writing, thinkers that sent shivers up my spine not so many years ago.

Recently I counted all the books to find how many writers I was acquainted with—at least through paper and printer's ink. I found sixty-three authors and two hundred sixty-two books. No I mustn't do it. I haven't read all those I slip in, but they're extra marked because I had read at least one by each author. To illustrate my point, well, John Monk Saunders, I read his famous "Whod" a number of times, but never could get "Naked and Her War Birds." I added it as a "read-some-day" book. Perhaps you think it just a lot of bother, but I have found it otherwise. Besides being a big help in writing this column it affords me great pleasure and helps in my school work.

The Moon's Path—The earth does not describe an ellipse about the sun, asserts an astronomer. The center of gravity (the point of balance) of the earth and moon describes the ellipse. The earth zig-zags on either side of this path in 29½ days (the interval of time from one full moon to the next full moon). At the time of full moon, the center of the earth is 2,889 miles inside of this path and on the next full moon 2,889 miles outside the path. The moon performs much like the earth but by being smaller than the earth, the amount of deviation from the elliptical path of the center of gravity is much greater. At the time of full moon the moon is 233,000 miles outside of the path, and at the time of new moon, 230,000 miles inside of the path.

St. Paul's Lutheran

Leo C. Eckstaedt, Pastor
"I have called you friends." John 15, 15.

One of the most beautiful things in all the world is friendship. Among the wonderful stories of our "Old Testament" there are two that deal especially with friendship. The first is the story of Ruth as she leaves her home-land and friends refusing to part from her mother-in-law, Naomi. Ruth there gave expression to one of the finest gems in all literature: "Whither thou goest, I will go—the Lord do so to me, and more also, if I might but death part thee and me." This story is about a friendship between woman and woman, the other one between man and man; the story of Jonathan and David. "The soul of Jonathan was knit with the soul of David, and Jonathan loved him as his own soul."

The greatest example of friendship, however, is that our Savior, who laid down His life in order that we might be saved eternally. He is our best friend, our truest friend, "that sticketh closer to a brother" than we were yet in our sins. He died for us and by His death atoned for them.

We can be His friends for time and eternity, if we believe in Him and follow Him. "Ye are my friends, if ye do whatsoever I command you."

The May fast supper held last Friday proved a great success. In spite of the extreme cold, a large crowd gathered. Rev. W. R. Barbour of Northville led in prayer at the special service arranged by the pastor for the offering. Rev. A. R. Heaps, pastor of the First Congregational Church of Ann Arbor, gave a splendid lecture with the wonderful pictures he had taken and collected in "The Hope of the World," a beautiful religious educational picture.

We wish to thank all who contributed so freely to making this evening such a success. All the ladies are asked to see Mrs. Ernest Schock on next Sunday for a special gathering to be arranged this coming week. Kindly cooperate. This is very important.

FORD TO BUILD HUGE EXPOSITION AT THE 1934 CHICAGO WORLD'S FAIR

A GREAT Ford Exposition, portraying the tremendous part the "arts, sciences and virtually every other industry plays in the manufacture of today's motor cars, is planned by the Ford Motor Company for the 1934 World's Fair.

The "Ford Exposition" will be housed in a giant building 380 feet long to be built in the heart of the fair grounds on an 11-acre plot bordering Lake Michigan and flanking the main fair boulevard, Contraception of the building will start Mar. 1.

In the dominant central building will be housed Henry Ford's "Drama of Transportation," depicting the development of wheeled vehicles from the chariots of ancient Egypt to modern motor cars. Every model of Ford car made since 1903 will be included.

In the smaller building to the left will be housed some of the priceless historic exhibits from the Edison Institute at Dearborn, Mich., including the one-story brick workshop, complete with the original tools, where Mr. Ford in 1933 built with his own hands his first motor car. This first car will be displayed inside the shop.

The main exposition building will display an imposing array of exhibits, most of them in action, showing steel, aluminum and other metals, soy beans, corn, wool, cotton and other farm products and the products of myriad industries are converted into car parts. The building also will house displays of cars and a big movie theater. Along the east side will be an open air balcony equipped with chairs and lounges where hundreds may relax.

Across the drive fronting the lake will be a big Ford Park, beautifully landscaped and also fitted with seats and other comforts for fair crowds.

ture with his son, Tom Banks, at Bedford, while recovering from pneumonia.

Mrs. George Bozeng and little daughter, Myrtle, of Plymouth, spent part of the week with the former's mother, Mrs. Eugene Donahue.

Elke Brooks, Laura Basse, Elke Kent and Susie Mairs attended the convention of the Peabody association, District No. 6 at Royal Oak last Friday afternoon and evening.

Charles Hamilton has been confined to his home on the South Lyon road for the past two weeks with the grippe.

The Novi fire department was called to the farm home owned by the Jubb Bros on the West-Town Line road, Tuesday forenoon. The fire had gained such headway that the house was destroyed. The contents of the house were saved and other surrounding buildings. Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Wilson, and children lived on the place.

The Novi W. C. T. U. will be the hostess union for an institute of instruction to be held at the home of Mrs. J. O. Munro, Friday, March 9. There will be a morning and afternoon program with a co-operative dinner at noon. Mrs. Clara Patterson Todd of Plymouth, state treasurer, assisted by Mrs. Elizabeth Erwin of Detroit, 11th district president, will have charge of the program, with Walled Lake, South Lyon and Plymouth unions, as guests. All interested are cordially invited to attend.

Members of the cast for the play, "Brown-Eyed Betty," enjoyed a co-operative supper at the school Wednesday. Final practice for the play which will be presented this Friday will then be held. Advance sale of tickets indicate that quite a little interest is being taken in the play and that a good crowd would be in attendance.

A checker playing tournament was held at the school last week. Twelve contestants struggled to win the cash prizes offered by the business manager of the Herald. After three days of playing during the noon hours, Edwin Hill won the championship. Checker playing is now the principal pastime.

School will be closed Friday of this week to enable the teachers to attend a County Teachers' Institute to be held in Pontiac.

organization is and its great influence among the youth of America for cleanliness and honor which are so necessary now.

One of the most alarming results of our many national situations we are confronted with today is the apparent breakdown of character in men and the morale of the crowd. Whatever effort is made to successfully resist this devastating force to our national life is worthy of our close attention and help and the Boy Scout organization does just that.

The economic situation is not half so appalling as the truly desperate call that is in our midst of the failure and lack of common decency and honor which we find so manifest everywhere.

Evidence of this abound everywhere and we find them provided for us on the news stands, the theatres, the movies, and the divorce courts. The complete shamelessness with which thousands advertise and try to justify the looseness of their lives is like unto a second Sodom and Gomorrah.

The breakdown of honesty is equally apparent and amongst its most serious manifestations is the utter disregard for contracts as the common standards of honor evidenced in Washington down to the state and our municipalities. Trickery, deception, chicanery, flout themselves in our faces.

But this is not confined to government circles alone, but is found in the private lives of Americans who so often say, anything is all right if you can get away with it. For instance the racketeer has been looked upon with tolerance; and this perverse conception of right and wrong has even found itself into the very lives of our children.

What is evidently needed to correct these national ills are such movements as the Boy Scouts, whose fundamental aims and principles are to instill sound ideas of noble character. With such noble motives are expedient the real crux lies in the fact that such motives are the only real satisfactory standards for a safe conduct and mode of living.

Food Market Advice

THE weather man seems to be conspiring against those of us who like fresh fish during Lent. Snow, cold and storm have affected the Atlantic seaboard and inland lakes alike, making fishing difficult or impossible. A limited variety of fish is always available and even a few days of snail weather will bring supplies up to normal. However, snail fish, salt fish and a variety of canned fish can always be counted on.

In the absence of fish, there are plenty of fine fresh eggs at moderate prices, and since there is a recipe book entitled, "100 Ways to Cook Eggs," meatloaf need not be feared. Depend on the American or "three" cheese is cheap and choice dishes are numerous with perhaps macaroni and cheese or Welsh rabbit leading the list of favorites. For cooking, a sharp, crumbly aged cheese is desirable though a young cheese may be preferred for sandwiches or to eat with pie.

Vegetables—scalloped with white sauce and cheese or with bread crumbs, milk and egg make substantial luncheon or dinner dishes. Examples of the first type include cabbage, cauliflower or broccoli on gratin. The second type are scalloped egg plant, tomatoes, squash, celery and cucumbers to name only a few.

Salads should have a place in winter and early spring menus and they will prove acceptable luncheon dishes if they are preceded by a hot soup either homemade or canned. Dried peas and beans make hearty and inexpensive soups, various cream soups, clam chowders, "gravy" soup, noodle soups, broths and the popular onion soup. Soup ingredients such as onions, carrots, celery, cabbage and turnips are plentiful and economical.

Meat choices for the next week include, surprisingly, broilers and calves liver at relatively low prices. Here is an appetizing menu prepared from foods which are seasonable and economical.

Excellence of High School Play: "The Whole Town's Laughing," Causes It To Be Repeated Monday

Members of the high school repeated their play "The Whole Town's Laughing," Monday evening at the high school before a fair sized crowd. Due to so many requests for a re-hearing of the play members of the school under the able direction of Leslie G. Lee, head of the music department, again gave the audience an enjoyable evening.

The play, a comedy in three acts, deals with the O'Moore family who after having been left some money move to a small mid-western town and masquerade as royalty. This is accomplished by putting the "O" on Moore. After they have been exposed, just as they are about to entertain the Count and the Countess DeLong, the Count and the Countess DeLong, as the reality, the unexpected arrival of Uncle Larry Moore, a showman, and through the suspicions of Geoffrey Lantorn, the villain, the Moore family is laughed at by the rest of the townspeople. But in the end they come out all right mainly through the cleverness of Mary Ellen Sullivan, a second cousin.

The cast was very competent and they played up each humorous situation splendidly. Mary Louise Boyd, as Sarah, the maid, was convincingly fired off having been the servant; Peggy Blake, as Margaret O'Moore, the worried mother of the family, worried through most of the play, as to what was going to happen next; Edward Angore, as Chief Altman, as Clara Belle May, a dancer, was the big moment of Chief O'Moore, the Count and Countess DeLong, who were really crooks out to fleece the small town people, were made very "villainish" through the fine acting of Winifred McCordie and Charles Strautz.

The play was produced by special arrangement with the Northwestern Press of Minneapolis, Minnesota. Money cleared of the play will be used to purchase music and equipment for the department.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By ANN PAGE

UNFAVORABLE as weather conditions have been over much of the country, our winter growing season has had the aid of weather necessary for producing the fresh vegetables and strawberries. Now the supplies of cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli, cabbage, green beans and peas, beets, carrots, celery, lettuce and tomatoes begin to appear in plentiful quantities. Season is expected to begin next week, nearly three weeks earlier than usual.

The prospects for fresh fish are none too bright, though available supplies plus the salt, smoked and canned varieties will be sufficient to meet all demands. Eggs continue to drop in price and cheese continues to be scarce. These foods combine well with macaroni, spaghetti and omelette to make satisfying Sunday dinner.

Here are three menus for Sunday dinner:

Low Cost Dinner
Chopped Beef with Onions
Mashed Potatoes
Bread and Butter
Deep Apple Pie
Tea or Coffee

Medium Cost Dinner
Roast Pork
Spinach with Egg
Bread and Butter
Sweet Grapes with Cream
Coffee

Very Special Dinner
Grapefruit
Roast Beef
Parley Potatoes
Cauliflower with Cream
Russian Dressing
Rolls and Butter
Apple Pie
Cheese
Coffee

PREVENT

FROM

FREEZING !!

Because of recent zero weather many water pipes in Northville homes have been frozen. Frost is now four feet in the ground and coming thaws will drive it even deeper, freezing all pipes unless proper precautions are taken. By letting a stream of water flow, the size of a pencil run from your water taps you will prevent the pipes from freezing during the night when they are not ordinarily in use.

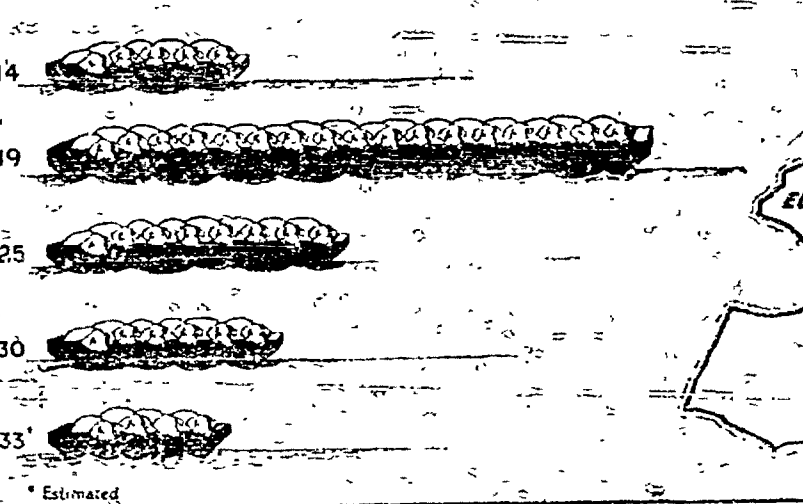

To thaw out water pipes in your home costs $15.00.

UNITED STATES EXPORTS OF HOG PRODUCTS

(Each hog represents 1,000,000 head.)

THE accompanying graph depicts an interesting explanation of one reason why the prices for corn and hogs have been so low the last few years. The main reason is the severe decline in the export demand for United States hog products since the 1915 peak.

In 1914, European nations took the equivalent of nearly six million hogs. This was only a moderate export level, but the total United States hog production at that time was in good balance with the combined domestic and foreign demand.

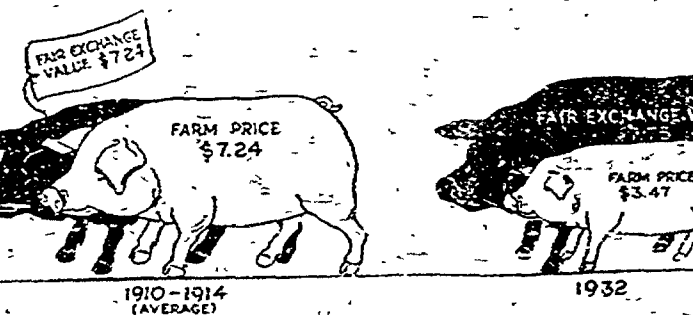

Under the stimulus of the World War, foreign purchases of our hog products rose to the equivalent of about seventeen million hogs. But since the war, our exports have dropped back again to the equivalent of about four million hogs. This decline has been due to a rapid restoration of hog production in European countries since the war, particularly in Germany and Denmark, and more recently because of tariff and quota which limit the quantity of imports.

Meanwhile, hog production in the United States has continued to increase at about the same rate as the population. Consequently, the products no longer shipped abroad have become excess products on the home market and have driven down hog prices. Some adjustment to this changed demand must be made if hog prices are to be raised to a more favorable level. The corn-hog production-control program, now being offered by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, will help farmers bring about this necessary better balance.

SCHOOL DAYS

FARM PRICE OF HOGS AND FAIR EXCHANGE VALUE

In the pre-war period (1910-14) the farm price of $7.24 per hundred weight and the fair exchange value were of the same. When prices at the farm are again high enough to give live hogs the same purchasing power they had in the pre-war period, then they will be equal to the fair exchange value
