DON MARTIN LOSES LIFE IN CAR ACCIDENT

Holiday Crash Kills Two And Injures Four

Decorations Day traffic claimed the lives of two persons in an automobile accident near Northville and four more people, one of them a twenty-month-old baby, were seriously injured, when two cars collided at the intersection of Farmington and Schoolcraft roads.

Donald M. Martin, 29 years old, 122 South Rogers street, driver of one car, was killed instantly when the accident occurred, and Harold Ebert, 22 years old, of Detroit, died half an hour after at the Eloise hospital. Arthur Hill, 19, who was riding with Martin, received head injuries and cuts. He was taken to Redford Receiving hospital. Daniel Majeska, 26, of Detroit, who drove the other car, was taken to Eloise suffering serious injuries.

According to stories of the tragedy, Martin, at 6:30 in the evening, was driving north on Farmington road with hills at a high rate of speed. Traveling east on Schoolcraft road was the party of five heading toward Detroit. Martin's car struck the other automobile squarely in the middle, throwing him out on the pavement, killing him instantly. Martin's car went on to strike the guy wire of an Edison pole, tearing the cross-arm holding several high tension wires loose. The damage was repaired soon after by an Edison repair truck without interruption to service.

Martin has been employed by the Detroit Edison company since Feb. 6, 1928, as assistant local agent, under Sam Wilkinson. He is unmarried and he leaves his mother, Mrs. Daisy Martin, and a brother, Kenneth. His father was killed several years ago while working on high tension wires at the Wayne County Training school, located near here. Martin was born Feb. 20, 1905, near Lonia and received his education at schools there.

Funeral services will be held Saturday morning at nine o'clock from Our Lady of Victory church, the Rev. Father Joseph G. Schuler officiating. Interment will be held at Rural Hill cemetery.

REV. H. H. MALLINSON DELIVERS MEMORIAL SERMON ON SUNDAY

On Sunday evening, Rev. Horace H. Mallinson, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, delivered the annual Memorial sermon for the community. The special guests were the Legionnaires, Auxiliary members, Women's Relief Corps and Civil War veterans: Marvin Bogart, The Presbyterian church united with the Methodist church for the services.

Mr. Mallinson said: "There are some things in our present civilization that contradict the principles of Jesus Christ. Among them is the 'Moloch of Militarism.' He said that war was a millstone around our necks, economically quoting figures to show that it cost 75 cents out of every dollar for waste and future.

"The time has come for the church to Christianize the mind of the nation in its outlook upon war," Mr. Mallinson said. "This she can do when she ceases to sanction it. Jesus Christ and war cannot be reconciled. War degrades personality. Jesus needs and uses men for Kingdom purposes. The church is against the whole business of war and intends to try to create a world wide conscience against it."

The speaker said that the ministry is speaking in no uncertain tones against war. A large number of them have blessed their last war and will not support war. The best intelligence of the world now plainly sees that war is a man-made institution and as it is man-made, it can also be destroyed by man, by outlawing the whole war business.

He closed his sermon by making a strong plea for the members of the various organizations to adopt the principles of Jesus Christ, and swear allegiance to Him and His church, thus standing with the church folk in helping to reconstruct the map of life as they helped to reconstruct the map of the world.

An impressive solo, "The Resurrection," was sung by Carl H. Bryzan.

Crowds Overflow the Park and Stretch Out in All Directions

A perfect May day called to the great out-of-doors a record crowd at Cass Benton Park and its environs Memorial Day.

The park itself was filled to its capacity with cars parked in every available space inside the drives and on both sides of the highway outside for a long distance. Even with the new addition of about fifteen acres, the park is not large enough for the thousands who are eager to get out in the open on a holiday.

Overflowing the park proper were groups enjoying the shade and green grass all along the parkway from the fair grounds to the Six Mile road. Family groups they seemed to be of quiet, peaceful citizens who spread out their frosted cakes and pickles, ate their fill and then lolled lazily on the grass or played ball. Not a single disturbance marred the day, according to caretaker Peter Ely.

Northville gave way to outsiders on this holiday, visitors being present from Detroit, Pontiac, South Lyon, Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor—in fact from all over, says Mr. Ely.

The official board of the M. E. Church is going to put on a Penny Supper Wednesday evening, June 6.

Regardless of the weather, there will be attractive hot or cold meat dishes, with an array of salads, brown bread, pies and cakes to go with them and all at a moderate cost. You will be able to take your choice of any or all dishes, the small cost of which will be listed on a board for your convenience.

Everyone is cordially invited to come. You will be surprised to see how much fine food you can get for 25 or 30 cents. Serving will start at 5:30 and will continue until 7:30. Should the public approve of these suppers by their attendance, they will be continued for a few weeks to enable the family to have one night a week out at small cost to the family and a big help to mother.

THE VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL OF CHURCHES WILL OPEN JUNE 11

Northville will have a vacation Bible school again this summer. So successful have the previous years proved that it has been decided to continue this project which has not only given children out of school some useful expenditure of their leisure time, but has taught them much worthwhile information.

The school will open on June 11 with classes held in the Baptist, Presbyterian and Methodist churches of the village. The beginners and primary departments will meet in the Presbyterian church house, the junior department in the Methodist and the intermediate in the Baptist church.

Mrs. Earl Montgomery will superintend the beginners with a corps of teachers to assist. Rev. K. S. North will direct the junior department and Rev. H. G. Whitfield the intermediate. Rev. H. H. Mallinson will act as dean of the school.

Northville is to be congratulated on having those leaders who are willing to contribute their time and ability for the good of the youth of our town and all parents who appreciate this opportunity will cooperate in sending their children to one of the places during the few weeks of school.

AN OPPORTUNITY TO ENROLL FOR SUMMER SCHOOL

Last week Mrs. Egge of the Base Line school announced she would have summer school for the children of Northville. These classes are still open and it is hoped that many more will take advantage of this opportunity. Give your child a good foundation in reading and arithmetic. Much of the success in later school work depends on a child's ability to read. Now is the time to give him private instructions if he needs them.

Perhaps your child has had difficulty with his history, geography, English or arithmetic and needs individual help. Mrs. Egge is ready to help him up to the rest of his class. Full school credit will be given for all subjects that are satisfactorily completed.

Classes will be held five mornings a week at 628 Fairbrook avenue. For further information call at 628 Fairbrook or telephone 628-22.

SCHULER TO ADDRESS '34 SENIOR CLASS

Baccalaureate To Be Sunday At Presbyterian Church

The final week of activities for the 1933-1934 school year began with the baccalaureate services Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Presbyterian church house. The address will be given by Father Joseph G. Schuler.

The class night program will take place Tuesday evening in the high school auditorium, followed by the Commencement program Thursday at 8 p. m. in the auditorium of the Wayne County Training school.

The baccalaureate service will begin with the procession of the 48 graduates who will take their places in the front of the room. The program, with Rev. H. G. Whitfield presiding, follows:

"America" by the entire assembly.

Invocation—Rev. K. S. North. Benedictions by quartet. Under direction of Leslie Lee. Address by Fr. Joseph G. Schuler. Benedictions by "A cappella" chorus. (High school students under Mr. Lee).

Benediction, Rev. H. H. Mallinson. "Star Spangled Banner" by the entire assembly.

Father Joseph G. Schuler submitted the following bit of information concerning the origin of the ceremony of delivering a baccalaureate address to the graduating class.

The derivation of the word "baccalaureate" is from the ancient custom of crowning the person skilled in poetry and rhetoric with a wreath of laurel berries (Bacca means berries; lauri means of the laurel).

In later years the word designated the public institution of a candidate with the title of bachelor or apprentice in one of the arts or sciences. Not until about the 14th century did the title of bachelor come to be recognized as an authoritative university degree. Until that time a "bachelor" was considered as being only in the preparatory or apprenticeship stage for his later acceptance into the actual or practical degree stage.

The baccalaureate services were merely the public coronation where university officials invested the successful ones with their respective degrees. Only in recent years has this ceremonial taken on the aspect of a religious affair, and baccalaureate sermons become the substitutes for these former customs.

Miss Marjorie Pierpont Is First Northville Girl to Be Awarded Girl Scouts' Golden Eaglet Rank

To Marjorie Pierpont, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. L. Pierpont, comes the honor of being the first Northville girl to attain the rank of Golden Eaglet from the Girl Scouts.

The more of an honor it is because Marjorie has worked out her twenty-six awards under the handicap of distance from a troop of Scouts. Six years ago she joined a troop in her home town in Connecticut. Coming to Northville and finding no organization here, she became a "Lone Scout" affiliated with the troop at West Point Park. For a time she was assistant to the Litchfield township troop.

Throughout the years of her membership Marjorie has kept up her activities, gradually adding to her awards with examinations by a captain of a Detroit troop until now she has to her credit twenty-six, which is five more awards than secured. Among these are achievements in domestic arts, in dancing, in nature study, in swimming, athletics, first aid, scholarship, health, housekeeping—in fact the long list covers all the virtues that old Solomon enumerated in his ideal woman. Marjorie is a member of this year's graduating class in the local high school and stands fourth on the list of the ten honor students.

The first Girl Scout troop has been organized in Northville this past year under the leadership of Miss Annie Richards. The twelve girls are eighth graders and are proud to belong to an organization of which five ex-presidents' wives and the present first lady are honorary presidents.

In the absence of Miss Richards during the summer Marjorie will be well-fitted to carry on the leadership of the girls' activities.

Ed. M. Starkweather Is Saved From Death, by Jack Lash, When Attacked by Enraged Stallion

E. M. Starkweather is recovering at his home on the Fishery road from injuries received last Saturday at 6 a. m. when he was attacked by a racing stallion, "Raven Direct," while caring for the animal in his box stall.

The furious animal was not content to stop there but broke down a partition and began to attack another stallion next door. By this time other men on the farm had been attracted to the barn and were able to separate the two animals.

Mr. Starkweather's body bruised but is making good progress. He feels that he had a miraculous escape and is very grateful to Mr. Lash for his rescue. "I was mired in the mud, and would have had the neck of the stallion broken off the back of my head," he said.

"Raven Direct" is a little, fine looking racing type and at the time was sold for $10,000.

POPPY DAY SALES ARE ENCOURAGING

Poppy Day in Northville went over big. With representatives of the American Legion and Auxiliary on every corner, not a person came into town escaped being "hatched," in fact, all responded heartily and wore the little red flower with pride.

Mrs. Wm. Stafford, chairman of the local enterprise, reports that the total sale amounted to over $165 which was very encouraging compared with $140 last year. The local organizations appreciate the cooperation of the public.

GIVE WATER TO THE DOGS, URGES WOMAN

A kind-hearted Northville woman calls attention to the fact that scarcity of water during this dry period has driven dogs to hunt for watering places. In her own yard the bird bath has been knocked over by thirsty animals seeking a drink of water available and has been surprised at the number of dogs that come there to drink.

She suggests that as hot weather approaches the danger to the children of our village may be lessened by providing for "thirst-suffering" dogs.

LADY MACCABEES

Lady Maccabees will meet Monday evening at 7:30. Important business; everybody come. See.

JACK GILMORE IS MEMORIAL DAY SPEAKER

Impressive Services Held At Penniman-Allen Theatre

Memorial Day was celebrated in Northville with perfect weather smiling on the impressive procession with flags flying which entered the Penniman-Allen theatre for the services at ten o'clock—the American Legion in uniform, the Auxiliary, the Woman's Relief Corps, the high school band, the Boy Scouts, and finally that long line of future citizens, the school children eager and proud with their flags.

One last remaining veteran of the Civil War, Marvin Bogart, now 94, was escorted with honor to a place on the platform where, in spite of bad weather conditions, he sat erect, the lone representative of the "Boys in Blue" for whom Memorial Day was originated.

Commander J. H. Bolton presided and for the fifteenth consecutive year, Guy Filkins was at his place at the piano. To the stirring strains of "The Star Spangled Banner" the audience rose and sang with enthusiasm.

Invocation and the benediction were given by Rev. K. S. North, pastor of the Baptist church. The high school male quartet, Maurice Gilles, Otis Tewksbury, Ernest Rice, and Merle Fraser, sang well known numbers, "Trumpet" and "Sleep, Soldier, Sleep."

Lincoln's immortal Gettysburg address was repeated by Edward Angove and "In Flanders Field," by Freddie Gagerman.

Speaker of the day was Past State Commander Jack Gilmore, a Detroit attorney, who stressed the special significance of the day to the future citizens of the children.

Grand review Commander Gilmore had passed before his history, the "Boys of '61" who founded our republic, the intrepid soldiers of 1812, the soldiers of the Mexican war, the Civil War veterans who preserved our Union, the Spanish war veterans and finally the boys of the late World war who have been the awful horrors of war in action.

"The dream of the world is to preserve peace is to be prepared against aggression. To preserve our democratic government, the land of the free, and the home of the brave, must follow the footsteps of the heroes who have gone on before."

Leaving the hall in formation the company made its way to the old Oakwood cemetery where the firing squad saluted over the grave of Allan N. Harmon for whom the G. A. R. post was named. At the bridge at the entrance to Rural Hill another salute was given honoring the sailor dead and again at the grave of Lloyd H. Green, whose memory is preserved in the name of the American Legion post.

Flowers had been placed on all soldiers' graves on the day previous by representatives from the W. R. C. and Legion auxiliary.

In the first game Northville hit safety for a total of six hits and six runs off of Stihl, Trenton pitcher, while the White Stars gathered seven hits, converting only two of them into runs, off of Wright, Northville hurler. Northville got two in the fourth inning, two in the sixth and two in the ninth. Trenton gathered its only two runs in the first inning.

In the second game of the double-header Northville won by the narrow margin of one run, the score being held down to three to two. The Wolverines got one run in the second inning, one in the third and one in the seventh. Trenton was held to two runs in the second. Northville's winning run, walked home when the Trenton pitcher walked three men in a row and a substitute was sent in who walked the fourth man forcing in the winning run.

GREAT LOSS TO CROPS IS CAUSED BY DRY WEATHER

Weeks Without Rain in This Community Affect Many

Northville and outlying territory together with the rest of the Midwest, is suffering with the serious drought that has continued since the frost went out of the ground.

For want of water crops that have been put in are not growing and unless rain comes soon there will be almost a total loss in grain. Corn, just being planted, may come on with hope of rain, as predicted.

For the first time in his life, one farmer reports that he will irrigate his young orchard to save the trees.

IRIS EXHIBIT AT WHIPPLE GARDENS

Invitations have been issued by Harry Whipple to garden lovers to see the "Iris Exhibit" at Whipple's home on the Reservoir road. In spite of bad weather conditions, a good bloom is anticipated.

Mr. Whipple knows each individual plant by name. Some new varieties he has himself developed when in bloom the Whipple grounds were a fair sight.

The E. M. B. Food Market, operated by E. M. Bogart, has installed this week a 12-foot steel produce counter which will dispense a continuous 24-hour spray to keep fruit and vegetables fresh.

The counter is described as being seven feet for wet produce and five feet for dry produce and is of the latest and most up to date design. It affords a prominent display space in the front of the E. M. B. Food Market and the newly painted background makes the make blackboard for a pleasing effect.

ORDINANCE ON MERCHANTS IS PASSED HERE

Transients Must Pay Fees In Lieu Of Taxes

Transient merchants will not be able, in the future, to locate in Northville without paying the village taxes that established merchants are forced to pay each year.

A transient merchant's ordinance, drafted by F. J. Cochran, village attorney, was passed unanimously at a special meeting of the village commission held Monday evening at the village hall.

"Five-by-night" merchants have been in the habit, said Mr. Cochran, of coming into Northville after the village taxes have been assessed, selling their merchandise before the following tax time comes around and then hurriedly leaving town in order to avoid assessment. Thus, they receive the same fire and police protection that established merchants also pay the bills.

The tax ordinance, which will go into effect Tuesday, June 19, provides for license fees on a graduated scale for the many different types of transient merchants who come here. The ordinance will be strictly enforced by police authorities.

The ordinance is published in this week's issue of the Record and following publication will be posted in several conspicuous places in Northville. It was drafted after models of similar ordinances in effect at Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor and other nearby communities.

HOLSTEIN HERD AT THE TRAINING SCHOOL WINS STATE HONORS

The purchased Holstein herd owned by the Wayne County Training school has been spotted by the Holstein, Wisconsin Association of America as having finished "the highest" average for the state.

Twenty-six cows produced an average of 431 pounds of butterfat, 1267 pounds milk, 34 feet during the year.

The school herd is one of 30 in the United States that has finished six consecutive years in the Holstein herd test. The six year average test is given as 463 pounds.

The high cow for the past year in the herd, Princess Wayne, made 617 pounds of fat from 17,623 pounds of milk. Two other cows in the herd made over 5,000 pounds of fat.

The Holstein Herd Test is a national in scope. Michigan has more herds enrolled than any other state. Every cow in the herd must be included in the test. Supervision is given monthly by a tester sent from the dairy department, Michigan State college. The object of the herd test is to weed out low producers and to get reliable records on top-notch producers such as are reported in this story by the Michigan Holstein Association.

A BOY'S IDEA OF FAIR PLAY

A Northville mother came into The Record office to subscribe for the home newspaper...

And the mother went on to say that her young son was constantly showing his spirit of cooperation toward his "customers."

We submit that this is about as fine a sample of home loyalty as we have seen in some time.

THE SPIRIT OF THE MOB

There can hardly be expected to be any fair settlement of labor difficulties as long as the mob is allowed to run wild as it did at Toledo last week...

No matter what the grievance of labor leaders, the minute these agitators—this is the correct name for many of them—lead on their followers to acts of violence...

Men who do not wish to work under certain conditions have the right to quit, but they have no right to attempt to assault and perhaps kill other men...

Men who take up the mob sword must not complain if their own weapon strikes them down.

We would go quite a ways toward settling our labor troubles if we could deport a few carloads of these alien labor leaders whose policy of coercion and violence seems to be at the bottom of so many strikes.

THE CASE OF MR. ABBOTT

The stinging rebuke handed Horatio Abbott, collector of internal revenue at Detroit, by President Roosevelt, for political "sandbagging," by aides of his office, will meet with the approval of all straight thinking citizens.

If government jobs are to be placed on the bargain counter, if PWA funds are to be given out to the highest bidder, then indeed, our "politics" has come to a low level.

The tragedy of this whole miserable mess is, as the Detroit News well points out, that public conscience is at such a low level that this trafficking in government jobs and public money seems to be taken for granted by so many people.

The president has started the house cleaning. Let him go ahead and finish the job. If we are to have faith in our national government, the public servants who administer the people's money must be honest men and persons of high ideals.

WHY CAN'T THEY SEE THE LIGHT?

We have yet to meet one farmer or one student of government who will say a good word for the "Brain Trust" fool idea of plowing under cotton, killing off hogs and cutting the wheat acreage.

At Detroit last week we heard Dr. Merton S. Rice, one of America's greatest preachers, say, dramatically, in speaking of this destruction of crops, "God pity us if we can't meet the problem of abundance."

At Birmingham a few days ago, Norman Thomas (and the thinking man must respect Thomas, even though not following his beliefs) denounced the reduction program of the AAA as a great fallacy.

Take the case of cotton crop reduction. We know the average American family, if the 1932 cotton crop were evenly distributed, would receive only nine pounds...

Why can't we stop this insane idea of destroying things in order to give the people more things? Why continue to let part of our people starve in the midst of plenty? Why try to change the laws of God?

WANDERING THOUGHTS

The person who sets out to "boycott" everyone with whom he doesn't agree will find plenty of trouble.

One Detroit family pays Northville this fine tribute. After seeking for a home for two years and visiting dozens of towns within a radius of 50 miles around Detroit, they have picked this community as the ideal place to live.

Hyman Evison, the editor of The Farmington Enterprise, copied the editorial that The Record carried last week regarding the opening of the Farmington bank and then gave the editor of this newspaper some glowing praise which we feel is entirely too extravagant.

Life is a constant battle against quick death. A few matches last week robbed a Northville home of a six-year-old daughter—and such a death stirs to the depths every normal heart.

One of the finest days we have had in years was up at Michigan State college Saturday, watching 500 clean-cut high school boys from all over the state—upper and lower peninsula—take part in the annual state meet.

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION

Is there any meaner trait than unfairness?

THAT BOY!

"Will he ever learn to hang up his clothes!" and the mother stooped with impatience to pick up a pair of trousers and turn them right side out.

With an aggrieved air she reached a track shoe from under the bed. Then suddenly her eyes fell upon a pile of commencement announcements on his desk. Down upon his rumpled bed she dropped with the dusty shoe still in her hands and looked about at the walls of a typical boy's room.

"Graduate from high school!" she thought, "Why it couldn't be possible! Why was only the other day that she stood in the doorway waving good-bye to two little figures in blue, the older sister leading, with motherly air, her little brother, two years younger who was starting to school that morning. Indelible is that picture even today. Through the winding pathway of the grove across the way they went, stopping now and then to turn and wave, calling back, 'Goodbye, Mother! Are you going to be lonesome—are you going to cry?' And they were lost to sight."

Back into the empty, still house the mother went, picking up a toy train, a ball and a cap as she went listlessly about (that seems to be of a mother's life is made up of) picking up the scattered affairs of young lives and setting them straight.

"How fast those twelve years have gone!" the mother thought. "Now he's six feet-two, a little boy no longer, soon to go on still farther in the winding pathway of life."

"Is he ready?" and mother collected herself to turn back the years. "I would do so much better" he heart cried out.

"I would take time to understand him more. I would be more tender with that inward struggle of boy and man. I would await development more patiently."

"I would know his friends better. I would take time to let him invite his 'gang' to meals and good times in the home."

"I would exert myself to know what he is studying even if I had to study hard myself to understand his growing interests."

"I would go with him to games, sports and school affairs every time he asked me to. Too-busy? Well, what does it matter now? What I was doing that kept me from going?"

"I would be ready for his confidence—no, force it—but ready to listen without surprise, letting him know that mother understands."

"I would teach him to help more, to do things for the rest of the family sometimes."

"I would teach him to earn and spend money wisely."

"I would praise him more often and find fault less."

"I would laugh and play with him more. There will enough seriousness later. I wish the memory of home could be of a happy place."

"And, oh, I would be a better mother!"—and a tear splashed down on the dusty track shoe.

Theatre Patrons Here Will See "Bottoms Up" on June 2nd, and "Devil Tiger," Wednesday, June 6

John Boles and Spencer Tracy are rivals in love with "Pat" Paterson, charming English comedienne, in the Fox romantic comedy, "Bottoms Up," coming in the Northville Peninsula Theatre on Saturday, June 2. Aiding and abetting the comedy are Herbert Munday, Sid Silvers and Harry Given. And Thelma Todd makes the plot complete as the villainess.

"Bottoms Up" is essentially a romance, but worked logically into the story are several opportunities for John Boles and Miss Paterson to sing. Reports from the previews on the east are to the effect that these are four songs hits in the picture, "Bottoms Up": "Waiting at the Gate for Katy," "Turn on the Moon," "Little Did I Dream" and "I'm Throvin' My Love Away."

The story, briefly, deals with the efforts of three merry rogues and a girl with movie ambitions to crash the golden gates of Hollywood. And when they succeed, the girl finds herself actually falling in love with the hero of her first movie. The resulting complications lead to an unusual climax.

The picture was written and produced by Buddy De Sylva, in collaboration with David Butler and Sid Silvers. In many respects "Bottoms Up" is said to be reminiscent of Mr. De Sylva's earlier success, "Sammy Side Up."

Many and varied are the exploits of the motion picture cameraman. But to Jack Dinn, soundman with Fox Film's expedition into the Asiatic jungle, goes the honor of experiencing the most exciting and most dangerous of incidents.

Working on the Fox film, "Devil Tiger," in which nature's most amazing incidents will be brought before the theatre-going public, Dinn went through a few moments of horror that probably go unequalled in motion picture history. He was in the midst of recording the sound of a battle between a black panther and a ferocious tiger, gathering the treacherous snarlers of their fight in his ear-phones, when the panther suddenly deserted his natural adversary and leaped.

But let Dinn tell it in his own way. This is an excerpt from a letter written by him in Singapore:

"I am writing this with my left hand, only due to the fact that I was maulled by a black panther a couple of weeks ago and my right arm is still out of order. The thing jumped right on my head, and hung on by teeth and claws till the shooter came and shot it off. I got some severe bites in the shoulder and claw marks in the head. The doctor comes every day, and he thinks in a week or so I'll be 'fit again.'"

"Of such is the stuff that men in the jungle are made, when they leave the safety and comfort of civilization in quest of man's most dangerous adventure. This attack by the murderous panther was merely a prelude to what was to happen to Dinn and his companions—Gide E. Elliott, director of the film, who also directed "Bring 'em Back Alive"; Marion Burns, Kane Richmond, Harry Woods and others—pursuing the course of "Devil Tiger" with terror constantly in their path.

SIXTY GALLONS of electrically-heated hot water for 10c A DAY! A NEW low rate is being offered for electric water heating. This is a flat annual rate for year round service, and enables you to enjoy the convenience of electric hot water for as little as 8c a day for 40 gallons. Sixty gallons of hot water cost 10c a day, and eighty gallons 12c a day. Under this new arrangement, you may also obtain a seasonal rate for electric hot water, should you desire to use the heater only during the summer months. This rate is somewhat higher—about 11c a day, for 40 gallons, 13c a day for 60 gallons, and 16c a day for 80 gallons. You may buy or rent an electric water heater, whichever you choose. Rental rates are low for these heaters, and if you prefer to buy the heater, convenient monthly terms may be arranged. The low rate for this service is possible through the use of a specially designed heater which stores the hot water during the night hours. Once you have enjoyed the convenience of abundant electric hot water, in a definite quantity, you will wonder how you ever did without it. There is no waiting for water to heat on a stove, no running up and down stairs to "pat a tank" or light a manually-operated heater. You decide how much water your family needs and put in a heater of that size. A supply of hot water is heated at night and is available throughout the day and night. For bath and for shower, for shaving, for washing dishes, for the laundry, for house-cleaning, for countless daily tasks, abundant hot water is a comfort and a convenience you should not be without. An electric water heater is an indispensable part of your house equipment. Modern automatic electric water heaters are on display at your nearest Detroit Edison office. Come in and see them today.

SAVE-by getting MORE LIVE POWER per gallon in STANDARD RED CROWN SUPERFUEL. More Live Power per dollar describes this important advance by Standard's refining engineers just as accurately as "more Live Power per gallon." The amount of keen, responsive propelling power delivered by gasoline is the only true measure of its dollar-and-cents value. On that count, Standard Red Crown Superfuel gives you a full money's worth, plus. We know that. It has been established by tests of many gasolines. A new car with a high compression engine requires Superfuel's responsiveness to perform at its best. And, if you have an older model which has begun to slow up, Standard Red Crown Superfuel is prescribed. Chances are there is still plenty of vigor in the motor. The extra Live Power in Superfuel will bring it out. May we suggest that you get a tankful? Make Superfuel prove, in your engine, what has been said here about its economy and performance. Judge it critically—fairly. At All Standard Oil Stations and Dealers. Distributors of Atlas Tires.

BANQUET FOR HONOR PUPILS IS FINE AFFAIR

Dr. T. Paul Hickey Is the Guest Speaker Of The Evening

The honor students are deeply indebted to the P. T. A. association for the splendid banquet which was given for them. The speaker was as well enjoyed as the meal, and when one considers that the latter consisted of pressed meat, escaloped potatoes, buttered beef, rolls and butter, pear salad, pickles, fish, coffee, ice cream, and cookies, he will admit that the speaker must have been first-rate.

After the invocation given by Rev. H. H. Mallinson, the whole group joined in singing "Annie Doesn't Whisper" and "Farewell, Seniors." Then Mrs. E. W. Lester, retiring president of the association, gave the welcoming address and introduced Supt. R. H. Amerman, toastmaster for the evening. He called the roll, and the honor students were obliged to stand with their respective classes. Meda Fraser, a senior, rendered "Bambalero," a rousing bass solo. Alice Zaton and Mary Louise Boyden gave a little sketch entitled "The Art Critic." Following, those two proficient tap dancers, Virginia Washburn and Helen Winters, entertained with "Raggy Ann and Andy."

The feature of the program was the informal, interesting and thoroughly appreciated talk given by Dr. T. Paul Hickey, president of the Detroit Institute of Technology. A few of the many points he brought out are these:

Life is similar to a huge sieve which is continually shaking, bringing only the big stones to the top. "Tonight you are the big stones,"

SOCIETY NOTES

Jack Junod was at Walled Lake Sunday.

Catherine Duguid went to Detroit Saturday.

Harold Booth played golf at Meadowbrook Sunday.

Welling Grimes of Ypsilanti was a weekend guest of Frances Cousins.

Mrs. Cobb entertained a college friend at her father's home in Howell.

A Sunday school picnic was given at Maryanna Condit's home. Those present were Mrs. Pierpont, Maryanna, Betty Schrader, Marjorie Hills, Frances Alexander, Ida Altman, and Elizabeth Hage of Plymouth. They later attended a show.

"Well, in that case, there'll be the cover charge."—Topics.

Dr. Hickey said, "your elders are paying you honor—and that's as it should be because you have earned it. But will you be big stones when you are forty?"

"Personality," he contended, "is more than 51% of your success. Being an honor student isn't enough—you must have more than that."

How much better to be told frankly than having some stereotyped speaker bore the whole assemblage!

The very pleasant evening was closed as everyone sang "America"

H. HOFFMAN WINS POLE VAULT TITLE

Henry Hoffman, a junior in Northville high school, won the pole vaulting event at the state meet held in Lansing last Saturday, May 25. After breaking the Suburban League record and qualifying in the regional meet, he went to the state meet and cleared the bar at eleven feet five and three-quarter inches, to defeat all others in the field. The state record is only one quarter of an inch higher, and next year Henry plans to top that.

Baldwin was eligible to go to the state meet after qualifying in the regional in the high hurdles. Paul's bad luck was with him, and he fell over the last hurdle, thus losing his chance to place.

AUTOMOBILES NEEDED TO TAKE PEOPLE TO GRADUATION NIGHT

A request for automobiles to transport people to the Northville high school commencement exercises at the Wayne County Training School next Thursday, June 7, has been made by Supt. R. H. Amerman.

Persons willing to furnish cars for this purpose are asked to oblige school officials by phoning their names and the number of people they can carry into the offices of the Board of Education as soon as possible, Mr. Amerman said.

Persons driving will be furnished tickets to the commencement. They are asked to be in front of the Board of Education office at 7 p. m.

Those persons desiring transportation to the Training School are also asked to be in front of the school at 7 p. m., June 7. "While they cannot be guaranteed seats in the auditorium," Mr. Amerman said, "it is entirely possible, as was the case last year, that there will be extra seats available."

Persons desiring tickets, he contended, are asked to get in touch with a member of the senior class of all the school. Tickets left are to be distributed among seniors and given out on request by school officials.

Each member of the graduating class has been given four reserve seat tickets and four general admission tickets to hand out to members of their families and friends and others may be available.

WILD ANIMAL SHOW AT WORLD'S FAIR IS A THRILLING EXHIBIT

The greatest of all Expositions—A Century of Progress, Chicago's World's Fair of 1934—amid pomp and ceremony befitting the occasion, swung open its portals at 9 a. m. May 26, with the entire world cordially invited to come and see a bigger and better show than last year. The crowds that flocked to the opening were enthusiastic and found that even to those who have visited the Fair before it is in many respects a new Exposition.

Among the outstanding attractions is the new Red Crown "Life Power" amphitheater which the Standard Oil Company of Indiana has erected in one of the choice locations on the lake front. This amphitheater is an ideal structure, seating 2,500 persons, with each seat in perfect arrangement so that no person has an obstructed view of the huge wild animal arena where Fair visitors will be admitted free of charge to witness the most thrilling show staged on the Exposition grounds.

The star performer will be Allen King, the world's youngest and foremost animal trainer, who will put thirty lions and tigers through an amazing series of tricks. This intrepid entertainer is a living example of physical courage. Fearless in entering the big arena with the mass of jungle beasts, jumping, leaping and snarling about him, he shows what the live power of the cats means by demonstrating their agility, action, and stamina.

Allen King is only 25 years old, yet he has spent most of his life in training animals. He is the one trainer who best understands jungle beasts. His middle name "could be" "daring." So indifferent is he to the tigers and lions once he is within the big steel cage!

Four free shows will be given daily. Handling of the animals that many times a day is extremely hazardous, yet King smiles and goes about his nerve-racking performance as though they were all part of a normal day's work.

Aside from the big wild animal show by King, the Red Crown arena directors have engaged Miss Zorrella Nelson, expert and skillful woman trainer, to present a group of elephants in a diversified program of tricks and stunts.

Everlast is welcome to the Red Crown Show. The handsome, new amphitheater located on the east side of Leif Erikson Drive, across from the Travel and Transport Building, which has access of every person entering the Fair grounds.
