

TWO WILL BE NAMED ON THE SCHOOL BOARD

Annual Meeting Will Be Held on Monday,
July 9

Announcing the date of the annual meeting of the Northville school district for July 9, Sherill W. Ambler, secretary of the school board, stated Wednesday that the year had been closed with all bills paid, all scrip redeemed and favorable financial outlook for next year.

The voters will have to elect two members to the school board, one to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Dr. Paul Alexander, who was treasurer, and the other to replace President John Kalbfleisch, who has announced that he will not be a candidate for re-election.

So far Dr. J. H. Todd, local dentist, and George H. Stalder, Detroit attorney with the Universal Credit company, who have been persuaded by friends to run, are the only candidates for the two board positions. Any taxpayer, however, is eligible to run, both nominating and electing being done at the annual meeting.

Secretary Ambler warned against voters believing they will vote for president and treasurer of the school board. That is not the case as the board elects its own officers.

During the past year, the school district issued $8,000 of the $11,000 scrip printed. That has all been redeemed and the school will proceed on a cash basis, Mr. Ambler says.

There is more than $9,000 due in delinquent taxes, Mr. Ambler continues, besides $5,000 in the town, Detroit First National Bank of Detroit. This is covered by the Massachusetts Bonding and Surety Company, and if the Second Bank Deposits Insurance Act, recently passed by Congress, does not cover the account 100 per cent, the company will make it good.

Mr. Ambler was called before the Wayne County Tax Commission last week to have the school accounts and expenses for the last year as well as next year's budget, reviewed. The commission, allocated to this district, Northville Number two, fractional, 75 mills out of the 15 mills maximum. This is the same as $7.50 per $1,000 assessed valuation.

Secretary Ambler anticipated that this will bring in somewhere between $17,000 and $18,000.

This total revenue alone, in the opinion of the school board, will keep the school running for six months and with the forthcoming aid, members believe that anyway a nine, and maybe a ten, month year is assured.

MITCHELL MOVES PLUMBING OFFICES TO 260 S. WING ST.

A. P. Mitchell, Northville plumber, has announced this week that his headquarters have been moved from the Lyke Hardware on Main street to his home at 260 South Wing street.

Mr. Mitchell has, in addition to his plumbing business, worked up a fine trade in cleaning and repairing furnaces. The summer, says Mr. Mitchell, is the time to have furnace work done because there is no interference with service and he is able to repair more efficiently when the furnaces cold.

Mr. Mitchell's phone number for service calls is 387.

DR. DAN BRIEF WILL TAKE OVER PRACTICE OF DR. ALEXANDER

Dr. Dan Brief, graduated by the University of Michigan School of Dentistry, this year, will be the successor to Dr. Paul R. Alexander, who died June 4 after 22 years of service here. Mrs. Mary Alexander announced this week.

Dr. Brief comes here highly recommended. Mrs. Alexander said, "I hope all my husband's friends and patients will patronize him."

Dr. Brief, who is 25 years old, will open business in the former location of Dr. Alexander, upstairs in the Lapham Bank Building on Monday, June 25. He is unmarried.

ENDS TERM

JOHN KALBFLEISCH

ALUMNI DINNER SET FOR NEXT FRIDAY

Plans for the twentieth annual Northville high school Alumni banquet, to be held in the gymnasium next Friday, June 23, are fast being completed.

With a business meeting at which officers for the coming year will be elected starting at 5:30, the banquet will begin at 6:30. Lee A. White, member of the editorial board and librarian of The Detroit News, will speak following the dinner, and then those in attendance will dance until midnight to the music of the orchestra.

Mr. White, nationally prominent in the newspaper world, is a widely known speaker, and Alumni officers urge all members to hear him.

Mr. White will be introduced by another Mr. White, Harry H. White of Northville, graduated from the local high school in 1911, who will be toastmaster. Northville's Mr. White is known in this vicinity for his column in The Record, "This Week."

Immediately after the dinner, several musical selections will be rendered. The program committee is working on that part of the entertainment and will make complete announcements next week.

A special table is being set up for Northville high school's newest Alumni, the members of the senior class of 1934, and they are especially invited to come. Mrs. Eliza Jane Wagnerschutz, president, said, "The seniors are exempt from dues during the first year."

The class of 1934 is holding a reunion at the banquet, and a special table will also be set up for them. Miss Jane Lawrence, Alumni treasurer, emphasized that reservations for the banquet must be made on or before Wednesday, June 27. These may be phoned into Miss Lawrence or to Mrs. Wagnerschutz. Each member is entitled to bring one guest. The price of the banquet is 50 cents.

While bids for the dinner are being made by various local organizations, the menu has not yet been decided.

The committees for the past year have been as follows:
Program: Mrs. Horace Boyden, Mrs. Robert Coleman, and Miss Reva Schrader; decorating: Mrs. Ward Masters, Mrs. Merrill Sweet, and Miss Helen Hammond; nominating:

Seniors Return From A Glorious Trip To A Century of Progress In Chicago, "So Tired, But So Happy"

Editors: Note: Miss Jane Lester, president of the senior class that went to Chicago, wrote this account of the trip on request of The Northville Record.

BY JANE LESTER

Twenty members of the senior class of 1934 and their two chaperones, Mrs. Ida B. Cooke and Supr. R. H. Amerman, left last Sunday night, June 10, at 11:30 or thereabouts for Chicago and the World's Fair. We saw the Fair and Chicago for four days, finally returning on the morning of Thursday, June 14. After making several stops on the way to Chicago for various reasons, we finally arrived at the great city. We were very excited, or something, and didn't sleep much on the trip. So on reaching the hotel (the Atlantic), we all made a rush for the beds. About one o'clock everyone went down in the lobby and then went to the fair grounds. A sight-seeing excursion of the grounds was

VILLAGE AND TOWNSHIP OWE $126,439 IN TAXES

Those Who Are Delinquent May Pay In Ten
Annual Installments

Data compiled by Jacob P. Sumeracki, county treasurer, reveals that taxpayers of the village of Northville are delinquent to the extent of only $42,598.84 in their taxes for 1932 and prior years. In the township of Northville the figures for the same period are $83,840.66.

These delinquent taxes may be paid on the installment plan, under provisions of the Moore Holbeck act, the emergency tax relief measure passed by the legislature. The act provides that payments may be made in ten equal annual installments providing the first one is made before Sept. 1, 1935. By taking full advantage of this plan interest and penalty charges are eliminated, resulting in savings as high as 53 per cent in some cases.

Mr. Sumeracki's books show that in Plymouth city the tax delinquency for the 1927-1932 period totaled $21,292.18 and in the township $99,860.93. Until July 1 of this year Mr. Sumeracki will accept 1933 delinquent taxes without interest or penalty charges. Already large numbers of taxpayers have taken advantage of this money saving offer.

REPUBLICANS TO ORGANIZE YOUNGER MEN

Dr. Snow To Aid In Plans
For New G. O. P.
Club

A Young Republican club is to be formed in Northville under the sponsorship of C. M. Zimmerman and Dr. L. W. Snow, out-county candidate for the office of coroner.

Republicans between the ages of 21 and 40 will be accepted and the organization of the club, according to Mr. Zimmerman, will begin with a preliminary meeting to be held soon. Dr. Snow will define plans for the organization of the club and objectives for the coming election will be decided upon. The club has the backing of the Northville Community Republican club, formed last spring.

Dr. Snow, who has been speaking throughout the out-county districts during the past few weeks has met a surprisingly welcome reception in Wyandotte, River Rouge, Ecorse and other communities where he has addressed audiences.

With the full strength of the Wayne County Medical association behind him as well as the Out-county Protective League and a host of Republican clubs in Detroit, Dr. Snow is well enabled to play a good account of himself in the primary election next September.

Surveys among other candidates, Dr. Snow was introduced at the fourteenth congressional district, held in Detroit and was given much favorable attention. His past having been a general doctor several weeks, Dr. Snow has well earned the necessary amount of experience to fill the office of coroner.

Dr. Snow was introduced at the fourteenth congressional district, held in Detroit and was given much favorable attention. His past having been a general doctor several weeks, Dr. Snow has well earned the necessary amount of experience to fill the office of coroner.

The many years of office of coroner has been with him a most interesting experience, but this year Dr. Snow has been nominated to the position of coroner over the out-county districts. Increased at some of the practices in the county office, out-county delegates and a number of them (for Snow) believe officials have neglected the many years of the body which makes it possible for a body to be in office for eight years, after which it has had the unfortunate lot of being a representative at the county office in Detroit. A law is in existence which applies to a person who has not with actual or virtual office before the coroner's office has had an opportunity to investigate.

Dr. Snow's attention, he says, when he gains the office of coroner is to appoint deputy coroners in all outlying districts so that one may be quickly available should the need arise. This plan has been suggested previously but has met with opposition from the past county coroners.

Dr. Snow is scheduled to speak before Detroit Keweenaw club during the next few weeks and during the latter part of September will address an audience of 10,000 persons at the Walled Lake homecoming which will be held south of Belle Isle.

W. H. M. S. MEETS JUNE 26

The W. H. M. S. will meet Tuesday, June 26 for a pot-luck dinner at the home of Mrs. James Lapham.

Everybody is urged to be present for election of officers.

TAX ROLL IS ACCEPTED BY THE COUNCIL

Rate Set at $19.70 Per Thousand; Budget
$50,000

Acceptance of the village roll, prepared by the assessor, Charles L. Blackburn, formed the most important part of the council's activities at the meeting held Monday at the village hall.

Dr. H. H. Burkart, as the local head of FERA work here, announced that the village free financing project is now under way and gives employment to five men daily. Chief proponent of the repair of a sewer on Base Line road, the construction of a storm sewer on Elm street, the repairing of sidewalks all over the village. These projects will be under way shortly and will provide employment for approximately 20 men.

Treasurer John Litsenberger informed the council that there are $32,000 worth of paving bonds falling due on the first of the month. This amount is to be paid out of the sinking fund, he said.

Superintendent Earl Montgomery reported that the water reservoir had been thoroughly cleaned Saturday, June 2 and that Fairview springs were cleaned out Monday, June 11.

QUILTS AS OLD AS 140 YEARS SHOWN AT EXHIBIT FRIDAY

For exciting their latest hopes, the Quilt Exhibit given by the Presbyterian women Friday afternoon, June 22, was a most successful one.

One hundred and fifty quilts of all ages, many valued patterns being on display about the church house, were admired and examined with keen interest by a constant procession of spectators from morning until late afternoon. It was apparent that those who had patiently plied their needles in this home craft were most enthusiastic in their appreciation of the exhibit.

A pertinent response was made to those from far and near all the years of their quilts and the fact that many of the hands that had labored patiently in the construction of these quilts were now in the midst of their golden years.

These who know quilts recognize the quaint names of these quilts—"Blazing Star," "The Fan," "Dresden Plate," "Tulip," "Double Wedding Ring," and "Basket." Among the most beautiful perhaps were the apertures of the quilts, those of the modern day not greatly differing from those of the days of our grandmothers.

Outstanding in interest among the quilts was the old-time tree-trunk pattern pieced during the Civil War by Thankful Makepeace, Palmer in 1863. Key in a chest all these years as too precious for use, it is like new, its colors as vivid red and greens as in the days when the cloth was dyed in the primitive methods. This quilt was made by the owner, Mrs. Ursula Hartsoch, of Plymouth.

A quilt loaned by Mrs. Cora McLeod of Detroit took second prize in a Century of Progress last summer.

A quilt placed by Mrs. Jennie White, now 94 years old, a George Washington 60-centennial quilt, made by Mrs. Ida Putnam of Williamston, sister of Mrs. A. E. Fuller, and an album quilt made in 1851, now owned by Mrs. Charles L. Dubuay, attracted special attention.

Beautiful old hand woven coverlets, one 140 years old, were among other treasures brought forth for this day of remembrance and tribute to the patient toil of our forebears.

One pleasant feature of the day was the pause for a delectable luncheon served by Mrs. Frederick Hedge and Mrs. Archie Kerr at noon to which 160 guests were seated.

The finance committee of the Women's Union, who sponsored the event, gives credit to all those who cooperated so well for the financial success. Nearly $60 was taken in.

ENGLAND DEFAULTS TO U. S.

The United States politely told Great Britain that if it couldn't pay all of its debt installments due June 15, it needn't pay any.

And the British government in just as polite language replied that it couldn't pay all and therefore would pay nothing. But the officials added that they had "no intention of repudiating their obligations" and would be glad to talk over the whole matter.

We are inclined to sympathize with England? That nation has shown a different spirit than France. The British are honorable—they pay 100 cents on the dollar. We gave them stiffer terms than we asked of the other allied nations—one of whom, France, has shown a very dishonorable attitude towards its debts to us. To say "You must pay all or none" is foolish when you look at actual conditions. If we business men in Northville had had to "pay all or none" on our debts of the past two or three years, we should have thrown up our hands and said: "We can pay none." What has happened has been that those who owed us have paid their installments, little by little, perhaps and we have turned around and paid ours. The result has been that we are all palling out of the mud and before long will be "over the hill."

The plain facts are that we shall have to take what we can get out of the war debts and let it go at that. Senator Hiram Johnson to the contrary notwithstanding. The Cop-henry war-debt pyramid runs up to a height of eleven billions of dollars and you can put it down now that these billions will not all be paid. If we are smart we shall look at a war-broken world and then sit down with our good friends, the English, and settle the war debts with a view to human justice all along the line. The world is too bankrupt to pay back all that was burned up, blown up or sunk in the Seven seas from 1914 to 1918.

WHY A DRIVER'S LICENSE?

We have just been wondering why the state of Michigan issues drivers' licenses for those who run automobiles.

Two concrete cases of accidents bring the thought to our mind. A big truck (which ought to be run on a railroad track) turned to the left in front of a motorist and then suddenly without any signal, turned to the right and the motorist crashed into the truck. Later, in an investigation, the truck driver lied about the way in which he was driving. The other man is put to a big expense and trouble because the truck driver didn't use ordinary horse sense—not to mention fair play to the rest of the folks on the road—in his use of a big truck. Just why should such a man be allowed the use of the highways and be allowed to endanger the lives and property of others?

In the other incident a deaf man, over 70 years of age, driving an antiquated car, turned to the left quickly just as another motorist, who had blown his horn, went to go by. He saved the lives of the deaf man and his wife, the owner of the other car turned to the right and crashed his automobile into a small roadside building. Luckily no one was hurt, but his car was badly wrecked. "Didn't you hear my signal?" asked the driver of the wrecked car. "No, I didn't; you see I'm deaf," was the reply of the elderly man. "Well, why didn't you look in your rear vision mirror?" persisted the other. "What's that?" was the naive reply. What can be done with that type of driver on the public highways?

A license to drive an automobile ought to mean that a man or woman has certain qualifications and is a safe person to allow on the streets or highways. Yet it means little or nothing for public safety. These licenses are always checked by the officers after the wreck, when it is too late. Some day we shall have a different system and morose, half-wits and reckless fools won't be allowed to get behind the steering wheels of automobiles and go around scattering death and destruction.

DR. TUGWELL IS CONFIRMED

Dr. Rexford Guy Tugwell, the so-called No. one "Brain Trustster," has been confirmed as assistant secretary of agriculture by the senate, after a red hot debate between partisans of the "New Deal" and those who fear that our old Americanism is being made over into something like state socialism.

The facts developed in the senate hearing show that the mild-mannered Columbia university liberal has no horns. He admitted that he still believes in the Constitution and is absolutely opposed to putting Soviet Russia plans into effect in this country. When he says all of this, he shows that he is not the wild revolutionist that he has been painted.

Dr. Tugwell is unquestionably an able man, with liberal views on economic changes. But he is doing what all radicals do sooner or later when they get to face actual situations, viz., mellowing and softening his radical views. Contact with the practical world changes views of those who think they have found the millennium. It is easy to be a professor and sit apart in one's study or classroom and plan to re-make the world—but to go out and do it is another matter. Professor Tugwell is finding out that the millennium is not just around the corner and he is also finding out that human nature is about the same as when

David looked after the sheep on the hills of Palestine. The longer the professor rubs elbows with a real work-a-day world, the more he will swing from the liberal left to the conservative right.

So the country will be safe with Dr. Tugwell helping to work out the farm problems. Of course he is not a dirt farmer and will lack a lot of sympathy with those who know what it means to milk seven cows before breakfast, but on the other hand, he has a lot of theories and some of them may work out. In the meantime he has found out that the American people are pretty well satisfied with a lot of the old habits and that the United States cannot digest too much of a "revolution" at a time. "Git up, Napoleon, there's a lot of farming to be done today."

WANDERING THOUGHTS

NRA is a year old. Opinions differ as to the longevity of the child.

If there was ever any more maudlin, idiotic and morose five minutes on the radio than that last spasm of the "big fight" of Thursday evening, June 14, we don't know what it was.

Senator Couzens says that he won't vote for Arthur J. Lacy, even if he should win the Democratic nomination for governor. Former Judge Lacy should be grateful for the left-handed compliment.

The rains of the first of the week again remind us that Michigan always comes through every season with some crops. We do not know the loss of drought as the Middle West and the West know it.

Detroit has a lot of good left in the old burg. Thirty thousand people went to Belle Isle at sun-up Sunday morning to sing hymns and to hear a Protestant pastor and a Jewish rabbi speak. If we could bring back a little of the old-time peace and quiet of the Sabbath there would be fewer folks completely worn out in mind and body by the "day of rest." And Monday morning would find more people keen and alert for the week's work. If Sunday's gasoline bill could be put into chairs for the front porch, into flower gardens and good books we should all be richer.

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION

Is there any finer happiness than that gained by serving people?

Harry Clark was driving through town Saturday with a load of hay and in some way one of the wagon wheels caught in the car track on Main street, overturning the hay on the pavement. Harry's foot was caught in one of the wire bands on the hay and he narrowly escaped being hurled under the load. As it was, his ankle was badly sprained.

"SOAK THE RICH"

Robert Gifford, in The Eaton Rapids Journal.

Business man's advice to his son: Be a good boy and save your money and when you grow up you can give it to the government to be turned over to the fellow who wasn't a good little boy and who didn't save his money.

THE TAX BURDEN

Fred D. Keister in Iowa, County (News).

David Lawrence writes of mounting costs of government, in the course of recovery experiments, and he expresses alarm over the amount of tax money to be exacted by growing federal obligations. Increasing tax burden in order to spend our way out of the depression does not impress Lawrence as sound reconstruction. He closes a lengthy review with this observation:

"If we want economic recovery and such social regeneration as society is willing to digest under the existing constitution and American standards of living, then we ought to persuade the administration to reopen the markets where capital has been stagnant to revive and enlarge them. Trade to make such agreements with other countries as will not destroy our productive power and our industries, and to begin at once the elimination of all duties and subsidies.

"Such a day of reckoning should be welcomed as the true inauguration of a new deal in America's fiscal affairs."

STRONG BEER AND DRUNKENNESS

Phil T. Rich in Midland Republic (Iowa).

Midland, Iowa, a dry community, has witnessed the spectacle of more drunken men on its streets since the advent of strong beer than at any time in recent history. Perhaps the hard liquor is also a contributing factor, but trading with it can be seen any day on the streets coming from those places where they are allowed to mix up all they can eat.

This "high-powered" beer is vile stuff and with the heavy alcoholic content allowed, we would place it just about on a par with the rotten moonshine which turned out many a local stomach in prohibition days. Some beer makers are holding down the alcoholic content and still offer a mixture, a few glasses of which will not make a person drunk, but the general run seems to favor the stronger beverage.

Today, one may see men hardly able to walk, get into their cars and drive off; men sick from over-drinking; vomiting in or using the streets and alleys as a toilet; men cursing and occasionally fighting in public places. It is disgusting and needs correcting at once.

In the first place the city council has the authority to recommend that licenses in the places running rough-shod over all decency, be revoked. In the second place beer having more than six percent alcohol or a little stronger than the 32 should not be sold over the counter. The state liquor commission could probably correct that condition.

We have talked with quite a number of people who like the taste of beer. They do not like this strong stuff being offered now. They want mild beer, which will not leave them with a frightful headache the next day.

Just recently we talked with one of the leading exponents who favored the repeal of the 18th amendment. "Had I known it would be handled this way I never would have voted for it," he said. He added that the present trend was simply going to bring local option quickly. "Why, in the old days they had the bars, but you never saw women and children hanging around them like you do in these modern saloons," he continued. Incidentally, this gentleman was a democrat.

There can be but one answer to the present problem: Lock up the drunks and fine them or send them to jail for continued violations. Change the present system to stop alcoholic content of beer on sale at public places, or revoke the licenses of those places which encourage excessive drinking.

We believe we have the right men in both the city and state positions to bring this about. But they must awaken to the fact that some immediate action is needed.

THE GOOD ONE ALMOST GOT AWAY.

(Joe Haas in Holly Herald)

Every newspaper's mail is not gatted with stuff from the various departments at Washington and Lansing, most of which is pure junk and is chucked into the waste basket without being opened. When this week we noticed a Lansing envelope that looked a little different to the usual run of taxpayer paid stuff, and we opened it—it contained the state check for our auto license rebate.

IMPROVE IT OR QUIT IT

(R. G. Jeffries, in Lowell Ledger)

We think the National Recovery Administration is taking a wise course in deciding to abandon the effort to place every kind of business down to the smallest one-man tailor shop under some sort of a code. We can see where the codes of fair competition may prove in the long run to be of the greatest value to producers and consumers alike, as well as to wage-earners in the large competitive industries.

We understand that control of operations under the codes is being gradually transferred to the industries themselves, and that the expectation is that before long the hand of the Government will be entirely removed, except as it may serve as a mediator in disputes between industries or within an industry.

But we have never quite understood how the Government expected to be able to police the whole country to see to it that no scabber half-soled pair of shoes for a nickel or a dime was than some other cobbler wanted for the job, or that every filling station lived up strictly to the file of the forty-hour week for employees. Local businesses dealing only with local customers, particularly when they are small concerns operated by the owner and a few helpers, must consider service to their trades first of all, whether it means conforming to the customs or rules imposed for some other line of business, or some other compulsion, or not.

We agree in principle with the idea of keeping unfair competition from outside of the trade territory of independent local merchants. We have not seen much of that so far, however, in the operations under the NRA. It was our understanding, and the President's declared purpose, to put the small business man on an equality with the big business men. From all we hear, big business is well pleased with the results of the code so far, but many small business men are not.

Therefore, as we have said, we welcome the news (and hope that it comes true) that these small, local businesses are going to be included in the new set-up of the NRA.

RECORD QUESTION ANSWERED

(E. O. Gildart in Utica Sentinel)
After a most able and temperate preachment on cigarette smoking in general, Dick Balfanz in the Northville Record winds up as follows: "Will the women now smoking be still smoking cigarettes when they get to be grandmothers, and what will their grandchildren think of them?" The answer, Dick, is "A plenty."

A MAN WRITES UP A WEDDING

(Darnall's Service)
It was a wonderful evening. The girl was as sweet as any girl who ever lived, but modern.

As she walked up the aisle on her father's arm, her lips tightly closed, she was a picture of modest beauty. It is a picture of modest beauty.

Her filmy wedding gown and go-sartier veil floated around her fair blood head like a halo. She was as nearly an angel as girls get to be in this world. At the altar, as she passed from her father, the man she always loved, to the other man to whom she would devote the rest of her life, her dainty slipper touched a potted lily resting on the floor and turned it over.

Smiling again, she turned to the dear old pastor waiting at the altar and said: "That was a hell of a place to put a lily."

A new column, "The Office Waste Basket," is on another page of The Record for the first time this week. It is a picture of modest beauty.

Prize Essay By John Angell

Gets First Place In Contest

On History of American Flag

John Angell, twelve-year-old son of Mrs. Harriet Angell, had the honor of winning first prize in the history contest in the seventh grade in which 14 students competed, in Northville and Plymouth schools.

The purpose of this contest is to stimulate patriotic interest in the history of our country. It is sponsored by the Sarah Ann Cookman Chapter, D. A. R.

HISTORY OF THE AMERICAN FLAG

To all Americans, whether young or old, the history of our nation is of great interest, and what subject is more interesting than the story of our flag, the emblem of our country? No story is more thrilling than that of our beautiful banner beneath whose folds many battles have been won.

Every star and stripe that adorns our national ensign has a story. They speak to us about battles which have been fought during the earlier and later history. They tell the story of the present and the still greater stories of the future. Beyond these, they speak of Liberty and Union, and of the Constitution and the Laws.

Every American youth should study the history of the flag, and learn its trials in peace as well as in war. To do this, we must go back to the colonial times long before we thought of the present banner with its stars and stripes.

The Stars and Stripes, is older than the flag of any other nation. The flags used by the Colonies before the Revolution were chiefly those of the mother country. Although there were many other designs, they were usually combined with some features of the British colors.

There were many changes in the British flag, but the red cross of Saint George gradually worked its way back again with some variations. The new flag, of these was a crimson banner with a red cross on a white field in the upper corner, and in the center of the flag a white cross.

AMERICA'S BIG JAG

(J. John Pope in Grandville Star)

If the American people are not attempting to drink themselves into prosperity, then I'll say that the Red Sea is black. Where horse-drawn wagons, supplied some odd dozen beer joints in the "Good Old Days" today ten trucks are servicing the trade at the ratio of 16 to 1 of former delivery quotas.

In the good old days many a father or usually consumed enough at the bar to over-satisfy the worried wife and family. Today Sally is making many a daddy look like a piker. The cigarette for Sue takes the place of the free lunch of father and all is structures a year.

A building revival could fall far below these high limits, and still be the most powerful of factors in fighting depression. No dollar we spend does more work in stimulating domestic trade and providing employment, than does the building dollar. Survey shows that 37.3 per cent of all money spent goes to labor at the site—to excavators, graders, carpenters, masons, plumbers, plasterers, etc. The balance of 62.7 per cent goes to buy needed materials and supplies—and the great bulk of that is paid to workers in the plants and factories manufacturing them. In general, about eighty cents out of each dollar goes to labor, directly or indirectly.

The heavy industries—those supplying such manufactures as steel, lumber, cement—were hit hardest by hard times. They are facing the gravest difficulties in recovering from them. Spurring construction would do much to solve a legion of our most troublesome problems.

Artificial Mouth and Ear Speak and Listen During Tests of Telephones

Above: A telephone receiver being clamped to the artificial ear in the Bell Telephone Laboratories, to undergo tests of its efficiency in reproducing the human voice.

Agitated by electric currents, the telephone receiver reproduces the sounds which are "heard" by the transmitter at the other end of the telephone line. The telephone receiver can thus be regarded as an electrical mouth.

Receivers Have Single Task. The telephone mouth, however, has somewhat more limited functions than do human mouths. Human mouths talk into the space of rooms, big and little, and into open spaces. Sometimes human mouths must talk softly, sometimes loudly; sometimes they must shout.

Telephone mouths (receivers) have a single task. Held close to human ears, they talk always into the same kind of room, as it were, and must do so without wide changes of loudness. To test telephone receivers, other than by having them talk into human ears, telephone engineers had to devise an artificial ear for the telephone.

Human mouths could be used to speak into these "electrical ears" of the telephone system; but the great amount of talking necessary would become a laborious and tedious task for those mouths. Therefore an artificial mouth was also developed at the Bell Laboratories, to substitute for a human mouth.

Must Be Like Human Mouth. In the first place, the size of the artificial mouth must be about the size of the human mouth. The artificial mouth must also be able to speak with vibration frequencies from 160 vibrations per second to 7,000 vibrations per second. Human mouths can speak in whispers or shout loudly, the loudness of sound varying about in the ratio of 100,000 to 1. The loudness of the sounds or of speech from the artificial mouth satisfactorily approximates the human mouth in this regard.

Telephone transmitters are held a short distance from the human mouth, and this affects somewhat the sounds they receive. The effect of the transmitter on the sound from the artificial mouth must be the same as for an actual speaker.

Simulates Human Speech. This artificial mouth must be able, in other words, to produce all the intonation, the naturalness, the articulation, the inflection and other qualities which make up the characteristics of human speech.

It does all this, and more. A person can speak softly or loudly, but he cannot materially change the degree of loudness of his voice without also changing its pitch, or tone. The artificial voice, by means of electrical controls, can vary either the loudness or the pitch independently. It can even transmit pure tones of any pitch.

Subject to Exact Specifications. With the human voice, it is difficult to define exactly the characteristics of speech employed during a test, or to duplicate them in another place. The artificial voice, on the other hand, can be subjected to exact specifications.

Recently, for the first time in a whole century, two young musicians were born in Alaska.

Training for Bankers

The American Bankers Association has been active for many years training young men and women in order that they may be duly qualified for the business of banking.

Standard courses are furnished with able and experienced teachers. This work is done under the direction of the American Institute of Banking Section of the association.

Over two hundred chapters, or local banking schools, are in active operation throughout the country and thousands of the younger generation of bankers are being graduated each year.

These students are taught not only banking practices and policies but they are also well grounded in the highest ideals and standards of business ethics. A proposal is now under consideration to establish a central school, which will offer advanced or graduate work to a selective list taken from those who have completed the standard courses.—F. M. Law, President American Bankers Association.

Banks Repaying Loans From R. F. C.

Although banks and trust companies have been the largest borrowers from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, they have exceeded all other classes of borrowers in the rapidity of their repayments.

Since the inception of the R. F. C. in February 1932, loans have been authorized by it to 7,000 banking institutions in the amount of $1,995,000,000. Of this sum $412,000,000 was not taken by the borrowers, the actual advances being $1,583,000,000.

Repayments against these advances through April 30, 1934, aggregated $925,000,000, or about 60 per cent. The rate of repayments for all classes of borrowers has been only about 37 per cent. These rapid repayments by the banks are taken by competent observers as a strong indication of returning normal financial and banking conditions.

NOT SO GOOD

The Los Angeles Times offers some unpleasant facts. Los Angeles has suffered a 35.5 per cent increase in drunkenness the first four months of 1934.

New York, wide-open in prohibition days, shows an increase of 55.5 per cent in intoxication since the 1920's hitting.

Other figures are: Duluth, 69.4 per cent; Worcester, Mass., 54 per cent; St. Louis, supposed to have been sopping wet through all the hard years, 23.5 per cent. Minneapolis, home of breweries, has run up her record 162 per cent. Boston goes 21.4 per cent more to booze than formerly.

Denver and Portland, Ore., hit the ceiling in new repeal drunks with 116.6 and 116.8 per cent, respectively.

Staid old Cincinnati hangs up a new hospital record by admitting 213 patients suffering from Alcoholism during January and February, over 120 in the same months a year ago. One wonders if "Over the Rhine" touched that in its palmy days.

Philadelphia may be slow, but not in arrests for drunks—these mounted more than 1000 per cent beginning with last Christmas holidays. Saloons are open—20,000 schools are closed!
