SEVERE HEAT WAVE BROKEN BY SHOWERS

Mercury Soars Above 100 As Crisis In Long Drought Is Reached

A cool refreshing shower, the first since July 6, visited Northville early Thursday morning, bringing at least temporary relief to one of the severest heat waves in more than fifty years, and coming as a boon to parched fields and gardens.

Reaching an unprecedented height of 104 degrees in Detroit Tuesday afternoon, the mercury rose to a point where all records were shattered. The official recording at the University of Michigan soared to 105.2. Although no persons from Northville were overcome, four died and many more fainted as a result of the oppressive heat in Detroit. More than 1,000 persons died from the extreme temperature throughout the United States, it is estimated.

In spite of the fact that the heat was felt so very much, the humidity in this section reached a new low of 30 per cent last week.

The devastating sun spoiled all hopes of a good corn crop, although some farmers believe that even now it will be fair. Continued showers will help, and it is believed that late potatoes may yet be saved. Weather predictions, however, state that at least today and tomorrow will be fair.

The situation is regarded by all as serious. The coming week is a critical one, and it is during that time that the remaining crops will either be saved or ruined beyond repair.

The drought which is the worst on record, has had an effect not only on local farms, but on the National Recovery program of the federal government. Department of agriculture officials, who up until this time had been attempting to advise farmers to abandon their crops, started it was found that too many of the band members were found to be out of town on vacation. The concerts which start next Saturday will continue Saturday evenings through August 18.

This is the first of a series of three concerts. The other two will take place on the following successive Saturday evenings August 11 and 18.

Wednesday the band played at the South Lyon Girl's day celebration.

Band officials having a difficult time getting enough musicians together, it is expected that the band will play again this year, as it has in the past, at the Northville Wayne County Fair which takes place during August 22 to 25.

At the last meeting of the school board two weeks ago, Supt. of Schools P. H. Amerman, band director, was asked by Mr. Thomas to sign, as was requested by county officials, a quitclaim deed to his property, and will not accept such a generous program. He said that he had been told time and again that the baseball field was the factor that kept the fair in operation. He traced the worth of the fair to the community and its promotion of the Fair.

Kay Richardson made the point that folks should advertise the fair to attract more people to do business with friends to come early and often.

William E. Fornay said he asked Henry Fud to donate all the land needed for the road improvement assignment in all the fair grounds, along the east side of the tracks, making one more just by the road.

He added that it was positive that no one could get a longer or better show than was given by the association.

He believes that the band members should form a business organization, elect officers and hold regular meetings. "They will have a say in running their own band," he promised.

The superintendent feels that the band should be more closely incorporated with the school and should be present at nearly all school activities.

He hopes that in the future it will appear before the public more frequently.

In the meantime, the parkway will proceed within two weeks. It is anticipated that the entire drive will be completed before fall.

MRS. BAUMGARTNER PASSES SUDDENLY

Mrs. Harry Baumgartner, a long time resident of Northville, passed away at her home on River street Sunday evening after an acute attack of illness which came on Saturday evening.

The funeral service was held Tuesday afternoon in the Hearn Brothers funeral parlor, Birmingham, with cremation in the White Chapel.

The obituary will appear next week.

FARMER'S UNION

There will be a farmer's union picnic held at Walled Lake State Park Saturday, July 28. Basket lunch at noon, and speakers, games and sports will be features. Everyone is welcome to attend this picnic.

EXCHANGITES HONOR LOCAL FAIR OFFICERS

Enthusiastic Predictions Are Made For This Year's Big Event

Officials of the Northville Wayne County Fair were guests at the Exchange club meeting, Wednesday, where Vice-president Roy E. Croce handed the business with "telephonic exactness."

The meeting opened with a spirit of singing led by song leader, Orton G. Owen.

The men stood at attention for a moment in honor of the late Scott A. Lovewell, past president of the club.

The members of the Fair association present were introduced by President N. C. Schrader of the association and each was called upon to tell something about the forthcoming Fair and what he hoped to achieve.

Mr. Schrader led off by presenting for inspection a complete set of annual fair books for the 17 years of the association's history. These books were kept by Harry B. Clark.

Mr. Schrader called attention to the fact that the loyalty of the men of the fair board and of the public had kept the institution going full tilt all these years. He urged a continuance of this fine spirit and said that everyone in helping Northville was helping himself.

Ed. Fuller, veteran in the poultry division, was as eager as always to see a prosperous fair and to see the co-operation, even amid differences of opinion.

Secretary Floyd A. Northrop referred to the many former workers who had fallen out of line and will still play the following Saturday night, August 4.

When arrangements for the Saturday concert were actually started it was found that too many of the band members were found to be out of town on vacations. The concerts which start next Saturday will continue Saturday evenings through August 18.

This is the first of a series of three concerts. The other two will take place on the following successive Saturday evenings August 11 and 18.

MORATORIUM IS PLACED ON M. E. PENNY SUPPERS

Owing to the hot weather the penny suppers at the Methodist church will be discontinued for a week or two. Watch for announcement of the next supper to take place.

POLICE BAND AT SAN

The Detroit Police Band came out to give a concert to the patients at Maybury Sanatorium Wednesday afternoon. Among the musicians was Werner Wyss, who will be remembered as playing in the Northville band some years ago. While here Mr. and Mrs. Wyss called on Chief of Police Wm. H. Safford and family.

Space rental in the main hall will be handled this year at the secretary's office, and it is expected that exhibitors may have to be turned away.

In the meantime, plans for the fair are going ahead and by next week Elmer L. Smith, in charge of exhibits, expects to have information regarding the performances before the grand opening.

Dr. Paul Lovewell And His Brother, Carlyle, Seriously Injured When Car Crashes Into Truck Saturday

Dr. Paul Lovewell, 27, and his brother, Carlyle Lovewell, 24, of Akron, Ohio, are lying in the University hospital in Ann Arbor, seriously injured as a result of colliding with a truck outside Walled Lake Saturday afternoon.

Headed north on the Novi road enroute to Huron, relatives at Union Lake, the death of their father, Scott A. Lovewell, it was about 100 yards this side of the Walled Lake Amusement park that they rammed the truck, owned by the Buismyler Co., which was coming south, driven by Leo Cleary, 21, of Walled Lake. The young men were driving rapidly, according to witnesses, and apparently did not see the truck which was clear over on the wrong side of the road, about to turn east.

In the opinion of Cleary, who was right on top of the truck, Dr. Paul Lovewell, who was driving, "threw back his head in a gesture of despair just before the crash. I believe they didn't even see my truck until they were right on to it." Witnesses were divided as to placing the blame for the accident. Ledger Brown of Northville, aided by Cleary, pulled the Lovewells from their car.

They were rushed to Sessions hospital here, where medical authorities immediately took them to the University hospital. Carlyle was injured more around the chest and body, and Paul on the head and face. At first it was believed that Carlyle was not worse, as Dr. Paul was able to sit up on the way to Ann Arbor. Later developments showed, however, that Paul was hurt by far the more seriously. His condition yesterday afternoon was reported as hopeful.

At the latest report, Carlyle is making good recovery and will be brought to the home of his wife, Mrs. Elmer L. Smith, for convalescence in about a week.

Dr. Victoria Lovewell, Dr. Paul's wife, who practices osteopathy with him here, accompanied the physician to Ann Arbor, but Mrs. Carlyle Lovewell did not arrive here until Saturday night. Carlyle is a teacher in Akron.

The car driven by the two Lovewells, a four passenger sedan, which belonged to Mrs. Georgia Lovewell, was smashed beyond repair, the front right front being crushed. The side of the truck where the car hit was also quite badly damaged.

VIADUCT WILL BE BUILT AT PHOENIX

YOUNG G. O. P. CLUB ORGANIZES TONIGHT

The initial meeting of the Northville Young Republican Club will be held this evening at the library at 8:30 p.m.

Dr. L. W. Snow and Claude Zimmerman, who are organizing the organization of the club, extend an invitation to all Northville young men between the ages of 21 and 40 to attend. The club is being sponsored by the Republican Club here.

It is expected that the new club will assist the present organization in local political activities. Supervisor A. E. Aly is president of the Republican Club.

Mr. Zimmerman last week presented to here a prominent Democrat here to address the young Republicans tonight, but the identity of the speaker was not learned as the Record goes to press.

EAST NOVI SCHOOL WILL HOLD ANNUAL REUNION AUG. 4th

The eleventh annual reunion of the East Novi school will be held on August 4, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Greer, 1865 E. Main Street, near Seven Mile road. All interested persons are cordially invited to be present. A pot luck dinner will be served.

W. R. BROWN WILL BE PROBATED THIS WEEK

The will of William Rawle Brown, the finest in this section of Arrowhead Farms, who died July 20, was filed for probate in Oakland County. He left $10,000 to the Fair.

Mrs. Brown, his wife, is given entire control of the estate, together with the power to dispose of it as she deems best and to reinvest or use the proceeds.

It also provides that any part of the estate remaining after the death of the present owner shall pass to her children and grandchildren.

The main desire of Mr. Brown, as evidenced by the will, was to insure the welfare and comfort of his wife.

Elmer L. Smith had words of encouragement and the spirit of cooperation for all the enterprises of Northville's 1934 Fair.

Vice President Croce thanked the men for their fine birdseye view of their activities and made his final observation that the Northville of tomorrow is "up to the young men of today."

Six members were enjoying their vacation but will be back by next meeting to enjoy any program given and perhaps tell of their experiences.

NEW MAIN BUILDING EXPECTED TO BE ALL FINISHED NEXT WEEK

The exterior of the new main building at the fairgrounds is to be completed this week, and inside fixtures, as well as the cement floor, will be installed during the next six days.

The new building, one of the crowning improvements of the Northville Wayne County Fair this year, is painted white, and will soon have some "fancy" colored additions. Slightly smaller than the old building which was destroyed by fire, just as much space will be available for exhibits. It occupies nearly the same spot as the structure which it replaces.

Space rental in the main hall will be handled this year at the secretary's office, and it is expected that exhibitors may have to be turned away.

In the meantime, plans for the fair are going ahead and by next week Elmer L. Smith, in charge of exhibits, expects to have information regarding the performances before the grand opening.

Glen Melow, who was injured when his motorcycle struck a car on July 13, lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Melow, at 612 Oakland Place, Northville. He obtained his A. B. in music at Michigan in 1916. He received his Master's at Michigan in 1923 and is expected to get his Ph.D. in music soon.

MANY SUPPORT DR. SNOW IN CORONER RACE

He Is Recognized As Leading G. O. P. Candidate For That Office

Dr. Linwood W. Snow, well known Northville physician and former village president, is one of the leading candidates for the Republican nomination for Wayne County coroner, is making a campaign tour of note.

Dr. Snow is strongly backed by Northville citizens, businessmen being his most ardent supporters.

With the Outer Wayne County Protective League backing him and with strong Detroit candidate looking up observers of the political scene give him more than an even break to take the nomination in the primaries this September.

As his campaign gathers momentum, the doctor and his backers are becoming more energetic than ever. Wayne County villages are almost without exception behind Dr. Snow.

Dr. Snow, an influential member of the Northville Republican club, was largely responsible for the idea of the proposed Young Republican club, which will be organized this evening. The prospectus of Northville during the darkest and meanest years of the depression, his supporters call attention to the fact that he reduced the village budget from $85,000 to $47,000, instituting an economy program by which he was able to cut the bonded indebtedness.

The new strip, leaving the Northville road where the Parkway Drive strikes it, will go under the Pere Marquette tracks to the east, and then curve around Pinecone lake, again hitting the Northville road. The Wayne County Road Commission will do the actual road building while the Pere Marquette will do the viaduct.

The new strip will go through the spot where the house, recently occupied by G. J. Whipple, is located, negotiating a connection of the driveway. It will be 60 feet wide and more than 1,200 feet in length. To carry it, a fill is being made along the edge of the lake almost directly opposite the old bath house, making it a mile of nearly one-half of a mile along the water.

The Pere Marquette is employing folks should advertise the fair to attract the young people to come early and often. The project 50 men being at work.

Henry Fud donated all the land for a job and got the toughest assignment in all the fair grounds, along the east side of the tracks, making one more just by the road.

It is expected that the new club will assist the present organization in local political activities. Supervisor A. E. Aly is president of the Republican Club.

Dr. Zimmerman last week presented to here a prominent Democrat here to address the young Republicans tonight, but the identity of the speaker was not learned as the Record goes to press.

SCOTT A. LOVELL,

While not so long a resident of Northville as some of our prominent men who have been taken from us by death in the past few years, Scott A. Lovewell made a strong impression upon the community and his sudden passing brings sincere grief to many friends. His qualities of geniality, of staunch friendship and of love for his community made him a leader among men.

"He was always a friend of Northville," says one of our finest citizens who had known him intimately ever since his coming here. "I never knew him to say an unkind word about anyone." This is the tribute of another friend and surely that is very fine praise in a time when we are all more or less critical of each other. To live among one's friends and neighbors for 14 years and to see only good in them all is surely noteworthy and a splendid example to us all.

The double tragedy of the sudden death of Mr. Lovewell and of the serious accident to his two sons makes the whole community realize that in the "midst of life we are in death" and that life for all of us hangs by a thread. Scott Lovewell's love and devotion went out to his boys in an unusual measure and it is one of life's unfathomable mysteries that as the sons he loved so well were on a last try to build when they knew that they must pay the price for material than natural conditions would demand. An appalling, crushing accident should overtake them.

The sincere sympathy of all of Northville goes out to the stricken families of Mr. Lovewell and of the sons. The death of the father in the prime of life is surely a crushing blow enough and to have this latter tragedy heaped upon the bereaved families and friends fills the cup of sorrow to overflowing. Certainly it is a time for us to turn to the Father of us all and to ask comfort and help in a time when all human help fails. With the Psalmist may we say: "Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil for thou art with me, thy rod and thy staff they comfort me."

TAKING TIME TO VISIT

An Iowa man, visiting in Northville, has done something that few Northville people have done for us—paid us a social call.

He was a friendly man who had been in the neighborhood only a few days and had been visiting with our ten-year-old son. As he introduced himself he told of his talks with this little fellow and said he wanted to be acquainted with the parents. It was a hot night and so we all sat outdoors on the porch and visited as human beings should do once in a while, when not automatically riding or searching for pleasure. The visit gave us one of the most pleasant hours we have had all summer. We learned something of conditions in Iowa, of how folks feel toward the NRA and all that, and, as the new friend left us, got an invitation to "come in and see us some time."

As the town clock struck 11 and we pulled one lone sheet over our canopy form, to the tune of a lively cricket off in the distance, we wondered why we all don't take more time just to be friendly. Tell us, friends, why don't we?

RADICALS LOSE AT SAN FRANCISCO

Just to appreciate the strike situation at San Francisco last week, imagine something that, judging from the past, could never happen in Northville. Suppose that 250 men working in the Ford plant had a grievance and they decided that after failure to settle the strike, they would inaugurate a "general strike." And then imagine that these men persuaded 30 or 100 other workers to join them in the general strike.

Picture the terrible situation. A general strike means the tying up of everything in the community; it means the paralyzing of all business and it even contemplates keeping food from the people—from men and women and children. Stores would be locked tight; no milk would come from the farmers, there would be no gasoline for automobiles. Hot headed men would start destroying property and there might be shooting and deaths.

This very situation is what seized San Francisco—not a pretty little Northville, where we are close to the potato bin—but a waterlocked city of a million and a half people. The general strike there started out to paralyze a city whose food supply would last only a few days. The strike started to bring to its knees a giant city, to meet the demands of a small group of a few thousands.

Fortunately, this attack on government, on democracy, on the fundamental rights of human beings, was short-lived. A whole city rose up and struck back in such quick fashion that the strikers became terrified at the monstrous thing they had unleashed in an innocent city and the strike began to crumble.

What is the lesson of this blow at government? Just this: This country, aided by special labor leaders, must purge itself of these foreign radicals who would destroy our government. Who started the general strike at San Francisco? A foreigner, an Australian who is not a citizen of this country. Who aided and abetted him? Communists and radicals by the hundreds—men who never did a constructive thing in their lives. These men should be haled on boats and sent back to Russia and other lands.

where democracy has fallen in the dust and where human life is as cheap as the wheat in the fields.

The San Francisco monstrosity has set back the cause of organized labor. A free America will not tolerate domination by any minority group and, the sooner the labor leaders find this out, the better off they and the whole country will be.

INCONSISTENCY OF THE "NEW DEAL"

Three Northville men were talking over the inconsistencies of the "New Deal" with regard to building new homes for our community or repairing old residences. In substance these are some of their conclusions. They are worth considering.

The government has done a splendid thing for the building trades in its plan to insure building so that those who hold the mortgages are absolutely protected. (A property could be sold as low as 20% of its cost and still the holder of the mortgage wouldn't lose.) The new law will give a citizen the chance to build a new home if he can raise only 20% of the cost of the combined lot and the house he plans to build. That is, a man with only $2,000 could build a home, that with the lot, would be worth $10,000. Or if he had $1,600 he could get a $5,000 property. And both men would have 18 years to pay for their home with interest at only 5 per cent. That, we shall all have to admit, is a wonderful law and if people start using it, thousands and perhaps millions of men could go back to work at the building and allied trades. This is the favorable side of the picture.

Now here is the dark side of the story. Provisions of the NRA nullify the good of the new law. The NRA has set up a building code and until a very short time ago, building costs as a group were only 81% lower than the peak of 1929 when everyone rolled in money and land was being sold around Northville for one thousand dollars an acre. This code forbade dealers—no matter what their local conditions, overhead or any other factors that might affect prices—from selling building materials below a certain price. The result is bound to be that men will be more for material than natural conditions would demand.

True, the government has seen its error and just recently has ordered a 15% cut in the price of building materials. But will people be satisfied with a 15% cut when they feel that if the code were removed, there might be a cut of 25% or less?

So there is the picture. Our government has done a most splendid thing in making it possible for the average man to build or modernize a home. It has provided means of financing which are veryuring, but it has turned right around and by its NRA code paralyzed the price situation until the people are afraid to build.

We submit that price fixing by Brain Trustees has many evils. And certainly it is strange that our government leaders can't see it. The common people see it and wonder.

WANDERING THOUGHTS

What has happened to Alfred E. Smith?

You will like the Northville fair this year better than ever.

The political candidates are starting their rounds. They will have to stand on "their own" this fall. No running into office on the coat tails of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

O. O. McIntyre, the noted New York columnist, has probably seen as much of life as anyone in that tremendous metropolis. Listen, boys, to what he says: "Remember, no man has ever successfully handled liquor."

Personal note: One of our college friends, now a high executive in Detroit, calls us up to ask us to be one of four laymen who will talk in his church while the preacher is away. We told him that we should give the address. Certainly the layman who listens to the preacher for 50 weeks a year ought to be sensible enough, thoughtful enough and fair enough to give at least a few ideas interestingly dressed up, to a congregation of fellow laymen on a hot Sunday morning in July.

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION

Are you willing to be judged on the way you use your leisure time?

NORTHVILLE'S YESTERDAYS

5 YEARS AGO

Walker Ballo, brother of Fred and Louis Ballo, of this place, was killed in Oakland county.

The county has bought property for a boulevard parkway system in the entrance to the village.

Dr. E. B. Carel is elected the new president of the board of education.

Some twenty Exchanterians and their families attended the club picnic at Straits lake Wednesday afternoon.

Work will be begun on a new horse show track at the Northville Fair grounds.

Workmen have finished work on redecorating all of the rooms of the school.

Dr. and Mrs. Richard Salyer have returned from Greenwich, Conn.

10 YEARS AGO

John K. Nelson has purchased one of those beautiful Landfield bungalows in Orchard Heights.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Newman of Detroit spent the week-end with Mrs. Fred VanSickle and daughter, Leah, and Miss Una Gorsky, a enjoying camp life at Walked lake this week.

Mrs. Jessie Power is camping at Lake Angelus with her sister, Mrs. E. H. Hines, and family of Detroit.

Miss Mabel Stark is assisting in the position for a month during the annual vacations of the chief and chief deputy.

Miss Ella Wilcox returned the latter part of the week from Grosses Isle, where she has been spending the past few weeks.

Mrs. Howard Arnott and daughter, Rachel, are visiting relatives at Lexington. Mr. Arnott expects to go over the last of the week for a short visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Leadbeater, Miss Pearl Whitehead and little Cherry Allan, of Detroit, were over Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Lanning.

Mrs. Raymond Sigler and little daughter, Vivian, of South Lyon, are visiting her father, Frank Brown.

J. W. Perkins, foreman of the Reed Printing office, visited friends in Diana and Flushing from Friday to Tuesday.

It was slightly more than twenty years ago that Franz Ferdinand, archduke of Austria, was insulting the moral sense of the people of Serbia by riding down the streets of Sarajevo, accompanied by his mistress.

Even if any had much personal respect for this shallow, supercilious son of royalty, he had been warned in advance that Serbian police would not guarantee his personal safety; these he disregarded. So Gavrilo Princip (who is now honored as a martyr by all good Jugoslawians) fired the fatal shot. To avenge the national honor involved in the death of this royal never-do-well, Europe threw away millions of lives and billions of dollars in a war which, for all practical purpose, was lost by all who were foolish enough to participate. United States was drawn in on the rather high-minded pretext that it was a war to make the world safe for democracy, a war to end wars.

And now, twenty years later, what do we find? Europe arming in feverish haste to be ready for the next war, the rise of dictators more autocratic and powerful than any of the pre-war monarchs.

Let America be prepared to defend her borders but at the same time keep forever free from active entanglement in the "European Mess."

—NARING THE ROADS SAFE

E. J. Hanna In The Emmet County Graphics

No accurate figures are available to show the increase in drunk driving since repeal. Only those arrested or implicated in an accident, are recorded. Those names alone show a forty per cent increase. There has yet been no sign of a decrease apparently, as someone else has said, the American people believe that liquor is not only legal, but compulsory.

There are attempts to control the drunken driving in Michigan. Most of the attempts have had to wait however until after the election.

MRS. C. WOLPE

Gerald Ziegler is working at the oil station with Ward Schuyler in Farmington.

Mrs. Anna Addis was a Thursday visitor at the home of Mrs. Mary Stowosky in Northville.

Mrs. Charles Arnold enjoyed a few days with relatives and friends in Ingersoll, Ontario, recently.

Mrs. Henry Smith invited Mrs. Anna Addis to take a yacht trip with her down to her cottage on the flats.

The ladies community club will meet with Mrs. Ernie Ash on Seven Mile road on the first day of August.

Jessie Ziegler and Charlie Wolfe went fishing Wednesday in Poniac Lake. They brought home a nice lot of fish.

The drought continues in this district. The vegetables are dried from the hot sun. Prayers have been offered for rain that is needed badly.

The Ladies Association will meet at the home of Mrs. Albert Nacker on Farmington road Thursday afternoon July 26th, at two o'clock.

While assisting at a threshing Lawrence Way got a large barley head stuck in his tonsils. It took some trouble and pain to remove it.

Next Sunday the last service will be held in the church here for one month. The holiday will be used to visit other churches in other localities.

Earl Wolfe, Lucile Cavell, with her daughter, Joan, spent a day with Mrs. Cavell's father-in-law, and wife, Mr. and Mrs. John Phelps, in northern Michigan.

A baseball game between a team of old-time players and Harry Wolfe's team was held Friday on the school diamond here. Wolfe's team won the game by the score of five to three.

Albert Heichman was brought home Friday evening from Ford hospital. He is some better but will live on a strict diet. West Point friends and neighbors hope for his complete recovery.

The picnic given by the Sunday school was enjoyed by forty persons that braved the intense heat of Saturday. A few were overcome with the heat. Never in the past forty years has it been so destructive to life and vegetation as this year.

Charlie Ash met with an accident while working on the farm. A fork that he was using ran through his hand. The pain was so acute he fainted and the mother and two sisters were badly frightened. It was on Tuesday when it happened, and he is still nursing a sore hand.

A banquet was given by the community club for the supervisors and other officers in Wayne county. We were pleased to welcome these visitors to West Point Park and cordially invite them to come again. A business meeting was held. Jess Ziegler in a few words introduced the chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred M. Bond, formerly of this district, when writing to the former's mother, Mrs. C. Wolfe, said they were in San Francisco during the strike there. Fred is a lawyer in Washington, but both were glad to get away from Frisco strikers. The western people are upset from California to Washington.

Glass Globe Filled With Water, Used as Magnifier

Some sort of magnifier must have been used from very early times, for it does not seem possible that the ancient gem cutter could have accomplished their work without some aid. Possibly it consisted of a glass globe filled with water, for Seneca wrote in A. D. 63: "Letters written on paper small and dim, are comparatively large, and distinct when seen through a glass tube filled with water."

It is probable, too, that lenses of glass were also used, though the first mention of spectacles in which convex glasses were employed, is made by Bernard de Gordon about 1307.

The first microscopes were very simple in construction, consisting of short tubes of any material that would not admit the light, with a lens at one end, and a glass plate at the other.

Descartes invented such a microscope in which the rays of light were reflected on the object by means of a concave mirror.

The highest development of the simple microscope was reached in the employment of lenses of very short focus.

Robert Hook, curator of the Royal Society, when it was first formed in 1660, made these lenses by fusing a thread of glass until it formed a tiny ball, the ball was then snipped off, stuck into resin, and the remains of the stalk ground away. The tiny ball was then fixed with wax into a pin hole made in a metal plate.

HORNED DINOSAURS Roasted

AMERICA IN DISTANT PAST

There were as many as 37 different species of the horned dinosaurs on the American scene about a million years ago, according to a scientist in the New York Herald Tribune, and with the exception of one species found in western Asia, they have thus far been found only on this continent.

The Ceratopsia lived in great numbers along the western border of a vast inland sea which extended from what is now the Gulf of Mexico into northern Alberta and Saskatchewan.

They were formidable looking monsters with huge heads entirely out of proportion to the rest of their comparatively short bodies. Skulls measuring over eight feet in length have been circled, the average length of the complete skeletons found vary from 17 to 21 feet.

The characteristic features of the large head were the great horns, borne on the nose and above the eyes, and the helmet-like crest which mounted the neck. This bone crest, extending like a ruff, was in many species enhanced by horny protuberances. These dinosaurs had stinging tails, which looked somewhat like those of a scorpion, the tail ending in a stinger.

Existence of Sharks

Geologic ages as revealed in pebble beds show that sharks have inhabited all parts of the world.

It is strange to say, almost nothing is known of the existence of sharks through past eons except teeth.

The beds of the world's oceans are paved with shark teeth, dropped there by passing tides of the sea as their teeth drag on sand and were replaced or broken, cemented as their hosts died.

Since there is no reef today in a shark's body, teeth only remain undissolved by the sea and untouched by the passage of time, except they become fossilized by chemical action through endless centuries.

Rabbits Do Not Chew Cud

Hares and rabbits are members of the rodent family and do not chew a cud, although they move the jaws as if grinding or regurgitating. Cud-chewing animals belong to the ruminant family.

The cud chewing ruminant mentioned in Dentistry 1417 and Leveit 113 evidently was an entirely different animal from the English cavy (old name for a rabbit) although there are species of hare in Palestine.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Sharks Eat One Another

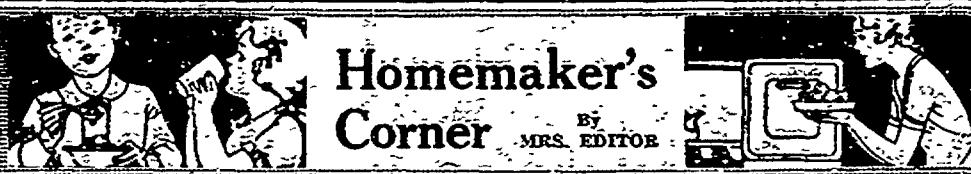

Watchfulness, the law of the sea applies to sharks as well as other fish. Their span of years—never yet counted by scientists—is dependent upon their own alertness, for, although only a shark can bite a shark, these monstrous fish are cannibals, and eat one another as well as everything else in the sea.

Old Race in Skyscrapers

A young German archeologist reports having discovered vestiges of an ancient civilization on the Arabian peninsula that lived in skyscrapers and possibly to have found the descendants of the Queen of Sheba.

A very ancient city, found in Arabia, revealed the ruins of buildings 15 stories high.

Out To Aunt Mary's

James Whitcomb Riley wasn't the only one to glory in having a dear old Aunt Mary. Five brothers gathered with their families the other day with their aunt Mary and might have sung with Riley:

"Wasn't it pleasant, O brother of mine,
In those old days of lost sunshine
Of youth—when Saturday's chores
Were through?
And we went visiting, me and you
Out to old Aunt Mary's?"

ELECTRIC

without making any investment

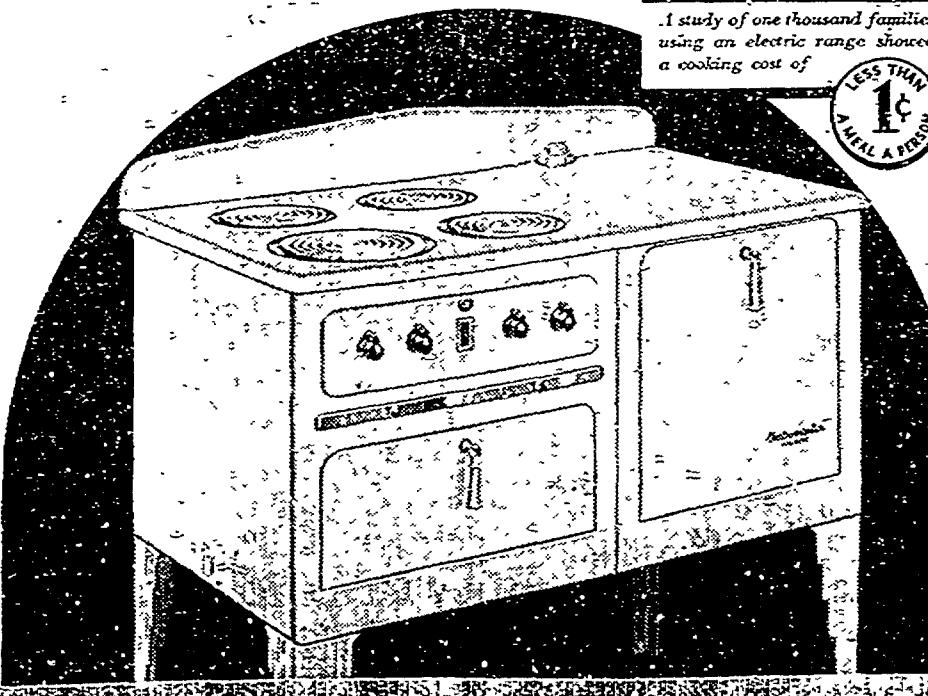

WE WANT you to try an electric range in your own kitchen without any obligation..... cook all your favorite recipes on it..... keep it for six months..... test it thoroughly under all conditions. We want you to judge for yourself whether electric cooking is not superior to any other cooking method you have ever used. And we want you to do all this WITHOUT MAKING ANY INVESTMENT.

So we have arranged a special trial offer. We will install an electric range in your kitchen without initial charge, and let you use it for six months, removing it without charge if you do not like it. During this trial period, you pay for the service as registered by your meter, plus a monthly charge of $1 for the range. If you decide to keep the range, your monthly payments will be applied toward the purchase price. If you decide that you do not want it, the range will be removed at our expense. Since this trial plan was begun a short time ago, over 3200 of our customers have taken advantage of this offer. Send in your application for a trial range today!

Foremost among the stories that Mr. Man-of-the-House tells our children are of those vacation days in joyous, bare-foot boyhood when, with his brothers he was turned loose on the farms of his uncles and aunts down in Monroe county.

Here stood the old homestead between the two giant maples, grandmother's home, where the eldest grandson first saw the light. As year after year he went back to visit, he saw the house sag a little more with age until one day he saw with a keen sense of loss a vacant spot where had stood the home of those pioneers.

Many memories cling around the new house where Uncle Joe and Aunt Mary lived nearby. Driving cows to pasture, helping to hoe corn, riding on high loads of hay and then to plunge at the close of a hot day, into the old swimming hole is possible that the small stream winding through his uncle's fields is the one he "deep river" of his childhood?

Years have passed since he began making visits to these kindred ones by one he has followed them in slow procession to their last resting place, 'till now dear Aunt Mary stands alone of her generation.

Aunt Mary, moving about her spotless kitchen carrying platters of steaming food to the table; Aunt Mary drawing rain water with a chopper. Dissolve 1 tablespoon gelatine in 1 cup cold water; add to meat tomatoes, onion juice, pepper and salt to taste. Cover with hot beef stock in which the gelatine has been dissolved. Place in mold to set.

Jellied Beef

Put the left-over meat through a long pole with a crook on the end, washing heavy iron kettles and frying pans besides countless milk cans, cans for hundreds of baby chicks in their little coops in her backyard. And that back yard! Why she actually swept it with a broom!

And when she rang the dinner bell it didn't take these busy men long to come from the field, wash in a basin on the back porch and sit down to Aunt Mary's table. Fried home-cured ham, eggs, "frickeled" with fat, plump sugar cookies and pies! Pies were always on Aunt Mary's table—even for breakfast!

After dinner she led her company

Cut slices of left-over roast beef; arrange in baking pan with slices of tomatoes, onions and carrots. Pour over it enough gravy or water to keep from sticking and cook in oven for an hour or more. Add water if it becomes dry.

Beef-a-la-Mode

First: He is the type of man that Michigan needs in this time of distinguishing entanglement and corruption of governmental affairs at Lansing. He is a statesman who is an executive and an administrator of great ability, and certainly what this state needs today is executive and administrative ability.

Second: We are also pleased because it gives us a chance to laugh back at Elmer Richard Baldwin, Claude Zimmerman, et al., who were so all-fired sure that he would not become a candidate for the nomination.

When, at the spring, he and John Haggerty announced that their feud was off and that we weren't really angry, anyway, said when we found out what Milton Carmichael, Haggerty's secretary, was mailing out Grossbeck petitions throughout the state, "we had more than a hunch that the former governor would throw his hat in the ring."

So, we're for him. We're for him for only one reason: He is the one man who can restore good, efficient, representative government in Michigan. And we think he's going to get both nomination and election, too.

After dinner she led her company

back to the kitchen to wash up.

The young couple are at home at the present time, having moved into their new home which they expect to occupy after the wedding.

BANKERS SUPPORT SOUND EXPANSION

By R. S. HECHT
Vice President, American Bankers Association

BANKERS universally recognize that the prime economic need of the nation is the stimulation of sound industrial and commercial activities and recent travels over a wide stretch of the country have shown me that they everywhere are making all effort, possible to lend considerable financial support within the scope of their proper banking functions to promoting the expansion of business activity.

Frequently in times past when our country suffered from an economic depression and consequent unemployment on a large scale, the rise of some broad new industrial development such as instance as a new industry like the automobile industry, has been a powerful factor in stimulating a return of an accelerated growth of national prosperity. Such a movement means the creation of new wealth, the employment of large groups of people on useful lines and as a consequence the production and distribution of sound, effective purchasing power, which is a form of wholesome economic stimulant that has none of the evils of monetary inflation.

A New Force for Improvement.

Perhaps we have at hand, if not the rising of a wholly new industry, a measurable equivalent in the potentialities of a widespread rebuilding and modernizing movement such as home renovating, plant remodeling, the putting of our railroads on a high speed air conditioned basis and other valuable developments in the construction field.

The effects of such activities on employment and many lines of business would be most beneficial and I can repeat without reservation that we bankers are willing and eager to play our full economic part in any such constructive developments.

It has been made to appear that money has not gone to work because of the timidity of bankers rather than what is a true explanation, however, business men have not had enough confidence in the just now outlook to borrow the dollar from the banker and put it to work.

The basic requisite to the expansion of commercial banks is a sound, vibrant business condition in which credit is sound, normal banking operations. The best business bank is the bank which for its adaptability to business needs is successful in its efforts to attract and retain customers.

Manifold Ways in Which the Banks Are Serving the Nation

Handling Millions of Transactions Daily for Individuals, Corporations and State and National Governments—The Structure Strengthened and Deserving of Public Faith

By FRANCIS MARION LAW.

President American Bankers' Association
THE banks of the nation provide good loans, nor has the interest rate ever been so low.

F. M. LAW

Banks are largely financing the machinery through which pass daily many millions of checks and drafts, aggregating hundreds of millions of dollars.

The banks are largely financing the Federal Government in its Recovery Program, involving the greatest peace-time expenditures ever known.

Likewise the banks are largely financing the current credit needs of states, counties, cities, public schools and other political subdivisions, all of which have ultimately to do with the daily affairs of all of the people.

Each bank throughout the country is making hundreds of thousands of new loans and they are renewing and extending old loans for the accommodation of a vast number of borrowers; these borrowers being individuals, corporations and partnerships; and their claims being incident to agriculture, industry and trade everywhere.

The banks, through their trust departments, are conducting the work which they have faithfully carried on throughout the depression and are protecting trust funds placed in their care against the worst criticism if rates ever known included in this activity is the service the banks are performing in connection with administering the affairs of widows and orphans.

The banks, through the medium of their savings and time deposit departments, are furnishing safety for the account holders of many millions of people and on this class of depositors' interest is paid.

The "Bank of Banks" are constantly and persistently giving advice and counsel to the people of their country, in the hope to a better understanding of banking and credit matters.

The Banks & Structure Strengthened.

The first step in this is to das the legal and structural strength of the banking system, which we have had, good enough, and it is now felt that in addition to what has already been done, there should be an increase in the safety of our savings banks to the end that a people educated banking system will be a reality and a benefit to us all.

A national credit insurance fund to insure the safety of savings banks, which is now in the process of being established, will be a great help in this direction.

There are many needs for credit which are not within the purview of the State of Michigan in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on September 1, 1934, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, Eastern Standard Time, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale at public auction to the highest bidder at the Southerly or Congress Street entrance to the County Building in the City of Detroit, Wayne County, Michigan, that being the place where the Circuit Court for the County of Wayne is held, of the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due, as aforesaid, on said mortgage, and with the hereditaments and appurtenances thereto.

The Duty of Every Banker.

It is clearly the duty of every banker in the country to perform certain services. The most important of these is:

1. To afford a safe outlet for savings.

2. To grant credit to those who deserve it.

In the latter endeavor it is important to remember that commercial banks are not lending the own money of the bank, but rather the money of their depositors, represented very largely by the earnings and savings of the people. The people who have these deposits have accumulated them through years of labor and sacrifice, and in many cases have no other assets to rely on in this respect. All these customers have the right to expect that the bank will make available to them opportunities to meet the demands of its customers.

Dignified St. Bernards
Splendid Mixture of Dog

A line of Newfoundland—a drop of bloodhound—mixed with a good measure of mastiff—and embellished with a dash of Great Dane!

Such are the ingredients which when blended in their proper proportions, have given us that exceedingly fine race of dogs—the modern St. Bernard, observes an authority in the Los Angeles Times. True, he is a cross-bred but where in any breed can be found a dog more admirably suited in disposition, temperament and dignity for the owner who demands size to a companion and guardian?

Docile and patient, his indulgent tolerance of the thoughtless where by children, is characteristic. Entering into the play in his somber way, he adopts them as his personal charges, overlooking their annoying pranks, and is ever ready to defend and guard them against intruders. His great size and impossibly velvety—deeper and of tremoniously greater volume than most dogs—is their protection against molestation. In his own way he will inspire hope and confidence within even the most dog-frighted child.

This size, strength, loyalty and bravery are traditional. Friends of his noble work in the mountains and Alps are the native Svalbards and Alpine.

A dog who no one can ever succeed him without the costliest test, alive or buried, within even the most dog-frightened child.

Rattlesnake Gets Larger
by Discarding Old Skin

Rattlesnakes increase in size by shedding their old skin when it becomes too tight. Each time the snake discards its old coat, a new ring is added to the rattle, which is at the end of the long body, but the older joints fall off when they have a swim with traveling and use. The number of rattles or points does not indicate the age, says Tit-Bits Magazine.

The rattle is composed of a series of about a dozen rings, or cups, one fitting inside the other, and at the base of each is a button-like joint. When shaking the snake shuns the sun; it drives its tail, one cup is knocked against the next, and as many work together a continuous rattle is maintained.

Some have thought that the rattle attracted prey, but we find that practically all other creatures fear the sound. One naturalist stated that the rattle given out in a subdued tone was used to attract birds that feed on insects, owing to the sound then resembling that made by large grasshoppers. Another thought that it had the effect of paralyzing the prey. When the rattle is alarmed or cornered, the noise is given out with the greatest power.

The fang of the rattle-snake, like that of most poisonous reptiles, is not a perfect hypodermic syringe. When not in use, it can be tucked out of sight and is protected by a fleshy covering. On the upper jaw we find the two main fangs, and through each there runs a fine tube connected to the duct that leads to the glands which contain the poison. Just beyond these, two more fangs are seen, but not so well developed, and still farther back are several minor ones.

Study of the ancient tombs of the Pharaohs and other antiquities connected with the crumbled empires of Egypt began seriously in the Nineteenth century when Napoleon during his Egyptian campaign ordered his archeologists to dig into the ruins. This activity led to the discovery of the famous Rosetta stone.

The Walled Lake Amusement Park is alive with activity these days, many new and interesting features taking place there.

The many varied amusement features attract many people to the lake during the hot weather. There is a free picnic ground, free parking lot, etc., which all tend to make the place more popular with the public.

This week end there will be two baseball games, both of which beyond doubt will be very exciting. Saturday, July 28, at 3:00 p.m. the Northville Wolverines will meet the Sault Ste. Marie All-Stars. Sunday afternoon at 3:00 p.m. Walled Lake will play the Detroit Police Department.
