PARADE OF PROGRESS OPENS FAIR WEDNESDAY

Big Night Show Will Mark Start Of The 18th Annual Northville County Fair

Old, New, and Odd Rigs, All Sorts of Pets To Aid In Gigantic Spectacle Before Grandstand

Northville's Fair starts Wednesday!

The curtain rises Wednesday evening for the annual four-day Northville Wayne County Fair, Aug. 22 to 25, with a gigantic "Parade of Progress" which will feature the funniest and most picturesque costumes and rigs obtainable besides all pets that the young people of this and surrounding communities can gather. Cash prizes will be awarded after the parade files down the track in front of the grandstand at 7:00 p.m. sharp.

The parade was inaugurated with great success last year and because it expressly invites everyone in this vicinity to enter, a spirit of humor and good fellowship greets the fair a flying start.

New Features Added

Besides the usual stock, fruit and grain, and handicraft exhibits several new features have been added to the eighteenth annual chapter of Northville's fair. Chief among these is the presentation of a shining new Ford V-8 Tudor sedan, fully equipped, on the final evening of the fair Saturday, Aug. 25. For the past several weeks local merchants have been giving out tickets, the stubs of which have been deposited in a box. Each patron of the fair and each patron of the grandstand will be given five tickets and the more tickets a person has the better are his chances of driving away in the new car. Selection of the winning ticket will be made on the grandstand platform. The winner of the car must be on the grounds when the winning number is announced.

Plans have been completed for the Junior and Senior High schools and will entries indicate that all events will be evenly filled with charm, interesting topics and famous sides.

Daily charge of program and 16 sets acts selected from the highest class, automobile booking exchange assure grandstand entertainments of excellent entertainment. Furthermore, a satisfactory display of aerial pyrotechnics guaranteed to be the most ambitious program ever put on at the local fair grounds, places that part of the program in a high class of exceptional interest.

A remodeled midway, replicas of curious exhibits gathered from odd corners of the world, and plentifully sprinkled with the spice of excitement are sure to please the crowds expected to attend.

Wolverines Get Competition

Northville's Wolverines, baseball champions of the M-O League and leaders in the Detroit Triple-A race, will vie with the Plymouth Hoppers, South Lyon, and Farmington teams for the large cash prizes to be awarded in the fair tournament. Harry German's Old-Timers will battle an American Legion team in an extra exhibition game Friday.

Harness men from all over the state point to Northville during the fair. The pick of the circuit races each day for large cash purses, and Harry Robinson, veteran starting judge, will have some fine fields to send away from the post. Many local regers have entered their stables in the trotting and pacing races which still attract hundreds who know good speed events are even today the "sport of kings".

The fair is too large to give a detailed account of all its ramifications and the best that can be done (Continued on Back Page)

HOME-OWNERS HERE TO GET BANK LOANS

FHA Will Back Institution
In Credit Extended For Home Aid

Northville people are now able to borrow money for the purpose of home improvements from the Depository State Bank and pay in installments over a period of three years. The bank here is in receipt of an application by the Federal Housing Administration to make loans under the National Housing Act and have them insured by the Federal Housing Corporation. In other words, the government-subsidized body will insure the credit of any person who borrows with the promise of the Housing Act.

"Any property owner, individual, partnership or corporation with a regular income from salars, earnings, business or other assured sources" may apply, the act states.

THE RADIO CAPITAL SHIFTS

It takes a trip away from home to show you that your little realm isn't supreme.

In the cottage here at Crystal lake we turned on the radio and tried for WWD and WJR. No answer. Then a few turns of the dial and in came some fine music and then the words: "This is WGN, the Chicago Tribune station on the Drake Hotel." And then later the ball game that came in was The Cubs and not the Detroit Tigers.

Well, well, so Detroit is out of the picture and Chicago becomes the center. Perhaps it is just as well to remember that this is a great big world and that every spot, no matter how small or how large, has its own peculiar appeal.

The automobile has done a lot of good things to its credit but nothing can stir the fact that it has helped mightily to do away with the "township mind."

MAKING A TOWN DISTINCTIVE

One who goes to Traverse City will not soon forget it.

This slightly resort town has done something unique—a distinctive place. It has a civic center that is something unique—a zoo, an aquarium, and something that we think we never saw duplicated elsewhere, a miniature Traverse City, built up a flat of ground about a hundred feet long. We stopped to see the spot, and found hundreds of people there.

The little city shows stores, factories, churches, schools, and other civic centers. Through it run all through tiny passenger and freight trains. Freight cars are on the streets. The whole scene is inconceivable—a neighbor, we were told, started the project.

We got to wondering what Northville could do to make it a more distinctive city. We have heard Detroit people complain rather stridently about having to stand around our quiet corners waiting for buses. They said they didn't care much in our main street to attract them. Wouldn't they feel kindly toward our town if they could wait for the busses in a convenient civic center, with flower beds and benches around?

If anyone any suggestions to help make Northville a distinctive and never-to-be-forgotten town? Doesn't this appeal to you?

WHAT OTHER PEOPLE ARE SAYING

In going around on our vacation, it has been interesting to inquire a little as to what other folks are thinking.

We all have in common the NRA and the various angles of the "New Deal." We are all interested in our state government at Lansing.

The thing that has impressed us most so far is the number of people who are now asking out loud: "How are we going to pay federal debts that are being piled up on every side?" Reporters and others all seem to have much respect for President Roosevelt but at the same time, nearly everyone seems to be concerned about the vast sums that are being spent by our national government.

A lot of these people up here on vacation are good business men and they frankly confess that this debt business looks bad to them. One man said to us: "It will be a 100 years before these debts are all paid." Of course that is an exaggeration but you can put it down that repaying billions is sure to be a long uphill struggle and we shall all sweat much before the final payment is made. You get one striking evidence of our vast spending when you realize that over 80,000 workers have been added the past year to the federal payrolls at Washington. According to excellent authority, the bureaucrats in Washington alone are providing a job for one out of every 190 inhabitants of the United States. That is a terrific figure. The Chicago Tribune, widely read hereabouts, is making a very bitter campaign on what it calls waste and extravagance at Washington.

We find little enthusiasm for the NRA but plenty of antagonism to it. The average business man calls it a hindrance and he can't see where it has helped business any. Most men agree that we have gotten into such a maze of rules and regulations that NRA is a joke and should be discarded.

Little steam is so far being generated over the state political campaign. Democrats don't agree as to whether Gov. Comstock or Judge Lacy will be named. Even in his upper peninsula, Auditor General Stack isn't taken seriously in his battle for the governorship. Among the Republicans, Frank D. Fitzgerald seems to have the inside track. Groesbeck's late entry has antagonized many. Some Groesbeck leaders will tell you confidently that they look for Fitzgerald to win. They say it will be hard to beat the solid Fitzgerald organization.

THE CALL OF THE RESORTS

Unless one gets out into the vast stretches of the upper half of the lower peninsula and into the upper peninsula itself, he can hardly comprehend what a tourist and resort State Michigan is getting to be.

For the past week all that we have been seeing on our vacation trip are lakes, rivers (sometimes mere streams) strung along woodland tourist cabin cities and places with the tourist spirit woven all through them.

and hundreds and thousands of people, from many states, all out to enjoy the realm of Michigan's outdoor paradise. We had a very difficult time to get a cottage here at Crystal lake. On our "street" there are three times as many cottages as there were when we were here 12 years ago. All the lakes are crowded. Yesterday we were at Frankfort, on Lake Michigan, and that town is literally running over with people, mostly Chicago folks.

No longer are resorters going into cottages with the windows lights out and oil lamps on the table. "Them days are gone." In our cottage—and this is a typical one—we have running water, electricity, fireplace and a complete set of dining room and kitchen equipment.

Whole families are getting out into the open in these resorts. Around us are a whole flock of children and Phil goes swimming with half dozen boys his age. A couple from Columbus, Ohio, are next to us on one side and three Detroit and Royal Oak families are nearby. All are friendly. The foolish pretensions of so-called "society" are completely laid aside.

Our landlord—who has built a whole subdivision of cottages—thinks that the new-found leisure of our people is one of the factors in bringing so many people to the lakes. He looks for a great expansion of the resort and tourist business. Men and women are weary of the noise and turmoil of the cities. Many want to escape from the heat of the states where there are no such outdoors attractions as Michigan has. Half of Ohio says our Columbus neighbor comes to Michigan for its vacation. Certainly the Ohio cars are thick on the highways.

If you have never been to Northern Michigan, you should certainly get out and see what a great state you live in. If you seek a beautiful peninsula look around you.

WANDERING THOUGHTS

As a thinking and tax-paying citizen, do you, Record reader, favor any further increase in the public debt?

It has been a pleasure to tell some of these northern folks what a splendid fair we have at Northville. See you next week.

No longer is one listed on a vacation trip. As we write this Thursday morning, August 9, several radios in cottages around us are bringing in President Roosevelt's speech from Green Bay, Wis. And we got the Detroit radio news at 6:30 last evening, from a Chicago station.

We should like a lot more enthusiasm for the President's plans if we felt that he was surrounded by leaders in charge of vast expenditures, who are as high minded as he is. We can't get over the feeling that federal bureaucrats are becoming a real menace. The number of people that Washington is now supporting is appalling. How long can this condition go on?

The world is small. Attending Rotary club at Frankfort we were introduced to Prosecuting Attorney Kilian of Branch county. It took us only a half minute to remember him as Eddie Kilian of Jackson, former editor of the Albion College Pictorial while the writer was the editor of The Albion Evening Recorder. We never dreamt he would become a lawyer, but pictured him as a quiet man.

Life on the upper peninsula, this section of Michigan around Traverse City and Frankfort—seems little affected by the drought. But as a matter of fact, resorting brings more dividends than general farming. We were surprised to find that since our last resorting trip to here, 12 years ago, large cedar beds have been developed here. Natives tell us that the product is better than Kalamazoo's.

Are we headed toward inflation?

A BANKER'S ADVICE

(Muri H. DeFoe in The Charlotte Republican-Tribune)

Our banker gave us some advice which we are passing on to you. He said the smartest thing to do at this very minute is to buy 20 acres of land. The deal can be handled by easy payment government financing and then no matter what comes the land will furnish you a sustenance. Land today is the cheapest thing on earth and yet ownership of it is the highest type of protection—your food supply. No matter what you're worth or how steady and satisfactory your payroll has been or looks to be the most sensible thing to do is to own a piece of land. If this suggestion is worth anything to you, a small commission may be sent to the editorial office.

By taking advantage of our flat annual rate for year round service, you can enjoy 60 gallons of hot water for 10c a day, and 80 gallons for 12c. Should you desire to use the heater only during the summer months, you may also obtain a seasonal rate, somewhat higher—about 13c a day for 60 gallons, and 16c a day for 80 gallons. The low rate for this service is made possible through a specially designed heater which stores the hot water during the night hours. In this way, you have a measured supply of hot water at a definite cost per day.

TAKE A VACATION FROM DRYING DISHES

Rinse them with plenty of HOT WATER and let stand

DRYING dishes is a hot and irksome task that can be entirely eliminated. When you have piping hot water on tap, you need only rinse your dishes and let them stand. The Cleanliness Institute in a bacteriological study of dish-washing has found that rinsing dishes with very hot water actually leaves them cleaner than wiping with an ordinary dish towel. This is only one of the many helpful uses for a constant and abundant supply of hot water.

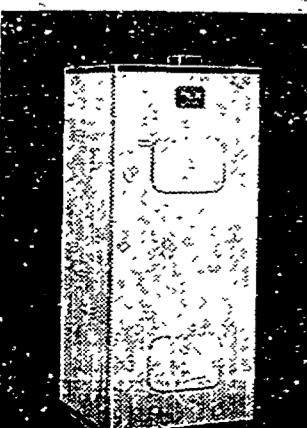

Here are a few practical suggestions to lighten daily tasks and make your housework easier and pleasanter:

Q Fresh stains of coffee, tea and various fruits yield to hot water; stretch cloth in embroidery hoops and hold under the running faucet.

Q Starting with boiling water shortens the time of cooking vegetables, decreases the loss of food value and helps to retain their color.

Q To keep electric lamp bulbs at their brightest, dust them frequently and wash in lukewarm, soapy water every few months. Wash only the glass bulb and be sure that it is completely dry before screwing it back into the fixture.

You may rent or buy an electric water heater, whichever you choose. Rental rates for heaters are low, and if you prefer to buy the heater, convenient monthly terms may be arranged. Telephone or bring your order to any Detroit Edison office.

Homemaker's Corner

By MRS. EDITOR

Homekeeping in a cottage

In a little, modern cottage up on the shore of Crystal lake on the north side of the lake, the Editor, not to lay out a set program, has invited us of the race horses at the fair grounds who must keep up after they have passed the wire until they have "run down."

To an quiet old clock on the mantle bearing the inscription, "I'm old as the hills; wind me every day," we pay lazy heed. What matters the hour of day? All too soon telephones and school bells will be ringing and defining the order of our lives.

For the present, let the lapping of waves on the beach, the distant groan of the fog horn on Point Betsie over on Lake Michigan and the far-off, deep-toned whistle of passing steamers lull us to sleep in our pine-scented retreat.

Morning does not break early through the dense pines and there's no telling how long we would snooze if not awakened by our "rising son" who bangs the screen door and is off with a neighbor armed with fishing pole to bring back perch for breakfast—and a fresh crop of freckles on his already speckled nose.

One by one subdued sounds along the row of cottages announce that two busy business men from Royal Oak, the insurance man from Columbus, and the editor from North-vile have decided to begin another day.

At first it was hard for the Editor, not to lay out a set program, to remind us of the race horses at the fair grounds who must keep up after they have passed the wire until they have "run down."

Gradually we have slackened our stride till the machinery of a newspaper office seems very far away and of minor concern.

Old and young, in varying degrees of fitness and leanness, amble down to the lake for swims. Young Phil announced the first appearance of his father. "Wait till you see my Dad in a bathing suit! He's a comedie."

Clear as its name, Crystal, a smooth, sandy bottom, swimming is a joy and tonic. The swarm of youngsters dive recklessly from a raft.

With electric lights, running water, refrigerator and bath room, "roughing it" seems very smooth. Beds are made, a hairy brush up of bare floors, dishes washed after simple meals, miniature daily washings done and being in a pane needle floored woods and the day is yours!

Take your choice—play croquet across in the park, read or just loaf.

BETTER SALARIES FOR OUR TEACHERS

(E. J. Hanrahan in The Emmet County Graphic)

Many school boards are employing teachers for next year at an increase in salary. Not a large boost but enough to let the pedagogues know that the depression is over.

Teachers accepted cuts year before last and again last year in most instances. Whether the cuts were justified, we are not prepared to argue. They were made and that's that.

The statement is made from many sources that it is regrettable that the sales tax wasn't so prepared that the amount realized from that source could be definitely allocated to reduce our school taxes. With that done, teacher's payrolls could be restored to their former figure without burdening in the least the man who pays the bursar's salary on visible property.

Business is now on the upturn. The cost of living is again going up. Prices for the necessities of life are higher. It is only fair, just and equitable that teacher's salaries be restored to meet increased expenses at least.

THE OFFICE WASTEBASKET

Filled By
"WARNER WINCHELL"

S. O. S.

This week we are sending out a signal distress, a "cry from Macdonaldia to come and help." Our plight is serious, and success must needs be quickly forthcoming e'er we go down to em battalions failure whatever that is.

Floyd Northrop, general manager of the Northville Wayne County Fair, has ordered "The Record" to enter some sort of a competition or other in the "parade of the horribles" which starts off the fair on the opening night, August 22, with a bang. We have thought and thought as we infrequently do but in vain (as usual). We have not been able to think of any kind of a big, buggy, wagon, etc., etc. that we can be steal or devise.

So we need assistance—in the most we can afford because Floyd says the rig has to be extra-dramatic! We simply got to get something together—even a mule and stone boat would suffice. Our proposition is $5.50. You furnish the vehicle and we will ride in it. We'll start to death because we will have to drive a horse, but maybe we can get Gertude to ride along or something.

Again comes our plaint, cry Help! Help! We need some sort of a thing or other that a horse (gentle) can pull. Is there no one who will play the Good Samaritan to the columnist by the roadside? Is there no one who will give us aid?

Need More "Drunk" Drivers Caught on Michigan avenue from 12:30 to 1:30 Sunday morning with a flat and not able to get our space off, because the wrench would not fit the nut, a gentleman who was slightly inebriated from the absorption of multitudinous beers (or something) saved the day and not only took off the tire wheel but insisted on changing the tire for us. Staggering around, doing his best to maintain his equilibrium, he hypocritically declared "what we need is more humanity." We were so glad to get the tire changed that we didn't even tell him he meant humanitarianism.

Originality Plus Speaking of humanity, we submit clipping from Elton Eaton's Big Mouth Mail. It is an announcement of the birth of David Lawrence Johnson and is ingeniously and originally different.

It follows: "The Joliffe Production Company announce the 1934 Baby Boy Model No. 4.

Edward Joliffe, designer and chief engineer.

Grace Joliffe, production manager.

Dr. A. E. Patterson, technical assistant.

Model released July 25, 1934.

Two lung power free, squeaking, scream lined body, double bawi bearing economical feed water cooled exhaust, changeable seat covers. The management assures the public there will be no new models during the balance of the year."

Committee—We wish to make you treasurer of our club.

Victim—Thanks for the honor.

How much is there in the treasury?

Committee—At present there is $1,000 but we thought you might be interested to know that you have a few thousand dollars in the bank.

Metals Affect Seeds

Russian scientists found that presence of metals near seeds will have a retarding influence upon their growth. Certain types of microbes are killed and others weakened when placed near metal.

Ancient Bell Dedicated

Among six bells dedicated in St. Mary's Church, in Upton-Grey, England, is one which dates from the reign of Henry VII, and another from that of Charles II.

Canada's Future

According to all the rules of logic, Canada, rich in a variety of natural resources and with a progressive people, must eventually become a great manufacturing country.

Heaviest Gun

What are said to be the heaviest guns in the world, not only because they cut so accurately but also because control gauges with diamond points enable the machine to feed along a workpiece 150 times faster than by hand, are being made in Canada.

Diamonds for Machine Works

Professional Letter Writers

The title of one whose principal business was writing of letters in England at the time when writing was not a common knowledge, was called "The Author of Letters".

Diamonds have taken the lead out of fine machine work, not only because they cut so accurately but also because control gauges with diamond points enable the machine to feed along a workpiece 150 times faster than by hand.

BASEBALL

(Larry Towe in The Jonesville Independent)

We're not exactly sure just what is proved by the popularity of the radio receiving sets every afternoon between three and five. But we know that once more Detroit is scrapping its way toward a title.

It is surprising what a lot of difference this has made in the radio listening since last summer.

Back then a person could drop into either hardware store or Bazaar's or down to Lynn Wright's to hear a game. In about half the cases there would be some difference than Detroit's being received.

For the last five or six weeks it would be a safe bet that there have not been a half dozen league games listened to in which Detroit did not win. There just simply isn't anything else heard in the afternoon.

For that matter, the other day during a tight spot in the game, a customer came into one of the stores here. The proprietor's look said plainly that he welcomed trade out.

He wished it had come in five minutes later.

This pennant spurt of the Tigers is great thing. It is taking our minds off the heat, coal for next winter, village taxes, the dry spell, poor crops, short pasture, hay fever (if we haven't got it), and the necessity for having to work during like this. Anything which will accomplish all of those is a real boon to a suffering humanity.
