LIFE'S SURPRISES

We met the pleasant young chap on the golf course, and as he was alone, went the last two holes with him. In our own mind, trying to classify him, we got a shock when he told us, without embarrassment or apology, that he was the Congregational minister in an Illinois town. He was a Michigan State College graduate and knew some Northville young people. We couldn't help but think that he was probably getting as much satisfaction out of life as some college graduates whom we know, whose chief ambition is to make money.

HE TOOK A CHANCE

Listen to a true story and make your own moral. (He himself told the story to us.)

Until the age of 48 he had always worked for someone else. He was never "fired" from a job but he never got more than $25 a week during the 25 or 30 years he had been working for the other fellow.

Life went by contentedly until it came time to send the children to college. Then one day this man said to his wife: "Mary, we can never send the kids to college on this $25 a week. I'll never get any more unless I go into business for myself. What do you say? Shall we do it?"

To boil the story down, our friend gave up his job, went to a college town where he didn't know a dozen people and launched into business for himself. Soon he was making his $25 a week and in a year or two he was earning twice more than that. The children were educated and became successful and our good friend has since been able to travel to have a good home and to go on occasion to vacations without having his salary "docked." For years he has, by reason of his ability, character, industry and "stick-to-itiveness," made several times $25 a week.

We hope that the United States will continue to be the country where an ambitious man can work his way up from the bottom. We hope that it will still be true 10 years to come that the man who believes in himself will have the chance—not to become a president or a governor or a judge—but a good business or professional man. It will be a sad day for this country when you take away from its men—young and old—the right and chance to rise to the heights by virtue of their own individual ambition and work.

A REMARKABLE SERVICE

For Jim Farley, the politician, we have no great respect.

For James A. Farley, no minister general of the president's cabinet, we have plenty of respect. And for the service, at the head of which he stands, we certainly have great admiration.

We went to the post office at Beulah, Benzie Co., Mich., the other day and there were two letters for us from the Record office. One contained a money order for five dollars, which insured our getting home from vacation without having to borrow money for gasoline. We signed our name, stepped over a few feet and put the M. O. in front of the postmaster, who opened a drawer and counted out to us, five one-dollar bills. No questions asked. We should have gotten the money almost as quickly had the order been for $100.

Do we appreciate fully what our United States postal system means?

Wouldn't it be strange if we should have any misgiving that the letter we drop into the mail box would get there? Wouldn't it be odd if we should stick on that three-cent stamp on our letter and then begin to wonder if it would reach our cousin in Montana or a friend on Long Island? No, when we drop a letter in the post office at Beulah, the resort town where the morning papers come in at 1 p.m., we know just about as surely as the sun shines, that the letter will be dropped in Box 187, at Northville tomorrow afternoon. And when the Record gang gets five dollars together and sends it to us by Uncle Sam's blue order, they know that we shall get it just as surely as the school bell will ring next month.

Yes, friends, one of the greatest blessings of our every-day life is the unfailing postal service that Uncle Sam gives every last one of his citizens, whether located on the Gulf of Mexico, on the bleak Maine coast or on the sun-kissed shores of California. Think of that next time you stick on that stamp. That stamp will not fail you.

HOW HORSE SHOWS BECOME GREAT

Last year it was pretty generally admitted that the Northville Horse Show was one of the very best—if not the best—in the whole state of Michigan. It didn't get that way over night, but developed through the years as the result of hard and faithful work on the part of a group of men who believed in Northville and in the Northville Wayne County Fair.

Up at Beulah, on Crystal lake, one evening last week we got a vivid idea of how horse shows develop and become great.

Thousands of people had gathered at the resort town for the annual carnival, and for the first time a horse show was staged as one of the attractions. We were amazed at the interest shown in the new event. The ring was poor—very light, loose soil, nothing at all to compare with the splendid turf at the Northville fair grounds. In spite of counter attractions, a great crowd was all around the fences to see the horses. There were only a few, yet the interest that throngs of hundreds showed in the fine looking animals—from Traverse City and other northern points—was intense. People just seem naturally to like well groomed horses. We turned to speak to the gentleman next to us and were pleased to find that he was Justus E. Smith, head of the horse show committee. By this time he has received one of the Northville Horse Show books, and some day will undoubtedly see our splendid exhibition.

Well that was an interesting experience at Beulah's carnival. In the afternoon Judge Arthur Lacy spoke in the interests of his candidacy for governor—and made a good impression. It was a pleasure to have a little visit with him and also to shake hands with Congressman Harry W. Musselwhite of Manistee, who was the editor of the daily paper in that city when the writer was working in the same capacity on the Albion Evening Recorder. But as we started out to say, the unusual event certainly gave us a new appreciation of our splendid fair and its outstanding horse show.

WANDERING THOUGHTS

(NOTE—These are the last of the editor's observations while on vacation.)

"I am going to put shower baths in the next cottage I build," our landlord said to us. "The last request I had came from a city man who wanted four bedrooms and a bath."

There is no such thing as personal liberty at a summer cottage. We were wakened up early this morning by the sound of the fog-horn at Frankfort, ten miles away. It gives its dismal wail every 15 seconds—but as we started to say, it is more important during a fog, for the boats to be kept off the shore than it is for resorters to get their sleep.

There is no accounting for tastes, "as the woman said when she kissed the cow." Our neighbor to the south would rather fish all day than do anything else. The one to the north gets his biggest thrill out of playing golf on a very steep course at Frankfort and in playing croquet. And the neighbors think it strange that the Northville editor spends any time pounding a typewriter and in reading—they call that a waste of a good vacation.

We had the rare experience last Wednesday of meeting Paul Harris, the founder of International Rotary, at the session of the Frankfort club. The movement he started, with long others, in Chicago in 1905, has spread around the globe and now Rotary is found in over 70 countries. Mr. Harris, a Chicago attorney (and a very modest man), has for 20 years been spending his summers at Onekama, a quiet spot near Frankfort. He has recently returned from a trip to South Africa. Another highlight at the meeting was the Rev. Charles H. Sheldon, who attained national reputation years ago by writing "In His Steps."

Along with the Detroit papers (Free Press and News) we have been following The Chicago Tribune the last two weeks. It is a most bitter and persistent critic of the "New Deal," the "Brain Trusters" and of such members of the cabinet as Secretary Wallace. While we would not go along with the Tribune sled-length, we frankly admit that we have plenty of misgiving about the wild exaggerations that our government is making and that we consider the NRA a dangerous thing for the smaller business people. And we do not think it treason to say out loud what you think about the policies of the president. We do not at all regard him as a superman, even though he has many fine qualities. We all remember that it was Al Smith who helped make Roosevelt, who said a while back: "No one ever shoots at Santa Claus." The president will get his real test not when handing out billions, but when, and if, he gets around to balance the budget. That is promised for next summer.

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION

What is your philosophy of life? And if you are now anywhere near middle life, would you change it if you had to start life over again?

NORTHVILLE'S YESTERDAYS

5 YEARS AGO

Edward C. Langfield has gone to Northville Fair September 23, 24, northern Michigan, where he will, 25, 26, and 27th.

Mrs. Otto Loonis of Dearborn is spending the week with her parents before going to Cleveland. Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCullum, Sunday, to see the air races. His brother, the aviator in the regular forces, has returned from Cleveland.

Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Chase and children have returned from a vacation spent over in the Irish Hills district.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Schuler of Mishawaka, Indiana, were guests during the early part of the week of Father Joseph Schuler.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherrill Ambler have left for a vacation trip through Canada and eastern states.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Casterline and son Fred are spending the week at Long Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hunkley have gone to Wainfleet, Ontario, where they will spend the next few weeks as the guests of Mrs. Curtis of her home in Wainfleet.

THE NORTHLVILLE RECORD

Curtiss of Grand Rapids motored to Camp Curtiss, near Cross Village, for a ten days' outing.

C. A. Ponsford and daughter, Beth, returned home Saturday from a delightful motor trip through the east, visiting many cities and places of historical interest.

one prediction. He stated before picking up the reptile that God would not permit the snake to even bite him.

THE NEW DEALERS

(Elton R. Eaton in The Plymouth Mail)

It is not a strange and unusual fact that practically all, if not every one of the new dealers, who are so strongly in favor of the overthrow of the present system of business and who are so anxious to surround its conduct with every sort of regulation and supervision, never made a dollar by the conduct of business?

That entire income has been and is from the payroll of some tax-supported institution or governmental unit or from a payroll that someone else has created and meets. A strange fact, is it not?

DETROIT PROVES A POINT

(W. S. Kennedy in The Albion Evening Recorder)

Detroit has proved that it is possible to cut down automobile accidents if we are willing to go to the expense.

The police there started a crusade July 9th, and added 25 new motorcycles to their equipment. The average number of people killed in automobile accidents per week up to that date for the year was eight. In the following three weeks, this was cut to two a week.

In the three weeks preceding July 9th there were 573 accidents in the Motor City, in which 722 people were injured. The first three weeks of the crusade cut these accidents by 33 and the injury by 152.

Is that worth the extra cost? It would seem so. It also proves that our national death rate from automobile accidents over 39,000, and our serious injuries of more than 2 million people a year can be materially reduced if the public becomes sufficiently aroused to demand more protection on the highways and the streets of the cities.

VANDENBERG JUSTIFIED

(Fred Kester in The Ionia County News)

It appears that Secretary of Agriculture Henry C. Wallace chose an extremely unfortunate time to criticize the figures which Senator Arthur E. Vandenberg has proposed to show that Michigan agriculture has been the loser under the "New Deal."

It is now an opportunity for the leaders of political parties to disagree on the facts surrounding questions of prime political importance, and all too frequently the public is compelled to guess blindly as to which is to be believed, but for once a well informed and neutral third party has given testimony for the benefit of Michigan farmers.

Worshipping in the Woods

Sunday morning in camp. The lake looks especially alluring, the pine-trees wave so lazily and the cool beneath them, littered, with books, invites to hours of reading.

But habit and duty call and the travelers shake the wrinkles from their "Sunday bests" and make their way up a long, winding hill overlooking sparkling blue Crystal to a grove in Benzonia.

Here, under towering beeches and elms, they join in an hour of the most natural, genuine worship in the great out-of-doors.

From far and near folks come. Summer visitors from distant states as shown by their auto licenses. The sunshine sifted down through the tree tops upon a cosmopolitan audience of many creeds who sing in hearty union. "This Is My Father's World." It is the most natural thing in the world to lift the heart in gratitude to a Creator of such a beauty, union. The voices of birds fill in the silence.

Tall, bronzed by southern suns, the guest speaker, a native of Texas, now of St. Louis, Mo., left a message that will long ring in the minds of his hearers.

Of what denomination? No one questioned and no one cared to. There were no cold walls of doctrinal boundaries in that quiet grove under the broad sky.

This sentence remains: "Upon the black sky of the night the Messiah is born at least twelve hours before serving Cut in circles and serve with the stars of freedom, rich flavored whipped cream. Allow an and love and through the years since they have shone." Interdependent they are the solution of the present darkness of the world.

With a beautiful spot like Northville's central park we wondered if more folks would not be glad to gather during the summer time for mutual help and inspiration who now feel barred by cosmic boundaries of boards and brick. Led by the fine high school band and the a cappella choir, couldn't the community raise the song to the air. "One in hope and doctrine, one in charity?"

Here are some company dishes contributed by a friend:

Chocolate Graham Roll
(A Refrigerator Specialty)
1/2 cups chocolate graham cracker crumbs

1 cup dates, cut in eighths.
1/2 tablespoon orange juice.

1/2 teaspoon salt.
8 marshmallows cut in small pieces
1/2 cup nut meats, chopped.

1/2 cup cream, whipped.

Pour orange juice over dates

Grind crackers and reserve; one tablespoon; add marshmallows, nuts, meats and dates; Add set to cream and whip. Fold crumb mixture in to whipped cream. Sprinkle the reserve crumbs over waxed paper and pour mixture onto them, shape into a roll two and 1/2 inches in diameter and place in refrigerator for at least twelve hours before serving. Cut in circles and serve with rich flavored whipped cream. Allow an and serve with whipped cream.

If by any chance you are going to have company you would like to make something easy and pretty to look at our excess suggested making:

Marshmallow Loaf

Whites of 3 eggs beaten stiff.

1 cup sugar.

1/2 tablespoon Knox gelatine in cup cold water.

Add 1/2 cup hot water.

Pour over eggs and sugar and beat until mixture begins to thicken.

Cook and divide into three parts.

Put nuts and red cherries into one part. Mix chocolate and add to another part. Put pink coloring in the last part. Line a tin or use a firebox dish (the shape of a bread pan) with paraffin paper and mold in layers like brick ice cream. When thoroughly chilled slice and serve with whipped cream.

Irish in This Country

The Irish in this country comprise 11 per cent of the total white population.

Bird Can Fly in Water

The crane, an ordinary bird found in all parts of the world, can fly through or under water as well as can in the air.

One Born Every Minute

In a tent show

last week, people who geni tell us a woman who represented herself as a souther, brazenly proposed the following:

That within a month two, serious accidents

will occur here

that within six months or a year

three or four first

more serious than the others, will break out in Northville; that President Roosevelt will not be re-elected; that the United States will be at war by 1940

unless economic conditions change etc., etc.

It is nothing unusual to hear such prophecies. Nearly every cheap stock company that comes along pulls the trick. What astonished us was that many people actually believed them, thought they were true and were fooled into looking on the world as a medium.

The statements made by the self-styled crystal gazer are amazing enough in themselves. They need no reputation. The lady did not predict one single thing that is the least bit extraordinary or improbable.

Consider. In town where five serious accidents have happened in the past five weeks, would it be any stupendous occurrence to have "two within a month?

Does it require a crystal to say with almost dead certainty, that in a town where there is anyway a fire on the average of five times a year there will be "three or four within six months or a year?" And chances are a hundred to one that one of the fires will be "more serious than the others."

As to the country being in war

unless "unless," the female

Martin was only agreeing with thousands of economists, historians, and political observers throughout the world. And if, when 1940 comes we are at war, who in Northville will remember the silly words of the across who entertained her audience with amusing and hair-raising predictions.

The lady prophesied that President Roosevelt would be defeated in 1936, and while she should have kept politics out of such good, clean fun, you really can't blame her for being a Republican.

That lady, wherever she is carnot see into the future any more than all the thousands of others who, down through the ages, have claimed the power. It was an interesting, humorous, entertaining game. But when people really take the bunk she tells them as the truth,

we gently kiss. "fol-de-rol."

Mr. Shakespeare hit the nail squarely on the head when speaking through the elfin Puck. He said,

"What fools these mortals be!"

Summer School Students Close Studies With Picnic Friday

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Cavell Entertain At Steak Roast

A party of young friends of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Cavell were the guests at a jolly steak roast at the time Mrs. M. S. Edge, of Plymouth, their teacher, entertained twelve students who had been taking special work with a picnic in Cass Park, the closing day.

The hearty open-air supper was followed by an evening at bridge. Present with Mr. and Mrs. Cavell were Mr. and Mrs. Ted Riley and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Gathro of New York City, and Mr. and Mrs. Ward Riley.

Mrs. Hicks and Mrs. Warner Give Bridge Parties

Mrs. Jud Hicks entertained sixteen ladies at a bridge party last Thursday evening, at her home on Horton Avenue, honoring Mrs. Chas. Sorles.

Prizes were won by Mrs. L. D. Stage, Sr., and Miss Chris Larsen. On Tuesday evening of the week, twelve ladies enjoyed a social gathering at the home of Mrs. B. E. and Mrs. H. E. Houghton, of De-Warner on South Rogers Street, also trout. William Stark Jr. was Mr. in honor of Mrs. Sorles. On this occasion prizes were won by Mrs. Laf. Hammon, and the guest of honor.

The bride's open-air supper was followed by an evening at bridge. Present with Mr. and Mrs. Cavell were Mr. and Mrs. Ted Riley and Mrs. Dorothy Falot and Lyle Sandel are wed August 18.

Dorothy Falot and Lyle Sandel of Ann Arbor were united in marriage on the evening of August eighteenth. The service was read by the bride's pastor, Rev. Cora M. Penhollow, of the Salem Federated Church at her home.

The bride was attended by her mother, Dorothy Falot, and was accompanied by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Falot of the North Terrestrial Rockwood, and by her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. B. E. and Mrs. H. E. Houghton, of De-Warner on South Rogers Street, also trout. William Stark Jr. was Mr. in honor of Mrs. Sorles. On this occasion prizes were won by Mrs. Laf. Hammon, and the guest of honor.

The bride was beautifully attired in white, and her sister was very attractive in shell pink crepe. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Sandel left for a short boat trip. They will make their home in Ann Arbor. Our good wishes go with them as they take up their new home.

relatives and friends at their home Sunday evening.

A dainty buffet supper was served from the dining room table which was effectively decorated with a centerpiece of mixed flowers. Miss Evelyn Amoer, daughter of the host and hostess, assisted by Miss Margaret Kenyon, a cousin of Detroit, served the party, who were seated at small tables in the living room.

A pleasant evening with music and visiting was enjoyed. Comprising the party were Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose, a brother of Mrs. Archer, John Kenyon, and Mrs. Kenyon and daughter, Margaret, of Detroit. Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Bryan, Pierre Kenyon, and the guest of honor, Miss Burns.

To honor this worthy pair a number of beautiful and useful gifts were presented as tokens of love and high esteem.

Miss Marguerite Warner Becomes Bride of Irvin Ruttan

In the presence of one hundred relatives and friends the marriage of Miss Marguerite B. Warner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Warner, South Rogers Street, to Irvin W. Ruttan, of Detroit, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Ruttan, Elkhorn, Mich., was solemnized in the Methodist church Saturday afternoon, August 18.

At four o'clock, to the strains of the "Wedding March" from "Lohengrin," played by Miss Geraldine Ferguson, the bridal party entered the church.

Charming in a flowing gown of blue lace and carrying a shower bouquet of pale yellow roses and stephanotis, the bride approached the altar on the arm of her father, where she was joined by the bridegroom and his attendants, two brothers, Emerson of Northville, and George Howell.

Following the bride were two intimate friends who acted as bridesmaids: Miss Lucille Webster of Battle Creek, who wore peach organza, and Mrs. Irene Goetz-Curtis, who wore a green chiffon gown. Both wore turbans of hues corresponding to their gowns and carried bouquets.

The Rev. Wm. Richards of Belleville, a former pastor of the bride, performed the impressive ring ceremony, uniting these two.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was tendered to a company of seventy-five at the home of the bride's parents when appropriate felicitations, a buffet supper was served from a table lovingly prepared in its appointments. A number of close friends of the bride assisted the hosts in serving.

In the assembly of guests were Mr. and Mrs. C. Ruttan of Elkhorn parents of the bridegroom and all of his brothers and sisters. Other out-of-town guests were from Lansing, Jackson, Flint, Lapeer, Detroit and Plymouth.

The newly-weds left that evening on a two-weeks' motor trip to Chicago, thence up through Wisconsin to the northern peninsula of Michigan, returning by way of Mackinac. On their return they will be at home in Detroit, where Mr. Ruttan has held a position with the Detroit Edison company for the past eight years. Previously he had graduated from the high school in Rapids City and later followed with a technical college course.

Mrs. Ruttan is well and favorably known here, having attended the public school from which she was graduated in 1921. For five and one-half years she has held a position in the local Detroit Edison company office.

Northville friends extend hearty good wishes.

DECEIT DANGEROUS SAYS REV. MALLINSON

"Propaganda is a subtle power and lying, deceit and hypocrisy can go so far then comes the payday," declared Rev. H. H. Mallinson in his first sermon upon his return from vacation Sunday morning in the pulpit of the Methodist church at the Union service. "Some men are for sale," and "hit a man or nation at the weakest spot and they fall."

"The world can only give a moral force and making laws and threatening boycott will not change man, but man will change if the God of Christ is put first," the minister said. He continued: "You are fighting the Lord's battle—speak out when you see a wrong. The church has kept going during the depression because it is God's work," concluded the speaker.

This was the fifth of a series of Union services being sponsored by the Presbyterian and Methodist churches. The final service of this union series will be next Sunday at 10:30 o'clock with the Rev. H. G. Whithfield of the Presbyterian church as the preacher.

NEWS AROUND NORTHVILLE

Days are shortening.
Welcome to our fair!
An unforgettable summer!

Who said "World Series for the Detroit Tigers?"

Mrs. Frank Morris is quite ill at her home on West Dunlap street.

Mrs. F. S. Neal was a week-end guest with the Charles Bowens in Highland Park.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Boyden and daughter, Mary Louise, were Ann Arbor visitors Tuesday.

Bob Power was a visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Davis in Detroit last Sunday.

Wm. Matheson visited Miss Eleanor Russel at Herman Keifer hospital in Detroit Sunday afternoon.

Miss Mary Lockwood of Websterville is making her home with Mrs. Frank L. Thompson this week.

Dick Miller took a vacation from his milk route and visited the Century of Progress during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Desautels and children of Franconia, Ill., are racing with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Desautels.

Starr Northrop, who has been on a vacation trip through the Thumb district, has returned to assist his father with the secretarial duties of the fair.

Clement E. Gage of Saginaw, accompanied by his wife and Mrs. Mary Hughes, the latter from Detroit, were visitors of his sister, Mrs. Frank L. Thompson Tuesday.

Air. and Mrs. Steve Armstrong and daughter, Betty, accompanied by their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Herrebrink of Flint, spent the week-end with relatives in Hastings.

Nelson C. Schrader, Jr., who has been attending the summer session of the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor, has completed the course and is home assisting in his father's store.

Mrs. Lilly Angel was a recent visitor at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edward Reed and Mr. Reed, at Whitmore Lake, welcoming her new granddaughter, Ann, who came to the Reed home August 5.

Mr. and Mrs. William Horsfall and family left the lower part of the week on Mr. Horsfall's annual vacation. With their trailer in tow they will camp along the way in various places in the upper part of the lower peninsula.

Mrs. L. A. Babitt, who has been spending the past few months in Detroit, is in Northville visiting and enjoying the fair in which she was active for so many years having charge of the flowers and fancy work of the Women's department.

Chas. E. Rogers entertained at his residence on the Nine Mile road the last of the week S. S. Lard of El Paso, Tex. Lard is one of the foremost cattle ranchers of the Southwest. He spoke very vividly of the great damage done by the historic drought of this year. The two have been friends for many years.

Mrs. Anna Wilkinson is out at her home on Verke's Avenue again after several months stay with relatives in Detroit during which time she was convalescing from injuries received in fall. Her friends will be glad to know that she is able to walk with the aid of a cane.

Principal Paul Thompson of the local high school, Las remained to Northville from Grand Rapids to supervise the school exhibit at the fair grounds in which he is being assisted by Mrs. Ida B. Cooke and Mrs. Claude Zimmerman. Mr. Thompson has been taking advanced work in Western State College, Klamath.

Mrs. Nettie Bates, Mrs. Doris Cook and Henry Negus, and Mrs. Cook's grandson, Luther, all of Augusta, Kansas, were visitors last week with Mrs. Mary Fredmore and Mrs. Leonard Charter and other relatives in this vicinity. Although the three former people have each seen nearly four score years they understood the trip with unusual vigor, making it in two days.

After a motor trip of 1500 miles in northern Michigan Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Clark rolled back home Friday. With stops at Munising, Marquette and other points they continued their journey beyond the northern peninsula to Isle Royale. By strange circumstances they met Dr. H. Harcourt and his party as embarkation from the very boat which took them to the island.

Mrs. K. H. Babitt is enjoying a visit from her maternal grandfather, Elijah Hartshorn, of Barrington, who at the age of 91 years is hale and hearty and taking in the sights of the Northville fair with zest which equals that of his two great-grandsons, Louis Babitt and Jackie Holcomb. Mr. Hartshorn returned to Northville with Mrs. Babitt after attending a double wedding in Flint August 10. One of the contracting parties was a cousin of Mrs. Babitt, Dale McCoy of Flint.

Charles Thummie of the Plymouth police department, is again on duty at the east gate to frighten "children."

Mme. Smith will tell your past, present and future if you show her your hand.

The Farmington High School Band will assist the Northville Community School Band which is playing throughout the fair. The Farmington High School Band was invited by the Farmington High School Band to play in the Parade of Progress, which opened the fair with a bang Wednesday evening.

Northville Boy Scouts are doing a fine job throughout the fair.

The regular monthly baby clinic will be held in the village hall next Tuesday, August 28, at 2:30 p.m.

Dr. J. P. Nalband of the Maybury Sanatorium will be in charge.
