WE THANK THE TIGERS

Ever though Mickey Cochran's Detroit Tigers had not won the American League pennant we are all grateful to them for the inspiration they have given us.

They have been a tonic. With all those glorious games they have fought, bled and died for, they have given us a chance to forget ourselves—and all our troubles.

They have made us all see that it is still a good world. Baseball must have in it the thrill of the divine when Malcolm W. Bingay in his "Ify, the Dopester" column can write such classics as the one the other day that put these words on ten thousand lips: "To the Hills, Men, the Dam has Burst."

CHURCHES MAKE GAINS

There are plenty of discouraging facts about the churches. Here are some encouraging ones. They come from a report submitted to the National Committee for Religious and Welfare Recovery.

In spite of all the talk about the churches talking empty pews, the report says that more than 30 million Americans attend service weekly in Protestant and Catholic churches and Jewish synagogues.

The report adds that the churches are gaining 15,000 members weekly. Not so fast. In the past 75 years, the number of church members has increased seven times—and the debt of church properties are only 11 per cent of the total value.

No, the United States is not yet ready to wreck the one institution that is needed to save it from a moral and material collapse. The community that does not stand by the church is the community that will suffer.

THE PERIL OF PRICE FIXING

Such a good authority as the "National Whaling" which sends out "Cope" from Washington, looks to fix as to say this: "Price fixing is the pest of the NRA."

To that sentiment many of us will say: "Amen." Price fixing is an American one. It will work in this country which has given to every man of ambition and industry a chance to make a success in business.

"Chiseling" on price fixing is going on in every quarter. For example, it is going on in the cities in the building trades where price fixing fails because dealers are finding a way to get around it and sell at a price that will get business.

President Roosevelt was the leader in abolishing prohibition because "you cannot make men sober by law." Well, if prohibition failed because of this reason, how can the administration expect to make business men honest by law?

The sooner price fixing and all these hopeless attempts to run everyone's business are removed from our business life, the sooner shall we return to a prosperity that will help the administration to balance the budget.

AFOOT ON THE FARM

About as much fun as we have had all summer was a walk the other day over every field of a little farm we have near Albion. We may be "geeky" for being that way, but we get a big thrill out of seeing growing things and of looking at the maturing crops that are ready to round out the season of seed time, cultivation and harvest.

After a tough, dry summer, we found that Mother Nature had fought bravely back against the withering influence of drought and winds. One field lay heavy with a covering of potato vines. We pulled up a half dozen hills and in each one we found the roots holding tight to ten or a dozen "spuds" that need only two weeks more of sunshine to make them ready for the market.

As we walked around the place, we remembered with a grin the time that a neighbor came over and found us—greenhorn farmer, yes—plowing with an umbrella over our head. We thought with sorrow of the 400 fruit trees that we had set out with our own hands that have been left by careless hands to go to ruin.

only way to get any money out of that farm will be to put every field into alfalfa. If we live long enough, we will report to you on that later.

Well, it was a pleasant afternoon, communing with the great outdoors—what a pity more folks don't know it better—away from the smell and sound of crazy automobiles, away from the raucous shriek of the omnipresent radio, away from the bustle and hustle of business.

WANDERING THOUGHTS

Heard on the streets: "Ma, can I have a nickel for an ice cream cone or somethin'?"

Bad news: And now they say for sure that the federal budget won't be balanced next year.

The man who tries to succeed by tearing some one else down soon comes to the end of a "blind alley."

Now that "Henry's Wedding" has shown us what a lot of potential Joe Jefferson's community has, why not have a "Little Theatre" movement started in Northville? We'd all be glad to go and see the shows.

It is reported that the democrats are planning to try to bring Roosevelt to Michigan for a speech or two to defeat Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg. We predict that the president, who knows something of the senator who made bank deposit insurance possible, will be too smart to fall into that trap.

This week's Saturday Evening Post has a very sobering editorial which criticizes in a very logical and fair manner the serious situation that now confronts the country with all the "New Deal" maze of absurdities. The editorial opens with these amazing words: "When this administration came into power, the country had a depression to liquidate. It begins to look now as if it has both a depression and a 'New Deal' to liquidate."

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION

Can you take criticism?

THAT BELT OF TREES

(Albion Evening Recorder)

The belt of trees one hundred miles wide and reaching from the Canadian border down into Oklahoma is diminishing. That is, the Compiler General has cut a demarcation line on the issue that a democratic governor would be able to get more help from the national government than a Republican governor.

PIGS WITH A PEDIGREE

(By Don P. Cochran in Hartford Day Springs)

After our own little pigs have been slaughtered to prevent them from attaining the status of hogs and begging the market, the United States department of agriculture and the Iowa agricultural experiment station are importing pigs from Denmark.

The Danish pigs they say have a background of performance record, and our pigs have none. Most American farmers know how a pig performs without keeping records. They either claim that the Danish pigs make better bacon or will have to be proved at the breakfast table.

The more we watch the whirling on which the brain trusters are giving American agriculture a ride, the less we comprehend the way the pig is whirling. American pigs are destroyed and the same birth rate controlled because we have too many pigs. Now pigs are brought from Denmark because their family records show they will replace our overpopulated pigs faster than our American strains.

Will spruce wheat and cotton and rice and peanuts also be brought in because they will provide greater food and more quickly replace what we have played under?

THE TRAGEDY OF THE "NEW DEAL"

(Colts in The Parma News)

One of the most severe criticisms of the New Deal came from David Ladd, publisher of the United States Daily, who is a comparison and a critic of the New Deal. He says: "The New Deal is a tragedy of the first order."

There can be no defense of a policy which destroys the people. There can be no defense of a policy which destroys the people. There can be no defense of a policy which destroys the people.

THE MAINE ELECTION

(W. H. Berkey in The Cassopolis Vigilant)

Gov. Brann, renominated by the democrats in Maine, is reported in press dispatches to have waged his campaign on the issue that a democratic governor would be able to get more help from the national government than a Republican governor.

If what he said is true, there is something wrong with the national government. It is inconceivable that a state should be penalized in the distribution of the welfare money because its governor was of a different political faith than the national administration.

As a matter of fact one hundred and seven millions of federal dollars of federal money (taxpayer's money) has been poured into Maine in the past eighteen months under the New Deal. If it is true that the dispensing of billions of dollars of public money is the basis for carrying elections, America is doomed.

IF THE TREE BELT SHOULD FAIL

(Leonard D. Galileo in the Engineering News-Record)

In a recent press notice it was noted that $75,000,000 was to be expended in the development of a so-called timber belt 100 miles wide, stretching from New Mexico to Canada, across the semi-arid plains of the Central West, the object being to create a more equable climate in the Mississippi Valley, increase the water supply and diminish wind erosion.

Two alternative schemes have apparently been overlooked, either of which it is believed would bring about results fully comparable with the development of the tree belt.

The first involves the rotation of the earth, thus bringing the Gulf Stream along the Atlantic seaboard, making it a French Riviera, the prevailing trade winds to carry a moisture to the foothills of the Rockies. The only possible drawback to this scheme would be its effect upon California for the rotation of the earth would tend to vest much of the Japan currents further westward.

The second proposal might not require so much assistance from on high. It is that the Rocky Mountains be leveled. These mountains collect the moisture laden winds from the Pacific ocean and send it all of the moisture in precipitation on their westward slope, leaving little for the rest of the continent.

McMULLEN'S PHILOSOPHY OF LIFE

(Editor's Note—J. E. McMullen, editor and publisher of the Linden Leader over in Genesee county recently observed his 78th birthday anniversary. In his homely style he reviews his own life. He works each day in his own shop and operates one of the few remaining hand set newspaper plants in the business. Few of our own readers will know Mr. McMullen but his philosophy of his life should interest many.)

Last Friday the boy who writes the "Stuff" known as "Wise and Ocherouse" reached his 78th birthday, and to make it a memorable occasion Mrs. Fred Long presented him with a large cake and a quart of shipping cream to help it slide down.

Then Mrs. Fay Pomeroy remembered his liking for custard pie, all I suppose to give him a boost toward 79. Then too, the many congratulations made him feel glad he didn't die when he was 78. It takes a lot of growing and waiting to reach 78, but I look back at all the ups and downs I don't know anybody that has got more joy than I have had all along the way.

I have run and out of several depressions, happened to be born into a family where the brave mother had to keep an invalid husband and seven children, when Johnny cake and corn meal mush was the principal diet, and don't remember ever having more than 15 cents on any holiday until it was big enough to help expand the family later.

Over fifteen years ago doctors told me I was going to join the angel choir inside a year, they're both underground and in on top, which shows there's many a slip between the cup and the lip.

I have either owned or operated fifteen different country papers, and can't say that I ever failed but once and that was the first, when I got my eyes open, and as for my job there's none on earth that suits me better.

Out of five brothers, three of us took to printing. My eldest brother, the late Dan P. McMullen, of Cheboygan Mich, moved the art with politics and won fame and fortune, while my youngest brother, A. C. McMullen, has for several years been night foreman of the Des Moines, Iowa Daily Register comparing room while I have been paid.

It's good to be alive on so many things that make for peace, happiness and constructive work, and if the doctors at Ann Arbor and Orono hospitals told the truth I'm liable to stay on the job 22 years longer unless a hard attack of pneumonia gets me or I am bumped off by some fool auto driver. Yours without worry.

J. E. McMullen.

WM. WHITE SHOT BY YOUTH WITH STOLEN REVOLVER

William White, nephew of Harold White, well-known in Northville, was shot and seriously wounded in Detroit Thursday afternoon, Sept. 20, by a young boy who found a .23 calibre automatic revolver in a car. The boy approached the group in which William White was standing watching a football practice at the Northwestern field and began brandishing the revolver. He pulled the trigger and the group of people, thinking the shots were blanks, paid little attention to him until they saw splinters fly from a grandstand. They then tried to take the gun away but suddenly the youth pointed the gun at White and shot him just above the heart. His condition was at first serious, but today physicians expect he will pull through.
