DRUG PLANT IS INSPECTED BY ROTARIANS

Northville Party Enjoys Tour Through Parke-Davis Company

While the Detroit river flows peacefully by the six city blocks of buildings that comprise the plant of Parke, Davis and Company, a group of Northville Rotarians and guests visited Tuesday afternoon the world's largest institution that deals in drugs, chemicals and kindred supplies.

The Northvilleans watched long batteries of automatic machines

which cover acre and a half of land, stamp out thousands of tablets; mix and pack barrels of ointment and shaving creams;

make, fill and count an endless array of capsules—some big and some as small as the end of a lead pencil.

Following a luncheon in the big dining room of the company, where the thousands of employees have their meals at cost, the men from Northville spent two hours in seeing part of the operations that are carried on in the blocks of buildings. The whole tour was most amazing. In and out of the big rooms, filled with marvelous machinery, up and down the long stairways went the visitors, walking three or four miles with their guides.

Even to list the products of the Parke-Davis Co. would take columns and to tell of the various operations that go into the making of these products would test the imagination. This is true firm, founded in 1862, has branches around the world—even in Russia—and a visit through the plant is necessary for one to appreciate the vast extent of its scientific efficiency and amazing production.

Everywhere the most careful precision prevails, in every room, every state with gas masks while in others a group of young women who gave lectures were shown off in small, comfortable room at the General Hospital Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Luella Hammond and a cousin, Mrs. Gladys Schaeffer, of Detroit, were hostesses at this pleasant get-together.

And then there was the bottling of hydrogen peroxide in glass tanks,

the glazing of ingredients of eye medicinal soap, the boxing of lozenges

and the bottling of cough syrup. Every machine, seemingly human in its operation, and fool-proof in its operation, thrilled the visitors.

Honoring Thomas Thompson, top sales department were hosts to him in San Fran-the Northville men who went also, Calif., for a visit, twenty members from his home: Carol Benton, Rayburn of his family, including his mother, E. M. Bogart, Harry B. Clark, brothers, sisters and nephews, Clark, Fred Foreran, M. C. Gundell and others, gathered at the home of Dr. H. Harder, F. H. Lapham, E. M. and Mrs. Cass Bolton, Thurs- L. Miller, Floyd Northrop, Chas. A. day for a reunion.

At the bottom dinner spread at the hotel, D. A. Dondero, wife of Senator Dondero, who made a few remarks during her contact with the Russian embassy in Washington.

The remainder of the afternoon was given over to a pleasant social gathering of the members from the neighboring towns during the serving of tea and sandwiches and cakes.

The dining room table was most attractively arranged with a center piece of yellow and bronze mums

and tall ivory tapers. Mrs. McLochlin and Mrs. Chas. L. Dubois poured. They were assisted in serving by the members of the social com-

RED CROSS DRIVE
TO BEGIN NOV. 1

The annual Red Cross membership drive will begin Nov. 3 and continue until the 11th when the town will be thoroughly can-vased by solicitors

for new members. The fee is $1.00 and though small in itself, the total amount brings untold relief to thousands who would otherwise suffer during the winter months.

Succeeding Mrs. H. F. Wagenschutz, who has most capably filled the office of local chairman of the Red Cross for two years, will be Mrs.

E. W. Lester, equally noted for her ambition in community enterprises.

Mrs. Lester asks for the courteous reception of the visitors who will

WHAT WILL THE END BE?

New York City this month (October) will spend nearly 19 millions of dollars for municipal relief.

The costs of this same relief for the month of October, 1933 were one-third as much, viz., six millions.

Does this look as though the NRA had kept its promise to do away with a lot of our unemployment?

THE BREWERS AND THE METHODISTS

We don't know where he got it, but a good friend of ours brings us a copy of The Brewery Worker, journal of the beer makers. He had marked an article in which the paper makes a bitter attack on the Methodists. Well, that's what you would expect of a brewery newspaper.

"Well," we said to our caller, "The Methodists keep up their end pretty well in the way of good citizenship and we remember that this church has furnished two or three of our presidents and we just wonder if the brewers have done as well."

We can talk about breweries with a little discrimination for we worked next to one for two summers and also went to school with the brewer's children. As institutions of civilization they probably have their good points but we should hate to take the burden of responsibility for the sorrow and downright human tragedy their business piles on the folks who drink too much.

DETROIT NEWS INDORSES VANDENBERG

No finer tribute could be paid to the worth of Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg as a member of the United States Senate than his endorsement for re-election by The Detroit News. An appeal for the return of the Grand Rapids statesman to the upper house was made in the editorial column of The News on Oct. 18.

The News gives several reasons for its action. It first points out Vandenberg's valuable service in the Senate for the past six years. It praises him for his efforts to bring a better leadership in the Republican party.

Other reasons given by The News for the great need of retaining Vandenberg in the Senate include these. His sincere efforts to help President Roosevelt, while at the same time refusing to be a "rubber stamp"; and a "Yes Man"; his high standing as a member of important committees; his great work done investigating the munitions industry and its bearing on war.

And not the least of all, The News gives Vandenberg high praise for his "leading the fight for government insurance of bank deposits and carrying it to victory", in spite of the opposition of the big bankers of the East. Senator Vandenberg was $350 paid a tribute for his efforts to help open the banks of Detroit and of the state.

Although coming out flat-footed for the re-election of Vandenberg, The News credits his rival, Frank A. Picard, former head of the state liquor commission, with being a man of ability and integrity. It is not, however, the time for experimenting, The News intimates.

These are the concluding words of the editorial in Detroit's leading afternoon newspaper:

WHAT THE CONGRESS IS GOING TO NEED IS BRAVE STAMINON CONSTRUCTION LINES, NOT RUBBER-STAMP YES-MEN NOR HIDEBOUN OBSTRUCTIONISTS. Mr. Vandenberg, we submit, has shown himself such a constructive critic.

THE LURE OF HUNTING

We commence to think that there is something wrong with us for not taking to the woods at five o'clock in the morning on the day that the hunting season opens. Half of our men friends have been kicking the leaves in quest of the alluring pheasant and the hopping rabbit the past few days—and we "sort of" envy them, and wish "we were that way."

"I keep my dog the whole year 'round just for these eleven days," said a business man to us, as he turned down an invitation for a really fine event. "You will just have to wait until hunting season is over."

We remember our last hunting experience with no particular elation. One October day we felt the call of the out-doors enough to borrow a shotgun and start out for the woods with a hunter friend. It was a great day to be alive and to be away for a few hours from the chains of a newspaper desk and a clicking telegraph-printer machine. The soft haze of the golden fall day and the panorama of glorious colors of the trees of the woods got hold of us. The world looked good, and troubles seemed as far away as the distant honk of the flying geese.

We banged away with the borrowed gun at objects high up in trees that looked like squirrels—and hit none. Our flying shot went either in front of or behind the fleeing rabbits. But we were having a good time! That is, we were until our hunter friend motioned to us to shoot at a fox squirrel up high in a tree near him. We soft-footed over near the tree, got very close under it without the squirrel even trying to get away and then we aimed the gun at that little bundle of fur thirty feet up above us. The roar of the shot echoed through the various painted trees of the farmer's woods. Then a soft something came falling through the wind-swept limbs of the big tree.

and there fell limp at our feet, a pound or two of fox squirrel. The three of us, my business man-hunter-friend, the shooter and the big shotgun had ended the life of the squirrel, right in his own habitat. We had outwitted him, deceived him and the penalty for his being defeated by two men and a gun was to die in his own beautiful woods, the only home he had ever known. We looked again at the limp bunch of fur and muscle and said: "Well, Bill, now what are we going to do with it?"

Then we started for home but the glory of the woods and the enchantment of the great, wonderful outdoors seemed to have slipped away with the gathering twilight. Ever since we have wished that we had missed the fox squirrel that our friend cornered for us. We didn't need the food his little body provided but the woods needed him.

WANDERING THOUGHTS

If the state votes on Nov. 6 to cut the gas tax, get ready for more new taxes. For your own good, vote "No" on Amendment No. Two on the ballot.

The folks who have already gone to Florida have missed one of the most glorious Octobers ever let loose. Do you know of any state where life is any more worth living than in Michigan, at least from May to November?

"A good bar room story" is the comment one Northville man made on one of the stories told by a Detroit speaker at a big banquet at Plymouth the other evening. We often wonder how men with any sense of respect, not to mention intelligence, can tell stories abounding with profanity. They are always repugnant to people of refinement—and there are lots of these kinds of people.

The "New Deal" is losing popularity in Michigan, as well as in many other states. The latest Literary Digest poll shows that 54% of our people are against it. Incidentally, did you notice that of the five billions allotted for federal aid in the fiscal year, that over one billion was spent in a little over three months? What will happen when the administration can no longer prime the pump with billions and billions?

Pity California! Drawn by the crazy lure of Upton Sinclair's wild dreams of "End poverty in California," the wild and wooly from all quarters of the nation are pouring into the state, in the hope of getting some of the glittering gold that is promised by the Socialist-Democrat, Mr. Sinclair. No wonder that the other day, when Los Angeles County offered $3,000,000 of flood control bonds to the highest bidder, there was not a single bid given. If Upton Sinclair gets to be governor, as some now say, "He will take the money from those who have it and give it to those who haven't." California is a great state but in many ways it is fair to call it "The Melting Pot of The Freaks." One Michigan editor suggests that Sinclair add to his slogan: "End Earthquakes in California."

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION

If you couldn't live in Michigan, in what state would you like to reside?

NORTHLVILLE'S YESTERDAYS

5 YEARS AGO opened a club room in the Whipple building. Hundreds of Northville citizens and their part in paying tribute to and Hazel Sprague of South Lyon, a widow young, the visited Mrs. Joe Hetley, the Presbyterians have given a call to a Canadian preacher, Rev. G. Whiffen of Linton, Canada.

Wilma Rattenbury and Ruth Angell of the Junior high school won first place in the Edison essay contest

and also did Sonja Van Valkenburg finishing touches are being put on the rock garden of Margroop Spring Park. The idea originated with Mrs. Flora B. Larkins and is being carried out by street commissioners Howard Cole.

Alex Johnson has completed extensive improvements at the Globe Furniture company.

Dr. Ketchum a physician here for many years returned from California to visit Northville friends.

10 YEARS AGO

The King's daughters enjoyed their annual fall spread at the home of Mrs. E. E. Brown.

The Northville Woman's club will hold its annual Bible day, Rev. F. P. Knowles will speak on "The Bible and the 20th century."

Dr. L. W. Snow accompanied the Ann Arbor rovers to the Michigan-Harvard game in Illinois this week.

Miss Ada Ely has been chosen a member of the Portia debating society of Michigan university. Only twelve students were chosen for Portia.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Jones a daughter.

Dorothy Dubuar of the 4th grade is ill.

Northville sent a half-dozen or more boxes to Alpena to relieve the fire sufferers.

The Ideal Milking Machine Co. has been organized by Frank Shafer and A. C. Balson.

N. Nelson has moved to Monroe where he has purchased a bakery.

Mrs. Leonard Charter celebrated her birthday with a party of friends at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. A. DesAntes.

The E. & L. C. of Northville have been cited in the White House at Washington? Then ponder the political future of Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, Republican candidate for re-election November 6. Senator Vandenberg is Grand Rapids' most distinguished citizen today. He is being mentioned prominently through many sources as a potential nomine for his party for the presidency in 1936. Please remember Mr. Vandenberg's great record at Washington alone has made him the recipient of such high consideration. He deserves the vote of all good citizens on November 6.

Judge Connely is a democrat, but not that kind of a democrat. He immediately issued a statement scathingly denouncing such tactics.

Judge Connely said: "The invention of a political angle into this tiny movement at this time is just raw bunk. The assignments never say to pay off the small depositors have been sent in by all classes of individuals and corporations, with no thought of politics and with only the good of the community in mind. Messrs. Lucy and Picard have as much influence in this paper as they had on the Lemmeron of Berlin

Wall. You will have to reach for your books on ancient lore for this one."

I resent on behalf of the fine men and women of all parties who have helped our work, this cheap phoney baloney that any job-hunting politician weighs an ounce in this payoff.

The blunt fact is that the Congress of the United States at its last regular session enacted an amendment to the Glass-Segregation Bill by the terms of which this payoff has become imperative. Chairman Jones is obeying the law of the land in loaning the funds necessary for its accomplishment and the rest is up to the large depositors.

Robert Edward Hutchins, the youthful president of the University of Chicago, has been drafted by President Roosevelt to be head of the National Labor Relations Board.

President Hutchins, is thirty-five years old, started to college when he was 16, and finished getting all his degrees when he was 26. Since then he has been a lecturer in the Yale Law School, a dean of the same school, and president of the University of Chicago. With the exception of a few years out for service during the World War, he has been an educator. All of which qualifies him, by the standards at Washington, for the job of representing the fine men and women of all parties who have helped our work.

During the past few days there has come to the Mail office an editorial

by Kenneth E. Baldwin, president of The National Editorial Association, in which he tells in greater detail of the horrors that have been inflicted upon America's industrial cities by outside agitators.

Mr. Baldwin's editorial in full follows:

A mile of situated houses and shops at Kohler, Wisconsin, have been set on fire, resulting in the violence and savagery of an uncontrolled mob. These windows are sabots of dynamite to every American citizen. They stand out as a dark signal of the terrorism that exists, when it organized labor periods

in using violence to force all individuals under the banner of the American Federation of Labor.

In 1930, the Kohler plant employed 1,500 workers, and the advertising man walked to the door and stopped. He looked hard at the little old white church across the road. Then he turned back.

Say, he said to the proprietor,

that looks like an old church over there. Is it still in use?

"Yes," replied the store-keeper.

That church has been there for over 100 years, and as far as I know they have never missed a Sunday service.

The circus advertising man smiled and said:

"And I suppose everybody in the country knows me and knows this church.

Probably everybody in this vicinity goes to church."

"That is right," said the storekeeper.

In This Corner

The Republicans and Democrats will tackle each other on Nov. 6th.

Come this day, ladies and gentlemen, the greatest show on earth! All of the curiosities; all of the emotions; all of the greatest deception presented for your entertainment. Each year bigger and better. It's colossal, gigantic, stupendous. And it's FREE!

Mr. Zella Stone returned to her home Sunday after a long siege of illness at Sessions hospital.

Dorothy Houghton is absent from school because of a recent operation in St. Joseph's hospital.

Charles Button attended the Rural Carriers' Association District Banquet at Plymouth Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton J. Davis of Detroit are spending a few weeks at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Chafy are spending two months at Grayling, Mich., at the home of Mrs. Chafy's brother, Frank Barnett.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Word, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Welch and Margaret Tuttle visited friends at Crystal Lake Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Glenn Duffinger and Bobbie spent the week end at East Lansing with Edward Buffuyer, who is attending Michigan State college.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Tripp and Mr. and Mrs. Paul McKibbin, a Capitol spent the weekend at the Au Sable River near Houghton, Michigan.

Mrs. Jessie Powers, Mrs. Velma Powers, and Theodore Johnson returned home Saturday after spending several days at the World's fair.

The Women's Gymnasium Class will hold its next meeting Thursday November 1. No class will be held this week on account of the school fair.

Ray Marsh has contributed the apples for the P. E. A. to make cider for the Fair Booth. The boys depend on the booth to largely defray the expenses of the premium list.

William Bachelor was accidentally shot while hunting in the northern part of the state last week. Sixty men combed his immediate legs, of which it was impossible to remove only three. He is up and around again now.

The grade program will be held Thursday evening and the high school program of one-act plays on Friday evening at the Walled Lake community fair. Exhibits will be open Thursday evening and all day Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Strat have moved to Culver, Ind., where Mrs. Strat has accepted a position as Professor of Physics at Culver Military Academy. Mrs. Strat was formerly Miss Edith Bentley of Walled Lake.

Oakland County Extension Work

The Home Economics Extension group has begun its work for this year. They will have two projects to work on this winter—Three year furnishings and Cooperative work. The first lesson was on remodeling clothes and was given by Miss Holdenbaum, a specialist from Michigan State College. At this class the women learned to cut down their last year's merry wigs to a chic sailor of 1933.

Clarence—How to whisper without moving my lips.

MEMORIES OF MEN WHO WALKED OUR VILLAGE STREETS

ARTHUR W. WILKINSON, smiling and friendly, plump, solid and energetic, willing learner and a first rate citizen.

JOHN M. WITHEE, tall and lean, an alert eye, quick of movement, a worker in wood, a busy churchman and helpful citizen.

HARVEY BAILEY, food merchant, slim, nimble, discreet, sociable, attractive and made friends, and attended to the business at hand.

ANDREW LEADBEATER, carpenter, lean, watchful, accurate, vigorous in action, reliable, attentive to public matters and friendly with all.

MARK S. AMBER, robust, active, nimble of mind, ready tongue, energetic salesman, boisterous, buoyant, colorful, companionable and neighborly.

WILLIAM JACKSON, village drayman, outstanding character handicapped by nature, of medium height, strong muscles, enthusiastic worker and reliable.

BERT E. RICHARDSON, Northville graduate, school superintendent, book salesman, winning personality, substantial in build, active and mentally alert.

VELOROUS O. WHIPPLE, harness maker, son of early settlers, long time shop keeper, had a fine brand of humor, a horse keeping fellow and ready for things to happen.

THOMAS E. MURDOCK, short plump, with an agile mind, wide circle of friends, good judgment on public matters, jolly, able to carry a load without whimpering and a good citizen.

SYLVANUS W. CURTISS, legal publisher, sugarman, stout of build, quick of temper, easily moved, devoted to home and business, interested in civic affairs and honored by his associates.

WILLIAM H. FULTON, son of an early settler, of medium build, brisk in action, alert in meeting the public, clerk in many Northville stores, town in which he lives, I like to see him.

Homemaker's Corner By MRS. EDITOR

When Love and Duty Clash

"Who didn't you come to the P. T. A. meeting the other evening?" asks an enthusiast, in that worthy cause the other day. "You ought to have been there. You missed a wonderful talk on how to understand children better."

Mrs. Duty Does agrees and passes on up the street, with a conscience that would have hurt more deeply if she had not remembered that on that aforesaid evening she had answered the appeal of her husband and accompanied him on an engagement.

Farther on she meets another woman, enthusiastic in another good cause. "We missed you at the meeting. Oh, I do wish all the members would turn out."

"There will be a meeting of the board on Tuesday evening. Let every member be sure to be present," announces the preacher very emphatically from the pulpit. (While Mrs. Duty Does meditates "If I do that, who will listen to the little son's music lesson practice?" and she turns her back on the president of the society.)

"Bring your thimble and come to see all day. We will cut up little pieces of cloth into queer shapes and sew them all together again. The quilt will help to keep someone warm this winter and besides we need something to do to keep our philanthropy warm," urges the president of the society.

"When love and duty clash Let duty go to smash."

"Can you help serve at the supper?"

"My dear, you really should keep better informed about world affairs. Great things are happening these days," urges the troubled superintendant of a Sunday school.

"You ought to join the gym class and keep your 'fitter' laughs gracefully up the street each morning for her bundle of groceries. (Am I really getting so fat) and Mrs. D. puffs her way on the hill."

"Bring your thimble and come to see all day. We will cut up little pieces of cloth into queer shapes and sew them all together again. The quilt will help to keep someone warm this winter and besides we need something to do to keep our philanthropy warm," urges the president of the society.

REGISTRATION NOTICE

For General Election to be held on Tuesday, Nov. 6, 1934.

To the Qualified Electors of the Township of Northville, County of Wayne State of Michigan:

Notice is hereby given that in conformity with the "Michigan Election Law," I, the undersigned Township Clerk, will open any day, except Sunday and a legal holiday, the day of any regular or special election or primary election, receive for registration the name of any legal voter who is not registered in my township or who is not a resident of my township or whose name is not on the list of registered voters.

To assist in preparations for the annual reunion of descendants of Redford, Mrs. Ida Hendry has been spending several days with her niece, Mrs. Sylvester Spearer, of Plymouth road.

The Record office is grateful to Mrs. Roy Matheson for some of the last blossoms of summer from her garden. Among them, are pansies, larkspur, mums and gaudias. And it's almost November.

The annual Armistice Day party of the Lloyd Green Post of the American Legion, will not be held this year because of the party being held at the high school on the evening of Friday, Nov. 9.

Friends of Mrs. Marvin H. Stearns will be glad to learn that she is improving after an illness of two weeks. She has been able to sit up a part of the time recently. A train is en route to Cleveland where she is expected to remain for a few days.

Mrs. E. A. Kohler visited her sister, Mrs. Paul H. H. in Detroit one day last week. Mrs. Kohler recently returned from a three months' stay in the hospital recovering from serious injuries received in a fall from the upstairs porch.

The name of no person but an ACTUAL voter of the precinct at the time of the registration can be used under the Constitution if any such voter does not appear at the election shall be entitled to the right to vote.

NORTHVILLE WINS OVER TRENTON 19-12

Trenton's Defeat Is The First In Six Years On Home Gridiron

Northville high school got her first football victory of the season after three games, Saturday, beating Trenton, 19-12. Incidentally, this was the first victory registered over the Trenton gridiron on her home field in six years.

First Quarter

Trenton kicked to Northville, who brought the ball to her own 30 yard line. Here Northville tried end runs and like plunges for little gain and was forced to punt. Trenton took the ball at mid-field and plunged and dashed her way very deep into Northville territory and finally scored by consistent punts of half-back Long. The point after the touchdown failed.

Second Quarter

The second quarter opened with Northville kicking a 6 point lead. Taking the ball on the Trenton 40 yard line, Deal threw a long pass to Capt. Bender, who had gone beyond the secondary defense, and took the ball on a dead run goalward for a score, unopposed. Deal kicked for the extra point, but went wide of the goal post.

Third Quarter

This quarter opened with an 8-yard run by Bender for a touch-down. The kick off went to Deal. Who instead of running with the ball, gave it to Bender on a reverse field run catching the Trenton outfit flat-footed, and Bender ran down the gridiron without a hard touching him for the Orange and Black's second touchdown of the afternoon.

Fourth Quarter

The last quarter opened with the Trenton boys again kicking to the home team. The Wats made back field runs ripping loose for big gains and were now carrying the fight to the opponent, who through the first three periods had been the aggressor and continually were in Northville territory. Finally, with six minutes to play, Deal again faded back and threw another beautiful long pass, beyond the secondary, this time to Ninder who had no difficulty in scoring the last and winning touchdown. Trenton tried hard and desperation to retaliate, but failed and the gun ended the game with Northville chalking up her first victory of the 1934-35 season.

That the scavenger hunt ended up in a gang war last Friday?

The worried looking person after the scavenger hunt last Friday?

That Bill Owen can write poetry that is pretty good. Keep it up, Bill.

That a certain tackle on the football squad was afraid to play against Trenton?

How stiff Elsie Winters and June King are lately? Too much bicycling girls.

The new "N" Club members doing funny things? Never mind, boys, it won't last long.

A certain person is very good at imitating movie actors especially funny actors? Watch out, H. T.

Maurice Hayekster wearing a suit Tuesday? Never mind, Maurice, you'll have your chance some day to get revenge.

The way some of the football team clapped when they first heard Mr. Thompson announce that everyone could get out at 2:00 o'clock for the football games away from home?

ROUND THE SCHOOL

"N" CLUB INITIATION

The initiation of the new members into the N. Club has been causing much anxiety among these sorrowful looking lads. Some are questioning themselves "Who started this bunk anyway?" and "what agony one goes through to get that so longed for?"

It's too bad for you boys to have to suffer so, but you should have been expecting it for a long while, so why not take it without frowning? It only lasts a short time. See you!

It also amuses the other students to see the certain girlish figures that some boys really do possess when costumed as a young Miss.

The school board has decided that the Seniors must wear dresses and suits for graduation. But, oh! how some of these Seniors are taking it!! It just doesn't seem reasonable!

JUNIORS TO HOLD DANCE EVENING OF NOVEMBER 2TH

CIVICS CLASS TO CONDUCT SCHOOL ELECTION NOV. 6

Preparations are under way for what is destined to be a very successful Junior dance; it being the first dance of the year.

The Junior class having done exceedingly well with their first two meetings, plan to make this an outstanding event of the year.

The decoration committee is working out a very effective arrangement; a very fine ice-piano date.

The orchestra has been contracted for the occasion. Tickets are on sale at twenty-five cents per person and may be secured from any member of the Junior class or at the entrance to the school.

SENIOR WHO'S WHO

CLINTON ADELMA BOYD

July 15, 1916 was a great day for the Boyd family, as that was the day of Clinton's arrival to South Lyon. His middle name, as you know, is Adelma and for reasons he does not know, people call him Adelma and "Del" instead of Clinton, but you won't hurt his feelings by calling him Adelma.

The family moved from South Lyon to Dexter and by the time Adelma was ready to attend school they moved to Northville where he has lived ever since and has attended the Northville schools.

This is his third year on the football team and football seems to be his favorite sport. He's not sure what his hobby is as he is a very quiet chap, but he thinks talking when he's not supposed to and being tardy and absent from school are about as close to his hobbies as anything else is.

The two cooking classes are now working on breakfasts and a hearty meal that will continue throughout the year. This week they are working on the beverages scores.

MARY LOUISE BOYDEN

Mary Louise Boyden was born on August 8, 1917 in Northville. From Northville the Boyden family moved to Detroit, then to Minnesota and again back to Northville.

She is not sure whether her middle name is Louise or whether Louise is part of her first name, so that is a puzzle for everyone to work on. For a short or nick name, the girls often call her Mary Boyden, although that isn't much shorter than Mary Louise.

When a sophomore, she was the class reporter for the Palladium and the junior reporter for the Palladium in her junior year. She is now the senior class secretary.

After graduating she intends to attend college for further education, but is not sure, as yet, what line she will pursue.

She is on the J-Hop committee and operates: "Riding Down The

"The Apprentice of Florence"

(By Ann D. Kyle)

Florence, sunny and golden black and mysterious, Florence at its bay-day! When it was the lively center of European commerce, throbbing with life, keyed to the busy pulse of the trade-mark. At this time the people of Europe had just begun to use their wealth to obtain culture and it was Florence that set the styles, Florence that quickly became the City of Culture as well as of prosperity. The Mediterranean sea, through which the caravels

passed on their way to the Orient

and returned, spice-laden, to lay wealth at her door. And the wide world over, wealth soon means culture.

Through this pattern of everyday business were woven threads of manages. Some of these were plain, but many were van-colored and bright. Such was the life of Agnese di Giancarlo, or just plain "Reno," who was the apprentice. His father, the hot-blooded elder Gian-carlo, had been an agent for the sub-merchant, master Bernardi di

Deo. Four years before the story opens he had gone away and never came back. Naturally, his family

Bender is also expecting to be out of the house because of injuries.

He is also a secret mission. However, when H. S. will no doubt suffer because Nero discovered the merchant had of these two players absence from the game, but it is hoped that they will be missing from the Orange

and Black lineup. Captain Eddie

Strawn who has been regularly playing left tackle, was taken with an attack of appendicitis and

will be missing from the Orange

and Black lineup.

If the team is expected to win

games then the team in return expects something of the citizens of this town. The team must have those so-called rooters on the shoulders of townspeople, and students, forget everything else and take time out to give our N. H. S. a real bunch of

"rooters" that the team can be proud of. The price is already before given is only twenty-five cents for adults and fifteen cents for children. Also the school is in need for football equipment. Make this a real gaudious event. Come one, come all!

The probable lineup for the Orange and Black will be:
