NORTHVILLE AGLOW WITH YULE LIGHTS

Municipal Tree And Those
At Business Places Spread
Holiday Cheer

Northville is all dressed up in early readiness for Christmas. The municipal tree is already at its accustomed place at the corner of Main and Center streets, gayly decorated in the Yuletide manner. And in addition lighted trees brighten the front doorways of nearly all the business places.

Detroit Edison Co. men hoisted the big tree to its location last Friday morning and the same afternoon it was decorated. The custom of having this big tree each year is fast becoming a tradition. Northville has had one for the last 12 Christmas seasons.

The Exchange Club contest for the best commercial Christmas display has already aroused strong enthusiasm among the merchants. Almost all of the stores have lighted trees at their doorways and holiday displays inside to tempt prospective shoppers that Northville is the best place to buy their gifts. Lights for all the trees including the municipal tree were furnished by Clifford Turnbull of the Northville Electric Shop.

The keen competitive spirit shown by the merchants in their struggle for the prizes offered shows that they were well selected. The first prize is a beautifully engraved cup, given by Robert G. Yerkes, president of the Exchange club.

The second prize is a 15-pound turkey, the third a pair of ducks, the fourth a pair of chickens. The first prize is being successively displayed in different stores now, and as we go to press it has appeared at Schrader's furniture store and at Owen's Men's Shop.

The judges, as previously announced, are R. G. Yerkes, Samuel Winkinsog, Merrill S. Sweet, Mrs. H. B. Kirkland, and C. A. Delph. They will judge all displays Saturday afternoon, Dec. 15, and present the trophies to the winners at the following Wednesday meeting of the Exchange club. Complete rules and details of the contest were printed in last week's issue of the Record.

SENIOR CARD PARTY

The second senior card party in the tournament sponsored by the mothers of the high school seniors will be held in the gym on the evening of Thursday, Dec. 20.

For those who do not care to play cards other forms of entertainment will be provided and all who come to enjoy social evening will be welcome and may play bingo, five hundred, auction or contract bridge. The admission fee is 25 cents, the proceeds going to make up the fund for the senior trip to Washington next June.

MISS SHIRLEY PRESTON WEDS FRED S. VINCENT

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd G. Preston of the Baseline road announce the marriage of their daughter, Shirley, to Fred S. Vincent of Farmington. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Kendall S. North at the Baptist parsonage Nov. 24.

The young couple were attended by Miss Margaret Vincent and Wm. Cairnes, both of Farmington.

POPULARITY OF CHORUS IS GROWING STEADILY

The fame of the Northville Male chorus is spreading abroad. Already they have filled several engagements in outlying towns and have prospective dates at Farmington, Milford, South Lyon and Wayne.

This chorus reflects great credit upon its director, Leslie G. Lee, and helps to put Northville on the map.

MISSIONARIES TO SPEAK AT SALEM, ON DEC. 19TH

Rev. and Mrs. H. J. Boyson, missionaries from French Equatorial Africa, friends of Rev. Lucia M. Stroh, will speak in the Congregational church, Wednesday evening, Dec. 19. They are home on furlough and are enroute west on a real missionary itinerary. They will have interesting stories to show.

Come and bring your families and advertise this rare treat to all your friends and neighbors.

NOTE: The American Legion Auxiliary will have a bazaar and bake sale in the old postoffice building Saturday, December 15. Dress in old clothes, old uniforms, aprons and baked goods can be sold. The regular meeting will be held on Friday evening, Dec. 21, at 7 o'clock. Shopping can be done at the

SCHRADER STORE MAKES ALLURING HOLIDAY OFFER

The windows of the Schrader Furniture company are attracting great attention these days with a dining room and living room completely furnished and offering many suggestions for Christmas gifts to make the home more beautiful and comfortable. Many a housekeeper lingers wistfully looking at the pleasing arrangements of the rooms.

To offer unusual inducements to residents to make Christmas purchases N. C. Schrader is himself making a present to the public in his slashing prices which are the most unheard-of prices in living room, dining room and bed room furniture.

Since home is after all the dearest spot on earth Northville should welcome a chance to add those things which make the family happier and more contented at Christmas time.

O. E. S. OFFICERS TAKE NEW CHAIRS, AT INSTALLATION

The work of Orient Chapter No. 77 of the Order of the Eastern Star is well under way, the new officers being installed Friday evening, Nov. 13, 1934.

H. Burkhardt and C. A. Delph, They will judge all displays Saturday afternoon, Dec. 15, and present the trophies to the winners at the following Wednesday meeting of the Exchange club. Complete rules and details of the contest were printed in last week's issue of the Record.

The price of boys' dress shirts was given as 99¢, when it should have been 49¢.

THE RECORD SETS RECORD

The "Record" has 16 pages this week and thus sets a new record for the Record for 1934.

REGRETS TOO LATE

A Northville woman returned from a shopping trip in Detroit to find her chagrin that she could have bought cheaper fare at home.

Business At Northville Post Office
Shows Increase of From 16 to 26
Per Cent During October-November

Are times getting better? Is business picking up? These two questions fired at Acting Postmaster Fred Vanatta brought forth a very pronounced "Yes." Money order business for October and November is 16 per cent more in dollars and cents and stamp sales are 20 per cent more than for the same period last year, says Fred Vanatta. And the post office will exceed last year's by 25 per cent or more.

Mr. Vanatta was then asked if there were any pointers to be given to the public relative to packing of parcels and mailing of Christmas cards and he stated that the few details listed below would help both the public and the postal department during this peak period of the year.

The Legion auxiliary will cook the dinner of course, and after the folks can eat no more, attention will be turned to a tree from which will come gifts for all the children.

The auxiliary "girls" say the boys are already chuckling over the fun they are going to have.

Not only the above mentioned organizations but every church in town with its auxiliary societies will do its best to bring joy to every one at this season of "good will toward men." All the little Johnnies and Marys are learning their Christmas "pieces" and songs to be given around the trees in the individual churches. Young matrons are renewing the joys of girlhood by dressing dolls and making gifts for otherwise empty stockings.

The soloist from Redford surprised and pleased our visiting matron and all present by singing "Vance Isn't Matron Any More."

At the close of the installation service many treasured gifts were bestowed upon those most honored. Light refreshments were served in the dining room.

At a business tea at her home on Thursday, Dec. 6, Ruth Denne outlined and planned the fundamental work of the year with her new officers.

The first event under new officers will be the Christmas party Thursday evening, Dec. 20, at 7 o'clock.

There will be a brief program and Christmas tree for the pleasure of the regular meeting will be held on Friday evening, Dec. 21, at 7 o'clock.

Several local folks have word from Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Kohler from Texas where they are colouring en route to their new home in south Texas. ## GOOD CHEER TO BE GIVEN AT HOLIDAYS

VARIOUS GROUPS ARE ACTIVE IN PLANNING FOR CHRISTMAS

Already the spirits of Christmas is alert in Northville.

Butting feet crunch over the light fall of snow which makes the world sparkle like a Christmas card, and the pungent smell of the evergreens decorated with many lights along the business district awakens shoppers to the fact that the day of days is not two weeks away.

Never were the decorations gayer down town. Windows are blossoming out with tempting wares.

Now, if ever, hearts stretch with that "What can I do, others" spirit and every organization in the community is plotting ways and means for spreading cheer and comfort to those who might otherwise be lonely.

Just west of the village, at the Maybury Sanatorium, Santa Claus has been doing some lively work.

In the person of the Goodfellow club, made up of the adult patients of the institution, they have been harding away the funds earned by various means. On Christmas morning each of the 700 adult patients will be remembered with a personal gift.

Those who are able to leave their rooms will gather in the auditorium for an entertainment, gay with music and good humor. A Christmas Party a few days previous to Christmas will give those patients well enough to attend much pleasure. In the various sun rooms entertainment for active patients will be provided.

In the recuperation therapy class, directed by Miss Florence Hale, busy fingers of convalescents have been making gifts and dreaming of the far-away members of their families who will receive them.

In the Children's ward, Mrs. Sharp and her assistants will see that the 120 little folks are made happy at Christmas time. A large tree with gifts contributed by many friends will be a big event in the lives of these kiddies.

And Christmas baskets. For around thirty years it has been a tradition of Northville that the good women of the society which calls itself "King's Daughters," will pack generous baskets savoring of good things to eat and sundry small luxuries to make hearts glad at this season. Where there are children a few toys will be added to the gifts.

Following his address the Rev. Horace H. Malinog was unanimously made a honorary member.

The Exchange club will present the prizes to these merchants having the winning Christmas displays at its next Wednesday meeting.

EIGHTY VOICES WILL JOIN IN SINGING THE MESSIAH

Christmas and the stirring strains of Handel's great "Messiah!"

Northville is fortunate to be able to listen again to the immortal oratorio which is sung by great choirs throughout Christendom each Christmas time. Folks travel many miles to hear this song and love its harmonies more each year.

Leslie G. Lee, director of music in our public schools, caught the spirit of this oratorio while he was a student in Albion college and now he passes on the privilege to our community and gives it the opportunity to hear such music as is heard only in great cities.

This will be its second presentation in Northville. A full house listened with appreciation at the Presbyterian church last year and no doubt there will be an even larger attendance on the evening of Sunday, Dec. 23.

A chorus of over 80 voices will sing the Christmas section of the oratorio with four vocalists carrying the solo parts: Miss Barbara Horton, Mrs. Edna O'Connor, Carl H. Bryan and Pierre Kenyon. There is a possibility that an organist from the University of Michigan may accompany the production. Mr. Lee will direct.

The program will begin at 7:30. There will be no admission charge but a silver offering will be taken to defray expenses.

Forty members of this chorus will join with the Plymouth singers at the Plymouth high school auditorium on Sunday evening, Dec. 16, when Mrs. Henry, director of the school music, will conduct the program. Chas. Hutton of Walled Lake will take the bass solo parts.

O. Z. IDE DESCRIBES LIFE IN BRAZIL TO THE EXCHANGE CLUB

The Exchange club heard a vivid account of life in Brazil at its regular Wednesday noon meeting at the Methodist church house, when it was addressed by O. Z. Ide of Detroit. He was introduced to the club by Dr. H. L. Sparkling after a few introductory remarks by President Robert G. Yerkes.

More popular than ever promises to be the third annual Hunters' Ball to be given in the high school gymnasium on the evening of January 16.

Suggested by the return of the many hunters who go north each year to get their deer, the first event was planned by the King's Daughters around this theme. Each year features of additional interest are added to the crowd of merry-makers grows with each passing year.

Myriad of Christmas trees will line the floor in imitation of the real forest where lurk the wary deer. Hunters in khaki shirts will add a note of realism to the scene. The King's Daughters' orchestra will play while old and young join in this one.

Following his address the Rev. Horace H. Malinog was unanimously made a honorary member.

The Exchange club will present the prizes to these merchants having the winning Christmas displays at its next Wednesday meeting.

The officers for October and November are Mrs. E. B. Cavell who will be assisted by Mrs. N. C. Schneider and H. P. Richardson. The tickets sale will be announced later.

THE RECORD SETS RECORD

The "Record" has 16 pages this week and thus sets a new record for the Record for 1934.

Both the officers elected at the annual convocation of Union Chapter No. 55, R. A. M., held Wednesday evening, are as follows:

BRUCKER AND COUZENS

In 1936 Michigan will elect a United States senator to succeed Senator James Couzens. It is being reported around the state that former governor, Wilbur M. Brucker, will be a candidate against Senator Couzens, in case the latter seeks the office again.

It is early to predict the cross-currents of political affairs two years hence, yet no one can "laugh off" the candidacy of Mr. Brucker. True, he went down to defeat before the democratic landslide in 1932 but who else could have done better? Brucker took his defeat in good spirit, made the best of his "licking" like a good sportsman and in the last election did yeoman service for the republican candidates. The former governor is a man of high character, real ability and aggressiveness. One of the biggest complaints against him is that he is too young for such high places. Well, that argument weakens with the passing of the months. Without question, Brucker would give service of a high character to his state, should he be called to the United States senate.

Here is at least one newspaper that would not regret the passing of Senator James Couzens from our national life. We have always felt that it was his vast wealth, much of which he has used in a very fine way to help children—and not his qualities of statesmanship that won him his place in the senate. In the opinion of many thoughtful students of government, he has been a destructive force, and not a constructive one. What a pity! His connection with the tragic bank collapse at Detroit, which brought about national disaster, should keep him from ever holding any public office again. We have never been able to see any defense of his action in preventing the REC aid to the banks. His personal animosities, in the opinion of many, have utterly ruined his service to his constituents. Brucker may not be the man to go to the U. S. senate in 1936 but certainly the friends of James Couzens will have a hard time to show why he should ever be re-elected to a body in which he has been such a disturbing element.

PARENTS AND THEIR CHILDREN:

Every normal boy and girl gives his parents more or less worry. At least if there are any perfect "kids" around Northville, we don't know where they live. Of course, some are bigger problems than others. Some grown-ups are bigger worries than others.

Parents should not be too disheartened if their children grieve them by their thoughtlessness, their selfishness and perhaps at times, their defiance of home discipline. We presume that the psychologists and such like would say that boys and girls go through "stages" and come through all right. Wouldn't nearly every father and mother like to take a few pages out of his or her life and forget the happenings of adolescent life? Put it down that this writer had plenty of experiences in earlier life that he wishes now had never happened. Fortunately, his parents lived long enough to see that such unworthy actions were only a "stage" in life and were succeeded by events that he hopes, brought some measure of compensating joy and satisfaction to the hearts of father and mother.

In this experience of disappointment in the actions of children, a Northville home received this encouraging note from a good friend: "I well recall my two brothers going through this experience. Bill once had his suit case packed and was leaving but father persuaded him to stay at home. I have three wonderful friends here, good parents who are going through this same struggle with their youngsters of the same age. So cheer up. I have faith to believe that all will turn out for the best."

Maybe we parents need more love and patience than we have shown. Perhaps we haven't put ourselves in the children's places. Certainly the right kind of home training will, in the long run, bring dividends of peace and rich satisfaction to parents.

THE TRAGEDY AT LANSING

Fire, one of the lurid menaces of the Michigan winter season, has taken its fearful toll at Lansing. Only the most profound sympathy of all can go out to the host of those who are bowed with grief in the presence of the overwhelming tragedy.

There will be the usual talk of investigations and of attempting to place the responsibility for the wiping out of so many human lives. Yet none of this will bring back a single life. The only help of all this probing will be to prevent other possible disasters. There are so many ways for fires to start, and so many possibilities of other holocausts that all who might in any way be responsible for the starting of a fire should look well now to their trust that their consciences may be clear in the event of an outbreak of the demon fire.

If a fire should break out today or tonight in your home, your business place, your farm buildings, would anylessness of yours be one of the contributing causes? A smoker, would your conscience be clear if fire broke out? Do you allow unnecessary trash to accumulate? Have you looked well to your furnace and stove pipes? Do you really realize what fire might do if it broke out around you?

While we think with horror of the number swept into eternity by the fire fiend at our state capital, should we not remember that we see the automobile menace strike down our people in as large numbers all through the weeks and months? Strangely enough, however, because the total is piled up one at a time, we are not overcome with grief as we are at a time of mass catastrophe. The toll taken by the careless driver, the drunken man, the selfish motorist, the reckless fool, is a terrible one. Some day we shall not be so dumbly indifferent to the wholesale slaughter of the automobile.

WANDERING THOUGHTS

No denying it—Christmas business is better!

Diggers of pits for others fall in themselves.

Just a layman's guess: There won't be much fighting overseas for awhile. The nations are too hard up.

"I wouldn't want to live in a better town than Northville," said one of the newest of our business people the other day.

You would be surprised to see what heavy traffic the new parkway pavement is taking out on Fairbrook Avenue toward the hatchery and Maybury Sanatorium. Next summer is sure to see an increasing influx of Detroit people.

Northville needs a real building program. Wouldn't a five-year plan here do a lot to put business on a solid basis? We could build 25 houses a year for the next five years and not begin to fill the community need. People have literally been driven away from Northville for months because the housing here is inadequate. And if our community leadership is as "smart" as we think it is, we are going to build a modest but modern hotel one of these days. And what do you to say to a "Wider Main Street?" One of the surest ways back to prosperity is to get the building program going. Let's tear down or remodel some old buildings and not wait for the fire to raze them.

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION

How can we, in 1935, make Northville a better place in which to live and raise our children?

NORTHVILLE'S YESTERDAYS

5 YEARS AGO

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Pardee left Wednesday with Miss Jessie May, Pardee and Forni Schroeder for a few months' stay at Edge Worth, Florida.

Wm. Thayer has opened up the trolley line to children's gliders and the place is about as busy as one can find around Lake at present.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Burgess closed their home on East Main street and have gone into Detroit to remain for the winter.

Thaddeus G. Masters underwent an operation at the Henry Ford hospital Monday and he is getting along nicely.

10 YEARS AGO

Last Friday night while James A. Buff was returning to Northville from a business engagement on the Novi road, the southbound passenger train struck his auto at the crossing on the Novi road and the machine was thrown across the creek and driven into the bank on the opposite side. Nearly everything about the car was wrecked, but fortunately Mr. Buff escaped fatal injury.

Edward Perrin of this place was married Monday, Dec. 12, to Miss Deasy B. Moore at the home of the bride's foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Osterman, Bay City, Michigan.

Misses Mabel Harrington and Jenny Vogt are clerking in W. L. Becker's jewelry store during the holiday season.

WHAT OTHER EDITORS ARE THINKING ABOUT

POOR OLD BARNUM

(From the Wayne, Neb., Herald)

A friend of ours on an automobile tour recently stopped for a few minutes at Little Bohemia hideout in which John Dillinger and gang were nearly cornered by federal agents. The host in confidential mood discoursed at some length on the guiltiness of the hundreds who flocked in to satisfy their morbid curiosity.

Merely to set the stage and add a bit of local color for the benefit of patrons, the proprietor arranged a table with cards and poker chips scattered about the top. This was supposed to be the table at which Dillinger was playing when interrupted by the government men.

Tacked on the wall near the table were five cards advertised as the hand Dillinger was playing at the moment of his hasty exit. Much to the joy of host's surprise and delight, the people jostled one another for the privilege of buying these chips as souvenirs for ten cents each.

So brisk did the business become that it became necessary to buy up the entire supply of poker chips in a neighboring town. These were fed out onto the table as needed and sold as genuine "Dillinger" souvenirs.

Enthusiasts, even put in bids for the "original" five card hand and the host had no difficulty in selling sets at $1.00 each as fast as he could.

The collectors went away very pleased with themselves but satisfied of the host with his totally unexpected burst of hand-to-hand business was undoubtedly keenly satisfied.

Barnum, it seems, who built up a

"British Agent" Comes Here Today
And Tomorrow And On December 19
The Attraction Is "Gift Of Gab"

In addition to being an absorbing and dynamic periods of the world's history.

The picture is fictionalized history. It was inspired by the novel by the internationally famous author, R. H. Bruce Lockhart, who lived in Petrograd during the flaming days of the Russian Revolution, and risked his wife and liberty to battle in secret with three other young adventurers in a desperate attempt to prevent the Soviet from signing a separate peace with Germany.

While set in the bloody and chaotic background of days and nights of terror when Cossacks rode down and slew riots of men, women and children, and when Bolshevik bombs blew up palaces and embassies with their occupants, the dynamic story never deviates from the passionate love of the British Agent and a beautiful and aristocratic Russian lady who has dedicated her life to the Red Cause. Here is a most unusual drama of love with a man and woman hating each other's ideals and yet drawn together by an unending and unquenchable passion.

In its breath-taking climax, this woman of tremendous emotions whose very being is torn between overpowering love and insatiate hatred betrays her lover to the dreaded Cheka, Russia's secret police, knowing their intention of shooting him to death with dynamite. And yet, so strong is her love that she goes to him at the last moment to tie him in his arms when the fatal bomb was to have been fired.

Leslie Howard, famous for his brilliant characterizations on the stage and screen of two continents, never gave a more powerful performance than as the British Agent.

Special credit should be given to William Gargan, the American Cesare Romero, the Italian, and Philip Reed, the Frenchman, who as unofficial observers of their countries are seen working in secret with Leslie Howard in the hope of saving the war for the Allies, working with the Czechs on their trail until one by one they are trapped, with the exception of the author.

Their portrayal of these men with nerves jangled death hanging over them, unrecognized by their own countries, is unusually exciting but they rise to the importance of their parts with real artistry.

Fine acting of difficult roles is done by Gregory Gaye, J. Carroll Naish, Tenor Holtz, George Pearce, Freng Pachel, Hellwell Hobbes, Donald Lloyd and Paul Porcas.

Michael Curtiz, who also was in the thick of the World War, has given the piece a touch so deft that it makes it one of the most artistic as well as the most powerful dramas this reviewer has been privileged to witness.

Lisard Doyle, in writing the screen play has caught the spirit and translated the amazing events with truth and dramatic intensity. It is a picture every one should see.

"Gift Of Gab."

"Say It With Music" is the slogan of Universal's "Gift of Gab," the unusual musical comedy-drama starring Edmund Lowe which will make its bow at the Penniman-Alen Theatre Friday and Saturday, December 14 and 15, with Leslie Howard and Kay Francis in the stellar roles. It is of innumerable and far-reaching importance in its picturization of one of the most colored in a radio broadcasting station. In it, Edmund Lowe rises from the ranks of the broadway auctioneers to become the nation's outstanding radio announcer and reporter.

FIRE DAMAGES JR. ASSEMBLY ON TUESDAY

Excitement Runs High As Students Realize There Is A Fire

Tuesday morning was a welcome disaster for some of the students of the high school. A fire broke out in the junior assembly, doing small damage to the back of the room.

Students smelled smoke in nearly all the rooms. In the shorthand class the students were so uneasy Mrs. Taylor went exploring just to ease their minds.

The insulation around the oven was not thick enough between the oven and overlay to give complete protection.

Firemen said that if the fire had started in the night it would have completely destroyed the school.

The high school was emptied in one minute and a half.

Coats and wraps were taken out by the men and high school boys after all students were out.

The firemen worked heroically to keep the fire from spreading. School was temporarily discontinued until repairs could be finished.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL REGULATIONS AND RULES ARE RIGID

The Northville High school girls basketball team must observe the following rules given out by the state:

1. Teams are to be in charge of and under the direct supervision of a woman member of the faculty and should be coached by women.

2. Each squad shall number at least ten players, preferably fifteen to twenty.

3. Practice periods shall be limited to four hours per week with a maximum of one and one-half hours per period and a recommendation of one hour as a minimum per period.

4. Schedules are to be limited to a maximum of eight games.

5. No more than one game a week shall be played.

6. Games shall consist of four six-minute quarters with no limitation on the number of quarters to be played by any one girl, except that in cases of mutual agreement by the competing schools, the game may consist of four eight-minute quarters in which case a girl may not compete in more than three quarters.

7. Thorough medical examination shall be made at the beginning of each season and any questionable cases are to be withheld from competition.

8. There shall be at least one additional physical examination during the season or after any protracted period of illness.

9. Weight charts are to be kept for the entire squad; close attention being given to them. Continual loss of weight should call for lighter practice, more sleep and rest, and closer attention to diet and regular baths.

10. Girls' Official basketball rules are to be followed in all games with the exception of the rule with reference to the length of quarters.

Christmas

We wish every one could set everything else aside during Christmas week and really try to feel the spirit there is in this holiday of great joy.

Why do we give gifts and celebrate this day, it is all because of the birth of a little baby one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four years ago.

We believe when one gives a gift it isn't the value of the gift which is given but the Christmas spirit that brought about the giving of this gift. When one gives a gift just for getting one in return we believe this person hasn't really learned the purpose of Christmas. We wish that when Christmas is over this year everyone can say I now have an idea of what Christmas really is.

This week's question: Should the

NORTHVILLE HIGH MEETS VAN DYKE HERE TONIGHT

Tonight Northville's basketball team plays Van Dyke here in her first league game of the season.

The second team will open the evening, starting promptly at 7:00 o'clock, after which the first team will play. The price of admission will be 25 cents for adults and 15 cents for students.

Greatly cheered by her victory over University High last Friday night, the Orange and Black five will put up a hard fight tonight and it is expected that a large crowd will attend the game.

The following boys will probably make up the first team lineup: Hoffmann and Deal as forwards; Bray as center; Marburger and Myers as guards.

N.H.S. BEATS U. HIGH 12-11 LAST FRIDAY

Varsity Wins 12 To 11; Reserves Win By Score of 24 to 18

In a highly exciting game, the Northville High school basketball team defeated the University High team of Ann Arbor last Friday evening 12 to 11.

This proved to be the first defeat University High has ever suffered at the hands of the Northville fives.

Deal gave his team an early lead by sinking the first basket of the game. A few minutes later Myers made another field goal for N. H. S. cagers. Next Green scored a basket for the Blue and Gold five, putting them only one basket behind Northville as the quarter ended.

Northville's offensive plays proved superior to University High while both teams looked plenty good on defense.

The second quarter opened with Hoffman making the first basket for Northville. Green followed with a field goal for University High. Nelson of Ann Arbor tied up the game with a much-needed basket. Hoffman came back to put Northville in the lead by sinking a beauty.

Northville Leads at Half

The lightest scoring period of the game was the third quarter. The local lads failed to score a point while Ann Arbor made three points on a basket and foul, putting them in the lead.

Early in the fourth quarter Marburger put Northville in the lead by making a basket. Hoffman followed Marburger's example and sank the prettiest basket of the game. With the crowd going mad and the game almost out of the control of the referee, Hewett sank a field goal to end the game. Final score 12 to 11 in favor of Northville High school.

University High

Hoffman F. Hewett

Deal F. Nelson

Bray C. Swisher

Myers G. Green

Marburger G. Mitchell

Subs for Ann Arbor: Hoff, Osborne and Lehman.

Reserves Play Good Game

The Reserves again played a good game with Hutchins and Bender making nine points each. Two of the most spectacular shots of the evening were made by Charles Bishop of Northville, who replaced Bender.

GRADE NOTES

Miss Jarvis' first grade has been dramatizing the story of "The Four Friends" and have now made posters to represent characters in the story.

The first graders have been measured and weighed. They were very happy to find that there were very few underweight children in their room.

Miss Leonardson's second graders are designing and have made some original designs.

The Grade School has already a festive spirit about it from the many colorful decorations.

Mrs. Congo's third graders had a spud day Friday. The boys were spent against the girls. Lois Gardiner and Harriet Carlson were the last to go down. The boys' side won.

For a language lesson the third graders wrote letters to Santa Claus.

Mrs. Reng's second graders have been talking about Christmas. They are reading Christmas stories and learning Christmas songs. They have also drawn Christmas pictures. The second graders are also planning to make Christmas presents for their mothers' and fathers'.

In Miss Kreiger's 4A room, the following pupils have received 100 percent all month in spelling: Robert Beasley, Phyllis Hancock, Robert McClellan and Robert Vogtin. The following had but one point minus 100 percent: Betty Alger, Edythe Amerman, James La Rue, Julia Peitz and Leon Stens.

Miss Kreiger's pupils made Santa Claus and winter posters. They also made window and board decorations.

George Hunter made a very nice calendar for the board.

MARY HARPER

P. S.—This has been a great burden for us to bear. Please don't let me do as we are feeling worse.

Yours faithfully,

FLORENCE JOHNSON

BEAUTY AS SEEN BY A BRAINY BRAT.

(By Maryanna Condit)

Many have written about it.

Also many have bought it.

But the only ones that have found it.

Are the ones who really sought it.

It shines in the trees, the birds, the bees.

The butterflies and roses;

In the hills, the seas, the lakes,

the skies.

And even in little pigs' noses.

Even in school there's beauty, to find.

Tho sometimes I can't quite see it;

There's beauty in the perfect mind.

But, none have I known so beautiful that I lived to tell the story.

DEPARTMENT NOTES

Domestic Science

The senior girls are busy on their first dress. Many of the girls are trying to get theirs finished for Christmas.

The eighth grade cooking classes have completed the studying of breakfast and are beginning the study of luncheon.

The P.T.A. is sponsoring the school lunch room this year. Mrs. Adelle Brock is to be the cook and will manage it. The lunch room will open Monday, December 17.

Commercial Notes

The typing class has had their third week office test. Each student is handed a perfect copy of a letter, and is to put out as many perfect copies as they can in a limited time. This test is also to see if you would be able to get an office position if this was an application.

The following people would be positive of a position: Eddie Ryde Coldren, who passed away at her home in East Lansing Wednesday, November 23.

For the last eight years she had been an invalid, being confined in her home to a wheel chair. Her death came after an illness lasting only about four days. Her main ailment had been arthritis.

After a short funeral service in East Lansing on Sunday, December 1st, the remains were brought here and placed in the mausoleum at Rural Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Coldren will be remembered as the wife of the late Charles H. Coldren, who was mayor of Northville for several years and also a director of the Northville State Bank.

Mrs. Coldren was born on the old Ryder farm two miles west of Northville in 1855, being the daughter of Joseph and Sally Ryder. She was married to Mr. Coldren in 1874. She later became the mother of two children: Clarence, who died in infancy, and Mrs. Mary Coldren who passed away in March 1923.

After the death of her husband, in the spring of 1927, at their home, 303 W. Main street, Mrs. Coldren and her grandson moved to East Lansing where they have resided at the home of her brother, Edward Ryder, Dean of Liberal Arts at Michigan State College. She is survived by her brother and her grandson, Charles Coldren, assistant professor of chemistry at M. S. C. E. E. Ryder of Northville is a cousin of Mrs. Coldren.

The following people have the ability to take dictation in short hand at the rate of 40 words 2 minutes, which is considered good for weeks of practice. Maryanne Nelson has the most stars. Janette Harper, Verna Little, Alice Masters and Mary Elizabeth Elkington have five stars.

The students with the most words typed accurately are: Mary Louise Boyton, 20 words and Dorothy Richardson, 30 words.

The third hour class has only six pupils represented while the sixth hour class has eleven pupils.

THE NORTHVILLE RECORD

MR. HUTTON PRAISES NORTHLVIE SINGERS

Northville will appreciate more than ever its fine musical organizations after reading the following commentary by Chas. E. Hutton, of Walled Lake, on the recent concert given by the Northville Male chorus assisted by Mrs. V. J. Lumley and Ernest Race.

Dec. 4, 1934

Mr. Richard Baldwin,
Editor Northville Record.

Dear Mr. Baldwin:

The people of our community were given the privilege last evening of hearing a remarkable group of singers in the Northville-Plymouth Men's Glee Club, directed by your Leslie G. Lee.

They are remarkable for many reasons. The Glee Club, composed of representative business men of two cities of modest size, has proven to themselves and to others that there was never such a bargain as seeing three side-shows for the price of one. No, I wasn't surprised at him. You can expect those things from Mr. Angove.

Who was the familiar figure seeing his name? My first glance did not decide me. It was really Mr. Alexander R. H. Amerman to exact. He was pitching base balls and believe you me, folks he really has a terrific right.

A brigadier figure averted my attention to the further end of the room. It was no other than Madame Christensen escorting a poor victim to have his fortune told. Here's hoping his fortune looked brighter than before he entered Madame McCordle's booth.

Well, well! There was Mrs. Cobb trying to get a package of confetti off her hair and clothing. She could not see me from the confetti, and I strayed to her in vain to ask her whether she had our test all made out.

Mrs. Lumley, soprano, contributed to well-rehearsed selections.

Ernest Race played beautifully on an exceedingly fine violin, accompanied most capably by Mrs. Edna O'Connor.

Miss Barbara Burns accounted for herself excellently as usual, as commentor for the glee club and for Mrs. Lumley.

Very eloquently yours
Charles E. Hutton

MRS. ELIZABETH PARMENTER

Mrs. Elizabeth Parmenter died at the University Hospital Thursday, Dec. 6, after a long illness.

Mrs. Parmenter was born in Waukegan, Wayne Co., Sept. 1, 1877.

On Sept. 12, 1919, she was married to Wm. Parmenter and has made her home in Northville for the past 15 years.

To all with whom she came in contact Mrs. Parmenter was a kind neighbor and a good friend and was loved by many.

Surviving her are her husband, Wm. Parmenter, three sons by her former marriage, Harry Bulman of South Lyon, Robert of Wayne and Delbert of Hillsdale, and one sister, Mrs. W. D. Parmenter of Plymouth, who mourns the loss of a dear wife, mother and sister. Nine grandchildren and one great-grandchild also survives.

The funeral was held at the home of the sister in Plymouth Sunday afternoon, Dec. 9. Rev. Lucia M. Stroh officiating and burial was made in Maple Grove cemetery beside her parents.

The eighth grade cooking classes have completed the studying of breakfast and are beginning the study of luncheon.

The P.T.A. is sponsoring the school lunch room this year. Mrs. Adelle Brock is to be the cook and will manage it. The lunch room will open Monday, December 17.

The Walled Lake Methodist choir held its regular monthly business meeting and supper at the home of Mrs. J. A. Devereaux Tuesday.

The Ladies Aid will have a pot-luck dinner and business meeting at the parsonage Thursday. All members are asked to come prepared to work.

Mrs. Fred Parmenter Dies

Mrs. Carlotta Parmenter, wife of Fred A. Parmenter, well-known in this village, passed away Wednesday night, December 3, after a very short illness. The funeral was held in Detroit on Saturday, Dec. 8, and burial was in Bruce cemetery where her father and mother were buried.

Mrs. Parmenter was born at Bruce, Michigan, fifty years ago, to Mr. and Mrs. John Campbell. She married Fred Parmenter seven years ago and has made her home here. She was active in the Baptist church and the Order of the Eastern Star.

The program as presented by Mr. Fred Parmenter, well-known in various ways, was filled with music, songs and sketches, exceeding well done. There was an absence of taste and balance, fine and reedy voices, and a general effect of thorough knowledge of the thing at hand, as evidenced by the fact that all numbers were mentioned.

Mrs. Lumley, soprano, contributed to well-rehearsed selections.

Ernest Race played beautifully on an exceedingly fine violin, accompanied most capably by Mrs. Edna O'Connor.

Miss Barbara Burns accounted for herself excellently as usual, as commentor for the glee club and for Mrs. Lumley.

The senior class of Walled Lake will present its annual play Friday, December 14, at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

A mystery comedy in three acts, "Speakeasy Tavern," will furnish you an evening of happy, humorous mystery, filled with sudden surprises in a setting which is entirely different and breath-taking.

The cast includes:

Roger Green ... Lou Hacker

Oster of Spooky Tavern ... Ghost

Louise Glanore ... Lucy Baker

A spiritualistic medium ... Catherine Pond ... Joyce Wingate

A resourceful conjurer ... Mary Dutton ... Florence

NEWS AROUND NORTHLVILLE

Isabelle Wilkinson of the eighth grade is at home with chicken pox. J. N. McLoughlin made a business trip to Chicago this week.

Mrs. Sam Wilkinson is able to sit up a part of the time after her illness.

Perry Angrave will be in Howell Friday of this week to attend a clinic which is being held there.

Mrs. June Reichenbacker of Detroit was a guest of her cousin, Mrs. Fraser Starman, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Keskey, Miss Vernell Sander and Jack Blackburn were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Blackburn on East Main street. Mrs. Keskey is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Blackburn.

Miss Squires of Wayne will be at the Northville Public Library tomorrow morning (Saturday), December 15th at 10:30 o'clock for a story hour. All children of the first seven grades are invited and urged to be present.

Mrs. Scott Lovewell expects to leave shortly for a visit in Harlingen, Texas with Mrs. Margaret Currier, who is making her home there with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Williams.

Announcement has been received by Northville friends of the marriage of Vern Clawson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Clawson (One Gunison) of Pine Grove, Calif. The family formerly lived here, moving on west about fourteen years ago.

The home of Mrs. Lola Watson on West Main street was entered last Wednesday afternoon by a prowler. He climbed out of a basement window and escaped when Mrs. Watson entered the house after a trip downtown. A portable radio and clothing belonging to both Mrs. Watson and her son, Jack, were found in the coal bin where the burglar had left them.

Miss Margaret Haskell, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert H. Haskell, of Northville, is a member of the choir at Lake Erie college which will present a special Christmas carol program Sunday afternoon. The choir is directed by Elton Arthur Kraft, of Cleveland, head of the college's department of music, and one of America's foremost organist. The choir numbers will be interspersed with several organ numbers by Mr. Kraft. The entire service is to be by candlelight.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Beyers are leaving Sunday morning to spend the winter in Florida. They expect to spend part of their time in Clearwater and St. Petersburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Church of Detroit, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Church of Cleveland were visitors at the home of Mrs. and Mrs. Dean Grossard over the weekend.

WEATHER IS WARMER

The United States Weather Bureau has kept its promise this time. The break in the cold wave the bureau predicted for Wayne county has arrived.

The thermometer has been climbing steadily and at noon Thursday had reached 32 degrees above. The change came as a welcome relief to Northville residents, who for days had been suffering from near zero temperatures, and the chilly blasts that always come with them as standard equipment.

TIMES HAVE CHANGED

(W. S. Kennedy in The Albion Evening Recorder)

Let's see, that $24 million the RFC is going to lend the First National Bank in Detroit for a payoff before

Christmas makes how much already advanced on the assets of the Detroit banks closed by the banking holiday? $240 millions? Or does this mean bring it over $300 million?

Now, it is four or five times the amount the same RFC refused on the same assets a year ago, last

February when our Sen. Couzens threat to do a lot of yelling from the house to close every bank in the country.

Most Desolate Island

Navarino is perhaps the most southern permanent abode of man.

This desolate island and a number of others, such as Hoste, Yerédega,

Canakis and Lenox, all near Cape

Horn, form the political district of Narvalo, Chile's outpost of civilization. North of these islands flows

Beagle channel, made famous by Darwin's studies and the voyage of the British ship Beagle.

Colds Are Caused By Tiny Microbes

Cold Is A Contagious Disease, And Is More Contagious During Early Stages

By Dr. Wilson G. Sallie
Professor of Public Health Administration, Harvard University School of Public Health

What is a cold? The professors will tell you that a cold is an acute, self-limited infection of the upper respiratory tract. This defines a cold exactly but does not tell us what we want to know about it. Where do colds come from? Why do they occur? How can they be avoided?

Scientists have been making investigations for years to determine the cause of colds, but with no success. Recently, however, very important results were obtained. Since chimpanzees have colds just like men, these animals were used for the study of this group of diseases, and, in this way, the cause of colds was finally discovered.

Causes a "Virus" We now know that colds are caused by a "filterable virus," a germ so small that it cannot be seen even through the highest power microscope. These germs are found in enormous numbers in the nose and throat of a person who has a cold. The "virus" may be separated from all other germs and stored in a test tube in the laboratory, alive and unchanged for at least three years. At the end of this time one drop of this material is enough to give a chimpanzee a perfectly typical cold.

Human volunteers have been infected time and again with this virus from the test tube and have developed colds in 36 to 48 hours. Thus there seems to be no question but that the cause of colds has finally been determined. With this information in hand it is possible to make rapid strides toward the development of methods for prevention and treatment of colds. We know already that the cold virus is found in abundance in the nose and throat of a person during the early stages of a cold, but disappears after the first three to four days. Thus a person is most likely to give a cold to others when he is just coming down with it but is not a menace after four or five days.

8 Gallons Oil Bathes Elephant It takes eight gallons of special oil to give each of the elephants at the London Zoo its annual "beauty bath."

Meaning of "Ltd." In England, all companies having the word "Limited" at the end of their names are limited liability companies, which means that their shareholders are liable only for the prescribed amount of their shares should the company become bankrupt or be able to pay its debts.

No Policeman, No Jail. The people of Iceland have learned more about living at peace among themselves than have the citizens of any other nation, writes G. R. Turner in the Kansas City Times. Evidence of this lies in the record they have no prisons and no policeman comparable to the forces of detention and guardians of the law everywhere apparent in our own country. Their legislature assembled the autumn has just re-enacted the law for more than a thousand years. In fact, although the King of Denmark is nominally head of the nation, Iceland is the oldest republic of our planet with a record of self-government that began eight centuries before the United States of America was founded.

The "Bronx" borough of New York City, it takes its name from Jones Bronx sometimes written Bronx and Bronx, who was the first white owner of land there. He was a Dane or "Sweede" who migrated to New Netherland from Amsterdam, Holland, in 1630. Two years later he purchased 500 acres of land between the Harlem and Ararons rivers. This latter stream soon took his Indian name and became known as Bronx's river. The name Bronx was also applied to the taller of the river, and later, Bronx, a natural derivative, to the political division, destined for purposes of government.

First Boxing Gloves. It is generally thought that the first glove, contest, was between John L. Sullivan and James J. Corbett in 1882. It is said, however, that a French robbery tells of an exhibition at Aix-la-Chapelle, France, on October 28, 1818, as follows: "Friggday a great match was made by English boxers. The two champions were Hercules and were asked to the boxer. They entered the place with their hands wrapped with tape. And gloves. After several combats, one of them, a short time after, was struck down and could not get up again.

Mr. and Mrs. Kehler returned Monday evening from their visit.

Pemmican
Pemmican consisted originally of lean meat cut in little slices, dried in the sun, pounded while mixed with melted fat, and packed. It was much used in that form by North American Indians as a convenient food to be carried. The term is applied to a similar preparation to which dried fruit is sometimes added and which is compressed into cakes. It is much used by explorers.

Woman's Club Gets Light At Meeting Friday

Following a delicious co-operative luncheon served buffet style, the members of the Northville Woman's Club were held in deep interest by a talk on the proper lighting of our homes by Miss Marquita Organt at their regular meeting at the library Friday afternoon.

Miss Organt was accompanied by three representatives from the Detroit Edison company who demonstrated by the use of actual lamps and also by slides and motion pictures the results of using various kinds of lamps.

Woman's Union Members Lunch Together At Christmas Party

A goodly company of members of the Woman's Union sat down together sociably at a Christmas luncheon Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Frederick Hedge and Mrs. H. G. Clark in charge it goes without saying that the menu was delicious.

"His Christmas Everywhere" was covered in interesting manner in a survey of Christmas on the Mission Fields by Mrs. John W. Cleaver.

Mrs. W. H. Yerkes was elected to succeed Mrs. Scott Lovewell as president and Mrs. L. W. Linton to succeed Mrs. E. A. Kohler as corresponding secretary.

UNTO EVERY MAN

(Newton D. Baker)

We are now facing what this country is going to do in the winter of 1934-35. When we shall have done our best, it will still be a winter of discontent at least in this sense. That the feeble and the sick will need care and nursing, and that character will be forming in several million boys and girls under conditions all too likely to start young trees in twisted if not crooked directions. The question is what are we going to do about it, and what are we going to do about now. The burden which the Federal Government is already carrying and planning to carry does not reach this load. It has always hitherto been borne by private philanthropy. Clearly the only answer to the situation is that communities—every citizen according to his ability—must accept as their own responsibility those protection of the future of society which no longer be sustained by the willing hands to the generous few.

To the extent that we do this year's inescapable task adequately, we shall have rebuilt the possibilities of African manhood and womanhood for millions of people. To the extent that we neglected or fail in this task, we will have planted and nourished seeds of social disease with pitiful, if not dangerous consequences.

CONGRESSMAN DONDRO OFFERS READERS FREE HOUSE PLAN BULLETIN

Both rural and urban residents will be interested in the new Farmer's Bulletin No. 1734, "Farmhouse Plans" which has just been furnished by the United States Department of Agriculture.

This 16-page bulletin illustrates and describes plans for 49 houses varying in size from small "growing" houses to those containing six or more rooms. Copies of this bulletin may be obtained free while the limited supply lasts by addressing a postal card to Congressman George A. Dondro, Box 12, Reedford Station, Detroit, Michigan.

USE RECORD WANT ADS

SOCIETY'S HARDSTICK

(Fred D. Keister in The Ionia County News)

It is not how many who die, but the circumstances surrounding each death which provides society with the hardstick used to measure public reaction regarding the annual toll of human lives through violence.

A little girl meets a horrible fate at the hands of a degenerate. Instantly a city, state and nation join in frantic search for the slayer. Yet in the very same issue of the news papers carrying this story of child violation, may be found a dozen other stories dealing with accidental deaths caused by traffic accidents over a single week-end in Michigan scarcely noticed by the readers in their constant search for the melodramatic.

Somewhere, a human life is sacrificed on the foul smelling cesspool of the eternal triangle, a sordid story of domestic infidelity that flares into streetcar headlines—completely eclipsing news dispatches telling of 26 men going to their death in the north country because of caribou hunting.

This seeming indifference, this refusal of the public to make itself fully aware, thoroughly aroused thru some sensational agency, in one of the underlying causes of the ever-growing tribute we are paying to the gods of carelessness.

DRINKING AND DRIVING

(Toledo Blade)

Most certainly the idea of intoxication should not mitigate the punishment of any driver held responsible for accident. If such a plea has any effect, it should be to make the sentence more severe, for every drunken driver is a potential killer.

The increasing number of drunken pedestrians creates a new problem. It will be said, of course, that he who gets drunk and tries to walk the congested highways must assume the risks of his indiscretion, but there is much more to be said on the subject. The drunken pedestrian may involve the soberest and most careful driver in a serious and perhaps fatal accident. There are many motorists whose greatest worry is not for their own safety, but for the safety of the drunken pedestrians and the drunken or incompetent drivers they encounter on the highways.

BASE-LINE SCHOOL

Last week the eighth graders made a crude barometer with a pin, jar and a bottle. They were surprised to see how well it worked.

Irving, Ronald, Louis, Helen, Margaret, Julia and Irene had perfect health records last week.

On Friday the kindergarten made Santa Clauses and colored them red, white and black. After they were finished, the children put them on the wall. The other grades made bowls of poinsettias for the windows.

Our school is being painted on the outside.

Children and Movies

Mother, may I go to the show? Can I? Can I eat until to stop their coaxing, the mother answers. Yes, yes here's a dime a piece. Run-along—and with less care than she gives to the kind of food they eat, she waves them off and returns to her dish washing. As for the kids, they run off to feed their mind upon whatever happens to be served on the screen.

Some startling facts were shown to a large group of Northville women the other day when Mrs. C. M. Chase brought a report from an investigation of moving pictures.

Here are some of the data Mrs. Chase presented:

Motion pictures are both good and bad. They are vicious when they do not present life in a true way.

Of the 77,000,000 who attend movies, one-third are children, two-thirds of whom go at night.

What do children see at movies? 115 pictures, 406 comedies, 59 thrillers, 55 assaults, 21 kidnappings, 41 holdups.

Villains are made attractive? Children always remember the bad more than they do the good. Movies do not make good children bad, nor bad children good, but they bring out their latent tendencies.

Two children were given two cups of strong coffee in the evening and two others were taken to exciting movies. The electrical device known as the hypnograph was attached to the children's beds that night and it was found that those attending the movies were 54 percent more restless than those having coffee. Boys were more restless than the girls.

Children from 6 to 12 years of age love adventure best, those from 12 to 18 love banditry. A marked effect on the behavior of children is noted in their imitation of their heroes in dress, talk and in their very speech.

After a picture showing how to pry open the door of a car and rob it, a wave of that particular crime swept over the country, as did another following a hold-up scene.

Young folks are more impressed by what they see than by what they read.

The only solution of the problem is for mothers to patronize the good and boycott the bad. Motion pictures should be censured and regulated.

Fortunately, the Legion of Decency and the Federal Council of Churches are working in declaring that the American public does not demand filthy pictures but clean entertainment and educational features.

A Man Sends A Recipe

A nice young aspirant for Ad's vacated chair was on us the other day. He was so very nice (as most of the 50 applicants have been) that we took him home to lunch. As a reward he left on our table several pages of "Armchair Reveries" which he said, we might use (and we will from time to time.)

Among the pages was the rule for cooking a rather unusual dish. And this is the way the young man describes it:

There is food for thought these long winter evenings. I was sitting in the old armchair listening to the pleasant sound of dishes in the kitchen and the first thing I knew I was off on a gustatory adventure.

Years ago, on cold nights, we used to cook up an exciting dish. I haven't had it for some time but it is delicious. Perhaps you would like to try it?

Beefsteak and celery are the ingredients. We used to allow half a pound of steak to a person. The celery should take up twice as much space as the meat. Cut the beefsteak and celery into thumbnail chunks (a pair of old scissors is a fine tool). Keep them separate.

Next, a deep frying pan and a slow fire. First in the pan goes lots of butter (almost half pound to each pound of meat). Then the celery lots of black pepper, some paprika and a dash or so of red pepper.

When the celery has cooked soft turn up the fire and put in the beefsteak. The meat cooks in no time so be careful. Just before serving—if you want a touch of exquisite flavor—add a cup of sherry. Serve on toasted hamburger roll halves. It may be rich but—Oh!

Warren Sackett of St. Johns visited at the Frank Martin home.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. D. Flint were recent dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bogart at Pontiac.

Mrs. Art Trotter and Mrs. Pat Gaffney and daughter, Carolyn, were in Detroit Monday on a shopping trip.

Mrs. Maggie Waite has returned to her home in West Novi after spending several days with her daughter, Mrs. Ethel Thayer at Farmington.

Mrs. Waite is in very poor health. Arthur Hicks attended a banquet Saturday night at Pontiac in company with a Walled Lake party, including H. C. Hillman, a member of the Ossian Court Road Committee.

The Odd-Fellow and Rebekah lodges will hold an auction sale of miscellaneous articles including farm products and household supplies on Friday evening, December 14th at their lodge rooms at Novi.

Mrs. Lillian Trickey, Eddie Kent, Minnie Martin, Lou Hicks, Eddie Brooks, Anna Stilwell, and Susie Matis attended the Reheber Club at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Smith at South Lyon last Wednesday.

A recent local happening, which must be true all over our country today, will belie any such fear. The publisher of The Record found it necessary to advertise for a young man for his staff. Some fifty wrote letters applying for the position. A good many of them the writer saw in person or read their letters of application and their recommendations.

They were high caliber men both in training and character, according to their conversation and the contents of their letters. Most of them lived within a radius of fifty miles of Northville.

They were all ambitious and willing to work for a nominal sum. Some were single, some married, but in any event well poised and sane in their relations to society, economic progress and the stable things that go to make up our national life. They all seemed eager to be busy and occupied, and to get into the harness of the everyday working world.

Such a condition is not confined to Northville, Detroit, or Michigan. It must be correspondingly true, all over the entire nation. Not only in the advertising and newspaper world, but in all professional and business lines. In fact it must be true in any line of endeavor that is a part and parcel of our national growth and development. The essential and fundamental features of progress and advancement of our national life lies in such sort of trained people who largely make up our so called middle class.

When the nation emerges back to a more stabilized and sane economic life and all these highly trained men find work in their respective spheres little worry or fear will be necessary as to the destiny of the nation as relating to the power and control of the affairs that pertain to this country's growth and welfare.

The liberties and the destinies of the nation will be safe. The wealth and good being of the United States will not be in jeopardy.

The conification of financial, moral, educational, spiritual, and economic leadership in our national tomorrow will be in safe hands if such men who came to Northville are any criterion of the kind who make up the middle class of our national life.

"God the Preserver of Man" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in St. Cyprian's Science Church

throughout the world on Sunday

December 16.

Among the Bible citations in this passage (Acts 9:33, 34) "And there was found a certain man named An-toachus, who had kept his bed eight years, and was sick of the palsy."

Peter said unto him, "Anothen, Jesus

Christ maketh thee whole; arise and make thy bed." And he arose immediately.

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook,

Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, to include the following: (pp. 90)

The calm, great earnestness of true spirituality, the manifestations of spirituality, and to every man His work, and which are health, purity, and self-commanded the power to watch imagination most deepest human experience, until the beliefs of material existence are seen to be a falsehood, and His disease, and the reworking, or in the spiritual death, give everlasting place to the spiritual demonstration of divine spiritual and God's spiritual perfect-man.

St. Paul's Lutheran

"First in the Lord with all things right, and least not, make out understanding." In all thy ways, acknowledge Him, and Be thou di-lity paths! Proy. 3: 4, 6.

"Trust in the Lord with all thy heart; and lean not on thine own understanding." Is ad the way, understanding, and the belief in God's word, and the love of God
