THE TIGERS WIN
the Pennant, and Northville is Hoping They Win the Series

Vol. 65, No. 13 Section One Northville, Michigan, Friday, September 27, 1935 20 Pages $1.50 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE

SEE HOPE FOR PUBLIC WORKS SCHOOL GRANT

Approval of Application For $25,000 'Almost Certain'

Northville's efforts to obtain a $25,000 PWA grant for a new school building are "quite certain" to be successful, Sherrill W. Ambler, school board secretary, was told by the state PWA office this week.

The information was given Mr. Ambler when the Detroit office of Dean Mortimer Cooley, state PWA director, called for additional information on the school's application.

"It is quite certain that your application will be approved," the PWA official told Secretary Ambler. Nothing was said as to when an o.k. could be expected, according to local school officials.

More than a month ago school officials applied to both the PWA and the WPA for $25,000. The idea was that if one application was turned down, the other might be accepted. While board members and Superintendent Russell H. Ammerman indicated that they favored the Works Progress grant, because of its matching financing arrangements, they will jump at the chance to accept the Public Works approval.

Except for a request for additional information, no word has been received from the WPA people. No indication has been given as to what chances the school's application to this branch of the public works agencies may have.

If money for a building is obtained, the structure will be added to the west end of the present high school building. Plans as drawn up by Eberle Smith, Detroit architect and brother-in-law of Guy Filkins, noted organist, provide for a four-room, two-story building. A grant of a considerably larger sum was advised at first, but school officials lowered it after they had been told that chances were against its being granted.

SUB-CONTRACTS LET FOR MODEL HOME

Storm Will Assign Others Soon; Local Dealers Patronized

Most of the sub-contracts have been let for the building of the model home, Arthur Storm of Detroit, general contractor and builder, stated Tuesday.

The following Northville concerns are supplying materials or labor:

Lumber and builders supplies—Northville Milling & Lumber Co.

Hardware—Fred Lyke.

Plumbing—Alex H. Lyke.

Mason labor—Pierce G. Marsh.

Wiring—Detroit Edison Co.

Linoleum and shades—Schrader Bros.

The Gar Wood Industries of Detroit are furnishing the heating equipment. Plastering, painting and lighting fixture contracts have not as yet been let, but it was indicated by Mr. Storm that they would be soon.

The model home is being built for Percy Angove on the Knapp subdivision, just west of the Floyd Northrop home on Main street.

LOCAL AUTHORESS WILL BE READER AT INDIANA CLUB

Mrs. I. W. Linton will leave the last of the week for Kokomo, Ind., where on Sept. 30, she will be guest entertainer for the opening meeting of Symposium, a woman's club organized 39 years ago, its membership including writers and students of literature.

The committee in charge asked Mrs. Linton to give first an informal talk on her experiences as a writer of stories and features, then to read a number of her stories and also to have on display her large scrap books which are rather unique, being made up entirely of her own published work, over a period of many years.

Mrs. Linton has given programs of her work in Detroit, Coldwater, Coldwater, Kokomo, Ind., and Ann Arbor, and will soon be [illegible]

VILLAGE HAS NO WORD REGARDING ITS PWA GRANTS

Answer Fails to Come On Water or Boy Scout Building Project

No word had been received yesterday regarding the village's two PWA grant applications, according to Dr. H. H. Burkart, president of the commission.

The council two weeks ago voted to accept officially the $20,809 grant for an enclosed reservoir, which has been approved. All that remains is the actual receipt of the money, Dr. Burkart said.

What progress the application for $26,881, made to the Public Works Administration Sept. 3 for improvements on the water system, is not known. Village officials have heard no word from either the state office in Detroit or from Washington.

Neither are known what are the chances for approval of the application made some time ago to the WPA for the Boy Scout building at Dunlap street and Hutton avenue. Work on the Scout building was stopped some time ago when a cessation of all CERA project was ordered, leaving it half completed.

The members of the Northville Woman's club are looking forward with interest to the opening event of their calendar which will be the president's luncheon to be held at the Dearborn Country club Friday, Oct. 4.

On this occasion the past presidents will be honored by being the guests of the club and will, as usual, occupy places at the speakers' table. Mrs. J. P. Siefert, president of the Detroit Federation of Woman's clubs, will be the speaker and three musicians of unusual talent will be present. Mrs. Elsa Fuhrer Dukette, cellolst will play and will be accompanied by her husband, Frank Dukette. Their son, Lucien, will sing.

For reservations members are asked to telephone the secretary, Mrs. L. M. Eaton, 129, or Mrs. Chas. F. Murphy, 289, or any other member of the committee. Those wishing transportation may arrange for this when making reservations.

Guests may be invited and the committee in charge especially urges all members to show their loyalty to the past presidents by attending this event.

REDDEN KILLED IN CAR CRASH TUESDAY

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. today for John Overton Redden, who died Tuesday night of a broken neck. The fatal injury was the result of an accident in which his car smashed into a tree near Wixom.

Redden, who was alone in the car, was apparently returning to his home in Novi township on the Wixom road when the crash occurred. According to Dewey Kimball, Oakland county coroner, he died instantly.

NORTHVILLE'S WORLD-REKNOWNED INSTITUTION

In Syracuse, N. Y., there is a school for mentally deficient boys and girls that has won the acclaim of psychiatrists the world over. There is another institution that does a similar, even more comprehensive work, an institution that distinguished itself still more. That one is in Northville.

The Wayne County Training School, two miles south of Northville on Beck road, was opened in 1926. From it have gone 1,100 unfortunate children with a knowledge and experience that helped them to take their places as good citizens of the commonwealth.

To see this task of moulding character and training minds have come skilled doctors from all over the world. Great universities point to the training school as unique among institutions of its kind. The Record takes pride in presenting the third of a series of articles, written from the viewpoint of a visitor being taken through, on this school which has brought renown to Northville.

To the right are scenes taken at the school; in the kindergarten, cottage school, classroom, and the gymnasium.

These pictures are typical of the excellent facilities the school offers.

Wayne County Training School, Aiding Hundreds of Mentally Handicapped Youngsters, Is Noted World Over

"The object of their training is to put them back into society, where, in spite of their mental handicap, they can be a useful, honest and diligent member of the community." Thus did Dr. Robert H. Haskell, widely noted psychiatrist who is its superintendent, sum up the service the Wayne county training school does for humanity, and especially for its 700 children.

Believing that "you can't make brains where there are none but you can train what brains there are," the training school staff of 169 persons tries to bring out in the youthful inmates those facilities with which they are best equipped, give them character and graduate them into life. The children, who range roughly between the ages of 8 and 16, are all mentally deficient. They come to the training school from large public school systems, where special educational departments find them to be of a low intelligence quota, and from smaller school's where nurses recommend their attendance.

Sent to Cottage

When a child comes into the school he is first given a preliminary physical examination. He is made to feel at home by chatting friendly and quietly with doctors, he is sent to a cottage which already contains a group with which it is believed he will "fit." There are 16 of these cottages on the training school's 1,000 acres, with an average of 45 children to a cottage. Never, said Dr. Haskell, are there more than 50 in a cottage.

In the cottage he learns to associate with other persons his own age. He is taught neatness, responsibility, obedience. The girls' cottages have a "mother" to look after them, and the boys have both a "father" and "mother." The cottages, an acme of order and cleanliness, each have a kitchen, living room, living or assembly room and a dormitory on the second floor.

The food, nearly all of which is raised on the training school's 500-acre farm, is prepared by the children, under the supervision of adults, in a general kitchen. But it is served from the cottage kitchens.

Teach Essentials

The training until the child reaches the age of 16 consists of a half-day in a classroom and a half-day doing handiwork. In the classes an attempt is made to teach the children fundamentals of reading, [illegible]

The school work continues until the child reaches the age of 16. Then, under the direction of the vocational guidance department, he is [illegible] tailoring, laundering, cooking, shoe repairing, metal working, woodworking, printing and many others—in order to determine what type of work he likes best and is best fitted for. After this period of rotation, the boy—or girl—is assigned to a definite unit, where he works until leaving the school.

Work Saves Money

The products turned out in these shops save the school vast sums of money. The wood turning classes make nearly all wood objects needed. The metal workers, under the direction of a single man, turn out pails for the farm, wastebaskets, garbage cans and machinery. The laundry washes and presses the clothes of the institution and the

The club championship was won on Sunday by Frank Johnston of Detroit with a score for the 18 holes of 77. Runners-up were McLoughlin with a score of 83 and Gordon Moffitt with a score of 84. There were 15 entries for this contest.

There will be a Kickere handicap played at Brae Burn Saturday and Sunday, September 29 and 30, said Howard B. Hall, manager. Any entrant is privileged to take any handicap he chooses and that plus his score will be equal to his final score. Nothing under par will count.

MRS. LINDER DIES IN STATE OF COMA

Mrs. George Linder, 46 years old, died last Friday afternoon at the University hospital in Ann Arbor in a coma which had continued from the time of her illness on Monday. Funeral services were held at the home on Lapeer road with the Rev. Ley Eickstaedt officiating. Mrs. Linder had been attending the Lutheran church regularly.

Dr. H. I. Sperling, who was called when Mrs. Linder fell Monday, attributed her death to a coma resulting from uremia.

Mrs. Linder and her husband, George, and son, James, have lived in Northville for several years. Those who survive her include, besides her immediate family, five brothers, and five sisters.

E. G. Lapham of Elkhart, Ind., was a week-end guest at the home of his brother, Edward H. Lapham. Mr. Lapham chose this time for his visit in order to call upon Mrs. William G. Lapham before her departure for Virginia.

SUNDAY GAME TO DETERMINE BALL VICTOR

Johnsons Lead in Softball Battle As Two Teams Go Into Finals

The Johnsons are leading in the battle for softball supremacy and if [illegible] the Owens into camp successfully at 1 p. m. Sunday they will emerge with the wreath of the victor.

The situation was cleared up somewhat last Sunday when the Infants defaulted to the Owens and the Johnsons defeated the Owens with a score of 11 to 8. It is said that the first play-off Sunday was a comedy of errors, just a question of who could make the greater number and the Owens outdistanced the Johnsons.

The two remaining teams in the play-offs report that they are in tip-top shape and are going to battle to the last inning. With a one-game lead the Johnsons are determined to win the next game and the Owens are equally determined they will not.

Dayton Deal and George Westfall, who have been starring for the Johnson aggregation, and Ed Wood and Leland Smith for the Owens are expected to lead in the batters' battle on Sunday.

It is expected that a large crowd will attend the final games of the series to see a battle royal.

UNKNOWN DRIVER HITS YOUNG'S AUTO

A "hit-and-run" driver rammed the car of Mrs. C. H. Young early this week, damaging the fender and radiator hood.

Mrs. Young was turning left on Church street when another car smashed into her, backed away and sped on. She had no idea who owned the car and failed to observe the license number.

'DOUG' TUTTLE TO JOIN TIGER TEAM

Walled Lake's "red-headed boy" made good in his practice tryouts with the Tigers Saturday and Sunday. After a conference with Aloysius J. "Wish" Egan, Del Baker, who had been closely observing Tuttle's playing, told him that he would send him a contract to sign [illegible] report in February for spring training at the Tiger camp in Lakeland, Florida.

"Doug" is nineteen years old and graduated from Walled Lake high school in 1933. He excelled in athletics during his school years and has played on independent teams in Walled Lake and the Pontiac Motor team in Pontiac. "Bobby" Veach gave Tuttle the opportunity of a tryout with the Tigers after watching him play in a local game September 15th. He said that Tuttle is farther advanced as a natural baseball player than Gehringer was when he started with the Tigers.

MRS. RENG IS DELEGATE AT EDUCATION ASSEMBLY

Mrs. O. F. Reng went to Lansing last night as delegate of the Northville Teacher's club to the Representative Assembly of the Michigan Education association. Mrs. Reng will remain in Lansing today. One of the purposes of the meeting is to elect new executive board members of the association.

ROWS OF CANS STACK UP FOR HARVEST EVENT

Presbyterian Women Toil Endlessly Over Plans For Festival

Row upon row in ever-increasing numbers they stand, those cans of fruit and vegetables which the Presbyterian women are putting up for the coming harvest festival on Nov. 12.

Mrs. H. R. Richardson is the chairman of the canning with Mrs. P. H. Hedge as her "right-hand man."

In groups of various sizes these women are toiling faithfully as many days as they can spare. Purple odors of spices and vinegar mean that all kinds of pickles and chili sauces are in the making.

Those who have visited this festival in other years will be planning to add some of these good things to their winter supply. As acceptable gifts, nothing can beat those sparkling jellies and jams daintily wrapped.

The work is so ably divided that the burden of this tremendous enterprise is shared by many. The committees will be announced next week. As usual, Mrs. H. B. Clark is the general chairman.

In addition to the sale of fruit there will be a luncheon at noon, served by the Nellie Yerkes auxiliary and a dinner in the evening by the Woman's Union.

CLUB ADVOCATES ORGANIZATION OF LOCAL MERCHANTS

Exchangites Hold Business Men's Association a 'Crying Need'

The proposed organization of Northville business men was hailed as a "crying need" by Exchangites at their weekly meeting Wednesday noon.

Each Exchange club member was called on by Dr. D. A. Brief, vice president, who presided in the absence of Roy E. Crowe, president, to give his views on possible programs for the club. For the most part however, the discussion hinged around the proposed organization of merchants.

"The most crying need of Northville is the organization of which we tried to sow the seeds last Monday night," declared Orlow G. Owen. "I would like to see the Exchange club get whole-heartedly behind the [illegible]

Robert G. Yerkes "heartily seconded" Mr. Owen's suggestion. "Such an association would be a wonderful thing," he said. "Especially could it work on a badly needed zoning ordinance for Northville."

Clifford Turnbull declared that "I favor another general meeting of business men to work on an organization."

Dr. H. I. Sperling, Samuel Wilkinson, C. A. Dolph and Dr. Brief all expressed approval of the idea of the merchants' organization.

Carl R. Ely objected to some of the ideas given Northville business men last week by Ray Morton Hardy, but declared the salesmanship part of the talk was good.

James R. Lyons, a guest of the club, praised Northville business men and said, "You are making a darn good job for these times."

Nelson C. Schrader, expressing the idea that "criticism that hurts is sometimes good for us," declared that "our greatest problem is to get it across to the people that they

AWARD FINAL CONTRACT FOR FORD PLANT

Detroit Contractors Build Superstructure As Well As First Floor

The super-structure of the new Ford plant at Northville will be built by the Cooper-Little company, Detroit contractors, the firm which was also awarded the contract for the sub-structure and main floor, it was announced yesterday at the Ford Motor company offices at Dearborn.

The new building will replace the present Northville plant in which Ford V-8 valves are made. It will be 200 feet long and 104 feet wide, of brick and steel construction.

The contractors will have more than 50 men on the site when work is begun soon on the super-structure. Completion by mid-November or December 1 is expected.

Architects are still at work on plans for a dam to block off water to supply power for the plant, as well as on plans for water wheel [illegible] to carry water to the wheel, are nearly complete and contract for [illegible] probably will be let within the next ten days.

TREASURE HUNT AND ONE-HOUR-ONLY-SALE BRING MANY BUYERS

The treasure hunt and the one-hour-only sale held last Saturday brought a large buying crowd to Northville.

A larger proportion of the treasures were claimed this time than in previous hunts, stated local merchants. The final lucky numbers were assigned at 6:30 and additional numbers were placed on unclaimed treasures at 8:45. A large gallery of ticket holders followed the second assignment of numbers.

The one-hour-only-sale brought a satisfactory response and some merchants reported unusual sales. There were some complaints that one hour was insufficient time in which to shop for all of the bargains.

EXPOSURE MAKES SILO LOSS GREAT

No Additional Breaks Occur As Rattenbury Silage Remains in Open

The Rattenbury silo is still standing injured and broken with tons of silage exposed to the elements. Mr. Rattenbury stated Thursday that the loss would be high because of the large exposed surfaces, but added, "we are so thankful that no one was injured and also that we have additional corn to fill the new silo which will be ready for filling on Saturday."

There has been no added breaks in the silo since last week. Mr. Rattenbury has girded the broken [illegible] hoops and [illegible] reported the exposed ensilage with boards placed vertically.

Northville Teachers Are Lauded As 'Conscientious' By Amerman; High School Faculty Program Announced

"Northville has conscientious teachers and the conscientious teachers' duties never end," declared Superintendent Russell H. Amerman this week as he announced a complete list of the high school faculty and its daily program.

Mr. Amerman expressed satisfaction with the manner in which school has run during the first month.

"All parents are aware of the fact that their students have a definite program to follow each day," the superintendent explained, "and they know something of the nature of their activities. Very likely they are less informed as to the daily program and tasks of the classroom and where does she room? It is the purpose of the following program to answer some of these questions and at the same time indicate the nature of the teacher's daily activities.

"It should be explained, however," he said, "that the teachers' day begins about 8 a. m. every day and ends at 3 p. m. for grade school teachers and at 3:30 p. m. for high school teachers. But more important, checking of papers, making out marks and keeping attendance records may force them to work far into the night. The conscientious teachers' duties never end, and Northville has conscientious teachers. [illegible] The high school teachers' program

THE LONG EVENINGS

"I am glad to see the long evenings come; now I can get a chance to read a lot and enjoy my home," says a Northville resident to us.

"Too bad the long days are gone; give me the good old summer time and the outdoors," protests another citizen as he watches the twilight come on soon after he comes home from work.

Well it probably is for the best that we have both the short and the long days. We need them both for our best development. Without the summer and its sunshine outdoors our bodies would suffer; with the long, warm days we get to travel about and to see the rest of the world around us. That is fine.

If the summer days continued on always and we lived outdoors all the time, our balance of life would suffer. We should not read as much as we should and we should miss the contemplation that comes from enjoying the passing of the seasons. If all days were balmy and skies were always sunny, we should tire of that and we should take life too softly and too lazily. So it is good that summer days give way to September's snap and that October's Indian summer days melt into the sternness of November and the cold December days make way for the lightening ones of cold January.

When everything is considered, probably few states in the Union have as many attractions through all the seasons as our own Michigan. What don't we have that makes life worth living? We have the variety of days—and what is life without the changes that keep us alert and healthful? It gets cold in Michigan and it gets hot but it never stays cold or hot for an interminable time. In fact, speaking of the cold, your diary or weather chart will show you that there were very few days in the winter of 1934-35 that the temperature even dropped below zero. Then it rains in Michigan but the dry days always come. We get some wind storms in Michigan but no hurricanes or tornadoes. Michigan is in the temperate zone and civilization is found at its best in the temperate zones. So turn in and enjoy the long evenings.

THE FORMULA FOR HAPPINESS

Years ago, in another town, while walking down a country road one day, a good friend of ours asked us: "How much money would make you happy?" We gave him a low figure and he replied: "O that wouldn't be anywhere near enough; I should like to have one hundred thousand dollars before I die."

The sum our friend put as his goal shocked us, yet he was one of the best business men we ever knew—and one of the finest friends a man could have—and before he died he had actually accumulated the sum he set as his ambition. He was one of the small group of men whom we have known whom money didn't spoil.

Money can help in making you happy. But put it down in words a foot high: Money in and of itself cannot make you or anyone else happy.

Who are the happiest folks in the world?

This question was asked by an English newspaper, and prizes were offered for the best answer. There were four prize-winning answers:

"A craftsman or artist whistling over a job well done."

"A little child building sand castles."

"A mother, after a busy day, bathing her baby."

"A doctor who has finished a difficult and dangerous operation and saved a human life."

Just try to pick out the millionaire in that list! No! Money doesn't buy happiness. The humblest man in Northville can find his way to happiness if he only knows the way.

o——o——o

SEEING THE WORLD SERIES

Although the World's series is being played within 24 miles of Northville—just a nice 45-minute automobile ride—local baseball fans might as well be out at Battle Creek, Michigan, as far as seeing the game is concerned. Forty or fifty thousand seats won't admit half a million people to Navin field, so only the favored few will see the big games first hand.

Not seeing the game is not the deprivation it might be. If there were no radios we might complain. As it is, we can sit in our homes or in someone's place of business and hear—and visualize—every move of the game. What a marvelous thing that is! Talk about miracles; there is one. You close the doors of your home and pull down all the windows and then you turn a little button, and in a few seconds a voice that comes in through those barred doors and windows begins to talk to you. You are at the ball park and you see the ball game, all through the miracle of radio. "Mirabile dictu."

With a handful of our favored citizenry at the big games and the rest of us lined up by the radios, let the Detroit Tigers go in and win the world's championship! Northville is with Manager Cochrane and his players; is more or less "goofy" over the world's series. The Detroit players are a clean-cut, manly, hard-fighting bunch of men. They deserve to win—and we believe they will win. Maybe we are all crazy about baseball but we had better be "that way," than pitying ourselves as we were a couple of years back.

IS WOMEN'S SMOKING A MENACE?

If there is anyone who could tell what is the effect of smoking by women, it should be the doctors. Well, here is a dispatch sent out by the Associated Press to the daily papers:

SKYTOP, Pa., Sept. 19.—Smoking by prospective mothers was deplored at the closing session of the American Association of Obstetricians, Gynecologists and Abdominal Surgeons.

Dr. Alexander M. Campbell, of Grand Rapids, Mich., told the surgeons that excessive smoking among American women is increasing and constitutes a menace to the coming generation.

He urged that smoking be prohibited or limited to four or five cigarets a day for the period preceding child birth.

WANDERING THOUGHTS

Summer has been lingering.

"Be not wise in your own conceits." Romans 12:1.

"You build your own house." Birds and airplanes fly against the wind: so do folks who "get there."

* * *

Folks with quick tempers get criticised. Yet did you ever stop to think what might happen to tempestuous people if they had to bottle up their feelings all the time?

Nomination for Northville man who answers to the description of a "Christian gentleman"—John Kalbfleisch

If all the people who read any home newspaper could take turns in being its editor, there would be fewer criticisms of said newspaper. And the same thing goes for the school teacher and the preacher.

* * *

There has been a lot of loose talk about the money lost in banks. Yet some statistician has just figured out that the percentage of money lost in banks the past few years, as compared to the savings, was only five per cent. Would any one dare estimate what percentage has been lost on stock, bonds, homes or farms? And certainly Northville people can be glad that its bank is going along as splendidly as it is. Remember the dark days when we had to go to Plymouth, Redford and Detroit to deposit our checks?

WHAT OTHER EDITORS ARE THINKING ABOUT

BEAUTY IN SCHOOL

(The Cassopolis Vigilant)

The Rockford, Ill., school authorities have decreed that in the future they will hire only those schoolmarms who are good looking.

We think that is the bunk. We don't wish to say anything about our lady school teachers right here at home, but will risk saying that we have at least a half dozen men teachers, none of whom would class as handsome, yet they are all reputed to be very excellent teachers, which goes to prove that beauty is not a necessary qualification in a good teacher; and now, to escape any hard feelings or the possibility of physical violence, we wish to add that while our men teachers may not be handsome, none of them are what you might call homely. (That ought to save us).

ARE THE INSANE SANE?

(The Dearborn Press)

Are you happy? Only partially at best. But the insane man really is happy and that is why he does not want to be cured and why he is incurable. He has a perfectly wonderful time because he is living in a world of dreams that are very real. He dreams that he is Napoleon and he is Napoleon. You are a mere ant in the hill. He is a multi-millionaire and you have not even a million, or have you?

Understanding insanity requires that we understand a simple principle that underlies it—the pleasure principle—so Prof. G. H. Eastabrooks of Colgate university tells us in Scientific American.

He argues that as it gives the insane person more pleasure to dream that he is Napoleon, or has more riches than anything normal life could give him why be sane?

"The insane," the professor continues, "have solved life's problem. You wish wealth—they have it. You seek for power but this chap is Napoleon. You laugh and say he's insane. But what are you seeking? Happiness! Have you found it?

"The insane man is incurable because he doesn't want to be cured. After all, is he not very wise? You toil, you strive, you worry and as like as not end your life in comparative poverty. He never works, he's well fed and worry never crosses his path. He dies a multi-millionaire. Well may he look at you and say, 'Poor devil, he's sane.'

Who now is insane, he—or you? It is worth thinking about when you pity a man for being "crazy." He may have sympathy for you.

EVERYBODY'S SHARE

(R. G. Jeffries in the Lowell Ledger)

In a factory, everyone has a part to perform, and the product will be faulty unless each particular function is fulfilled. No process can be spared.

It is the same in a community. Everyone has something which he must contribute if the life of the community is to avoid serious failings. Any person who works faithfully in his occupation does contribute a good deal. But the people who just work at their occupations and do very little else, are not doing the things the community expects of them. The community asks them to co-operate in securing good government, to keep their home places attractive, to join community organizations and assist with good causes. If these functions are not fulfilled, the result is like the factory where some of the processes are omitted.

MATCH BOX, EH?

(The Lapeer County Press)

The local Liars club might perk up when it hears this tall tale told at the Paul Bunyan story-telling contest at Traverse City last week. Perry's story: "The winter it was 68 degrees below zero and every degree 16 inches long, all the flames in Paul Bunyan's lantern froze solid and the only way he could put out the lights was to break off the flames and throw them out doors. The next spring one of the flames thawed out and burnt the St. Mary's river in two, canal and to use a match box to splice it together. The match box is still there; most people call it the Sault Ste. Marie Locks."

HANDS OFF!

(Fred Keister in the Ionia County News)

Educators have been more or less divided in their opinions as to the wisdom of federal supervision and control of education. In recent years, however, the inability of school and college trustees to adequately finance their educational programs has led many to favor federal aid with its regulation and control of such matters.

A timely note of warning against this trend has been sounded by Professor George Drayton Strayer, of teacher's college Columbia university: "No greater danger to democracy can be found," said Professor Strayer, "than resides in the organization of a central control over education which may at any time be used for the purposes of propaganda and which is entirely suited to the needs of those who would develop a fascist state."

In the upheaval of industrial, commercial, financial and social institutions, that has been taking place during the post-war period, the importance of the stabilizing of a free and untrammeled educational system cannot be overstressed. Our schools must remain, as they have always been, the heritage and hope of a free people.

WHAT WE DREAMED

We dreamed the other night that we were hiding under the League of Nation's council table. Here's what we heard:

Mussolini—Come on, youse guys. You gotta gimme a free hand with the Ethiops or I won't play. And then what might happen to your league.

Sir Samuel Hoare—But I say, old chawp. You simply cawn't do that, dontcha know. We—ah—er—you simply cawn't.

Mussolini—Is zat so? Well, just try and stop me. You guys want to rule the Ethiops and so do I. And I started first. And any way I been givin' dough to mothers who raised a lotta kids. Where'm I gonna put 'em? You guys don't need no more territory, but look at me.

Pierre Laval—Eet ees jus so. But ze league, ze covenant say she cannot have you do zat. Ze French people, zey mus back ze league. Zey don care what you do to ze Ethiops. Mais non. But zey do care about ze league. I am so sorree but I mus agree with ze Anglais.

Sir Samuel (over his shoulder to an aid)—Send the other wing of the fleet to the Mediterranean. (Then to the others) — Errumph, precisely. You see, Benito, while we care nothing for the Ethiops, it's just the principle of the thing. You cawn't go through with it.

Mussolini—Well, all I gotta say is that I gotta have some land. Meb-be we can split it up some way.

Sir Samuel, Laval, et al—Beam at each other, nodding their heads.

Laval—Mais oui, il est excellent. Certainment, Benito, zat is ze solution.

Sir Samuel—Of coss. I say, old chawp, the idear is positively brilliant.

They go into a huddle. Mussolini can be seen shaking his head. Finally he withdraws from the conference and sits pouting in a corner.

Then Sir Samuel, sternly—I say, Benito, heah's ouah plan. We will all get some of the Ethiops' land, but you can have charge of the police department. Now isn't that nice. Just think, a whole lot of nice new shiny uniforms.

Mussolini—Naw, dat won't do. I gotta have more land, I tell you. Youse guys is gettin' as much as me in dat set-up. None a dat for me.

Laval, soothingly—Now, Benito, you mus not become excite. You cannot expec to have ze whole ting. Zat, ze French people can nevair permit. Alors, it is that we, too, mus have some of ze Ethiops' land.

Sir Samuel—Errumph, precisely. (Over his shoulder) Send the rest of the fleet to the Mediterranean. (To the rest) That is the way His Majesty's government feels. Either you accept this plan, Benito, ooh we simply must insist on the League—ah sanctions and all that sort of thing, you know.

Mussolini—I won't play. I won't play. I'll go home to King Vic. We'll show you. You mugs gotta do some-p'n better'n dat. I hold a cabinet meeting.

He turns around, muttering to himself—The cabinet will come to order, Prime Minister, Benito Mussolini, here. Minister of corporations, Benito Mussolini, here. Minister of War, Benito Mussolini, here. Minister of marine affairs, Benito Mussolini, here. Minister of air, Benito Mussolini, here. Minister of the interior, Benito Mussolini, here.

Mussolini continues talking—A quorum is present. Do you reject the plan or accept it? We reject it. (Turns to League council triumphantly)—See, the cabinet rejected it. And we're goin' back to Rome.

Exits.

Where States have been built and maintained on God's teaching they have flourished; where dependent on mere human genius they have fallen. Ethics and morality taught outside of religion are seldom compelling enough for putting into practice. Religious education is not a fetish, but the guiding principles of a living faith, conducive to brotherly service of man and a manly worship of God. It is the State's foundation, cornerstone, and superstructure. This is the true genius of religious education.

The weekly religious education hour will start next Monday, Sept. 30. The 2, 3, 4 and 5th grades will begin at 3 o'clock in the afternoon; the 6, 7 and 8th grades at 3:30; the 9, 10, 11 and 12th grades at 7 o'clock in the evening. Children in the grades not attending Northville schools will meet Sunday mornings at 9 o'clock. All classes will be held at the church.

St. Paul's Lutheran

"Then said Jesus unto His disciples, If any man will come after Me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow Me." Matth. 16, 24.

It is not easy to be a Christian. Christ Himself never painted the life of His followers in rosy colors. In our text His discipleship is made to be anything but attractive. "Deny self," "Take up a cross,"—there is nothing easy or desirable in that from the viewpoint of the world. But the reward—to be His disciple, to have fellowship with Him here and hereafter—that makes up for all the earthly ease and comfort which the world has to offer instead!

It was this that gave courage to Christ's apostles when they experienced the hardships of the Christian faith. Paul tells us how, even in the midst of trials and difficulties, there is a real joy in pressing toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus. "I reckon that the sufferings of the present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory that shall be revealed in us" are the words of one who stood ready to lose his life for Christ's sake that he might in reality find it. What Jesus here asks is nothing more nor less than to make the most and the best of life for His sake.

Give me the courage and the joy of making sacrifices for Thy sake, O Christ. Forbid that I should love ease and comfort more than devoted and loyal service in Thy kingdom. Enrich me with holy zeal to spend and be spent in Thy service. Amen.

The hour for worship and Sunday school is held every Sunday morning at the usual time, 10 o'clock. The pastor will preach.

Catechumen instruction every Saturday morning in our church hall, beginning at 9 o'clock.

Strangers and visitors in the community and those without a church home are cordially invited to worship with us!

Christian Science Churches

"Reality" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, Sept. 29.

Among the Bible citations is this passage: (Heb. 11:7) "By faith Noah, being warned of God of things not seen as yet, moved with fear, prepared an ark to the saving of his house; by the which he condemned the world, and became heir of the righteousness which is by faith."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 353): "All the real is eternal. Perfection underlies reality. Without perfection, nothing is wholly real. All things will continue to disappear, until perfection appears and reality is reached."

BY THE WAY . . .

● did you know that B. E. Warner has completed digging a basement at 343 South Rogers street to be used for a foundation for his home which will be moved from the back of the same lot? When the house is moved he expects to add a bath room and increase the size of the kitchen as well as install a grade door.

In digging the basement as well as the excavation for the new oiling and auto washing building nearby, Mr. Warner reports finding numerous stone walls, evidently the remains of farm buildings formerly on this site. It is understood that the farm house in connection with these farm buildings was just across the street on the site of the home now owned and occupied by Harry G. Eackham and wife.

It seems that Ed Sadler owned a farm that embodied this territory. Mr. Sadler is reported to have set out the orchard in the territory now known as Orchard Heights.

The two acres of which the Warner property is a part, was purchased by Mrs. Joe Thompson some 22 years ago. Mrs. Thompson states there were a great many stones on the property right where Mr. Warner is digging his basement—a great many people hauled the stone they needed from this spot. We have been unable to get information as to the original buildings on the property. Will someone give us the information?

● you would be interested in seeing the post card that Arthur S. Nichol brought into the office a few days ago. It had the imprinted stamp bearing the likeness of William McKinley and the date is 1901. Thirty-four years is a long time to keep a post card. Someone for whom the post card was intended was slighted just as many are slighted when you and I put off writing a letter or a card to a friend or a loved one.

● do you hear comments all around town to the effect that Northville now has a chance to go ahead to finer things? We have heard about added factories, widening Main street, securing an airport, having Seven Mile road renamed Northville highway, building a new hotel, building a swimming pool, a skating rink, etc., etc.—so what? Just how are these projects going to be made realities? Or, if these are not the ones that should be worked on, just how are the interests of the Northville of tomorrow going to be headed up? Are the Exchange and Rotary clubs the logical answer or should the city administration be held responsible for promoting and making suitable Northville projects a reality? Some one said a few days ago that the business men who are interested in these projects, and all business men are interested in the future of Northville, should band themselves together under any name whatever and then set out, with the b... in their teeth, so to speak, and crystallize the urge there seems to be in Northville to go forward and not only make it "Detroit's most beautiful suburb" but make it the suburb where folks can live quietly, happily and still be close to their work. What do you say?

COUNTY AGENT DECLARES SPRAYS STILL ESSENTIAL

Entire Riddance of Health Hazard in Treated Fruit Is Not Yet Seen

By RALPH CARR
Wayne County Agricultural Agent

The continued maintenance of the supply of fruit has been dependent upon the use of insecticides sufficiently effective to control the destructive ravages of insect pests.

In spite of continued efforts to develop a safe, and at the same time, effective, substitute, lead arsenate is still essential to the production of these fruits. Until these efforts are successful, the employment of poisonous sprays on fruit must be followed by the adoption of precautions to guarantee reduction of the residue to the lowest possible figure.

The fruit growing industry has demonstrated its ability to reduce the arsenic content to the world tolerance of .01 grain of arsenic trioxide per pound of fruit. The reduction of unavoidable lead residue to a point involving complete elimination of the most remote health hazards continues to offer serious difficulties in spite of the efforts put forth.

Current public apprehension about the safety of the fruit supply from the standpoint of spray residue is very properly based on the danger of poisons such as lead and arsenic. However, consumers are entitled to know that restrictions imposed for many years against the shipment of fruit subjected to systematic sprays have been so effective that unquestionably today most of the fruit offered the public is entirely safe. The effects of lead and arsenic in the amounts which might be present on sprayed fruit are chronic rather than acute in character.

To meet the problem confronting the fruit industry and at the same time to safeguard public health the department is lending every effort to assist the industry in solving this problem.

This year a comprehensive program is under way which requires the wholehearted cooperation of everyone engaged in the industry for its successful culmination.

By a series of chemical laboratories and an inspection system that has been set up, there are available ample facilities for industry to determine what the conditions confronting it are and with this knowledge be in a position to take appropriate steps to comply with the laws and regulations governing the wholesome supply

Citizens of Tomorrow

It is an obligation of good citizenship to pay taxes; it is an obligation of government to spend this tax money wisely. In common with many thousands of other citizens, Michigan Bell Telephone Company recognizes its obligation to pay a share in the support of the functions of government.

The Federal, State and other taxes paid this year by Michigan Bell averaged $7.28 for each telephone in use. In total this amounts to more than $3,225,000, of which $2,737,955.25 is in the form of payments to the State of Michigan. It is particularly pleasing to us that these State taxes go into the primary school fund for the purpose of educating our citizens of tomorrow.

The primary school fund helps support the State's elementary, grammar and high schools. It erects and maintains the buildings, buys supplies, helps pay the salaries of our 32,000 teachers. Into it go the State taxes paid by many of the utilities of Michigan, and of these Michigan Bell Telephone Company pays the largest individual tax. From 1921 to the present year the total taxes paid by us into the primary school fund amounted to $32,643,350.99.

Like all other citizens who have a genuine pride in the progress of Michigan, we appreciate the value and profound importance of an adequate school system.

And to the telephone users of our State it must be a great satisfaction to know that indirectly they make an important contribution to a school system entrusted with the education and character-molding of 960,000 boys and girls—Michigan's school children today, her citizens of tomorrow.

TRAIN CHILDREN FOR CITIZENSHIP

shoe repairing shop re-soles its shoes.

An interesting part of the girls' training is in housekeeping. In one of the school buildings, a complete apartment, furnished, with a kitchen, dining room, and laundry, is kept for the purpose of teaching the children how to keep it up.

These shops, as the classrooms, are no sweat shops where the workers are driven by an unbending taskmaster. On the contrary the children divide up into groups, work willingly, eagerly, and the supervisor usually only makes suggestions. Before they reach this stage they have been taught diligence and obedience.

The farm, one of the nicest agricultural units in this area, is especially noted for its Holstein herd of 45 cows, which produces between three-quarters of a ton and a ton of milk per day. The training school boys handle the milking as they do the harvesting and threshing of the grain. They are still chopping the alfalfa, for which they use a brand new type of hay cutter. There are several barns full of first cut alfalfa and 250 tons of the second cut are in the barn to say nothing of ten stacks still in the field.

The farm, which is under Carl Schoultz and Charles Cayjor, produces not only all the grain used by the farm, but enough vegetables, fruit and other foodstuffs to supply the entire school.

Try New Scheme

In back of the farm itself, which is on the right-hand side of the Center street road, is a new experiment, the most interesting of all the novel ideas in effect at the training school. This is the homestead cottage, or "farm colony" as the boys call it. Here the visitor finds a group of 35 so-called older boys, who absolutely govern themselves.

Every Tuesday they hold a council meeting. Dr. Haskell told the boys when their cottage was started in June that within the bounds of it the rules of conduct observed elsewhere in the school were no longer effective. It was up to the boys.

And according to Dr. Samuel Kirk, who has been advising the group, it appears that the experiment will be successful. He is keeping data on the way the boys have been reacting to it.

A group of 15 started, and new members were and are admitted only when voted in by the group. They elected a chairman and a secretary. They drew up rules for smoking, which is rigidly prohibited elsewhere on the school grounds, for attending movies in town and for many other special privileges.

Progressive Training

These homestead cottage boys work in the various shops and divisions of the training school, but they are all assigned jobs in their splendidly-furnished home. In fact they arise at 5:30 a. m., a half-hour earlier than the other children at the school, in order to finish their housework. If one boy does not complete his job, his case is discussed by the group at the council meeting and the committee on job assignments investigates.

This is the most advanced stage in the school, and it is indicative of the progressive training the children receive from the time they enter until the time they leave.

The average stay of a child in the training school is three years, Dr. Haskell said. But after he leaves the training school, for a year at least he is on parole. Members of the training school staff visit him periodically and help him with his problems. If, at the end of a year, doctors do not think he is yet capable to go entirely on his own, he is returned to the training school for a day and paroled for another year. This goes on sometimes indefinitely, until doctors are convinced he can take his place in the community without supervision.

No Trouble

"Difficulty with the children?" The doctor smiled in answer to a question. "No, very little," he replied. "We figure that if we aren't bright enough to handle these youngsters we might as well get out. I meet with our professional and non-professional staffs every week. Any problems that arise are ironed out there."

There are relatively few cases of children running away, Dr. Haskell pointed out. The first few weeks some of them do out of homesickness and fright of the new environment. Then there are hardly any "escapes" until the child has been in the school three years or more.

The school is under the board of supervisors, with the exception of the storehouse which is run by the county board of auditors.

Clarence E. Elliot is steward of the institution, and many local persons are among its employees.

England's Reform Bill

The passing of the reform bill of 1832 in England, so excited hopes that, according to a contemporary humorist, all the unmarried young women thought they would at once get husbands and all the school boys expected a heavy fall in the price of jam-tarts.

Usually the fall season ushers in a period of intensive entertaining and the hostess is again interested in new services to help make entertaining a pleasure both for the guests and for herself.

A new casserole ought to be one of her first interests, for here is one item that fits in perfectly with the service-less buffet supper. Any oven dish prepared in a pyrex glass container and then inserted in the chrome base should be attractive as well as being one of the serve-yourself dishes necessary for the hot Sunday supper or buffet lunch.

Another good-looking casserole comes in what is called "Hotoven" chinaware. Found in one of the local shops, a set consists of the baking dish, a service plate under it, and a matching china spoon. The whole is in white, cleverly silhouetted with colonial figures of black. It could easily grace the most fastidious hostess' table.

For such a supper, make use of your relish dish for sandwich spread varieties, and if you still don't have a relish dish in chrome or glass, it ought to be purchased. For no newer article has replaced it in usefulness.

And finally, for the wise housewife who is "dressing up" her entertaining facilities, the new cocktail trays are inexpensive and very smart. In flat trays of chrome, they come in sets of four usually, and each is large enough to hold the cocktail and several canapes. Others in town are more complete in a set consisting of the tray and the colored cocktail glass itself. Deep blue glass and silver tray is an especially appealing combination.

After All

Three mothers sat chatting together on the classic bench in the very trim court of the "dorm" while three fathers carried boxes and heavy suitcases for as many daughters who giggled gaily as they balanced their load of pillows, desk lamps and queer dogs or dolls. All these things made up the foolish fancies that go to make a college girl's room a place of peculiar charm.

It was the opening day of school. Late September sunshine sifted down through those tall elms and set aflame a great bed of slavia in the center of that correct pattern of brick walks.

The whole setting was gay—all except these three somber matrons on the bench.

"Well, we'll go back to a very quiet house," said one.

"So will we," said another.

"And we," echoed the third.

"Our house has swarmed with young life for years. Nor John and I will sit alone at our table," and her sigh was echoed by the others.

"And why should we be so mournful," asked the most determined one of the three. "Don't you remember how light-hearted we left the old homes with the Mendelssohn march ringing in our ears? And wasn't it fun to keep house for two, laying the table with the shining wedding silver? No one thought of being lonely then. And now we're right back where we were before we started putting a few high chairs around the family board."

"I guess we've all been too spinach-minded," laughed the little fat mother. "Life has been measured for us by baby food formulas, first teeth, croup, measles, then school work, music lessons and finally party dresses and beaux. Guess we've rather left father out, haven't we?"

"That's right," agreed the doormat variety mother. "I really can't speak my husband's language any more. I don't seem to care which wins, the 'Tigers' or 'Cubs.' I can't discuss politics or business with him for I have usually been too busy sewing on buttons or making soup. There was always one of the children demanding my attention whenever my husband wanted me to go out with him. I've actually grown frowsey."

"And after all, what does it really matter to the young folks now? Very glibly they step out of our lives with no more than a fleeting backward look. It means so little to them—all this mothering. If I had it to do over I would put my husband first in my life. He would not come in for what was left after the children have had all they wanted of me. He is the one who stands by, the comrade throughout the years who will finally share the chimney corner years long after youth has gone forth eagerly to try the future.

"After all, we have dear old Dad," said the three women as they rose to join the three men who carried empty suitcases back to their cars, looked up to wave at the upper windows of the "dorm," then called out, as they squared their shoulders, "Come, Mother, we must be getting back home."

Some "country cousins" called Sunday and talked of all the good pickles they were making. These are three of their favorite recipes:

Sweet Cucumber Pickles
(Mrs. Ehler, of Pennsylvania)

Wash 2 gals. of medium-sized pickles. Dissolve 2 cups salt in 1 gal. of boiling water and pour over cucumbers. Let stand about 1 week. Make sure the cucumbers are held under the brine with a weight. Pour off brine and rinse. Cover with boiling water and let stand 24 hours.

Drain again and cover with boiling water to which a piece of alum size of walnut has been added. Let stand 24 hours then drain and split each pickle in two.

Prepare the following: 8 cups sugar, 2 tablespoons celery seed, ¼ cup mixed spices, 2 oz. cinnamon stick, ¼ cup ground horse radish, 2 qts. mild vinegar. Mix above ingredients and heat to scalding. Pour over cucumbers for three succeeding days, heating the mixture to scalding each time. Pack into jars and seal while hot.

Tomato Relish
(Mrs. June Winslow, Temperance, Michigan)

35 large ripe tomatoes, 2 qts. chopped apples, 8 sweet apples, 2 hot peppers, 10 large onions. Put all through food chopper. Add 1 pt. vinegar, 4 cups sugar, 4 small tablespoons salt, 1 teaspoon cloves, 1 bunch celery, cut fine.

Cook slowly 2 hours or more. Makes about 10 pts.

Pear Conserve

2 lbs. sugar, 3 lbs. ground pears, 1 lb. figs (ground or chopped). Cook 3 to 4 hours. Very good.

Prepare this Oven Breakfast in 20 MINUTES on a TRIAL ELECTRIC RANGE

PREPARE a whole breakfast—a man's breakfast—in your electric oven in twenty minutes! Muffins, broiled bacon and eggs can all be prepared at the same time, and served together, deliciously hot and appetizing. Enhanced flavor, like that of old English grilled bacon, results from electric broiling. The bacon is evenly browned and keeps its shape—it does not shrivel into unmanageable curlicues. Even the eggs taste better than when fried, thanks to the "flavor conserving" heat of the electric oven, which does not cook to toughness but cooks thoroughly and gently. Finally, electrically baked muffins are delightfully flaky and tempting—a treat to top off any breakfast! Here is a meal after a man's heart—and with an electric range, it takes only 20 minutes to prepare. Wouldn't you like to try it—in your own kitchen—on a Trial Electric Range?

We will install an electric range in your kitchen without initial charge, so that you may give it a thorough trial. During this trial period you simply pay for the service as registered by your meter, plus a monthly charge of $1 for the range. If you decide to keep the range, your monthly payments will be applied toward the purchase price. If you decide that you do not want it, the range will be removed at our expense. Send in your application for a trial range today!

A study of one thousand families using an electric range showed a cooking cost of LESS THAN 1c A MEAL A PERSON

GRID PRICES ARE LOWERED BY COUNCIL

15 Cents to be Charged For Tickets Before Game; 25 Cents at Gate

The price of football tickets, when purchased before a game will be 15 cents apiece, Mayor Essie Nirider announced this week.

Tickets at the game it was decided by the student council will be sold for 25 cents each. Season tickets, which have been used in the school for several past years, were abolished by the council.

The reason for this action, it was brought out at the council, is that tickets will be printed on a printing press which the school purchased last spring. It will be cheaper for the school, according to the mayor, to print individual tickets on the press and sell them more cheaply than it was to sell expensive tickets at a higher price.

Assistant Principal Paul B. Thompson praised the change in football tickets. "It's a great help because you can see the individual game tickets pinned on the students and tell whether or not they paid," he said.

The council will print posters for the classes for five cents per poster, Mayor Nirider stated.

THE OBSERVER

The young lady to be described this week is of medium height. She has light brown hair, and gray eyes. A pleasing combination, don't you think? She likes to read books and is a very good scholar. She is a member of the senior class, and is liked by everyone. Incidentally, she took a trip to Sweden this summer, and can tell some very interesting stories about her experiences there. Can you guess who she is?

LECTURES GIVEN FOR H.S. STUDENTS

Ten interesting lectures are being put on by the Junior Adventurers club at the Detroit Institute of Arts starting October 12th. The object of this club is to interest students in geography, travel and life in foreign lands. Among the speakers will be such famous men as Jim Wilson, Upton Close, Dr. Clyde Fisher and Admiral Richard E. Byrd.

Season tickets for the fall "expeditions" may be purchased from Miss Geraldine Huff, science teacher. A single ticket for any one lecture may be purchased on or after October 12th. Due to the large attendance expected for the lecture given by Admiral Byrd, the price for this lecture is more than the other single tickets. If you have purchased a season ticket, the price will be the same. This lecture will be given at the Masonic auditorium instead of the Art Institute.

Membership in the Junior Adventurers is limited to boys and girls who are not less than 12 years old nor more than 19.

The "expeditions" are held on Saturday mornings at 10:30 a. m. with the exception of Admiral Byrd's, which will be on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30.

Miss Huff has enrollment blanks to fill out if anyone wishes to hear these lectures. Slides and movies will accompany them. If any further information is desired, Miss Huff will be ready to aid anyone.

Miss Huff would appreciate it if anyone that could drive to these lectures will let her know as soon as possible.

'ROUND THE SCHOOL

If you were in the ninth hour assembly a few days ago you would have heard Mr. Thompson tell us how an ex-senior came to him the other day and told him that he wished he had the chance to go back to high school. If this was possible, one of the first things this person would do would be to study his lessons instead of wasting his time.

Maybe more of us should take heed to this lesson. Just think of all the good you can get out of your school work instead of just how much you can get away with.

You're not fooling anyone but yourself. How about getting down to business and making use of your time? Then, when you are an ex-senior, you can look back and think how smart you were to study instead of wasting your time.

Maybe the football boys had a case of well-known stage fright when it took five officials to officiate at a non-official game.

Will someone give Dick Junod some hair grower? He may then realize his life's ambition—to grow a mustache. Maybe in his old age he may succeed so well that The House of David will vote him for a life member—who knows?

It has been suggested that Mr. Thompson should install "The Life Work of Emil Post" in our library for the "lowly" freshmen—just to accumulate a bit of knowledge on how to treat the upper classmen in the proper way.

To this the freshmen may say there should be a book for the seniors called "How to Act Grown-up in Three Lessons."

SENIOR DANCE IS NEXT WEEK FRIDAY

October Fourth is the Date Set for the First Senior Dance Held This Year

By IDA ALTMAN

Attention student body and towns people! The senior class is going to have a dance next Friday night, October 4, in the high school gym.

This is the first social event of the school year put on by the senior class, and it is hoped to be a huge success. It's up to you to make it one of the biggest dances given this year.

Come on, freshmen boys and girls, show these upper classmen that you can dance. Even if you do step on your "gal's" feet once or twice she will excuse it.

Sophomores and junior boys, what is wrong with you? For the past few years we haven't seen very many of you attend school dances. Why not start the year off right and bring your girl friends next Friday night. You must be awfully conceited if you think you can make a hit with "her" without taking her to a dance.

We have positive proof that the faculty are simply super dancers. We hope they'll attend also.

There'll be a snappy orchestra and lovely decorations. We'll guarantee you a good time at the senior dance.

EIGHTH GRADE HOLDS ITS CLASS ELECTIONS

There was quite a commotion in the junior assembly when the eighth graders elected Roger Miller as class alderman. By giving for the benefit of the class and his own cause what was termed one of the best speeches ever given in the grade, Roger managed to win over Patsy Joynson, the other main candidate.

The other class officers are Marie Angove, president; Leonard Fritz, vice president; Eugenia Stanford, secretary and treasurer.

These officers have planned a program to entertain the junior high on Wednesday, Sept. 24, seventh period. Plans for the entertainment are not definitely known.

The eighth grade as a whole is pleased to welcome into its ranks two new girls, Catherine Trosst and Kathleen Taggart.

BOYS' GYM CLASS MEETING OUTSIDE

The boys' gym class is, at present, holding its activities on the school's outdoor playground while fair weather exists.

Emphasis is placed on the psychological theory that people will better themselves if not under too rigid supervision, according to Mr. Watts, athletic director. The fellows are being coached on the rules and clean sportsmanship of such games as football and baseball by Mr. Watts.

"The participants of this gym class greatly enjoy their work which will build and sustain strong bodies and character," Mr. Watts said.

Frances Alexander was a Detroit visitor Sunday.

CORNER FOR BOOKLOVERS

"Guardsmen of the Coats," by John J. Floherty.

Found, at last, a book for the greater portion of the student body! The print is big, and no one could possibly say that it didn't have pictures enough, because it is composed more of pictures than reading matter.

These guardsmen (the Coast Guard, to us) have something in common with the U-men one is hearing so much about lately—you never heard much of them before. They were always rather a mysterious organization which you knew perfectly well was there, but beyond that you did not go. So Mr. Floherty has told their story with sympathy on both sides. He studied the organization and watched them work. He learned their names for things, but with a thought to his future readers, he translated these for their benefit.

There are a lot of things you never knew about the "Navy of Mercy." For instance, where is their academy? Probably you didn't even know they had one.

But like the mountains that came to Mohammed, the Coast Guard has come to us in a slim silver volume with beautiful photographs—so don't waste it.

STUDY OF FOSSILS INTERESTS CLASSES

Miss Geraldine Huff's high school geography class has been studying about rocks and fossils. Miss Huff found a lot of these fossils on her trip to Virginia this year. It happened that a road was being built, and in cutting away the earth an enormous amount of fossils were found. Miss Huff collected quite a few of these and brought them to show the geography class.

The students also brought a collection of rocks and fossils. Sedimentary, egneous and metamorphic rocks are among the collection.

SOCIETY

The Simple Simon club entertained at a weiner roast last Friday night after the football game.

Isabelle Tewksbury, Evelyn Ambler and Ida Altman were in Detroit Saturday night.

Betty Schrader entertained at a steak roast last week. The guests included Ida Altman, Evelyn Ambler, Gwen Jones, Lois Chapman, Barbara Phillips, Nancy and Tom McLoughlin, Frances Alexander and Virginia Washburn.

Can You Imagine?

Scott Cole without horses?

Jane G. without her gum?

Mr. Thompson not taking roll? Must have a lot of confidence in H. J.

Jim H. worrying over a certain girl?

B. S. pretending to like riding?

ARMY TO PLAY NAVY WITHOUT GUNS OR SHIPS

Practice Game Today Will Seek to Iron Out Bad Spots in Play

The Army is going to fight the Navy at 3:30 p. m. today, but neither ships nor guns will be used.

The battle is the annual practice game which takes place between members of the Orange and Black football squad. Coach Ted Watts will divide his squad into two teams, as evenly matched as possible. The boys will play real, honest-to-goodness football and "give 'em all they got," according to Coach Watts.

The boys have been going through their paces this week trying to iron out some of the difficulties that they ran into during the game with Walled Lake last Friday.

Mr. Watts has decided that an all-around attack, punting, passing and deceptive plays will make a better score-gathering team. The squad will have two weeks to patch up mistakes and perfect their ground gaining plays. The Army-Navy game will give the new gridders their opportunity to develop a stronger defense than they displayed against Walled Lake.

The line-up for this "classic" has not been decided upon as yet but regardless of this the members of the team promise a fast as well as interesting game.

AMERMAN ADVISES TRIP TO CAPITAL

Supt. of Schools R. H. Amerman spoke at the senior class meeting September 13, about Washington being the best place to take a trip.

Mr. Amerman explained that Washington was one of the most educational places that could be visited. To prove this statement, Mr. Amerman gave a brief history of the experiences of the class of '35 when it went to Washington last summer. The superintendent told the class about the innumerable interesting places one can see in this state, among which were: Washington monument, Lincoln memorial a visit to Annapolis and the White House.

According to Mr. Amerman, the trip proves to be very inexpensive. The price last year was between $32 and $35 per person—this includes everything; that is, railroad fare, hotel bills, all meals and sightseeing tours.

President Roland Morris predicted that with cooperation from not only the class, but from the student body and townspeople, the seniors will be able to take this trip.

NEW BAND GROUP UNDER INSTRUCTION

On Tuesday, Sept. 24, the beginners' band, composed of all the people who are beginning to learn to play, and those who have not had much experience on their instruments, began receiving instructions from Leslie G. Lee, music instructor. They will meet every day of the week, the third hour in Mr. Lee's room.

Special music, consisting of drill exercises and pieces, will be secured for the students. The purpose of this class is to aid the students to gradually work into the band. Mr. Lee pointed out.

As the group gradually develops in its musical talents, it will join the other group of experienced band members. This will develop the entire group into a first class band once again, Mr. Lee hoped.

WOOD WORK HOLDS JUNIOR HIGH CLASS

Eighth and ninth grade manual training classes are learning the fundamentals of pattern making. Later on Assistant Principal F. B. Thompson, who teaches them this work, will have the class mold and make a casting for the mold. Wood turning will also be taken up in the near future. This includes the turning of small lamps, wooden jewelry and various other things, Mr. Thompson said.

The seventh graders are taking up the fundamentals of hand work. This introduces them to the proper use and care of hand tools such as the T-bevel, brace, bit, plane, level and square, the assistant principal declared. They have also been studying the price of different kinds of lumber. For their first project they have chosen the making of key racks, match scratchers and door stops, or any other simple article in the form of hand work.

Helen Johnson attended the Michigan theatre Saturday night.

June Lenne spent the week-end in Bay City.

NORTHVILLE DROPS OPENING GAME TO LAKE TEAM FRIDAY

Wattsmen Are Over-ridden By Score of 25-0 In Opener

Northville opened its 1935 grid campaign at Cass Benton park last Friday by going down in defeat before the stronger Walled Lake team to the tune of 25 to 0.

In the first quarter a fumble was recovered on Walled Lake's 15-yard line by the local lads giving them their first shot at the opponent's goal. Fate immediately tossed this break away by causing Northville also to fumble. Harris, of Walled Lake, succeeded in carrying the ball out of the danger zone with a spectacular 25-yard run. Parmenter was nailed in his tracks after receiving a 50-yard punt that carried the ball well into home territory.

After three unsuccessful attempts to gain ground, Hays got off a bad kick which carried the ball to Walled Lake on Northville's forty-yard line. Reeling off a series of neat plays the rival squad pushed the pigskin over the goal line. Northville held them during the remainder of the quarter.

Action was slow in the second and third quarters as Northville's defense gradually stiffened. A touchdown and a converted point came in the closing minutes of the first half when Richardson ripped off a 50-yard run down the sidelines. Richardson also passed to Harris for the extra tally.

The attack broke out anew in the closing chapter of the game when the team from the lake marched down the field against a crumbling defense to score two more touchdowns.

Strautz and Nirider showed their experience by crashing into the opponent's backfield and breaking up plays before they got under way. Hays did all the kicking while Hanser and Parmenter took charge of the aerial attack for the home squad.

Coach Watts managed to use most of the boys on the squad during the course of the game.

That dinosaurs were unusual.

Inquiring Reporter

This year the Inquiring Reporter will start out in a somewhat different way, that is, one week a question will be asked of seniors. The next week of juniors and so on. This may not be continued, however, if not satisfactory.

Question: Are you in favor of the senior class going to Washington? If so, when? During spring vacation or after commencement?

Thruza Lester: Yes, because it will broaden our views of what "goes on in the capital," and it will also be a lot of fun going with a large group. I would like to go during spring vacation if possible.

Rita Sprenger: Yes, I am in favor of the trip to Washington. Everyone should visit our capitol if possible and this group trip is about the only way many students will get the chance. If we went in spring, we could see the cherry trees in bloom and have the advantage of cool weather.

Charles Strautz: No. I am not in favor of going to Washington at any time. I think we could find a much better place to go to.

Doris Green: I would like to go to Washington during spring vacation.

Juanita Elvington: I am in favor of going to Washington, but not during spring vacation.

Evelyn Ambler: I am in favor of going to Washington, but not during spring vacation, because in the first place we cannot possibly earn enough money, and in the second place there is more time to go after the school year.

PROFESSOR PUSS

By BILL OWEN

Scientifically speaking, school is for the development of the mind. What a pity that so few of us have one to develop.

The faculty as usual is again possessed with the idea that students must work. The victims seem to think a calamity like work is big enough to write a ballad about.

Vague murmurs have reached the ears of Pro. Puss that assembly attendance is undesirable. That is very nicely stated but what does it get you?

The professor wishes to extend his greetings to the new high school ens and give them gentle warning.

Seniors Who's Who

Frances Helen Alexander

That very competent secretary of the student council this year who bears the name of Frances Helen Alexander knows Northville very well. She was born in the house in which she now lives on April 26, 1918, which makes her just 17 years of age.

Having attended our school all her life Fannie has been prominent in all activities and was class treasurer last year. Fannie also had one of the more important parts in the junior play, "Here Comes Charlie," and received many a compliment for her performance. Her ideals in acting are Helen Hayes and Katharine Cornell. She has been especially prominent in the musical field and because of her excellent piano playing many a program has been enriched. As she feels her talents lie in the musical field, she will turn her studies toward music when she attends the Michigan State normal college at Ypsilanti next year.

Robert Louis Angove

Robert Louis Angove was born on May 13, 1918, in Ionia, Michigan. When he was one, the family moved to Lansing and Boo had his first two years of school there. He attended the Plymouth schools when his family moved there, but he is now very loyal to Northville, where he has been since he started the eighth grade. He has proved his loyalty by being president of the N-club this year. Bob has played a prominent part in school activities, being class treasurer as a freshman and president of the same body last year. He was also the heart interest in that laugh-provoking junior play, "Here Comes Charley." (Just another Clark Gable.) Bob figures prominently in the school musical activities, too.

He evidently believes that the masterful way he handled the junior class last year qualifies him to law, for next fall will find him as an earnest freshman at the University of Michigan.

LIBRARY LISTS GOOD BOYS', GIRLS' BOOKS

Books that boys and girls enjoy are listed among the library books this week. They include:

"North After Seals," by Thomas Williamson. An exciting tale of sealing near Newfoundland.

"Trigger John's Son," by Toni Robinson. A story which will hold the interest of boys and all who like boys.

"Robin On The Mountain," by Charlie M. Simon. The story of an Ozark mountain boy, told in the fresh idiom of the region.

"Rob Roy," by Constance Skinner. A story of Tennessee frontier life and the twins Rob and Roy, which is very entertaining.

"Farm Boy," by Philip Stong. A fresh and appealing story of a city boy's summer on a farm.

"Day on Skates," by Hilda Van Stockum. An amusing story of Holland, with delightful illustrations.

"Lumberjack," by Stephen Meader. A book older boys will like.

GIRLS' GYM CLASS LEARNS NEW GAME

Miss Ludwig, girls' gym class teacher, reports that the girls have been learning a new game in their gym period. The game is called field ball and is a combination of basketball and football, only in a lighter form. They also have been enjoying their gym periods with such diversities as relay races, softball games, dirty looks, and exploding little shrieks of delight when their team is winning.

Miss Ludwig states that the girls' gym classes have been made more interesting this year, due to variety in games. The girls eagerly look forward to their interesting basketball tournament, which will take place in the near future.

SUPERINTENDENT SAYS

"I am very, very pleased with the way school started this year and attribute it to the splendid cooperation on the part of both the faculty and students. Due to the better financial conditions, school this year will run longer than it has in the past few years. That together with new courses being offered will make for a better school term than ever before."

RUGGED INDIVIDUALISM

(Scarth Inglis in the Galesburg Argus)

A 1935 interpretation by a woman of the "Sermon on the Mount."

"Let's not talk of going back to prosperity," she said. "What we really want to do is to go on to prosperity. I don't believe we can return to the individualistic point of view held in the past because we now realize that our personal welfare is tied up so closely with the welfare of our communities, our states and our Nation.

"I don't believe the spirit of what we used to call rugged individualism has left us—it has simply changed its objective. We now want to fight for the people as a whole and fight just as bravely as we once did in the interests of one individual alone."

—Anna Eleanor Roosevelt.

JUNIOR HICKS IS APPOINTED POLICE CHIEF

Council Appointee Is To Choose Four Officers To Help With Duties

Junior Hicks was appointed chief of police this week by Mayor Essie Nirider.

The appointment was approved unanimously by the student council. Hicks' duties will consist principally of taking charge of hall duty and of student disciplinary action. He will have a vote on the council.

Other officers of the council now are Francis Alexander, secretary; Francis McLoughlin, treasurer; and four class aldermen.

Hicks, a member of the senior class, will appoint persons to take care of hall duty each hour for a week, the practice which has been followed for the past several years. His appointments are expected to be made this week.

The chief of police last year was Edward Angove. Kenneth Coe had that position two years ago and Robert G. Power held the post in 1933.

A PLACE IN THE SUN

(Emerson O. Gildart in the Utica Sentinel)

Italy is right where Germany was in 1914—determined to find her place in the sun. She sees only her objective, is determined to get it, and doesn't expect that Great Britain or anybody else much, will successfully interfere. She is fooling herself just as Germany was, but there's no stopping her. To all appearances there will be another European war—this time largely to be fought on the Mediterranean. If Britain whips the Italian fleet, the hope is bright that the war will end in a hurry. If she doesn't—nobody can see the culmination.

Betty Barry, Victorious, Tells of Her Delight Over New Bicycle Won In Local Kroger Store Coupon Contest

"Was I ever surprised," said Betty Barry, 13-year-old Northville girl last Friday, when Roland Widmeyer, manager of the local Kroger store, told her she had won a bicycle.

Betty found herself in receipt of the bicycle as a result of her winning a Kroger store contest which had been running in Michigan for six weeks. More than 600 stores in the state were sponsoring it, and according to Mr. Widmeyer, out of the 45 stores in this district, only 8 bicycles were awarded. The wheels were given for bringing a certain number of customers into the stores.

Betty had a total of 8,900 coupons which entitled her to the bicycle.

"I've always wanted a bicycle," she said, "and I'm sure happy to get one." Betty, the smiling personable little granddaughter of Bruno Freydl, has her own ideas on how it feels to own a brand new bicycle, and here they are, along with her thanks to all who aided her:

"Hello everybody! Well, it is all over with now but the shouting, and believe me, I have done plenty of that since I learned I had won that beautiful bicycle given by the Kroger company. Just how much I appreciate this wonderful gift it will take me months to express. I thank the Kroger company, sponsors of the contest, and the management of the local Kroger store most sincerely, and can truly say it is the grandest gift I have ever received. I must not forget all of the good friends and schoolmates who so kindly assisted me by turning over their coupons in such generous numbers, for after all, that was what made me the winner, and I thank every one most heartily.

Betty Barry."

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank all my friends and neighbors for the flowers, cards and gifts sent me at the hospital during my illness.

—Mrs. Horace Markham.

'SILK HAT KID' WILL START HERE TODAY

Fast-moving dramatic action along with a thrilling and dangerous romance makes "Silk Hat Kid," which starts its engagement today on the screen of the Penniman-Allen theatre, one of the most powerful and most daring films ever to be presented.

A new Lee Ayres in a role that ideally fits his personality and ability is revealed in his portrayal of a fast-thinking, two-fisted bodyguard. Paul Kelly, owner of a cafe located in the perilous slums of a big city, hires Ayres to protect him from chiseling racketeers. Ayres meets and falls in love with Mae Clarke, Kelly's girl friend, and an intense rivalry results. Both men come to hate each other bitterly and gunplay appears to be the only way out. But at this point the film takes on such thrilling drama that it promises to keep theatre audiences highly entertained throughout.

The romance of pert and pretty Mae Clarke and Lew Ayres is so refreshing and stimulating that it has been well received by theatre-goers everywhere.

William Harrigan has the role of peacemaker and beloved Brother of the neighborhood. To his portrayal he brings the virility and spiritual strength it requires.

Others in the well-balanced cast are Ralf Harolde, Billy Lee, John Qualen, Warren Hymer, Vince Barnett and William Benedict.

"Silk Hat Kid" was produced by Joseph Engel for Fox Film, while the direction was in the hands of H. Bruce Humberstone.

Ohio Indians' Superstitions

Perhaps no people in the world were more greatly influenced by auguries and omens than the Ohio Indians. All their activities were directed by the gods of superstition. One strange custom, for example, led them to carry all food out of a house, whose occupants they had just playfully scalped and which was to be set afire afterward. In the belief that destroying food unnecessarily would anger the Great Spirit who provided them with sustenance.

CRASH KILLS ANN ARBOR DR. HERE SUNDAY

Ellen Sutton, Former Local Resident, Injured When Car Hits Guard Rail

Dr. Robert G. Dalby, 29-year-old member of the staff of the University hospital at Ann Arbor, was killed, and Miss Ellen Sutton, 25 years old, of Northville, was injured at 1:30 a.m. Sunday when the car in which they were riding crashed into a guard rail on the South Center street road, about a mile from town.

Miss Sutton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Sutton, formerly of 116 Eaton drive, who studied nursing at St. Joseph's hospital in Ann Arbor, was returning to Plymouth where she was employed. She suffered a broken ankle and severe head and jaw injuries.

According to Miss Sutton, who was driving, the car had been stalling while going south up the steep Center street hill. Dr. Dalby, she said, advised her to release the clutch and "step on the gas." "As I let out the clutch," she said, "he reached over and shoved up on the accelerator lever. The car shot across the road, ripping into the guard rail on the left-hand side." Miss Sutton denied she lost control of the car.

The car plunged into a ravine, a board from the guard rail tearing through the motor and dashboard and killing Dr. Dalby.

Dr. Dalby was graduated from Mount Clemens high school in 1923. He worked his way through the literary college and medical school of the university. Since 1931 he has served in the department of obstetrics and gynecology on the University hospital staff.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Dalby; a seven-months-old son, William; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Dalby, of Mt. Clemens; and a brother, Leonard, of Mt. Pleasant.

Funeral services were held at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday from the Hubbard funeral home in Mt. Clemens.

PLANS FOR CHURCH FESTIVAL PROGRESS

Name Committees for Work On Numerous Projects Of Presbyterians

October 17 is the date set for the climax of months of hard work by the women of the Presbyterian church—the annual Harvest Festival.

Throughout the summer and fall these women have been canning all kinds of fruit and other preserves for this event. Very often they have gathered in "bees" in the church kitchen where all day long great kettles have steamed forth fragrant spicey odors. Finally, tired but triumphantly setting aside their achievements, they have taken off their aprons to return home to rest for another busy day.

It is hoped that the public will appreciate the efforts of these women to the extent of being generous in their patronage.

Of interest will be the fact that the first harvest festival was started four or five years ago by the late Mrs. Phil Grennan, who invited to her summer home, just south of Northville, a number of friends

EXCHANGE CLUB HOLDS MEETING AT FARMINGTON

Exchangites from Farmington, Redford and Northville, 75 strong, dined together in the Methodist church house at Farmington Wednesday noon.

A. M. Schulz, of the Detroit Speakers' Bureau, spoke on the subject of "Where do we go from here, and how?" For nearly an hour he kept the men interested with his philosophy, wit and keen observation about the doings of our present mode of living.

He especially emphasized the road we are traveling nationally and personally. He declared that we had better take a good look at our own methods and manners and take the blame for what has happened rather than allege that the Deity is at fault.

Showing a graph of the rise and fall of business for the past 140 years over nearly equal seven-year periods, he asked sharply whether we are always to follow this rough way of living in eras of plenty and poverty. In 1929 we disdained old Bill Dollar but in the last years we have made him welcome when and if he would only come our way.

Fred L. Cook of Farmington was in charge of the program.

LESSONS CEASE AS PUPILS HEAR TIGERS' DEFEAT

Assembly and Class Radios Blare Forth News Of Classic

School work, as well as most business stopped Wednesday to allow the Tigers and the Cubs to play it off. A radio in the assembly room of the school brought the game to Northville students.

For those who didn't go to assembly, several radios in the classrooms brought the baseball classic to the ears of the students who welcomed the change from their studies. The radios, which were all over the school, were brought by either the pupils themselves or by teachers who were probably even more anxious to hear the outcome.

Junior assembly was probably the most enthusiastic in their response to the broadcast.

NORTHVILLE TEAM TO MEET UNION TODAY

Redford Gridders Are Here For First Football Game With N. H. S.

Meeting a new football rival, the Northville high school football team will oppose Redford Union for the first time in the initial league game of the season today at Cass Benton park.

Coach Tex Watts expressed neither optimism nor despair over the prospects of victory as he sends in a team made up of many unseasoned players. Having opposed the rival school only in basketball, their football strength can not be estimated before the game, he said.

Several of the Northville boys have been badly injured or have been declared ineligible. Captain Essie Nirider has a crippled shoulder, but will probably be able to play and Bill McGee injured his leg in the Walled Lake clash and will be forced to stay out of the game.

Nirider, McGee, Charles Strautz and Herman Toussaint are the only players that were on the regular team last year. With the two practice games behind them, however, the team should be considerably stronger than the one that faced Walled Lake in a pre-season game. The probable line-up will include: l. e., Bob Lyke; l. t., Toussaint; l. g., Alvin Bauman; c., Bob Bray; r. g., Tom Gregory; r. t., Strautz; r. e., Nirider. The backfield will probably be chosen from Lawrence Parmenter, Jack Junod, Carl Arnold, Dave Hay, Lawrence Way and Arthur Mitchell.

PONSFORDS TO HAVE 30 FOOT ADDITION TO PRESENT STORE

Ponsford's is again to be in the merchandising headlines according to an announcement made Thursday by Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Lapham, present proprietors.

The Laphams state that they will begin building a 30-foot one-story addition to the rear of the Ponsford store. Work is scheduled to start before the end of the week, if weather permits. Besides the additional space a new steam plant will be installed, which will heat the entire store building as well as the apartment above.

The building to be built of brick will be constructed under the direction of a Detroit contractor, but local labor will be used whenever it is possible.

The Ponsford store was originally founded by Charles A. Ponsford more than 25 years ago. Mr. Ponsford managed the business personally until his death three years ago. His daughter, Beth Lapham, has been very active in the store management for several years and will continue to assist Mr. Lapham in the enlarged store.

It is also planned, state the Laphams, to re-arrange and re-design the entire store along modern lines.

MERCHANTS TO DECIDE SOON

Group To Discuss Possibility of Organizing

The second dinner of business and professional men is called for next Monday night, Oct. 7, at 6:30 in the Presbyterian church house. This meeting is called for the purpose of talking through the question of whether to have an association of business and professional people or not to have one, stated S. L. Brader, chairman of the committee appointed several weeks ago. We are not calling in an outside speaker. We want the men interested to be there and to discuss the matter very frankly.

Mr. Brader says, "there has been a good deal of discussion about the matter since the first meeting and several merchants have asked that we have another meeting to get down to brass tacks."

At the meeting held Sept. 16, Ray Morton Hardy discussed retail merchandising as well as suggesting the advisability of a merchants' organization. Those present were interested in having a follow-up meeting to get down to cases.

Tickets for the dinner will be available at The Men's Shop, Braders and The Record office.

POLK DIRECTORY CANVASS STARTS ON TOWN ROUNDS

Enumerators Will Interview Housewives, Business Men for '35 Issue

Work on the Northville section of the 1935 Plymouth-Northville city directory was begun Oct. 1 by representatives of the R. L. Polk & Co., nation-wide directory publishers and direct mail advertising concern.

Preliminary work had already been begun earlier by S. E. Andrews, superintendent in charge, and is being continued with the assistance of L. W. Walsh and Miss Eleanor Alderman, who are chief assistants to Mr. Andrews. Miss Katherine Dunn, the Misses Hamilton and Stanley, and Fred Fine.

Although a definite date has not been set it is expected that the directory will be ready for distribution either the last part of November or the first of December.

Mr. Andrews said that he expected to find a decided growth in the population of Northville over the 1935 census count of 2,500.

Interviews will be had with every householder and the heads of every business within the corporate limits of the village, by the experienced enumerators who are doing the job. As before, rural routes will also be included in the directory, since such a list benefits the town merchants who draw considerable trade from the surrounding area, as well as the rural residents.

WAYNE OUT-COUNTY SUPERVISORS MEET HERE THIS EVENING

The out-county supervisors of Wayne county will hold their regular monthly meeting on Friday evening, Oct. 4, in the Northville Presbyterian church house. The meeting is called for 7 o'clock. Supervisor W. A. Ely will preside. It is expected that from 40 to 50 of the supervisors will attend and undoubtedly several other officials will be present also.

The entire board of supervisors consists of 151 members of which 88 come from Detroit. The remaining 75 members are what is known as out-county members. Mr. Ely has been a member of the board for many years and was several times honored by being its chairman.

NORTHVILLE PLANT STARTS WORK ON NEW STORAGE ROOM

Business Increases Account For Present Building Work Being Done

Foundations have been poured and work is going ahead rapidly on the 2800 square feet of modern steel and frame construction that is being built to adjoin the present Northville Laboratories' buildings. Thomas Moss, Plymouth architect, has designed the addition so that the total storage capacity, including the basement, will be 3,000 sq. feet, according to C. E. Langfield, president of the laboratories.

Built on the south end of the present building, the new boiler and storage department will have a basement entrance on to the side street, giving it the appearance of a two-story building.

"The new building has been made necessary by the excellent business that we are doing at the present time," Langfield said. His contention is carried out in an article recently printed in the Detroit Times financial section, which names the Northville Laboratories as one of the six largest vanilla extract producers in the country.

Incorporated only eight years ago, the firm ships its products all over the United States and Cuba. In Detroit alone, the company supplies all the extract requirements of the Detroit Creamery, and the Affiliated Dairy Products of Detroit. "Another of its largest local customers" the Detroit account reads, "is the Sanders Company which uses Northville extracts exclusively both in ice cream and in baked goods."

"The company is known not only for the quality of its products but because the extracts are not only percolated in glass lined tanks but also stored in glass-lined containers which protects the flavor," C. T. Thompson, Detroit Times financial editor, continues in his resume of the up-to-date methods employed by the company which pioneered the distillation process. In his statement to Thompson, Langfield estimated that in 1935 alone the company will use over 8000 gallons of alcohol and 30,000 pounds of vanilla beans to fill its requirements.

INSTITUTION WILL EXHIBIT WOMEN'S WORK AT FESTIVAL

A Fall festival to be given by the Women's division of the Detroit house of correction will be held from 2 to 5 p. m. tomorrow. The festival showing will include an exhibit and sale of needle work, baked goods and candy. A short program will follow the exhibit.

Mrs. K. H. Campbell, who is head of the women's division, said that the whole day's program would be for the purpose of viewing the women's activities, both the work required by the institution, and the work done on their own time.

The festival, Mrs. Campbell said, was not given last year, but was an annual affair for three or four years previous to that. Admission to the exhibit will be by invitation only, she concluded.

BICYCLE POLO WILL FEATURE TWO DAY SALE

Harvest Sale Promises To Bring Unusual Bargains; Windows Bespeak Crop

A bicycle polo game between Main street and Center street merchants will be a feature of the harvest sale to be held in Northville Friday and Saturday, Oct. 11 and 12. This announcement solves the mysterious advertisement (Oct. 11-12?) last week.

The teams will be captained by Orlow Owen for the Main street merchants and by Neil Hannaford for the Center street merchants. The game, which is novel both as to rules and penalties, will be called at nine o'clock on Center street between Main street and the postoffice. The referee will be none other than a recognized polo expert. The prize to be won by the victorious team is to be a magnificent silver loving cup.

The cup is so large that the U. S. mint, the donors feel sure, will be greatly concerned at the tremendous quantity of silver to be concentrated in one place, outside the mint itself. The names of the winning teammates are to be permanently placed on the loving cup and the cup placed on display in a prominent place, where the public may view it. It is understood that the cup will remain the property of the winning team until a challenging team wins it in a bicycle polo game.

An added feature of the two-day

TRIP TO GERMANY CAUSES 5-YEAR-OLD TO DROP ENGLISH

Mrs. Brandt, Two Children Return to Northville After Year Away

Little five-year-old Ellen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Brandt, completed her fourth ocean trip when she returned to the United States and ultimately to Northville last week. Her nine months' old sister, Ruth, however, saw America through her baby eyes for the first time, and didn't seem particularly impressed.

Mr. and Mrs. Brandt and the two children left Northville just a year ago while Brandt was on a leave of absence from the service department of the Detroit Edison Co. here, to visit their people in Germany. Mr. Brandt returned in April but the rest of the family were detained by the case of measles which Ellen contracted at that time. Both natives of that country, Mrs. Brandt comes from Stuttgart, a city in the southern part of Germany, while Mr. Brandt is originally from Saxonia in the middle part of Germany. They came to the United States and settled in Ann Arbor in 1928, changing their residence to Northville in 1932 when Mr. Brandt was employed here.

Ellen, born in America, has been to see her grandparents in Germany twice already, while little Ruth is a native of her parents' country.

The little five-year-old is already encountering trouble after her year's absence, for she finds that while she perfected her knowledge of German in her attendance at kindergarten while abroad, she has forgotten her English. If she reverses the process this time and forgets her German, she needn't worry, because her mother says "when she's about fifteen we'll go back for another visit."

$27,272.00 SCHOOL GRANT CONFIRMED BY TELEGRAM; SCHOOL BOARD TO VOTE

Board Here Stresses Necessity for More Classroom Space

PUBLIC TO MEET

A telegram to officials of the school board Tuesday forenoon confirmed the government approval of the $27,272 PWA grant for a new addition to the school. The telegram stated the amount of the direct grant as $12,272, with a loan of approximately $15,000 at 4 per cent interest. The school district will have thirty years to pay back the loan.

Approval of the board, which is almost certain to be granted, according to Superintendent R. H. Amerman and Secretary Sherrill W. Ambler, is necessary before the deal will be closed. A meeting will be called either the last of this week or the fore part of next for the decision.

Double applications, one to PWA and one to WPA for $25,000, were sent in more than a month ago, with the original idea that if one were not accepted the other might be. According to Mr. Ambler, however, the Works Progress Administration is not undertaking any projects similar to the school addition.

Mr. Ambler expressed satisfaction that the grant did come through the PWA. He explained that although a WPA project would be completely paid for without assistance from the town, all of the work would have to be done by welfare workers, and Northville hasn't sufficient skilled laborers on welfare to do the job. Under the plan to be accepted, the council can let a direct contract to one contractor who will follow through on the entire project.

The new building will answer a need for more room and better facilities which is growing more urgent in the school every day, according to Mr. Amerman. One whole section of the first grade class has to meet in the high school classroom this year, and a special class, called an "opportunity class" has been forced to hold its meetings

TALKS AT ROTARY

WILLIAM M. GRAY

Mr. Gray was the first Canadian Rotary high official to speak at a meeting here.

JOHNSONS DEFEAT OWENS IN FINAL GAME, 1-0 SCORE

"Northville softball victors" was the title won by the Johnson team Sunday when they won from the Owen agregation in a 1-0 game. The Johnson team are now the village champions. They won the game by spectacular fielding on the part of George Westphall and Charles Bishop. The Johnsons got but one hit off of Ted Watts, the pitcher for the Owens, while the Owens sluggers picked three hits from the pitching of Alex Johnson.

Eight teams started in the softball league at the beginning of the season. All were finally eliminated but the two Sunday players. "The season has been a great success," states Edward A. Keeney, the Judge Landis of Northville softball.

EDUCATION ASSEMBLY HAS STORMY SESSION MRS. RENG REPOKTS

Mrs. O. F. Reng, president of the Northville Teachers' association, and delegate to the representative assembly of the Michigan education association which met in Lansing last week, reports an interesting and exciting session.

The session concerned itself chiefly with its fight over E. T. Cameron, who was ousted by the old education board from his position as executive secretary of the Michigan education association for what the faction opposing him termed "inefficiency and general inaptitude for his position." In the election of a new board, the faction favoring Cameron has received the majority of the positions, and members of the association are anxiously awaiting further developments.

Discussion groups met at the convention, in discussion of the six divisions of the association: legislation, program planning, publications, public relations, professional problems, and finance and membership. Four members were elected to each committee division.

Mrs. Reng will give a complete report of the convention at the next teachers' club meeting which will be held soon. Other officers of the local club, chosen at a recent meeting, are: vice president, Miss Geraldine Huff; and secretary treasurer, Miss Dorothy Atkinson.

TOWNSHIP PENSION ROLL TO REACH 100

Approximately 100 old age pension applications are expected to be acted upon in Northville and vicinity in the near future, according to L. J. Ludington, who is in charge of the Northville township district. The statement of the approximate number that have either already applied or are expected to, was made in connection with Mr. Ludington's information to applicants, that the application blanks are still available at the Northville village hall.

Mr. Ludington said that about 25 applications had already been approved and the applicants have received their first pension check. At least 25 more have already been investigated and there are another quarter of a hundred applications filed that are yet to be checked. The total requests for pensions will, Mr. Ludington believes, be brought up to the 100 mark soon for the township. Most of the requests, he says, come from the village itself.

According to word received from Dr. Philip A. Callahan, chief of the old age assistance bureau, it is the intention of the bureau to speed as much as possible the work of investigations and the granting of assistance to the aged in the state who are in need. The work of checking the flood of 48,000 applications which have reached the state bureau has been delayed by the universal misunderstanding of the terms of the old age assistance law, he said.

Under the new law, which repealed the 1933 old age pension law, a person is eligible to assistance only if he meets the following requirements, according to Dr. Callahan: He must be 70 or over, a full citizen of the United States, a resident for ten years preceding his application, must have no other person responsible and able to support him, must not be because of physical or mental condition in need of continual institutional care, and whose real estate does not exceed $3500 or whose personal property with the exception of household goods to the value of $500 does not exceed $1000.

Now is the time to get your NEW HAT, while the selection is large. Mrs. Adele E. Cain. 1tfc

Northville Has Only Federal Fish Hatchery in State; Visitor Will Find Business a Fascinating Occupation

(This is the fourth in a series of articles on interesting places around Northville, written from the viewpoint of a visitor being taken through.)

The only federal fish hatchery in Michigan, one of the oldest and one of the best known in the United States, lies within the bounds of Northville on Fairbrook avenue.

From it each year go 1,200,000 trout and 150,000 bass and bluegills. Five men are employed under the supervision of Superintendent E. R. Widmyer in the process of hatching, rearing and growing the thousands of fish that are annually dumped into streams for sportsmen to catch. To these fish during the year are fed from 50 to 400 pounds of ground beef hearts and livers per week. Five of the Northville hatcheries 17 acres are under water.

At present nine of the hatchery's ponds are dry. These are the "warm water" ponds in which the bass and bluegill are raised. They are emptied, Mr. Widmyer said, so as to let the bottom improve and plant life grow. The success of this method, even though it interferes with ice skating, he said, is shown by the fact that 150,000 bass and bluegills were produced this year.

The Northville fish hatchery can handle and hatch as many as two million trout eggs at a time. These eggs come from all over the United States, Mr. Widmyer stated, but especially from Maine, Montana and Iowa. The eggs are placed on trays holding about 3,500 each. As the eggs hatch out, during a period of from 90 to 120 days, they are spread to the rearing troughs. As they grow larger they are moved to various troughs and ponds of the hatchery.

Approximately fifty per cent of the nearly one and a half million fingerling trout are placed directly in streams and lakes, according to the superintendent, and the balance are sent to nurseries to grow larger and stronger before being "turned loose."

While young trout are reared from eggs shipped to Northville, the breeding habits of the bass necessitate that their young be gathered from the hatchery ponds. Nests are

RALLY PROGRAMS TO BE PRESENTED IN TWO CHURCHES

Two churches, the Methodist and Presbyterian, will hold extensive Rally programs for their congregations this week. The Rev. Harry J. Lord's congregation will carry their rally program over into a whole week of activity, while the Presbyterian activities will be concentrated on the one day.

Special music will be furnished by the choir under Leslie G. Lee for the Sunday services in the Methodist church. At this time, the primary, junior, and intermediate classes will have special rally day features, and promotions will be recognized. The Wednesday program for the church will include a pot-luck supper for the women, to be followed on Thursday by a choir night supper. Friday will conclude the Methodist rally activities with a church school party.

'As You Give, You Will Receive,' District Governor Wm. M. Gray Tells Rotarians on Visit Here

Northville Rotarians, with a number of members of the Plymouth club as guests, gathered under the Stars and Stripes of the United States and the Union Jack of Canada, at their regular meeting Tuesday noon at the Presbyterian church house. Most impressive was the session as the company welcomed William M. Gray, of Chatham, Ont., governor of the 23rd district, Rotary International, who was making his official visit to Northville.

Singing of the national anthems of both countries in spirited fashion made an auspicious opening of the unusual program. Following the invocation by Father Frank C. LeFevre of Plymouth, singing led by Leslie G. Lee, with Miss Frances Alexander at the piano, and a chicken dinner, served in matchless style by the Presbyterian ladies, President E. H. Lapham introduced District Governor Gray who immediately captured the imagination and minds of the men with his rapid-fire and inspirational address.

Mr. Gray touched the hearts of the Rotarians with his splendid tribute to the late Charles T. Thornton, former president, who died in office on August 20. The two men had met at Bay City just a short time before Mr. Thornton became president and Mr. Gray spoke feelingly of the great enthusiasm that the deceased president had shown for the local club and of its unfailing devotion to its ideals through the years. While in Northville Mr. Gray visited at the home of Mrs. Thornton and later he and E. L. Mills, secretary of the Northville

"A MAN AND HIS MISTRESS"

It has always been our observation that the married man who sets out to be a philanderer has plenty of trouble along his path. To keep the respect and affection of his wife and to hold the attention of the "other woman" takes a great deal of ingenuity, often much deception and always—sooner or later—brings "the end of the road" when the deception and the unfaithfulness become known.

What we had never fully realized was that the life insurance companies also make it tough for the "man with a mistress." We have just read in a magazine some reasons why the married man with a paramour finds it hard to get life insurance. To quote: "——no life insurance company wants anything to do with a married man who keeps a mistress." The man who has to be smart enough to cover up his tracks when carrying on illicit love affairs will sooner or later "crack" with his nerves or will so let down in his business or on his job that he becomes a poor risk. Furthermore, such a man always takes a chance with dynamite when he toys with women's affection. It was the ancient poet who said: "Hell knows no fury like that of a woman spurned." Hence the number of shootings, suicides and murders in these cases become a very real risk to life insurance companies.

The man who goes on through the years, keeping his marriage vows faithfully doesn't have the haunting fears that follow the man who has broken these vows and who finds that leading a "double life" turns at last to ashes and remorse. Being a good life insurance prospect is one of the least of the compensations of being a true husband.

LOTS OF BELL RINGERS

Northville housewives are getting impatient at the seemingly increasing number of canvassers, peddlers, magazine sellers and solicitors who are calling at our homes. One can hardly blame them. Business places also have plenty of such callers.

Feelings of sympathy often override one's judgment in meeting all these salespeople. Yet a lot of this buying of transient people does an injury to our local business people who help maintain our community. If all of us bought everything at the front door of our homes we should soon not have a place to go down town for something in an emergency. Many of the bell ringers undoubtedly are worthy but some of them, without question, are imposing on the buyers and hiding under a false cloak.

Parents could help a little in the matter of sales of periodicals. There are some boys and girls who have the right to solicit for magazines but sometimes one thinks the town is overrun with these boy and girl agents. Some homes need the help of these sales but in other cases these juvenile solicitors would be better off at home, helping mother or father.

Some of these bell ringers are welcome at our homes the rest of the army should in some way be discouraged. Luckily the season for the smart-alec "college students" who need just a few more subscriptions to pay their tuition is over. This had gotten to be a real "racket."

THE CHURCH STILL STANDS

It was a unique experience for the writer one evening last week to go back to the little community where his father first preached and to attend a centennial observance of that church.

Despite all its faults and frailities, the organized Christian church still stands as the one going institution of the community. Pastors come and go, but the church itself still ministers to human need and because of the fact that eternal values always abide, the church doors still swing out to admit men, women and children who find a real peace and satisfaction in the services and ministrations of the church.

It is a day of loss for any community when the church loses out and when material values are placed higher than those of the spirit. "Life is more than meat and the body than raiment."

Take away the five churches of Northville and empty houses would soon begin to be found on our streets. As much as the majority of the people neglect the church, few of them would care to live in a churchless community.

THE DECLINE OF CONSCIENCE

The number of "deadbeats" in the average community seems to us to be larger than it was twenty-five years ago. Back that long ago, there were very few people, comparatively speaking, who would dodge paying a legitimate bill. If one owed the grocer four dollars he knew pretty well he would get it: if he owed the local newspaper, the publisher felt that he would lose little.

Times seem to have changed. The folks who have small amounts coming to them have great difficulty in getting some of them. This decline of conscience when it comes to paying bills is a sad commentary on our times. How do you account for it? The World war? Prohibition? The depression?

BEERLESS BEER GARDENS

Ferndale was one of the first suburban communities of Detroit to establish a beerless beer garden. Dancing and entertainment without liquor seem to make a very definite appeal to young people.

Now we read that Lincoln Park is to have the same kind of a place. Mrs. Frederick M. Alger has given a "certain sum" to help make this possible. The experiment will be well worth watching.

ADDING A FIREPLACE

No home needs to be without a fireplace. At least most homes could be so remodeled to have one, and with all the aids now being given to the folks who want to improve their house, a fireplace, with all its charm and romance, can be added to the family assets.

WHAT THE NEIGHBORS THINK OF US

(Paul Riddick in the La Grange Standard)

"I have a good word for Mr. ——," said a neighbor in LaGrange this week. "He took that house when it was all run down. Weeds were growing all over the yard. Although he has little money, he and his family have made it attractive. It is neat and well kept. The lawn is carefully tended. Flowers and shrubs are tastily arranged. I believe he is a good citizen."

Here is a gentle hint for all of us. It shows us what our neighbors think when we keep our homes and yards attractive. It makes life more worth while. Though a home be modest, it is more attractive when well kept than an elaborate home poorly kept.

BY THE WAY . . .

● the shortage of housing facilities in Northville is not an unusual situation if the report of the Home Loan bank is any criterion of the conditions. Their reports state that there is a 98 per cent occupancy of habitable dwellings in 10 states. Surely that percentage is an underestimation for Northville. A friend told me this week that it is nearly impossible to get housing in Farmington or Plymouth and proper housing in Detroit is as hard to find as a needle in a hay stack.

Just what are we going to do about it? We have a model house in the building, a number of families have re-modeled, others are planning that now but still all of these will not meet the needs. The bank reports that they are not sure as to how many more FHA loans they will be able to make. They have made a great many and have a large number on file for action.

Would you think that it would be a paying proposition for someone to finance a good modern apartment house? One is being built but it will only meet a part of the demand. If men with money to invest were sure that they could make a reasonable return on their money they would step out. Is there a demand for three-room apartments in Northville? I heard one man say that he would be the first renter and knew of several families who would follow at once.

● there has been a great deal of discussion since the merchants dinner as to the advisability and possibility of an organization that would represent Northville. Some of the discussion runs along this vein: What would you call such an organization? These are rambling questions as they are heard on the street, and here are some rambling answers as heard on the street. It doesn't matter much what the organization is called as long as the name truly represents all of the best interests of Northville—that means manufacturing interests, retail selling interests, city beautification, and the selling of the community to those persons in Detroit or elsewhere who want to live in our type of community.

What would it do that the two noon-day service clubs are not doing? The two noon-day service clubs are doing a certain type of work that is most commendable but this organization would be planned to represent all of the interests of Northville in a concerted manner. There are problems in Northville that demand the action and support of every business man and every citizen and it is hoped that this proposed organization would provide such leadership.

Would it help me sell more goods in my store? Of course, anything that helps Northville will help every person living in Northville. It is to be granted that the results of certain promotion will not immediately bring in greater business—after all, if any one person or group are helped by any concerted action aimed to benefit Northville we will all be helped. One of the reactions I have heard is that people must not expect too much. It takes years to successfully grow an oak tree. Many organizations in Northville are years and years old. These did not become strong virulent bodies in a few minutes. Some one said today, "If we can tackle just one problem at a time and accomplish that solution we will then move on to the next problem and by every body working, the whole program will eventually be licked."

What would it cost to do this? What it would cost will depend entirely upon the members and how big a program they can tackle. It will depend upon how many put their shoulders to the wheel and push. They had a slogan in Chicago a few years ago, "Get out your horn and throw away your hammer." If all of the interests of Northville work together the job won't cost anywhere near what it will be worth.

Will it mean a full-time secretary, or what? As to the full-time secretary, that too, is a problem for the organization to decide. After all, if everyone interested would give some of their time and energy to the program of work, wonders could be accomplished. A suggestion came through the other day to this effect: "Let's sit down and write down all of the things that are problems for Northville, every negative thing that we can think of and then let's select the one or two or three that are the most important and then go to work. We will have to estimate what money will be necessary to accomplish the goals. When the work is done we can tackle the next most important jobs on the list and thus, little by little, without much expense and costly supervision, we will make the association of business and professional men of Northville a vital, co-operative, working gang. We will have a chance to discuss the whole matter pro and con next Monday night at the second merchants' dinner.

THE RECORD SHOPPER

By ELEANOR BLUM

With canning either just over, or, in some houses, still in the process, attention is still centered on the kitchen. While doing our Northville shopping the other day, we came across several useful and attractive kitchen articles, which are old enough to have been tried and proven, yet new enough to be present in only a few households.

An "eggster" was one of these articles. Or in other words, an electric egg cooker. Not new, but not common and yet very inexpensive. Imagine how handy one of these handsome chrome cookers would be. With one, it would be possible to watch both the electric toaster and the three minute eggs at the same time. And that's another thing, if you aren't good at timing, the "eggster" solves your problem by regulating the cooking time of the egg by the number of spoonfuls of water in the container. A black enamel base makes the appliance a handy table article.

Have you considered the possibilities toward brightening up your kitchen that lie in the sheen of the copper ware that is so popular now? The gleaming utensils that are being shown in copper relic the world of tradition that makes us put copper back in other days. Here is another case of the old being modernized, copper ware now presents the ultimate in up-to-dateness. Contrary to tradition, here are kitchen articles worthy of being made gifts.

And while we're trying to make the kitchen and the breakfast table more cheerful places, consider the singing tea kettle. No one should be without one of these festive songsters, even if only for use on special occasions. One of these, shown in town, carries the name of "Black Beauty," and comes in black with a bright red handle, and a red bird on the spout. If you are following the chrome craze, however, you might prefer the more icy beauty of the chrome and blue, topped by the bird.

And before we leave the kitchen subject, just another word about canning. If you haven't finished you ought to try the new large-mouthed glass jars for fruit-canning. The whole fruits will go in without being smashed if you buy the large quart jars that are made on straight lines so that they can be topped with a particularly large-mouthed jar top. And for those who still haven't tried the self-sealing jar covers that do away with all that difficult tightening, and the nuisance of paraffin and jar rubbers, there is still a pleasant experience in store.

LEROY WELCH FATALLY INJURED IN ACCIDENT

A tragic ending to a happy joy-ride occurred Sept. 22 about six o'clock when a small roadster driven by LeRoy Welch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Welch, of Walled Lake, overturned in loose gravel near Twin Beach golf club.

Raymond Walters, owner of the car, and his brother, Robert, and Gary Thompson Jr. were also riding in the car. The Welch boy was fatally injured while the others sustained minor cuts and bruises.

The injured were taken to Redford receiving hospital where LeRoy's injuries were found to be very grave and little hope was held for his recovery. He died in the presence of his sorrowing relatives.

LeRoy would have been fifteen years old on Sept. 26. He was a boy of a very cheerful disposition and was well liked by everyone.

The funeral was held Sept. 26th at the home and burial was in the Walled Lake cemetery. He is survived by his parents, three sisters, Mrs. Laura Rosch, Mrs. Lottie See and Mildred Welch, and two brothers, Harold and Mason.

"For a' That"

"Just a twenty minute ride. Come on I want to show you some interesting places,"—and we yielded to the invitation of a man who was not only an up-and-coming realtor, but an enthusiastic landscape artist as well.

Along the shore of that northern lake we drove. Twenty minutes stretched out into two hours. But who cared!

Cottages nestled close to the sandy beach, cottages perched like crows' nests high on piney cliffs, modest cottages, palatial summer homes, our escort knew them all and described the folks who lived in them as "the finest folks in the world. Folks who love the simple out-door life."

"There's just one more place I want to show you," he said as he turned up a steep side road which ended surprisingly in a carefully landscaped terrace which dropped off abruptly on one side to Lake Michigan where great waves rolled many feet below. (What music to lull to sleep!)

"This is my latest achievement in landscaping, just finished this summer."

But far more interesting to us than the lovely yard was the animated person who left her lawn mower and came forward to greet us. She wore a big, floppy brown hat. Her dress was so plain that we do not even remember noticing it but we do remember, the bright glow of those merry brown eyes as she showed us with pride how well the newly-sodded lawn was growing, how she and her husband had carried stones, and made a rock garden in a corner too difficult to mow, and how every one of the recently planted evergreens was thriving.

Cordially she bade us "Do come again." As we drove off commenting on her charming personality our companion laughed. "And would you guess that she is the wife of a multi-millionaire, a Chicago manufacturer?"

"Well, what do you think of that! I'm glad I didn't know it or I wouldn't have felt so free. I always stand in trembling awe of wealth." Yet she's a fine woman—"for a' that." And then we recalled Robert Burns' verse:

"For a' that, and a' that,
Their dignities, and a' that.
The pith o' sense, and pride o' worth,
Are higher rank than a' that."

How's this for a good laugh?

There's many a woman who shudders at the very idea of a prize fight as brutal who is far more cruel to her husband by her constant nagging. The poor victim of her scolding would much rather take a good, stiff punch on the nose!

Miss Ethel Keinsley is Guest Of Honor at Numerous Showers—

Showers are being given in abundance for Miss Ethel Keinsley, bride-elect, as the date for her wedding nears. Miss Keinsley whose home is in Monroe has been making her home in Northville since her appointment as chief operator in the telephone company about a year ago. She will be married next Wednesday to H. R. Jones, also a resident of Monroe.

The series of showers started last Thursday with a party in Plymouth given by Mrs. Ray Covell and Mrs. Joseph Lissenberger, at Mrs. Covell's home. Friday, Monroe friends of Miss Keinsley, Mrs. Frank Geteper and Mrs. Boyd Knight were hostesses at a miscellaneous shower.

Carleton was the scene of Saturday's affair at which Mrs. Alfred Burgess and Mrs. Kenneth Colton entertained. This also was a miscellaneous shower.

Activities again shifted to Northville when Mrs. Elmer Dekay entertained in honor of the bride-elect. At this party Miss Keinsley was the recipient of a lovely chrome desk lamp. Many friends from a bridge club of which she is a member were present at the dinner to honor her.

Wednesday night, Mrs. Aubrey Gates received the employes of the telephone company who have worked with Miss Keinsley at a party at her home on Napier road. Flowers in golden yellow were the decorations at the tables for the evening refreshments. The women presented the guest of honor with an electric iron.

A sister, Miss Beulah Keinsley, was co-hostess at a personal shower at Wayne last night. Mrs. Larry Knox assisted her.

Miss Ann Kolody, who will take over the office of acting chief operator, will fete the bride-elect at her home here tonight, Monday, the employes of the Monroe telephone office, where Miss Keinsley will be employed after her marriage, will also entertain in her honor.

CANADIAN OFFICIAL SPEAKS TO ROTARY club, laid a wreath of flowers on the grave of Mr. Thornton in Rural Hill.

"Something to share" should be the motto of Rotarians, said the district governor as he stressed the aims and ideals of the club. "You have a strong, healthy club here," continued the visiting Canadian, as he told of the conference he had held with various committees prior to the formal session.

"As you give, you receive in the same coin," urged Mr. Gray as he complimented the work of the club in its help to crippled children and for young men in its student fund loans which have helped a number of Northville young people start or continue their work in college. He stressed the friendliness and intimacy found in Rotary as being among the finest by-products of the organization. "Back-slapping is a good thing and has its place in helping keep up the spirit and morale of men," stated Mr. Gray, as he told of incidents where a friendly word had changed the destiny of men.

"Keep up your work for the boys," concluded the high Rotary official, "and remember this always: 'Don't wait too long, for the boys don't wait but keep on growing and are men before you know it.'"

Mr. Gray's coming was probably the first official visit ever made to the Northville club by a Canadian district governor. "Bill" Gray as he is universally known in his home section is president of The Colonial Traders Ltd., of Chatham. He has served Chatham as an alderman and is a past president of various well known clubs; in addition he is on the directorate of a number of Canadian business concerns. He is a member of the United church of Canada.

The occasion of District Governor Gray's coming made one of the most impressive and worth-while events in the history of the Northville club.

HARVEST FESTIVAL COMMITTEES WORK ON FINAL PLANS

from the city who were glad of the chance to buy home-made jellies and jams fresh from local gardens. From this very small beginning the present project has grown to its present large proportions, each year new features of interest having been added.

A veritable fair it has become with the great hall gay with it fine display of colorful booths.

Not only is the harvest festival a business project but it is also a pleasant social occasion. Tea will be served free of charge during the afternoon by Mrs. E. A. Shafer and Mrs. Theodore Kampf, Jr.

At noon a thirty-cent luncheon will be served by the Woman's Union with Mrs. Frederick Hedge as the presiding genius. Serving will begin at 11:30 a. m. and will continue until 1 p. m. The early hours have been set for the convenience of teachers and anyone who may care to attend from school.

Supper in the evening can be obtained for forty-five cents between the hours of 5:30 and 6:30 p. m. Mrs. Clyde Schoultz is chairman of the supper committee.

Besides canned goods, vegetables and baked goods, there will also be on sale, a variety of needlework, suitable gifts or useful about the house.

A large number of visitors from out of town are expected, former patrons of this affair which grows yearly in popularity.

Although Mrs. W. H. Yerkes is president of the Woman's Union, the Harvest Festival is sponsored by the members of the finance committee comprised of the following: Mrs. H. B. Clark, Mrs. H. R. Richardson, Mrs. W. F. Chapman, Mrs. F. A. Northrop, Mrs. Marvin A. Sloan, Mrs. Waldo Johnson, Mrs. Charles F. Murphy, and Mrs. D. B. Bunn.

Mrs. Howard Atwood is chairman of the Nellie Yerkes auxiliary festival committee.

Both the members of the Woman's Union and of the auxiliary are working in harmonious co-operation, each society being represented on the following committees:

Baked goods — chairman, Mrs. Claude Ely; assisting, Mrs. Robert Coolman, Mrs. N. C. Schrader, Mrs. E. B. Cavell.

TELEGRAM CONFIRMS PWA SCHOOL GRANT

during available hours in the lunch room. It won't be long, school officials say, until the need will be even more urgent. The board of education's offices would probably also be housed in the new building.

Taxpayers will be given a chance to vote on the matter at a meeting to be held at the school soon, Mr. Ambler said. The date for the meeting will probably be announced next week. An expression by the taxpayers of their approval or disapproval of the issuance of bonds for the $15,000 loan should be evidenced at this time. It will be necessary, according to Mr. Ambler, to issue the bonds to be resold to the government, payable in thirty years.

"We feel sure that the grant will be approved locally because we can get the building for about half of what it would cost in three years," Mr. Ambler stated.

Plans, as drawn up by Eberle Smith, Detroit architect, provide for a four-room, two-story building. Some changes, however, will probably be made in the originals to accommodate the specifications of the PWA officials.

SHO EILLER CUTS OFF FOUR FINGERS OF MUSOLFF'S HAND

Howard, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Musolff, of South Lyon, and nephew of Mrs. Minnie Eckles of Northville, had four fingers cut off while working on the J. Reed farm near here recently. Musolff was helping with the work of filling the silo when the machine hit his hand, instantly severing the fingers. The thumb doctors says can be saved.

MERCHANTS TO PLAY UNIQUE POLO GAME

harvest sale will be the window displays—the harvest idea will be emphasized in all the displays.

Merchants report that in next week's issue of the Record there will be a galaxy of harvest bargains offered that will be well worth the time of every person in the Northville trading area. These bargains are not merely merchandise bought for this special event but regular merchandise sold at ridiculous prices. This will be a time for thrifty buyers to put in stocks of merchandise at prices that they will not soon forget.

This announcement is made as further evidence, says S. L. Brader, chairman of the committee, that Northville merchants are serious in their efforts to convince the Northville buying public that they really can buy more reasonably here.

The bicycle polo game will be presented with all of the fanfare of a major athletic event and in spite of the fact that we are all world series conscious Northville will have an athletic contest that will provide plenty of entertainment and the thrill of a major athletic event, waged so ferociously that it may make the Tigers crawl back into their lair. The contesting teams are holding secret practices and the opposing captains are making boasts of superiority that augur well for a hot game. The captains announce the following line-ups:

Main street whozits: Captain Orlow Owen, George Rattenbury, Fraser Staman, Pat Wiltsie and Maurice Lapham, as regulars with Victor Lumley and "Mike" Gunsell as subs.

Center street whatzits: Captain Neil Hannaford, Harry Shafer, Darrel Nollar, Arthur Schnute and Ivan Ely. The Whatzits have not yet announced their subs. The Whozits state that they fear the Whatzits are going to ring in some crack polo players. To offset that the Owen gang are practicing some new formations that they say will bewilder the opposition. Well you will see what you will see.

In case of inclement weather the game will be played Saturday night at 7:30 p. m.

HIGH SCHOOL ALUMNI WILL DANCE OCT. 18TH

The Northville high school alumni will hold a dance Friday, Oct. 18, in the high school gymnasium. It is announced that Strasen's orchestra will furnish the music with dancing from nine until one. 50 cents per couple is the cost. Tickets will not be sold in advance.

MRS. LAPHAM LEAVES FOR HOME IN SOUTH

Mrs. W. G. Lapham will fly to New York Monday after spending the summer among old friends, and from there will go to the University of Virginia, where she will make her home. Mrs. Lapham, who has been a life-long resident of Northville, has sold her home on West Dunlap street to Fraser W. Staman and will live in the town where her son, Jerry, formerly taught. He was a teacher of mechanical engineering.

PARENT TEACHERS ASSOCIATION TO MEET

The first meeting of the Parent Teachers association will be held at 7 p. m. Thursday. All the teachers will be in their respective rooms at that hour, and the parents are urged to visit the teachers there. At 8 p. m. there will be a meeting in the gym for a program and refreshments. Members of the association feel that this is an excellent opportunity for teachers and parents to become better acquainted.

MISS HALVERSON DEAN OF ORGANISTS' GUILD

Miss Grace Halverson, a Detroit teacher, who has come out to Northville for a number of years teaching young folks to play the piano, has been elected dean of the Michigan branch of the American Guild of Organists.

This organization meets monthly for a series of programs of interest to the profession.

Miss Halverson was at one time a student of Guy Filkins and has pursued her study continuously since. She has a large class of pupils here and is organist at the Divinity Lutheran church in Detroit.

BURY FORMER LOCAL MAN HERE TUESDAY

Henry Cooper, 67 years old, Northville resident since childhood, died Sunday and was buried in Northville Tuesday afternoon. Services were conducted by the Rev. H. G. Whitfield at the Schrader Bros. funeral parlor.

Mr. Cooper was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cooper, who were also old local residents. He leaves three sisters, Mrs. Gladys Smith of Northville; Mrs. Mary Cairns, of Bay City, and Mrs. Jessie Stevens, of Detroit. Burial was in Rural Hill cemetery.

built, in which the bass spawn. The eggs hatch in from three to five days. Just before hatching the nests are screened by a fine meshed wire for capturing the fry, which are later transferred to rearing ponds.

The warm water ponds in which the 300 bass and bluegills are kept are supplied with daphnia, a special bass food, from six small ponds where it is raised.

On exhibition at the rear of the fish hatchery building are three groups of trout. The first, with fish no more than three inches long, shows the fingerlings as they come out of the hatching troughs inside the building. The second contain fish approximately six and seven inches long, showing the growth made in a year. The third pond has those kings of trout, some of which are nearly twenty-four inches in length.

When the fish are of a size to warrant their distribution, they are taken around to ponds and lakes by the fish hatchery staff. Fish are obtained, according to Mr. Widmyer, by the endorsement of U. S. representatives and senators applying to the bureau of fisheries. A majority of the fish are placed in Michigan waters, he said.

Unlucky fishermen have never attempted to glean these denizens of the deep from the hatchery ponds, Superintendent Widmyer said.

The ponds are all supplied with water from the River Rouge branch stream that runs along the fish hatchery property. Water for the hatching troughs comes from a pond on the north side of Fairbrook avenue, across from the superintendent's home.

Mr. Widmyer came here two years ago from Charlevoix, replacing Frank Snipes. A native West Virginian, he has been with the bureau of fisheries for more than 20 years.

Northville names long associated with the hatchery are those of A. E. Fuller, for many years its fish culturist, and the late William H. Thayer, long its superintendent.

A NIGGER IN THE WOODPILE

Said the irrepressible son of Old Erin, M. J. Murphy, speaking of the Louis-Baer fight: "What a whipping that Irishman gave the Jew."

SO MUCH HOOEY

Like the Bible itself, the United States Constitution is a document divinely inspired and worthy of fitting reverence! That statement was made last week to students of the Plymouth high school by Harry Heffran, a former Chautauqua lecturer.

It is too bad, we think, that such individuals are allowed to spread such inconceivable, unhistoric rubbish to the youth, or the adults, of our nation. The constitution of the United States is a remarkable document to be sure. Otherwise it could not have served us so well for nearly 150 years. We respect it and admire it. But to compare it to the Bible, and say it is "divinely inspired" is just so much baloney.

The constitution was a political compromise. It was drawn up by ordinary, human individuals, who, possessing a remarkable intelligence and foresight as they may, were anything but divinely inspired. The only record of the constitutional convention—the diary of James Madison—discloses that practically all of the framers were dissatisfied with the final draft of the constitution. The liberals thought it conservative. The conservatives thought it too liberal. The states-rights men thought it gave the central government too much power, and the strong central-government men thought the states had too much.

They were all interested, however, in one purpose: To draw up a plan of government that would be acceptable. Political expedency was more important than good government. And so they compromised. The constitution was a makeshift plan, and a majority of the framers, according to Madison, considered it only temporary—a step to something better.

It was accepted by only a narrow majority of the states. The common people had little or nothing to say. The "we the people of the United States" of the preamble was for political effect. It was the legislatures, elected by large property owners, which adopted the constitution—and then only after a bitter fight.

But they were lucky. The makeshift plan served nobly. It had to be changed, and it contained provisions for such changes. It will have to be changed again. One of its most desirable features is that the changes have to be made carefully, slowly, only after great thought. It is a remarkable plan of government, and will probably serve for many long years to come.

But it is not divine. There could be better plans drawn up. There will be some day. To think otherwise is to deny progress, to stand still. The American people, in spite of such falsehoods as perpetrated by Mr. Heffran and his like, are still progressive, broad-minded, liberal. They look to the future. They face facts.

A PHILOSOPHY

Much has been said in recent years as to the future of the "country" or weekly newspaper. Some contend its days are approaching an end. Others, such as the editor of Editor and Publisher, hold that its brightest era is just around the corner.

We think the country newspaper has its place. People like to read news of themselves, of things dear and close to them. The big dailies cannot serve that end. Theirs is to cover the world, the larger political unit, the metropolis.

But if the country newspaper is to live it must do more than present three galleys of locals every week. It must serve a higher end.

The news of the world and the nation grows more complex. The daily paper, in its rush to make the deadline, must print only the facts. To do otherwise would be dangerous. But, to the weekly falls the task of interpreting those facts, so that its readers, many of whom have not had the advantages of higher education, may understand them. Such interpretation calls for skilled, high-class men.

The weekly must do more than preach neighborliness and morality in its editorial columns every Friday. It must fight against provincialism. The average small town man and woman cannot travel extensively. Too often they do not read extensively. If they are not broadened, enlightened through some medium with which they come into intimate contact, they will become "small townish" in its bad sense, colloquial, provincial. The weekly paper must fight against this. It is its duty to keep its readers up with the times. Intelligent, constructive thinking must come from the weekly. It must be honest.

The editorial writers of the metropolitan press are unknown to the average reader. Often its well-meant, well-phrased advice falls on heedless ears. The country editor is known to all. His opinions are, or should be, respected. It is no easy task to be the editor of a country paper.

And equally as important—but no more so—the country paper must cover its community thoroughly. It must print all the facts which effect its public, even when they sometimes hurt. It must print news of its varied groups—farmer, merchant, factory worker, suburbanite.

It must make money and, in ordinary times, will.

Such is the philosophy of the country paper as dreamed by a sophomoric youngster, who has been around one all his life.

Prayer meeting Wednesday evening in the parsonage.

Mrs. Thelma Musolff, South Lyon, will be hostess to our Ladies' auxiliary society next Thursday, Oct. 10, for dinner at noon. Pot-luck. All our ladies and their families are cordially invited. This will be a very important meeting as the ladies are to plan for our coming harvest festival.

Come to church Sunday.

Salem Federated Church

Our Rally Day will be observed next Sunday, Oct. 6, with a short worship service at 10:30 a.m., followed by the Rally Day program in place of the usual Bible school classes. Sunday, Oct. 6, has been set by the National Committee on Religion and Welfare Recovery for the observance of Loyalty Day, when every citizen whether a church member or not is invited to attend divine service. This is "a first step in the better co-ordination and strengthening of the spiritual forces of the nation." All responsible citizens should try to attend church somewhere on Loyalty Day, and if you are interested in the Salem church, come and help break the former Rally Day record for attendance.

The Dixboro M. E. players will present "The Antics of Andrew" in the Salem town hall on Friday evening, Oct. 11. Remember the date.

Church of Our Lady of Victory

Please note the change of hour for the first Mass next Sunday. The two Masses will be at 8 and 10 a. m.

The patroness of this parish is Our Lady of Victory. That day is annually celebrated the first Sunday of October. We shall commemorate it next Sunday.

We remind our parishioners and all parish friends that the sauer kraut dinner will be held Wednesday, Oct. 23, and the Christmas gift party will take place Tues., Dec. 3.

The religious education hour opened last Monday afternoon and evening with a record attendance. We congratulate the students and their parents. Classes for rural students will open Sunday morning at 9 o'clock. Classes will be held next Monday again for 2, 3, 4 and 5th grades at 3 p. m.; 6, 7 and 8th grades at 3:30; and for 9, 10, 11 and 12th grades at 7 p. m. We appreciate the cooperation of the Northville school officers and teachers.

ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN

"If ye live after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live." Romans 8, 13.

To give free rein to the lower appetites and passions within man and to allow them so control and enslave him, that reduces him to an estate which kills all spiritual desire and aspiration and robs him of those finer, heavenly qualities which shine so beautifully in the life of Christ. We are created for a higher and nobler destiny than that of an animal. It is only too true that to be carnally minded is death — the absence of all tastes and desires that mark man as an heir of eternal life.

In striking contrast to the "carnally minded" are the "spiritually minded." The latter are the salt of the earth to preserve it against utter corruption. In the eyes of the "carnally minded," what the church stands for has no attraction whatever. It is assumed that, when a man becomes educated and enlightened in the popular modern sense, he can easily dispense with the spiritual ministrations of the church—which only the sentimentally weak and ignorant are to avail themselves of and enjoy.

A magazine writer tells us that he fell in with a fine man of considerable prominence who invited him to a seat in his pew, and to seats at a series of concerts, and then puts in parentheses the following words ("the bitter I accepted!") Note that exclamation point. That spirit of casual or worldly-mindedness is quite common among the intelligent who have outgrown the need of what Paul so highly prized.

When the church and religion are thus sneered at, is it any wonder that multitudes of the youth of the country have lost all reverence and respect for the church and avoid its pews? The church is not perfect, for it is a divine institution in human hands; but it has marks of spiritual strength which it would be well for these carnal-minded despisers, who have not so much as touched the hem of the garment of the Christian faith, at least to respect.

The hour for worship and Sunday school every Sunday morning is 10 o'clock. The pastor will preach.

Catechumen instruction is given every Saturday morning in the church hall beginning at 9 o'clock.

The Ladies' Aid meets next Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Ferdinand Kreeger on West street.

A cordial invitation is extended to all to worship with us!

First Presbyterian Church

Harold G. Whitfield, minister

Rally Day, Sunday, Oct. 6.

The church and church school will combine in the observance of this occasion. The message of the day will be presented through the medium of a pageant. For fuller details and members of cast see elsewhere in this issue.

You are again reminded of the harvest festival, Thursday, Oct. 17, all day.

The Woman's Union and the Nellie Yerkes auxiliary will be the guests of the Plymouth Presbyterian society on Wednesday, Oct. 9, at 2:30 p. m. Mrs. E. H. Lapham has charge of the program for the afternoon. Echoes of the Synodical meeting at Marquette will be given by Mrs. Charles Spence of Detroit. Anyone wishing transportation will please call Mrs. Adelle Brock, telephone 118. Cars will leave the church promptly at 2 p. m. Ample room for all who wish to go.

The program will be of a very high order, rich in interest and inspiration. All the ladies are urged to attend and to enjoy the cordial hospitality always extended by the ladies of the host church.

Rally Week at the Methodist Church

Special plans are being made for the observance of Rally Day Sunday in the Methodist church. An effort is being made to have, as nearly as possible, every member present at the hour of morning worship. Special music will be given by the choir under the leadership of Leslie G. Lee. The sermon theme will be "Investments that pay the Biggest Dividends." Opportunity will be given to enlist in the various activities of the church.

This will be followed at 11:45 by a special program in the church school. The choir will furnish special music. Primary, junior and intermediate classes will furnish special Rally Day features. Promotion to other departments will be recognized and class organizations perfected. A complete staff of teachers will be present. A special recognition will be given to every boy and girl in attendance.

Rally Day Sunday will be followed by a week of special activities. Wednesday evening, Oct. 9th, will be a rally of all the women of the church beginning with a pot-luck supper and followed by a program in which the Ladies' Aid society, the Home Missionary society, the Service League and the Cobbilthians will participate.

Thursday evening will be choir night. The choir members will eat supper together in the church house and spend part of the evening in a social good time.

Friday evening will be the night of the church school party in the church house. Tables will be set up by classes, each class using its own original idea of decoration. Recognition will be given to the best decorated table. Also recognition will be given for the best class contribution to the evening's program.

NORTHVILLE'S ARMY BEATEN BY NAVY 7-6

Nirider Chosen Captain For Navy; Charles Strautz Is Captain of Army

By MELVIN STROMOSKI

The West Point cadets dropped a hard-fought grid battle last Friday at Cass Benton park to a superior navy team by a score of 7 to 6.

Coach Watts divided his Northville high school squad into what he thought were two evenly-matched teams and bestowed upon them the titles of Army and Navy. Mr. Watts selected as captains for the two teams, Strautz of the Navy and Nirider of the Army.

Captain Nirider place-kicked 45 yards down the field to open the game. All was quiet on the western front during the opening minutes of the struggle although Army had a slight edge over Navy in the matter of yards gained by scrimmages.

In the last few seconds of the first quarter Nirider intercepted a Navy pass and ran fifty yards for the first and last Army touchdown of the game. They failed to make the extra point so the score stood, Army 6, Navy 0.

However, beginning with the second quarter the Army squad played distinctly defensive football to try and hold onto their six point margin.

Navy strove mightily to score during this time. They succeeded in carrying the ball well into Army territory on successive long runs by Junod and Arnold only to have their chances to score spoiled by the gun sounding to end the half.

Parmenter set off the fuse for Navy in the third quarter when he ran the kick-off back for 35 yards. Junod and Arnold then went on another rampage and between them they carried the ball over the goal line to tie up the game. Parmenter carried the ball over for the extra point and gave Navy a small lead which they held during the remaining minutes of play.

Bill McGee was missing from the line-up due to the fact that he has been suffering for some time with an injured leg. However, he was able to get around with a slight limp and referee the game.

Junod and Arnold were the most effective ground-gaining men on either squad and both can be counted on to do much to help Northville defeat Redford union tonight.

This is how the boys lined up to start the game:

Army		Navy
Giles	r. e.	Lyke
Toussaint	r. t.	Aldea
Bauman	r. g.	Matthews
Bray	c.	Gregory
Young	l. g.	Casterline
Balko	l. t.	Strautz
Nirider	l. e.	Peterson
Latta	q. b.	Parmenter
Smith	l. h. b.	Way
Mitchell	r. h. b.	Junod
Hay	f. b.	Arnold

Inquiring Reporter

Do you think the selling of pro-game football tickets and tickets at the game a better idea than selling season tickets?

Dean Hardesty: Yes, because most people would rather pay a small sum of money for a single ticket than a lot for a season ticket.

Harry Richardson: No. I think that season tickets are better because the student council doesn't have to print new tickets for each game.

Cecil Giles: Yes. I think the student council will make more money on this plan.

Marjorie Chase: I think the season ticket idea would be better. The council could make their money at the beginning of the season when they need it more, and it would not be such a bother to buy tickets for every game.

Scott Cole: I would rather have a season ticket. The pupils will then take more of an effort to go to the games.

'ROUND THE SCHOOL

The Orange and Black represents the student body, and we want you to remember this is your paper. Constructive criticism and suggestions of any sort are always appreciated. If you have any helpful hints as to how we can improve our paper, please feel free to tell us. We are working for you, and after all, it is you we are trying to satisfy. Won't you help us?

Dick Ambler went out for football, but when they tried one of the football suits on him, Dick got lost in the left pant-leg—so he decided that he would wait another year. In the meantime, Dick claims he is going to eat grape-nuts three times a day.

Speaking of football, did you know the center of our football team, Bob Bray, is an inventor? He built a radio, but the sad part is the only thing he can get is WJR and static.

Paul Beard guarantees the physics class at least one laugh a day—just once Paul has failed, and that day was Wednesday, but who wouldn't with a long, long test to take?

We hear Mrs. Cobb writes her husband in shorthand—and better still, he answers back in shorthand. Some system, eh what?

Lulu's back in town—or rather back in school. Lulu Lyke, senior of N. H. S., has been ill and was not able to attend school the first part of the year. Now, however, she is back.

Saveria and Virginia Leone have also joined the ranks of Northville high school. Saveria is a senior and Virginia a freshman.

Dorothy Vroman, member of the senior class is ill with appendicitis. She will probably be operated on some time this week. We wish her the best of luck, and hope to see her around the school soon.

Chuck Strautz has a black eye and says he bumped into a door. Sorry, Chuck—you'll have to think up a better one than that.

THE OBSERVER

Dear Peepull:

The person to catch the observers eye in this issue is one whom you have, or should have, noticed since her elevation from the basement, greatest ambition, lower level; or if these synonyms won't do, the eighth grade. She is a great big "fresh" this year and appears to be doing a bang-up job of it. Overlooking the fact that she is a freshman, she is well liked and always has a little ray of sunshine for everyone, just everyone. This lovely lady of mystery is a very high official of her class. She is of medium stature with sea-blue, dancing eyes that sparkle when she laughs. Little Miss X is a very becoming dresser and, to practically tell who she is, she has two charming sisters also glorifying this high school.

Hoping not to have been bothersome, I now let you return to your disturbed sleeping.

Very truly yours,
The Observer.

CORNER FOR BOOKLOVERS

By RITA SPRENGER

"Wind in the Rigging," by Howard Pease.

Remember Tod Moran, third mate of the "Araby," in "The Ship Without a Crew?" Can you imagine him shipping as mess boy? No more than you could imagine Captain Tom Jarvis taking his old position as cook. Well, that's just what they both did.

The owners of Captain Tom's Araby see that something is a bit off color on the tramp steamer s. s. Sumatra, so they put their special mystery bloodhound on the trail—and the bloodhound takes his prerogative. Captain Tom can no more stay out of a mystery than he could stay off the sea itself. And that's how he and Tod Moran become mixed up in the Sumatra case.

You see, the Sumatra, bound for Morocco—but perhaps we'd better leave that to Mr. Pease. You can expect anything of everything to happen in one of Mr. Pease's books, yet when it does you realize that it is not what you expected after all. So take the book and forget the world and live the life of a sailor for a few days.

School Nurse Tells How Health Of Students Keeps Nurse Busy

By MRS. STARR BRAY

"I am here for one purpose, to try and control to a small extent the general health of you boys and girls, and see that our school is kept as free as possible from sickness and contagion.

"Without your cooperation this will be impossible. Therefore, I am asking you to remember the following things:

"First, that after an absence from school due to any illness you will report to me before returning to your classes.

"Second, that you should stay at home if you are ill. Don't come to school and perhaps expose the whole room to some disease. Stay at home if you have a bad cold. Colds are very contagious. And most of the communicable diseases begin with all the symptoms of a cold. Staying at home means to stay inside and take care of your cold.

"Third, if you have any rash or unusual breaking out on face or hands, please let me look at it, to be sure that it isn't something that the other boys and girls will contract from you.

"If you will do this for me we can go far toward keeping our school healthy and free from contagion."

Seniors Who's Who

IDA ALTMAN

Nobody, with the slightest stretch of imagination, could have foreseen that the girl born on April 7, 1916, and named Ida Altman, would bear the undignified nickname of "Skooch." But "Skooch" she is.

She has attended Northville schools all her life and has been one of the more active and popular students. Just see what a record she has—Secretary of her freshman class, vice president as a junior, and again as a senior. She has been one of the mainstays of the band ever since she was very small, a member of the choir for two years, Glee Club for four, and on the basketball team for two years.

Not content with that enviable record, she played in "The Whole Town's Laughing," and had the lead in the junior play, "Here Comes Charlie."

Skooch loves all sports and is especially fond of attending legitimate plays. After graduation, she plans to attend the University of Michigan and take up either music, literary work or dramatics.

EVELYN AMBLER

Perhaps as a companion piece to the "Skooch" of above, we have also "Ooch," who is really our own Evelyn Ambler. She was born on December 26, 1919, and spent her kindergarten days in the Noble school in Detroit. The Amblers also heeded the "Call of the Wild," and turned towards Northville. Here Ooch" has been a faithful student ever since her first grade year. Did I say faithful? Better say active for she has helped in many a successful school concert. She has been a member of the Girls' Glee club, the choir, and played an important part in the operetta, "Lewlawala." She took a sally into dramatics in "The Whole Town's Laughing," and also "Here Comes Charlie."

Evelyn likes music and all sports and after graduation she will grace the halls of Oberlin college in Oberlin, O., where she will pursue her studies.

SENIORS TO GIVE DANCE TONIGHT

Senior dance tonight! This is the first dance of the season, and it's expected to be a huge success, according to the committee.

The dance is to be held in the high school gymnasium and the profits will go toward the senior trip. This being the first dance of the year it is really the christening event of the newly decorated gymnasium.

The orchestra is composed of six talented young musicians well known in and about the community.

The public is invited to come. Admission is 25 cents per person.

Miss Selma Jarvis Tells Duties Of the Grade School Teachers, Their Daily Program, Activities

Northville's high school teachers aren't the only conscientious teachers, Miss Selma Jarvis, principal of the grade schools explained.

Miss Jarvis briefly told how grade school teachers work very hard. Grade school adjourns at 3 p. m., but most of the teachers are there as late as 4:30 and 5 p. m. "There are many duties to be performed after school," declared Miss Jarvis, "and the grade teachers deserve a lot of credit for their hard work.

"Every teacher is required to have recess duty," continued Miss Jarvis. "This means the teacher must look after the children on the playground during recess period. A noon duty is also required by every grade school teacher—this includes taking care of the lunchroom and keeping order in the halls." This is the daily program of the elementary school teacher:

Teacher	No. of Stud.	R	G
Mrs. Grace Hawkins	40	7	6
Miss Edna Kreeger	38	6	6
Mrs. Russell Clarke	41	5	5
Mrs. May Babbitt	42	8	4
Mrs. Marie Congo	42	4	3
Mrs. Retta Reng	12	2	2
	17	2	2

Mrs. Reng is president of Teachers' club.

Miss Helen Leonardson	40	1	2
Miss Dorothy Atkinson	28	5	1
Miss Selma Jarvis	30	3	1
Miss Ann Richards	40	kinder.

Miss Leonardson is P. T. A. secretary, Miss Atkinson is secretary treasurer of Teachers' club and has charge of Girl Scouts. Miss Jarvis is principal of grade school and Miss Richards has charge of the assembly.

Mrs. Catherine Johnson has music classes, as well as the opportunity room—for those who have been absent and would like to make up work.

Grade Notes

The following pupils in Mrs. Reng's second and third grades have had 100% in spelling all month: Hugh Kerr, June Bailey, Bill Lanning, Joan Kostyke, Gertrude Steele and Lois Taft. The second and third graders are working on their fall poster. Mrs. Reng had all the pupils make a fall picture and the best ones were put on the bulletin board. The possessors of these good posters will be given a chance to work on the large fall poster. The pupils of this room are learning the poem, "Come Little Leaves."

Mrs. Congo's fifth graders were delighted to have Joan Montgomery bring from the south some tobacco and cotton plants. Joan was visiting in the south for a couple of weeks. The fifth graders farm project for geography is a very interesting spectacle. It now consists of about 50 or 60 toy animals, a farm house and two barns. Everyone in the fifth grade had 100% in spelling on October 1st.

Miss Leonardson's second graders drew autumn scenes for art. The best ones were put on the bulletin board. This room has an interesting collection of worms and caterpillars, which they think will spin cocoons. The second graders had their first spelling review. Each day they see how many pupils can cross a bridge by spelling words.

Mrs. Rabbitt's fourth graders had a candy sale. They profited $4.75, and have bought 12 new books for their reading table. Hazel Ruby Williams, of this room, has been ill for two weeks. The fourth graders are studying the sphericity of the globe. The fifth graders have made booklets of their multiplication table. They have very interesting cover designs on them, which resemble Greek letters.

From Miss Kreeger's sixth grade room: Donald Kreeger was operated on last Friday at the University hospital. The operation was performed on his leg. Maxine Coe received 100% in spelling all last month. Robert Hunter, a very talented artist, is putting on the October calendar in this room. The sixth graders have made very attractive maps of Africa, and have located different places on the map for geography.

Miss Jarvis' first graders have a collection of cocoons for nature study. They hope to see moths emerge from them in the spring. A new first grader is Sally Ann Natten, formerly of Plymouth. The first graders made some very splendid humpty-dumpty men out of cardboard. They drew, parted, colored, cut and tacked them. They did some very artistic and neat work for first graders.

Monday the kindergarteners started having milk to drink. This is of special importance because out of 50 children only 18 of them are up to weight. The underweight children should be given every advantage and care to gain weight. Dolores Secord had a birthday last Wednesday and the kindergarteners celebrated it. New pupils in Miss Richards' room are Betty Helen Whitfield and Marcia Sparling. The afternoon section of kindergarteners went for a walk downtown to see the stoplight.

EIGHTH GRADERS PUT ON ASSEMBLY SHOW

The lack of a piano did not dampen the spirit of the eighth graders, who so graciously entertained the seventh grade pupils Monday afternoon.

"The show must go on," was their slogan throughout the entertainment. Without the aid of said piano they proceeded to recite poetry, tap dance, and sing. The show was a complete success and the audience greatly enjoyed it.

ARMY-NAVY GAME

By WILLIAM OWEN

Cadet Junod and Midshipman Arnold made a habit of breaking through Army's defense for long gains.

West Point's backfield attacks on Captain Strautz resembled the futile battle a tank would put up against a battleship.

Showing great promise as a backfield star, Captain Nirider of the Army, sprinted 50 yards for West Points only touchdown.

The Annapolis quarterback, Parmenter, shot the works and carried the whole army over for the extra point after Junod swept over for a touchdown.

Referee McGee played a brilliant game of magnificent blunders. As a referee, he's a famous all-American guard.

The marines deserve great praise because of their brilliant attempts to intercept Midshipman Gregory's passes from center.

Can You Imagine?

George W. being bald headed?
Bob without Barbara?
Anyone having six pairs of ears? Think of having to wash behind all of them.)
J. K. not breaking into some class? Duty is duty.
M. H. not arguing?
T. M. without her catfish Detroit?
Ruth C. with writer's cramp?
Roland M. giving a wild party?
The juniors giving a dance?
Russel S. being bold?
Ralph B. as a clergyman?
J. Seaberry not being quiet?

MR. THOMPSON SAYS . . .

"I think the students can derive great benefit from the proper application of assembly programs. Especially those in which the students participate, either in the presenting or the planning.

During the coming year I would like to see presented by the students a number of programs of different character, the musical, dramatic and movies being the most popular.

A student committee is now working on future programs and they are going to need the help and cooperation of all their fellow students to make their programs a success. Any suggestion as to the betterment of the programs will be appreciated by them. The chairman is George Westphall.

N.H.S. GRIDDERS PLAY REDFORD HERE TODAY

Team Strengthened by Two Practice Games Has Hopes of Victory

With the experience of two practice games behind it Northville will open its league schedule with Redford Union at Cass Benton park today.

The return of Jack Junod and Carl Arnold to the team will bolster up the backfield to a great extent and after the performance of the Army-Navy game an improved squad may well be expected to be on the field.

When the two sections of the high school team clashed last Friday, much was revealed. A few of the gridders showed their lack of experience, but on the whole the team was much more promising than the day they played Walled Lake.

Captain Nirider has a crippled shoulder which, however, is not serious enough to eliminate him from the Redford union struggle. Bill McGee has had a tough time so far this season because of an injured leg received early in the Walled Lake game. It was not healed enough to allow him to participate in the Army-Navy mix-up but if it is in any way possible he will be in there today.

The line has improved on both defense and offense and with Parmenter, Hay, Junod, and Arnold in the backfield, the team will fight for a triumphant opening game.

The probable line-up for tonight's game will be: R. E., Lyke; R. T., Toussaint; R. G., Bauman; C., Bray; L. G., McGee; L. T., Strautz; L. E., Nirider; Q. B., Parmenter; L. H. B., Junod; R. H. B., Arnold; F. B., Hay.

COLLEGE ENTRANCE EXAMS MADE EASIER

A new list of requirements have been drawn up for admission into the Michigan colleges, which were adopted Jan. 17. The new plan will make college entrance much easier for some pupils. Almost all of the colleges and universities' requirements are about the same. According to the old requirements, two years of foreign languages were necessary. Although pupils may now enter with no languages to their credit, it is interesting to note that enrollment in these classes have not diminished in our high school. Last year when a foreign language was required for entrance into college, there were 55 Latin pupils and 41 French pupils. This year, in spite of the fact that foreign languages are not necessary to enter college, there are 83 Latin students and 30 French students. (These figures include first and second year groups.)

A minimum of four sequences must be presented, two of which shall be major sequences. For all divisions and curricula of the college, one major sequence must be from group A and a major or minor sequence from group B, C or D.

Group A: English (and Speech).

Group B: Foreign language. Any sequence must be in a single language.

Group C: Mathematics. A minor sequence is made up of one unit of algebra and one of geometry.

Group D: Science. Not more than one unit of any one science may be offered.

Group E: Social studies.

Group F: Vocational studies.

After September 11, 1937, students may enter only by the above plan. Until that date applicants have the option of entering under the present or the new requirements.

MRS. STARR BRAY GIVES SCHOOL HEALTH TALK

Mrs. Starr Bray gave a talk this week on "The Importance of Washing Fruit" to the grade school pupils.

Mrs. Bray explained that a lot of illness was spreading throughout the grade school because the children do not wash their fruit before eating. She told the grades how during this time of year spray is left on the fruit and it is very unhealthful to eat the fruit unless it is washed.

'Storm Over the Andes' Hits Here Friday, Saturday; 'Orchids To You,' Starring Jean Muir, Next Wednesday

While Jack Holt, star of Universal's thrilling screenplay of live flying and war in South America, "Storm Over the Andes," coming to the Penniman-Allen theatre today and tomorrow, does not hold a pilot's license, nevertheless he has flown more hours than any other actor not actually owning and operating his own airplane.

This was revealed today when it was learned that Holt, hero of such productions as "Flight" and "Dirigible," would be seen as an American aviator of fortune in the thrilling Universal production. Holt has had, it is said, more than 400 hours of flying, and if he had handled the controls all of this time would be qualified as a transport pilot and as a pilot of lighter-than-air craft.

Holt put in more than 250 hours on "Flight" alone and 155 hours on "Dirigible." He got in 75 hours of flying on "Storm Over the Andes," in which he appears with Antonia Moreno, also cast as a flier, Mona Barrie, Gene Lockhart, Juanita Garfias, Grant Withers, Barry Norton and George Lewis.

During his career, Holt has appeared in eleven aviation pictures, according to his records. He knows a great many nationally prominent aviators and says that if he had time he would take instructions and would be qualified for a license within a very short time. He has frequently handled the controls and has taken off and landed planes with another pilot in the plane during the making of his pictures.

"ORCHIDS TO YOU"

If a woman were to look in a mirror and impersonally examine her face, without mental reservations, she would notice that one eye is slightly higher than the other, or her nose swerves ever so slightly, or her mouth doesn't curve evenly, or any other of the innumerable errors in Nature's judgment.

Now for the astonishing revelation that Jean Muir has been adjudged to have a perfect camera face. Merritt Gerstad, Fox camera man, found Miss Muir the most perfect subject he had ever worked with.

"You can stand Jean Muir up in front of the camera and shoot," says Gerstad, "without being afraid that any bad angles will show up. She has a perfect camera face. There are no lights to fix, no shadows to take out, no bumps to reduce, no crooked noses and twisted smiles to straighten. Both sides of Jean Muir's face are as alike as two peas. If every other actress' face were that way we cameramen would find life much easier and happier."

In her current picture, Fox Film's latest comedy-drama, "Orchids To You," which comes to the Penniman-Allen theatre Wednesday, Jean Muir plays the role of a beauteous lady florist, whose trade secrets could blast a thousand hearts.

John Boles and Charles Butterworth also have leading roles in the film, which was produced by Robert T. Kane and directed by William A. Seiter. Ruthelma Stevens, Harvey Stephens, Arthur Lake and other favorites are included in the cast.

FORTY-YEAR-OLD WATCH DISAPPEARS FROM BUFFET

A forty-year-old watch which he greatly prized has been lost by Richard Neil. Mr. Neil says that he had taken the watch home and placed it on the buffet after it had dropped out of his pocket at work one day a couple of weeks ago. It was from the buffet that the watch disappeared. The 21-jewel timekeeper had just been examined by the jeweler who said that it was still in perfect running condition.

MARION TURNBULL MAKES THE CHOIR IN STATE NORMAL

Friends of Miss Marion Turnbull, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Turnbull, who has entered Michigan State Normal college as a freshman this fall, will be interested to know that she has won the honor of having been chosen as a member of the college choir after a try-out.

Miss Marion was judged as having a "very good voice" and attributes her ability in reading the difficult class of music sung by the choir to the excellent training given in the high school chorus by the director, Leslie G. Lee. Some of the same numbers are being sung in the college choir that the local high school chorus used in their programs.

The State Normal choir will give a series of concerts representing the institution during the coming season.

Miss Marion is pleasantly located in the home of friends, Mr. and Mrs. John LaRue, known in Northville.
