TUBERCULOSIS STAMP SALE IS TABULATED

Mrs. H. Burkart Commands
Village and Rural Pupils
For Their Work

With the completion of the Christmas tuberculosis seal tabulation Mrs. H. H. Burkart, Northville township chairman, reports that the $124.39 income this year falls below the $131.61 school sale total of the previous year.

Mrs. Burkart attributes the slight decrease to the fact that the seals were given to the school children to sell during the Thanksgiving holiday. "With schools closed, the children couldn't come to their teachers for more stamps to distribute," she commented. It is probable that the 1936 campaign will be handled in a different manner.

The enthusiasm with which the children give their time to this worthy cause of fighting against tuberculosis received the commendation of the township chairman as he accepted the reports from the village and rural schools this week. She awarded the good fairy health status to Mrs. James A. Congo's third graders, whose stamp sales totaled $16.65. The prize was taken from Mrs. Frank W. Hawkins' fifth grade room which sold the largest number of seals last year.

Following is the rating of the teachers' rooms: Miss Dorothy Atkinson, $2.07; Mrs. Luetta Reng, $6.23; Miss Edna Kreiger, $9.52; Miss Helen Leonardson, $8.83; Mrs. Ellen Clarke, $1.33; Miss Edna Jarvis, $4.43; Mrs. Kurnal Babbitt, $10.93; Mrs. Hawkins, $12.44; and Mrs. Ida B. Cooke, $7.52.

The award in the rural districts was given to the Bear Lake school which had a sale total of $9.82. Last year the prize went to the Thayer district. This year the school's sale totaled $5.67. The DeKuy school sale amounted to $6.37, and the Seven Mile school sold $2 worth. Mrs. Burkart stated that the $24.06 total for the rural district more than doubled their sale of last year. No reports will be made for the sanatoriums or the training school until after Christmas.

SCHOOL TEACHERS PLAN TRIPS FOR HOLIDAY RECESS

Several members of the teaching staff of the Northville public schools will visit with friends and relatives in neighboring communities during the Christmas recess. The school holiday begins with dismissal to night and ends with the resuming of class sessions Jan. 2.

Mrs. Vivid B. Cobb leaves tonight for a trip to Wadesboro, N.C., where she will spend the holiday season with friends.

Miss Dorcas Corbin plans to be in Detroit the forepart of the Christmas vacation, but will visit in her home in Owosso before school opens in January.

Miss Gladys Ludwig will spend part of the holidays as a guest of friends in Chelsea.

Mrs. Ida B. Cooke is to be the

DISPLAYS TO BE JUDGED

At the Exchange club meeting Wednesday noon, matters relating to the Christmas decorations and the judging of displays next Monday were presented. A window trimmer from Detroit will judge the village business windows and the prize-winners will be awarded at the next meeting of the club Dec. 27.

Reports complimentary to the local merchants were made by members who have had an opportunity to compare the community festival decorations with those of other towns.

At the Dec. 27 meeting, an election of officers for the 1936 term will be held.

The club will not meet on Christmas or New Year's

RED CROSS PROMOTES NEW BUREAU SERVICE

The volunteer service of the Northville chapter of the American Red Cross will again sponsor Christmas Clearing Bureau to aid in eliminating duplication in the distribution of Christmas baskets.

This announcement was made early in the week by Mrs. Ester Ward Lester, who stated further that it was not the policy of the bureau to give Christmas baskets. It is their purpose to give the names of worthy families to individuals or organizations who request them in order that the list may be complete.

Mrs. Lester has asked that residents notify her of families who need aid. Cards are to be sent to persons or organizations who in turn are expected to fill them out and return them to the clearing bureau to be used as a stop card to some other organization that intended to provide for the same family. In order that some worthy families may not be neglected this year, Mrs. Lester asks that she be notified before individual donations are made.

CHILDREN WATCH REPORTS CLOSELY AS CONTEST ENDS

As Dec. 14, the date for the closing of the Retail contest, drawing near excitement reached a high peak among the children competing in the event. Each purchase made by their friends at the Gunzel drug store means a number of votes for the young competitors who watch the bulletins daily for the late tabulation. Thirty-eight boys are working for the eight prizes which include: a streamlined train, tool chest, chemistry set, mail plane, locomotive, movie projector, punchbag and scoter.

When the votes were counted at the end of this week the eight boys standing at the top of the list were: Darrell C. Noller, Jr., Tommy Stalder, Richard Green, Party Lapinian, Francis L. Smith, Jimmy White, William D. Tait and Robert Carter. Forty-one girls are soliciting votes for eight equally attractive prize gifts including: a Patsy Mae doll, Marilee doll, electric stove, baby doll, wardrobe trunk, typewriter, bank and mother's lingerie outfit.

Girls who were counted in the first eight places at the end of the fourth contest week were: Geraldine Shaeffer, Dorothy King, Theresa Spagnuolo, Joan Cavell, Ann Joyce Hopkins, Mary Hatchett, Andrea Owen and Dorothy Leavenworth.

CHARLES STONE DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Charles Stone, age 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Stone, of 13 E. Cass, died at the home of his parents early Sunday morning, Dec. 15, following a long illness. Funeral services were held in the Schrader parlor Monday afternoon with the Rev. Harry J. Lord, Methodist minister, officiating.

Burial is being made in Clarksville, Tenn.

Seventy Local Musicians With Two Assisting Artists From Plymouth

Will Present Handel's "Messiah"

Singing the "Crucifixion" and the "Resurrection" as well as the Christmas portions which were given last year, the Northville Community chorus of more than seventy voices will present the "Messiah," Dec. 22, in the Presbyterian church. This will be the third successive presentation of this concert singing during the Yuletide season under the direction of Leslie G. Lee.

Local musicians who will sing in the chorus this year include:

Sopranos: Frances Alexander, Louise Alexander, Evelyn Ambler, Betty Ann Baldwin, Edith Barley, Mary Louise Boyden, Marjorie Chas, Mrs. I. B. Cooke, Gertrude Deal, Mary Jane Dennen, Mrs. Norman Denning, Catherine Duguid, Alice Eaton, Mrs. William Forney, Mary Groveson, Vivian Grosvenor, Betty Haystead, Leila Haystead, Gwendolyn Jones, Mrs. J. S. McGivern, Mrs. D. McKinney, Ann Richards, Kathleen Rinck, Doris Shelpo, Lucille Simmons, Isabel Tibble, Marion Turnbull, Leoma May White, Anita Law and Betty Ross.

Altos: Diane Berberian, Flora Mae Conklin, Juanita Elkington, Eleanor Grosvenor, Jane Grosvenor, Florence Johnson, Helen Johnson, Laura Marie Lord, Mrs. Victor Lumley, Mrs. Leslie Lee, Marjorie Pierpon, Mrs. Dorothy Payne and Leo Sheehan, associate editors.

Since the performance of the "Messiah" in England, March 22, 1749, audiences have risen to their feet and remained standing with the singing of the words in the Galilean chorus, "For the Lord

As the Christmas Flame Burns High

"THROUGH THE EYES OF A CHILD"
By The Rev. Fr. Jos. G. Schuler
Pastor of Our Lady of Victory Church

Along the road men call Time, many a pilgrim has passed since that starlit night of long ago when the Virgin Mother wrapped her little Son in swaddling clothes and cradled Him in a manger. Yet every plodding pilgrim has his goal, and shall be measured ultimately in the light of Bethlehem and through the eyes of Mary's Child.

Man has been created with a homesickness for Heaven, and that is why in every century men find themselves unhappy, discontented. A great number do not analyze this yearning aright. Like sick children they cry out for remedies, and the wise of this world have a thousand to prescribe. Physical health, greater personal liberty, wealth, knowledge, power, pleasure, honor, these and a host of other formulas are compounded. Yet history teaches us no more certain truth than that these have failed to bring lasting contentment and abiding peace to mankind. Men will never realize what they truly need till they have learned to look upon themselves and their fellowmen not through their own eyes but through those of the Divine Physician who was once the Child of Bethlehem.

We can hardly hope to induce all men to look on life through the eyes of the Incarnate Wisdom, but one thing we can and must do: we, ourselves, must learn to see things as God sees them, and look on man through God and Christ Jesus. Then, for us at least, life will hold no bitter disappointments, no false aims, and hence no cruel disappointments. Knowing man as he is, we will respect him for what God made him to be. We will serve men, but not only for the mere wage that he can pay. Wars and personal rebellions may confine, but we shall still be able to live in peace. With our vision focused through the eyes of a Child, all men will be our brothers to be aided, and God, our Father, to be loved.

AUXILIARY SHARES WITH GIFT PLANS

Local Unit Sends Presents
To Veterans at Maybury
And Eastlawn

Christmas presents for 160,000 men. Women who have difficulty selecting Christmas gifts for the men of their own families will have an idea what a huge undertaking confronts the American Legion auxiliary when it sends a remembrance to every disabled World War veteran, forced to spend Christmas in a hospital.

Yet this annual Christmas giving to the disabled veterans is only a part of the work carried out by the auxiliary for the men who lost health and strength in war service.

Throughout the year the auxiliary's $60,000 women are working constantly to guard the welfare and aid the recovery of these men who are bearing in suffering and sickness the human cost of the war.

One of the most active committees of the Lord E. Green unit of the auxiliary here is its rehabilitation committee, now entering the winter work for the disabled. Under the leadership of Mrs. H. E. Elvers, committee chairman, the local unit is doing its part in the auxiliary's nation-wide program of aid to disabled veterans and their families.

In the local community, the Legion auxiliary will spread Christmas cheer to 55 veterans at the Maybury and Eastlawn sanatoriums.

STICK-UPS TAKE CAR FROM C. J. HAMMER

C. J. Hammer of 224 E. Seven Mile Road, reported to police authorities that two armed men had stolen his Cadillac car Tuesday evening in a hold-up which took place at the stoplight on Seven Mile and Grand River roads. As Mr. Hammer, who was returning from his Detroit office, stopped for the red light, two young men, approximately 17 and 24 years of age, forced their way into his car and demanded that he drive as they directed.

According to the report made by Mr. Hammer, he was asked to leave the car at the Middle Belt and Seven Mile roads and persuaded the men to take him near his home. After examining his purse and handing him a bottle of milk which was in the car, the young joy-riders left Mr. Hammer at Haggerty and Seven Mile telling him that he might find his car later in Ann Arbor.

A teletype message Wednesday afternoon reported police that the car had been found on the Six Mile road between the Newbury and Paragon roads, within two and a half miles of Mr. Hammer's home.

TRAINING SCHOOL PUPILS PREPARE VACATION EVENTS

Dr. H. H. Haskell, medical superintendent of the Wayne County Training School, in announcing the plans for the Yuletide activities for this season, stated that last year 112 visitors witnessed the performances of the pageant "The Christmas Story.

According to Dr. Haskell, the future production is a large community project, as children there will design the costumes, construct the stage settings and back drops. More than 700 children will attend the pageant in the programs. These performances are the work of the students who are the students' stock company, the stage curtain being drawn by the students themselves. The pageant will be conducted at 10 a.m. on Dec. 22.

Members of the Lutheran church will have an opportunity to attend a religious play tonight entitled "Jesus Our Redeemer," which will be given by the Sunday school. On the day of Christmas a "Carol Sing" will be conducted at 10 a.m. in the church to commemorate the birth of the Saviour.

SACRED MUSIC AND PAGEANTS TO BE GIVEN

Northville Churches To Hold Special Services During Christmas Season

Northville churches, with children's programs tonight and religious services Sunday and on the day of Christmas, are commemorating the birth of Jesus. Within the village worship houses, sacred music, pageants of giving and the retelling of the Christmas story, will bring messages of hope and joy to all who enter the churches during this season.

At the Baptist church tonight, a pageant, "Sisters After Christmas" will be presented. The theme is centered around the story of the Spirit of Christ, and emphasizes the lesson that the Christmas spirit may be found in poor and humble homes. Adult character roles will be played by Mrs. Earl Montgomery, Mrs. Julius McCoy, Mrs. Don Miller, Merrill Rodolph, Don Miller, George Seidel and Lloyd O'Neill. The Christmas Spirit will be portrayed by Margaret Mary, Marion O'Neill, Catharine Barry, Marjorie O'Neill and Mildred Card also take part in the play.

The Christmas day program at the church of Our Lady of Victory will consist of three Masses. At the midnight Mass the Gregorian chant of the "Messe de Angelus" will be sung by the girls' choir. A group of boys will sing hymns at the second Mass at 8 a.m. The last Mass of the day will be conducted at 10 a.m.

Members of the Lutheran church will have an opportunity to attend a religious play tonight entitled "Jesus Our Redeemer," which will be given by the Sunday school. On the day of Christmas a "Carol Sing" will be conducted at 10 a.m. in the church to commemorate the birth of the Saviour.

WARES MOVE TO NORTH ADAMS

Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Ware are moving their hardware stock to North Adams, near Pittsfield, the latter part of this week. The Wares have been residents of Northville for 22 years and have been in the retail business for eleven years. Previous to being in business for himself, Mr. Ware was employed in the hardware store of J. A. Huff here.

Mr. and Mrs. Ware have purchased a business property in North Adams and are making alterations which are nearly enough completed

Ice and snow have been, for the most part, safety's strongest allies due to the fact that the two hazards incite in drivers a caution.

What Shall I Give My Child?

"Long before December first moon-thugs begin to sigh, 'Christmas is coming. I must get ready for it!'"

Then with somewhat the same spirit that they tackle spring house-cleaning they make a list of all the family—dads, uncles, cousins, whom the habit of years has dictated that they "remember."

Hours of shopping, more hours of confusion when parcels are wrapped and labeled. Eating fruit cakes and Christmas cookies, and in the midst of her hurried preparations mother almost forgets that this is the season of "Peace on earth good will toward men."

A recent magazine tells of a family who catch the Christmas spirit by "reading for Christmas." Out from the book case come Dickens' "Christmas Carol," the Christmas chapter from "Little Women," "Birds' Christmas Carol,"

Some families sing together the dear old songs while some tune in the radio and let others do their caroling.

Deep in the heart of every mother lies the wish that she might give her child something to make him happy at this season. "What shall I give my child?" she asks. Not transient toys, not even practical comforts will bring that glow of Christmas happiness that she felt as a child when she trudged homeward through the snow, with her brothers and sisters with arms loaded with simple "secrets" for each other.

Two poems will meet response in many a mother heart at this season. The first comes from our sister in California, sent by air mail because she wanted it to reach this issue.

The Beautiful Gift
By Grace Nell Crowell

What can a mother give her child
Greater today than this one great thing—
Faith in an old, sweet, beautiful story.
A star—a stable—a new-born King?
Shining faith in the young lad, Jesus.
Lover of high white things was He;
Jesus—straight as a Lebanon cedar;
Jesus—clean as the winds from the sea.
Faith in the young lad come to manhood;
Jesus, compassionate, tender, and true.
Oh, my children—what more glorious
Gift in the world can I give to you?
Carry it high like a lamp, in the darkness,
Hold it for warmth when the day is cold—
Keep it for joy when youth goes singing,
Clasp it for peace when you are old.
What can a mother give her children.
More than a faith that will not dim?
Take it, my dear ones—hold it forever!
A lamp for a lifetime—faith in Him.

The second poem is a song beloved in our household ever since there have been babies to rock.

The Gift
A mother was watching on Christmas night.
Rocking her babe by the candle light
When she lifted her eyes through the gathering gloom
For the Christ child stood in her lowly room.
"What shall I give to your child?"
he said.
Softly caressing the sleeper's head,
"Nay," said the mother, "On, angel guess."
"Give her whatever thou seemest best."
"But what shall I give her?" he said

BASE LINE SCHOOL
Miss Jameson came to our school last week and told us the interesting story of "The Nut Cracker Suite." She played some of the records on her phonograph. We enjoyed her visit very much.

The primary children have made a Santa Claus castle on the sand table. Taft also made his sleigh and eight reindeer.

We have learned our Christmas again.

Ask and thou shalt not ask in vain Shall I touch her eyes that they may shine?

With beauty that men will call divine?

Shall I touch her lips that they may smile?

With songs the sweetest the world
may know?

"Nay," said the mother, "That will not do."

Songs are forgotten and hairs turn gray."

"But what shall I give her, oh mother?"

Ask what thou wilt for thy little child."

And the mother lifted her eyes above.

"Give her purity, truth and love!"

And the Christ child looked at her soft and mild.

That has chosen the best for thy thy little child."

Be not afraid, though life be sore,
I will be with her forever more!"

Of course there will be Christmas cookies! Here are some recipes from very good cooks:

Cream Drop Cookies

1 cup brown sugar, ½ cup shortening, ½ cup sour cream, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon soda, 2 cups flour, 1 cup coconut.

Cream sugar and shortening, add cream mixed with soda, add flour and baking powder, lastly coconut.

Drop on tins.

Truly Cookies

Cream 1 cup brown sugar and 1 cup butter, ½ cup sour cream. Mix

2 cups flour and 1 teaspoon soda, 2 cups oatmeal and pinch salt. Roll and cut. Filling: 1 cup cut dates, ½ cup brown sugar, ½ cup water. Cook and add 1 teaspoon lemon juice. Cool to paste. Place between cookies and bake. Use doughnut cutter for top cookies.

Sugar Kringle

Yolks of 7 eggs, 2 cups sugar, 1 cup butter, 1 cup sweet milk, 1 teaspoon soda in flour, 2 teaspoons vanilla. Flour to roll out soft.

Cut off little chunks and roll out round with fingers on board and make shape of "L." Sugar tops and bake.

Shortbread

Barney Oldfield, dean of automotive race drivers, believes most highway accidents are due to the fact that the present-day car rides so smoothly the untrained driver mis-judges his speed.

The problem of the banded concrete bowl, on the other hand, does not think there is such a thing as an unavoidable accident.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Stevens and

THE RECORD SHOPPER

by Virginia E. Anderson

Now that mother and dad Uncle Oscar and Aunt Emma, baby brother and sister Sue have all been checked off the shopping list, it's time to "tie up" and "light up."

Remember last year when you attempted to wrap a dozen packages at the eleventh hour? Remember how the paper tore at the corners and the ribbon slipped so you were ready to tie the knot? By the time the last present was wrapped to go through the mails, you'd practically lost the Christmas spirit and had vowed "never again."

This year you can "tie up" attractively and like it. One of the village stores is selling individual paper sheets ranging in design from pink elephants on the ceiling to stately ladies fair in a picture frame. New color combinations include a gay polka-dot pattern on a cream foundation; another dainty square which will make a smart package jacket is softly tinted in pink and blue. Something different in package fashions can be created by using a pattern in blue and red, featuring Scotty silhouettes with DO NOT OPEN UNTIL CHRISTMAS saucily imprinted in the background. Such a wrapping will prick the conscience of the friend who can't be trusted to wait until Christmas before opening the parcel.

A new idea in the card line was found at a local counter. Gummed patent leather tape which stays securely fastened to the paper as it is placed around the package eliminates the bad moments caused by the slipping ribbon. Flat bows may be easily arranged with this same material. For the Santa helper who is "all thumbs," bright shiny ribbons with fluffy, elaborate bows are all tied with matching streamers ready to bind the gift. Other pastel paper ribbons to harmonize with the new wrapping squares being used this season, further emphasize the trend away from the red and green colors which have been the "top" for Yuleide decorations for many a year.

Realizing that its evergreen tree is the center of holiday festivities in the home, an entire evening should be spent in making it a glittering spectacle of beauty. Without question, the basis for decorating the tree is a string of colored lights which may be purchased in a number of styles. There are the multi-colored electric candles together with ordinary bulbs shielded behind star-shaped reflectors. Mickey Mouse, not content with appearances on cereal bowl bottoms, watch faces and silver spoon handles, is being featured on the reflectors of a novel light set which a village merchant is displaying. No longer need the weakness of one bulb cause all the other lights on the tree to go out. New sets with independent current distributors have put a stop to this annoyance which formerly dismayed the decorator.

Using delicate, sparkling balls which will blink colorfully through the artificial icicles on the tree, the picture is complete. With a twinkle in your eye you can snap the switch which lights the tree and settle down for a long winter's nap, knowing that Santa, sure enough, is coming to town.

LOCAL LIBRARY BUYS TWELVE NEW BOOKS

Twelve new books, including fiction, adventure, history and autobiography copies, have been placed on the library shelves this week. The list is as follows:

The Corpse With the Sunburned Face, Spring.

Seven Arms Strong.

Mark Twain—The Man and His Work, Waggoner.

American Silver, Avery.

Saga of the Bounty, Anthony.

Winged Sandals, Price.

Rome of the Renaissance and Today, Rodde.

Growing Into Life, David Seabury.

BY THE WAY . . .

Just what does a man feel about Christmas and all of the festivities of the occasion? One said that he felt that Christmas was being too much commercialized and that people were being overly lined to buy gifts. Another man said that he didn't know much about the matter except that he enjoyed the actual presenting of the gifts to the youngsters. He said that his wife seemed to do all the preparing for Christmas and he said "I suppose they get all of the fun, too."

And isn't that the truth? We men, like the old state senator back in Minnesota who left the family religion to his wife, we leave the planning and buying of Christmas gifts to our wives and they get the real fun out of it. The saying that "the gift without the giver is bare" is worthy of consideration.

I suppose most men actually do arrange to get a gift for the wife but when it comes to the rest of the family, mother does that and she gets the real Christmas spirit and wonders why we men don't get more excited about the whole matter.

Would it not be a good idea if we men got into the spirit of Christmas instead of talking so much about the Christmas bills that have to be paid in January. No man ever saw a child of three or four at the foot of a lighted Christmas tree on Christmas Eve or Christmas morning without getting a definite thrill out of it. But how much more fun we could have if we assumed our proper share of the responsibility of the planning and work of Christmas. Then we would come to the conclusion that there is one time in the year (Christmas time) when people ought to let their hearts rule and not worry too much about the money it will cost.

Knows Them All

"Oh, yes," said the pilot of the river steamboat. "I've been on this river so long I know where every stump is."

Just then the boat struck a stump, which shook it from stem to stern.

"There," he continued, "that's one of them now." Chaser.

GIRLS IN BEER GARDEN:

Birmingham Eccentric

Hiring young girls to entertain in beer gardens offers proof that neither the State of Michigan nor the beer and liquor industries are much concerned about the moral atmosphere produced by John Barleycorn.

The failure of prohibition also proved that you cannot yet legislate temperance into a reality; yet, if such disgraceful conditions continue in beer gardens as are shown to date in many sections of Michigan, public indignation will again run its course, and again you may have an unenforceable prohibition law on the statute books.

Personally, this newspaper favors practical temperance, holding that the only true way to abate the Barleycorn family is through the long and judicious processes of education.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

LISTEN!

Hear those Christmas bells? We were seriously thinking of shouting "Merry Christmas" beneath your window this morning, but the bells would drown us out . . . so we'll have to say it in print, where you'll see it! Here it is . . . MERRY CHRISTMAS!

AIR SCHOOL WILL OPEN NEXT MONTH

Second Semester Is Time Set
For Ground School
Aviation Class

Next semester, soon after Christmas, is the time set by Superintendent Russell H. Amerman for the probable opening of the ground school aviation course at Northville High School.

Mr. Amerman quoted a letter from Major Evans of Lansing to Donald E. Start of Northville concerning the course. Mr. Evans said that the hours of instruction were to be set at two three-hour periods or classes per week. This would not mean that the class would meet twice a week, but rather that two classes would each meet once a week.

Major Evans' letter told how the course was to be set up, and added that federal money was to pay the instructor. No charges will be made for students other than the textbooks they will use. The cost for these will total about $5.50 for the three of them.

No outside subjects, such as mathematics or science, will be compulsory for those who take the aviation course, but naturally students who have had some experience with these will perhaps comprehend quicker than those who have not. The course will handle the complete ground school curricula, consisting of some navigation, blind flying, and the handling of instruments. Major Evans stated that if any of the students, upon finishing the course, were interested in going further into real aviation, their completed work would have them prepared to enter into that line without taking any more ground school work.

Nineteen applications have already been made by boys and girls, men and women alike. As soon as a competent instructor has been found and present difficulties straightened out, the class will get underway.

KINDERGARTENERS BUSY PREPARING FOR XMAS

The kindergarteners, whose teacher is Miss Ann Richards, are busily preparing for Christmas. They have been working on gifts for their mothers, drawing Christmas pictures and learning songs appropriate for the season. They have been talking about Christmas caroling.

Friday, Dec. 20, the kindergarteners will have a Christmas party. They have drawn names and will exchange gifts. Their tree will be decorated with ornaments and decorations that they themselves made.

On Dec. 24, Charles Toussaint will have a birthday.

Grade Notes

The grade school building has a festive air about it, with all its Christmas decorations.

Each room will have a Christmas tree and a Christmas party on Friday, Dec. 20. The trees will be decorated by the decorations made by the children. At the parties the children will supply entertainment by giving plays and other appropriate selections for Christmas programs.

Mrs. Congo's third graders have made decorations for their room. This room won the statue for selling the most Christmas seals. The children sold over $10 worth.

Miss Jarvis' first graders made decorations and Christmas cards for their parents, and wrote greetings on their cards. Charles Freydi, of this room, celebrated his birthday on Dec. 12. Mrs. Freydi bought his cake to school and the whole room had a party.

Miss Leonard's second graders have a newly organized citizenship club which has its meetings on Fridays. They elect a president each month and a housekeeper weekly. At the last meeting they decided that they should improve on entering the building when coming in from play.

At the meeting the president showed pictures of what a good citizen should do. The president for this month is Charles Stanford.

The first graders made cards to send to Stella Ticas who is in the hospital.

The second graders made a Bethlehem scene on the first Christmas, including the background. They set the project on their library table. Miss Reng's second and third graders are making a study of Raphael's "St. Anne Madonna." They are also studying the life of the author. The pupils have individual pictures of

'ROUND THE SCHOOL

I heard Paul's call and here I am. It's been extra swellenant to not write the editorials for a week.

Thanks to Paul, he did such a good job of writing, this job ought to be handed down to him!

If I wrote a letter to Santa for the Northville high school students it would read something like this:

Dear Santa: Please leave Dick Ambler a basketball suit that would really fit him. Eddie would appreciate an assistant to help him with his many duties—really Santa, he will have to begin drinking Ovaltine if he keeps it. The football boys would like a book on "The Art of Skipping School," and maybe a second volume of "Easter Methods of Doing Make-up Work."

David Hay wants a new edition of Joe Miller's joke book, the one he has published in 1812, and David, or rather his victims think it jokes slightly old.

Bob Angove asks for a 200-page book on "How to Do Your Duty When You Meet Up With Detriment."

Please leave Paul Beard some pencils so he may write more of the editorials.

A book on "Paradise Lost" would help the English literature class. They think it's about as clear as mud.

We hear Jack Scberry wants to move to Melvindale—he just decided after the game Friday. We hear he made quite a hit over there. Quite a reception, eh Jack?

And now my neaties, I must say adieu—be good to Santa who leaves something in your stocking. Merry Christmas everybody.

Jane King would like a bigger stronger box to keep all the senior money in—ahem.

The choir wants a new piece—"St. Louis Blues" or "The Lady in Red" would do.

Scott Cole wishes a new tie pin—

the painting and have made art calendars for Christmas presents for their parents.

For decorations the second graders made bells, candies, trees, and stockings. They have also been reading Christmas stories.

Mrs. Clarke's fifth graders gave a program for geography in connection with their review study of the southern states. They made a collection of samples of products of the southern states. A play, written by Marilyn Gunzel, Beatrice Jackson and Shirley Mullen will be enacted. It is about farming in the south. The fifth graders made Christmas cards and decorations.

Miss Kregur's sixth graders received 18 new story books for their library.

The sixth graders are making a project showing the development and types of homes. For art work they made cross-cross patterns. The girls of this room are making presents for their mothers.

The sixth graders will give two plays for entertainment at their Christmas party Friday.

Mrs. Babbitt's fourth graders made stencil designs and transferred them to cloth. They colored and pressed them and made dolls for them for their mothers for gifts.

For their fathers they made match-scratches.

The first graders decorated the room for Christmas while Miss Atkinson was ill. This room will also use decorations for their tree that they made.

GRADE TEACHERS ATTEND LECTURE

Thursday afternoon, Dec. 12, four teachers of the grade school, the misses Selma Jarvis, Lula Reng, Edna Kreger and Ann Richards, attended a lecture given by the Classroom Teachers' Association of Highland Park. The lecturer was Dr. Frazier, president of Colorado State Normal college.

According to the teacher, Dr. Frazier gave a very interesting talk on "The Philosophy of Curriculum Building." He explained many new methods that are being tried out in the school under his supervision. Only socially significant subjects are taught. Foreign languages are not taught unless the student takes a language for about five years or until he can write, speak and read

SCHOOL CLOSES

School closes today it was announced, by R. H. Amerman for Christmas vacation.

JUNIOR PLAY TO BE GIVEN IN FEBRUARY

Production To Be Directed
By Miss Corrin; Carl
Arnold Has Lead

Carl Arnold has the lead, as Tom Arsdale, the title role; Scott Cole is his friend, Oke Stinson, who is decidedly no girl-shy; Peaches Carter is Oke's latest heart throb. Other parts are Dean Marlow, college dear; Birdie LaVerne, "professional cleaner"; Mr. Arsdale, Tom's father; Bob Semford, who cares Tom; Tom's Aunt Caroline; Sylvia when Tom's father wants him to marry; Chuck Mayo, Birdie's sweet heart; Alred, the class poet; and Asma, the colored "wash lady."

The production will be ably directed by Miss Corrin, who announced that practices will begin next Tuesday, Dec. 27.

CAFETERIA LUNCHES
ARE SERVED DAILY

The cafeteria under the direction of Mrs. Claude Zimmerman, dormitory science instructor, was opened to the students the first week in December.

Approximately 20 lunches are served daily to children and about 35 pay lunches are served. The P.T.A. is sponsoring the plan of serving lunches to three children in need, and this organization will take care of any deficit which may occur.

Twelve cents is the price of a lunch consisting of a hot dish, a sandwich, fruit, milk, Desserts are extra.

Mrs. Libster is in charge of the kitchen and the eighth grade girls are assisting by making sandwiches.

The Twin Cities Dairy gives the school all the skimmed milk they can use for cooking and Harry Kreger and Fred Eulko pick it up.
