VILLAGE COUNCIL AWARDS PWA RESERVOIR CONTRACT TO CULBERTSON COMPANY

Five Michigan Construction Companies
Submit Sealed Bids For Water
Improvement Project

LAND PURCHASE TO GO FORWARD

For the second time the contract for the PWA water reservoir has been granted by a unanimous vote of the members of the village council to the H. B. Culbertson company of Detroit. This action was taken by the councilmen who met in special session Tuesday evening.

The agreement, now pending the approval of the national PWA department, specified that the structure will be made of concrete and be equipped with a chlorinator, the cost in accordance with the original contract not to exceed $18,166.68. It further states that the reservoir must be completed by June 1.

Five sealed bids from Michigan construction companies were read publicly Monday evening in the Village Hall. L. H. Clark, a Detroit PWA representative, was present when the bids were read.

Herald F. Hamill, civil engineer, tabulated the estimates and found that the Culbertson company was the low bidder on the item to be constructed.

This same company was the low bidder on the contract accepted by the council Dec. 9, and rejected Dec. 22 when the government failed to approve the bid because the estimate exceeded the appropriation allowed.

According to Attorney P. J. Cochran a discharge of mortage on the reservoir land site has been made.

He said that the purchase of the land could now go forward.

Following is a tabulation of the bids received on estimates of the 12 items included in the original bid up.

CHURCH WORKERS ATTEND INSTITUTE

Two hundred church workers attended the county institute held Jan. 9 in the Methodist church. The program was promoted by the Ann Arbor district and included representatives from 19 churches in Wayne and Oakland counties.

One of the popular features of the session was the round table discussion conducted by the Rev. J. A. Hahnauer, district superintendent.

Highlights of the meeting were the addresses given by two noted missionaries, the Rev. Mark A. Dawson, secretary on the Methodist staff of the board of home missions and the Rev. Carl Christian Hermann, a missionary from the foreign field.

Dr. Herman based his address on stories and experiences he encountered while in India.

Dr. Hermann has been a missionary both in the Philippines Islands and in India. Before returning to the United States on January 1, 1935, he was serving in Aligarh, Northwest India, as superintendent of the important Aligarh District and as superintendent of the Boys' Industrial School, maintained in that city by the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Upon his return to India he will resume these duties.

According to a report received Thursday, Mr. North is somewhat better.

FAIR ASSOCIATION OFFICERS ELECTED PLANS MADE FOR 1936

The Northville Wayne County Fair association held its annual meeting Friday, Jan. 10 in the Village Hall. The following officers of the last year were re-elected: N. C. Schrader, president; Elmer L. Smith, vice-president; Fred W. Lyke, treasurer and Floyd A. Northrop, secretary-manager.

L. C. Stewart was elected a member of the Board of directors to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Marvin H. Sloan.

Elmer L. Smith, chairman of the fair acts committee, has announced that the free acts for the 1936 fair will be bought Jan. 23 at the meeting of the Michigan Association of Fairs in Detroit.

"We have closed a successful year," stated Floyd A. Northrop, "and are enthusiastic about the outlook for the 1936 fair. We spent a great deal of money this past year to make the fair the best possible and the board is planning to spend even more in 1936."

SEEK APPROVAL FOR INSTRUCTOR

Final plans for the aviation ground school, a PWA project, will not be completed until an instructor has been approved and certified according to the requirements of the district office in Detroit.

Superintendent R. H. Amerman stated that the application asked for classes to begin Jan. 27. On that date students and townpeople entering the course will meet at the high school and a definite schedule for the work will be set.

If approved it is expected for the project the course will extend over a 16 week period. The sessions will be held at night and will deal with the fundamental rules of flying as practiced by experienced aviators.

The Michigan board of aeronautics has highly recommended a local applicant for the class instructor.

WHAT ABOUT THIS HORSE-AND-Buggy CONSTITUTION?

"Here's fifty cents. You can go to the county fair with Jones and I'll be over this afternoon." That, in substance, was what my father said one Thursday morning many years ago. Thursday was supposed to be the best day at the Clinton county fair.

Well, we went with the neighbors. About the first thing that caught a small, green country kid's attention was a stand with a smooth-talking gent who urged us to take a chance—maybe win a gold watch for a dime. There was the watch amid a lot of other cheap jewelry on a bright red velvet background. We bit—and didn't get the watch.

Long before we reached the end of the gaudy midway, every penny of that fifty cents was gone. Out of it the only thing of any value was a nickel's worth of taffy. The taffy was good while it lasted, but it left our clothes and face in a mess. Now came and went. It was hot. We were hungry. The tantalizing smell of hot-dogs and hamburgers nearly drove us crazy.

Only the presence of a crowd of strange people kept us from giving up to our real feeling. The tears were smarting in our eyes and that terrible hungry ache in our stomach was getting worse and worse every minute. Finally, we found father. He didn't grin. He knew the story without us telling him. "Well son," he said in a kindly voice, "you might as well be in now as later that why you took your money away you suffer for it."

That last was his constitution. Fifty cents was a lot of money for a small kid to spend in a few minutes in those days—forty years ago. It was a great spree while it lasted. The midway folks saw to that. They, too, were out for a good time. They were looking for easy money. They got it, but we never knew of one who kept it. They mostly die broke.

This United States of America has a constitution. It contemplates that people will be free to work and earn, and save—and have the benefits of their labors. Frequently of late we have read about how the Supreme Court has caught up some of the free-spending boys down at Washington. They have spent all their money. What's more, they have been running the country into debt. They have collected processing taxes illegally to meet some of the spending bills.

Reference was made after one Supreme Court decision that we couldn't go back to "horse-and-buggy government. We are not sure just what was meant. If it was keeping the expenses within the income, we imagine we can do it and we'll have to do it—that, or go broke. Any fool can spend money.

When we read the Supreme Court decision we remembered what our dad told us forty years ago on the Clinton county fairgrounds.

MA! OH, MA! THE BREAD ISN'T SLICED

We read a little yarn the other day which related that the daughter was about to put bread on the table for the evening meal when she discovered an error on the grocer's part. She called out: "Ma! oh, Ma! The bread isn't sliced." The mother came out and verified this outrage and said: "Well, take it back. No—we'll have him come and get it."

Probably that was an exaggeration. And again, it may not be. We have known people who are about that helpless and about that unreasonable. We are being taught to expect about everything except a little personal exertion and initiative. Someone has said, "there are substitutes for nearly everything—except work and sleep." It seems that a great many substitutes for work have been introduced in recent years—so many in fact, that we have a dearth of jobs.

One of the current complaints from parents we have heard is the lack of skating and coasting facilities for children. True it is not hilly in and around St. Johns. Also, we have no river, lake or millpond. We'll grant that it is not as easy to slide down hill here as it is in Ionia. Yet, that doesn't tell the story.

North Oakland street has been blocked off for coasting for the last three weeks. We walk by that hill three or four times a day. During the vacation the largest number of kids we saw on this hill at one time did not exceed twenty. Then, about 900 in the town of hand-sled age. Thirty-five years ago we have seen the same number all back with the mowers and sleds.

Have we reached the age of decadence? Did the bread

HAUPTMANN A MAN OF NERVE

Continued interest in the pending execution of Bruno Hauptmann is kept alive by the man's iron nerve and his stubborn resistance to all suggestion of his guilt. In some sections of the east, particularly New Jersey—where the crime was committed, there is a belief in his innocence.

These crime theories are not strange. In a recent visit with a New Jersey publisher who lives but twenty miles from the scene of the crime, we were told that there were almost as many theories as there were people. One of these was that the Lindbergh child was an imbecile and his father hired him killed. Another was that Hauptmann was protecting the guilty person and would, at the last minute tell the truth.

The prominence of the crime and those involved are responsible for these morbid ideas of a great many people that, and the mystery of the whole affair. Hauptmann in the meantime, seems to be getting much more attention than he deserves. If he is not guilty, as he says, why does he not tell how he came into possession of the Lindbergh ransom money and why did he have it hidden?

NORTHVILLE'S YESTERDAYS

1 YEAR AGO

The Northville Masonic lodges practically completed plans for the reorganization of the 60th anniversary of the organization to "spare" Clegg of the M. & M. McGehee Co.

A number of cases of scat it has resulted in several homes being quarantined.

John McCutley is confined to his home as the result of a severe fall on the ice Tuesday evening. He was crossing the street at North Center and Dunlap streets, when he fell backwards, badly injuring his back.

10 YEARS AGO

After an illness of over a year, Mrs. George H. Capell passed away at her home on South Center street Dec. 27, 1925 at the age of 78 years.

Mrs. A. B. Clark, a pioneer resident of this community and one of Northville's most esteemed women, died at her home on Cedar street Wednesday morning after a brief illness.

L. L. Ball has taken a lease of the rooms over the John McCullough shoe store and the A. C. Balden market and is transferring them into a modern photographic studio.

Exchanges: N. C. Schrader, R. P. Brown, Paul R. Alexander and John R. Walker motored to Walled Lake Tuesday night to attend a dinner given by a company of business men and citizens of that section. The meeting was arranged for the purpose of considering the formation of an Exchange club and the gentlemen from Northville were invited to explain the benefits to be derived from such an organization.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Waggoner of Tonawanda, N. Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Galt Waggoner of Pontiac, were Sunday evening callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emery Van Valkenburgh. They are all neighbors of ours, years ago and the gathering proved a most enjoyable one.

15 YEARS AGO

The annual meeting and spread of Mizpah Circle, King's Daughters was held at the home of Mrs. Ed Sessions Tuesday. The officers elected for the ensuing year were:

President: Mrs. Ed. Sessions; vice president: Mrs. Lizzie Harger, secretary: Mrs. E. O. Hinckley; assistant secretary: Mrs. Leroy Stewart; treasurer: Mrs. Mae Noble.

Sparks from the chimney caused a fire at the home of William Foster at the corner of Linden and Dimick streets, Tuesday afternoon.

A misunderstanding of the location of the fire caused a delay in the arrival of the fire department, but the flames were soon extinguished when the fighters reached the scene.

ARGUMENT CAUSES RECORD FILE CHECK

By FRED WARNER NEAL

They got to talking the other day. "Ulls Tibonis and Clarence Cornell" did, about when that grandfather fire of Northville fires—the old Globe furniture conflagration of 1889—took place.

Clarence claimed it was on Sunday morning early before anybody was up. Ulls admitted it was early in the morning, but he said he knew it wasn't Sunday. It was later in the week. Both of 'em remembered the fire just like it was yesterday.

So they got to arguing and almost bet $5 on whether or not the old Globe factory burned down on Sunday or on a week day.

They came to the Record office, Ulls and Clarence did, to take a look at the files. That dusty tome of those last years of the gay nineties was hauled down for them laboriously, they went over it.

They knew it was in the spring, that it was the old timers still talk about, but they weren't sure whether it was '88 or '89.

Finally they found it and Clarence, looking sort of triumphant at Ulls, said: "Uh-huh! I thought so." Clarence was right, because under five sets of big two column headlines, The Record of May 5, 1889, declared that "Sunday's fire was the worst in the history of Northville."

"I know it all the time," Clarence said, "because I had been out to a dance the night before, and I slept so soundly that I never heard the fire engine. And was I mad when my dad didn't call me?"

And Ulls allowed it must have been another fire he was thinking of. Instead of that number, one Northville fire that started at 3 a.m. April 30, 1889, when lightning struck the old Globe factory and caused $80,000 worth of damages.

AS TO WHAT ARE SLUMS

H. W. KELLY in the Dearborn Press

The federal government recently offered to give Kansas City some $100,000 for a slum clearance project, but it looks as if the offer will be rejected as City Manager H. F. McElroy said that Kansas City has no slums and the head of the local real estate board declares there are more than 900 vacancies in homes which rent for $15 a month or less.

On the other side of the argument is A. F. Hutchins, chairman of a citizens' committee drawn up to sponsor slum clearance, and he asserts that Kansas City has fully 8,000 homes without modern plumbing, 6,600 without running water and at least 1,000 that are actually tenementary.

That's too bad, for them and for the college and the student body since them.

MERRIMENT AND MURDER

(The Christian Science Monitor) "This distinguished whisky adds a touch of soul-warming jollity to any occasion," it has announced, one of a flood of pre-Christmas advertisements expressing similar cheerful sentiments. "Make your Christmas merrier," was the general refrain chorused in the 1935 Holiday liquor advertising which brought in revenue to the majority of American newspapers and periodicals.

Of course there is another side to the picture. In how many homes have the conviviality induced by intoxicants and drunkenness, trifling children, and bringing misery to a sudden stop? Consider the family Christmas reunion dinner of a family in Haverford, Pa., which was changed in an instant from folly to tragedy when the mother was shot and killed at table.

She was the seventy-year-old housekeeper at Haverford College, and the murderer was an employee in the college kitchen who had been discharged for drinking.

A speaker at a wine and liquor convention in Chicago declared: "We should be proud of our industry... Train your publicity to catch the eye and develop the interest of the younger generation." How well the "trade" succeeds in developing the interest and promoting a "merrier Christmas" is attested in many tragedies less spectacular than that at Haverford.

But then, as another speaker at the Chicago liquor convention said: "Nothing counts like making a profit."

REDFORD BOWS TO VICTORIOUS N.H.S. SQUAD

Northville's Basket Ball Team Wins A Rough Game; Score 18-11

BY WILLIAM OWEN

Northville defeated the Redford Union Panthers in a rough and tumble squabble, 18 to 11, last Friday at the Roosevelt School in Redford.

Swinging into the game, with swift passes and faster fouls, Redford U. took the initiative in the first quarter when Bob Berry scored the first goal of the match. Westphal sent a pass to Lyke singing to Hochkins, who scored for Northville.

After many outside plays and unsuccessful foul shots, Delvalas and Buettner, closely following one another, flipped the ball into basket for four more R.U. counters. With excellent teamwork and a good basket eye, Tumbull pressed deep in the Panther's den and emerged with another goal. Redford U. sent in many substitutes just before the period ended with the Blue and Golds leading, 6 to 4.

Westphal's unerring eyes sent one of his arching long shots into the basket to open the second period of fast, fouling play. In spite of the frequency of the fouls, neither team seemed able to capitalize on the free throws. After a succession of swift relays, the ball was slammed into the hands of Tom Gregory who reached up the little distance remaining between him and the basket and tipped a score gently through the hoop. Perry, hot-headed Panther, fouled Westphal who was the first to sink one of the many free shots that had been made in the game. Again coming to the fore, Westphal sunk another long shot. Lindberg, Blue and Gold Panther, crashed Northville's defensive walls for a score and was shortly followed by the rest for the half with Northville leading 11 to 8.

The half had barely started before the game was turned into a collision again with four fouls being called. Delvalas of Redford U., making his free shot before Reisterer by this time was very disgusted and called a huddle in which he gave the team's proper dressing down. He started the game from center and it immediately went into fouls again with Nirdler making his shot for Northville. The quarter ended before any more damage could be done. The whole quarter had been a contest to see which team could foul the most and the only scores in the period were foul shots.

Seeming unable to get out of the trap, the fourth quarter was hardly begun before Stapp and Gregory committed a double foul. Neither one made his shot. On a nicely placed over-hand pass from Bishop, Gregory scored for Northville. Redford U. then fouled Northville twice with Northville immediately returning the compliment with two fouls on the Panthers. Buettner of R.U. was the only man to sink his free shot. Bishop fanned a long shot into the Panther's goal and when fouled Lindberg who scored a point for the Blue and Golds. Gregory came through to pick up the last two points of the game to give Northville the lead, 18 to 11, before the whistle sounded ending the game.

The lineup for Northville was as follows: Bishop, Turnbull, Gregory, Westphal, Hochkins. The starting lineup for Redford Union was: Perry, Weston, Buettner, Delvalas, and Fox. The substitutions for the two teams were: Northville-Lyke and Nirdler; Redford U.-Stapp, Fitzgerald, Morgan, Lindberg, and Rotoszinski.

WATSON SPEAKS

Hi-De my friends! Seeing as how new columns are quite in vogue, here's another new one. I overheard a bunch of the fellas talking about this and that, and one mentioned that this year old school of ours should start a cooking class for boys. Well maybe but some of the boys can already cook pretty well.

It seems that since Fran and June got their radios for Christmas, there have been many sleepless nights (not from coffee nerves either). But does anyone know where there are some good programs after 2:30 a.m.?

Can Tom Mc. ski? She did the most graceful flip at a snow party last Thursday night. You really should have seen it! Of course, it was all blamed on the snow not being good for skiing.

We've finally discovered why Chuck Bishop doesn't do any home work. He reads magazines. I won't say how late on account of Mr. Watts—but I know. How do you expect to be eligible, Chuck?

Leslie Pierpoint thinks he's getting thin, so he gets an excuse to go home fifteen minutes earlier at noon. Anything to lose weight. Isn't that right, Leslie?

Northville's Ralph Boyer makes a good one. He's a real sport. He

'ROUND THE SCHOOL

Have you heard? Have you seen? Do you know why? I'm talking about the posters the student council had to put up. I hope you got the hint. If your heads aren't bowed in shame they should be.

If you people will recall that in a recent editorial, it was mentioned that one of the biggest faults the school inspectors found about our school was the appearance and conduct. So you bright students of ours have to have warning put around to remind you how to act. Mr. Thompson has also put a notice on the bulletin board to the effect that pupils should watch how they pass through the halls and refrain from pushing, screaming, and other acts of former days.

Do you realize what an impression you must create to outsiders who visit school? Just imagine yourself as a visitor that has come to our school. What impression would you

SOCIETY

With all the snow and everything, Jean Anderson decided it would be an ideal time to give a sleigh-ride party. So, Wednesday night she invited Margaret Hein, Nancy McLoughlin, Mary Jane Eddings, Alice Eaton, Doris Teekbury, Betty Greer, Virginia Washburne, Lydia Davis and Leon White. After riding on the big bobs all over, they returned to Jean's house for a light lunch.

Norene Blake and Gordon Sanderson of Wayne, attended a dance Saturday in Ypsilanti.

Guess Isabelle Traskbury and Juanita Elkington were in Battle Creek Sunday. They're not sure whether they were there, themselves.

Before going to our basket ball game in Redford, Eleanor Hill had dinner with Nirdler at Mrs. Jane Gregory's home.

Roland Morris and June King celebrated (?) Sunday and made the rounds of four shows. Included in their rounds were the Michigan United Artists, Downtown and Fox Theaters. They dined at the Chinese Tea Gardens. Some fun!

FASHIONS OF THE WEEK

BY MAXINE PERKINS

Since this article has just started this week, I will begin by telling you that the fashions are taken from the senior assembly.

Because of the heavy snowfall last week, the style was, of course, the wearing of the high-top boots. Some of the students wearing them were: Tom and Pat McLoughlin, Betty Ann, Baldwin, Frances and Louise Alexander, Gwendolin Jones, Lois Chapman, Vivian Grosvenor and Mary Jane Gregory—not to mention all of the boys who did it because it's simply a habit with them.

There are other strange fashions such as wearing your outside sweater to your "Twinnie" set backwards, with the buttons or zipper in the backs; this one is quite popular now. Dropping the cloching styles, I will tell you about some of the new hair-dresses—beginning with Helen Winters. Did you notice that she had her hair cut short and wears it combed slightly back over the ears? It is quite becoming to you, Helen Juanita Stanford, we notice has her dark brown hair parted in the middle with a very nice wave. Again—to be stylish in your hair-dress—wear "combs" as Betty Haygood, Janet Stewart, Jean Saley, and Marjorie O'Neil are doing.

According to Miss Dorcas Corbin, director of the junior play, "Girl Spy," the final cast of characters have been named as follows:

R.U. GIRLS' TEAM TRIMS NORTHLVILLE

The Northville girls' basketball team met and were defeated by the Redford Union squad last Friday by the score of 17 to 10.

The local team, due to the first game, were nervous and really lost the game in the first half. When the girls emerged in the second half they earned the whole remaining game but were unable to bring the score up to win. The Redford Union team were playing a third game against Northville, had the advantage of experience. Northville came up so swiftly in the last half that the winner of the return game can not be predicted.

The Northville second team defeated the R.U. squad by a narrow margin and is very much elated over it. The team played an excellent game and some claim that the second team game was more interesting than the first team's game.

The starting lineup for the first team game was: Northville—Labbitt, Altman, Tewksbury, Haystead, McLoughlin and Elkington. The starting lineup for the P.U. was: Hegwood, Williams, Groves, Oakley, Olson and Estler.

TRENTON GAME
HERE TONIGHT

WILLIAM OWEN

The Northville high school basket ball squad will wind up the first half of the league season when it engages Trenton eagles at 7 p.m. in the Trenton Gym tonight.

The Northville team has thus far in the season made a record that looks rather well on paper. The local boys have scored 101 points, counting only 19 games, to their opponents 63. They have scored even with their adversaries upon successful foul shots each making 22. Coach Watts does not wish to reveal the high-point man until the season is finished because he does not wish to designate any one man as being the best player on the team.

The members of the squad are so close in individual scoring homes that the group can really be called equalized.

Trenton, a strong school well known for its fast and shifty team, has a very good team this year and will give Northville a close game. Trenton turns a larger squad in Northville. They are all-round players and are just as effective on offense as on defense. The warus are exceptionally fast.

The probable lineup for the game tonight at Trenton will be: George Westphal and James Hochkins at guard, Bruce Turnbull and Charles Bishop forward, and Tom Gregory at center.

CIVICS CLASSES VISIT
COUNTY COURTS, NEW FEDERAL BUILDING

On Wednesday morning Jan. 13, the senior civics classes, under the guidance of Mrs. Hawley C. Cobb, teacher of the class, went to Detroit to visit the county courts. The trip was arranged through the courtesy of E. W. Lester, chief court clerk.

The major believes that the majority of the student body does not know or understand what the student council is, or what duties it performs. He went on to say that the meetings are conducted in the regular order and many important things are discussed.

Essex stated that he believes students would kick the council more than they do if they would realize that it is up to the student council to pay for all athletic equipment—including paying for balls, suits, referees, etc. The council has also bought a printing press so school posters may be printed.

Tom McLoughlin, treasurer of the council, said that a few bills are due, including back bills that must be paid.

Frances Alexander, secretary of the council, keeps the minutes of the meetings and has them all up to date, in case anyone is interested in seeing them he may do so.

Paul B. Thompson, assistant principal, has sent away for some films so the council may put on picture shows to help earn money.

The student council, as a whole makes a plea to you to attend the games and other functions so that it may pay all debts.

THE TOIL WORM OF '35

BY DORIS GREEN

Of course we all remember the dear old graduates of 1935. Do you recall the ambitions that many had? Some wanted to enter college, and others wanted to just work.

Since we have told you what students are furthering their education in higher halls of learning in previous issues, let's glance around a bit and see which have entered the working classes.

Four girl graduates are employed in Northville offices—Viola Johnson at Dr. Brief's office; Frances Cousins at the Bell Telephone Company; Eleanor Booth at the Detroit Edison; and Catherine Bonaventura at the offices of the Drs. Sparling. Phyllis Flaherty has been employed by the Gussell Drug store for the past few weeks, mixing sodas and gossiping a bit.

Among the boys are David Martins, who is employed in a Plymouth factory; Jay Learmonth, a clerk at Kroger's local store; Henry Clark, who always did want to be a farmer—and a farmer he is; and last, but far, many before me have remarked, not least, comes Stanley Taylor, now employed at the Redford Teachers in Redford. He is still living his popular sales talk and continues to sell his products to the local inhabitants of Redford and
