SOME SIDE LIGHTS ON FLORIDA

Clearwater, Florida, March 12, 1936

"Sunny Florida!" — "Me Eye!"

We have just written that in a letter to our older children, back in Michigan, in an ungrateful expression of our disappointment at the kind of weather we have been having. Last week was cloudy most of the time and on March 5 there was a heavy rain. Then Sunday turned out well for the afternoon but toward night winds of gale-like intensity began to blow and as the palms bent before the storm, we really felt a little nervous as we thought of the possibilities of a hurricane.

The weather report for Monday was "fair" but we woke up to rain pouring down on the roof and all day the deluge continued. "Not so good" when you are here to sun yourself on the beach and get back health and strength. During the night we were awakened up by a severe electric storm which frightened some of the neighbors. Having lived through some wild Michigan "thunder storms" we were not worried. Then Tuesday morning skies were overcast and a stiff north-west wind was blowing off the Gulf. The gale by night in the heaviest surprise ever seen here and it gave us quite a thrill to walk along the beach to the roar of the breakers.

We had been told to show that Florida is not all paradise, although we have on the morning mail a letter from Miami which says that it is "marvelous" there. Maybe if we had a little "sun" here, no rains and nights, we should not be so critical. Yet, with all the clouds and rains, Clearwater really is remarkable. And Miami is so much more peaceful than March in Michigan that we should be very glad that we are here and we really are glad for the change to get out of the climate that will probably submerge us in the next few months.

After a start's "Garden at Upland, a fine city of 10,000, 10 miles from Los Angeles, we had often wondered how we should compare California with Florida. Now we have the chance, although still "under wraps" as we are on health and not pleasant business. So far we have played pretty close to our cottage and our immediate surroundings, and hence have seen only a very small part of the state.

Florida lacks the scenery that overawes you in California. And so far it seems to us that the flowers here are not as gorgeous and surpassingly beautiful as they are on the Pacific coast. Of course, we might change our mind after seeing more of the west coast and the east coast, which we have never seen. Miami, we suspect, with its overwhelming man-made surroundings, is really "marvelous." Sunday afternoon we drove through a part of Clearwater that is also "marvelous." It was a section of homes of very wealthy people and the residences and surroundings, with great trees and myriads of flowers, almost overwhelmed you with their beauty and charm. This part of town overlooks the bay.

Clearwater, with its 9,000 people, is a new and clean looking city. No smoke-grimed buildings here, in which respect it reminds you of California. The business section looks as fresh as a new blown daisy. We should guess that most of the buildings are now 15 years old. The coming of the tourists has put the city on the map and then, the development of this beach on Clearwater Island and the linking of the city and island by the two-mile causeway have opened up vast possibilities for the community as an attraction for winter tourists. Right now you can't rent a cottage on the whole island. St. Petersburg is quieter and its beaches are simply unbeatable. And here is bigger and more full of activities but Clearwater has some people call St. Petersburg the "old people's home" and think you must go to the east coast for your excitement. Well, it is good that we all have different tastes and that each place has its own peculiar charm. (Just met a Detroit tourist from Grosse Pointe who said to us: "Northville is a beautiful spot".)

Human nature is the same everywhere and we always get a lot of fun out of watching the people around us. Folks here in Florida are the "run of mine" the same as they are in Michigan. There is this exception: Here in this tourist land the people are pretty much elderly, at least three-fourths of them being in middle life and past. Last night the cottage was too cool for comfort so we went down town to get the evening meal—and to get warm. The restaurant was full yet we looked around and saw that Phil was the only child in that crowd of 75 or 300. On our little street we have a mother here from St. Louis, Mo., with her two children, who are here for the sunshine after a siege of illness. But children seem to be the exception among the tourists.

Human nature runs the gamut here from the ultra-wealthy at the 10-story Fort Harrison hotel (from one room of which $6,000 worth of jewelry was stolen one night last week) and the 400-room Belleview, Baltimore hotel at Belleair, just down the bay a couple of miles, to the democratic sort of folks who fill the tourist camp just half a mile from us. You would be amazed at this camp. There are automobiles, with their trailers, from scores of states; at the height of the season there are 1,500 people there. The rent is one dollar a week and the tourists have a real community life. Some of the trailers have about everything that a modern home has. The costs of spending a winter here in this camp are very reasonable.

Between the "ritz" hotels and the tourists camp there is another stratum of resorters. This is the apartment-living group. You find these apartments all around the town, near the bay and the best streets off at the side. Rents are from $25 a month up to $150 or even higher. Here on our island we have the big advantage of being near the beach—if you are down town you have to drive two miles across the causeway to get to the sands. Clearwater has about 14,000 visitors every season.

NORTHVILLE'S YESTERDAYS

1 YEAR AGO

The village purchased a new Ford dump truck this week to replace the worn out vehicle that has been in service for the last five years. On Saturday evening, March 23, the home of Mrs. Ethel Elliot on the Territorial road was the scene of a charming home wedding when Miss Iva Horstfall became the bride of Roy Sargent of Salem township. Proving that 83 years of age is not very old, Mrs. Sarah Leadwater surprised her friends by dancing the "heel-toe" polka and "schottische" with her brother, Wm. Cook, on her birthday, March 25, when her daughter, Mrs. Elmer Kater entertained a party of friends in her honor in their home on North Rogers street.

An over-heated furnace is believed to have been the cause of a fire at the home of Leo Lawrence on the Fisher road Monday afternoon. The house was so badly damaged that Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence were forced to vacate and are now at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Black, Mrs. Lawrence's parents on Cady street.

The proposition of bonding our school district for $55,000 for the erection of a new high school building carried by a majority of 65 votes Tuesday night. Of the 83 votes cast there were 79 males, 13 girls and one blank.

As an instance of the economy of no or truck transportation, as well as their value as an investment, the Globe Truck of 1930 registered in the manufacture by the Globe Truck Co. has been used during the latter part of the past year to haul loads of lumber to the Detroit School of the Holy Trinity.

Paul and Miss Louise Langford of Detroit, Jan. 1, March 7, 1935, and Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Hartman, Sunday, March 19, a fine party at the home of Mrs. Egan.

W. A. Fry has purchased the pool room on Center street of Robert Cameron.

In contrast to our neighboring village Plymouth Farmington, South Lyon and Milford all of which had warmly contested elections, Northville's was so quiet with its one ticket which everybody wanted, as to create not even a ripple on the placid surface of municipal politics. Out of a possible total of over 300 votes only sixty were cast, of which everybody received sixty. The village is offered for 1936 as follows: President, Frank S. Harmon; trustees, T. G. Richardson, A. K. Carpenter, A. H. Kohler; clerk, T. E. Murdoch; treasurer, L. W. Spilmorris; assessor, Merritt F. Stanley.

The many friends of Landlord Will Ely of the Park hotel are trying him to become the republican candidate for supervisor. Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Clark-nee Clara Johnson—left yesterday to take up their residence in their new home at Novi.

The names now in line for the town treasurer seem to be George Whipple, M. H. Sloan, Pat Johnson, and James Huff.

WHAT OTHER EDITORS ARE THINKING ABOUT

ITS BASE INGRATITUDE (Charlotte Republican)

There is a touch of pathos in Governor W. A. Comstock's statement that he has retired from all connections with the 1935 democratic campaign. He gives as his reason the federal patronage issue in which he claims that political promises have been broken and short time, and unknown prior to 1932, democrats have been given greater consideration than the members of the "old guard" with which group he aligns himself.

Thomas Edward Coon, who would have been one hundred years old had he lived until next August, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. G. P. Bissell of this village as the clock was striking the midnight hour Monday night.

The play given by the Epworth League last Friday night was a most delightful success. Miss June Franks and Ray Van Valkenburg sang solos and kindly responded to the hearty encore given.

The Northville High school basketball team with three substitutes and Coach Winn started on the 2:30 car Thursday for the tournament at Ypsilanti, where they defeated the Ypsilanti team with a score of 32 to 27. The Northville team was defeated by the Ypsilanti team by a score of 32 to 27.

fluence is so sorely needed, is a devastating, blast against democratic prospects in Michigan.

Years before some of the fellows who are now barking at the heels of Mr. Comstock and Horatio J. Abbott were known outside of their own precinct these faithful laborers in the vineyard of the Democratic party in Michigan were giving freely of their time and their money in an attempt to keep the "home fires" alive throughout the state. During the campaign of 1932 these trouble makers were carried into office in the Democratic landslide and now they have climbed into the driver's seat in the band wagon and during the campaign of next year will attempt to direct a democratic comeback throughout the state.

Without the services of these two men there will be but few faces at Lansing during the next two years.

CONGRATULATIONS! Ann Arbor Tribune—Post

President Charles Sink and his associates of the University school of music are again to be congratulated on their plans for presentation of another May music festival.

Work For The Fire Department

An up-to-date fire department has three duties. First, it should strive to prevent fire, through property inspections and by publicizing ways and means of removing the unnecessary and dangerously common hazards that are responsible for the great majority of blazes.

Second, it must fight fire once it has broken out—and to do this successfully it must be equipped with the best of apparatus, backed up by adequate water and alarm facilities, and it must have a trained and efficient personnel.

Third, it should carry on salvage work as a matter of regular routine, in order to save as much property as possible after fire has struck.

This last duty is the least known of the three. According to a survey made by the National Board of Fire Underwriters in May, 1935, effective and regular salvage work was being done by municipal fire departments in 121 cities, of which 12 maintained separate pieces of apparatus for salvage work. In addition, 126 cities had salvage appliances which were used to a more limited extent. These cities were largely in the higher-population brackets—but even small towns can, at little expense, bring salvage within the scope of fire department operations.

The consequences of fire are always bad—but salvage can mitigate them. Irreplaceable property can be at least partially saved and losses greatly reduced.

The three duties of fire departments are all essential—each fulfills a need vital to any community.

Christian Science Churches "Matter" will be the subject of the lesson series in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday March 22.

Among the Bible citations is the passage (Psalms 33:6): "By the word of the Lord were the heavens made; and all the host of them by the breath of his mouth. For he spake, and it was done; he commanded, and it stood fast."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 263): "The fading forms of matter, the mortal body and material earth, are the fleeting concepts of the human mind. They have their day before the permanent facts and their perception in Spirit appear."

Salem Federation Church At the 10:30 a.m. service, March 16, the Blue Bird girls will dedicate the new hymn books and present them to the attendance in this service to show the girls our appreciation of their gift. The pastor plans to bring a message on "The Gospel of the Crucifixion."

Bible school is at 11:45 a.m. "Jesus Teaches True Values" Luke 12: 22-34. Memory verse: "Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and His righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you." Matthew 6:33. Sunday Hymn Sing is at 7:30 p.m.

A cafeteria supper will be held in the church dining room, at 6 p.m. Thursday, March 19. Dr. Frederick Cowan of Ann Arbor will give an illustrated lecture following the supper.

Church of Our Lady of Victory Holy Communion day for the ladies next Sunday, March 22, at the 10 o'clock Mass.

Schedule for the week of March 22 is as follows: Mass—week days at 7:15, Saturday at 8:00, Sunday, 8:00 and 10:00. Evening Service—Monday and Friday at 7:30.

Confessions—Saturday from 4:00 to 5:00 and 7:30 to 9:00 p.m. Religion Class—Monday at 3:45 and 7:00 p.m. We consider such study paramount. "Seek ye therefore FIRST the kingdom of God and his justice, and all these things shall be added unto you. (what shall we eat, or what we shall drink, or wherewith we shall be clothed?)" These words are quoted from the Gospel of St. Matthew, 12: 29.

THE RECORD SHOPPER

There's a reason for knitters wanting to get back to the clicking of their needles. New summer patterns have just been released by SUGMA. The styles are delightfully youthful and have that extra smart something that has been lacking in most of the designs.

by Virginia G. Anderson

A one-piece dress with open-work interest at the neck and cap sleeves is pictured in a current pattern book for shopping or daytime drees. It may be made of nubby-knit in a bright new spring shade—amberine, tomato, indigo brown or eggshell. The approximate cost of the completed dress is only $5, and the stitch is easy enough for the inexperienced knitter.

A three-piece widebreak suit that may go in acrely for sports or just be colorfully gay on the sidelines is a popular pattern feature in crepe, gora. The low-cut jacket worn with a straight skirt and contrasting blouse with turn-over collar may become an attractive splash of color for any number of occasions. Lavin red, beige, grey or cruise blue are all warm colors which might well be used for this garment.

These patterns and the new pair shades are all being displayed this week in a village shop.

Workshop and Sunday School Sunday at 10 a.m.

ROUND THE SCHOOL

There is a time in every person's life when words fall on, and this is the time. Dear students: Have mercy on a poor defenseless soul whose brain (?) is weary of thought and whose mind registers zero. You see, my undulating readers, for night on to 30 long weeks I have had to think of some subject to write about that would interest you all, but alas! my ideas have ceased. In fact, I should say they really ceased last week, "cause" my editorial was so badly criticized that it had to be written over. This is just a bit of information that should be kept in secret, but never the less I'm not proud and it's pitifully true. So you see, last week was the start of my downfall. Even Napoleon had his downfall so there are hopes. All great persons do the same thing. Of course, I could write pages on the superb basketball team we have but that I have already done. There are various subjects like sportsman-ship, conduct in the halls, etc., but

NORTHVILLE SQUAD LOSES REGIONAL

(Continued from page one) Johnson took a beautiful shot from the middle of the floor. The team had a varied Essie Nirdner, forward into a playous state because he had practiced with three points in mind, one on a foul and the other on a "key" back hand shot directly beneath the basket. Roosevelt then took to the court and after four points in quick succession when they displayed a brand of passing that is typical of tournament play, pass Steere to squares with two points and then that stocky guard Joe Scribby, shot a pass, half the length of the floor to Johnson, who stood under the basket uncovered, and then practically dropped the ball through the nets. This completed Northville's scoring on a long looping shot from the outside of the foul line.

The teams left the floor with the score 16 to 10 in Roosevelt's favor. Half time found both the players and the fans in an excited and desperate state of mind. When the teams took the floors for the third quarter, the fans were loyal and their bolstering cheers led by Vivian Grossner and Helen Winters, was something for all the contestants to remember. The third quarter found two substitutions for Northville. Tiny Chuck Bishop was in at forward for Bruce Turnbull and Bob Lyke, another forward, was stepping in where Essie Nirdner left off. Neither were fortunate enough to score however. Both had opportunities but failed. Tom Gregory, who was substituted in the second quarter, sank his first shot when he took the ball out of mid-air, amidst a struggle that involved practically all of the contestants, and flipped the ball right through the nets.

Outside of this little scoring was done in the third quarter, it was the fourth and concluding quarter that brought the action. Thrills were aplenty, as the Orange and Black basketballers realized that the time was short and the opposition's lead rather large. The score going into the last quarter was 21 - 15, in favor of the Green. After Roosevelt High had annexed three more baskets, Lanky Cy Westphal made it 27 to 18 when he let a shot fly from the far side of the court and watched it loop through the rim. Bob Lyke then fouled Bill Brundage, but the shot fell short. Lyke then missed at an attempt to score, and in his anxiety to follow through fouled Joe Scribby who made his shot good. A breath-taking shot by Cy Westphal brought both cheers and groans from the audience as the ball nestled on the rim but refused to fall to the inside. Bruce Turnbull was then substituted for Lyke. Chuck Bishop had the ball long enough to take a shot from the side which overrode the back board for more groans from the fans. Gregory then over-guarded Joe Johnson who gracefully made his free throw good. A last desperate shot from the hands of Cy missed the rim and that concluded the ac-

ESSAY CONTEST ON LAWS OF TRAFFIC, SAFETY

The Automobile club of Michigan is sponsoring an essay contest open to any senior or junior high school pupil in Michigan. An essay, not exceeding 600 words, on the subject "WHY I SHOULD BE TAUGHT THE TRAFFIC LAWS SO THAT I MAY PROPERLY OPERATE A MOTOR VEHICLE AND HOW TO INTEREST THE LARGEST GROUP OF HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS IN THE STUDY OF SAFETY DRIVING."

The principal of each school selects two or more essays and sends them to the local manager of the Automobile club of Michigan who will choose the best two submitted, and send them to the Safety and Traffic Division of the club. The committee of judges shall judge as follows: (1) If the writer does not deviate from the subject presented, 50 points; (2) That the plan presented shall be logical and adaptable to present school conditions, 30 points; and (3) Brevity of treatment of each point, 20 points.

Following are the award: First Award, $15.00; second award, $10.00; third award, $10.00; 15 honor mentions, $2.00 each. Further information concerning the contest will be found posted on the bulletin board in the high school hall.

LAST YEAR'S TEAM CONGRATULATES THIS YEAR'S TEAM

Speaking in behalf of the members of last year's basketball team we wish to congratulate Coach Watts and his team for the splendid record they achieved during the past season. At the beginning of the season this year we thought the chances for the 1935-36 season were not so good, but Coach Watts brought his boys along rapidly, to be for the league championship and then to win the district tournament. We feel the students of N. H. S. should feel very proud of their team this year. In closing we would like to say that the sportsmanship of the Northville team, students and townspeople at the tournament games is a credit to our town. We hope that next year's team continues with the enviable record made by the teams in the past three years under coach Watts.

Inquiring Reporter

Question: When the noon basketball tournament ends what would you think of holding dances during that period? Keen Bolton: It might be a good idea, but I doubt if it would be much of a success. Margaret Garden: I think it is a very good idea if we can get the students to come. James Hochkins: I think it would be a good plan if the students would patronize it. Mary Hester Gow: It is a good undertaking but I don't think many people would be able to get back from lunch in time. But we could try and see how it would work out. Carl Arnold: It would be very practical, if it was backed by all the students. Nancy McLoughlin: It's a screwy plan!

KATHLEEN RINCK WINS HIGH HONOR IN PIANO RECITAL

Kathleen Rinck invited to play for Arthur Schnable Great Pianists. Because of the excellent playing of Beethoven's fourth piano concerto in G major in a recital held at the University of Michigan School of Music at Ann Arbor last Wednesday, Kathleen Rinck, a senior in Northville High school, has been invited by the University to play for Arthur Schnable, one of the world's greatest pianists and interpreters of Beethoven's music.

SENIOR CLASS PLANS FOR COMMENCEMENT

At the senior class meeting, called to order, Wednesday, March 11, by President Roland Morris, Sept. 11th Anniversary exercises of plans for commencement. The senior class met at a previous meeting and for the speaker type of program, Mr. Anderson pointed out in the honors that an activity program was a much more attractive, up to date, and better type of program than the ordinary paper type. It would also give the townspeople a better idea of what our school is like in fact. Mr. Anderson hoped that the seniors would reconsider and plan for an activity program. However, the type of program is up to the Board of Education to decide.

ATTENTION

Attention students: The Journalism class of N. H. S. is going to conduct a "Questionnaire" column. You, as students, should heartily support this brave attempt of the N. H. S. newspaper by writing a question upon a piece of paper and depositing it in a box which will be placed in the library. We, as writers in turn answer the question. The questions, together with the answers, will appear in the local paper each week. The Journalism staff would, however, at this time like to make an appeal. Please ask questions and deposit them within the small cardboard box. We reporters will answer the questions, but if you are compelled to write both questions and answers, I am sure our scribes should be increased. You, the students of N. H. S., can prevent this added expense to the school by aiding and abetting us in this great enterprise.

SOCIETY

Guess what? Some of our hard working teachers are blossoming out into society. Mrs. Cobb is entertaining at a "St. Patrick's" dinner tonight, that's Monday if you don't know. Her guests will be members of that bunch that go regularly to the concerts in Ann Arbor together, Miss Palmer, Mrs. Cook and Miss Jarvis. Tonight they will have the pleasure of listening to a famous violinist, Albert Spalding.

CAMPFIRE GIRLS COMPLETING RANKS

The two Northville Campfire groups, Waxata and Waxey's, are busy completing their ranks. The Waxey's group under the guidance of Mrs. Garret Berry is composed of girls in the junior high school. They are working on their Woodgatherer's rank. This is the first one in Campfire and must be completed before the girl has been in the group more than a year. Mrs. Berry expects that the majority of the girls will be awarded their ranks in May.

LIKE THE PLAYING OF THE IMMORTAL Paganini

COOKING, TOO, IS A FINE ART! At the Autumn Salon of 1927 of l'Institut de France, the art of cooking was officially recognized along with painting, literature and sculpture as one of the Fine Arts.

AND THE STRADIVARIUS OF COOK STOVES IS THE ELECTRIC RANGE!

NICOLIO PAGANINI, Italian virtuoso on the violin, whose flying fingers soared new heights as the master of difficult technical passages, was a modern composer extraordinaire. Born in Genua in 1781, he was giving concert recitals while a boy of eight. A few years later he was touring the world with his protean virtuosity. Legend has it that contemporary violinists, hearing the score of many of his compositions, were astounded at the difficulty of their execution, and declared it was physically impossible to play them. Paganini played them to a passionate and impressive style that proved his soul-out to transcend. He performed prodigious feats on the fourth string alone, and he never let force be so astounding that a Venetian amateur declared he had seen the devil assisting him.

GLASS TEAMS PLAY FOR INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL CUP

Northville's interclass teams opened up their tournament for the possession of the intramural cup Monday, when the juniors defeated the sophomores by the score of 19 to 10. The interclass squads will play each of the other four teams until they have been matched together twice. The games will be held at the noon-hour and after school. The referees will be chosen by Coach Watts, as he sees fit. The refs so far in the interclass practice games, have been George Westphal, Chuck Strutz, Fred Valkenberg and Bill Hanson.

THE OBSERVER

It is inevitable that we cannot allow another issue of this Orange and Black to pass without permitting persons to cast their eyes on the reported and unreported observations of one very dear to us Madam X may frequently be seen around the school. It is rumored, and perhaps if that is too vague a clue to picture back Tracy on, still runs out more. She very efficiently, runs the chess cafeteria and is the domestic science instructor. Besides these activities, she finds time to teach eighth grade English, seventh grade English and four sewing classes.
