WILLIS STARTS TUBERCULOSIS SCHOOL FIGHT

Tuberculin Tests Explained
To Students In Assembly
Held Tuesday

In presenting the first step in the local campaign to fight against tuberculosis among high school students, Dr. H. S. Willis, superintendent of the Maybury sanatorium, emphasized the fact that the tuberculin tests which are to be given in the schools of the state are not in anyway harmful, but that they are doing a great deal of good. He spoke Tuesday afternoon at an assembly meeting in the high school where he explained the purpose of the tests and the results expected from them.

Dr. Willis briefly pictured the history of the disease. He said that when the people lived as nomadic tribes, there was little tuberculosis. But with the coming of civilization it has increased. "Tuberculosis is said to be the price we pay for civilization," he commented.

"If the death rated, which was prevalent in 1900 had continued until 1936, there would be seven million more people who would have died from the disease. The death rate has declined noticeably since the campaign was started against it in 1904," he said.

"There are more than 600санаториумов in the United States where those afflicted with tuberculosis can be given proper treatment. It is possible now to detect the disease before a patient becomes ill. This diagnosis is done by skin tests," Dr. Willis explained.

When the tuberculin tests are given and a negative reaction is received, no further attention is given to the case. Persons showing a positive reaction are studied further to determine whether evidence of tuberculosis can be traced.

Dr. Willis stressed the point that a positive reaction does not necessarily mean that the disease has gained a foothold on the patient.

It merely means that the body is harboring a few tuberculous germs in the body.

Of the group of 250 students who listened to Dr. Willis, it is expected that 30 or 40 will react positively. Of this number, it may be found that two or three should take steps to conquer the disease. Such steps would be an advantage to the individual afflicted, the parents and the community.

This method of testing is a part of the scheme of the tuberculosis association to hunt out cases early, give them proper care and return them to society cured.

MOVING PICTURES SHOWN AT ROTARY

At the meeting of the Northville Rotary Club Tuesday noon the members and a number of guests were highly entertained by being shown moving pictures taken by Robert Amerman, brother of Superintendent R. H. Amerman, while on a tour of the southwest and west last summer. Views of the cliff dwellers' ruins in Arizona, the San Diego exposition, San Francisco and environs, Crater Lake, Oregon, Coos Bay, Yosemite Valley and the big tree country, Yellowstone National Park, ruins caused by the earthquake at Helena, Mont., were shown and Mr. Amerman gave a very interesting description of the country through which he made his journey. He has promised to return at some future date and tell the Rotarians about the ice caves in Arizona.

The second number of the Rotary News was enjoyed by the members and its editor and publisher were complimented upon its fine appearance.

The district convention will be held in London, Ont., May 10-12 and the Rev. Fr. Joseph G. Schuler, Chas. Schutze and John Lisenberger are members of the committee to arrange for the visit of the Northville delegation.

Plans are being perfected for the inter-city meeting to be held at Plymouth on Friday, April 24, and they are in charge of Charles Rogers, Russell Amerman, and D. B. Yerkes. The Rev. M. S. Rice will be the guest speaker. It will be ladies' night and a very enjoyable gathering is anticipated.

W. E. Forney, F. A. Northrop and R. H. Amerman were unanimously elected directors for the ensuing year. John Lisenberger was reelected treasurer of the club.

DETROITERS TO USE MEADOWBROOK GOLF COURSE IN TRIALS

For the second time the Meadowbrook Country club will be the course used for the qualifying rounds preceding the 1936 National Open golf championship. This course was first used by Detroiters in the elimination trials in 1934. The trials were shifted that year from Oakland Hills and the Country Club of Detroit because of the dryness of Meadowbrook in the early spring. The play-offs were held last year at the Country Club.

SENIORS TO APPEAR TONIGHT IN SECOND PLAY PERFORMANCE

BY NANCY MC LAUGHLIN

Tonight, at 8 o'clock in the high school auditorium, the seniors will present for the second time, their play offering of the year, "Little Miss Fortune." Last night the first cast put on the comedy to a pleased audience. The two groups of players appeared Tuesday and Wednesday nights at the Maybury and Eastlawn sanatoriums.

The comedy, which is by Charles George, concerns the story of the Cooper family of three, Mrs. Cooper, her lovely daughter Katherine and her young son Bill. Mrs. Cooper and Katherine are found to make candy, which they sell to Kitty's social minded "boy friend," Jerry Patrick. Suddenly Katherine and her mother inherit some money.

"According to Orlon G. Owen '75, he has netted from the amateur and amateur shows given early this spring. "I expect to take in over $200 with the boxing bouts," he said.

Although nothing definite has been received from the WPA office in Lansing concerning the Scout building petition, all indications given out at the Detroit office this week gave promise that the grant would be given final approval within a short time.

The five petition asking for $4,500 of government money to be used in completing the foundation and the school rooms was placed before the board three weeks ago. If the request is granted, it is understood that $1,500 will be raised locally. None of the funds from the government will have to be paid back.

In order that local promoters of the project may be assured that the plans will be carried out in the original manner, a supervisor will be appointed here to have full control of the construction.

Mr. Owen said this week that after the building was completed, it would take $500 to equip the place. He plans to buy fencing equipment, tools, sabers and masks, boxing gloves, wrestling mats, a take-down boxing and wrestling ring, carpenter shop, boys' library and hardware.

The first floor will be the meeting hall, library and township offices. The basement will be used for recreation and be equipped with show-

On Tuesday evening next Northville Commandery Knights Templar will elect officers for the ensuing year and all members are urged to be present.

Villagers Leave Business Houses To Hunt Run-away Cavell Monkey

Charles, the monkey, a pet of Dr. C. B. Cavell's household, had villagers hunting him as he climbed lamp posts, car tops and front porches last Thursday and Friday. Charles ran away from home Friday night; was gone all night; returned unconquered and of his own accord Friday noon.

Munro "Pussie" Weston coaxed the chattering monkey to his shoulder Thursday evening by giving him an apple. Just as "Pussie" was ready to step into a car, the monkey jumped down and went his way about town. Thursday was Charles' night out but early Friday morning the hunt was resumed. From a perch on the Edward L. Farmar porch roof Friday morning, villagers eyed Charles as they came for their mail. Some of them considered climbing the porch and making a spectacular return of the lost, but thought of the tresses in their trousers and went about their business.

Sam Pickard made his way down the street, paused to watch Charles play in the Farmar window, then remarked, "Well, it's a good advertisement for Dr. Cavell. Every one sure knows he has a monkey."

Plans are being perfected for the inter-city meeting to be held at Plymouth on Friday, April 24, and they are in charge of Charles Rogers, Russell Amerman, and D. B. Yerkes. The Rev. M. S. Rice will be the guest speaker. It will be ladies' night and a very enjoyable gathering is anticipated.

W. E. Forney, F. A. Northrop and R. H. Amerman were unanimously elected directors for the ensuing year. John Lisenberger was reelected treasurer of the club.

PROTESTANT CHURCHES UNITE FOR HOLY WEEK OBSERVANCE SERVICE

Impressive Catholic Ceremonies Include
Palm Sunday and Reading the 14
Stations of the Cross; Friday

ALL STORES TO CLOSE GOOD FRIDAY

In order that the joys and sorrows of Holy Week may be understood, Northville churches have announced appropriate services which will be held throughout the week, beginning with special observance on Palm Sunday.

Three of the protestant churches, the Methodist, Presbyterian and Baptist, are holding a series of union meetings during Passion week. The first such service will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Baptist church. The Rev. K. S. North will have charge of the worship hour.

Tuesday evening the Presbyterian church will be the hosts and the Rev. H. G. Whitfield will give the lesson sermon.

The Wednesday evening service will be held at the Methodist church with the Rev. H. J. Lord delivering the message.

These three churches will hold communion services individually Thursday evening.

The week day services will be climaxed with the Good Friday observances which are to be held from 1:30 to 3 p.m. in the Methodist church, with the sermon by the host minister. The Presbyterian and Methodist choirs with more than 50 fifty voices, under the direction of Leslie G. Lee, will sing Stainer's "Crucifixion." Scripture readings from the garden, trial and crucifixion scenes will be read. All business hours in the village will be closed during the hours of this service.

It is customary that the offerings taken at this service be used by the King's Daughters.

A series of pre-Easter messages have been given all through Lent at the Lutheran church by the pastor, the Rev. L. C. Eckstaedt. On Palm Sunday his sermon topic will be, "I am the Vine. Ye are the Branches." "I am the Resurrection and the Life," will be his subject for Easter morning.

The two outstanding ceremonies during the week at the Catholic church will be held on Palm Sunday, when the palms will be blessed at the 8 a.m. Mass and distributed at both Masses and Good Friday's service which begins at 12:30 p.m.

This is one of the most impressive services of the Easter session—the closing ceremony will be the reading of the Stations of the Cross by Dorothy Frank, Miss Nightingale, Irene Modus; Jerry Patrick, Herman Toussaint; Augusta Smythe, the town sib, snatches him from Kit. Toiven things up Lily Henshaw, the tail-teasing brat and bane of everyone's existence, and Bill, Kit's brother, keeps popping up with embarrassing bits of news. In the midst of these affairs comes word that the Coopers did not inherit that money, it was a mistake.

How Kitty, aided and abetted by Lily and Augusta wins both Randy and security, is told in an enter-ting way.

Wednesday night at the Eastlawn Sanatorium and last night at the school the following cast appeared.

Kitty Cooper; Evelyn Ambler; Randolph Blaney, Jack Jundt; Mrs. Cooper; Thyrza Lester; Lily Henshaw; Dorothy Frank; Miss Nightingale; Irene Modus; Jerry Patrick; Herman Toussaint; Augusta Smythe; June King; Bill Cooper; Ralph Bochart; Calvin Proctor; Edwin Hill; Mrs. Reeves; Dorothy Vroman; Mrs. Burley; Gilberta Osborne.

Tuesday night, at the Maybury Sanatorium and appearing tonight at the school, is the following cast: Mrs. Day, W. Lansing, 129 W. Main; Cooper, Frances McLoughlin; Death came to Mrs. Schoolman; Randolph Blaney; Charles following a brief illness of pneumonia.

Mrs. Herman Schoultz, 22, died March 22, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Day, W. Lansing, 129 W. Main.

Kitty Cooper, Frances McLoughlin; Death came to Mrs. Schoolman; Randolph Blaney; Charles following a brief illness of pneumonia.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Anna Lansing. A son, Herman, preceded her in death eight years ago; another son, Barney, died two years ago. Her husband died in 1911.

A prayer service was held Monday afternoon at the Lansing home with the funeral being read from the German church at Farmington.

Burial was made at Clarenceville.

EXTENSION CLASS DRESSES ARE READY FOR JUDGING

At the meeting of the home economics extension class last Monday in the high school, work was continued on the cotton dresses. Some of the members of the class have these garments completed.

Slip patterns were studied and instruction given for Bermuda fashioning.

Miss Emma DuBord, Wayne county home demonstration agent, will be present at the April 20 meeting. Visitors may attend this meeting and witness the final judging of the dresses which members have made during the year.

MISS BALDWIN HONORED

Miss Ruth Mary Baldwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Baldwin, was chosen Miss Briton campus queen for 1936 at the Varsity Club Ball, Saturday night. Miss Baldwin is a member of the Delta Gamma Society and is a junior at the college.

Plans are being perfected for the inter-city meeting to be held at Plymouth on Friday, April 24, and they are in charge of Charles Rogers, Russell Amerman, and D. B. Yerkes. The Rev. M. S. Rice will be the guest speaker. It will be ladies' night and a very enjoyable gathering is anticipated.

STILL MORE FLORIDA SIDE-LIGHTS

Clearwater, Florida,

March 27, 1936

Our month's stay in Florida nears its end. Monday we turn the family chariot northward. We have just asked the "three-A" to route us home via Clermont where we shall call on our good friends, T. G. Richardson and Fred P. Simmons. From there we go to St. Augustine, the oldest town in the United States, and then head for Atlanta and the North. We shall jog along leisurely and may be home in time to vote at the Northville township election.

We heard first of the sudden death of Bruno Freydl in a letter from the Rev. Harold G. Whitfield. The passing of this loyal Northville business man brought sincere grief to us for he had been a good friend—and life holds nothing finer than that. The first day we were downtown in Northville after our hospital seige, we met Mr. Freydl and he was especially kindly in his greeting to us. We thought that The Record paid a fitting tribute to this civic and business leader. What a treacherous enemy pneumonia! And how many men and women succumb to it when in their fifties and sixties. People who come to Florida for a few weeks to get away from the northern winters may easily add years to their lives.

In spite of unexpected cool and cloudy weather, with more rain than for many years, the writer is grateful to Florida. Our month here, out in the sunshine and wind, has put us out of the invalid list. We have added some pounds and some sunburn to our skinny frame and feel that we are getting back some of the old-time "vigor." So it is with genuine joy and anticipation that we are looking forward to getting back to the editorial desk at 120 North Center street, Northville, Mich.

After all, the smallest and finest spot in all the world, is not like home. For nothing takes the place of friends, no matter how picture your surroundings. We go down town every day for our meal and on other errands but we confess that it makes one a little homesick to pass hundreds of people on the streets and not know one of them. The tourists are, in general, people in or above middle life, and most of them have the air of having made a success of life. Naturally, they are a clannish lot and not interested in going out of their way to meet new people. We have had, however, some good visits on the shuffleboard court and with the neighbors near us. Then the post office people have been very kind. Yesterday one of them told Mr. Baldwin that we had been their best "General Delivery" customer. Home folks have been liberal with mail.

Had a hair cut yesterday at the hands of a barber who lived several years at Charlevoix, Mich. Charge: 6 cents but we gave him tip to the porter who merely brushed our hat and coat.

We have found some very fine friends from Gross Pointe and Mackinaw City, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Volkman. They spend their summers at the latter Michigan resort city. Last week Mr. Volkman and Phil and the writer went to Clearwater beach park to see the Detroit Tigers, walloping the Brooklyn Dodgers, 10-1. And to demonstrate again that the world is small, the man next to us was from Ionia, Michigan and knew very well our good friends, Howard C. Lawrence and Editor Fred D. Keister. The tourist in front of us was from Northern Virginia. The Tigers looked good to us. Pitchers Vic Sorrell and Phillips were in mid-season form if seemed. And First Baseman York was hitting the ball all over the lot. Phil brought along his camera and took pictures of some of the Detroit notables. The grand stand was nearly deserted as most of the fans preferred the warmer bleachers, even if it was necessary for comfort to wear dark glasses.

Tuesday we drove over to St. Petersburg just to catch the spirit of this unique city. Friends we went to see were not home so we spent an hour and a half roaming around the business section and down to the pier.

There is only one "St. Pete." It is the city of "green benches," of curbs that have approaches built for the use of wheel chairs; of hosts of elderly people who are filling up the sunset days of life in a care-free and happy way, in a land of sunshine and dedicated to the play spirit. It is the city of parks, of shuffleboard courts where the most humble can be king; of many hotels and apartments; of many kinds of stores and cigar shops where the thousands of visitors can "window shop" to their heart's content.

It is the city where on Sunday the visitors pack the streets, even though one wonders how much church work they do at home. It is the city where the post office is the first in the world to put the patrons' boxes inside the call windows on the outside of the building. (If you have your own mail box, you don't even go into the building just step over and unlock the box—"pretty nif-

It is the city where this year all records have been broken for the coming of winter tourists. As we write this the Chamber of Commerce registrations were 55,128 for this season—this is about 13,000 more people than make their home in the city the year round. "St. Pete" is the city where there is a cafeteria or lunch room every other door, figuratively speaking, and where you can actually get a breakfast for 15 cents—and they do say that some of these tourists count their pennies. It is the city where two major leagues have their spring training camps. It is the city where fishing is right at your elbows; it is also the place where you can hear a band concert every day or go to some worth while tourists' program.

We rather resent the slogan that some one has given St. Petersburg: "The city of the living dead." That is a cruel and unfair expression. True, there are old people here by the hundreds and thousands and why shouldn't there be? We aren't yet ready to chloroform our elderly folks, are we? We know of no other place where old folks get any more "kick" out of life than right here in this unique city where it is fun to grow old. And if you go to the shuffleboard courts you will see that some of these 75-year-old men and women can pack an awful wallop into their shot. While the old are here, so also are many of the youngsters and the middle aged people. We read two St. Pete papers almost daily and have been amazed at the number of distinguished people who come here. This morning, the Michigan new registrations numbered 25.

Returning to the walk we had: Plenty of folks in St. Petersburg play the slot machines which seem to have a strange hold on the whole state. We saw one pathetic sight. An old man of nearly 80 kept feeding nickels into the maw of the "one armed bandit" and got nothing back. For the 20th time or so his hand shot down into his pocket. It brought up a quarter, we saw, but the nickels were all gone. The old man, with a look of beaten despair, turned our way and saying, "Well, I'm quitting," sought refuge on a nearby green bench. (You can't dodge the green benches.) We felt like saying: "You old fool." We could have said, "You young fool," for at the next machine in the line stood a young, well dressed woman feeding in the nickels.

Yes, St. Petersburg is a most remarkable city. "The Sunshine City" has a lot to offer to the winter visitor and if you don't think so, just drop around next February and see. Fifty-five thousand people can't all be wrong.

The exodus north is on. This morning our good neighbors from Kingston, N. Y., started for home. True, some of the folks from New England will linger longer because of the floods. How fortunate is Northville in that it has no flood peril, no hurricane menace, no dust storm terror! Yes, sir, a wonderful place in which to live. "Forward with Northville!"

Rev. Fr. Joseph G. Schuler Explains Ceremonies Held During Holy Week

BY REV. FR. JOSEPH G. SCHULER | On this day the "mandatum" or precept of the church is given: "You ought to wash one another's feet." It is observed in Catholic countries.

They are all symbolic of the events in the life of Christ, especially of His death and resurrection. These suggestions are submitted to those many who have asked concerning their meaning.

Locally the hour for these services is at 8 a.m. Thursday; at 12:30 p.m. Good Friday; and at 8 a.m. Saturday. Anybody interested is welcome to attend.

To the Good Friday service will be added an appropriate sermon and the Stations of the Cross. Fourteen people will be asked to assist in the reading of the Stations' ceremony.

HOLY THURSDAY

Holy Thursday is the anniversary of the institution of the Sacrament of the Eucharist, but it is also the eve of Good Friday, so it has a joyful and a sorrowful aspect which are indicated in the liturgy. Up to and including the Gloria, the note of joy is evident. During the Gloria the triumphant peals of the organ and the ringing of many bells express the great joy of the church over the institution of this great sacrament. Then the organ and bell suddenly are silent and the sadness of the night and the sorrow are emphasized for the rest of the service and until the "Gloria of the Mass on Holy Saturday."

A Second Host is consecrated at this Mass to be consumed on Good Friday. It is carried after Mass in solemn procession to the altar of the repository where it is surrounded by lights and flowers and to which the faithful come to adore.

Then to emphasize the desolation which the Church feels over the sad events of the Passion, the altars symbol of the body of Christ are stripped of their linens in accordance with the prophecy concerning the Lord: "They have parted my garments, among them, and upon my vesture they have cast lots." It is called Maundy Thursday, for "Father" is said, and one more prayer, after which the celebrant receives Holy Communion. The choice is purified, the service ceases and all return to the sacristy.

HOLY SATURDAY

Originally the numerous ceremonies of Holy Saturday took place on Holy Saturday evening, the night

Easter and the Mass of Holy Saturday itself was said at midnight of Holy Saturday. But as the centuries passed the Church anticipated the joys of Easter earlier and earlier until now these ceremonies and the joyful Mass of Holy Saturday take place Holy Saturday morning instead of Holy Saturday night. According to this word of early anticipation, the canon law causes the Lenten fast and abstinence to close Holy Saturday noon.

In the Holy Saturday liturgy we have the blessing of the reservoir and of the Paschal candle, the resurrection of our Lord's Resurrection, the triumph of the twelve prophecies, the blessing of the baptismal water, the washing of the hands and the feet.

The Paschal candle is blessed at the door as are also the five grains of incense to be placed in the Paschal candle. This new fire is brought into the Church and the triple candle is lighted, one branch at a time, the dead including three times taken Christ's "light of Christ" each time in a larger zone.

Next the "Exsultet," a most beautiful chant, is sung, during which the Paschal candle is blessed, and the five grains of incense, contained in five red wax sticks are placed in the Paschal candle, these symbolizing the five wounds in our Lord's glorified body. While the "Exsultet" is still being sung, the Paschal candle and sanctuary lights are lighted from the light of the triple candle.

After this the twelve prophecies are read and corresponding prayers are said.

Then the Easter water is blessed and the people are sprinkled with it and some is later taken by the people to bless their homes.

A portion of the Easter water is further blessed by plunging the Paschal candle into it three times. Then it is consecrated by pouring into the oil of Catechumens and Chrism, and this water is used as baptismal water. A special preface and appropriate prayers accompany the different ceremonies.

Then the litanies are chanted and this is followed by the Mass which takes on a joyful tone—the "Gloria" is again sung, the organ is played, the bells are rung, the "Alleluia" is heard again, and the statues and pictures are unveiled and thus Holy Church, after exhorting her children to sorrow and penance for their sins throughout Lent and especially on Good Friday now inspires them to rejoice and to give on Easter Day for our Saviour has risen from the dead to do no more.

NEED PARK FEES

TO PAY FOR COST

Hearing that Michigan's state park system might be crippled this year due to insufficient funds, many interested persons have been urging the Department of Conservation to charge the visitors and campers a fee for use of the parks.

The Department of Conservation has no authority to do that, said P.J. Hoffmaster, director. Before such a charge could be imposed the state legislature would have to change the park laws to empower the Department to charge a fee.

FIRE DOES SLIGHT DAMAGE AT WALLACE E. ROSS HOME

Reinforcements from Michigan

Flood waters rage . . . dams break . . . water stands ten feet deep in the business section of a great city.

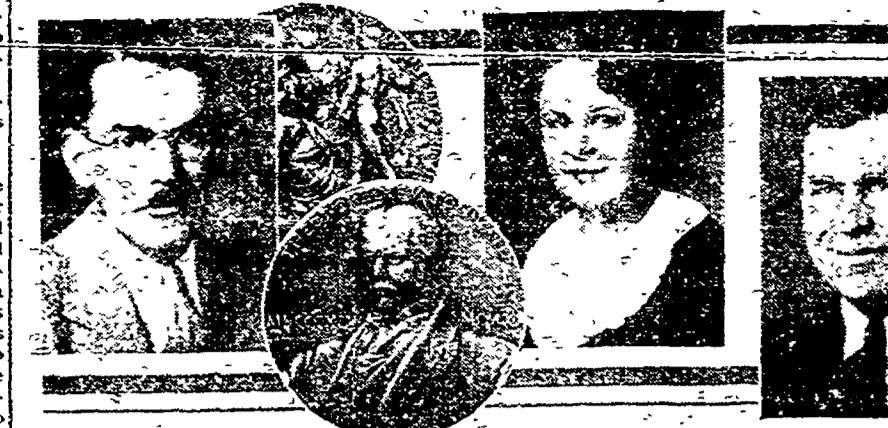

Local telephone circuits are flooded and temporarily damaged. The Bell System mobilizes. From neighboring companies—including Michigan—come squads of trained and tested telephone men. The Bell expeditionary forces land—and in a short time they are able to echo that famed message of the Marines: "The situation is well in hand."

Only one thing made this possible. That is the fact that Bell System practices and equipment are standard the country over. Consequently, when the Bell System mobilizes in an emergency, it is not necessary for reinforcements from other companies to ask: "What kind of equipment is it?" They merely say: "Where is it?" and go quietly and efficiently to work on familiar ground. This is true in

THIS WEEK

By H. H. WHITE

While we naturally grow older as we live it does not mean that we grow up in all the phases that go to make our character and personality.

If this be so then the most critical phase of our life comes during the time from childhood to adulthood for we have the ever present condition whether the habits of our youth will be transferred to our later life.

Human character and the development of it is at best a complicated affair. This is manifested before our eyes constantly as young come in contact with people of all ages.

Most of us have known people who were mature in some respects and yet were utterly childish in other phases of their development of character and personality. Great executives are sometimes shrewd and clever in their respective fields.

It is not unusual to find a man and yet almost puerile in the conduct of their personal lives and contacts.

We are told, and it is true, that we often form habits in early life which later in life form us. There is no doubt that the successful transition to growth and maturity depends largely upon the ability to break up certain habits which are formed early in life.

This seems to be the essence of education from a broad standpoint and one becomes a lost soul if he has not acquired the characteristics of an adult in his development and growth.

It is not unusual to find a man

and yet almost puerile in the conduct of their personal lives and contacts.

BONDED LABEL PLAN PROJECTS GROWERS

The "bonded label plan" for advertising apples and other fruits which is being inaugurated in Michigan by the State Department of Agriculture is hailed by Dean Halliday as an idea with remarkable possibilities.

The scheme involves the issuance of grade labels to all growers registered under the plan, who have paid the $1 registration fee and posted a bond of $500. These labels which are to be affixed to the shipping containers, certify that the grower posted bond "as a guarantee of good faith that the contents of this container were in compliance with all Michigan grading requirements when sealed." Each label has printed on it the name and address of the grower and the promise that the grower will "indemnify the purchaser of this package for loss should Michigan inspection prove the grade to be poorer than the grade declared." The Commissioner of Agriculture has the right to suspend or annul the privilege of using the label, Mr. Halliday points out in his article wherever sufficient evidence is discovered that the grower has failed to comply with the representations on the label and the agreements made with the Department of Agriculture. The grower must also agree to surrender all unused labels should his right to use them be suspended or annulled.

G. J. Fisher of the State Conservation commission, was a guest of the Northville Exchange club Wednesday. He gave a very interesting address in which he reviewed briefly the greatly discussed deer situation in Michigan. He took issue with those who claimed there were too many deer in Michigan, though he did claim there were too many animals in some areas and that condition caused many deaths among the fawns this past winter. Deer cannot exist on hay, though some may be kept alive over extended periods by feeding alfalfa hay.

He showed a number of moving pictures of fish taken by Walter Hastings, who is well known to many Northville people, being a former resident of South Lyon. The pictures presented made some of the members long for a few days at some of their familiar haunts in northern Michigan.

Next Wednesday members of the Northville club will join with Farmington Exchanges, in their meeting.

BANK CHARTERING POLICY REVIEWED

State Official Declares Sound Principles in Licensing Banks Are Essential

PHILADELPHIA—Sound public policy in chartering banks was discussed by Carl R. Gobbers, Comptroller of Banking and Insurance of the State of New Jersey, before the Eastern Conference on Banking Service, held here recently under the auspices of the American Bankers Association. He declared that "few questions bearing on the future stability and security of our banking systems loom as more important than that of sound policy to be pursued in bank chartering."

Addressing 600 delegates of both state and national banking authorities to charter the Post Banks in the past, he said that the country was over-banked, and that aside from any other consideration economic or otherwise, this condition was brought about largely through an era of unsafe and unthinking charter policy emanating between the state and national systems, which has marred and impeded banking progress in his capacity since its very inception.

Political Influence

He decried political considerations in connection with the chartering of banks saying, "Political influence has no more place in banking than it has in the deliberations of our highest tribunal." The Supreme Court of the United States until this is recognized and brought into being within both our state and national systems, we may never see safe against the shifting sands of political expedient and law."

As to the "elements of concrete, rigid and competitive" between existing between the state and national systems, he said that much may be said in favor of the preferred plan. In recent years it has been stated there exists a trend toward the agreement between the licensing authorities of all the states, whereby a uniform charting application is mutually on file as a sign of commercial credit, rather than competing acts of individual states.

"I hold the original grant by which the United States Government first granted this land to us," said Mr. Gobbers, referring to the "Shawnee Indians" of the Chippewa tribe on Oct. 10, 1842. Mr. Gobbers wrote to the American Agricultural Chem-

And 65 Bu. Per Acre of Seed Corn Means Profit
On Land He Once Owned.

Walter C. Gremel of Sibley, Mich., and part of his 65 bushel per acre corn crop produced last year.

THE farm owned by Walter C. Gremel of Sibley, Huron County, Mich., has been cultivated continuously since 1852, ever since his grandfather of the present owner bought it from the Indian Shawnee Indians, the Chippewa equivalent for "Green Bird." In spite of the nearly four years of uninterrupted cropping, Mr. Gremel's farm produced a crop of 65 bushels per acre of excellent quality seed corn last season. A careful soil building program, with AA Quality fertilizer is the secret of his success.

"Such a long period of farming necessitates returning plant food to the soil. We have been doing this regularly, and for the past thirty-five years AA Quality fertilizers have been used on this farm. It now produces better than in the older days."

"My father specialized in seed corn, and I have continued this successfully. This year I had 65 bushels per acre of seed corn which paid me approximately 50 cents per bushel over the going price."

MUSIC DEPARTMENT
PRESENTS NAUTICAL
OPERA HERE SOON

The persons of Northville and vicinity are soon to become acquainted with another of the Northville's music department masterpieces. It is to be in the form of an opera and is to be presented at a near date. The opera is entitled, "H.M.S. Pinafore," or the Lass Who Loved a Sailor, but is more commonly known in the former role. The opera is one of the famous scores of the equally famous composers Gilbert and Sullivan. It has found fame and wide acclaim and remains as one of the best light operas and has proved very popular. This opera will be hard to execute but Leslie G. Lee, music director, is confident of a good show.

The scene takes place on the quarterdeck of the good ship H.M.S. "Pinafore" amid rope riggings and sails. As if on a boat, there will be a rail crew and passenger quarters with ropes and tackle lying about through the rails and extending into the distance will be hazy blue of the ocean, as the H.M.S. Pinafore lies off Portsmouth, England. Occasionally you will see a sail whip in the breeze from above, and will give the audience the illusion of on shipboard.

The costumes will also be very colorful. There will be a certain number of ordinary seamen who will wear the sea garb and will comprise the chorus.

There will also be the girl's chorus, attired in the garb of the golden days, when the story of the opera takes place. The leading characters will be costumed more distinctly and according to their rank.

The practices for the operas are well underway, and Mr. Lee feels confident that it will shape into a production to be long remembered.

Seniors Who's Who

ALICE MASTERS

These seniors are very mysterious people. Alice, for instance, refuses to divulge her middle name—it must stand for Maggie. At any rate, Redford lists this young woman under its "people born here." It couldn't claim her for long however. She hopped over to Windsor, across the river, when she was two, and then, finding Canada a boring place, she moved back to Detroit. She only got as far as kindergarten in the Automobile City, and then turned her steps toward Northville. She's been here ever since.

Alice has a hankering toward skating, admitting that both roller and ice ones hold a fatal fascination. She goes in for odder things, too, as she is a reader and dances.

Her fond hope is to be stenographer for some big company and the plans attend a Detroit business school.

IRENE MODOS

Your long suffering reporter went through a series of gymnastics and knock-out blows to make this persist young woman tell her life secrets. Only after threatening to put her through third degree did we learn her history.

Detroit was Irene's birthplace and the date was Dec. 19, 1920, but when she was three months old she packed her belongings and moved to the sticks. The teachers at the Base Line school patiently taught our subject for eight years. Being able to progress no further Irene came here and has been toiling away ever since.

She coolly remarked that she had no statement to make for the press when she was politely asked what she wanted to be and where she wanted to go. It is our fond hope that Irene does not become a celebrity for how the reporters will suffer. Irene has a part in the senior play "Little Miss Fortune," this year. She is also assistant editor and has a nose for news. Hunting is her favorite sport, and French seems to be her failing, although she has high hopes. Irene is a brilliant student, in fact she is one of the youngest senior girls.

'ROUND THE SCHOOL

Come one, come all, bring your mothers, fathers, aunts, uncles, and cousins to the senior play tonight.

The senior cast, along with their director, Miss Corrin, have worked hard to produce a play that would satisfy one and all. Miss Corrin read over twenty plays before she chose "Little Miss Fortune," as being the best play out of the twenty.

A large number of seniors went out for the play and the cast was carefully picked. The play members have put in hours of rehearsing every day. Students have worked long hours fixing the stage set, to get the proper effect. In fact, almost every senior has put in his time to make this play a success. The senior's goal is Washington, and it's up to you to help them.

Can you imagine a teacher letting one day go by without losing his or her keys? I'm afraid they would certainly fail the job of being jail keeper.

It seems like old times seeing the alumni around school. We saw sailing along the halls, Don Bray, Spencer Van, Date Deal, Eddie Bender, and many other college students.

The only way I can tell it was spring is by that dreamy look I see in every one's eyeballs. It is Spring when every young man's fancy turns to (?)

Ruth Mary Baldwin, former student of Northville High was elected queen of Albion College. "And that's something." Speaking of the Baldwin's, a word of greeting to the Editor and his family down south. Here you are all having an extra swell elegant time.

Spring vacation next week—be good—see you at the play tonight.

TYPING CLASSES TAKING DRILLS

Mrs. Jack Taylor's typing classes have been taking corrective one-minute tests for the past week.

These tests are given to overcome difficulties and to increase the pupils' speed and accuracy. The following people lead the class in the 100 per cent accuracy test: Evelyn Ambler—61 words a minute, Marjorie Chase—62, Jack Hobson 60, and Frances Alexander—62.

BASKETBALL MEMBERS ENTERTAINED AT BANQUET

Friday the basketball team members of Northville High attended a banquet given by their mothers. Before dinner the boys played a basketball game with a squad from Grosse Ile. The latter being the losers of the year.

The team has started light practices this week. Hand training rules are to be kept by all the team members. Coach Ted Watt was present to review the final rule, as yet I experts to this week.

Coach Ted Watt was toast master. Gerald Trotter gave a speech thanking the mothers for the splendid dinner, and after this the senior boys gave their farewell speech. Besides the team members, Coach Watt's Crosswell team and their coach, Fleming, Paul B. Thompson, assistant principal, and Superintendent R. H. Anterman were present.

The boys attended a short lecture in the evenings, and 13 boys spent the night at Thomas Gregory's farm, rear Milford.

Inquiring Reporter

Do you approve of a junior-senior banquet? Why?

Tom McLoughlin (Senior)—Absolutely. Because it would be a lot of fun and would prove helpful in making the two classes more congenial.

Helen Johnson (Junior)—Why not? The junior and senior classes have no other annual rite that they go through each year in getting together and having a good time. I think it is a very good idea.

Rita Healey (Senior) I think it would be a fine idea because it would promote an understanding and bring about a more close relation between the two classes.

Gerald Trotter (Senior)—Yes. I do approve of a junior-senior banquet because if it is handled in the correct manner, it will tend to promote better feelings between the two classes.

Essie Nifield (Senior)—I can see no reason for having a junior-senior banquet other than the promotion of good-will and sense of fellowship among the two classes.

Harry Richardson (Junior)—Yes. I'm in favor of one because the seniors are graduating so the banquet would be a proper thing.

Evelyn Ambler (Senior)—A junior-senior banquet always proves to be very interesting and because of the congeniality of the two classes, I am in favor of one.

Irene Modos (Senior)—Very much. The knitting club finally held a meeting after much postponement. The funny part of it is that they didn't knit. Now a knitting club without knitting is something definitely new I'll venture to say. The evening was spent in playing "cootie" and delicious refreshments were served.

Two visitors Friday night in Wayne were Marlene Walker and Robert Beasley who attended the

The students of the Northville High school will be favored by a student publication this year. It will be the Palladium—Northville's year book and will incorporate the following features: Group pictures of the various classes of the junior and senior high school, individual pictures of the members of the senior class, pictures of the many athletic teams—both boys and girls, drawings made by the high school students and articles on the many important functions of the school year. The Palladium has not been published in the last three years because of the great expense, but the lithographing process will be used this year and will make the book much cheaper both to the Palladium staff and to the purchaser of the book.

The staff has planned to ask the merchants to advertise in this book and that will help a great deal in the way of financing this project. Almost the entire book will be made up by the students and will therefore be a real student publication.

The committees have already started work on this book and it is expected that it will be ready some time in June.

The staff is still open for a few more orders, and therefore those wanting books had better see a member of this organization at once.

The Palladium staff consists of the following people: Pictures, L. Pierpoint, J. Stuenvoll, F. Ambler; advertising, B. Angove, F. Alexander, F. McLoughlin; art, T. Lester and R. Springer; editorial, I. Altman and I. Modos; circulation, C. Strautz and J. King.

FIRST GRADERS WORK ON SPRING PROJECT

Miss Olive Markel's first graders are making a very artistic and neat spring project. They are now studying birds. They drew pictures of robins and blue-jays and have studied their characteristics. They have a little tree in their room on which they perch the birds they draw.

The red-winged blackbird will be the next bird they will study and draw.

In connection with their spring project the first graders have individual egg-shell gardens. Each pupil has planted a grass seed and a flower seed in their garden.

The class will make a study of birds later in the spring.

A collection for the Red Cross to aid the flood people, was taken up, work and the sum of $110 was collected.

Grade Notes

Mrs. Clark's fifth graders have entered the National Highway Safety contest. Each pupil will write an essay and the best one will be chosen to read in the competition.

They are making vocabulary books to help them in their preparation for the achievement test. The class is studying about the New England state and collecting post cards.

Mrs. Conard's third grade students know their states and capitals.

The following fourth graders have not been absent or tardy the entire year. Steve Folens, Marge Scott, Donald Stevens, Walter Warren and Mayne Wick.

Miss Lenordson's pupils have drawn pictures of geraniums to brighten up the room. The collection for the Red Cross amounted to $257.

This room is having a clean finger nail campaign. Andrew Torek is absent with the mumps. Lillian Grimes is the new Citizenship club president. Ann Davis has brought bouquets of forsythia flowers to school. The pupils have been discussing Indian weather signs, in connection with their Indian project.
