RITES HELD MONDAY FOR MRS. BROOKS

Friends and Relatives Pay
Final Tribute To Aged
Resident

Northville's oldest woman resident, Mrs. Ardella Brooks died Saturday morning, April 11, after being confined to her bed since Nov. 27, when she suffered a stroke.

Her friends in the village, who were saddened by her death, recall the birthday celebration which honored her ninetieth anniversary last Nov. 16. On that day, devoted neighbors and relatives, young and old, called on the beloved village with tokens of love and well wishes.

Mrs. Brooks was further honored on her birthday morning with a broadcast party conducted by Miss R. W. Labbit over station CKLW. Her early days in Northville were replete with the citing of the popularity she shared with her husband in the Brooks home.

She had been confined to her home for the past three or four years because of a fall and resulting injuries. Throughout the village she was welcomed—known, and called by the younger set as "Aunt Dell."

Until failing health forced her to withdraw from active participation in social activities Mrs. Brooks was a member of the Women's Relief Corps and the Women's club.

Mrs. Brooks was the last of the members of the first Novi farmers' club to die. The club was organized in 1872 with 24 members.

She was born in Washtenaw county in Salem township the daughter of Samuel and Jane Starkweather. Her early school days were spent in the district school house near her father's farm. After she had completed her elementary education she moved with her parents to the Starkweather farm in Northville township.

Following her marriage to Lyman L. Brooks she lived in Waterford, township in Oakland county for five years previous to moving to Northville in 1887. One child, who died in infancy, was born to this union. Her husband preceded her in death 19 years ago.

She is survived by a number of nieces and nephews. Mrs. C. C. Yerkes, Mrs. M. N. Johnson, Mrs. May Simpson of Detroit, Mrs. Oliver Eder of Glenco, Ill., F. L. Thompson and E. M. Starkweather and the following grand nieces and nephews:

for the purpose of making clear the rules relative to the government projects.

It is expected that the project will be completed Sept. 1. The men will be contracted to work eight hours daily for a period not to exceed 150 hours a month.

Dr. Wilbur H. Johnston states that he has been health officer for the village for the past six years, rather than only four, as was announced last week.

TUBERCULIN TESTS GIVEN TO STUDENTS

Detroit Doctor Will Read
Results of Tests
This Morning

Tuberculin tests were given to 123 high school students Tuesday morning in the gymnasium. Less than half of the high school enrollment submitted to the tests which were given by the Detroit Tuberculosis Sanatorium corporation, a project sponsored by the sale of Christmas seals.

Dr. D. S. Brachman and Miss Margaret Edd, a registered nurse, administered the tests which are to be read this morning.

Dr. Brachman stated that he expected 20 per cent of the number to react positively. He expects to find this morning that one in every six cases will have the childhood type of tuberculosis. This means, he explained, that the disease is present, though inactive, and the cases will be studied further and examined yearly until they reach 21 years of age.

If averages run true to form, he continued, "we'll probably find one adult case from the 123 who took the test. These tests are of value because in this way all early cases can be detected and proper treatment started at once."

In a meeting upon the new contract, Dr. Brachman said that it would eventually give over the road. A one-half acre plot has been placed in the eastern portion of large lots as the roads have become dirt and damp because of the recent rains.

Dr. H. B. Burkart, village president, announced this week that men would be at the Village Hall from 8 to 11 a. m. on April 24, Monday, to register all unemployed men who want work on the irrigation project.

Excavation will start on the community water reservoir on Tuesday morning if E. E. Williams, irrigation contractor, can receive permission to move his heavy machinery over the road. NORTHVILLE'S FAVORED LOCATION

It may or may not be true, but we have been told by different people during the past few years that Northville has a very favorable weather immunity. The folks say that this area seems to be very free from heavy snowy falls, from wind storms and from drought. Certainly in the five years that we have lived here, the weather has been much more favorable than that in many other parts of the country and even of our own state.

It would be very interesting to have the exact facts regarding our weather "set-up" here. Maybe our fine elevation and our nearness to bodies of water may have some influence in giving us freedom from weather upsets. And possibly, there is nothing at all to the idea that we have a favored spot here where hurricanes, cyclones and devastating frosts never enter in. Does anyone know the real truth about it?

TOWNSEND PLAN IS SLIPPING

An impartial survey of the news columns and the editorial pages from different cities of the country indicates that the much ballyhooed Townsend plan is losing its grip. This is well. The proposition to give every person over 60 two hundred dollars a month, provided that the money be all spent during the month, was just too fantastic to be true. It is still an economic truth that no one can "lift himself by his bootstraps."

The congressional investigation now going on has brought to light what thousands of thoughtful people have believed, viz., that much of the vast sums being raised from trusting people, over the age of 60, has gone into the pockets of promoters and organizers. The pity of the Townsend agitation has been that false hope has been raised in the minds of people past 60 that they were to be given this pension of $200 a month. To decoy elderly people into thinking that some miracle of finance was going to happen and that they were to be given this big sum every month seems shameful. True, many have been sincere in their advocacy of the plan but on the other hand, there have been many who backed the plan who must have known, down deep in their hearts, that the whole proposition was impossible of achievement.

Although the Townsend plan will fail, it has done good in helping to the forefront the necessity of some form of social security for our elderly people. Some way must be found to make comfortable the sunset of our people past the ages of 60 or 65. But this way must be the way of sense and reason. A pension of $200 a month is sheer impossibility but a pension of $25 or $50 a month could be worked out in time. Steps toward this end are being taken by our federal government and by some of the states. There is, however, no magic way of making money or of providing pensions. Whatever plan is worked out will have to come from the best thought of our best leaders. The hope for social security lies in them, not in promoters and organizers.

JUST A MATTER OF FURNITURE

It's purely a personal matter, of course, but personal matters have import and significance. Well, Schrader's have just delivered to our home a new dining room suit. We have needed this set for years—more years than we would care to count—but this is the first time that we have felt free to get it. The old oak table and the more or less mis-fit chairs have served their days and generation well but their successors are more dignified and we hope, more useful and beautiful.

Maybe it is a confession of weakness to admit that we have waited so long for this lot of furniture. We were talking the other day about some young friends of ours who are just married and who step into an almost completely furnished home. For them no waiting for a quarter century for a new dining room outfit. Well, folks, just instinctively, we felt a little sorry for the newly weds. What a lot of fun they will miss in not having to battle to get that new furniture!

Just why, anyway, should young people expect on their wedding day to start off as well equipped for life as their parents were after many years of wedded life? Take this matter of furniture. A lot of bliss and sorrow are woven into the matter of the tables and chairs around the house. Furniture can be bought by sacrifice and joyous battling just as well as it can come on a silver platter (figurative language) from some generous giver. No finer parents than the father and mother of the writer ever lived, yet when they were married, in Monroe County, Michigan, they drove to their new home in a sleigh that had been built by the groom. Did any better sleigh ever crunch the snow? In a Lenten address the other day at Detroit, Dr. M. S. Rice told about Gar Wood making his first pair of skates from an old saw. Does anyone think that any Northville boy, with his pair of new skates from a Northville store, had any more fun than Gar Wood had with the skates he himself made? Coming back to our own home, we have a 25-year-old desk that Mrs. Editor bought with money she made doing bookkeeping for our paper. The desk stands for tradition. It was "in style" when she bought it, then it went out of style and now, with its black leather top and studded brass tacks it is back in style again. To us that desk stands for a lot of life.

GET READY FOR POLITICS

For the politically minded there is lots of fun ahead. This is primary year; it is also national election year. And there will be plenty to talk about.

Will Ex-governor Brucker defeat Senator Couzens? Will Frank Murphy come from the Philippines to be a candidate for governor on the Democratic ticket? What will Michigan do to the New Deal?

There will be a lot to think and talk about. By newspapers, by radio, by the spoken word, we shall hear all about it all summer long and on into the darkening days of November. It will be "A gay life if you don't weaken."

"Doctrine of Atonement" will be the subject of the lesson sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, April 19.

Among the Bible citations is this passage (II Cor. 5:18): "And all things are of God, who hath reconciled us to himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 19): "Jesus averted in recording man to God by giving man a true sense of Love, the divine Principle of Jesus' teachings, and this true sense of Love redeems man from the law of matter, sin and death, by the law of Spirit—the law of Divine Love."

How A Baby Grows

2 Full Pages of Pictures
in Rotogravure Sunday

Can you imagine a more fascinating feature than one showing, and telling just how a baby grows? How a tiny bundle of human helplessness changes into a member of the family—into a talking, walking, acting individual! These pictures reveal this, and more. They show how creeping changes into crawling; crawling to standing; standing to walking. They show the development of baby's eyes, hands, feet and features. They show him laughing, crying, playing, sleeping, and the text accompanying them explains just what happens in each stage of the little body's interesting development. It's an age-old story that has never been told. It took years of patient effort to get these pictures. They cost thousands of dollars. They have never before been published in any newspaper or magazine. Be sure to see them—TWO FULL PAGES IN ROTOGRAVURE—exclusively in

JUANITA ELKINGTON RATES AS CLASS VALEDICTORIAN; R. HEATLEY SALUTATORIAN

Edith Barley Rates Third With .8922 Score; 12 Highest Class Members Named; Class Ranking Explained

Juanita Elkington is valedictorian of the senior class of 1936, with 333 honor points, and Rita Heatley is salutatorian, ranking second with 900 honor points. Edith Barley, with a high .8922 honor score, is third in the class.

Juanita has attended school in Northville all through her school years. She has been in the glee club and choir, being in the operetta "Lelawala" and "H.M.S. Pinafore". She has been on the basketball team two years.

Rita has also attended school here through all her grades. She was on the basketball team in her freshman year. She has been a member of the glee club and choir and appeared in the operetta "Lelawala". She was also in the senior play "Little Miss Fortune".

The twelve members of the class having high ranking are as follows (alphabetically):

Frances Alexander, Evelyn Ambler, Ida Altman, Alice Masters Banks, Dorothy Frank, Fred Hicks, Edwin Hill, Thyrza Lester, Frances McLoughlin, Leslie Pierpont and Kathleen Rinck. These students all have a high "B" average or better.

Class rankings are determined on the basis of honor points per hour of credit expressed in decimal. Since it is obvious that it would be unfair to allow the same number of honor points per mark earned regardless of the number of hours of credit attached, this method is used. If a class meets five times a week, five hours credit is given for it. It

UNIVERSITY MEN TO VISIT N. H. S.

College Professors To Carry Out Experiment With Northville High

A few weeks ago Northville high school had the privilege of having visitors from the University of Michigan check on the teaching methods, course of study and general "Set Up" of Northville High school's program. As the result of this visit, Superintendent R. H. Amerman was called the following Monday to confer with the professors that had paid a visit to our school. With the school's board's permission, Mr. Amerman invited the professors back to visit our school for as many times in the month of April that they found agreeable to them.

It was decided that during these visits the professors will take over various classes and teach them so they may come in contact with the high school pupils. This is totally an experiment for both the college professors, and the teachers of Northville.

The professors are expected to express their views as to ways of improving the classes if any improvement is to be made, and in return the teacher will also express his view on the matters brought up. In this way the professors may better understand the high school problems in a practical stand point of view, and the high school teacher profits by the informal contact with these men's theories.

May 1 and 2, the Michigan Schoolmaster's Club is going to celebrate their 50th anniversary. All the teachers of Michigan belong to this club.

The Northville teachers are expected to attend the meeting May 1, and will be given Friday off to do this. At this meeting the experiment the professors are trying with the Northville school will be discussed.

DID YOU NOTICE

All the scared looks on the faces of the students when they had the test for TB?

The typing classes groaning again? Badges have been resumed.

The downhearted seniors? All seniors will be required to take exams and after a half semester of hard work! There just "ain't" no justice.

That J. E. is rather bashful of late? The title of valedictorian.

More alumni who couldn't resist the call of the "geah" Alma Mater?

How brave J. J. was when he went to have his skin test? He really should be given a medal for bravery.

The excited looks on the faces of some of our young freshmen? They're going to the hop! Just ask them and you'll never hear the last of it.

What beautiful eyes J. has. Notice sometime when he isn't looking at you.

'ROUND THE SCHOOL

Our staff reporters haven't been able to get news for months and months about various class activities, so it was looked into as to why the news could not be obtained. It is all very simple, it's just that the classes haven't been doing anything and why not? Because class meetings are coming to be quite the three ring circus act these days. And it isn't the fault of the class presidents because every president is very capable of the position he or she holds and are willing to work if the students would teach them up. To give you a vague idea how class meetings are being run, here are a few examples:

Starting with the freshman class, for example. Instead of getting down to business and trying to make money for the class for future use, the freshmen instead must be entertained the better half of the hour of class meeting time. You see it's just too boring for words to talk business and really accomplish a few things. So they must have a program.

Mrs. Hawley Cobb's economics class that consists of senior members have been required to make out a budget and then keep track of their expenditures for the next two months.

Mrs. Cobb believes that one of the important things one should know is how to spend money in a wise way. These budgets may be allowing the students to receive, or the amount spent by the parents for the students.

By keeping a daily record of how much money they have spent, the students will be able to see how well they have managed their incomes. No doubt adjustments in the budget plan will need to be made after completing the two months trial.

Seriously, if you want your class to go to Washington you will have to earn money, and in order to obtain funds you'll have to start in your Freshman year and begin working. The Orange and Black nicely backs up any projects you attempt to come up with. It's time to come on wake up. It's time to make more important.

The jokers take the cake. They at least pull through forty-five minutes with business, but there are so many obstacles that seem to be in the way that it's hard to make

Now that it's over I can give you more dope on the party. Mary Gregory gave during vacation. It was a grand affair with all the famous or infamous personalities there. They were beside the hostess Lucille Simons, Ruth Campbell, June Denne, Louise Alexander, Doris Laddie, Frances Alexander, Betty Haystead, Helen Johnson, Evelyn Ethel of Hildale, George Westphal, Suzy Hochkins, Herman Toussaint, Bruce Turnbull, Fred Van, Lawrence Farmer, Harry Richardson and Jack Juned. They played poker, danced and of course had refreshments.

You have noticed how rested and so forth Mrs. Cobb is? Well you would be too, if you had been lucky enough to spend the week in South Carolina as she did.

Jane Grossner visited all week in Ann Arbor and although she claims she did nothing much we bet she had loads of fun.

Eleanor Hill was away, too. She spent the time with her sister in Leslie.

SAM AND GLADNEY HEAD WIN HONORS

Arthur Pryor, famous band leader, who is spending the winter in Florida, recently acted as guest conductor with the Miami University band of 70 musicians. About three weeks prior to his arrival in Miami, he sent on his latest composition, "Caprice," a trombone solo. While in the manuscript, Sam Head, a former member of the local band, had the honor of being the first to play it, solo. When in Mr. Pryor's opinion, was one of the most difficult solos ever written. However, Sam worked on it for three weeks, and in a letter which Arthur Pryor wrote to Sam's father, Edwin Head, in a letter which Arthur Pryor wrote to Sam's father, Edwin Head, the rendering was faultless.

Gladney Head also played two of Herbert Clark's solos, "The Southern Cross" and "Bride of the Waves."

Mr. Pryor remarked that they were played as Herbert Clark used to play them. Mr. Clark was concert soloist with the Sousa organization for 25 years.

As a climax the famous band leader wrote Edwin Head, father of the student who labored so strenuously over the task of typewriting on mechanical devices with a few parts missing. This exertion calls forth what is known as "sweat on the brow". Our grandmothers would probably recall the first time typewriters were used.

They would undoubtedly exclaim that those were the good old days, and tell us that the machines in those days were much more difficult to operate. They would probably tell us that they could call forth their energy and use it effectively. Perhaps they do on spinning. The curtains however ascend on

CAMPBELL AND PORTER CHOSEN DRUM MAJORS

Calls of "counter-march," left turn, and other such military cries are ringing through the down stairs hall these days. Don't be worried, however. The school is not turning into a Junior West Point or Annapolis. It's only the two proud and victorious drum majors for the high school band—Harry Porter and Norman Campbell. After a long and diligent search, Leslie G. Lee, the band master, finally decided that if anyone could march jauntily along in front of debonair musicians, it would be these two eighth graders. "Norm" and Harry are also out to set new record for high stepping. To see that they learn right, Mr. Lee is teaching them from the official Drum Major's manual, and the two aspirants practice ardently every eighth and third hours, and even when they and their teacher have any spare time.

The band itself is out to match up to their drum majors, for they too are practicing at every band practice in the long last act of learning to march. When the spring weather comes, it will find them prancing up and down the streets led by Norm and Harry, who will be decked out in resplendent finery.
