BOARD AWAITS PWA APPROVAL ON BUILDING

Contractors Submit Costs For Nine Classrooms And Offices

School board members, believing that they have every reason to expect a definite answer from PWA officials within a week in regard to the $27,000 building grant and loan, sat in a special meeting Wednesday evening with the contractors and the architects, Lynden and Smith.

Speaking for two other local contractors who have made estimates on building costs, Alexander H. Johnson reported that if the original PWA could be transferred for use on the proposed grade school, nine classrooms, a boiler room and board of education offices could be constructed without additional bond issue.

The total amount to be spent in this case would be $36,000, including the $30,000 insurance adjustment and the $27,000 loan and PWA grant.

If taxpayers should accept this plan, the present board of education building would be moved to a temporary site and used as classrooms until an addition could be built in the new building.

Contractors have estimated that the cost of a school, housing 13 classrooms together with the board of education offices, fully equipped, at approximately $37,000. In case taxpayers don't want to carry additional bonds for this amount, another PWA grant may be applied later in the year.

Superintendent R. H. Amerman stated yesterday morning that petition would be filed for a PWA project to dismantle the fire-damaged structure. Board members believe that the lumber can be cleaned up and resold. If the brick is cleaned, much of it can be used as bucking.

The dresses displayed Monday afternoon, the most outstanding one was a sunset dress of yellow tulip made by Mrs. Harold H. Brachman.

Exceptionally fine sewing, fitting and design characterized the dress which was given a high marking.

A house dress made by Mrs. Howard J. Atwood and sport dresses made by Mrs. C. M. Chase and Mrs. Alfred Parmentier were all given honorable grades.

The annual Achievement Day for the school economics extension class was held yesterday morning at the M. E. Church in Wayne. Each year a group of approximately 50 women have carried through a program of home projects supervised by Extension workers from Michigan State College.

During the past year an instructional project was developed along the lines of clothing. The alternative of the commercial pattern, the making of a muslin master model and finally the construction of a garment completed the discussions for the first year, clothing. Women who had completed two years of clothing enrolled in the tailoring project. Coats and suits will add a great deal of interest and variety in the dress review planned for one number on the Achievement Day program. The tailoring project is given twice during the year, once in the fall for winter garments and once in the spring for summer apparel.

According to the changes made, in Title I of the National Housing act which has been extended by act of Congress to April 1, 1937, modernization loans may be made only to owners of improved real property or to lessees of real property who have a lease extending for a period of not less than six months beyond the maturity of the modernization credit loan. This eliminates new construction in unimproved real property from consideration under the Modernization Credit Plan, and eliminates loans to tenants as has been noted.

Insured Mortgage Clinics will be held from April 27 to May 7, in Detroit. Residents wishing to buy, build or refinance a home, may use this opportunity to get full particulars from members of the Federal Housing administration.

Modernization loans, in the amount of $2,000 or less, for purchase and installation of equipment or machinery upon any type of improved property are eliminated, except for additions to the real property. Machinery and equipment that become additions to real property such as heating, plumbing and wiring systems, including such items as furnaces, oil burners, stokers, water heaters would be eligible for loans.

Movable equipment such as refrigerators, ranges, washing machines, irons, would not be eligible.

The same reasoning would apply in the commercial or industrial field, as in the domestic field, except that loans from $2,000 to $50,000 on Class A property is not a requirement that the machinery or equipment become an addition to the property. In cases of this sort, eligibility rulings still apply.

Backers of this act expect that with the momentum already gained, Title I will continue during the coming year to play an important part in stimulating production and employment in the building industry.

They hope to bring about more real estate activity, greater demand for construction materials of all kinds, with financing agencies and the public alert to the new tide of business life throughout the country.

NOV FIREMEN KEEP BLAZE FROM RUINING HOME ON TAFT ROAD

Efficient fighting by the Nov fire department last Thursday kept flames from completely destroying the J. A. Chapman house on Taft road. By the time the firemen arrived at the scene, considerable headway on the roof and at the back of the house had been made by the blaze.

The fire occurred at noon. The firemen worked together quickly and were aided considerably by being able to have an adequate water supply to extinguish the blaze.

The Chapman house is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Burgess.

COUNTY AGENT AIDS LEADERS WITH GRADES

Year's Clothing Projects Are Displayed And Graded, Monday

Dresses made by the members of the home economics extension class were modeled and judged at the final meeting of the course held Monday afternoon in the high school gymnasium. Assisting the leaders, Mrs. Marshall Herrick and Mrs. Wm. A. Liebetreu, with the grading of the garments was Miss Emma Dubord, Wayne county home demonstration agent. At the class held for extension leaders in Dearborn, Mrs. Herrick's dress was graded between 99 and 100 per cent. Mrs. Liebetreu's was also given a high marking with 98 per cent.

The dresses displayed Monday afternoon, the most outstanding one was a sunset dress of yellow tulip made by Mrs. Harold H. Brachman.

Exceptionally fine sewing, fitting and design characterized the dress which was given a high marking.

A house dress made by Mrs. Howard J. Atwood and sport dresses made by Mrs. C. M. Chase and Mrs. Alfred Parmentier were all given honorable grades.

TUBERCULIN PERCENTAGE IS LOW HERE

X-Ray Pictures Check on Students Who Reacted To Tests

X-ray pictures were taken Monday of the high school students who reacted positively to the tuberculin tests given April 14, by Dr. D. S. Brachman of the Wayne County Tuberculosis association.

The skin test was given to 125 students, 79 of whom were girls. Twelve of the number who showed a reaction when the reading was made April 17, were boys.

Dr. Brachman commented favorably on the low percentage of reaction cases found here. "Only 15 per cent of students tested reacted." We found a low percentage at Wayne also. At Plymouth, where the tests were given this year, the percentage was high."

When the results of the test were being read last week, it was noted that, with only one or two exceptions, the students who appeared to be under weight and who had bad posture, were not the ones who showed any reaction to the skin test. Dr. Brachman explained that, contrary to general belief, by the time a tubercular person is found to be under weight, the patient has developed an advanced adult case of the disease.

The skin test, in Dr. Brachman's opinion, should be given each year to the entire school enrollment. It is only in this way that the childhood cases can be found and treated, thus definitely shortening the length of time required for cure.

In time, the tuberculin tests will completely wipe out this disease," he affirmed.

Whether or not any adult cases have been traced will not be determined until a report of the x-ray pictures have been received by the school health nurse, Mrs. Starr D. Gray.

Continuing her march toward success as a pianist, Yvonne Rinck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Stenek, placed second in the final state competition held Saturday, April 18, at Lansing.

Yvonne, who is 11 years old, was forced to compete in class C, ages 12 and 13. This was because she took first place in the lower division last year.

Although competing in an older age group so well, it took a 12-year-old to keep her from a first place.

WHAT MAKES A GOOD TOWN?

In boasting for the home town, the paper at St. Johns last week gave the following as among the assets of St. Johns: "Good schools, good churches, a good hospital and an adequate business section to supply family needs."

Does Northville have all this appeal? We think so, although there is a chance for the business places to bathe just a little harder for the big business that lies right here at their very doors.

Besides all the above-mentioned advantages, Northville has great natural beauty; an unusual location and a cosmopolitan population that keeps the community "on its toes." Small wonder that you can hardly find a house to rent here!

WE ARE INVITED TO CALIFORNIA

After reading the editor's Florida travelogues, Richmond P. Benton of Los Angeles, writes us and says: "Come out to California—the roads are good ALL the way." Mr. Benton had apparently noticed what we said about the highways of Tennessee and Kentucky.

Both California and Florida are "climate" states. Both have advantages and handicaps. California has more natural beauty than Florida but the latter has, in the opinion of many, a little more kindly climate, in that there is not the sharp difference between night and day that you find on the Pacific coast.

Off the beaten path, California can be reached only by crossing the three hundred miles or so of the Mojave desert. If California could be set on this side of that vast stretch of sand, rocks and cacti, Florida would get more compensation from the western route than it does now. Two nights and a day on the train from here will land you in Florida and going by automobile, only three or four days are required whereas ten days of comfortable traveling are required to reach California by automobile.

Speaking about winter resort states, some of our friends tell us that Texas, particularly sections, thus E. Rogers, who is probably Northville's most traveled citizen, says that San Antonio is a delightful city for a winter visit. For those who want to get away from Michigan's changeable climate, Phoenix, Arizona, has a great appeal. We had a good friend in California, who had lived around quite a bit, who said that Phoenix was the finest city of them all. And our own Harry B. Clark, who with his wife, has just returned from the West, also speaks very highly of Phoenix.

Winter is a long ways off now and those who really want to live will stay in Michigan for the coming six or eight months.

BRUCKER vs COUZENS

Showing a good deal of courage, former Governor William M. Brucker announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for United States Senator, opposing the present incumbent, James Couzens.

Brucker, himself, a comparatively poor man, is going up against the millions of Senator Couzens. That takes courage, for the millions that Couzens has given away have been a great factor in making him popular with the voters. And fair-minded people will have to admit that Senator Couzens by his large gifts has done vast good for the citizens of his state. His philanthropies show him to be a high-minded man who feels the responsibilities that his greatness has given him.

However, to compare Couzens, the philanthropist with Couzens, the statesman, is hardly fair. His great wealth should be forgotten when his record as a United States senator is taken into consideration. Couzens should be judged, not by his money, great as it is, but by his record as a senator—and in running for the Republican nomination, as a Republican.

Certainly Republicans should nominate a Republican for the U. S. Senate. Grave issues are at stake. The country faces the menace of the greatest debt in its whole history—a debt that is constantly soaring. Brucker is a Republican whose record is that of an honest public servant—one Michigan paper last week stated that when Brucker left Lansing at the close of his term as governor, he was so short of money that he had to mortgage his automobile to pay his moving expenses to Detroit. We have heard no one question the honesty of Senator Couzens but his Republicanism is very much in question. Was it not Mr. James A. Farley, former Tammany leader and now the big boss of patronage for the Roosevelt administration, who wanted the Democrats of Michigan to endorse Couzens on their ticket? That would indicate that Couzens would rate pretty well as a Democrat.

Some Republican leaders bemoan the lack of unity that the Brucker-Couzens battle will bring. Unity is desirable but right now, courage in meeting the menace of New Deal policies is much more desirable. The issue will have to be met sometime—why not meet it now? Let both Senator Couzens and Mr. Brucker tell us exactly how they stand toward the grave issues that are uppermost in the country and in deciding the issue let us forget the great issue of Senator Couzens.

THE TOWNSEND PLAN IN CANADA

Promising $25 a month to every voter, as a pension, William C. Aberhart was overwhelmingly elected premier of the province of Alberta in Canada. Did the premier keep his promise? No, he did not—natural laws still work in Canada the same as in the United States.

Not only did the government of Alberta fail to pay this $25 a month but it has defaulted on over three million of bonds and the interest thereon.

Answering the protest of the voters, who were so foolish as to believe wild claims of getting easy money, the premier sweetly says:

"We haven't the money; I am sorry."

As we have said several times: "You can't lift yourself by your bootstraps."

LOOKS LIKE GOVERNOR LANDON

Present indications are that the Republicans, at their convention at Cleveland in June, will nominate Governor Alf. M. Landon to run for the presidency against President Roosevelt. The "Kansas Coolidge" is getting close to the point where his nomination is assured. Upsets are still possible, of course.

According to the newspaper correspondents, Col. Frank Knox is out of the picture, due to his poor showing in Illinois where the down state vote went heavily for Senator Borah.

As for Borah himself, very few concede him a chance for the nomination. In spite of his popularity, there are too many factors against him. Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg is still a dark horse and in the case of a deadlock might easily be given the nomination. He would make a very strong candidate.

A good friend of ours makes fun of Landon because he is known for at least two simple things: He balanced the Kansas budget and (2) he eats in the kitchen with his wife. Pretty good points with which to win the Middle West which will turn the balance of power at the November election.

The biggest menace to Landon is the support of the Hearst newspapers. But then Roosevelt won with these same papers boosting him.

NORTHVILLE'S YESTERDAYS

1 YEAR AGO

Northville first May Festival—a lack of eventful music to speak of began at 8 p.m. Monday, May 1 with a concert by the many known University of Michigan Glee Clubmen of the First Christian church.

The May 1st business day will be beautified soon if the work done by President Maurice J. Landon and Past President Nelson Schrader of the Northville Exchange Club succeeds anything.

Beginning Monday morning a special chartered car train from the village to Detroit, making but a few stops, between Northville and Hamtramck, stopping at Clarenceville and thence running through to the downtown business district of Hamtramck being directed for a ride of Saturday night band concert in Northville again this season, the end of 9 weeks' hard labor by Northville's municipal band.

At 4:45 Monday afternoon the alarm was sounded and people fled into the streets to inform that the Detroit Edison company's power station in this village was on fire. The plant was totally destroyed.

A house belonging to Mrs. Kriegel ran away on North Center street Monday morning causing considerable excitement for a few minutes.

The house took to the sidewalk in front of the Dodge service station and was stopped in front of Huff's hardware. Fortunately no one was injured.

5 YEARS AGO

The Northville budget is still open for the approval of the citizens and it will be passed upon by the committee at the council meeting on May 1. The assessed valuation of Northville's real estate will, in all probability, be slightly lower than last year said Charles A. Sessions, Northville village assessor.

The village budget this year asks for approximately $55,500 as compared with the $55,000 budget asked for last year. It was thought out and the resultant saving has been brought about by the careful pruning of the village expenses.

At the village commission meeting Monday, it was decided to request the Pere Marquette railway for permission to beautify the plot of ground called the Pere Marquette Springs. The project sponsored by the Northville Rotary club, calls for the construction of a walk with a rustic shelter and an oak bucket.

A winding path of flag stones will lead to the well and the entire plot of ground will be cleaned up and appropriately decorated.

A daughter, weighing eight pounds, was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Farley, 207 Verke street, on April 22.

10 YEARS AGO

The annual stockholders' meeting of the Bell Furnace and Manufacturing company was held Wednesday night. E. L. Smith, C. A. Powers, C. H. Bryan, E. H. Lapham, C. S. Perkins and Sheriff Ambler were caretakers and they elected the following officers: President, Sheriff Ambler; secretary, C. H. Bryan; treasurer, E. H. Lapham.

Assurances have been received from the Wayne County Highway Commission to the effect that the Plymouth-Northville road will be paved this season and that work will start as soon as Center street becomes sufficiently settled to permit travel.

Beginning next Monday the village alarm will be sounded each day at 12 noon. This plan has been decided upon for two very good reasons to keep the alarm in working order and in deciding the issue let us forget the great issue of Senator Couzens.

WHAT OTHER EDITORS ARE THINKING ABOUT

MOPPING UP AFTER THE FLOOD

(Clipped)

Fortunately, the recent floods which inundated great areas from Maine to Arkansas, took a comparatively small toll of human lives. Most people had ample warning and got out of the way before the waters reached them.

The property damage, however, was extremely heavy. The submerged districts included several great industrial centers and hundreds of smaller and thickly built up cities and towns. Nobody yet knows what it will cost to "mop up" the great factories and business houses whose machinery, stock and equipment were damaged or ruined by mud and water, to rebuild and refurbish the homes that were flooded.

Most of this work of rebuilding and replacement will have to be done promptly. Add to it the cost of rebuilding bridges, relaying railroad tracks, replacing dams that were washed out, reconstructing highways and setting up protective defenses against future floods, and the net result should be a tremendous demand for labor of all kinds, and for materials.

It is predicted that we may expect a widespread and general business boom, beginning just as quickly as decisions can be made by the millions of persons affected, as to what needs to be done and how they are going to do it. The furniture industry, for example, is anticipating a heavy demand for new home and office furnishings to replace those ruined by the flood waters. So is the refrigeration industry, likewise the rug and carpet manufacturers. All of the building trades and the producers of building materials will profit greatly.

There is a greater volume of un-used credit in the banks of the United States today than ever before, and on easier terms, available to anyone who has a legitimate use for it. We can think of no more legitimate use for credit at this time than to rebuild and reequip the devastated flood areas, building more and better and with more efficient equipment against the future.

Kenneth MacGowran, star of Stage and screen and this season director of the New York production of "Correspondent Unknown," heads the cast of the opening play, "Label," together with Doris Dalton, Whitford Kane and George Somers.

The Ann Arbor Festival this year is presented for five weeks in the Lyric Mendelssohn theatre at Ann Arbor from May 16 through June 20. The second production will be "The Moon's Comedy with Music Party," and will star Eddie Winwood as Mrs. Patrick Campbell, Miss Dalton as Tallulah Bankhead, as well as the New York musical comedy stars Eddie Gair and Frances Midura.

"Hamlet" opens at Ann Arbor on May 19 with Ian Keith in the title role supported by Miss Winwood as Queen Gertrude, George Somers as Horatio, Miss Dalton as Ophelia, Whitford Kane as the First Grave Digger and Reginald Pole as Polonius.

John Van Druten's "The Dictator" which follows "Hamlet," brings the outstanding stellar cast of the season, including Blanche Yurka, Estelle Winwood, Eddie Shanahan and the beautiful actress Greta Garbo in Marjorie Gilmore. "Puritan," a distinguished new cast of the current New York season will present Miss Shannon in her original role of Aunt Ben, with the stage and screen stars Louis Calhern as Parcell and Miss Gillmore as the fascinating Katie O'Shea.

Mrs. Harold Hadley, recently of Northville teacher in the Griswold school, and small daughter, called on several Novi friends Saturday evening. Mrs. Hadley has a position as field secretary for Cleary Business college and is now located at Jackson. Mrs. Hadley and daughter are staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hamilton until the close of school.

A pleasant social afternoon was spent last Friday at the L. O. P. Hall where Minnie Martin and Julian Trickey entertained at a card party. A variety of card games were played at five tables, followed by a luncheon served in the dining room.

George Atkinson has rented the Delos Leavenworth station, corner Grand River and Taft road. His mother, Mrs. Lena Atkinson, will have charge of the lunch counter. She will serve lunches and sell home-made baked goods.

The Home Hygiene class will meet at the school house next Monday afternoon at 2. The lesson will be "Care of Patients With Communicable Diseases."

Art Edwards of Bad Axe was a guest of Rex Smith over the week end.

Planting Memories
"This is the first Easter morning that my children have not hunted for eggs," said a Northville mother the other day. "They helped color the eggs and seemed to enjoy that but then they said 'Let's not hide them this year. We're getting too old for that.' The mother realized with a sigh of real regret that her children were growing up—and away from her."

"Once you cross its portals, you will never return again!" We believe that in years to come the meaning of it all will sink deep and the memories of these family traditions will mean more than we know now. They are worth while.

"Then, can't we have Easter breakfast and hunt the eggs?" asked

Wm. Gainsford, familiarly known as "Bill" among the craft, is responsible for this inside information on husbands which we homemakers may find enlightening.

What Every Woman Should Know
A husband likes to throw newspapers and ashes on the floor. He likes to invite friends for dinner unexpectedly. He likes a lot of paint on other women but doesn't care for much on her. He prefers not to be told that he is getting fat or bald. He wants to drive the automobile himself. He hates to pay bills.

He resents suggestions for personal improvement. He regards suggestions for personal improvement. He regards his speculative and gambling losses as his private affair. He dislikes to be closely questioned about anything. He'll spend $15 at a club and then crab because a six-day-old bone bone was thrown into the garbage before he got around to it. Hell buy her an $500 fur coat and later raise a scene if she loses $120 at bridge. He thinks he'd be rich if he'd stayed single. He insists that he like plain food but always compliments hostesses on special dishes that are served him. He doesn't care how much a refrigerator costs if it delivers ice cubes quickly and easily. His income... When he gets a quiet evening at home, he falls asleep in his chair. He's a prospect for any hussy that sets out to make a fool of him. Watch him, the little boy of the household. "Oh, yes I'll leave breakfast on the table and have the eggs hidden for you." But that won't seem like Easter. You won't be here.

Often we mothers wonder if the pair we take to fix up little surprises for birthdays and other celebrations during the year are worth the effort. We are so eager to draw all the sweetness possible into childhood which is so brief and

FAMILY ROMANCE

By MRS. L. E. WARNER

Social Consultant

Dear Mrs. Warner—It is little things that make trouble, isn't it? I am terribly troubled, or perhaps I should say annoyed, by my husband's behavior. He is the sweetest thing that ever lived, but I must literally pull the man out of bed every morning in order to get him to go to work on time. He has an excellent position but he would surely lose it if I did not call him and tell him to get up every morning of the working week. I get up earlier, fed up trying to get the boy out of bed. He is 27 and I am 24. It seems to me that he is old enough to get up in the morning without being called 4 dozen times. Some times I feel desperate about it. I have heard about the man who goes to divorce his wife because instead of rolling the end of the toilet paper off the roll he squeezed it in the middle. It sounds silly, I know, but sometimes it seems to me that I can't live with my husband another day that I can't go through another morning calling my husband to get up.

Do you phone to him at his place of business and talk small talk when he is just at the point of driving a bargain and you are angry with him if he asks you to call him a little later?

Do you criticize him for being a gentleman to other women, and insist that he stick to your side every minute at the party?

Do you tell wily stories about him which put him in a bad light and embarrass him?

Are you sarcastic with him and do you wear a ring on your shoulder?

Are you a faint-silence, always pointing out to him his shortcomings and mistakes and emphasizing the "mote" in his eye but forgetting the "beam" (I think it means a beam of lumber, not a sunbeam) in your own eye. Do you make him feel devaluated and humble instead of enthusiastic and inspired?

Do you laugh and act giddy and disinterested when he is hungry to open his heart to you and tell you the problems he is meeting?

Do you make fun of everybody and make him lose confidence in people and realize the seamy side of life?

Do you act coarse and loud and make him lose his ideal of manhood?

Do you act bossy and aggressive and make him feel that he is all wrong?

Do you act cool to him when he comes to his home hungry for love?

Do you act independent when he wants to feel that he is the protector and would like to have a little girl lean on him?

Do you expect him to support you in a style he cannot afford and act dissatisfied about it if he cannot?

If so, he must be a noble gentleman or he would never stand for it.

Why not give him a shock by turning over a new leaf?

LAUNDERING CURTAINS

One dreads to launder the curtains, for fear they will shrink or sag at a corner or one of a pair will be longer than the other. All these troubles may be prevented if one will measure the curtains before they are laundered and then dry them, spread and pin them on a sheet, using the same measurements. The second curtain may be spread over the first. They will dry quickly if there is a good draft in the room. After the first two are dried another pair may be spread in the same place.

Cairns-McCardle Marriage Ceremony Held Saturday

Mrs. Rosetta Cairns of Farmington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Cairns, was united in marriage to Robert McCardle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McCardle of Northville, at a ceremony Saturday morning in the Lady of Sorrows church in Farmington. The two were read by the Rev. Fr. John Larkin. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with Easter lilies and sweet peas.

The bride wore a white satin gown with a long veil. Her bouquet was of yellow rose buds. Miss Winifred Cairns, maid of honor, a sister of the bridegroom, was dressed in ochre marine lace with white accessories and carried red tulips and sweet peas. The bridesmaid, Miss Eleanora Cairns, sister of the bride, chose a pink dress and silver slippers and matching hat. Her flowers were blue tulips and sweet peas.

Charles Riffenburgh of Northville was the bridegroom's attendant. The ushers were William Cairns and Hugh Blackley of Farmington.

A wedding reception was held for Mr. and Mrs. McCardle Saturday evening in their home at 3344 Oakwood avenue, Farmington.

Mother-Daughter Banquet Is Social Event Scheduled for May 7

The date for the annual community Mother-Daughter banquet was released this week by Mrs. Howard E. Atwood. It will be held May 7, at the Presbyterian church house.

Tickets for the social affair may be purchased for 50 cents from the members of the different church committees of the April committee. Reservations must be made by Tuesday, May 5.

Mrs. Harry F. Wagenschutz and Mrs. Percy Angove have charge of the dinner arrangements.

Missionary Society To Enjoy Potluck Dinner Tuesday

This was indeed a "Merry-Go-

Round" meeting at the home of Mrs.

Stella Stark, who assisted by Mrs.

Ada Amber acted as hostesses for a one o'clock luncheon consisting of various kinds of good things to eat like old fashioned, apple grape.

Such a happy reunion of our traveling members, Mrs. Elizabeth Clark gave a glowing account of her journey to California and farther north into Canada; Mrs. Mary

Simmons of her stay in Florida and

Mrs. Kay Dean of her trip to the various places of interest through the state of Florida with headquarters in St. Petersburg. Mrs.

Flora Babbitt who has been sojourning in Rochester and Mrs. Lucy Flimms who has been spending the winter in Detroit, all helped to make this a very enjoyable meeting once more like old times.

We missed our president Mrs. Hartford who is away on a trip to the East Coast.

Following the presentation of a one act play by the "Gypsies" hostesses, the members enjoyed the singing of the "Gypsies" and the dancing of the "Gypsies".

There was a great deal of fun and

Mrs. Harold Bloom was hostess Tuesday evening to the members of the Nellie Yerkes Auxiliary.

Walled Lake News

The Civic Welfare Club met at the home of Mrs. Maynard Post Wednesday, April 22, for a social afternoon.

The Rev. David Evans is at the Bronson hospital at Kalamazoo for observation and treatment.

The Village Inn property has been sold by Chas F. Rose, local realtor, to Mr. Fred A. Shuler, who plans on remodeling the inn for his own home and building several year-round residences on the frontage.

The Shirley-Anne Cafe, formerly owned by S. L. McNeur, under the new management of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Richards, had a grand opening Wednesday evening.

Frederick J. Schmidt
Frederick J. Schmidt, 59, died at 8 p.m. Friday in the St. Joseph Mercy Hospital at Pontiac. Death resulted from a partial paralytic stroke affecting the throat and left side.

Mr. Schmidt was well known here having been secretary of the school board for several years and instrumental in much of the preliminary work of bringing about its approval by the State school administration for rural schools and the voters of the districts involved. He was a member of the local Masonic Lodge and Past Master of the Detroit Lodge No. 2.

Masonic funeral services were held Saturday at 9 a.m. at the Big and Mott Chapel, 2668 West Grand Boulevard, Detroit.

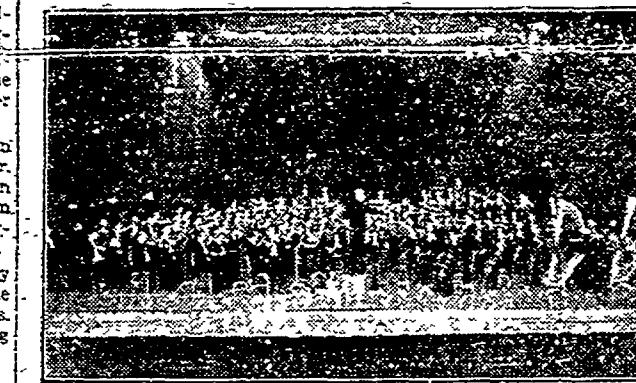

He is survived by his wife, Ada E. Schmidt and two children, Mrs. Agnes Weishafer of Livonia, Ky., and Ernest F. Schmidt of Pontiac.

DETROIT REALTOR PLANS TO REVOLVE CONGO HOUSE

The house recently occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Jas. A. Congo on the corner of West Main and Rogers Street is being extensively remodeled by Del W. Hahn of Detroit. Mr. Hahn is associated with his father, K. J. in the Hahn & Company, realtor, and will continue to the city.

mass, green feeds and followed better practices.

Copies of "1936 Poultry Costs" can be obtained by writing to the Farm Management Department, Michigan State College, East Lansing.

EVERGREENS NEED CARE

The evergreens in boxes about the business district ought to be given a good soaking without delay. If it is feared many of the trees are dead, but it is too early to tell definitely. Soak them good with water and watch and wait.

If future developments prove the live trees are dead it is being proposed that flower plants be put in the boxes before Memorial Day.

MORTGAGE SALE

Biloxian, variety, and sound musical values will characterize the offerings of the 43rd Annual May Festival to be held under the auspices of the University Musical Society of the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, May 12, 13 and 16. The festival will consist of four evening programs and matinees on Friday and Saturday.

The injection of the famous Philadelphia Orchestra under its scintillating conductor Leopold Stokowski, into the Festival scheme, has added luster to the occasion. Dr. Stokowski will be assisted by two distinguished associate conductors, Charles O'Connell of RCA Victor fame and Saul Caslon, who has won renown through many performances in this country and abroad.

Earl V. Moore, Musical Director, will lead the University Choral Union in three important works. The Children of Bethlehem" by Parry, at the Friday afternoon concert; Edgar's dramatic cantata, "Gazaeanus" Thursday evening, and "Scardius" evening in Verdi's "Requiem." By a strange coincidence, this work which brings the 43rd Festival to a close, was presented at the first May Festival forty-three years ago.

Distinguished soloists will include celebrities of first rank, Lily Pons, al aria which Miss Fons will sing, soprano of world-wide fame; Jeanette Wintrob, oratorio soprano, ranking high as a leader of oratories; Rose Bampton, contralto of Metropolitan Opera and concert fame; Giovanni Martorana, distinguished Italian tenor; Paul Altman, American tenor, joins with the American tenor, who has recently won plaudits at the Metropolitan, and Keith Palmer, British baritone, who has come to America for a few concerts this spring. The instrumentalists will include Edwin Zimbalist, Violinist, and Harold Bauer, Flutist, while Palmer Christopher Organist, will participate in several of the performances.

The first concert Wednesday evening, will feature orchestra with Stokowski leading the band in a program of Bach and Wagner works. He will also conduct the Saturday afternoon concert in orchestral numbers and with Edwin Zimbalist as soloist. The final concert Friday will bring to the fore three conductors, Earl V. Moore, who will present the chorus of five hundred children in the first half of the program and Saul Caslon, who will conduct for Mr. Bauer. In the evening the program will be divided between Mr. Caslon and Mr. O'Connell. Mr. O'Connell conducting for the evening.

FRAYER WINS HONOR IN AMATEUR PROGRAM

Poultry stocks in the state maintained either for commercial production of eggs or to supply the household, a profit or require breeding, according to feeding methods and ability to lay. Proof of the importance of feed and breeding is found in 1935 records of 76 flocks of 25 hens each.

K. T. Wright and A. L. Lee and

James M. Thompson report that Costs ranged from $2.95 to $3.02

a hen for a year. These poultrymen had better breeding in their flock and had better breeding in their flock, obtained greater production at a cost per dozen eggs of 17 cents as compared to 20 for producer for other poultrymen where feed costs up to 22 cents a dozen.

In Wayne County, according to County Agricultural Agent Ralph Curr, poultry adds much to each income and to the food supply for farm homes.

U. S. flights to stimulate feed consumption and get greater production a hen has value, according to Wright and Lee. Fifty of the 76 farms in the survey used hens and made an average of 12 cents more profit per hen than those not using lights. Hens laid 11 more eggs each year, light costs were but 14 cents a hen.

Hawks averaging 112 eggs a hen make a net profit of 41 cents a hen compared to flocks producing 24 eggs a hen with a net profit of $1.40 a hen for a year. The most efficient producers used 46 pounds of manure and scratch feed a dozen eggs, while the least efficient used 77 pounds making the feed cost 16 cents a dozen higher. In addition to having more efficient layers, the more successful poultrymen seemed to prefer light breeds, kept 100% reared, fed liquid milks, were not including June 25.

R. H. AMERMAN
GIVES SENIOR CLASS
FINANCIAL REPORT

Senior Class Members
Selling Vanilla To Earn Money For Trip

At the senior class meeting held Wednesday, April 15, Sept. R. H. Amerman gave a report on the present financial standing of the class. He compared the report with previous one given before the senior prom. The first numbers are those of the previous report. The report is as follows: Hours 2,227, 4,002; (This shows an increase of 1,876). Cash $556.87 (approx.) $709.60 (approx.); (This shows an increase of 152.82). Value of hours 229 cents, 177 cents; hours needed $325.00 will be the cost per person $141.16. This report shows that the value of hours is decreasing due to the large amount of hours handled in for the given amount of money.

Mr. Amerman reported that about 47 persons and three sponsors are planning on the trip to Washington. They will leave June 20 on the Baltimore and Ohio Lines. They will stay at the New Colonial Hotel. The entire trip will last 2 weeks.

The seniors are now selling vanilla to increase their cash for the trip. The class is selling two sizes of bottles, one six ounce bottle for 50 cents, and a two ounce bottle for 25 cents. The seniors expect to sell a great deal of this vanilla. Elaine Winters is the chairman in charge of the selling of the product.

June King, class treasurer, reported $101 was made on the senior play.

Paul B. Thompson, assistant principal, suggested that students planning on going to college this fall, hand their names to him. Mr. Thompson has booklets from Michigan State College and other colleges. These booklets contain the college requirements.

DID YOU NOTICE

The faces of a number of our female students when they saw us were read?

The new young shoes on parade in dear old N. H. S.

The seniors triumphant look? Their play was a local success.

The old roller skates being reconditioned? The skater usually needs more re-conditioning after this sport.

"A. Bechens had callers Tuesday?" Oh Albert!

Rocky jeans are popular, but there is no six per cent interest?

Betty B. with her new permanent? Where does he live K. B?

Spring is here! =

Seniors Who's Who

Roland Morris
The hard working senior class president was born July 21, 1917, right here in Northville, and it is here "Tolly" has gone to school and lived all his life.

If you glance through the senior class book, back into the dear, dead days of underclassmen years, you'll find the name of Roland Morris liberally sprinkled in it, for serving on committees and doing what he could to swell the coffers of his class. He is, as said above, the very hardworking, cruele suffering, senior class president and when he got to the office, was forced to read up on parliamentary law. It seems that his class mates co-organized things and Roland is forced to look disgruntled and correct them.

As to what he wants to be, let us only tell you that he goes about blithely describing how to remove an appendix, or how to perform a brain operation. You're right, he wants to be a doctor. Probably the University of Michigan is the place.

Ralph Mathews
More familiarly known as "Happy," the Sir Macalm Campbell of the school was born June 19, 1918 at Walled Lake. He went to school there until the eighth grade and then he turned the front of his car toward Northville and shot over here, where he has been ever since.

"Happy" has been a football hero for two years and as he shows the same speed his car does only when he's on a football field, you know how important he is.

The only thing his teachers can't understand is why he's so slow elsewhere.

As for what he likes to do, hunting and fishing just about suit him.

"Happy" doesn't know what he's going to be, but may go to college.

In case you didn't know it, he holds some sort of a record. He can go from Walled Lake to here in nothing flat.

Happy Birthday today to:

Paul Peterson, April 25

Ernest Race Plays
Violin Solos For
N. H. S. Opera Cast

The members of the cast of the famous opera, H. M. S. Pinafore, have served a pleasant surprise last Friday, after moaning their mournful songs. It was in the person of Ernest Race, former student of Northville High school.

After the cast had finished practice, it was found that Mr. Race was in the audience and that he had brought his violin with him. The cast asked and pleaded for him to play for them, so Mr. Race obliged with the beautiful Andante from the opera, Des Griegelester Von Orléans by Jean Hubay. Mr. Race played with so much feeling that the audience was held spellbound and would not let him go until he gave them another rendition, the fast and tricky, Leibesfrücht by Kreisler.

Mr. Race plays with the complete ease of a truly great artist and interprets the true meaning of his music. So it is with great pleasure that we look upon that moment and Ernest Race a great virtuoso and gentleman.

SOCIETY

Here we are back again to tell you what has been happening, which is nothing much, but you probably want to hear about it anyway. The fact that the J-hop is tonight did not damp the enthusiasm for other things last week. The kids here can run around from morning till night every day and yet look "fresh as a daisy."

A great many students were "Following the Fleet" Sunday night in Plymouth. Frances Alexander, Esme Nindert, Isabelle Tibble, Tom Gregory, Louise Alexander and Chuck Strautz made up one party, while others who were there included June King and Roland Morris, Eugene Johnson and Jack Scherry and Harry Richardson.

Life is over and the girls are still getting new Spring clothes, and they had new ones on Easter, too. Greenwich Jones was one who was in Detroit Saturday, and you should see the suit she got. Boy, oh boy, Virginia Washburn was in the city Saturday, too, but for a totally different reason than visiting a friend.

We have heard it said that there is a couple of six cars in the community and lots in the Tyler home and a certain place in East Lansing. Why wouldn't you, but Dorothy goes up there practically every week and in the old tall fast one with Fred Kurr, Pauline McElroy and Bob Lisecky.

Evelyn Walker and Ronald Bassett named last night at the newly opened Eastwood Park, and also here-before-mentioned June in Plymouth at a yard sale.

Saturday, Noene Blake visited the Flower Show at Belle Isle and attended Eastwood Park with Gordon Sanderson.

The S. S. S. club liked to Plymouth, braving the cold weather, or was it cold? They had lunch in Cass Benton Park and saw the show too. Oh, we hear someone say something about "hitching" eight trains.

Northville is not good enough for some of the girls it seems at least for the week ends. June Denne was in Bay City, Betty Bolton in Port Huron and Bill Grotto in New Hudson.

Alice Masters saw a different kind of a stage show Saturday at the LaSalle where the WPA production of "Lillian" was presented.

Hi-ho-here's the line up for the Hop tonight, it's really going to be a super elegant affair—almost thought I wouldn't be able to get this done for you on account of these males are so darn bashful it takes them six weeks to make up their mind, and another month to get up enough nerve to ask the gal, nevertheless after much snooping around the names are revealed. The music goes round and round and comes out at the gym tonight at nine sharp.

Betty Haystead and Lawrence Parmenter are leading the J-hop to night, "Goody Goody." Says Thomas as Gregory to Isabel Hobie, "I'm Shootin' High," which is perfectly obvious, Tom being 6 feet 4 inches, will you go to the dance with me blonde gal?—Says, the blonde gal "Yes". Ruby Morris is "Purling All the time" (which is perfectly obvious, Tom being 6 feet 4 inches, will you go to the dance with me blonde gal?)—Says, the blonde gal "Yes".

Suppy H. sang "With All My Heart", to Eleanore Hill, and what could the lady with the dark eyes say but yes. Scott claimed "Everything's In Rhythm With His Heart" which would Doris Labbott go with him. Scott is the one that did all the running around, and worrying within these few weeks in order to have the gym look like something else besides a gym tonight, and well he'll do the job.

Chuck Strautz, the modest chap did not want his name in the paper, with threats such as shooting me on the spot if such a tragedy occurred as putting his name in the Orange and Black. His partner for tonight Dorothy Frank, also stated that "He'd hear a melody from the sky" if Louise Alexander would give him a date for tonight thus they will be there. Billy Schoutz utters "Please Believe Me", I want her to go with me to the Hop. So "A Little Bit Independent", Don't you go with me to the Hop. So Pat McLaughlin believed him

ROUND THE SCHOOL

Tonight is the night. The young gentlemen, who the jumbers favor, are in their annual shindig, and are able from their lofty high horses to look down on everyone—the inevitable seniors included. For tonight is the J-hop.

The high school gym, meeting place of the revelers, is decorated with a delightful garden, and you know what a garden is like under soft lights and with the accompaniment of sweet music. This artistic setting of which said juniors are justly proud is the work of committee-chairman Scott W. Cole and his colleagues, Jane Groves, George Westphall, Mary Jane Gregory and James Hotchkiss. And speaking of music, the Columbian orchestra will be there to do its stuff.

The grand march will be lead by Lawrence Parmenter and class president, Betty Haystead. Betty will be looking her loveliest in a yellow lace formal. These girls will be followed by Little Sirmons, vice-president dressed in blue organdy and escort led by Mcle Fraser; and then by the whole of the crowd you and you are going to be among.

ESQUIRE

by ROBERT L. ANGORE

With the coming of the robins comes the spring and also the style of men's apparel change. Even the necessities are lighter weight, and less in the pastel shades in linen and crash fabrics. There will be seen signs of turnover over twice. Then you get another car and tow the model for five miles, sidle away the goes right on to five mile an hour. Scott Cole has a Ford Zephyr. That has more trimmings than a horse. It is up to the Island right now, in fact it's better off than its claims. Scott. Some day dear students, if you hear a big explosion do not be alarmed, because with stream lined models like these cars around you never can tell.

Scott claimed "Everything's In Rhythm With His Heart" which would Doris Labbott go with him. Scott is the one that did all the running around, and worrying within these few weeks in order to have the gym look like something else besides a gym tonight, and well he'll do the job.

Chuck Strautz, the modest chap did not want his name in the paper, with threats such as shooting me on the spot if such a tragedy occurred as putting his name in the Orange and Black. His partner for tonight Dorothy Frank, also stated that "He'd hear a melody from the sky" if Louise Alexander would give him a date for tonight thus they will be there. Billy Schoutz utters "Please Believe Me", I want her to go with me to the Hop. So "A Little Bit Independent", Don't you go with me to the Hop. So Pat McLaughlin believed him date for the Hop. Guess the answer.

Bruce Turnbull shouted "He's Going To Clap His Hands" if Eleanore Johnson says yes, clap his hands he'll do the cause the reply was yes.

Harry Richardson, sings "I'd feel like a feather in the breeze" if June D. would go with him to the big event. Bob Lyke asked, your right on the first guess. Barbara and when she said "Yes," he came back with "Thanks A Million."

Ray Parmenter said "Get Behind Me Satan" and went bravely up to Dorothy Heaton, and asked right out if she would go with him, and Dorothy rewarded him with a smile, saying yes. "It's Been So Long" says Art Hayes to Jane G. An lives in Ann Arbor, you know, and by the by, he just came back from a Washington trip.

So Jane is going with Art tonight. And now my peers are tired of looking for dope, so don't feel hurt if your name is not mentioned.

See you at the disco tonight.

CARD OF THANKS

Memorial Services

I wish to thank my relatives, the Lutheran Ladies Aid, The American Legion Post 147 for the flowers, Dr. A. A. Holcomb, Miss. Fennel and her staff for the good care and especially Rev. Leo Eichstaedt for his many comforting visits during my recent illness. Mrs. S. E. Stevens. 43-p loved the soil and the varied activities of farm life.

Memorial services were held in the home and in the Federated Church.

Mr. Kahler was born in Hope Township, Barry County, at the age of 14 years, his family moved to Petoskey in 1880. He married Miss Emma King of Nashville in the year 1882, when they moved to Salem, where they have resided except one year when they lived in Corunna.

For a number of years Mr. Kahler had a grocery store and the Post Office in Salem, when he became highly esteemed in the community.

Many relatives from Petoskey, Nashville, Detroit, Ypsilanti and Detroit attended the service. Those left to mourn the loss are: The widow, Emma Kahler; son, Vern of Salem; Mrs. Richard Peterson of Petoskey; Mrs. Van Speers of Ypsilanti; son, Michael and wife, of Calumet, and six grand children, nephews and nieces. Interment was made in the Salem Cemetery.

Salem Congregational Church Lucia M. Stroh, Pastor.

Rev. Paul Zimmerman, who plans to go as a missionary to the Kentucky Migrants next month, will speak at the 10:30 a.m. service and again at 7:30 p.m. while living near Salem a few years ago, Mr.

Zimmerman gave his life to God for service and went to the Moody Bible Institute in Chicago to prepare for his work. He graduated from that school, and has been filling a pastorate in Yorkville, Ill.

Bible School 11:45 a.m.—"Jesus Looks at Wealth and Poverty." Luke 16:19-31. Memory verse: "The rich and poor meet together; the Lord is maker of them all." Proverbs 22:

James R. Davy

On Easter Sunday Mr. and Mrs. James R. Davy were received into the membership of the Salem Federated Church and a few hours later Mr. Davy was called to "come up higher" and join the church triumphant. He was born January 29, 1883 near Acadia, Ohio, son of Robert and Rebecca Newhouse Davy. At the age of 29, April 12, 1913, James Davy married Ida J. Myers and three boys and three girls were born of this union. The mother of his children and one daughter preceded him in death.

James Davy and Mary Helen Divine were united in marriage in 1916. For thirty years the Davy family has been the home of the family, and it was a joy to the neighbors and friends to know James Davy as a farmer because he was a loyal member of the
