

EX-PATIENTS DAY OBSERVED AT EASTLAWN

Original Comedy and Music

For nearly 15 years, patients have been marching down the hill from Eastlawn, recovered from tuberculosis and returning to their homes, their families, their jobs. Last Sunday a throng of them marched back again, to see once again the scenes of their cure-taking days, and to shake the hand of the man who was chiefly responsible for their return to health, Dr. A. B. Wickham.

From Wayne, Milan, Oxford, Hemlock, South Lyon, Swartz Creek, Northville and Detroit, they came, to celebrate Ex-Patients' Day. And from such cities as Houghton, Flint, Saginaw, Ionia, Cheesaning and Stanton, came messages from former patients not able to attend.

It was a gala day for everyone, with an afternoon and an evening program that touched the hearts, as well as the funny-bones of all who attended.

Events Held in Grove
The spacious grove near the sanatorium buildings provided an impressive outdoor setting for the afternoon events, while the quiet, peaceful atmosphere of the Northville Baptist church was chosen for the evening program. Patients "on exercise" were driven to the grove and to the church in cars, while bed patients listened in on a special broadcasting arrangement.

The afternoon festivities opened at 3 o'clock with stirring selections played by the colorfully attired Northville high school band, directed by Leslie G. Lee, music instructor of the Northville public school.

Dr. Wickham gave the address of welcome, speaking also on the early history of Eastlawn sanatorium. He told of his search for an ideal spot for a sanatorium, and of his final choice of the present site.

Stetsonville Editor Speaks
Following more band music, Robert A. Long, editor of the Eastlawn Stetsonville, spoke briefly on the sanatorium magazine. A. L. Anderson of Detroit, a former patient of Eastlawn, gave a talk to the ex-patient and his problems in re-adjusting himself to the business and industrial world after he leaves the sanatorium.

Then came the comedy, a play written by A. L. Anderson, based on (Continued on Page Five)

WALLED LAKE BOY JOINS TIGER CLUB

Nineteen-year-old Harry Wolfe of West Point Park, has been given a contract with the Detroit Baseball club, owner of the champion Detroit Tigers.

Aloysius (Wish) Egan, scout for the Tigers, liked Wolfe's playing on the mound for the Dixie club in Class A of the Detroit Federation. The scout spotted Wolfe's right-hand pitching, his effective fast ball and good curve.

Harry started his way up the ladder by playing back yard baseball as a small boy. Upon entering the Farmington high school, he tied up with the school team as pitcher. There he was looked upon as one of the best hurlers in the school's history. He was graduated with the class of '35.

He played last summer with the Down River Merchants in the Down River League, winning four games and losing one. Playing later with the Garden City Independent team, he won ten games and lost three.

Harry has been sent for a tryout with the Charlester club of the Penn State League, a Tiger farm.

A group of friends and admirers gave Harry a big send-off Monday morning at the West Point Community Hall, where he was given a traveling bag by the townspeople.

LANGFIELD IS DELEGATE

Accompanied by his wife, E. C. Langfield will leave next Tuesday for Atlantic City, N. J., to attend the convention of International Rotary which will begin its sessions June 21. Mr. Langfield will be the delegate from the Northville Rotary. The Langfields plan to make stops at Gettysburg, Pa. and Washington, D. C. Perry Angove will also attend the International meet but will not leave until later.

RELEASE TICKETS FOR LAST SENIOR ACTIVITY, JUNE 18

"We can't stress it too much that attendance at the commencement exercises, June 18, in the Pennington-Allen theatre, will be with the presentation of a ticket rather than an announcement," said Superintendent R. H. American this week.

"Last year, we had any number of people who came to the theatre, expecting to attend the exercises because they had announcements. It takes a ticket to get in. Each senior is given 10 tickets, in addition, tickets are given members of the board, ex-board members and village officials."

"It is improbable that extra tickets will be available for the general public, as graduates themselves have a want list of 75 tickets, should any be returned to the office," he continued.

Use of the Pennington-Allen theatre for commencement is a courtesy extended to the school by the manager, M. G. Blunk of Plymouth.

EXCHANGITES HEAR PLUGGING FOR FAIR

Early History Is Reviewed
Giving Success Credit
To Former Workers

Members of the Northville Wayne County Fair board were guests of the Northville Exchange club at its meeting Wednesday noon and from opinions expressed and assurances given by the different members of the Northville fair this fall will exceed any previous effort. All who discussed the fair were hopeful that the renewed efforts that are being put forth will assure a better attendance and that the tree acts and exhibits will be in keeping with past years, when the society was riding the waves of prosperity and when people were attending in great crowds during the day and night.

At the conclusion of the very appetizing meal, President D. A. Brief of the Exchange Club called upon President Elmer L. Smith of the fair board, who in turn presented the individual directors and asked that they explain their labors in behalf of the fair. All responded in a very hopeful and expressed confidence in the forthcoming exhibition. Many applications have already been received for space for the midway, the free acts have been selected, contracts have been closed for the fireworks display to be given three nights, there is an awakening interest in the race program and the horse show gives promise of being fully up to the standard set in former years and that means the best show in the state, the poultry display will be outstanding as usual and in the live stock departments there will be the usual large and interesting exhibits, and the women's departments will maintain their high standard of former years.

Suggestions were invited as to the conduct of the fair and criticisms (Continued on page 4)

GARDENERS INSPECT
RARE IRIS PLANTS
AT WHIPPLE HOME

Although the Middle Rouge Park Drive is beautiful in itself with its perfectly designed borders of shrubs and flowers, there are elegantly appointed homes along the route that add greatly to the splendor of a parkway that has as much scenic beauty as any in this part of the country.

Near the drive is situated the home of Harvey Whipple, approximately two miles south of Northville. At this season of the year the Whipple garden is a blending of many hues of the insect. Two four-hundred and more varieties growing there fill the air with a delicate, elusive perfume peculiar to the iris.

Those who are real flower enthusiasts will appreciate Mr. Whipple's having more than 90 of the most prized varieties, there being only 100 of the really top notch species. Mr. Whipple has selected over four hundred of the better grades of plants from the some 8,000 to 10,000 known hybrids.

The Whipple gardens are not open to the public. Mr. Whipple is always glad to talk to gardeners but has found it impracticable to allow everyone to visit his gardens. This season a large number of buyers from distant parts of the state have visited the garden, selecting rare plants to add to their own collections.

Dr. H. S. Willis, son of Dave and Norman Campbell, left last Thursday for a visit in Southport, N. C. They expect to return June 21.

POST OFFICE WILL HANDLE BONUS BONDS

Commander Says Over 200
Veterans Have Filed
Notice for Cash

As the date draws near for the distribution of the Adjusted Service bonds, which are scheduled to be mailed for this district from Chicago, June 15, plans are completed here for prompt delivery and certification.

According to Ray A. Altenberg, commander of the Lloyd G. Green Post No. 147, there are between two and three hundred veterans in this vicinity, including those at Maybury sanatorium, who have filed application for the bonds. "This means that something like $150,000 will be coming into this section with the cashing of the bonds," he affirmed.

"Several of the Legion men are planning to use this money to buy property and build homes. I'm buying property and plan to build a home on Middle Belt and Seven Mile road. Don Nulzen, James McTigue and Fred Raymond also plan to buy property and possibly build near Northville. Some of them will buy cars with the money," concluded Mr. Altenberg.

Emerson Kelly expects to build a home near Plymouth.

A polling of the various veterans reveals that cash from the bonds will be spent in the following manner:

Expenditure	Percent
Building and home furnishings	55
Automobiles and accessories	25
Clothing	15
Miscellaneous	5

City Day and Night Service
Ex-service men, who are not at home during the day time when the regular mail delivery is made, may gather at the post office Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, June 16 and 17, and receive the bonds from the postal officials who will be giving day and night service in order that no time may be lost in distribution.

"We'll set the closing time at 9 o'clock for this mail service at the post office, but if there's a line of veterans waiting for the bonds we'll stay on duty until the whole thing is cleared up," said Assistant Postmaster D. J. Stark, speaking Tuesday evening to a group of veterans in the Legion Hall.

Deliver Only to Addressee
Stressing the fact that the bonds would be delivered to addressees only, Postmaster Fred E. VanAlta, asked Legion men who work during the day, to leave word at their homes, stating whether or not they would call at the office for the bonds, or if they wanted them delivered by a carrier at the address after office hours.

"Each man must be identified. It would help us if we could have a veteran at the post office during the nights when we are open to identify the men we don't know," said Mr. Stark.

It was explained by the postmaster that the bonds received by the veterans are to be cashed consecutively, in accordance with the numbers printed on each one. The bonds will come in $50 denominations and will be certified at the Village Hall, receipted and sent by registered mail to Detroit. Checks for the cash amount wanted, will be sent from there directly to the veteran within a week's time.

MRS. MINER INJURED IN FALL AT CHURCH

While leaving the church service Sunday morning, Mrs. Frank N. Miner, wife of the pastor of Mr. Hope Methodist church, Detroit, had the misfortune to catch her heel in the brass binding of the carpet, causing a fall. Mrs. Miner sustained a serious sprain of her wrist and other minor injuries.

In spite of her discomfort, Mr. and Mrs. Miner started for Albion where their daughter, Betty, was to graduate from Albion college. In Northville they stopped over night at the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Atchison. Mrs. Atchison's daughter, Jean, accompanied them to Albion Monday where they attended the commencement exercises. Miss Vada McPhee, a niece of Mrs. Atchison's, also receiving her diploma.

Dr. H. S. Willis, son of Dave and Norman Campbell, left last Thursday for a visit in Southport, N. C. They expect to return June 21.

Graduation Exercises Are Important Events Scheduled Next Week

Seniors Hold Final Rehearsal for Clever
Class Night Entertainment to Be Held
June 16, in Gymnasium

School activities are centered around graduation events for the sixty Northville seniors who will be given diplomas at the exercises to be held Thursday evening, June 18, in the Pennington-Allen theatre.

Preceding this important occasion which climaxes the school year, will be the baccalaureate service at 8 p. m. Sunday, June 14, in the Presbyterian church, house and the class program to be held at 8 p. m., June 16, in the high school gymnasium.

Dr. J. L. Brumm, head of the journalism department at the University of Michigan, is to deliver the commencement address this year. The invocation and the benediction will be given by the Rev. Kendall S. North and the Rev. Harry J. Lord. Rita Heatley and Juanita Elkin, salutatorian and valedictorian of the class, will be presented. Music will be rendered by the senior members of the high school choir, Doris Tewksbury and Evelyn Ambler.

Awards to Girls
The women's club sewing contest will be given. Following the presentation of the class by Paul B. Thompson, diplomas will be handed to the seniors by Superintendent R. H. American.

Seniors who are being graduated with high scholastic honors include: Juana Elkin, Rita Heatley, Edith Barker, Dorothy York, Frances Alexander, Alice Banks, Kathleen Riker, Thelma Lester, Pearl Porritt, Helen Hill, Frances McLaughlin, Evelyn Ambler, Fred Blum, Jr. and Ida Altman.

Ministers Hold Service
The graduates will gather Sunday evening, June 14, in the Presbyterian church, house where the baccalaureate service will be held. The last minister, the Rev. H. J. Whitfield, delivering the address of the evening. Assisting Mr. Whitfield will be the Rev. Fr. Joseph G. Schuler, the Rev. K. S. North and the Rev. H. J. Lord. Two sacred musical numbers will be sung by the school choir under the direction of Leslie G. Lee.

Seniors Reform in Music Shop
The Music Shop, a clever evening entertainment, is in last rehearsal now, preparatory to the presentation by the seniors, June 16, in the school gymnasium.

Maestro Robert Angove is master of ceremonies on this occasion and in proper order he will present Roland Morris, drum major; Frances Alexander, historian; Irene Modest, prophet; Kathleen Riker, Fear D'Ardice, by Debussy; Paul Beard.

Noted Writers Focus Attention On Two Northville High School Girls Who Edit Nature Study Newspaper for Pleasure

Two modest Northville school girls, Marjorie Chase and Alice Eaton, have come to unexpected public recognition as nature observers.

Since they were little girls these two have loved to wander dreamily through the woods with their eyes wide open for interesting things about them. Happy surprises have awaited them under many a bush or hollow log. Sounds of strange song birds and insects have caught their ears and have been investigated until they know the name of each wild creature.

They have learned nature's yearly program and have discovered what flowers bloom at various seasons. They know every tree and shrub by name.

"Let's write down what we find," said one.

"Let's make it a newspaper," responded the other.

So four years ago the "Nature News," with its four small pages began to take form and to be picked out painstakingly on the Eaton typewriter. The subscription list began with only four subscribers, the parents of both girls. Gradually school friends wanted to read the paper and soon other friends became interested until 55 copies had to be issued and the high school office took over the task of printing with the help of the Eaton girls. The paper is now published weekly and is a source of pleasure to many.

TO WIDEN AND LIFT STREETS IN NORTHVILLE

County Commission Will Do
Away with Angle Parking
On Main Street

Wednesday forenoon representatives of the Wayne County Highway commission came to Northville to keep their appointment with the members of the village commission to investigate the condition of our Main street with regard to better traffic regulations. The visitors were J. K. Norton, field engineer, M. N. Brown, construction superintendent, H. J. Keogh, field engineer, P. H. Holland, office engineer, and Superintendent of Parks Bennett.

It will be recalled that these gentlemen were here two weeks ago and after looking the situation over with the members of the commission promised to have surveys and estimates and drawings made and to return in two weeks. Wednesday's visit brought good news to Northville and assurances that the conditions that now prevail will be greatly improved and that our Main street will have its face "lifted" to provide better traffic conditions.

Plan Four-Lane Traffic
The improvement as proposed, and it is believed the recommendations made will be approved by the members of the highway commission and the village commission will provide for cutting back the sidewalk on both sides of the street to a width of eight feet; two seven-foot parking lanes for parallel parking and four nine-foot driving lanes. The present will be raised to eliminate the "steps" at the curb as now and there will be a slight raise at the sidewalk edge, about as high as the road curb. This will necessitate raising both North and South Center streets to bring them to a gradual grade at the intersection with Main street at the four corners. The payment will be fifty feet wide and the curb on the north side of the street will be carried on over to Church street, providing for additional parking space without interfering with traffic on East Main street.

Remove Danger
The four driving lanes, each with a white line down the center, will be a safety feature and will eliminate the danger of the present narrow lanes and the danger of the present narrow lanes and the danger of the present narrow lanes.

Those who have given this project a great deal of study feel that this improvement is a very attractive business street. It is proposed to complete the improvement just as soon as possible. The representatives of the highway commission have shown a fine spirit of cooperation and it is believed that their advice and counsel will bring order out of a very bad and poorly planned situation—one that was not foreseen when the pavement was constructed years ago.

OSCAR PRELLER DIES
AFTER HEART ATTACK

Oscar Preller, 62, died unexpectedly June 6 at his home west of Novi, following a heart attack. He was stricken while working in the flower garden in the evening and died immediately.

Mr. Preller left his birthplace, Berlin, Germany, 25 years ago to come to this country. For the past three years he has lived in Novi and has been employed at the Ford factory in Northville.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Elza Preller, and a brother and sister, both living in Germany.

Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. Tuesday at the Schrader parlors, with the Rev. A. K. MacRae of Novi, officiating.

Burial was made at Grand Lawn cemetery.

SUNSHINE SPECIAL READY FOR OUTING IN VACATION PARK

Northville, Exchanges, together with nine other clubs in northwest Detroit are to be hosts to 1,100 children of this and surrounding neighborhoods at the annual Sunshine Special to be held Thursday, June 25, at Edgewater Park.

The ten clubs have been asked to raise $110 to pay for the ice cream, pop corn and other treats which will be provided for each child. Members will also provide transportation to and from the park for each guest. In addition to this, the clubs sponsoring this excursion are Redford, Brighton, Westlawn-Strathmore, Farmington, Lincoln Park, River Rouge, Uptown, Detroit, Highland Park and West Detroit.

The caravans bearing children from their homes, institutions and other centers will meet at Grand River avenue and West-Six Mile road at 1:30 p. m. June 25. They will proceed from that point in a parade to Edgewater where some thousand boys and girls will play at the resort.

COULD FEDERAL CRIME
Occupants of a heavy type car which left large tire tracks in the road, were seen Tuesday evening, knocking down mail boxes on Six and Seven Mile roads. It is reported that the one who witnessed the act has stated to post office officials that there was every evidence that the driver and his companions were drunk. Roy Clark says the matter has been placed in the hands of the federal authorities and that the offenders will be penalized according to law.

INVITE VILLAGERS TO ATTEND DRILL FESTIVAL TONIGHT

A brilliant, colorful spectacle will be witnessed at 7 p. m. June 12, in the business district at Plymouth when a Shriners' drill will be held.

Taking part in the festivities will be the million dollar Shrine band, under the direction of Harry Cramer, accompanied by Arab patrol, chanters and Al Smith's stunt corps together with several celebrities of this order, all in full regalia.

More than 250 Shriners from the Moslem Temple, Detroit, will appear.

The event is under the auspices of the Suburban Shrine club. The men will be welcomed by the mayor of the City of Plymouth, Henry Hon-drop.

Villagers of Northville have been cordially invited to attend by A. Blake Gilles, deputy superintendent of the Detroit House of Correction.

WATTSMEN TAKE TOP HONORS IN LEAGUE

Defeat Over Redford Union
Brings Additional Glory
To Local Athletes

By EDWIN HILL

Northville high school is the champion baseball team of the Suburban League Circuit for the first time since it has been a member of the brotherhood, having defeated Redford Union 6-2 in a game played Thursday, June 24. This was a great climax to a season of brilliant play for the Watt men. Interestingly it might be said that the team played a good game, both at and in the field, displaying the quality of champions.

Although Redford Union broke into the scoring column in the first inning with a single, fully, the Watt men were far from home. In it was only the beginning.

Northville dominated widely in the second column, in the first half of the second, but was left stranded.

Finally, in the N. H. S. half of the third two runners were posted on its side of the ledger as it touched the Redford Union batter for a walk and two singles, making the score at the end of the third, 2-1—Northville leading.

But in the Redford Union half of the fourth, they were graciously handed an unlearned run on a hit and three errors by the N. H. S. infielders to tie up the score at two all.

Northville went out in order in the fourth and neither team threatened in the fifth. In the sixth after Redford Union had gone out in order, N. H. S. put the heat on the Redford Union "heaven-upper" and caused him to blow up with a loud bang! He gave a free transportation to Hardesty and Way and was then (Continued on page 8)

NOLLAR IS BURNED IN GAS EXPLOSION

An explosion and the sound of crashing glass brought villagers in the downtown district to the Schrader store shortly after 10 a. m. Tuesday. Darrel Nollar had placed gasoline soaked clothes and an old blanket in the furnace, ignited them, causing a blast that injured him, broke the north plate glass window at the front of the store and knocked down Ray J. Osterline as he stood in the rear of the building. When he fell he struck his head against a cement block, losing consciousness for a few seconds.

Mr. Nollar, suffering from burns and shock, was brought out of the store by Elmer Perrin, Lee Shipley and I. E. Turnham, who were among the first to arrive at the scene. Telephone operators, failing to find any village doctors in their offices, contacted Mrs. Irene Fennell, superintendent of Sessions hospital, who took Nollar to the hospital where he was treated for secondary burns on his arms.

Mr. Osterline regarded consciousness just before Mr. Perrin entered the building and made his way to the basement, in response to screams and cries for help from Nollar. He found that Nollar had been able to make his way out of the furnace-filled room where a gasoline can was blazing. He rushed to the back yard with the burning can, thus preventing the blaze from making any headway on the building.

It was not until after Nollar had been taken to the hospital that Mr. Osterline learned that the window had been forced out by the blast.

With a funeral to be held from the parlors Tuesday afternoon, it was necessary to have Fred A. Northrop help with the service. Mr. Northrop will work there as he is needed until Mr. Nollar is able to leave.

SOB LETTER BRINGS PWA SCHOOL GRANT

Board of Education Offices
Sold to Detroit Bidder,
Await Approval

Attorney-George Stalker's sob letter to the PWA officials last January was responsible for the approval of the loan and grant which was granted this spring for the building of the new grade school building in Northville.

"No one was more surprised that the petition went through, than were the men in charge of Detroit PWA offices," said a government representative who met with members of the school board June 1, when bids were opened for the disposal of the present board of education office and kindergarten building.

Set Rigid Deadline
After setting Dec. 15, 1935, as the deadline for the acceptance of PWA petitions, government officials closed their books against further requests for aid. Mr. Stalker's letter stated the facts which developed here with the burning of the grade school, Jan. 11. He told how the students had to be housed in three separate buildings for the remainder of the school term without proper equipment and seating capacity. Making it plain that an adequate building could not be replaced by the taxpayers of the village without federal aid, Stalker stressed Northville's need so that the project was rushed through the Washington office on the strength of Mr. Stalker's plea for record funds.

Board Is Complimented
The PWA official said that Northville was the only place in Michigan that was given a new loan and grant after the Dec. 15 deadline. He complimented the school board for the splendid way the business and in the field displaying the quality of champions.

"BLACK LEGION" TERROR BROKEN

Exposure of the floggings, murders and other acts of terrorism of the "Black Legion" has apparently broken the back of this menace. Only degenerates or morons could now be members of such a hideous organization.

The facts are that the number of members of this group has been greatly exaggerated. The metropolitan newspapers are to blame for much of this, although they must be given credit for smoking out the vermin leaders of the terror group. Take Northville for example when you consider the extent of the "Black Legion." There have been some rumors that this community had one or two members, but no one thinks for a second that they would be the type of men who would condone terrorism in any form. Very likely most of the members who joined the society were misinformed and would have been glad to have gotten out if they could. But once in, they were afraid to withdraw. Now that the brutality to which the masks, the mysticism and the weird oaths all lead, has been exposed mercilessly, the menace of the organization is gone. In the meantime the morons who have brought on the reign of terror in isolated spots should be removed from society.

IF IT ISN'T WILD WASTE, WHAT IS IT?

We have yet to meet a fair minded and intelligent person who will defend the total of the New Deal spending. The money of us all is being spent, in many cases, like water. Examples of this profligate spending can be found by the hundreds. The other day in the United States senate a few illustrations were given by Senator Metcalf. Here are three of them:

For a gymnasium in a New Mexico village with 134 (count 'em) inhabitants—$19,000.

For repairing a community center in Vermont which had not yet been built—$62,000.

For paving the bed of Wigwam Brook in New Jersey—$52.

Just for good measure, here is a Northville example of waste of the people's money: Seven men went down one four paved streets just a few days ago picking up the dirt next to the curb. Two were in the big truck and five were picking up the dirt, dust and leaves.

Just how long are the American people going to tolerate this pitiful waste of the tax payers' money?

OUR POSITION ON THE NATIONAL CAMPAIGN

From now until November this newspaper is going to print the 80 per cent of newspapers of the country if trying to bring about a defeat of the New Deal.

It is fair that we tell our readers why we do this.

We are profoundly against practices of the New Deal. Although in sympathy with some of its principles. This coming campaign is not between democrats and republicans. It will be between those who want to maintain the American system, which has made such communities as Northville, and those who would bring in an European system. The most bitter criticism of the present administration and its wild extravagance has come, not from republicans, but from democrats. To call the roll of those who have left the leadership of President Roosevelt would convince any fair-minded person that Roosevelt is no longer a democrat. As a matter of fact, the old party labels are gone. The issue is that of Americanism.

We are deeply convinced that a continuation of the present administration's policies will bring a dark chapter in the life of our country. We are spending every day far more than we take in. Our national debt is the highest in our history. And it is mounting daily. We shall not pay it. To our children and perhaps grandchildren will go this crushing load. Our president laughs about it, but it will be no joke to those who pay the tax, 25 and 50 years from now.

We shall try to be fair in our endeavors to defeat the New Deal. But our own conscience and our instinct of self-protection and of protection for our family and our friends would not allow us to keep silent when so grave an issue is at stake—an issue that is the most serious since the Civil War.

Our columns will always be open to those who may disagree with our policies. Each must answer to his own conscience.

GETTING FUN OUT OF THE FARM

The editor of The Record is getting quite a thrill out of an adventure in alfalfa which he is carrying on at the family farm of 50 acres near Albion, where we lived for eleven years. This adventure carries out the theory that a good friend of ours has, viz., that the more interests you have in life, the more you get out of life.

How we got into this farm business may be interesting. After six years of strenuous newspaper work as editor at Northville in the Thumb of Michigan, the writer sold "The Northville Leader"—a paper that "Dave" Hubbel made known throughout the state—and bought the 50-acre farm mentioned. We decided to go into the orchard business and within a year had set out 400 apple and peach trees. We were on the farm just one summer. The writer, after May 1, plowed every field on the farm and the neighbors got a big laugh out of hearing that he actually kept an umbrella over his head while turning over the soil during a rain. Umbrella or no umbrella, we "carried the message to Garcia" and the crops all went in, even if a little late. It was 1917 and the World war was on. The net result was that we were called to the office of The Albion Evening Record in the fall, first to help in the advertising department and later to the place of city editor and finally to the position of editor and a partner in the firm. We moved to the city and our farming days were over.

Having gotten hold of the bear's tail, we couldn't let go. We kept the farm and during the next ten years learned how to lose money on the farm. One man bought the place and the house burned. We got another and sold the farm again—and then the barn burned and we put up a new one. Then the depression and reluctantly we had to take the farm back. Still had to hang onto the bear's tail—no one wanted to buy farms any more.

Then we remembered that our father once said: "Rich, I believe that if you would seed that farm, you could make it go." So, after talking to County Farm Agent Ralph Carr and other well informed farm men we decided to put every foot of every field into alfalfa, on a three-year plan. Last year 15 acres were seeded and the first cutting will be made this month; 17 acres have been limed and will be seeded within two or three weeks; and then next year the final 15 acres will go in. We hope to sell some alfalfa this summer, more next year and quite a barnfull in 1938. But no matter how much we sell or at what price, we are enjoying the experience. And also doing some soil building.

THIS WEEK'S SLOGAN

"God helps them that help themselves."

NORTHVILLE'S YESTERDAYS

1 YEAR AGO

The Thad Johnson Knapp scholarship, which was given to Miss Mary Louise Jordan at the commencement program last week, will probably be re-instituted in the form of a loan next year. Mrs. T. J. Knapp, donor, declared yesterday.

Northville looks with pride at the success of one of her sons, Russell M. Atchison, son of Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Atchison, who has been honored by being one of the few chosen of the class of 1935 of the Medical school of the University of Michigan to become an interne in the University hospital.

The Michigan Wood Products company will be operating its plant in Northville on Plymouth avenue within the next two weeks or less.

At the annual Northville high school alumni banquet Friday evening, Robert Linsenkamp was elected as the new president for the coming year. Mrs. May Bobbitt was chosen vice-president. Edward M. Bogart as secretary and Mrs. Genevieve Ely as treasurer.

5 YEARS AGO

Commencement, the wedding of the valley for Northville's seniors between 35 or 40 of them, will be held next Thursday evening, June 18 in the auditorium of the Wayne County Training school.

Honoring Miss Beth Forsford, who is to be a June bride, a group of friends who have been pleasantly associated with her in the schools, gathered at the home of Mrs. Jack Taylor Monday evening. Mrs. Taylor was assisted by Mrs. Zimmerman.

In an occasion replete with good fellowship, 194 Northville business men, prominent editors of the state and notables from Detroit placed their hearty stamp of approval Monday night on the new Record offices. The formal inspection of the offices was held early in the evening and the large crowd then adjourned.

Why milk maids are pretty

YOU will find that most of the pretty girls you know are wise enough to drink plenty of milk—are regular "milk-maids" in fact. Follow their example and order your milk from us.

Both of the propositions submitted to the people of Northville at the special election on Monday were carried by overwhelming majorities. The proposition to bond in the sum of $40,000 for the purpose of purchasing the Lapham home-stand received a majority of 274, the total number of "yes" votes being 243 and there were but 39 votes cast against the proposition. The proposition to sell the present village property was carried by a total of 251 votes polled by the supporters of the plan and but 34 against the project.

An interesting wedding took place at New Hudson last Saturday evening at six o'clock when Dikch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shreve, was united in marriage to Howard Cole of this village. Northville's village marshal.

Work on the new H. R. Richardson building is progressing well. It will be a very attractive structure when completed. The first will be a parking place in the lot.

PROPERTY does get "run down." Most home-owners would like to fix it up and protect their investment, but few are able to pay immediate cash.

The BIRD FINANCE PLAN (formulated in cooperation with the National Housing Act) now offers a convenient natural solution. It permits you to repair, modernize, improve your property and pay out of income each month. There is no investigation charge, no down payment, no red tape, no delay.

Just two simple forms to fill out. Then place your order for BIRD roofing, siding, wallboard, building products.

We will handle all details for you.

Nineteen seniors of the class of 1921 will be graduated Wednesday evening.

Private Frank N. Hall, whose remains arrived in Northville last Thursday from France, was given a military burial at Rural Hill cemetery Sunday afternoon.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Linsapert, Wednesday evening, June 15, when their eldest daughter, Mary Ethel became the bride of Harry Morrell Simmons, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Simmons.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Alexander, Tuesday, a daughter. At the annual meeting of the library association, held last Friday afternoon, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. F. S. Harmon; Vice-president, Mrs. B. G. Fikins; Secretary, Mrs. C. S. Fikins; Treasurer, Mrs. E. H. Lapham; members of the board of directors, Mesdames B. A. Wheeler, J. B. Tunham, S. E. Parson, P. R. Alexander.

At the Methodist parsonage last Tuesday, June 7, John Snyder and Miss Alice Mackenberg of Wayne were united in marriage by Rev. H. J. B. Marsh. After the ceremony the newly wedded pair were tendered a dinner and reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Law on the Northside.

Miss Ethel Linsapert was given a delightful surprise shower at the home of Miss Ruth Henry, last Tuesday evening. Miss Gladys Black and Miss Henry acting as hostesses.

Northville seems to be about the only live town of its size that hasn't a business men's association.

Another Northville boy who has gone out into the world and is "making good" in a way that seems very likely to make him a credit to his home town is Wm. G. Carson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Carson of this village. Young Carson is now attending the Army Medical college at Washington, having been chosen for that privilege by Surgeon Gen. O. Reilly himself.

The King's Daughters held their quarterly "spread" in the form of a porch party at Mrs. Frank S. Harmon's Tuesday afternoon and had an extremely enjoyable time. Mesdames Alice Hankley, Kattie Harmon, Neille Cameron and Miss Frances Coldren were elected delegates to the convention at Jackson in September.

Graduating exercises for the class of '06, occur Thursday evening 7:30—one will graduate.

The paved lot of highway commissioners in Michigan doubtless live in fear. The want of a little scraping the worst roads in the state prevail all over the town and to the detriment of farm property and the driving public.

The seventh graders who have occupied the basement of the high school since the fire, were demoted for the trip last Friday, the noise from the tearing down of the grade building making it impossible to continue the sessions.

The last program for morning exercises was conducted by the tenth graders last Thursday. It consisted of a recitation by Irene Finman, a piano solo by Lydia Clark and a talk by Miss Finney. After the exercises the baseball letters were given out by Mr. Misenar. The lucky members to receive a large orange "K" were: Eural Clark, Captain; Jay Simpson, Truman Garfield, Asa Whipple, Floyd Lanning, J. D. Thompson, Wendell Miller, Forrest Wilcox, Howard Cole and Donald McLean.

Society Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Richardson Are Fish Dinner Hosts, Monday Evening—

Push 16 northern pike, which were brought back to the village by the fishermen who spent last week at Sand Lake, were eaten Monday evening at a dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Richardson at their home, 860 West Main. Twenty-eight guests were seated at small tables which the hostess had made attractive with floral arrangements.

Guests at the dinner included Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Forney, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer L. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Dayton B. Bunn, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Mills, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd A. Northrop, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ayers, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Eaton of Plymouth, Dr. and Mrs. B. C. Cavell, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Angove, Mrs. Mary Alexander and Mrs. N. O. Schrader.

Honors at bridge, which was played in the evening, were made by Mr. Stewart, Mrs. Walker and Mrs. Chapman.

Mrs. Smith Is Hostess at Large Luncheon-Bridge Party—

A lovely party of the week was the bridge-luncheon given Monday by Mrs. Elmer L. Smith at her home, 318 S. Rogers. The hostess seated her 28 guests for luncheon at three large tables, made attractive with bouquets of red roses. At bridge, high scores and prizes went to Mrs. J. N. McLoughlin, Mrs. L. C. Stewart, Mrs. W. G. Yerkes and Mrs. Thad J. Knapp.

Steak Roast Enjoyed by Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Bunn—

Twenty villagers, members of the young married people's set, were entertained informally Tuesday evening when Mr. and Mrs. Dayton B. Bunn were hosts at a steak roast in their lovely yard, 356 South Rogers.

Cards were played during the evening, with high score honors going to Mrs. Glenn M. Jewell and Elmer P. Clark.

Plymouth Group Is Entertained by Women's Union—

The Presbyterian Women's Union welcomed the sister society of Plymouth at the church Wednesday afternoon when the guests provided the program for the occasion. Mrs. M. A. Woodworth was in charge of the program.

Mrs. Walter Nichol opened the meeting with a devotional service. The talk of the afternoon was given by the Rev. Victor Longfield, pastor of the Methodist church in Detroit, who is a returned missionary from the Belgian Congo in Africa. Mr. Longfield discussed the emergence of the primitive Negro into the modern and pointed with significance "Emerging into what?"

Mr. Longfield concluded his talk with an informal answering of questions asked him.

Mrs. Woodworth led a very interesting song feature in which the ten outstanding, living hymns were sung after a brief history of their writing. Participating in the song with Mrs. Woodworth were Mrs. Moore, Mrs. McCallister, and Mrs. E. A. Connor.

A delightful social hour while the friends of neighboring communities became better acquainted was enjoyed while tea was served. Mrs. Chas. Dabner and Mrs. Scott A. Lovell presided at the table.

Rotarians and Families Enjoy Picnic at the Clark Home—

With a perfect June evening to make the setting delightful, the Rotarians and their wives enjoyed their annual picnic Tuesday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Clark were the hosts this year at their home on the Bass Lane road. Nearly 60 guests were present.

Tables were set on the flower-bordered lawn at the rear of the home and the feast was substantial and generous. Mrs. Clark was assisted by Mrs. Chas. Scholtz, Mrs. E. H. Lapham and Mrs. Floyd A. Northrop.

Out-of-door games and visiting followed the dinner until darkness drove the company within the house where the Republican Convention broadcast occupied the attention.

Guests of members present were Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Traxell, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Lapham and Mrs. Chas. T. Thornton.

Mrs. E. H. Lapham Entertains at Small Luncheon Party—

Mrs. Edward H. Lapham entertained a small group of friends at luncheon on Thursday, June 4. Following the luncheon, the ladies busied themselves with dainty bits of needlework and at the same time demonstrated that they were the equals of Charlie Chan or Hercule Poirot in solving crime mysteries.

Bridge Club Members Are Guests at Dessert Party, Thursday—

Mrs. Dayton B. Bunn opened her home yesterday afternoon to members of her contract club, entertaining with a dessert party. Her guests were Mrs. Elmer L. Smith, Mrs. H. P. Richardson, Mrs. Ralph Ayers, Mrs. W. P. Chapman, Mrs. E. L. Mills, Mrs. Scott A. Lovell and Mrs. E. R. Eaton of Plymouth.

The Past Matrons club of Orient Chapter No. 77, O. E. S., will meet Wednesday, June 17, at the home of Mrs. A. A. Holcomb on North Wing street. The meeting will start at 12:30.

Cutford Turnbull and son, Bruce, spent Sunday in Delhi, Can., where they visited relatives. Mrs. David Lomler returned to Northville where she is visiting at the Turnbull home.

Miss Florence Burns of Lansing is spending a few days at the C. B. Washburne home. Mrs. Washburne will spend the week end at Lansing, a guest of Miss Florence Burns, who plans to return to her home the latter part of this week.

Orient Chapter, No. 77, were guests of the Plymouth chapter Tuesday evening. About 46 members of this chapter were present. They were presented with a traveling towel. A covered dish dinner was served after which the work was given.

Albert Banks, the four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Banks, returned home Wednesday from University hospital, Ann Arbor, where he has been receiving treatment for the past 11 weeks for a broken leg and arm. He is now able to walk with crutches.

A card from George L. Hathaway and Lyle Benjamin, who left last week for Washington with the beautiful "American Goodwill Table" states that they were to have a conference with General Humes Monday afternoon for the purpose of arranging a dedication service.

Mrs. I. W. Linton received a message Saturday that her sister, Mrs. Emma Sellers, had passed away at her home in Franklin, Ind.

Mrs. Sellers, an older sister, had been ill with pneumonia, wanting to come to Northville to be with her, but was unable to make the trip. She died suddenly from a stroke of paralysis.

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Hannaford attended the wedding of the latter's sister, Mrs. Bernice Boatright, to Raymond Unruh, both of Detroit, Saturday evening. The ceremony was performed in the Lutheran church on the corner of Boulevard and Toledo avenues, Detroit, and was followed by a reception and dance in the Crystal ball room of the Fort Shelby hotel.

Miss Marjorie Lisenberger is the new clerk in the Northville Drug store.

Betty Armstrong, who underwent a second operation at Sessions hospital this week, is improving rapidly.

Edwin Weinberg, a member of the faculty of the School of Music at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, spent the week end in the village as the guest of Guy Perkins.

EASTLAWN PATIENTS GATHER FOR PROGRAM

(Continued from page one) tively on sanatorium life, and presented by a cast of patients. The scene, set on the outdoor stage, represented a two-bed ward in a "san." Members of the cast were: Arlene Rose, Frances Landon, Delores Evans, Katherine Ross, Mildred Krattenthaler, Edward Sackelsteel, Al Gac and A. L. Anderson. Mr. Lang directed the play.

Talented Pianist Plays. A highlight of the afternoon came as a surprise to all. Miss Margaret Berthel, distinguished 14-year-old pianist who has played before the Detroit Symphony orchestra as well as throughout the country, generously consented to play several numbers. A spell-bound audience listened to her interpretations of famous compositions. With only the platform of the truck, on which the piano was carried to the grove, as a stage, this gifted girl played with a charm and gracefulness that made one think only of luminous music halls.

Dr. Joseph F. Seladay, resident physician of Eastlawn, and also practicing physician of Northville, gave a short talk on his work at the sanatorium. "I feel that I have received more than I have given, so pleasant are my memories of Eastlawn," said Dr. Seladay.

Dr. Royce R. Shafter, surgeon and associate physician, associate physician at Eastlawn was unable to attend. He has been since 1930. Dr. Wickham has more than once referred to the splendid work carried on by Dr. Shafter. He remarks that without his help, Eastlawn as it is today would hardly have been possible.

Miss Frances Sullivan, superintendent of nurses, gave indisputable assistance in the afternoon activities.

Motion pictures of all events were taken by Mrs. A. B. Wickham. A picnic lunch, served to patients and ex-patients closed the afternoon session.

North Arranges Program. The evening program was entirely arranged by the Rev. K. S. North, pastor of the Northville Baptist church.

The services opened with impressive choral offerings by a quartet, comprised of R. H. Amernman, William Corrin, Mr. North and G. C. Winter. Their singing was followed by a duet, sung by Mr. and Mrs. North.

A songfest in which the entire audience participated, gave every one a pleasant half hour.

A. L. Anderson spoke on the importance of the church in sanatorium life, saying that every sanatorium should have its own chapel.

The Rev. Miller, pastor of the West Point Park Presbyterian church, speaker of the evening, gave an inspiring sermon based on the famous painting and the equally famous poem "The Man With the Hoe," causing his sermon "The Man with the Hoe." In speaking of the tuberculous patient and of his battle for health, Mr. Miller said that he must bear his affliction like Job, always carrying in his heart confidence in Divine help.

An address on "The Doctor Looks at the Patient," by Dr. Wickham, concluded the evening program. Dr. Wickham pointed out in prescribing treatment, that every patient must be studied for his individual needs.

SENIORS LEAVE FOR WASHINGTON JUNE 20

The senior class of Northville high school is ready to board the train on its trip to Washington, Saturday, June 20.

The seniors will arrive in Detroit at 4:55 p. m., where they will change trains and leave there at 5:45 in a special air-conditioned coach.

After traveling all night, they will arrive at Harper's Ferry, W. Va., about 7:18 a. m. After breakfast, they will go on a sight-seeing trip of this old village. On the trip the sights will include Storer College, the old engine house John Brown used as a fort during his famous raid, and many other historical landmarks.

After arriving at their hotel and rooms, dinner will be served in the main dining room of the New Colonial hotel.

After luncheon comes their first sight-seeing tour in Washington. The class will go on the street known as "The Avenue of Presidents" where they will pass Henderson's castle and the embassies and legations of many foreign countries; tour through Georgetown, passing Georgetown's university, and over Key Memorial bridge.

After passing through Fort Meyer, nearest Army Post, they will enter Arlington cemetery. A guide will point out the graves of notable people.

On the way back to Washington, they will pass Arlington radio towers of station AAA, the U. S. naval station, which is in constant communication with ships at sea.

Upon the arrival in Washington, the seniors will stop at Lincoln Memorial. After viewing this huge statue and memorial of Lincoln they return to the hotel, passing the Academy of Sciences building, American Red Cross building, and Caravan Art gallery, arriving at the hotel about 6:30 p. m.

In the evening a bus will take them to the Congressional library. This building is said to be the finest of its kind in the world. On the second floor will be seen many rare and interesting papers, probably the most interesting will be the Declaration of Independence and Constitution of the United States.

Third-day breakfast is served at 4 a. m. in the main dining room. In the morning they will view the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, where our money is made.

The first stop is the Old National museum. They will see many unusual things here. For example, the uniform worn by George Washington, when he resigned as commander-in-chief of the army, the writing desk the Declaration was drafted on, and hundreds of other things.

From here the group will go to the Annapolis Building where many of the ships used during the World War were made.

Then the journey to the Washington monument, where they can ascend the monument by stairway or elevator to a height of 555 feet. Where one can get an excellent bird's eye view of Washington.

After luncheon they will go to the U. S. Capitol building, conducted through the Old Supreme Court, the U. S. Senate and Statuary Hall.

From the capital building they will proceed to Annapolis, Md., and view the governor's mansion.

The evening will be left open for each one's own enjoyment.

On the fourth day, sight-seeing cars will take them to Alexandria and Mt. Vernon. At Alexandria they will visit the Old Christ church where Washington attended, and also visit Alexandria Masonic Lodge No. 23, where Washington was Worshipful Master. They will see many of his personal relics—the penknife his mother gave him, glove worn on his left hand when in mourning for his mother.

At Mount Vernon they will visit the mansion, stables, coach house, kitchen, and tomb of George and Martha Washington.

On their return to Washington, the travelers will make a stop at the New National Museum, which contains the Roosevelt African collection, the first piece of gold discovered in the state of California, and many prehistoric animals.

That afternoon is left open for shopping or any pleasure anyone may desire.

In the evening, the group will board the train bound for home at 5 p. m., to arrive in Northville at 9:32 a. m.

FIND ARCTIC BASES

A Soviet aviator returned recently from a flight which took him within 450 miles of the North Pole and said he believed there were natural, ice free landing fields at the top of the world. These fields, said Mikhail Vodogyanoff, might permit polar stops on arctic flights.

'ROUND THE SCHOOL

This being the last issue of our standard sheet, I feel it is my duty to write one editorial that will satisfy me and not you. I'm so glad this is the last Orange and Black page for this year, that I could just sit down and eat a bunch of sour grapes and still smile. Being editor is the most thankless job you can ever receive. Along with it goes worry, work, more worry and a bitter feeling towards the world in general. When reporters hand in their assignments that are so old you could start a history book with them; when you have to almost form a "Black Legion" to terrify the people around here into giving you news; when you have to sit for hours writing last minute articles; and then when the page comes out and the students wonder why someone doesn't fire the editor, it makes you want to end it all just peacefully.

All kidding aside, in order to learn anything at all you have to work. When students take jobs around school like mayor of the council for example, they know they will receive no compensation, but they do realize they are receiving experience. What greater pay could any one ask for than that. This has been a great job, and I wouldn't have traded it for the world. You students have helped to the fullest extent by not criticizing our efforts too much. You have all realized that almost every year editors have had to put up with complaints because some pupils' feelings have been hurt when it really has been said in fun. We have not had to tolerate anything to this effect this year, and we appreciate it. You are going to have two good editors, next year—Nancy McLoughlin and Marjorie Chase, and we sincerely hope you back them like you have us, or better.

There are so many people we wish to thank for this year. To this week it is a difficult problem, but here are a few.

To Leslie G. Lee goes our first one for his advice and help and time he has given us. To Irene Modos, who has done more work for this paper than can be mentioned. Without her, many a week you would not have had an issue. To the girls who have done most of our typing: June King, Isabelle, Tewksbury and Marjorie Reichman. To Bob Angove for all the excellent articles he has written and to the journalism class for its cooperation. And last, but not least, to Editor R. T. Baldwin, for all the space he has given us, and to Frank Hart, for his time, and to Miss Anderson, for her valuable help.

GHOSTS OF ANCIENT ROMANS RETURN

By N. McLOUGHLIN

The ghost of the ancient Romans would surely have thought they were in the dining hall of a fellow citizen if they could have seen the Roman banquet last Wednesday.

From 6 o'clock to eight, the halls and gymnasium were filled with the students of the Latin classes clad in sheets and flowing gowns.

To make sure that the fifty odd "Romans" would keep themselves in Latin tradition Miss Irene Palmer, the teacher, made sure that they ate no food or used no implements that the ancient Romans did not. For instance, no forks! Why? Because in the time of Caesar there just weren't any forks! The struggle that every one had trying to eat meat with a spoon was fully understood when several diners, turning off being classical, casually slipped to the kitchen and got forks.

There was one more thing that the ancients managed to do without—napkins. It seemed that after each course they had water passed to dip their patties in. Miss Palmer, endeavoring to keep the right atmosphere, also had water passed. However, not being dignified, the would-be Romans gave each other doughnuts, faintly akin to chowder baths.

After dinner the Latins were entertained by two plays and a group of charades—or acted out Latin words and sayings. Pat McLoughlin and Louise Alexander gave them. Everyone was good, but the prize one was when that irresponsible pair rushed out, peered into the distance, and then wheeled imaginary swords over their heads. Which all meant Caesar's famous saying, "I came, I saw, I conquered."

Then the ninth hour Latin class gave a play, in which everyone forgot his part.

The Romans then gathered up their sheets and stole away—leaving Miss Palmer and several "good" students to wash and wipe the dishes.

THE OBSERVER

One, two, three, go! Well, first of all, she's the assistant editor on the Orange and Black staff. She is quite tall, has brown wavy hair, and a smile that is devastating. She has a hearty air about her, and is always ready to laugh when there is a joke—but, she is also always ready to argue with any one who fails victim to her charms. Her nickname is "Val". She prefers to attire herself in slacks, skirts, cuties, or what have you, and she doesn't dress up for the boy friend. I might add, although I am endangering my life, that a great many have said she resembles a certain movie star, but it's not Gable. She is also a "soda-jerk" in an ice cream shop down town.

These few but important events, along with others, are the memories of the "35-36" junior high, which will always be cherished in years to come.

SOCIETY

Well, this is the last time we can bother you for society and here's the results:

In order to celebrate the time honored occasion of being graduated, Marjorie Chase is having a pot-luck affair. The guests are all senior girls: Thyrza Lester, Alice Banks, Norene Blake, Ruth Gotro, Dorothy Vroman, Doris Green, Rita Healy and Rita Sprenger.

Perhaps you noticed that Connie Burgess went to sleep during one of her classes. Well, it was all because she got up at 5 a. m. with Irene Modos, Juanita Elkington and Marjorie Chase. They had breakfast in the park. Ask Irene, who kept Connie awake, she knows.

Barbara Phillips and Bob Lyke motored to the Howe Military Academy for the graduation exercises there, and attended the Howe dance.

Evelyn Ambler, Carl Arnold, Ida Altman and Bob Bray went on a picnic Sunday afternoon. We hear that a very good cake was made by Evelyn.

That very competent equestrienne, Katharine Marburger, will again represent Northville at the Detroit Horse Show. Probably one more trophy will be added to Katharine's already long list.

REMINISCING

By DORIS GREEN

Suppose we go back to the good old days and review some of the "highlights in activities" of the 1936 graduating class.

They were quite unheard of until "Here Comes Charlie" was presented. It was a play that will not be forgotten. You all remember Jack Stubenvoll as "Uncle Alec," the mountaineer, who came down from then that mountains to see that his Charlie got a square deal. His pranks as a butler, and Bob Angove playing the part of a proud father. Only be wasn't exactly proud of Charlie at first. Member!

The seniors didn't stop there, however, they forged straight ahead with "Gone with the Wind" and "The Great Gatsby." A brand of new story was discovered. Member? Among them were Dot Frank, Marjorie Reichman, and Irene Modos. It is she wasn't new however, but in 1935 she had the measles. Member, Irene? Gerald Trotter and Ralph Bogart. Of course, Ida Altman and Jack Stubenvoll were the "holly terrors" of the play and were a rousing success.

Last, but certainly not least, was the presentation of "H. M. S. Pinafore" under the direction of Ida Altman. It was a sparkling success due to the patience of Mr. Lee and the cooperation of the students who participated.

P. S. When this story is published, undoubtedly, the school class will be waiting for their train to shuffle off to Washington. "The Revue" All Aboard!

NEW PALLADIUM TO BE OUT BY SATURDAY, JUNE 12

Leslie G. Lee, head of the editing staff for the Palladium, announced that the book will be ready for distribution this week.

This publication, which the school has not had for several years, promises to be one of the best ever put out.

There are some very good drawings by Rita Sprenger and Carl Arnold. Robert Reed, a post-graduate of Northville, has some exceptionally fine drawings, especially the one on the senior title page.

Besides pictures and stories of the classes, teams and other activities, the Palladium also contains two pages of snapshots—both candid and posed. As no one knows if his picture is in or not, everyone can be prepared for surprises.

The price of the annual will probably be fifty cents.

HOLD CLASS NIGHT IN GYM JUNE 16

The graduating class of 1936 will hold class night in the high school gymnasium on Tuesday, June 16, at 8 p. m.

The gymnasium will be decorated as a music shop, with an amplifying system installed to insure better hearing. There have been seats provided for 500 people. The stage will be built at one end of the gym.

One of the main features of the program is the reading of the class prophecy, which is entitled "Private Lives of the Class of '36 in 1960." Irene Modos is the author.

This book, "Private Lives," is to form the background of the stage and will be illustrated by living capital letters.

An orchestra, made up of class members has been assembled and the following will play in it: Frances Alexander, piano; Bob Angove, saxophone; Frances McLoughlin, trombone; Charles Strautz, violin; Ida Altman, drums; Isabelle "Pibbie" Oello, and Ralph Bogart, guitar. Evelyn Ambler and Herman Tonsaint, who sang the leads in "Pinafore," will again give both solos and duets.

Kathleen Rinck, well known for the countless awards she has won for her piano playing will offer several numbers.

Miss Dorcas Corran, in charge of the program, reports it is coming along splendidly.

NANCY McLOUGHLIN, MARJORIE CHASE, TO EDIT ORANGE-BLACK

By IDA ALTMAN

Nancy McLoughlin is your new editor for next year, and let me tell you, you students are lucky. Marjorie Chase is going to be associate editor.

Nancy has read almost every book you can name and she knows them almost by heart. Now to give you a few inside facts about your editor's private life. She can ride a horse, like a professional, and to be her life-long friend, just know something about the stage because this is your editor's weakness. Nancy has a vocabulary that extends from here to Asia. Her hobby is the stage, her ambition is journalism (if she doesn't succeed in the theatrical world), and her hobby is also to take walks with her dog "Mixie." Nan has been a Girl Scout in her past days and was secretary of the freshman class. This is one of the few times in the history of the school that a member of the junior class has been chosen editor.

Marjorie Chase is also a well read person, and knows her journalism. She is the one that has been responsible for the excellent society column of our page this year, besides other well written articles. Marjorie was treasurer of the junior class this year, and has been president of the Camp Fire Girls for two years. Camp Fire is Marjorie's main interest.

So, you see how fortunate you are to have two such outstanding students for your editors next year. We wish them all the luck in the world.

Kathleen Rinck, well known for the countless awards she has won for her piano playing will offer several numbers.

DID YOU NOTICE

The partnership basis on which M. Heckman and G. Westphal do their physics? My goodness! Is Cupid up to his old tricks again?

All our feminine bits of humanity with their hair all frizzed up? The torture women will go through to make themselves beautiful is heart-rending.

How calm Mary Jane Gregory and Lucille Simmons have been through the entire typing seige of the Palladium work? Never getting fussed or bothered. My hair would be out by now.

A certain senior boy tingles with excitement to the tip of his toes when he's called "Chubby."

A group of Marianne's knitting club has gone high hat on us? Were you invited to the party? Only girls you know and don't forget, wear formals. Whom were you trying to impress girls?

Dorothy Niles and her happy face? Who's escorting her now? Kenny Coe, of course! And to think Bill Hanson tried to compete.

A romance has budded into a thing of beauty—here's a tip: A. L. is the rose and N. K. is the thorn. Our bookkeeping students and their sets? Let's see you debut Whitman! Oops! Literature and bookkeeping reviews keep one in the ranks of the employed.

Doris Abbott, not knowing what to do with a nice frost-like? She got someone to buy it for her and Miss Corran arrived and... Doris tried to smooth it over by offering teacher a bite.

GAME TRAILS

BY GORDON W. MOFFITT

You sportsmen, who have been busy during your regals in anticipation of the coming fishing season, should lay them aside now for awhile—before you wear them out get out your gun call some of last season's left-over ammunition, the old—never-fails-me—joyful-piece, and take an afternoon off sharpening the old shooting eye by blazing away at a few of the many crows there are around this section.

First, of course, you had better get in touch with Conservation Officer Fred Ekholm, and get permission to carry firearms at this time of the year, or some of your friends might start wondering where you are spending such a long vacation. All you need is your 1935 small-game license and he will issue you a permit.

According to Mayl Hinzman, one of our local gun-club dispensers, old Corvus Americanus is real easy to decoy right now. The older decoys, about six weeks old, he lured out in a good crowd weeks west of town and after concealing himself in some underbrush, began working his call in less than five minutes about fifteen of the black marauders came flapping in around the tree tops, offering themselves as good sport.

BICYCLES AND VELOCIPEDS—New and rebuilt, repairs. Complete line of standard and extra models. Latest accessories. Expert repairing. Open evenings. Remick Bicycle Shop 21532 Grand River Road. 4-57p.

LAWN MOWERS GROUND—Same location. Twenty-five cents per blade and all work guaranteed. Located at Rennie-Mahrle Service Station, East Main St., across street from Ford factory. Work called for and delivered inside city limits. B. M. Adams. 46-45p.

YOU'LL BE PLEASED WITH OUR laundry service. Shirts, blouses, fine linens, laundered with utmost care. Phone 279, Northville Laundry. 49c.

ling targets. However, Mayl had neglected to take his gun with him so he had to watch them sail around free from harm.

In Lansing, one of the large sporting goods stores has been sponsoring a crow shooting contest. To the person shooting the greatest number of them, in a given time, a suitable trophy is presented, and with it goes the title of "State Champion." I understand that our own Howard Hall held this honor at one time.

One evening, awhile ago, I chanced to see a news-reel showing several series of the better dining rooms and restaurants of Oklahoma, where the patrons were apparently enjoying a meal in which was included choice fried-crow. The announcer waited quite eloquent in extolling the virtues of old Jim Crow as a table delicacy. It seems the idea was conceived by some enterprising sportsman of that state to induce the market-hunter to go after the crow, because they knew that when the market-hunter starts in on any species of wild life, they are doomed to quick extinction.

"BOY MEETS GIRL" OPENS FOURTH WEEK AT CASS THEATRE

"Boy Meets Girl," the uproarious comedy which is convincing audiences at the air-cooled Cass Theatre, Detroit, enters the third week of its engagement on Sunday and seats are now selling for the fourth week in advance. This side-splitting hit was written by Bella and Samuels Sperack and produced and staged by George Abbott, co-author and director of "Three Men on a Horse."

It is based on the antics and vagaries of two Hollywood scenario writers who adopt an unborn baby as a godchild and star him in pictures before he comes into the world. It is hilarious entertainment and the fruitful Speracks have compressed their laugh lines into such tight space that it is almost impossible to give the audience the necessary time to digest and whoop before the next pops out.

Polly Walters is in the leading woman's role of Susie, the studio waitress, mother of "Happy," the baby star, Eric Drexler and Harold Vermilyea play the madcap schemers. Nigel Blake is the boy of the title. Larry Fletcher, Fred Lewis, Philip Van Zandt, Jack Albertson, Ray Johnson, Virginia Wallace, Irene Winston, Kathleen Hitz, Patricia Palmer, Evelyn Seabed, Eunice Rose Carl Frank, John Koch and Joe Ferrer are in the cast.

SOB LETTER BRINGS RESPONSE FROM PWA

Sold to the Central Wrecking company of Detroit for $175. The only other bidder for the building was Oscar Petersen Sons, also of Detroit, who made a bid of $50.

As soon as the bidder has been finally approved in Washington, the temporary board of education offices for the summer will be housed in the high school building, room 3.

WATTSMEN TAKE TOP HONORS IN LEAGUE

relieved of the pitching burden by self-request. The new moundman proved a little more effective as he struck out Turnbull, but left fielder Giles, walked to fill the bases with one out. However, the next batter was struck out. With two out, Northville's hopes faded. Then this pitcher went wild and walked Bishop and Himes, forcing in two runs, "to bring down the roof." Pitcher Skippy Hochkins batted out a hit and two more runs scored. This put Northville out in front by a 5-2 score; there it stayed as Pitcher Hochkins batted down more than ever and got rid of the Redford Union, slugging in the last inning. Skippy Hochkins' pitching was good—he allowed only two fluke singles. The work of the supporting cast was greatly improved over previous games, although at times it was somewhat off form.

The final score: N. H. S.—6 runs, 4 hits, 4 errors.

Redford Union—2 runs, 2 hits, 3 errors.

PROBATE NOTICE

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Wayne, ss.

No. 227821

At a session of the Probate Court for said County of Wayne, held at the Probate Court Room, in the City of Detroit, on the second day of June, in the year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-six.

Present Thomas C. Murphy, Judge of Probate.

In the Matter of the Estate of Charlotte E. Hargrave, deceased.

An instrument in writing purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased having been heretofore delivered to this Court for probate.

It is ordered, that the tenth day of August, next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon at said Court Room be appointed for proving said instrument.

And it is further ordered, that a copy of this order be published three successive weeks previous to said time of hearing, in the Northville Record, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Wayne.

THOMAS C. MURPHY, Judge of Probate.

(A true copy)

FRANCIS MAHON, Deputy Probate Register.

BUT HE WON'T TELL

The President insists on Congress handing him another relief fund of a billion and a half dollars, yet he has steadfastly refused to give an accounting of the expenditure of the $4,800,000,000 relief fund appropriated last spring, which was put everybody on their feet and end the depression. Neither has the President told Congress, or the people how much of the original fund he still has on hand for use in an election year. And another interesting bit of information would be an honest breakdown of the relief dollar to determine how much of it goes to the needy and how much is whittled off by the army of pay rollers engaged in its distribution.
