FINLAND JAIL OPENS DOORS FOR JACOBSON

Former Northville Teacher
Spends Two Years at Hard Labor

Arvid V. Jacobson, former Northville high school teacher, sentenced in 1934 to serve five years in a Finnish prison as a communist spy, was pardoned Saturday and is expected to return to the United States immediately.

Mr. Jacobson obtained the freedom he claimed he should have had a year ago through a grant of amnesty from Pehr Evind Svinhufvud, president of Finland. Last spring the school teacher, himself of Finnish origin, declared he had been "tricked" by officials in Finland whom he said promised him freedom after a year if he would turn state's witness. During the summer, as a protest, he went on a "hunger strike" for several days.

His testimony at the long trial in Helsinki and Abo, two years ago, was one of the chief factors that convicted a ring of Soviet spies of espionage charges. Both Mr. Jacobson and his wife, Sally, of South Range, have continually protested their innocence. Mrs. Jacobson was released after friends here got in touch with the state department in Washington and the United States legation in Helsinki.

The Jacobsons' story is that after they came here in the fall of 1932, they went to New York, where here Mr. Jacobson declares they were offered work as a statistician by the company with whom he said he sympathized. After a year in German capital, according to the Jacobsons, they were transferred to Helsinki, where it was at that time that he first became aware that his work was espionage. When he found this out, Mr. Jacobson says, he tried to be feigning illness, but was told he must stick to it a short time after which he would be released. It was (Continued on Page Four)

JACOBSON FREED

Arvid V. Jacobson, recently released from prison in Finland, was graduated from the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor in 1927 with a Master's degree which he had earned in three years. He taught mathematics here until 1932. He was well-liked by teachers, students and townspeople, and despite the fact that Detroit police charged his name appeared on the roll of the communist party in Detroit, apparently no one here knew of his leftist leanings. Superintendent Russell H. Amerman said at the time of his arrest that he "was about to reproach as a teacher."

REROUTE TRAFFIC HERE WHILE WORK STARTS ON STREETS

Wayne County Machinery
at Work to Rush Job of Widening Pavement

By E. E. BROWN
Work was started on Wednesday by crews of the Wayne County Highway Commission on a street improvement project in Northville. The project is a real piece of work for the village. Those who have made the plans for the improvement feel that when the job is completed, that our main street will present a very attractive appearance.

It is thought that the work done under the conditions in which it is being done, closing all traffic from Main and North Center streets during the progress of the improvement. Traffic can easily be rerouted on to Durant street, going east and on Durant street, going west, and on Durant street, going east and on Durant street, going west. By that arrangement the two streets will be cleared of all traffic which will hasten the work greatly.

During the period of improvement, many will be inconvenienced to some extent, but if all will exercise patience and show some consideration for the "other fellow" the weeks will soon pass and traffic can be resumed as usual.

The side walks are to be cut back one foot on each side of the street and the walks will be reconstructed while portions of the pavement will be raised to meet the new survey made by the highway engineers.

So, let's all make the best of the situation and when the improvement has been completed all join in a celebration of the new pavement and walks.

NO CHANGE IN DAILY HABITS FOR PONTNEY ON 86TH ANNIVERSARY

Frank Pontney, Northville's veteran Indian fighter and schoolboy chum of General Custer, celebrated his eighty-sixth birthday Tuesday, reiving for a moment the time that his eighty-fourth birthday rode into the valley of the Little Big Horn to find Custer and his 700 men dead and scalped.

Mr. Pontney spent the rest of the day in the usual fashion—sunbathing himself on the front porch of the Merritt house and playing with the town's little children, for whom he always has candy in his pocket. He occasionally but reticently talks about his experiences as an Indian fighter and his two enlistments after the Civil War. But, he'll tell you, he enjoys playing with the children and sitting quietly in front of the Merritt House chewing tobacco.

Mr. Pontney was born in Monroe, where he was a schoolmate of General Custer. Custer, whom he claims "would have been alive today if he had followed orders when chasing Sitting Bull. Was just as stubborn in school as he was later."

CLEAVER DIES THREE HOURS AFTER WRECK

Crash on Eight Mile Road
Fatal to Farmer; Youth
From Pontiac Hurt

Injuries resulting from a head-on collision early Friday afternoon caused the death of John V. Cleaver, 70, who died in less than three hours in University hospital, Ann Arbor, where he was taken after crashing into the car driven by Fred Turck, 24, of Pontiac, on the West Eight Mile road, near the Russell H. Walker home.

As there was no witness to the accident, the cause of the collision will probably never be known. Two small boys, walking along the highway, were the first persons to arrive at the hill peak where the tragic accident took place. Mr. Cleaver was rushed to Ann Arbor where it was found that he had a fractured skull, a broken leg and other severe wounds.

Mr. Turck, suffering a broken nose, deep cuts on the left arm and other minor injuries, was taken to Sessions hospital. Both cars were demolished.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon for Mr. Cleaver from the family home on West Eight Mile road, with the Rev. Harold G. Whitfield in charge. Burial was made in Rural Hill cemetery.

Mr. Cleaver was born in Brantford, Ont. For more than 50 years he had been a fruit farmer here. Living from the earth, tolling hard, making friends of fellowmen, finding books a retreat and a source of knowledge, he earned for himself the title, "American citizen in exile."

With his sudden death, Northville loses a man of sturdy character, the nucleus, as it were, upon which communities are founded and made to prosper. His word was as good as a bond, said Mr. Whitfield, as he paid flying tribute to Mr. Cleaver, whose funeral rites were held Tuesday.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Cleaver, and two sons, Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Cleaver, of Woodstock, Ont.; Mrs. Dean Woodworth of Burford, Ont.; Mrs. George Smith of Dearborn; two brothers, Sam and Alfred of Ontario.

YOUNG RIDERS PUSH HORSE SHOW STAKES

The junior horse show committee of the coming Northville Wayne County Fair is this week soliciting local merchants in the effort to raise a $50 stake for a three galloped saddle class.

Plans for the junior show, which is always held prior to and in conjunction with the annual horse show at the fair, are shaping up "better than was expected," according to Mrs. William P. Brown, Dave, chairman of the junior show.

Members of the committee and other youngsters interested in the horse show met at Mrs. Dave's place on the East Nine Mile road, July 2, for an impromptu show.

TABLE DISPLAY DATE CHANGED TO JULY 11

The date for the display in Schrader's furniture store of the famous Goodwill table made by George L. Hathaway has been changed from the week of July 10 to July 11.

On Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week, Northville home keepers will be given an opportunity to witness a demonstration of "Dutch Oven Sausage" at the office of the Detroit Edison company at 200 North Center street and all are cordially invited to take advantage of the opportunity thus presented. These ovens are fast winning public favor as time-savers and as being economical in operation.

New Ford Factory Work to Commence Early Next Month

Add 60 Machines to Present Equipment; Will Install Own Power Plant in Fall; Can Produce 4,200 Valves an Hour

Immediately following a conference held here Thursday morning, July 2, with H. B. Hanson of the Ford River Rouge plant, Harry G. Marburger, superintendent of the Ford Motor company, announced that operations in the new $750,000 valve factory would begin early in August.

According to Mr. Marburger, the factory was scheduled for completion Dec. 1, 1935, but because of delays, the work did not progress as was originally contracted. The block flooring was completely laid Tuesday of this week and other unfinished jobs are being rushed through to meet the new deadline.

With the installing of 60 new machines and the moving of the old equipment from the present factory, employment will be given to one-third more men than are now at work. Daily operations in the new plant will be limited to two work shifts, eight hours in length.

All equipment will be placed on the main floor of the one story steel structure, leaving the space in the half basement for the installment of the power plant which will not be ready until October. "In the meantime," said Mr. Marburger, "we'll use Edison power."

The new plant, with its 8,000 square feet of window space is to be surrounded by an extensive landscaping project with attention centered on the artificial lake which is now being formed by damming the River Rouge just above Detroit.

This site is still being excavated and it will probably be two more months before it is completed. An overhead wheel at the eastern extreme of the building is to be operated by water piped from the head of the Yekes pond.

One of the first of the old mill to be remodelled in accordance with the new plan is the present factory site. Here in one of the small two plant, more than 100,000 valves are made a month. The new facility will be equipped to make 4200 valves an hour.

H. G. WHITFIELD GIVES FIRST UNION ADDRESS

In a straight-front-the-shoulder talk to a mixed congregation of Presbyterian and Methodist churches at the latter church Sunday morning, the Rev. Harold G. Whitfield, Presbyterian pastor of Northville, said the importance of real religion in life was the theme of the address.

"Man does not live on bread alone," said the speaker, "yet the distribution of bread to needy would be less difficult if the principles of truth and honesty were carried out. Religion is essential to man if he is to be a soul. Man needs something beyond human power," said he, "if he is to make sure of the big adjustments of life."

The union service will be continued throughout July and August. Expressions of gratification in the fine spirit of unity and fraternity existing between the sister churches were heard on all sides.

THIS WEEK AND NEXT

The remainder of this week and all of next, all Record subscribers will be given an opportunity to save money on their subscription accounts, and we are glad to announce that a great many have called at the office thus far this week to take advantage of the very generous offer made. For each dollar paid on account we are crediting subscribers' accounts to the amount of $1.50—making a direct saving of 33 per cent.

During the depression years we made no special effort to collect the amounts due on subscription because we felt that about everybody was carrying all the financial obligations they could. Now that money is circulating more freely, we are striving by these special offers to assist all who are in arrears for their subscription to bring their accounts up-to-date.

After next week we trust all subscribers will be "clear" on our books. We have earned these accounts and they are just and ought to be paid. Naturally we do not want to lose a single member of our reader family, and with this opportunity to save one-third on accounts there is no good reason why we will have to remove any names from our list.

This is a matter of mutual benefit and we are glad to be able to make this offer.

HEART ATTACK CAUSES DEATH OF MRS. WATTS

Village Loses Loved School
Enthusiast and Faithful
Telephone Operator

Mrs. J. E. Watts, beloved by Northville high school students for more than ten years for the interest she took in their affairs and known to all the village as the night telephone operator, died here Wednesday evening.

Death came at her West Dunlap street home, where she had been ill since Saturday, when she suffered a heart attack.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. today from the Schrader funeral parlors with the Rev. H. G. Whitfield officiating. Burial will be made in Rural Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Watts was a walking "city directory." She knew everybody in town and their telephone numbers. And few are the telephone users in Northville who have not experienced her courtesy and kindness when they had occasion to make a late and hurried call.

Mrs. Watts' three sons attended high school here, all participated in athletics, and she said recently "the greatest thing" in her life was when her youngest son, Ted, became coach here. In Coach Watts' last year in high school, 1929, it "boomed" as though the school would not put an annual that year. So Mrs. Watts' husband up to the high school and made it clear that she personally would aid in the project, in time and money. The school had an annual.

At football games, basketball games, regardless of the weather, the Orange and Black teams could always count on at least one cheer from Mrs. Watts.

Known among telephone operators here as "Mother Watts," she had been Northville's night operator since 1923. She was widely known throughout the village and liked by all.

Mrs. Watts was born Grace Pauline Woodworth Aug. 20, 1871, in Melmore, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Webster A. Wood. When still a girl, she moved to Northville, and in 1912 she married Mr. Watts. They lived in Farmington, Texas, until 1919, when they moved to Rome, Ga. They returned again to Northville in 1920.

A daughter, Marion, died in 1921, and a son, Harry, in 1922. She is survived by Mr. Watts; two sons, Raymond, Rosedale, Georgia, and a daughter, Mrs. George Foxall of Pontiac.

Second, there is, dating from a time shortly prior to the Cleveland convention a trend toward harmony in republican ranks, together with the centralization of effort on one candidate—Landon—where before there were a half dozen. It was aptly said, early in the spring, that the republican party nationally was in the same sad state that the democratic party is in Michigan. That is no longer true. Senator Vandenberg saw the trend, when he said in April that the Roosevelt strength would decline as soon as the G. O. P. decided on a candidate. He was right.

But, despite all that, an altogether, impartial view of the situation leads one to the conclusion that right counted on page six.

THERMOMETER HITS SEASON'S HIGH MARK

Northville residents greeted in a temperature of 104 degrees above zero Wednesday, as the village experienced its hottest day of the year.

All week, following the hard rain last Saturday, the mercury has been high and gradually rising. No prospect for cooler weather was in sight yesterday, and farmers viewed their dry fields with no hope of an immediate and badly needed rain.

The chief danger in this area, farmers resort is to corn. Although there are a few fields around where the corn was "knee high by the Fourth of July," many of the plants are under normal. Despite the hot, dry weather, the oats in general in this section are well along and doing better than wheat.

Soda fountains in town did a rushing business as the drive to seek cool places started. Swimming places around the village have been filled and light, airy costumes have appeared on the streets. No cases of heat or sun stroke have been reported.

WELL, WHY NOT?

A well known citizen stopped a Record reporter on the street a few days ago and asked: "Why don't the business firms of Northville keep the walks in front of their stores clean?" We are passing the question on to the public, with the suggestion that everybody take a little more care where they stand when they throw their papers in the street.

GRAVEL PITS NOT SAFE PLACE FOR SMALL SWIMMERS

No drownings have been reported in Northville yet this summer, but, judging from the number of small boys and non-swimmers who insist on cooling off in surrounding gravel pits, it is a wonder.

Several parents called attention this week to the fact that these gravel pits—the one at the rear of the depot and the Lawrence pit back of the cemetery—and Curtis Lake, the only places to swim around here, short of Walpole or Island Lake, are very deep and have small wading space. Both Phoenix and Waterford lakes are unfit for swimming, authorities have said.

There is, however, for children, the new wading pool in the more recently built section of Cass Benton park.

R. G. YERKES TELLS EXCHANGITES WHERE TO GO TO COOL OFF

Only 7,000 Whites Among
180,000 Blacks in City
Villager Adept

If you want to cool off these hot Michigan days, take the advice of Robert G. Yerkes and go to the British West Indies.

For Mr. Yerkes, who recently returned from nine months in Barbados, eldest of England's possessions in the Caribbean, the temperature here is a land where the temperature never surpasses 88 and never falls below 68, where there is a constant breeze and where the natives live almost exclusively here.

Mr. Yerkes, who has set himself up in the importing business in Baraboo, was interviewed on the subject of the island by his fellow exchangers. For a him, they planned these facts:

That there are only 7,000 white people in the 1914 population of 180,000.

That the sugar industry is the chief business of the island, and that the Barbados export to the U. S. is mostly sugar.

That the medical service is good, although there is only one wing in the hospital for whites but that there is only one dentist on the island.

That there are, for insects there, than here, the islanders having no screens on their doors and windows.

That the water system is fairly good, but there is no sewer system at all.

That if you want an active, enjoyable vacation, with lots to do and places to go, don't go to Barbados.

CONVENTION STORY TOLD TO ROTARIANS BY E. C. LANGFIELD

Edward C. Langfield, who represented the Northville Rotary Club at the Rotary International convention in Atlantic City, June 22, reported to the local club Tuesday that the "spin" at the conclave was the "best of any" of the six he has attended.

Describing the beauty spot of the seacoast city and the friendship among the delegates from 68 nations that prevailed at the convention, Mr. Langfield told of his meeting of a friend of President Eamon DeValera of Ireland and of receiving an invitation to Cuba by a delegate from that island nation.

Percy Agnew of Northville, Mr. Langfield explained, had charge of the crippled children's bureau at the convention and "he was the best possible man for the task—on the job all the time."

The international convention, the Northville delegate said, voted to extend the Rotary program to rural areas, to promote an international language and to encourage international highways between nations.

An all day picnic for members of Trinity Shrine No. 44 and their families will be held Sunday, July 19, at the Carl Hülmer cottage at Upper Struts lake.

DETROIT FIRMS GET CONTRACTS ON NEW SCHOOL

Board Sets Bid Deadline
For Wrecking Old Fire
Damaged Frame

Three Detroit firms were awarded contracts for the new grade school building by the board of education, subject to the approval of the EWA. Work was received Tuesday morning in the office of Superintendent R. H. Amerman to go on with construction activities for the $60,000 structure.

The successful bidder for the general contract has been given to H. B. Culbertson, the same company which holds the contract for the construction of the village water reservoir, where work has ceased until funds for its completion are received from the federal government.

Peter Eddy holds the heating and plumbing contract and the Offenstein Engineering company has the contract for all electrical work. These contractors were approved by the board of education after the following estimates had been submitted:

Contractor: Estimate
H. B. Culbertson, general $60,525.00
Peter Eddy, heating and plumbing 14,400.00
Offenstein, electrical 6,524.00

"I see no reason why work can't begin here next week. I expect machines will be on hand Monday to break ground," said Mr. Amerman. He also advertised for the wrecking of the old school building. The deadline for accepting these bids has been set for July 13.

General bids are wanted on the following proposals:
1. Removal of all present heating and electrical equipment in the old school building.
2. Removal of all heating and electrical equipment in the new school building.
3. Removal of all heating and electrical equipment in the new school building.

4. Removal of all heating and electrical equipment in the new school building.

5. Removal of all heating and electrical equipment in the new school building.

6. Removal of all heating and electrical equipment in the new school building.

7. Removal of all heating and electrical equipment in the new school building.

8. Removal of all heating and electrical equipment in the new school building.

9. Removal of all heating and electrical equipment in the new school building.

FACTORY EMPLOYEE HAS FREAK CRASH HERE ON HOLIDAY

The one Fourth of July celebration in Northville that attracted public attention was the personal one of George Hurbrick, 25-year-old Ford worker, who Saturday night drove his car through a telephone pole, a tree, a fire hydrant and a building at Serra Mile and Plymouth roads, only to escape with bruises and lost teeth.

Mr. Hurbrick was coming east over the railroad tracks on the Seven Mile road at more than 70 miles an hour, according to Everett Ecker of Plymouth avenue. He kept right on going, through an edge of the Palmer pop stand, crashing into everything that stood in the way. His car, a four passenger sedan, was completely wrecked.

The lights at the Palmer stand and a flicker light over the road were put out of order, as the electric light pole was knocked over and Edison workmen, struggling with lengths of wire amid the crowd of more than 50 persons who gathered at the scene, did their best to remedy the situation.

WHO WAS THE DRIVER OF THE CAR?

A Northville citizen, so he tells us, was driving west on Dunlap street, at a moderate rate of speed. Suddenly in front of him a car came out from South Wing street, without the slightest regard of the "stop" sign, at the rate of probably 40 miles an hour. Only the careful driving of the man on Dunlap street prevented a bad crash.

Are the "stop" signs around town just for certain drivers or for everyone?

How would it be to have a committee on public safety stand at some of our street corners and take down the numbers of these cars that are breaking all the laws of safety? For example, who was the man or woman who broke the law, as above mentioned?

WHAT ABOUT THE JUNIPER TREE BOXES?

The plan to have juniper trees placed all around the Northville business section was a splendid one. The green boxes with the trim green little trees made a beautiful sight last year. With the coming of this spring, however, it was evident that the hard winter and the careless way in which some neglected the trees had ruined the greater part of them.

What was meant as a beautiful ideal has become a civic eyesore. Boxes with dead trees and half-dead trees and boxes with no trees at all, are found on Main and Center streets.

Certainly something should be done to remove the boxes or to fill them with summer flowers, as some have done. Visitors to our business section are hardly impressed with the beauty of the boxes as they are now.

WHY SHOULD EVERYONE DRIVE AN AUTOMOBILE?

Unless the killing and maiming of people by automobiles on our streets and highways cease their terrible destruction, says Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald, there will have to be stricter licensing of drivers. If the slaughter continues, states our governor, drivers should be made to prove that they are physically and mentally equipped to handle a motorcar.

The governor is right. Engineers who drive locomotives that stay on iron rails—and do not go all over the road—have to pass the strictest test. A railroad will immediately dismiss any engineer who is known to have been drunk—or anywhere near drunk. Yet we permit any sort of a fool or moron to drive a mechanism which can go just as fast as the average train and which has no iron rails to hold it to the road. When you look at it calmly, the idea of giving everyone that comes a driver's license looks idiotic. The time is not far distant when to get a driver's license will mean something.

HOW CAN THEY PAY THE DOCTOR'S BILL?

One of the problems that comes, sooner or later, to every family, is that of paying unusual doctor's bills—for operations, long treatment or hospital care. For example, a two or three hundred dollar bill can easily mortgage the future of some families for even two or three years. In these days of getting over a crushing depression, few family budgets in Northville have a very big allowance for doctors and hospitals.

More social security is in sight for the days ahead and this very problem is one of those that will have to be considered. So it is interesting to read that Dr. J. H. J. Upham, dean of the medical school of Ohio State university, says:

"There are some 200 plans now being tried out by various local units for financing medical service to persons of low income."

DO YOU KNOW WHAT TAXES YOU PAY?

An amazing number of people have been content to let the high cost of government go on because they have been told—or have imagined—that the "rich" pay the bills. Or even worse, that the "government"—which is just the people themselves—pays the bills.

How many of the rich are there, anyway? Well, we know of no better authority than the noted Walter Lippmann, nationally known correspondent. We have just read a statement by him that the "rich" pay only 10 or 15 percent of the costs of government. The great middle classes and, yes, the poor, pay the rest.

Lippmann went on to say that of the nine billions of dollars spent this year by our national government, only one billion was paid by direct taxes. The other eight billions were hidden away so that you didn't know you helped pay them. One way of raising part of the nine billions was by the sale of bonds—just the government's and your notes to pay later.

When the average man begins to find out what is the amazing amount of the taxes HE will have to pay, sooner or later, then we shall have some hope of cutting down the terrific cost of government.

Do you know what taxes you are paying?

Do you also ever wonder what your life insurance will be worth if these tremendous costs of government go on?

THE THIRD PARTY POSSIBILITY

Congressman William Lemke announced last week that he will head a third party in the country and try for the presidency.

If he were elected—which he will not be—it would be a calamity. Reason: Rep. Lemke is an inflationist and if there is one thing that will wreck this United States it is inflation. Even the wild-spending New Dealers have a horror of inflation. And of course all thoughtful students of government know of its dangers.

Supporting Mr. Lemke in his White House ambition will be the forces that you expect, judging from recent news dispatches. Back of him will apparently be Father Chas. E. Coughlin, Dr. Francis E. Townsend and the remnants of the followers of the late Senator Huey Long. This triple combination will certainly not elect a president but it may easily take the presidency away from Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

Our national campaign indeed is going to be a "wow."

NORTHVILLE'S YESTERDAYS

1 YEAR AGO

Forty-one persons out of a possible 3,500 turned out to the annual Northville school meeting Monday night to re-elect unanimously Sherill W. Anshel and Dr. E. B. Cavell to the school board.

Washing and ironing machines will start humming Monday for the first time in the Northville Laundry's new plant on North Center street. It was announced this week by Sidney Frid, who is in partnership with his brother, Cyril N. Frid, who owns the business.

Village officials were waiting this week to receive official notice concerning the federal grant of $9,400 for the new covered reservoir here.

Funeral services were held yesterday for George W. Carson, 74-year-old Northville resident who died at his home on First street at 2:30 a. m. Tuesday.

Twenty needy Northville boys and girls will be among the 3,500 children who are to be guests of the council of Wayne county republican women's clubs Monday, July 22, on an excursion to Put-In-Bay.

An intruder was frightened away from the home of Mrs. and Mrs. Albert Stage, 130 Novi avenue, early Sunday morning after breaking the lock on the front door.

The laundry situation in Northville is again sticky. Our people are showing a spirit of confidence and loyalty that is very encouraging.

Following a four-day outing to East Texas under the leadership of Scoutmaster Orla G. Oates, 16 Scouts, and two leaders, returned Wednesday noon to Northville.

Last Friday evening, Junior Lanning son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lanning of 205 North Center street, had a narrow escape from drowning by Clear Lake. Junior got into water too deep for him and he had gone down twice before anyone could get to him. Mrs. Hazel R. Lanning was nearest to the boy. She grabbed him, saving his life.

Replacing the make-shift color-motor used in previous years, a new machine color-motor was installed yesterday at the Fairbrook springs, declared Earl Montgomery, water commissioner. The machine, owned by the village by the state will contain 150 pounds of chlorine, sufficient for a six months' supply.

The people of this community were shocked to learn that Thomas I. Cousins of this place had died at a Detroit hospital on Sunday of lock-jaw. He met with a slight accident while working in his garden a few days before, but he gave the matter little consideration and went about his daily tasks as usual. When his condition became alarming he was taken to the hospital, but all efforts to save his life were futile.

A very pretty as well as interesting wedding occurred at the handsome country home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Bradley, Saturday, June 26, at 8 p. m. when their daughter, Miss Evangeline Luella Bradley and Charles Burton Pettibone spoke their marriage vows in front of an impressed altar in the dining room massed with palms, pink and white peonies and pink roses in tall silver vases.

Justice of Peace E. R. Perrin had his first case on Tuesday and it cost the fellow ten dollars for being disorderly.

S. A. Lovitch and Mrs. Georgia Tinham quietly slipped away from their friends and motored over to Cleveland on June 22, and were united in marriage at the old stone church in that city. They then proceeded on a tour of the west, going as far as Quebec, returning to Northville last Friday.

At the annual school meeting held Monday night, Mrs. MacDermid and E. C. Bryan were elected to positions as trustees to succeed C. A. Fensford and C. S. Dolph, whose terms expired.

Installation of equipment, which has begun at the new Detroit-Tuberculosis sanatorium at Northville, will delay the opening of the hospital to patients until the first of October.

Actual work has commenced on the 10½ section of the Novi-Northville-Livonia-Farmington highway Monday morning.

The biggest crowd of the season was in Northville last Saturday night. The streets were filled with people and autos and it was with difficulty that parking places were found for all automobiles.

The new pump for the waterworks was installed the first of the week and the ban on sprinkling was lifted. It will be necessary, however, for water users to be very careful if this hot spell lasts or we shall soon be out of water to use on lawns and gardens.

The sixth annual Holmes reunion was held July 6, at the Holmes farm about two miles west of Northville. The beautiful, spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. Holmes was alive inside and out with old and young. This is the farm originally "taken up" from the government in 1823 by Roxance Holmes, father of its present owner, Hiram R. Holmes.

Frank Green has purchased the local cooperative delivery business, formerly conducted by Fred Owen the delivery being B. A. Wheeler and Stewart Montgomery, besides Mr. Owen. Mr. Green took possession Monday.

This week's hot wave has had serious effects on several Northville people. Leon Klimet was ill Saturday and Sunday from the effects of a sunstroke. Wednesday afternoon Roy Clark fainted from the heat while driving his automobile about town and Mrs. C. T. Marston suffered a sunstroke Tuesday.

Mrs. Jennie VanSickie, 72 years of age, died at her home near Salem, July 9, after an illness of two or three years' duration.

30 YEARS AGO

A new factory is secured for Northville. An offer was made by a good-sized factory company to move its plant here providing Northville people would take $3,000 in stock. At a meeting called last week by P. S. Harmon, $4,000 was subscribed on the spot by enterprising citizens. The new company will occupy the Hall-Carr building and will give employment to from 60 to 100 men.

Everybody except the rising generation is heartily glad that the last echoes of the deafening annual racket needful for the proper expression of patriotic fervor will soon have died away on the July atmosphere.

L. A. Babbitt is the only Northville "victim" of the "Glorious" as far reported. He is carrying a tangled hand as the result of volunteering to instruct his son in the art of touching off firecrackers.

Charles Yerkes has turned his back on Northville and has built him a house on the eastern side of Wabash Lake. The desertion will be temporary, however, as Mr. and Mrs. Yerkes will continue to reside here "for common" occupying their pretty new cottage at intervals.

W. A. Ely will entertain the country members of the board of supervisors and a few city aldermen at his hotel, the Park House, tonight.

About 40 of the Northville friends of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Carpenter enjoyed a delightful Fourth-of-July picnic at their beautiful and spacious farm home in west Novi Wednesday.

Why Newspapers Lead—

Newspapers continued as "tops" in advertising media in 1935, and here is why, according to Prof. Thomas F. Barnhart, of the University of Minnesota:

1—Newspaper reading is a universal habit. Newspaper advertising, therefore, reaches virtually all who read and buy.

2—A newspaper advertisement can always be seen by the reader.

3—The newspaper advertisement as part of the complete paper goes into the home as a welcome guest.

4—The newspaper advertisement can have as much reader interest and news value as the news.

5—The amount of text used in newspaper advertisements is dependent only upon the size of space.

6—Newspaper advertising is flexible.

7—Newspaper advertising is quickly controlled.

"Newspaper advertising," says Professor Barnhart, "builds confidence and good will, attracts new customers, increases sales, and stabilizes merchandise, methods and prices."

WACOTS BESS SEGIS TAKES HIGH HONORS IN 95-DAY HERD TEST

During the first 95 days of the current Herd Test year, the herd of registered Holsteins owned by the Wayne County Training school at Northville, has maintained a daily average yield of 1.1 pounds of fat per cow.

Twenty cows in the herd have topped the 100 pound fat mark with top honor going to Wacots Bess Segis with a credit of 177.6 pounds fat and 369.3 pounds milk. In milk production for the 95 days, Ionia Aggie Pauline was high cow with 536.4 pounds milk and 161.1 pounds fat.

Just recently several cows in the herd completed lactation records including Wacots Piebe Mutual with 564.8 pounds fat and 1707.9 pounds milk; Gem Rancho, Netherland Piebe Beauty with 441.6 pounds fat and 1287 pounds milk; Sunny

Plains Kordyke, Salky with 433.0 pounds fat and 1334 pounds milk and Wacots Sensation with 402.5 pounds fat and 1247.9 pounds milk. These records were all made on three milkings a day, class B.

The Holstein-Friesian Herd Improvement Test continues to gain in popularity with breeders throughout the country, and over 500 herds including 14,500 pure bred Holstein cows are now being tested in the United States. The Herd Test, which continues year after year, includes the entire herd and provides information for scientific selection and culling to increase production and improve the quality of the herd. Records of production are essential to a sound breeding program with the dairy herd.

ANOTHER FLEDGLING FLIES

It was almost train time. Outside on a hard bench they sat waiting—father and mother on each side of a boy who was off for the first time to camp. It was a big event. The little fellow hugged his roll of blankets and gazed eagerly up the track.

"How many he looks!" the father thought, as he put his arm about the square shoulders.

"How little he seems to be going away all alone!" and the mother drew closer and smoothed the tousled red hair.

"Now, of course, you'll be very careful," she warned. "Be a good boy, be nice to all the other boys, don't be a smarty, mind the camp leaders. Don't eat too much candy, take chances, be sure to clean your teeth—and son, do wash your ears."

The boy giggled loose and looked up the track. "Gosh, why doesn't she come?" and the mother knew her words were as the patter of rain on a roof.

Twelve years to train and teach right habits. No need for those last minute warnings. If the lessons had not been learned already it was too late to "crum it down" now. Yet her child was going away from home alone for the first time to live among strange boys. Was he ready?

In his sturdy camp box with his named painted on in bold letters he had carefully packed away his clean clothes. There was soap, too, and towels and a first aid kit for his protection but was he being sent forth "as wise as a serpent and as harmless as a dove?" How much of the teachings had he taken?

The other day she had read this significant paragraph: "Parents may quake at the thought of urging children into life and ask: 'How are we to offer Johnnie more freedom and yet know he will not run into dangers and difficulties?' Does not such anxiety signify a guilty awareness that the child has not been prepared to meet life? Are we afraid that he will grow because the water is deep or because we have not taught him to swim? Will he fall sick because there are sicknesses to be had or because he has not learned the laws of health? Will hard corners bruise him because they are sharp or because he is tender?"

"Here she comes!" With a rush of tenderness he was not ashamed of he pounced upon his parents with a big, bug and smiled through honest blue eyes before he climbed aboard the train.

Two rather quiet people waved to a shining golden head in the window and then turned and walked down the steps to the street. "Well," said one, and "Well?" the other answered.

Pontiac—All previous records for business in the office of the Oakland county treasurer were shattered for the first six months of 1936 according to County Treasurer Charles A. Sparks. His office collected for the first six months of this year $6,169,251.29 compared with $3,464,315.15 for the first six months of 1935. These figures represent total receipts included in the figures is $2,700,387.47 of delinquent taxes collected in 1935 as compared with $1,145,328.59 in delinquent taxes collected for the first six months of 1935—Pontiac Press.

Predicts Brucker Victory (Ray Corlis in The Parma News).

Visiting with a group of state senators and representatives in Lansing, I found that the consensus of opinion among the men present was that Mr. Brucker would defeat Senator Couzens for re-election in the September primaries.

I realize full well that we are apt to hear what we want to believe and perhaps there are groups predicting a victory for the Senator, only that I do not contact them. And yet, there does seem to be wide-spread hope among republicans that Brucker will win the nomination. In the limited tours I have made in this section I would venture the prediction that the former governor will carry Jackson, Calhoun, Ingham, and Hillsdale counties by large majorities. Some of the Detroit politicians, all republican with the exception of Judge Edward Jeffries (who may be the Union party candidate for U. S. Senate) tell me that Brucker will carry Wayne county. It's a cinch that he is much more popular out-state than Mr. Couzens.

"Johnnie" said the teacher, "who is it that sits idly by all day while the others are working?" Johnnie paused a second, then his eyes brightened, and he blurted out, "The teacher."

"What is so pleasant as these jets of affection which make a young world for me again?"—Emerson.

Davies-White Marriage Vows Spoken Saturday at Ceremony Performed in Episcopal Church in Sarasota, Fla.

An event of Saturday, July 4, was the wedding of Miss Jane Gibb Davies, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Davies of Sarasota, Fla., to Harry H. White, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. White of Northville. The marriage vows were spoken at a 5 p. m. ceremony in the Episcopal church of the Redeemer, Sarasota, by the Rev. W. H. Lillycrop, rector.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her maid of honor was Mrs. N. H. Harrison. The flower girl and ring-bearer were the small children of Mr. and Mrs. Lillycrop, Betty and Billy.

The choir stalls and chancel were flanked with greenery and palms, and standing baskets of lavender and white summer flowers stood on either side of the chancel steps. Bright white tapers burned on the altar, which was decorated with large vases of pink roses.

Paul Baldwin, who motored with Mr. White to Florida last week, was the man of the hour. Ushers were Doris Baumgartner and a cousin of the bride, Louis Castor.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held and bouquets of garden flowers graced a table from which a decorated wedding cake was served.

After a motor wedding trip the couple will make their home at Crystal Lake. Mr. White is employed by the Alameda company at Woodstock.

Christian Science Churches

"Sacrament" will be the subject of the lesson sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, July 12.

Among the Bible citations is this passage (James 1:12): "Blessed is the man that endureth temptation; for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord has promised to them that love Him."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science text book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 22): "Love is not hasty to deliver us from temptation; for Love means that we shall be tried and purified."

HERBERT BERENDT GETS LIEUTENANT'S RANKING

Herbert Berendt, son of Capt. and Mrs. Herman Berendt of Orchard Drive and a graduate this June of Michigan State college at Lansing, left Monday for Chicago to receive his commission as 2nd lieutenant in the United States army.

Mr. Berendt was one of 18 Michigan reserve officers ordered into a year's active duty in the regular army. He recently returned from Fort Sheridan, Ind., where he went as a member of the Reserve Officers Training Corps shortly after leaving college.

Mr. Berendt expects to be at Fort Sheridan for a time before being transferred to a Virginia post. He is with the electrical engineers and stands a chance to see permanent service as an army officer, when 50 out of the 1,000 2nd lieutenants are selected for regular commissions at the end of a year.

His father was a captain in the U. S. cavalry and saw service in the World War.

DROVE TO HELL AND BACK

On Monday Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Fry and two cousins, Inez Hart of Detroit and Jessie Hutton of Flint, drove to Hell and were able to return home in the evening. That is some traveling, it would seem to the ordinary mortal who has been trying to avoid that "section" all his life.

Well, it happened this way. Over near Panchley is a little settlement, one of the oldest in Livingston county, which has been known as "Hell" for many years. Having heard of the place the Frys thought that would be a good place to escape the "heat" of their restaurant kitchen for a few hours. They cooked their dinner on the bank of the mill pond and spent a portion of the day most pleasantly. Mr. Fry told a Record reporter that if hell is like that ideal spot, he was willing to take a chance on the future.

Many years ago there was a mill there and a general store with a few houses. Now the place is attracting many tourists who visit the community just out of curiosity, doubtless.

FINLAND JAIL DOOR OPENS FOR JACOBSON

(Continued from page one) during this "short time" that the trap of the Finnish officials was sprung, landing the Jacobsons and a score of others in jail.

Mrs. Jacobson returned to the United States immediately after her release in the early winter of 1932 and began a tireless fight to free her husband. Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg looked into the case and, through Secretary of State Cordell Hull, saw to it that Mr. Jacobson was furnished with counsel during his trial. He was sentenced to five years, receiving the lightest sentence of the accused persons, sentences which ranged from 20 years to life imprisonment.

Latest reports from Mrs. Jacobson, who has been in Chicago studying, indicated that her husband was doing mechanical drawing in the prison. He could only receive one letter a week.

BIBLE SCHOOL PUPILS SHOW PROJECT WORK

(Continued from page 1) Children in their project supervision. First graders made pictures of children in all lands. Second graders made booklets showing American children at home and at play. The third graders spent their time studying children of other lands. Their work was one of service, the scrap books being made to send to the children's ward at the Maybury sanatorium.

Work in the beginners' department centered around the care of a garden. Their handcraft activity was based on Bible and nature stories. Assisting the superintendent, Mr. H. M. Wick, were Miss Marjorie Chase, Miss Alice Eaton and Mrs. C. E. Woodruff.

Basing their project on the land where Jesus lived, pupils enrolled in the junior department made a character study of Jesus. Other activities included the study of clothes worn in Bible time, church window designs and the memorizing of hymns. Miss Mabel Chamberlain, who had charge of the department, was assisted by Mrs. John Litsenberger, Mrs. Marshall Herick, Mrs. O. F. Ring and the Rev. K. S. North.

Before a group of guests who attended the closing session Friday morning, juniors pupils presented a play, "The Good Samaritan," adapted from "The Good Samaritan." The cast included Janice Corvill, Laura Jean Litsenberger, Margaret Morse, Beverly Morse, Mary Smith, Hazel Corvill, Marjorie Sessions, Lorella Widmaler and Loraine Lapham.

Intermediates working under the supervision of the Rev. H. G. Whitfield, studied the living conditions of the life at the time of Jesus. Notebooks were kept by the students showing the extent of industry, agriculture and home activity during Jesus' life. In connection with this study, the group made an authentic Oriental home, using brick clay.

Members of the school board of education set the date Monday evening for the re-opening of school in the fall on Sept. 8. This date for opening, which is later than usual, brings the closing of the year to June 25.

HEARD ON THE STREETS

Two men met on the street Wednesday soon after the "machinery" was put in motion for the street improvement project. As they chatted hands one remarked:

"Nice day, today."
"No, I haven't been to town lately."
"I said it was a nice day."
"No it rained so bad the Fourth I could not go."
And the big machines kept on with their racket as the friends parted.

MERGRAF

The New Lubricant

The Oil With the Silver Lining—The 5,000 Mile Lubricant

We desire to call the special attention to MERGRAF Lubricant we are now featuring. Suppose your car has just been refilled with MERGRAF—you are now ready to experience a new thrill in Motor Car Performance—a real saving in operation plus smoother, quieter and more powerful motor BECAUSE MERGRAF is not a motor oil, but a specially processed lubricant. In order to enjoy the full advantages of the new scientific friction reducing lubricant the following must be observed:

Drain and flush your motor at not more than 1,000 Miles after FIRST putting in MERGRAF—

Reason—MERGRAF loosens the carbon in your motor and deposits it with various other foreign matter in your crank case.

Maintain Oil Level—

Reason—Your motor is absorbing the "Colloidal Graphite" in your oil to form a Graphoid Surface; to seal against dilution as well as to reduce friction.

Add no other types of oil to maintain oil level—

Reason—MERGRAF will not blend with other oils readily and the chemical contents of other oils may react against the Graphoiding Process of MERGRAF taking place in your motor.

Flush well before second refill—

Reason—As stated before, carbon and other foreign matter loosened by MERGRAF will be in your oil pan and must be removed to insure maximum performance. Add MERGRAF to proper level and then change only every 5,000 Miles.

CAUTION—Always maintain oil at proper level—Add only MERGRAF.

At about the first 750 Miles NOTICE the sudden change in your motor. Check closely your gasoline and oil consumption against former records—YOU WILL BE SURPRISED!

GAME TRAILS

By GORDON W. MOFFITT

Poor Adolph (Butch) Balcerne must leave for a vacation at Doc Holcomb's cabin up in Canada.

Up there in Canada, where the air is crystalline and transparent, where the absolute stillness of a melancholy summer's day makes you feel that pleasant loneliness of one alone in the vastness of nature, that's where he is going.

Up where the lakes are glittering gems, set in an emerald-green background, where from the cabin door you might hear the lonely call of the loon in a cove at the far end of the lake and you'll feel lonely, too.

Where, from the same cabin door, when the curtain of night is drawn, you may see a stately buck emerge from the shadows of a wooded hollow and stand silhouetted against a full moon, like the picture at the head of this column.

Up there where hardships must be endured, where you miss the sound of a blattant radio, the ring of a telephone, the constant blaring of auto horns—where food is a major problem.

We asked Butch what his greatest hardship was and he said it was getting enough food. Then he went on to say, "Now you take breakfast, for instance, all I have to eat is seven or eight of those little brook trout, just think of it, brook trout. And it probably takes me five or ten minutes to catch them, too."

"Then there are the other meals to think of. I might have one of several things. Now you take the Canada geese; lots of them, on foggy evenings they will come flying in mistake for the dense fog banks for the lake and settle on them for the night. In the morning when the fog lifts the sleeping geese crash to the ground and break their necks. Then all I have to do is walk around and pick them up. I sometimes get around twenty that way."

"And the fawns, say I have venison to eat all the time I'm there. They get to coming in by parties to feed, well, you know how hungry and heavy-footed a deer is they generally stumble around fall and break a leg and out of human kindness I have to kill the poor thing."

"And then there are the partridges; say when I go out with my butterfly net to collect specimens, I can't even make one sweep of the net without catching 10 or 12 nice young partridges. Of course this catches them all up and so I have to kill them and eat them, too."

"Yes, sir. If I could only get a hold of something to eat, Canada would be a swell place, too."

KILL WEEVIL ROBBERS WITH CLEAN GRANARY

House cleaning is in order with a broom at that, says Professor Ray Huron of the entomology department at Michigan State college.

In a warning to farmers in the state who want to be sure of keeping their grain harvest fit for food, feed and seed, he advises them to take time now to clean up the granary. "Weevils annually rob too many dollars from the value of the grain crop in the state."

Weevils consume the grain. Their larvae also have hearty appetites. Both the weevils and the larvae cause heating which damages the grain whether it is to be used for flour, for stock and poultry feed or saved for next year's seed.

Just a good house cleaning job will help a lot. Take a broom and clear out all old grain and chaff and other waste on floors, walls and in corners. Then burn the rubbish. Do not store new grain directly with old grain.

Liming the granary or sections where new grain is to be stored will help avoid trouble with weevils, according to Huron. This is best, but even building paper will help seal up the bins. Then, if necessary, the bins can be fumigated if a weevil infestation begins. Without some kind of a seal it is impossible to do an effective job of fumigation. Although the pests prefer wheat, they will eat any kind of grain to which they gain access.
