BOARD GIVES CONTRACTS TO NEW TEACHERS

Two Vacancies Yet to Fill;
Assign Mrs. Hawkins
to High School

With the signing of contracts to three new teachers, Northville's teaching personnel for the fall term is nearly complete, and the vacancies caused by the leaves of absence granted to Mrs. H. C. Cobb, Mrs. Jack Taylor and Mrs. E. A. Chapman have been filled. Mrs. E. H. Babbitt, one of the four married women teachers also given a leave of absence last spring, has been re-instated and will teach the fourth grade again this year.

Replacing Mrs. Cobb is Edwin L. Johnson, principal at West Point Park who has taught the eighth and ninth grades there since 1931. Before going to West Point, Park, he was superintendent of the Rogers rural high school at Grand Rapids, where he taught history and mathematics.

Camurus Activities
Mr. Johnson was graduated in 1928 from the Western State Teachers college, Kalamazoo, with an A. B. degree in education. While there, he was a member of the debate team and of the play production group.

"For the first time in four years, Northville is to have a debate team. It will be coached by Mr. Johnson," said Superintendent R. H. Armerman when releasing the list of teachers this week. "We've joined a debate league of five other schools which includes Trenton, Melvindale, Belleville, Groesbeek and another school I can't remember," continued Mr. Armerman.

New Commercial Teacher
Taking over the commercial classes taught by Mrs. Taylor, Miss E. Donna Linton of Clinton, who holds a life certificate from the Michigan State Normal and the Cleary Business College, Ypsilanti. For the past seven years she has taught commerce in the Wayne high school. She taught four years at Blissfield before teaching in Wayne.

Mrs. P. W. Hawkins, who taught the sixth grade here last year, has been assigned to the high school. (Continued on page four)

C. E. ROGERS REVIEWS TRIP FOR ROTARY CLUB

In a most interesting travelogue, Tuesday noon, Chas. E. Rogers took Northville Rotarians with him over the 4,600-mile route he and Mrs. Rogers made through the South and East a few weeks ago.

Mr. Rogers touched on the high spots of the journey which took them as far south as Kentucky and as far east as the New England states. Telling of the "horse country" around Lexington, he said: "This is as fine a section to look at as you would find anywhere in the United States."

Of the Natural Bridge in Virginia, the speaker said: "If you ever get within 500 miles of this spot, go and see it, for it is one of the finest sights to be found anywhere." A surveying stone on which is marked this "G. W. 1785" still remains to show where George Washington did some of his early surveying.

Visits to the homes of two former presidents were made by Mr. and Mrs. Rogers. At Monticello they went through the old mansion of Thomas Jefferson, seated on a high point, and surrounded by beautiful trees. The most modest home of a former president, James Monroe, 200, a one and one-half story, and just a few miles distant, has the finest boxwood hedges to be found anywhere in the United States.

A stop was made by Mr. and Mrs. Rogers at Scranton, Pa., their former home. The town has been pretty much changed since he left, said the speaker. Of Boston, Mr. Rogers said: "Boston is just Boston and the streets are still as crooked as a ram's horn." Closing the weekly program, President W. E. Forney called upon Floyd A. Northrop to give a few remarks regarding the recent fishing trip made by a group of Northville men. He did this in a most facetious but brief fashion. He paid a splendid tribute to Nelson C. Schrader, former member of the group that goes north each season. His passing has left us with a vacant spot that can never be filled, said Mr. Northrop.

FLORIDA BOUND

Superintendent of Schools, Russell H. Armerman, after bringing the activities of a successful school year to a close, left Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Armerman and two children, Edith and David, for a motor trip to Florida. They will be gone three weeks, going first to Hillsdale.

Upon his return Mr. Armerman will complete plans for housing the grade school pupils for the fall term. The American Legion has again offered the use of the Legion Hall until the new building is ready, some time in December. If the Lapham State Bank is not available again for classroom work, space in the churches will have to be used, Mr. Armerman told district taxpayers Monday evening at the annual school meeting.

NICHOLS TOURS WEST—REPORTS FIELDS RUINED

Holding a towel in one hand and a thermos jug in the other, Justice Arthur S. Nichols wiped the perspiration from his brow Saturday morning and said: "It's Michigan for me."

He had just returned from a motor trip through the west in the company of Jay Leavenworth. At Conrad, Mont., where Mr. Nichols stopped to look after Mrs. Nichols' 40-acre wheat field, he found the wheat burned and worthless.

Traveling east through Montana and North Dakota, with the temperature hitting the 117 degree mark, they found that the business houses in Billings, Mont., were closed and hundreds of cars stalled on the road because there was no water for the radiators.

Yellowstone Park brought relief from the heat to motorists who went over a mountain 10,000 feet high, as they traveled on Cooke road.

NAZARENES OPEN REST HAVEN HOME

Use Forsythe Property for Unmarried Mothers' Institution

An organization sponsored by the Nazarene church opened the former home of Mrs. Blanche Forsythe, 35 South Center street, Thursday morning, as a home for unmarried expectant mothers.

This place is to be known as the Rest Haven of Northville, Inc., and is governed by a board of trustees including the Rev. O. J. Nease, W. R. Lane, Ervin K. Ruby, Dr. W. E. Vaught, the Rev. Fred T. Page, Charles C. Valade and the Rev. J. S. Wood, all of Detroit; the Rev. O. J. Finch and the Rev. R. V. Starr of Lansing.

Negotiations for closing the transaction have been underway for several days. Acting for the trustee-in-trusts are attorneys A. D. and R. M. Conner of Detroit, asked members of the village council two weeks ago if objections would be raised if the Forsythe home were used by the church organization for such an institution. No reply has been made by the council to the law firm representing the Nazarenes.

Mrs. Forsythe stated several days ago that she was pleased that the deal was going through. "The home will be in the hands of splendid people and the site is ideal for this church project," she affirmed.

She further stated at that time that the home would also be an institution for the aged. A. D. Conner did not confirm her statement Wednesday evening when he released the information about the property sale.

At intervals post cards have been received by Mrs. O. L. Dubuque from her nephew, Charles E. Smith of Fenion, well known in Masonic circles here, who is much of a world traveler. Cards have come from New Zealand, Australia, Tasmania, Durban and Cape Town, South Africa. One received Wednesday, postmarked June 15 Victoria, British Columbia, said: "Took a motor ride from Victoria Falls to Livingstone, eight miles up the Zambezi river. It is very warm."

Mrs. H. E. Tarnum of 117 South Center street, was able to return to her home in the village this week after being confined for the past month at the Ford hospital, Detroit.

Sun Chases Villagers to Shelter

Doctors Report Six Cases of Heat Prostration

The severest heat wave in Northville's history—seven consecutive days of temperature over 100 degrees—ended Tuesday, after bringing illness to half a dozen natives and spreading death throughout the nation.

A sudden cool spell following dark clouds which shut off the searing rays of the sun took the mercury from 104 degrees at 2 p. m. Tuesday to 80 degrees before 4 p. m. At midnight Tuesday, the temperature had fallen to 69 degrees. A brief shower fell Wednesday, during a part of which the thermometer registered over 90 degrees.

The heat, in the shade reaching an unofficial high of 102 degrees Monday, stopped or slowed up practically all activity in the village. Most men working at construction jobs were laid off, and the few that did brave the oppressive weather were forced to take salt pills to counteract excessive perspiration. Hardly anyone was seen on the streets, and the parks and surrounding lakes were crisscrossed with a sweltering populace stripped of every piece of excess clothing and having only one thought: To get cool. Few if any tennis or golf games were played, and social life in the community was at a standstill.

Local doctors reported at least six cases of heat prostration and sunstroke in Northville. None was dangerous, they said. Milk was delivered spoiled in several stores, and the price of lemons, which were entirely sold out Monday, rose to 60 cents per half dozen.

The five hottest places in Northville Tuesday afternoon a Record survey revealed were:

- The casting room of the Independent foundry (Monday) with 140 degrees.
- The boiler room at the laundry, 110.
- The bakery, 106.
- The Record office, 104.
- The telephone office, 103.

Contrasted with this was the report from the ice house—42 degrees. At the same time, the temperature directly outside the ice house was recorded at 102 degrees.

With the hope that the excessive heat is gone to stay but with the belief that it will return, Dr. Russell M. Atchison, city health officer, gave these suggestions on how to keep healthy when the mercury hovers around the century mark.

First, drink lots of cool liquids, except when overheated.

Second, stay out of the sun when possible, and wear as little clothing as you can.

Eat soft, cold foods, and be sure they have not been left standing too long. This is especially true with regard to milk for infants.

Take a laxative if necessary, to keep your system cleansed. If you perspire excessively, take lots of salt. The perspiration may take too much salt from your blood.

If you feel faint or nauseated from excessive heat, first call a doctor. Then bathe in hot, not cold water. The reason for this is that the heat center in your brain is out of order and heat is required to get it to functioning.

A doctor should also be summoned immediately if you have sunstroke.

WORKERS PUSH NEW PAVEMENT CONSTRUCTION

Cement Pouring Begins On Main Street—It's a
Nine-Day Job

Despite the torrid weather, work was pushed through this week on the widening of Northville's Main and Center streets.

Every effort is being made to meet the original three-week deadline set for the completion of construction activity as was promised councilmen by John Norton, Wayne county engineering advisor. Before the project was started, he said it would take from two to three weeks to complete the job, if both sides of the street were closed at the outset. If one side of Main street were left open, it would take from six to seven weeks to finish the construction, county engineers reported.

Pouring of cement began Wednesday morning on the north side of Main street. It is estimated that the cement will all be in within nine days.

Harold Keogh, assistant field engineer, refused to say Wednesday afternoon how soon the streets might be opened. "If the council changes the original plan and insists that the pavement grade be changed through to Durbin on Center street, the work will be slowed down," he said.

Dr. H. H. Burkart, president of the council, said that the new grade would probably only go as far as the alley on Center street, as was advised by the county, when the plan was first considered.

"The suggestion that the grade be continued to Durbin was the opinion of only one councilman. In all probability the original construction plan will be carried out," continued Dr. Burkart.

It will take two days to replace the curbs. After that the sidewalks will have to be rebuilt. How long that will take depends on the amount of the work must be re-estimated, stated Bill Strayer, a county field engineer.

REV. NORTON SLEEPS WITH BLANKETS ON CAMP TRIP

The Rev. Russell S. Norton, turned to Northville this week from a camping trip on which he slept under heavy blankets every night.

He and the Rev. A. K. MacIntyre of Novi headed a group of 27 members of the Novi Baptist Young People's Union on a trip to the Muskegon state park.

NEW COMMANDER

Dr. Wilbur H. Johnston, county health officer, was elected Commander of the Lloyd H. Green Post American Legion, at the Wednesday night meeting.

Other officers for the new year included: Barton Connors, senior vice commander; Merrill Sweet, junior vice commander; L. H. Alexander, adjutant and finance; Lawrence Reidel, sergeant-at-arms; J. H. Bolton, Americanism; Ray A. Altenberg, trustee; Dr. Johnston and Mr. Bolton, convention delegates. Mr. Altenberg and Mr. Sweet alternates.

The installation service will be the late Dr. P. R. Alexander's, expected term, begins his first three-year period on the board. He will become his fourth consecutive term.

AUDITORS REPRESENTING THE COTTELL HANSON AND COMPANY OF DETROIT, REPORTED A $10,000 SHORTFALL FOR THE SCHOOL DISTRICT.

"This district is way ahead financially of any other in the state of its size," affirmed Mr. Cottrell. "The outstanding record is credited to the way taxes are paid here and to the fact that the school board is on the job all the time in the matter of expenditures," he commented.

Tax Interest Is Question

While giving the audited report, Mr. Hanson raised the question of what was happening to the interest collected on the delinquent taxes. It was his opinion that the township was quoted two weeks ago as demanding that Michigan be put in the absolutely democratic column. What will these states do? The answer is that nobody knows and for that reason, the outcome of the election cannot be predicted with any accuracy at all until it is determined to whom these states will give their electoral votes.

And can Roosevelt count on the farm states west of the Mississippi? Two months ago they were strongly democratic, even Kansas. But the Republicans are counting heavily on the fact that Kansas is a farm state.

STALKER-LYKE RE-ELECTED TO SCHOOL BOARD

Taxpayers—Consider
New Heating Plant

Attorney George Stalker and Fred W. Lyke were re-elected to their trustee positions on the board of education at the annual school meeting held Monday evening, July 13, in the high school.

Taxpayers, 3,500 strong, indicated their approval of having the two retiring trustees continue their service on the board for another three years, leaving 21 voters' representative at the election. With so few present, it was evident before the meeting began that the rumored proposal to elect new board members, making an issue of the board's favoring single teachers, had no backing.

But New Low
This year's attendance goes 70 persons below the all time low turn out of last year. Two years ago, there were 150 voters present at the annual meeting.

Mr. Stalker, who has completed the late Dr. P. R. Alexander's unexpired term, begins his first three-year period on the board. He will become his fourth consecutive term.

Auditors representing the Cottrell Hanson and company of Detroit, reported a $10,000 shortfall for the school district.

"This district is way ahead financially of any other in the state of its size," affirmed Mr. Cottrell. "The outstanding record is credited to the way taxes are paid here and to the fact that the school board is on the job all the time in the matter of expenditures," he commented.

Tax Interest Is Question

CAR CRASH CAUSES 2 PERSONS' DEATH

Two persons were killed and two were seriously injured at 3 p. m. Wednesday when a truck smashed into the end of an automobile, said to be without a tail light, on Taylor and Grand River roads.

The dead are Joseph Benfield, 33 years old of Clayton, driver of the automobile, killed instantly; and Mrs. Viola Kelly, 31 years old of South Lyon who died shortly after the accident in the Brighton hospital.

The injured are Thomas Benfield, 22 years old, a brother of Joseph of Clayton, who has a fractured leg; and Blanche Brunell, 39 years old, 355 Mulder avenue, Adrian.

The driver of the truck, Duane Simson, 314 Main street, Lansing, was not injured. He told Oakland county Deputy Sheriff Elmer McKinley and Joseph DeBrend that the car broke up out of nowhere. When I saw it, it was too late to stop.

Deputy sheriffs, it is reported by the Farmington Enterprise, claimed the occupants of the automobile, which was badly damaged, had been drinking. There were beer bottles in and around the car, they said.

LAST RITES HELD FOR MRS. WATTS

With six members of her son's football team as pallbearers, Mrs. J. P. Watts was laid to rest in Rural Hill cemetery last Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Watts died last Wednesday after a heart attack the previous Saturday.

Funeral services were held in Schrader's funeral parlors, where the Rev. Harold G. Whitfield of the Presbyterian church, spouse of Mrs. Watts as "God's gift blessing," a good woman. He pointed out to her long life of service as a telephone operator, her ability to accomplish things in a community life, and her success as a wife and mother.

The pallbearers were Dayton Deal, Charles Strausz, Irvin Marburger, Cloues Mayers, Donald Bray and Nick Reelcho. Mrs. Watts was Northville's No. 1 enthusiast at the athletic games in which these boys participated.

JOHN MARK LARUE TAKES G-MAN POST

John Mark Larue, son of John Larue of Ypsilanti, former superintendent of schools here, left this week for Washington to take a position in the G-Men's fingerprinting department. He had been here until Wednesday, when he was notified, staying with his grandfather, Mark Seely.

Mr. Larue, a graduate of the University of Michigan, had followed in his father's footsteps, having been head of the school in a northern Michigan town, where he was the youngest superintendent of schools in the state.

SENIORS TO MEET AT SCHOOL HOUSE

The Northville high school senior class will meet in the junior high room at the school at 2 p. m. Wednesday, Bruce Turnbull, president, announced this week.

This is the first meeting for the new seniors, and President Turnbull explained that committees must be appointed and a program started for the fair. Other officers of the class are Carl Arnold, vice president; Eleanor Hill, treasurer, and Mary Jane Gregory, secretary.

Village President, Dr. H. H. Burkart, and Councilman, Floyd Shafer, Receive Commendation From Neighboring Editor

Note: Northville's village council received commendation in last week's Plymouth Mail, crediting Dr. H. H. Burkart, president, and Floyd Shafer, councilman, for gaining two parking lots for Northville. Following is the article written by a staff member of the Plymouth Mail.

When the neighboring community of Northville was recently confronted with a parking problem due to the action of the village council in ending double parking along the main thoroughfares of that place, it didn't take its alert progressive and wide-awake youthful president, Dr. Edward H. Burkart, long to which he had the full cooperation, decide what to do.

As a result of his action, in of the councilmen, Northville now provides the public with two big free parking lots. One is located next to the Pennington-Alton theatre on East Main street in Northville, where nearly fifty cars can be parked without the slightest inconvenience. The other parking lot is on the site of the old Park hotel that was destroyed by fire some years ago. This is located at the corner of Main and Center streets.

The action of President Burkart has provided Northville with more parking facilities than it enjoyed when double parking was permitted along the streets.

The matter was brought to a head some weeks ago when Councilman Floyd Shafer recommended that something be done to solve the parking situation in Northville. Mr. Shafer, who has worked with the fullest cooperation with President Burkart in a solution of the problem, thought the time had come to end

DORIS MARKLE HURT BY HIT-RUN DRIVER

Doris Markle, 18-year-old Winom girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Markle, is in Sessions hospital suffering severe injuries received late Saturday afternoon, when she was struck by a hit and run driver.

Doris was walking toward New Hudson on the south side of Grand River road, when she was knocked down and dazed by a car, the driver did not slowen his speed but raced on down the highway going east.

"I had crossed the road and had just waved to a neighbor, Floyd Bixler, and I had put down my umbrella so that I could watch for cars, when a car came right at me. I was off on the gravel and was walking on the grass when I was hit. The man didn't stop to see how badly I was hurt," said Doris Tuesday morning from her hospital bed.

Chief of Police William H. Safford, who was notified of the accident, said that there wasn't much information to aid authorities in tracing the driver, who apparently made a clean get away.

Oakland county officials and state troopers, working on the case, reported Monday evening to Mr. Markle that they had reason to believe the hit and run driver was from Miford township.

Officer E. J. McKinley, South Lyon an Oakland county officer, reported Wednesday afternoon that the driver had not been found.

A badly cut left leg, bruises on the right leg, a deep cut in the right side, facial bruises and shock are the extent of Doris' injuries. She was brought to the hospital here by her parents immediately after the accident.

Some $2,500 of insurance on the village car was paid to the hospital.

SHE MADE NORTHVILLE BETTER

"God's rarest blessing, is after all, a good woman."

The death of Mrs. John B. Watts removes from the circles of this beautiful village of Northville a truly "good woman." With no claims to social attainments, to position, power or wealth of world's goods, she left a great impression upon our community, especially the younger people. Her loyalty to the Northville schools and our boys and girls was almost a passion with her. Such devotion adds to the spiritual wealth of a community.

The memory of Mrs. Watts will be an inspiration to many for years to come.

ALONG THE RIVER ROUGE PARKWAY

"Your parkway system is marvelous, the finest thing of its kind I ever saw," says a visitor from another state. We wonder if all our Northville people fully appreciate what a succession of beauty spots we have right here at our very door. As we understand it, the only rival of the parkway pavement and its connecting parks is to be found in New York state.

In fact, one has to go often to the original Cass Benton unit to keep pace with the changes that are being made on the parkway. The development just beyond Balden's hill, and to the east is a whole park in itself. To eat your picnic lunch by the running waters of the Rouge, to watch the tennis players, the shuffleboard enthusiasts, the quoits pitchers, the ball players and the "kids" at play in sand boxes or on the swings—all of this is a revelation of the extent to which the parkway is spreading out and becoming available to more and more thousands. Then to stand and watch the small children splashing and playing in the wading pool that has just been completed, is to renew your youth again.

"See Northville" by packing the family lunch and going to any of the hundreds of picnic tables to be found all along the parkway, beginning at South Center street. You will be thrilled.

YOUR ACCOUNT AT THE BANK

Says Editor George R. Averill of Birmingham: "One of the most necessary balances of practical value in life is a bank balance. It is always to your credit."

A checking account at your home bank is, as suggested by our neighboring scribe, a big asset. It adds to your dignity and self-respect and rates you a little higher with the folks to whom you hand checks. It should give people confidence in you.

When any one tells us that he despairs of the honesty and integrity of his fellowmen, we tell him about the checks that come to The Northville Record. Nearly every day we deposit several of them. Practically all of our business is with people whom we "trust." In our three departments of business, viz., advertising, job printing and subscription, we daily have to have faith in people. Our ledgers and other records will give the story of the business we do—practically all of it is based on our faith in the honesty and good will of our fellowmen. In the hundreds of checks that we have deposited in year 1936 we have not lost one dollar. Yes, indeed, the man or woman with a checking account is a pretty good person with whom to do business.

"Here is my check" is a pretty good sign that you are dealing with a honest person. At least this goes for Northville where we all know each other pretty well.

MICHIGAN, THE MARVELOUS STATE

Practically all of us will echo the words of Arthur S. Nichols, local attorney, who says: "Give me Michigan," after he tells of the pitiful conditions in the drought area that he saw in the Dakotas and Montana, while on a recent business trip to the Northwest states.

With the exception of rare years, Michigan knows nothing of the drought devastation that has struck parts of our country. No matter what the weather, crops are always harvested in Michigan—sometimes big, sometimes little but always crops of some kind. Of the tragic dust storms we know nothing. Our summer storms that do damage are few and far between—even though it is a good plan to have storm insurance. Our periods of devastating hot weather—such as we have been having—do not last long, for Michigan is a state of changeable weather and if it is hot today, you have a good chance that it will be cooler tomorrow or that a rain may come along to brighten the crops.

"For a beautiful peninsula, look around you," is right. Michigan, the state of thousands of lakes; the state surrounded by the incomparable Great-Lakes; the state of colorful hills and valleys; the state of attractive forests and of fertile land; the state of great industrial cities and peaceful little cities and villages—no wonder the people who go and see the rest of the country come back and say: "Michigan for me."

Even California concedes some of the glory of Michigan. One of its best editors, living in a fine college city, once said to the writer: "If I could not live in California, I should certainly go to Michigan."

PASTE THIS IN YOUR HAT

If anyone asks you, in this hot summer weather, just what our last Congress spent, tell them this:

"Over TEN BILLIONS of dollars." (Exact figures for reading in cooler weather are: $10,104,875,000.)

Says a Washington correspondent:

"The total of its appropriations was $10,104,875,000, exceeding by more than a billion the previous record of $9,579,756,000 voted by the same Congress in 1935."

"This is approximately three times the total revenue of the government for 1935 and 16 times the cost of the government before the World war. It will leave the largest deficit and the largest debt in the nation's history."

But why should we worry? The "government" will repay it some day. Why worry about the worries of our children and grandchildren?

DETROIT NEWS HITS FARLEY AGAIN

For months the editorial page of The Detroit News has been hammering away at the national administration for its attitude in keeping James A. Farley as the head of the post office department and at the same time as the head of two distinct political organizations, viz., chairman of the democratic national committee and chairman of the democratic state committee of New York.

With the recent announcement from the White House that "three-job Jim" will be given a payless vacation from the post office duties—just until after election—The News is not at all pleased. It still talks of "the scandal of Farleyism" and if we mistake not, will keep on hitting at the system that has permitted the former Tammany head to run both political and public jobs at the same time. If you want to read part of The News comment on the vacation idea, here it is:

There is no effect whatever on political administration of the Post Office Department during his absence. William W. Howes, the first Assistant Postmaster-General, becomes the Acting Postmaster-General. Howes is the democratic national committee man from South Dakota. His postal office is the one under which all postmasters are appointed and serve. Farley is wholly absorbed in his political activities now and has been for months. Not qualified for the postmaster-generalship in the first place and not devoting himself diligently to its duties in the second, he has not been entitled to the salary at any stage.

The scandal of Farleyism and its attempted Tammanyization of the Federal service is re-emphasized. The confession of need for some action should intensify the growing demand for separation of partisan politics from the Federal service. Good should ensue from even a grudging recognition of the fact that, in the interest of clear and efficient Federal administration, the head of two active political committees should not also serve as the head of the largest job-dispensing Government department.

NORTHVILLE'S YESTERDAYS

1 YEAR AGO

Arvid V. Jacobson, former high school mathematics teacher here who was convicted of Communistic espionage in Finland a year ago has just won a "hunger strike" in the prison at Abo, Finland. He charges that the prison officials violated their promise to release him at the end of a year.

Fire of undetermined origin caused $5,000 worth of damages Sunday morning to the office building of Dr. L. W. Shea on West Main street.

Frank Lauray, 82-year-old Northville resident who was told at his birthday July 6, died Tuesday in Seasons hospital after a six-day illness.

The expected "fireworks" over the investigation into the beer garden situation here and the parking on the Plymouth avenue parkway, all of which began two weeks ago, fizzled out at the meeting of the village commission Monday evening at the village hall. The excitement at the village commission meeting was supposed to come from a clash between John Norton, local beer garden proprietor who had been under attack, and his attorney, Ford P. Brooks of Plymouth; and Commissioner William T. Gregory. But nothing happened.

Thirteen of the fastest trotters and racers in this vicinity "strutted their stuff" before nearly 100 persons at the matinee races Sunday at the fairground race track.

5 YEARS AGO

Frank S. Harmon, one of the men who has hoped make Northville after a lingering illness, passed away at his home on North Wing street, Monday, July 13.

Election of John Kalbfleisch as trustee for three years, to succeed Wellington Roberts; announcement of a saving of $4,873 in salaries the past year, the returning of $8,500 of bonds and the statement that the balance of money due over money owing for the year would be $3,532—these were high lights of the annual meeting of the Northville school district.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Lapham State Savings bank, held Tuesday evening, it was unanimously voted to undertake liquidation of the bank's assets by a committee selected by the stockholders. Following this expression of confidence in the bank's officials, the following committee was named: E. H. Lapham, Milo N. Johnson and J. C. Christensen.

date where she has taken over an individual enterprise, the private hospital of that place.

10 YEARS AGO

August Kreager, a respected citizen of this community for many years, died at the home of his son, William, after an illness of about two years.

That part of the Richardson farm lying north of the Fishers road was recently sold to the Home of the Good Shepherd, of Detroit, by a group of Northville men, the deal having been consummated by Milo N. Johnson.

More than 150 people attended the annual school meeting of district at the high school auditorium Monday night, and as a result of the large attendance the district now has an entirely new board of trustees—Ernest Miller, H. R. Richardson, E. C. Laughtfield, Harry German and Wellington Roberts. The first four members were elected to succeed four members whose terms of office had expired and Mr. Roberts was chosen to succeed L. A. Babbitt, who presented his resignation and asked that it take immediate effect.

Miss Norma Balko, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Balko, and Theodore Baker of Plymouth, were united in marriage at the Lutheran parsonage in this village last Friday, Rev. O. G. L. Reiss performing the ceremony.

Next Monday at 4 p. m. the village council will sell at public auction the old village building on Main street.

15 YEARS AGO

Harry S. German of this village is marshaling an old veterans' ball team this week for a game with the Durand team on Thursday. The oldest member of German's team will be 54 and the youngest 40, and the combined ages of the members of the battery is just an even 100 years—Bowerman being 54 years old and German 46.

GARDENS

Every time we call on Northville women, they take us out to their back yards. "Come out and see my garden," they say, with just pride. It is doubtful if any small town has so many lovely gardens as our own village. So often they are tucked away out of sight from passers by that one would never guess they were there.

We never enjoyed a garden so much as this summer. Very often we drag the chairs and a small table to the back yard so that the whole family may drink in the beauty of flowers, birds splashing in the bird bath. And now our young carpenter is making a rustic bench. Very crude it is but it adds a touch of invitation to the shade of the old apple tree.

Our sister, Florence (known by many Northville women now), writes this of gardens:

"The back yard, without its furniture, looks almost as bare as the living room without chairs and davenport. Along with landscaping has come the living back yard, much more charming than the living room and a step farther out into the open than the sun parlor. Here the birds are not in cages, and the flowers may run riot and the housewife and her husband may raise Canterbury bells and larkspur, and forget-me-nots and Oriental poppies and Japanese lanterns and hibiscus and clematis and galleria and a dozen other varieties of delight. Here peace reigns and sweet repose and Nature presents a new joy each day.

"But as to the furniture—there are the most come-hither benches, some simple cement frames, some elaborately trimmed Italian settings; and here is the sun dial, the bird bath, the gazing globe on its pedestal. What is the use of the gazing globe? Nobody seems to know, but it looks beautiful with the sun shining on it and its rays refracted into varicolored beams. The trees and grass and skies are reflected in it, too, and it adds a charming note to the little, sequestered garden. And when the moon shines softly on it, you think that glory has slipped down out of the heavens into your wee back yard. Other garden furnishings are the ornamental urns and pots, the fountains, the stone lantern, and the cool rockery.

"The flower beds of the modern garden are not formal, as of yore, but follow natural lines of curves with no square corners. Around, in and out, among the shrubs and flowers are flagstone walks, made from irregular pieces of broken cement sidewalks imbedded in the sod. And back in a silent corner, where the vista is longest, and yet the retreat is most secure, is a little arbor seat or pergola. Here is a spot to rest on a quiet evening or a Sunday afternoon, or between times when pulling weeds.

"If you haven't a back-yard garden yet, start one today. Mother Nature is no respecter of persons and she will make the hollyhocks bloom just as brilliantly in your garden as in anyone's.

"You don't know what you are missing in a forlorn, gardenless state. Do not grieve if you cannot spend a lot of money on your garden. A garden is a love-some spot, not a place for the display of wealth. Coax Mother Nature and she will smile on you. You do not have to court her with riches. And do not take your garden too seriously. The joy of a garden is in making it—not in having it. And then, there is always anticipation. Next year you will add lilies and a new variety of roses."

ward the Calvinistic theology that guided them. It is well written, of popular appeal, and entirely wholesome in tone.

Mr. Theobald's Devil-Known. The gentle, helpless curate of Bannbury Steeple was taken in hand during the summer by two people—the unscrupulous "ragabond" who moved into his carriage house, and by Miss Ann of the manor-house, who had to do her own courting. It is especially written for readers with a taste for quiet English stories, touched with humor and shy malice.

DEALERS TO ATTEND GRAIN CONFERENCES

Five grain grading conferences to further the development of better market movement of quality grains in Michigan will be held in the state beginning Monday, July 20, at Kalamazoo, according to invitations to grain dealers by members of the extension staff at Michigan State college.

Factors that affect quality, market demands and premiums paid for quality, and the inspection procedures that assure quality are principal subjects that will concern wheat, oats, rye, barley, corn and soybeans.

The schedule of meetings includes the initial meeting at Kalamazoo to be followed by conferences at Grand Rapids, July 21; Grosse Pointe, July 22; Marquette, July 23, and Ann Arbor, July 24.

Grain grading demonstrations by W. F. Carroll, senior marketing specialist of the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics, will show procedures used by federal grain inspectors in determining grades, moisture content, mixtures, and diseases of grains. R. E. Decker, farm crops department, and A. B. Love, marketing specialist, at the college, will present portions of each day's conference.

Decker will discuss methods of improving the quality of small grains through cultural, harvesting and storage methods and through the use of adapted crop varieties and insect control by the farmers producing the market grains. The information is to be used by the dealers in serving farmers who seek a place in the marketing of small grains grown in the state.

MELODRAMA DRAWS LARGE CROWD TO CITY PLAYHOUSE

An evening of enjoyment and hearty laughs awaits everyone who attends "The Drunkard," at the Players Playhouse, 3321 Jefferson avenue east. This is playing during the summer season.

This old melodrama, first staged by P. T. Barnum back in 1843, has revived a few years ago in California, where it is still a hit. In Detroit it was first presented at the Playhouse in the summer of 1934. Last October it opened again and played to packed houses for eight weeks.

This frolic is being given under new management and with the best cast yet assembled for the show in Detroit. The members of the management of Shakes Old Troupers, Inc., are all prominent among the players.

P. T. Barnum, a radical temperance advocate, was serious about this play, "The Drunkard," when he first produced it 93 years ago. Indeed, it was sub-titled "The Father Saved." The story takes a young man, a moderate drinker, through all the stages to his ruin and the resultant unhappiness of himself and his family. And then along comes a temperance philanthropist and saves the day—and incidentally the Drunkard.

To a 1936 audience the stilted lines and action are legitimate grounds for mirth. Added to that the audience is encouraged to trunk up "nifties" to shout at the actors, and hence those out front have a big share in the show. They hiss the villain and applaud the hero—all of which makes for hilarity.

The performance is directed by Alfred Rigal of New York, who has had wide experience in stage, screen and radio work. He was in "Dumb Luck" with Mae West and was actor-manager with the first New York company of "The Drunkard" directed by Harry Bannister.

TELEPHONE BUDGET GOES UP AS GAINS ARE MADE BY USERS

Approximately $30,000,000 will be expended by the Michigan Bell Telephone company this year for operation of its service, extension and maintenance of plant, taxes, interest and the purchase of supplies and material essential to the conduct of its business, according to the company's present estimate for 1936.

Of the total expenditures, the greater proportion will be paid out in Michigan, approximately $12,000,000 representing salaries and wages to the company's 7,500 employees. Of a total tax bill of over $4,000,000—federal state and miscellaneous local taxes, the company will pay to the State of Michigan $2,622,575.85. A check for part of the state taxes was presented Tuesday, June 30, to Auditor General John J. O'Hara. The balance is to be paid the state before Nov. 1. These taxes go to the primary school fund.

Gain of telephones, which in 1935 was 32,000, is expected to reach 40,000 this year. The first four months of the year gave the company a net gain of 37,000 telephones, and up to the first of May the company had replaced about one-third of the 216,000 telephones lost during the early years of the depression.

The Michigan Bell company is the largest taxpayer of the utilities group. The tax money paid, the state by these utilities is placed in the primary school fund and from there is distributed among all public school districts in proportion to the number of children of school age residing therein.

The tax bill to be paid by the Michigan Bell company this year represents $721 per telephone, based on the average number of telephones operated by the company during 1935. Net earnings, from 370,000 telephones, or substantially one-third of the average number operated last year, will be required to meet the company's tax bill.

WHAT OTHER EDITORS ARE THINKING ABOUT

AN UNFORTUNATE SITUATION (Chas S Seed in Rochester)

It is unfortunate for the success of the movement that those who had the promotion of the Townsend plan in charge did not show up in the recent investigation as selfish promoters of the cause which they believed for human good. The investigation gave the impression that they were in the movement for what they could get out of it. If they had chosen to have a small compensation and used the money wholly for the promotion of the cause, there is no estimating how far the movement would have gone.

HOIA BUSINESS

Narrow partisans are finding fault because the Home Owners Loan Corporation is foreclosing on mortgages in default. Instead of being subject to ensure the HOLC should be complimented on its business-like handling of mortgages. The HOLC was organized to relieve the distress of home owners who were about to lose their property. Mortgages held by many banks and building and loan associations could not be refinanced. The process of liquidation was underway and the HOLC was launched to relieve the situation.

What do the present critics want? Do they recommend that the HOLC not exercise the foreclosure clause? Do the critics contend that those who paid their mortgage installments as they became due should now have their honesty and thrift penalized by cancellation of amounts due from those who have failed to meet the mortgage requirements?

It strikes us that the HOLC is proving its worth. It came into the picture to serve a definite need. When that need grew less the HOLC showed a willingness to restrict and eventually halt its loaning. It has not gone on seeking to perpetuate itself in the mortgage field. Now the time has come when mortgages in default are being foreclosed and the HOLC is foreclosing them. It can do nothing else and play fair with borrowers and the public.

The HOLC is operating on public funds. Bonds were issued on the mortgage. Bondholders and the taxpaying public have a stake in the HOLC. It is their money that is being loaned. From all we have been able to gather the HOLC has been lenient in its collection policy. If the borrower has proved that he is making every attempt to pay and the facts justify additional time on amortization installments, extensions are granted. If the loan is past due and there seems to be a lack of ability to pay them, of course, the HOLC must in fairness to other borrowers and in fairness to the taxpaying public and the bondholders foreclose. There is no other recourse.

That the HOLC officials have the courage to do their duty, and their duty is to collect as well as to lend, should be a matter for congratulation. If a vacillating policy of postponement, ultra-liberal extensions and other moratoria methods were followed there would be occasion for alarm. Certainly there should be no criticism over the fact that the HOLC is operating a financial business along the same lines that the government demands of banks and building and loan institutions.

Recent additions to the library shelves include volumes selected especially for light summer reading. The new books are:

"Sky Gypsy—Cranston. Within these pages the reader finds the story of 25,000 miles of flying clipper ships over South America, Central America, Mexico and the Caribbean.

BANK STATEMENT SOUND

The statement of the Depositors' State Bank as called for by the commissioner of banking under the date of June 30, and which was published officially in the last Record issue, indicates that the institution has made a very substantial growth during the past 12 months. On June 25, 1935, a similar statement was called for and it is interesting to make some comparisons in the figures as given in both reports.

A year ago the total liabilities of the bank amounted to $855,308.82 compared with $1,026,762.66, for June 30, 1936, while the savings deposits of a year ago totaled $408,120.51 as compared with $426,316.21 this year. A year ago the commercial accounts were $122,042.78 and on June 30, 1936, while the savings decreased to $177,045.70.

In many other ways, which figures cannot indicate, the business of the bank has improved and the management is to be congratulated upon the fine showing made for the past year.

Plymouth—Elaborate plans are progressing for the ceremonies Thursday evening, July 23, when the historic old Civil War flag of the Eddy post, Grand Army of the Republic, will be presented to the City of Plymouth by its heirs, the members of the Ex-Service Men's club. The committee on arrangements has solicited the aid of Spanish-American and the World War veterans, as well as Boy Scouts, for a series of tableaux in connection with the presentation, and there will also be band music and talks by noted speakers—Plymouth Mail.

Detroit—Four more Black Legion members were ordered held for trial by Recorder's Judge J. J. Jeffries Friday, July 10, on charges of plotting to kill Arthur L. Kingsley, publisher of the Highland Park. They are Mathias Guinn, discharged D. S. R. employee; Rowland Hesselbach, discharged Highland Park fireman; and two suspended Highland Park policemen, John A. Godwin and William Keller. They are held under bonds of $2,500.—Detroit Free Press.

Pontiac—Officers took special precautions at the county jail this week to prevent Hazen J. Reynolds, 19 years old, confessed holdup man and burglar, from carrying out a suicide threat pending his arraignment in Circuit Court Monday. "I'll never go to the big house again," Reynolds told Lt. Detective Frank Nelson Friday after he had signed a confession in which he admitted three taxicab holdups, a $700 jewelry store robbery and an automobile theft within the last three weeks.

"I won't ever be able to go straight for any length of time," he declared. "And I won't go back to prison. I didn't need the money. I pulled these jobs for the thrill of it." Reynolds, a paroled convict, served a nine months' sentence at the State Prison for Southern Michigan after he was convicted of breaking and entering. He admitted 23 house robberies in Pontiac.

"The biggest thrill that I could ever get would be to drive 90 miles an hour down Saginaw Street with the police following me," Reynolds was quoted by Nelson as saying. "I stole and robbed purely for the thrill. After I had gone straight for a year, something told me I had to do something I would get a big kick out of." Reynolds was captured July 10, a few hours after he was recognized by a taxi driver as the man who held him up June 26.—Pontiac Daily Press.

Birmingham—Two substantial contributions, made during the past few days, will enable the Barnum Swimming pool to remain open at least another week and possibly longer.

Subscriptions to the pool fund have enabled us to keep the pool open this week, and with a sum of $40 above this week's operation expense and several more subscriptions promised, indications are that the pool will remain open at least another week. "Maybe we're going to be able to pull through," was the statement issued by O. P. Peterson, treasurer of the local YMCA. The subscriptions were made by Senator James Couzens and R. J. Emmert.—Birmingham Eclectic.

Milford—Attorneys for the Ford Motor company were in Milford, July 15, interviewing property owners as to agreements pertaining to the flowage rights along Moore's land and Pettibone Creek. Favorable progress was reported and many of the property owners are said to have signed the agreements, although some have not as yet done so.

It is said by those in the know, that the building plans for the proposed factory have been completed by the architects and as soon as all property and water rights have been settled, the word to go will be given.—Milford Times.

Walled Lake—John Belknap, 37 years old of Detroit, became Oakland county's twelfth drowning victim of the 1936 season, when he dived into Walled Lake Monday evening, July 6, shortly after six o'clock. He had gone to the Dodge State park for a picnic with his parents, and it is said to have shortly before going in the water, eaten a picnic dinner.

Balaban was swimming with a companion, who was too far away to effect a rescue or give assistance. The horse stables on the Milford Fair Ground were destroyed by fire early Sunday afternoon, July 12, with a loss of about $3,000 to buildings and destruction of one valuable animal belonging to a Mr. Moore of Dearborn. The buildings were insured for about $1,500.—Pontiac Press.

"GRADUATING FAMILY"—The Milford high school alumni list shows three generations of graduates. They are Mrs. Myrtle Phillips, class of '57; her daughter, Mrs. Myrl Bradley Phillips of the class of '66 and her daughter, Mrs. Eleanor Phillips Beum, of the class of '27. Mrs. Beum now hopes that her young son Bradley will be the fourth generation of graduates in about 1961.

"Under Two Flags" Stars Four Great Actors Who do Splendid Work Filming Mighty Spectacle-Drama, Showing Here

Four great stars, a cast of ten thousand, and a story that flames with the intensity of Sahara's burning sands, bring one of the mightiest spectacle-dramas of motion picture history to the screen in 20th Century's "Under Two Flags" now at the Pennington-Allen theatre.

Topping the star-studded story of flaming love and smoldering rebellion are Ronald Colman, Claudette Colbert, Victor McLaglen and Rosalind Russell, who lead a supporting cast of forty character stars and numberless extras.

The setting of the story is a sun-baked post of empire on the edge of the Sahara. McLaglen is the hard-bitten commander of a battalion of Legionnaires and his outstanding soldier is Ronald Colman. McLaglen is the slave of the tantalizing "Cigarette" played by Miss Colbert. When he discovers that she has given her heart to Colman, he comes to hate his subordinate.

THE OFFICE WASTEBASKET OF "WARNER WINCHELL" By FRED WARNER NEAL

"NUMBER PLEASE" You can't pay tribute to the memory of Mrs. Watts the way you would in the case of ordinary people. For Mrs. Watts was decidedly not an ordinary person.

Words are so inadequate. And Mrs. Watts' deeds were her legacy. But to recite those deeds which honor the love and respect of the entire community, would require 100 columns.

I am going to miss, as will the entire community, that cheery voice at midnight: "Well, what are you doing up this late? When you come home from school you ought to rest. And how is your mother? Sure, I'll ring your number."

As a newspaperman, the occasion frequently arose for quick calls. And always you could count on Mrs. Watts. "All right, I'll get on and call you." And when she did ring back, she might well enough have some other information on the accident, that few persons would have been so considerate as to obtain.

And always we would talk about school athletics—a topic Mrs. Watts never used of discussing. She was the one woman I knew of that understood both the three minute rule in basketball and the difference between a backboard and a touchdown.

But for me to sorrow over the loss of this very good friend would be selfish. True sorrow dwells not with me, nor the community, but with the family. For Mrs. Watts, whatever else her field, was first of all a mother and a homemaker. And she would not want anybody to be sorrowful at all. For sorrow was so alien to her cheerful voice and countenance. She died in the harness, as she would have liked. And her spirit must have warmed when these boys, for whom she had cheered so hoarsely on the football field, bore her to the grave. But for her, life was real, earnest and not an empty dream, "and the grave is not its goal."

I like to think of Mrs. Watts as Wordsworth would have pictured her:

A perfect woman, nobly planned To warn, to comfort, and to command; And yet a spirit still, and bright With something of an angelic light.

And somewhere Mrs. Watts would have answered: "Number please."

BISHOP VS. LIBERTY LEAGUE After just staying away from church Sunday (June 29) I went next day to the Detroit Conference of the Methodist Church in Royal Oak where I felt rather unholily among so many ministers. Best part of the day, for me, was the address of the militantly liberal Bishop Edgar Blake.

Bishop Blake, denouncing the liquor traffic, took occasion to rap the Liberty League, leaders of which, he said, laughed in the face of the prohibition law, defying the constitution that they now proudly uphold as sacred, etc. "What do they (the du Ponts, the Smiths et al.) care about the constitution?" the bishop asked. "Not a thing. Then, or now."

"They recognize only one kind of liberty," the bishop declared—"their own." In his opinion (and in mine) the Liberty League's contemporary palaver about violation of the constitution and deprivation of freedom is bunk, and he said so in no uncertain terms.

"Politics," he told the Methodist clergy, speaking about the democrats in the Liberty League backing Republican Candidate Landon, "makes strange bedfellows. And economics estranges bedfellows."

I thought it too bad, though, that Bishop Blake spent so much time lashing against prohibition repeal. The liquor situation is bad, granted. And it is probably worse than it was before repeal. But to my mind there are today more pressing issues, issues on which the bishop only touched.

MR. CLEAVER John W. Cleaver portrayed, to me, the highest type of American citizen. A quiet, simple and unassuming man, who gleamed his living from the earth in honest toil, he was at the same time alert and enlightened and interested in all things about him. Comparatively, he was more than well read, and yet he never stopped learning. The active and intelligent concern he had in government typified that quality in so many, and yet so few Americans that make them the greatest nation in the world. He was a rugged individualist, yes. But he never allowed worldly things to blot from his view the real and human values. We need more John Cleavers.

SUNSTROKE IS FATAL TO FORMER VILLAGER

A sunstroke suffered Sunday was the cause of the death of Walter Balko, 34, Detroit. He was found Monday morning in his car parked in front of his rooming house at Holbrook and Greeley. It was not possible to determine how long he had been dead.

Mr. Balko, a worker in the Chevrolet plant for the past six years, had not reported for work since Wednesday, July 8.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Lewis Balko of 515 Novi avenue; three sisters, Mrs. Roy Smith of Walled Lake; Mrs. Granger Mason of Walled Lake; Mrs. Theodore Baker of New York; and a brother, Reynold Balko of Walled Lake.

A brief funeral service was held at 5 p. m. Tuesday in the Rural Hill cemetery.

candidate, and that he is sure to bring him his own state. (Only one man, Woodrow Wilson, in 1918, ever became President without winning his own state).

On the other hand, the New Deal farm policy is still popular with western farmers. And if the drought continues and the administration in Washington comes to the aid of farmers, the Roosevelt stock is at least not to be cut in the drought areas.

It is in the west that the so-called third party, the union party, with inflationist William Lemke as candidate and Father Coughlin as chief backer, comes in at all. If genuine inflation, as advocated by the unionists, appeals to intelligent persons at all, it is the farmers of the west and many of them are uneducated. It is possible that the union party may take some votes away from Roosevelt in the Dakotas, for instance (particularly North Dakota, Lemke's state), in Idaho, in Utah, in Oklahoma and in the silver states. But these will be popular votes and not electoral votes, and it is hard to see how the third party can cut enough of a figure even in those states actually to do anything.

TWO DEATHS OCCUR HERE AT MAYBURY

Death claimed two employees of the William H. Maybury sanatorium Sunday.

They were Mrs. Ida N. Brown, 68 years old, graduate nurse from Detroit, and John Gannon, 48 years old, a night watchman.

Funeral services for Mrs. Brown, who died of an asthmatic condition, were held at 1 p. m. Wednesday at the Hill Brothers funeral home, 414 Hamilton avenue, Detroit. The Rev. Harold G. Whitfield of the Northville Presbyterian church officiated. The body, as requested by Mrs. Brown, was cremated.

CASTERLINE'S CORN PASSES NINE FEET

The drought and hot weather has had no deterrent effect on sweet corn in the field of Fred Casterline of Waterford. Mr. Casterline's corn Wednesday had reached the height of 9 feet, and he says it is going up. This is about twice the height of average corn around here.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear Wilma, who passed away one year ago, July 15, 1935.

We have all the while
Sadly missed by her parents, sisters, brothers and grandparents.
