

LANDON MEN STAND BY IN STRAW COUNT

Deadline for Vote Survey Is Near; Ask Readers to Bring in Ballots

Concluding the village poll this week, Landon led in the straw vote with 7 ballots; Roosevelt, 3; and Lemke, one. Totalling the votes cast to date in Northville, the following tabulation places Landon at the top:

Landon	27
Roosevelt	14
Lemke	2
Browder	2

A faster and faster political tempo is being attained as the 1936 presidential campaign swings into the final month. This drive by major parties for their respective candidates is manifested far and wide and is being reflected in the grass roots presidential straw vote being conducted by some 3,000 newspapers throughout the country.

At the close of the sixth week of balloting in this country America poll, a total of 792,324 votes had been tabulated. Governor Alf Landon, republican, continues to lead; President Roosevelt, democratic, is second; and Congressman William Lemke, union party, is a distant third. The other candidates, Thomas socialist; Colvin, prohibitionist, and

EDITOR'S NOTE: There is still time to cast a straw ballot for your favorite presidential candidate in this poll, but you will have to hurry. The poll closes officially Oct. 16, when all ballots must be in the national straw-vote headquarters in New York. This newspaper is cooperating in the poll. You will find a straw-vote ballot on page 9 of this issue of The Record. Clip out the ballot now. Vote it. Then mail or bring your ballot to the Record office.

Browder, Communist, trail far in the rear in U. S. regards of the straw vote voters.

Returns from 39 states have not been tabulated at national straw-vote headquarters here, an increase of three states over last week's tabulation. The new states are Arkansas, Georgia and Vermont.

Of the 35 states Governor Landon has a popular vote lead in 23 states to 11 states for President Roosevelt.

Material gains were recorded for Roosevelt during the sixth week both in number of states and in percentage points. His increase in states came through gaining majorities over Landon in Montana and Arkansas, and from the solid South. While the vote in these two latter states is still light, likewise is the vote in Vermont, light, which state (Continued on page 6)

TO SETTLE QUESTION OF CAUCUS-PRIMARY

At a recent meeting of the Northville township board a petition was presented asking that the proposition of changing from the caucus to the primary for township officers be submitted to the voters of the township at the general election to be held on Tuesday, Nov. 3.

The reason advanced for asking that the change be made is the fact that under the caucus system a good many of the electors of the township cannot attend the caucuses which are usually held in the afternoon, owing to the fact that they are employed outside of the township and cannot spare the time to take part in the selection of candidates.

Under the proposed plan candidates for township officers will be chosen by the primary method which has been adopted by a number of surrounding townships. The polls of the election will be open for several hours during the day and evening, thus enabling all citizens to get to the polling place some time during the day. Candidates seeking places on the tickets will present petitions to the board of election commissioners, for the certification of their legality.

Civic Association's Committeemen at Work;
Rotary and Exchange Clubs Assist With Barbecue Stand—Dancing on Street

The Civic association came forward today to release the date for Northville's harvest festival, Friday, Oct. 16, thus taking its third step in the plan to make this suburb a center of trade and activity.

Festivities will begin at 4:30 p. m. with a ball game which will be scheduled by Loyde M. German. A barbecue to be served in the parking lot on Main and Center streets will follow at 6 o'clock, with the Exchange and Rotary clubs assisting Phillips, the caterer of Clarksville.

One of the highlights of the festival will be the keenest games with the prizes given by the local merchants.

After obtaining permission to use the Farm Crest amphitheater, a political committee has been set to work to sell "speaking space" to politicians seeking office in November.

SATURDAY IS FORMAL OPENING DAY OF NEW WOOLEN GOODS STORE

Opening their doors to the public Saturday for the first time since moving into the Pennington-Alten theatre building, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Schofield, proprietors of The Woollen Goods Store, will display new merchandise.

They are advertising for formal opening specials, attractive prices on exceptionally fine stock. For instance there are blankets, Parlor all wool in a variety of colors. Imported Holland health blankets, of pure virgin wool, are selling for at least six dollars below the ordinary price.

The Woollen Goods store has added a new line of articles to the shelves in the new location, including: Top-handle leather hand bags, imported and domestic linens, cabin craft bedspreads, bath mats, bath rugs and other gift merchandise.

SHOPPERS KEEP PARKING RUCKUS BEFORE VILLAGE

Car Drivers Voice Protest in Letters—All Seek Change in Law

Editor's note: The Record is glad to print letters from readers who wish to express their views on any current problems which are before the village. We will not give space to letters which come through the mail, unsigned. However, if they are brought to the office by the writers, we will print them with pseudo signatures at the writers' request.

Letters so written do not reflect the policy of the paper. The Record's stand on controversies is always found in its editorial columns.

Northville, Mich.
Sept. 25, 1936.

Dear Editor:

Now that we have such fine improvements in the way of adequate thoroughfares in our business section, why not make better use of the wide streets? I am of the opinion, and many other shoppers tell me the same, that we should have hander parking facilities for daily shopping. We would just as soon drive a few more miles to our neighboring village to shop without a parking problem than to have to circle the loop a half million times to find an available space to park our car. Let's have "angle parking" again so we can all park and do our shopping in Northville, which is only fair to our local merchants.

I hope The Record will make this public and get some more opinions. Thanking you I remain,

W. C. HARTMAN SPEAKS TO GAS DEALERS FRIDAY

Plymouth Is Host to Local Retailers Who Consider
National Association

Two Northville gasoline dealers, Dr. W. Richmond and B. E. Warner, attended a meeting at the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce office Friday evening, Sept. 25, when they heard a fellow-villager, William C. Hartman, give a talk explaining the workings of the Detroit Gasoline Dealers association of which he is the vice president.

It was pointed out at the gathering that the individual retailer was not on his own responsibility as to the price at which he sells gasoline.

Mr. Hartman, a director of the National association of dealers answered questions regarding the ways of handling problems through organization. Two questions which the business men asked were:

What methods are used by the association to combat the chiseler?

One method is by "posting" four-cent discounts on all neighborhood stations, forcing the individual chiseler out of business. In some cases, a cross from the association drive cars into stations, lock doors and teach talk to the owner for half an hour or more during busy hours. His business is gone.

HUNTING FORMER FRIENDS, DOWNER VISITS VILLAGE

Recalls Northville's Mill Lake of 55 Years Ago; Returns to Alva, Okla.

With three friends—R. E. Norton, P. E. White and George E. Scott—and 1,000 sheep, W. T. Downer, 55 years ago at the age of 24, made his way from Northville to the Indian Territory.

Last week Mr. Downer, now of Alva, Okla., returned with his daughter, Miss Mildred, to the village for the first time in 20 years to visit relatives at the home of Mrs. Jennie P. Vandenburg, 410 Yerkes avenue.

While here, he found only three friends—Charles Sessions, William H. Yerkes and Charles L. Dubuque—who lived in Northville when he was a young man.

"Everything's changed so," commented Mr. Downer. "The business district has been built up so much that I wouldn't recognize it. But I can go through the residential section and pick out every one of the old houses that stood here 35 years ago," he continued.

Optimistic in his views of Northville's future, Mr. Downer said that the Ford factory would be a stabilizer here and that continued growth in the town could be traced directly to it.

When asked what particular change he noted between the Northville of yesterday and of today, he smilingly referred to the mill lake—two of them especially—where as many as 75 boys would gather for picnics on hot summer days. "The new Northville has crowded them out," he asserted.

DOES THIS DESCRIBE YOU?

To be perfectly frank and honest about it, aren't most of us "twenty-mile-an-hour drivers" in an "eighty-mile-an-hour car?" All right, then, read and ponder this bit of wisdom from the Fortune magazine:

"The cold fact is that traffic today is a combination of an eighty-mile-an-hour car in the hands of a twenty-mile-an-hour driver struggling to adjust itself to a thirty-mile-an-hour road."

NORTHVILLE STORES ARE CALLING

Walking down "ad alley" of The Northville Record last week made very interesting travel. It isn't much fun to hear over the radio that false teeth are being sold at a cut rate but it was good news to hear, on page 5 of the home paper, that you could get an eleven-tube radio for only $69.75.

We didn't know before that you could buy tomato juice in tins, but one of the grocery ads told us. A lot of folks have talked slightly of tomato juice, but one of Northville's smartest men, over 67 years of age, in perfect health, tells us that he owes this to his life-long habit of eating tomatoes and drinking the juice thereof.

Then, another grocery store in our issue of Sept. 25 lists 33 prices on food products. Bananas at five cents a pound, sweet potatoes at 10 cents for three pounds. "Fancy chicken" at 19 cents—what finer thing for the family than a Sunday chicken dinner!

Speaking about winter coming on there were some alluring ads on this topic. All about the coal stokers that are giving us a new conception on how to get along without back-breaking coal shoveling! And an ad that told you all about your fuel oil.

With five dry goods stores of the village giving their increase, in the same line, what excuse to go out of town to buy pyjamas, dresses, towels, coats, blankets or hosiery?

And what finer value than the home furniture store, giving an end table free with each studio couch? And do you all know that the same Grand Rapids furniture that is on display in this big Northville store is often seen in Detroit at considerably higher price? Whoever buys furniture out of town without seeing the home folks first, takes a chance on paying more for the identical product. Investigate!

Yes, friends, the Northville stores want your business and are telling you why. Travel through the ads in The Record.

THE PARKING PROBLEM

Northville certainly has a parking problem—and what village, little or big, hasn't one? Yet the problem can be approached and perhaps half-solved, without rancor or unkindness.

Some people seem to think it all wrong to have petitions circulated, asking for a change. Personally, we believe in the right of petition—whether we believe in a certain one or not. That is a good democratic way to solve problems. Yet we agree with our mayor that too many people sign petitions just to keep peace with the persons carrying around the petitions. Of course, that detracts from the value of the appeal.

This writer believes that it might pay to investigate the possibilities of angle parking on the east side of North Center street. This is "our" business street about which we know something. It seems to us that there would be little danger in the angle parking from Main to Dunlap street, and therefore signed the petition to that effect, refusing to ask for a change on Main street, because we had not studied the situation there.

The side mentioned is a block between our two traffic lights. Therefore, the driving in this block, in either direction, should be slow driving. That would do away with danger. The law requires a stop at the red light, before making a right hand turn; any driver coming west from Main street and turning north at Center is legally bound to go slowly as he comes around the corner. Our observation is that this law is broken repeatedly and certainly there is more danger in this than there would be in angle parking. And we would also favor arresting a few of the many drivers who deliberately violate the law about "Stop" signs. Nearly every week we have an escape or two on Dunlap street.

Life is never without problems. Let's put the parking troubles on the docket and find the best way out. The working of many minds should do good.

DANGEROUS AMENDMENTS

Thinking people of the Northville area should be warned against the danger of the adoption of three of the amendments that will be up for the decision of voters at the Nov. election.

Students of taxation state that only one of the four amendments passed in brief, this refers to the seizure of weapons and its adoption would help the police and courts in convicting criminals.

Amendment No. two provides for the re-organization of county government but is said by some of our best known Michigan political scientists to be contradictory and inconsistent. Its adoption, they state, would hinder, rather than help, the coming of better county government—which we know could be vastly improved.

Proposals three and four would remove the sales tax on foods and eliminate almost all taxes on real and personal property. Do you realize what the adoption of these two amendments would do to your schools? Do you understand that yours and your neighbors' children would suffer? Read these opinions from the Michigan Education Journal, which is a leading authority on Michigan schools:

Proposal Three would remove the sales tax on the purchase of foods. The sales tax is now the principal source of revenue for the General Fund of the State. The public schools are dependent upon this General Fund for state aid distributed in accordance with the Thatcher-Saur Act. Elimination of the sales tax on food would deprive this Fund of approximately $12,000,000 annually, and welfare, old age pensions, and the schools would be the first to suffer.

Proposal Four would eliminate almost all taxes on real and personal property, except for principal and interest on present debts. This form of taxation now supplies more than half of the present revenues for schools, and also is the principal financial support for cities, counties, villages, and townships. Adoption of Proposal Four would make all these forms of local government virtually dependent upon the State Legislature for finances.

There is no valid reason why property should not pay its reasonable share of taxes, especially since part of these taxes pay for police and fire protection and for other services and improvements that increase the value of property. Large industries, real estate speculators, and various money interests, no longer required to pay taxes on their holdings, would soon become a land aristocracy. Our forefathers came to this country to escape from land aristocracies.

Don't be fooled by the talk that income taxes will take the place of the sales tax and the property tax. All tax experts will tell you of the dangers of the income tax proposals. If state income taxes do come, they will "suck the poor" and not the rich. They will vary year to year—how would it be to have the schools run six months one year and nine the next? If state income taxes come, they will hit the man who makes $25 a week as well as the man who makes $5,000 a year.

Another bit of unasked advice:

Get your tax wisdom, not from the agitators, and the men running for office on misleading slogans, but from the men who have studied taxation for years. As a matter of fact, what does the average man know of taxation and all its ramifications? The writer hopes that he is an "average man" but after years of reading spasmodically, on the matter of taxation, he admits that it is too deep for him. He puts his trust in men of character who have studied the whole matter of taxation. Don't be fooled on matters that hit at your very fireside in a most vital way.

"Rain, rain" go away, come again some other day. This child's complaint was repeated by a whole lot of people who attended Northville's tenth fair last week but the gale had little effect upon the weather man. For the first time in the ten years of its existence the society drew a rainy week, with the result, of course that attendance records were shattered, receipts from concessions were reduced, to say nothing of the disappointment and discouragement experienced by the board of directors.

The members of the village council, P. P. Simmons and George Goodale were guests of the members of Lloyd H. Green Post, American Legion, at a dinner at the Park House, the feast being enjoyed by 38 in all.

Angeline, the 9-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Sowles is in a serious condition at their home, 611 East Main street. She failed to notice its approach and was thrown across the road.

Too bad about the Thiers. Through the aid and good offices of K. Christensen the Novi road north of town has been greatly improved. MEANS WITH THE NEW THREE-LIGHT LAMP!

DIFFUSING BOWL THROWS PART OF LIGHT TO CEILING
This lamp provides two kinds of light—direct and indirect. A diffusing bowl under the shade throws part of the light upward to the ceiling, and diffuses the downward light so that it is soft and restful. Harsh shadows are eliminated.

Old-fashioned lamps with dark shades and closed tops focused a small pool of bright light in one spot and left the rest of the room in murky shadow. Even when one sat directly under the lamp, the sharp contrast between the light and the surrounding darkness was trying on the eyes. All this has been changed with the modern new 3-light lamp.

A light shade with a light lining—open at both top and bottom—throws a great deal of light into the room. The lamp has a diffusing bowl under the shade, which throws part of the light upward to the ceiling, and this is reflected back and spread over a large area, eliminating harsh shadows and providing room-wide light. The bowl also diffuses the downward light, so that it is soft and pleasant, without glare.

The Sight Meter will show you instantly why this lamp is superior to your present lamps. To guard eyesight and make reading, writing, sewing and other seeing tasks easy and comfortable, choose a 3-light lamp for your living room. You will be amazed at the difference it makes!

Check your home lighting with the SIGHT METER!

THAT PIECE OF POTTERY

Every time we passed the place where pottery was sold we looked back longingly—but we never stopped. "Some day," we thought, "we will buy just the kind of vase that we have wanted—but not just now."

In the meantime we bought wedding presents, Christmas and birthday presents, but some way or one ever buys himself a present. But why not? Why should one hesitate to place in the home a thing of beauty that will be a joy forever to the whole household?

In a weak moment, we stopped and bought that vase and how we have enjoyed it! "Just the very thing" for long-stemmed flowers that always had to be broken off and crumpled in an old water pitcher.

On the wall of a brother's home hangs a beautiful picture. It is one of a collection of paintings which are loaned for a month to the members of this "loan gallery." The members of the family drink in its beauty eagerly and send it on with regret.

We like the description of the home—"One picture on each wall, not many things at all."

The fussy, over-ornate parlor, with its mantle loaded with useless bric-a-brac, is a thing of the past. In its place is the dignified, artistic reception room. On a small table of this room may be one choice vase, or it may reside in a more safe place on a shelf, but it is the center of attraction in the room. It sets the color note and bids no rival in the way of cheap ornaments near to it. It reigns alone.

Such a piece of fine porcelain pottery, a jardiniere, a temple jar, with a lid, a bottle, a vase, will brighten a dull room or subdue a too garish one. Modern pottery, made by the best companies, is patterned after ancient pottery, and its lines are truly artistic and its colors deep and rich.

The ancients knew six fundamental colors and these had a meaning. Red stood for fire, black for deep water, green represented the woodlands, white was for metal, yellow for the earth and blue for the sky. A vase, copying one of these ancient colors, seems to fairly radiate its rich tone.

Beautiful pottery pieces can be bought at moderate prices and one such is worth a whole roomful of tawdry ornament. Do not purchase one hastily. It is a work of art, to add to the beauty of your room. Be certain it fits in with your color scheme. Select something of which you will never tire, but which you will learn to love more and more. When you have it in your home, remove from its environs all cheap and inartistic things, and let nothing distract from its simple beauty of line and color.

And, speaking of pottery and beautiful things, right here in Northville we have an art shop that handles the most artistic articles chosen with exquisite taste. We don't have to go abroad to purchase them.

Casserole of Pork Chops and Noodles—Cook 2 cups egg noodles in boiling salted water for 8 minutes. Drain. Fry 4 to 6 pork chops until nearly done. Salt slightly. Mince 1 small onion, combine with noodles, 1/3 cup tomato, ketchup and 1/4 cups water. Put chops in casserole, cover with noodle mixture and sprinkle with buttered bread crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 30 to 40 minutes.

Sausage and Apple Rings with Cooked Spaghetti—Brown 1 lb. sausage in a frying pan and allow to cook slowly until thoroughly done. Remove from frying pan and pour off excess fat. Place 2 tablespoons butter in frying pan, add when hot add 3 large, unpeeled cooking apples which have been cored and cut into 1/3 inch slices. When brown on one side, turn, sprinkle very generously with sugar and cook slowly until tender.

NEIGHBORS' MAYOR IS STATE NOMINEE

Howard Warner, Farmington Wins Republican Fight For Treasurer

Three and a half years ago Farmington, a town of 1,200 in Oakland county, founded in a financial morass. The city treasury was empty, bondholders were threatening suit for defaulted interest and principal city services had been curtailed. The city commission was discussing issuance of scrip to keep the municipality going.

In this situation the people of Farmington, seeking a way out, turned to their foremost citizen and put him into office as mayor to guide the city out of distress. The man was Howard M. Warner—son of the three-time Michigan governor, Fred M. Warner—and now the same.

man to whom state republican leaders turned early this week in their quest for an outstanding man for the nomination for state treasurer.

The new Farmington mayor's first announcement was that thereafter the mayor and commissioners would serve without pay. Next came installation of private business methods in city government, and adoption of a budget one-third less than that of the previous year.

In prosperous times the city had borrowed $5,000 each spring to carry through until the end of the fiscal year. Under Mayor Warner borrowing was out.

The new mayor's first fiscal year ended with all bills paid and a sizable balance on hand. Two months later the city paid over $4,000 in back interest. February, 1935, less than two years after Mayor Warner took office, found the city with a balance on hand of $10,000—double the amount the municipality had been accustomed to borrow annually in "good" times.

Recently the little community did something unique in municipal history—issued refunding bonds and then bought $5,000 of the $70,000 issue before they could be sold. In three and a half years after Mayor Warner, the bonded debt has been slashed from $81,500 to $55,000, and the interest rate from 4% to 3 percent. Meanwhile taxes have been cut one-third, all bills are paid, every street in the city has been semi-laid surfaced, and the city finishes each year with a substantial balance in the bank.

It is this record which re-elected Mayor Warner in his home town without opposition, which has put him at the head of republican affairs in his home county of Oakland.

Local Postmaster Hears John L. Zurbrück Clear Up Question of Citizenship Rights in America

With the approach of the November election, the question of citizenship of electors will be questioned in every city and hamlet in the country.

In introducing a recent broadcast where John L. Zurbrück, district director of immigration and naturalization service, was the speaker at the Detroit Federal Men's association, Abner E. Larned, state director, asked: "Are you a citizen of these United States? Are you sure about it? If you were not born in this country there may be some important matters that you should learn about your status."

In clearing up the question of citizenship, Mr. Zurbrück cited the following law points, recounted by Postmaster Fred E. Van Atta, who attended the meeting:

All persons born in the United States and subject to the jurisdiction thereof are citizens. That is true even though the person be of a race which would prevent him from becoming a citizen by naturalization, such as Chinese or Japanese. Birth in the United States conveys citizenship regardless of citizenship or race of parent.

The term "alien" refers to any person residing here who is not a citizen. Aliens not racially barred may become citizens by naturalization, if they can meet the requirements of our naturalization laws. The foreign-born minor children of aliens who become naturalized, also become citizens through the parents' naturalization, provided such foreign-born minor children have been legally admitted to the United States for permanent residence under our immigration laws.

Many persons in the State of Michigan have, in the past, acted upon the assumption that they were American citizens when they were not. This was due in many cases to the fact that for many years the laws of the State of Michigan prohibited a person who had filed a declaration of intention to become a citizen to vote. Voting on first papers has not been permitted under Michigan laws since 1924.

To do away with much of this trouble, Congress passed an act in 1922 to the effect that with certain exceptions marriage after that date did not affect the citizenship of women and further provided an easy manner in which American women who had lost their citizenship by marriage, to an alien might regain their citizenship by petitioning for the restoration of their citizenship in a naturalization court.

Prior to 1922, an act of March 2, 1907, provided that an American woman who married an alien lost her American citizenship by such marriage. The Federal courts of Michigan have held that an American woman who married an alien at any time prior to Sept. 22, 1922, lost American citizenship by such marriage, holding that the act of March 2, 1907, was merely declaratory of the common-law principle which was operative prior to that time.

Under an act of Congress passed May 24, 1934, the husband of a woman who becomes a citizen after that date, or whose marriage to a citizen occurred after that date, may petition for citizenship without first making a declaration of intention and waiting two years as is required of other aliens under the general provisions of the naturalization law, and need prove only three years' residence in the United States.

Under the general law, an alien must file a declaration of intention and wait until such declaration of intention is at least two years old before he may petition for citizenship. He must prove five years' residence in the United States subsequent to a legal admission for permanent residence under the immigration laws, at least the last six months of which period of residence must have been in the county in which his petition is filed. His declaration of intention is valid for only seven years, and if he fails to file his petition for citizenship within the life of his declaration he is required to file a new declaration of intention and wait until such declaration is at least two years old before he may file a valid petition for citizenship.

There is a large number of aliens residing in the United States who had come previous to June 3, 1921, legally, or who cannot establish legal residence. For that reason, these aliens may not proceed toward citizenship. However, if they are persons of good character and otherwise admissible to citizenship, they may, if living continuously in the United States prior to June 2, 1921, apply for Registry of their entry under the provisions of an act of Congress approved March 2, 1929, and after their entry has been legalized by such registry they may apply for citizenship.

The status of foreign-born children, who believe that they become citizens through the naturalization of their parents, is something that should not be taken for granted. It is not enough that such children shall have been minors at the time of the parents' naturalization and shall have come to the United States while minors. It is necessary that their entry in the United States as minors shall have been a legal admission for permanent residence under the immigration laws.

Another phase of the naturalization laws is of particular interest to a large number of persons residing both in Canada and the United States, for in 1929 the United States entered into a treaty with several countries, which provided that the naturalization of the parent in any of the countries with which this country had a treaty, automatically expatriated the minor children insofar as the United States was concerned, and thus in many cases has created an embarrassing situation.

For instance, any minor child taken to Canada by a United States citizen who was later naturalized there automatically made the minor child a citizen of Canada, but a child born in Canada, whose parent was a citizen of the United States, provides for the naturalization of the parent in Canada, and a United States citizen.

The view over Niagara Falls, Mr. Langfield described as most fascinating, the illumination around the Falls being particularly beautiful. I just drove the whole length of the block on Center street and I had to turn around and come back down the other side to find a place to park. "AS LONG AS THERE ARE HOMES"

As long as there are homes to which men turn at close of day, So long as there are homes where children are, Where women stay, If love and loyalty and faith be found, Across those hills, A stricken nation can recover from those hills. So long as there are homes where lamps are lit And prayers are said, Although a people falter through the dark, And nations grope, With God himself back of these little homes We have some hope.

GOOD-BY DEPRESSION.

E. O. Giddard in Utica Sentinel: "The worst depression in our history at last has been wiped out completely. Business after seven years of crashing downward and struggling upward has finally come back to normal volume. This is the announcement flashed by Babson's reports to business men and investors throughout the nation. Now is the time to invest wisely."

FARMINGTON BEATS NORTHVILLE 3-0

Opponents Make Only Score With Field Goal; Freak Affair

BY JACK STUBENVOLL—Farmington downed Northville last Friday in a freak affair. It was the first time in many a year that Northville was defeated by a field goal.

The boys were in the books to win that game but Farmington tore the page out to take the game 3-0.

Northville outplayed Farmington making ten first downs to their four. Their running and passing plays showed improvement over last week's.

The line and the backfield gave all they had, but every time Northville was near the goal line Farmington topped the team, or the men stopped themselves by being penalized.

The winning play occurred in the last quarter when it opened with Northville on Farmington's nine-yard line. Farmington held like a stone wall and they took the ball on their own five-yard line from where they kicked to mid-field. Northville's pass was intercepted on Farmington's 47-yard line. Farmington again completed a long pass to Northville's ten-yard line, which proved to be good.

From the 15-yard line, Farmington kicked a field goal to make the score, 3-0.

The lineups

Farmington	Northville
Nelson	L.E. Richardson
Clark	L.T. Lester
Mahoney	L.A. Scott
Hunt	C. Bray
Superskouski	R.G. Castorline
Barfield	R.T. Alden
De Young	R.E. Myers
Lee	Q. Farmer
Devis	L.H. Van
Gray	Arnold

Senior Who's Who

Harley Charles Balke
Harley Balke is a real home-town boy—born in Northville, April 28, 1919 and only deserts it when he was one year old to live on a farm for five years. His favorite sport is baseball, and he has a letter for playing right field on the team last year. The only college he will attend, he thinks, is the well-known University of Work.

Carl Stanley Arnold
Carl Stanley (S to you) Arnold was told he made his first appearance July 28, 1917, at St. Clair, but he says they may have put something over on him—he doesn't remember it himself. He left St. Clair to go to Persen high school for his soph year, and came here for his last two years.

Carl's favorite sport is football and he has the same position—backfield this year, as he had last year. Many feminine hearts had St. Vitus dance when he played opposite Doris Labbit in "Girl-Shy," the junior play last year. He is also said to rival Fred Astaire with his tap dancing. He intends to go to business college in Detroit when he graduates.

P. S. It is rumored that when Carl looks at the moon, he thinks longingly of a certain sweet girl graduate of last year—but don't tell anyone we told you, so!

SOCIETY

One of the clubs which managed to hold together during the summer and which has grand plans for the fall, is the S. D. C. They elected new officers at a meeting Thursday. For a while it looked as if the hostess, Alice Eaton and some of the members were not going to even go there at all. They all had other meetings at school from which they were not able to get away until late. The officers are: Margaret Gaden, president; Betty Findlay, secretary; and Margaret Hein, treasurer. Maybe you'd like to know the other girls who were there—Jean Anderson, Doris Tewkesbury, Betty Greer and Leona White.

Have you heard all the advertising about the Adrian Fair? Rose Knight and Dorothy Niles were just two of the many who succumbed to the wiles of it and visited the fair all day Saturday.

We don't know whether it was to celebrate our football team's nearly beating Farmington or not, but anyway, Helen Johnson, Jane Grosvener, Ferd Scott and Buck Finchman danced the wee hours in Friday evening.

Vivian Grosvener enjoyed the movie, "Arizona Raiders" immensely. Or was it the company of Ken Wilbur and Ray Farmer on that Saturday afternoon?

See you all at the game Friday and are we going to win!

Loss of Turtle Is Mourned—Hides in Moss of Water Bowl While Young Dick Tracys Organize Vain Search

By ALICE EATON

Perhaps you didn't all know, dear children, but Miss Gladys Ludwig has a turtle—the cutest little turtle that you ever did see. It is two inches long, with an inch-and-a-half tail. It is dark blackish-gray with the most adorable white spots, and darling little ridges and scallops. It shows signs of being a snapping turtle when it grows up.

Well, it seems that Donald Kreeger, a seventh-grader, brought it to Miss Ludwig in the interest of science and its home became a granite dish with lots of water moss so that it wouldn't be homesick. But one day last week the embryo snapper disappeared! Consternation! Chaos! Nervousness! (Suppose it was roaming around the room where it could be stepped or sat on?) The infant Dick Tracys were put on the case, but all in vain. Two days passed on leaden feet; the biology class mourned their pet as dead, and the granite dish, which still held the water and moss, became brim with tears shed into it.

Came Friday, with Miss Ludwig tearfully taking a last look into the defunct turtle's home—but what was this? Eureka! The turtle, the long-lost turtle, was found!

It turned out that the turtle had an unsuspected, retiring disposition, and couldn't stand so many curious eyes staring at it, so it simply and quietly hid in the moss—until the water became too salty!

'ROUND THE SCHOOL

Now that fall days have come, the leaves are turning, and the football season has arrived, an editor invariably thinks of school spirit. For long years past the students have been in for a good "roasting" but a change has come about.

You students really astonished the entire faculty by your lusty cheering last Friday. Maybe most of you figured your lungs needed some exercise. At any rate, you yelled long and lustily for the team, gave Coach Barr a hand, and really seemed to enjoy yourselves. It's an excellent thing that the school faculty appreciates the efforts the team and coach put forth—because even if you don't think so, it's not so easy to go on through a line of solid human flesh with a ball just for the glory of dear old Alma Mater.

Now that the football season is in full swing let's sincerely hope that everyone is there at the games, rooting for the home team.

Which all brings us around to the fact that the weekly orchid ought to be awarded. So in thanks for the hard work he has put in on the team, your editor, on behalf of the school, wants to give Mr. Barr, our coach, a large, lavender and beautiful flower, more commonly called the orchid.

I suppose you students know about the tough time the student council is having—they only pray that all of you will support them in whatever venture they undertake.

BETTY HAYSTEAD NAMED SECRETARY

The student council at its last meeting unanimously elected Betty Haystead to succeed Doris Labbit as secretary of the council.

Doris won the election held last year but has since moved to Royal Oak.

Betty was alternates in her freshman year, treasurer in her sophomore year, and had the honor of being class president in her junior year.

Inquiring Reporter

Do you think we should have inter-class sports?

Cecil Milder—Yes, because the kids that live farther away from school will have a chance to play at noon.

George Westphal—Yes, we should have inter-class sports because for some of the students that cannot make the school team will have more training for next year.

Jane Grosvener—I don't see why not! If the students have some form of recreation which would prepare them for making the team in years to come, it would be a very good way of getting them in training. I would suggest that the junior high be included.

Ferd Scott—Yes, I think we should have inter-class sports because it is good for the students that play in the games. Some of the students don't have a chance to play at the regular time the sports are held, either because they aren't good enough or don't have time. It will also make the students take more interest in school and sports.

Jack Stubenvoll—Yes, it would afford a chance for those who do not go out for sports to have some fun.

Janet Stewart—I certainly think we should. It shows the students what they have to do to ever make the regular teams and gets them in practice for the next year if they have any intention of trying out for the regular team the following year.

Doris Hogan—Yes, because if you can't get on the regular team it gives you a chance to play and if in the following year you wish to play you'll know more about it.

Skip Hochkins—Yes, I think inter-class sports would be a fine idea. Not only to learn the fellows more about the rules of certain sports but also for the fun and the exercise.

THREE NEW TEACHERS TALK FOR REPORTERS

Last week the Orange and Black printed interviews with the Misses Doris Maynard and Tisha Brassfield, two new faculty members. This week three other new instructors are introduced.

Miss Harper
If you should find Miss Harper some day very excited, you will know she has been assigned a room at 1st. First in one room and then in another amidst drums, horns, rattles and plants, trying to teach English, geography and Michigan government to those very studious junior high students.

Miss Harper spent all her life in the hustle and bustle of Detroit, where she attended school and first saw light in this great world.

She attended the University of Michigan where she received her life certificate.

At present, she is very much interested in our Journalism class and school plays, which she will direct.

Edwin L. Johnson
Several years ago—pardon a number of years ago—if you had been wandering through the streets of Blanchard you probably would have noticed a little red-headed boy with freckles whose name was Edwin.

Edwin lived at Blanchard about 14 years before he moved to Grand Rapids, where he attended Central high school and junior college. His life certificate was obtained at Western State Teachers' college and his B. S. at Wayne university.

His first job was obtained in 1923 as superintendent of Rogers high school in Grand Rapids.

In 1930, he moved to Detroit, where he taught at Persen school, West Point Park, until he accepted his present position in dear old N. H. S., where he is taking Mrs. H. C. Cobb's place. At the present he has started studying speech for a Master's degree in addition to assuming the duties of teacher of history and public speaking.

Elliott Barr
Elliott Barr is Northville's new athletic coach. Mr. Barr attended the Central State Teachers college, and the University of Michigan. He has taught a wide variety of subjects and is now teaching physics and algebra. His hobbies are radio and photography.

He who has Health has Hope, and he who has Hope has everything.

NORTHVILLE TO MEET BERKLEY MEN TODAY

Three Team Members Are Dropped, Ineligible; Barr Calls Game Hard Test

The Northville high school football team faces one of the biggest tests of the season, according to Coach Elliott Barr. They play the heavy Berkley team at Berkley today.

Ineligibility has hit the team hard this week, affecting the backfield badly. Three of the backs who were in last Friday's game will not be seen today because of this. The line will remain practically the same.

Coach Barr hopes that if the Northville team's passing attack improves they may come out the winners. Even with a much larger Berkley team, man for man, Northville with speed and light might overcome that handicap.

Grade Notes

An old house on Main Street now houses Miss Helen Leonardson and her second grade class. Forced to make a school out of practically nothing since the fire last spring, classes are being held in rather peculiar places this year. Improvised desks, make-shift black boards and the teachers do the rest.

In the new boy scout building Miss Nora Wilson conducts the first grade and Miss Anna Richards the kindergarten, where the excessive cold of the past week put a stop to classes, there not being a furnace in the building as yet.

The bank building also sees the younger generation learning "reading, writing, and arithmetic." Miss Selma Jarvis has the first grade and Mrs. Lucetta Reng the second.

At the local hall Mrs. May Babcock, Mrs. Helen Clark and Mrs. Marie Congo teach the fourth, fifth and third grades respectively.

At the first meeting of the teachers' club, held last Thursday night, the following officers were elected: Mrs. O. E. Reng, president; P. B. Thompson, vice president; and Mrs. C. M. Zimmerman, secretary, and treasurer.

Can You Imagine?

George Westphal not worrying about where the student council money is coming from?

Leonard Young doing a spring dance?

Dick Ambler not being kicked out of class?

The first year typing class handing in a perfect paper?

Pat McLoughlin with yellow hair?

Betty Van Hove as Greta Garbo?

"State Fair," Written by American Journalist, Stars Will Rogers Returns Here by Popular Demand

With America's most beloved humorist contributing what has been pronounced his greatest performance, surrounded by a veritable galaxy of stars in one of the finest comedies ever brought to the screen, "State Fair" returns Will Rogers to the Pennington-Allyn theatre Friday and Saturday.

Brought back by popular demand, "State Fair" stands as one of the screen's great pictures. A film that pulsates with the heart of America and skillfully blends romance, comedy and excitement into its stirring narrative.

Janet Gaynor, who is co-starred with Rogers, Lew Ayres, Sally Eilers, Norman Foster, Louise Dresser, Frank Craven and Victor Jory appear with the beloved humorist in the Fox adaptation of Phil Stong's memorable novel.

"State Fair" opens with the Frake family happily on their way to the great yearly event. Will Rogers (Abel Frake) has entered his prize hog, Blue Boy, in the stock competition while Louise Dresser (Mother Frake) anticipates winning first prize with her pickles and mince meat. The younger members of the family, Janet Gaynor and Norman Foster, eagerly await the adventures they are sure will befall them at the fair.

Fair week is an exciting one. Will Rogers spends most of his time with Blue Boy, Louise Dresser meets with the other women contestants, and the children find romance; Janet Gaynor with Lew Ayres, and Norman Foster with Sally Eilers, glamorous aerial performer.

With Will Rogers in a role tailored to his lovable and unforgettable brand of humor, "State Fair" moves excitingly and romantically to its climax. Great when it was first released, it still stands as one of the most memorable triumphs of the screen.

"TIMBER WAR"

Every once in a while an action picture comes to the screen which can be called different. Such a picture is "Timber War," produced by Ambassador Pictures from one of James Oliver Curwood's noted stories, "Hell's Gulch," which opens Wednesday at the Pennington-Allyn theatre.

Lovers of adventure and the great old timber lands of the far west will find much to enjoy and become excited about in this new film, which stars that always pleasing and popular young star, Kermit Maynard.

The story is packed with such tense drama, excitement and thrilling situations that one feels actually living in it. And that is about the most complimentary thing a critic can say of any picture.

Curwood, one of the outstanding creators of fiction of the past generation, has millions of readers among all ages of men, women and children. His stories stand for clean, wholesome, rugged and red-blooded romance and adventure for one is too young or too old to thrill to them even today.

In the early days of motion pictures authors like Curwood played an important role in helping to establish the screen as a safe, sound and educational medium for all classes and particularly for the youth of the country. After seeing "Timber War" this still holds true.

"Timber War" tells of the intrigue and plotting that goes on in a vast lumber mill, involving an unscrupulous manager who plots with a rival lumber mill, while the helpless girl he is working for stands by unable to safeguard her interests until Maynard arrives on the scene and outspurs the evil-doers.

There is every element of rich entertainment and satisfaction to

Favorite Fall Desserts

LET'S SERVE HEARTY dishes this fall. There's something about these crisp days that calls for autumn pies, steaming puddings, and all such substantial fare. A dinner, to be satisfactory, needs a finish flourish with some body to it. Good apples are abundant in the market now, so let's plan to serve frequent apple dishes—savory pies, apple puddings and apples baked with a surprise touch of Currant Jelly. There are all sorts of delightful possibilities in Mince Meat. It can be used to great advantage in cakes, puddings and cookies. Another favorite of unexcelled possibilities is Apple Butter. It lends every flavor and rich color to many a pudding and a cup cake recipe. Do try these special recipes for really delicious home fare.

Apple Pie—Part 5 to 6 tart apples, core and cut into slices—about sixteenths. To the apples in a bowl add 3 cup sugar, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon or nutmeg, and 1 teaspoon lemon juice. Roll pie dough out to 1/4 inch in thickness, and a little larger than the pie pan. Fold the sheet of pastry in half and place in a 9-inch pie plate—then unfold pastry. Press lightly to fit plate and trim edges. Place apples in the pie shell and dot over with 1 teaspoon butter. Roll upper crust to 1/4 inch in thickness and 1 inch larger than plate. Fold in half and make 3 slits, 1/2 inch in length, in center edge of folded side. Moisten edge of lower crust with a little water and place upper crust in position, and trim, leaving 1 inch on all sides. Carefully fold and press down upper crust under lower crust all around the edge. Finish by making a crinkled edge with the finger tips or by marking with the tines of a fork. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) for 15 minutes, then reduce heat to 400° F. and bake until apples are tender—about 45 minutes in all.

Mince Meat Fudge Squares—Cream 1/2 cup butter, add 1 cup sugar gradually and cream together thoroughly. Add 2 eggs, one at a time, beating until fluffy after addition of each. Add 1/2 cup Mince Meat, 1/2 cup nut meats, 1 teaspoon vanilla and 1 1/2 ozs. bitter chocolate (melted over hot water). Sift 1/2 cup pastry flour (sifted once before measuring), 1 teaspoon baking powder, and 1/2 teaspoon salt and add to butter mixture alternately with 1/2 cup milk. Bake in greased cup cake pans in a hot oven (400° F.) for 20 to 25 minutes. Frost.

Baked Mince Meat Fruit Pudding—Ingredients: 3 cups soft bread crumbs, 2 large apples or peaches, peeled and thinly sliced (canned sliced peaches may be used), 1/2 cup Mince Meat, 1 cup fruit juice (orange juice with pulp may be used), 1/2 cup light brown sugar and 3 tablespoons butter, melted.

Place 1/4 of the bread crumbs in buttered casserole. Arrange a layer of the fruit over crumbs, then spread with 1/2 of the Mince Meat. Blend fruit juice with sugar and butter, and pour 1/2 of the mixture over all. Repeat each layer. Top with bread crumbs and pour remaining liquid over them. Bake in moderate oven (375° F.) 40 minutes. Serve hot. Hard sauce or cream may be served over pudding.

meat, vegetables, fish, eggs, vegetable shortening, salt, spices and fruits, canned or fresh. Prepared meals would also be included in the list of non-taxable foods. State sales tax experts claim that such an amendment would greatly curtail the flow of funds into the state government, and would work a hardship on funds earmarked at the present for state welfare, public school aid and pension.

Proposed amendment four, would eliminate all local property taxes and substitute for them a state tax on incomes from real and personal property. The legislature would be required to determine the allocation of the proposed income tax returns to the various branches of local government.
