DEATH CLAIMS CARETAKER OF VILLAGE HALL

Last Rites Held Saturday
Afternoon for Reinhold F.
Kukken, 52

With the death Wednesday night, Dec. 30, of Reinhold F. Kukken, 52, Northville lost a faithful village employee who, for the past 11 years, was caretaker of the Village Hall, chief engineer of the Fire department and patrolman.

His death followed an illness of four months' duration which necessitated an operation Dec. 14, in Harper hospital, Detroit, where he died.

Works Despite Ill Health
Despite his rapidly failing health, Mr. Kukken carried out his official duties until just a few days prior to being taken to Harper hospital. With other members of the fire department he answered fire calls and took regular care of the Village Hall and surrounding property.

To pay final tribute to him Saturday, came friends from the village as well as from Detroit, to the Village Hall where last rites were conducted by the Rev. Walter E. Kutch of Holy Cross Evangelical Lutheran church, Detroit. Burial was made in Grand Lawn cemetery.

The solemn and accompaniment were from Mr. Kutch's church, Detroit.

Firemen Are Pallbearers
Fellow firemen were pallbearers. Chief Fred Hicks, Roy Matheson, Loyde M. German, Arthur Mitchell, Alex Lake and Herman Kroecker.

Before coming to Northville 11 years ago, Mr. Kukken was an employee of the Wagner Baking company, Detroit.

Surviving him are his wife, Mabel I. Kukken, a daughter, Mrs. Roy Vanatta, a son, Melvin C., a sister, Mrs. Carl Hergert, Detroit; two brothers, Herman and Rudolph, also of Detroit.

Seek Caretaker's Job
Councilmen meeting in regular session Monday evening heard the clerk, Mrs. Mary Alexander, read three letters of application from villagers seeking the office of village caretaker made vacant by the death of Reinhold F. Kukken, Dec. 30.

The letters were tabled by the commissioners for further consideration at the Jan. 18 meeting. Applicants for the position are John Hanna, public works laborer; Fred Hicks, fire chief; and Orrin C. Casterline.

In Wayne county the initial meeting will be held at 10 a. m. Thursday, Jan. 14, in the Dearborn library.

At this meeting the members of the county soil conservation committee who served in 1936 will preside. This first county meeting is to be attended by George Wenner, member of the Michigan State college extension service; and by a representative of the state agricultural conservation committee, Clarence Swanebeck. ## EXCHANGITES ELECT PAUL B. THOMPSON PRESIDENT OF CLUB

According to Mr. Ely, several other business men are expected to enroll for membership in soon.

The new officers took office Wednesday noon, Jan. 6, when Mr. Ely turned the gavel over to Mr. Thompson. At this luncheon meeting the club presented Mr. Ely with a past president's pin.

MAYBURY PATIENTS ARE GIVEN RADIOS

Forty-seven radios, solicited by "Radio Jake" in the recent Detroit News Give-a-Radio campaign, have found their way to the bedside of Maybury sanatorium patients.

According to Harley Upchurch, editor of The Fluoroscope, Maybury's monthly publication, the radio sets are cabinet as well as table styles. He says that one of the models is exceptionally large and is now used by a group of the patients who formerly listened to the Maybury hook-up programs with ear phones.

The weekly radio programs, as well as the auditorium entertainments for those who are able to attend, are features which go a long way to bring about the mental attitude which is essential for complete recovery at the sanatorium. These entertainments are planned by members of the Good Fellows club, an organization made up of the patients themselves.

Heading the activities of the club for the first three months of the new year at Hugh Dobbin, president; Joe Wilk, vice-president; Kay Curran, secretary; William Zroka, radio announcer; Stanley Partika and Frank Weizor, club committeemen.

Each patient on admittance to the William H. Maybury sanatorium automatically becomes a member of the Goodfellows club. The purposes of the club are to foster fellowship among the patients, promote entertainment for their enjoyment, maintain a fund to provide necessities for the needy, repair radio equipment, represent the patients in activities requiring cooperation with the staff, and in all ways possible endeavor to make the life of each patient more cheerful and pleasant while in the sanatorium.

'3 MEN ON A HORSE' OPENS SUNDAY SHOW

Local Theatre Installs Two Reflector Lamps to Give Clearer Pictures

For its opening Sunday evening entertainment feature Jan. 10, the local Penniman-Allyn theatre is bringing to the screen one of the season's most popular attractions, "3 Men on a Horse," starring Joan Blondell (Mrs. Dick Powell) and Frank McHugh.

Supporting this star team will be Guy Kibbee, Carol Hughes, Allen Jenkins, Sam Levene and Teddy Hart.

In addition, the evening's program includes a comedy and news feature.

Within the past few days, the theatre has installed two Brenkert standard intensity reflector lamps. This equipment is the latest design to be placed on the market and provides motion picture patrons with a larger, clearer picture on the screen and is being used by most of the better theatres throughout the State. Northville now benefits by the newest developments which have been made in motion picture industry.

Chief W. H. Safford said he did not believe this was the work of vandals.

The vandals began their work early in the evening while the car owners attended the first show at the Penniman-Allyn theatre. It was after 11 p. m. that air left the last tire that was damaged.

Among the residents whose car tires were cut in this way are Alexander Sanislow, Mrs. N. C. Schrader, Harley Cole, Dr. A. A. Holcomb, Elmo Lemon and James Stevenson.

SMITH ACCEPTS CLERKSHIP
Leland V. Smith has accepted a clerk's position in the office of Harold Stoff, Wayne county register of deeds. He will take up his new work Jan. 18 in the county building in Detroit.

Rotarians Are Guests New Year's Day At Harry B. Clark's Country Home for Club's Third Annual Pancake Breakfast

Northville Rotarians enjoyed their third annual New Year's day pancake and sausage breakfast at the hospitable country home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Clark, 2015 East Base Line road, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Rogers, hosts at this unique occasion for the past two years, but now in California for the winter, sent the maple syrup for the winter menu.

One large table in the dining room and individual tables in the breakfast room cared for the hungry Rotarians who "mowed away" the piles of cakes and the brown sausage like hungry farm hands. Mrs. Clark was assisted in the serving by Mrs. Floyd A. Northrop, Mrs. E. L. Mills and Mrs. Frederick Hedge. First arrivals came at nine o'clock and the cooks were still bringing in the piles of steaming cakes two hours later as the last Rotarians "checked in."

Mr. Mills took a good many feet of color movies as the guests were gathered in one group in the big dining room. These will be shown later, probably at some ladies' night. Informal visiting rounded out a very happy gathering.

Guests were Clarence Davis, neighbor of the Clarks, his brother, Charles Davis of Detroit, Guy W. Rust of Elberta, Conrad E. Langfield and Charles Thornton.

The following telegram of good cheer came from Mr. and Mrs. Richmond P. Benton, residents of Los Angeles for many years, whose visit here last summer was greatly enjoyed by many Northville people: "Dear Harry and Elizabeth, and all our friends who are enjoying this New Year's breakfast with you, we wish a happy, healthful and prosperous New Year."

STAMP SALES REACH RECORD PEAK HERE

All-time Cancellation High
Broken Dec. 21 at Local Post Office.

The Northville post office has just closed its books on a peak business year with a stamp sales for 1936 topping the record at $13,175.63 making a two per cent gain in business over 1935.

This new high surpasses the stamp total of 1935 by $6,653. Last year broke the previous all-time high of $6,522.79 in 1932.

"December is always our biggest month," affirmed D. J. Stark, assistant postmaster. "This year our Christmas sales increased a good 12 1/2 per cent. Our volume of business was between 25 and 30 per cent higher than that of last December," he said.

Villagers seeking to secure safe-mailing of their Christmas packages and to aid postal clerk in distributing collection of the mails, began to send their parcels through the post office here Dec. 14. The holiday all-time peak day was Dec. 21, when "Practically all of the local security blanks which were filed through this office with the federal government, have been returned to local employees with their employment number," reports Postmaster Fred E. Vanatta.

22,000 letters went through the cancelling machine; an additional number were hand-stamped. "On this day our parcel post service sent packages to almost every state in the Union. Following at the heels of this record breaking day, Dec. 22, found 19,000 cancellations made at the local office, dropping down to 17,000 on Dec. 23.

"During the year, our international and domestic money orders totalled 1,000," he said.

THANK YOU, DOC

Here's the Story of Painless Drilling

BY FRED WARNER NEAL
The Demon Drill has been conquered.

No longer is it necessary for the patient with a hole-in-his tooth to endure the agony of hearing, and what's much worse, feeling the dentists' whirling chisel bore through the tender spots to a nerve.

The secret is not any "shot" or gas that puts you to sleep. It is an instrument called the "Analgesia Machine" which feeds you bits of nitrous oxide until you feel slightly drowsy. That's all there is to it. You work it yourself, and it takes away all pain.

Hailed by authorities as one of the greatest steps forward in years to painless dentistry, there is one of these machines here in Northville, in the office of a local dentist, who finds it "a great success."

This is what happens, you of the sensitive teeth, when you seat yourself in the chair, preparatory to having some yawning chasm filled with gold or silver alloy.

The dentist fastens over your nose a triangular rubber affair, regulating with a valve the amount of air that comes in. Then he gives you a bulb and tells you to squeeze it once for each inhalation. You squeeze, breathing through your nose the perfectly odorless gas.

Shortly an exhilarating feeling creeps over you. Your hands and feet become numb and seem to grow larger. You think about pleasant things and are completely happy.

You keep on squeezing the bulb, and pretty soon you feel exactly as if you were thoroughly intoxicated.

Then the dentist seems to be picking at your tooth with slow, feeble gestures. You wonder why he doesn't hurry. He starts drilling, and suddenly stops. You wonder why.

And then he takes the bulb from your benumbed hand. "Almost instantly you are yourself again and can hardly believe your ears when he tells you: 'Well, it's all over.'"

"Aren't you going to drill?" you ask in a dazed voice.

"I've been drilling steadily for the last five minutes," the dentist tells you. "It's all over."

And then he puts in the filling, and you go home, sort of thinking you'd like to do it again.

Although the machine is rather expensive to operate, dentists claim that the saving in time more than makes up for the added cost.

LOCAL BUSINESS MEN ATTEND CONVENTION

A party of Northville electricians joined with those of other cities in accepting the invitation of the Westinghouse company of Mansfield, Ohio, and were their guests at a demonstration Thursday. A special train left from Detroit in the morning and carried the party to the Ohio city.

A complimentary dinner was followed by a tour of inspection of the entire Westinghouse plant. The latest designs in electrical appliances were observed by the visitors.

Attending from Northville were: James R. Lyons, Sam Wilkinson and John Dalton, representing the Detroit Edison company, and Clifford B. Turnbull, Clifford S. Sinden, Fred McCrumb and Al Potter.

DETROIT MEN WATCH KEHRL WILDCATTER

Late Oil Activity in Salem
Township Centers on Site
Near Northville

The Rudolph Kehrl farm, tenanted by Mr. and Mrs. Orville Dodge, three miles west of Northville on the Seven Mile road, Salem township, is the scene of wildcat drilling, where work is supervised by J. C. Arthur, contractor for Detroit oil men.

Men are drilling on the site, 24 hours daily with three shifts, two men each, manning the drill.

Use Ten-Inch Pipe
This concentrated effort and the use of a ten-inch pipe indicate that men backing the project expect that a paying level will be reached. Activity was started here Dec. 21, with Ben Walker, head driller, in charge.

As this is the first well to be sunk in this locality the paying stratum for this region is not known. In the central part of the State the Dundee stratum is oil bearing at a depth of 3,000 to 3,500 feet. This stratum has been found in Northville township at a 400 foot level in Detroit the Dundee crops out near surface.

Drill on Lee Farm
Another wildcat on the Lee farm, east and south of the Kehrl property on the Michigan Lee farm, is being drilled by a contract of oil and gas explorers composed of Adelbert Moore, Emanuel Haab and Stanley Ford of Van Arbor and Robert Arnold of Illinois. The well has been constructed and drillers are already at work.

In a field south of Plymouth where drilling recently reached a depth of 400 feet the drill broke, the rig was pulled and the well was abandoned.

Youngsters Skate
IN CHURCH HOUSE

Methodists Ready to Handle Individual Parties at
New Rink

Skating at the rink in the Methodist church house goes merrily on with roller skates keeping time to the music of a player piano.

This enterprise is being sponsored by a group of men of the church who believe that such wholesome amusement provided in a proper environment with supervision of the young folks is a real public benefit. The project is carried on not only for raising funds for the church but with an altruistic motive as well. This is a safe place for the youngsters to have a good time in cold weather.

The hall will be open on the evenings of Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday from 6:30 to 10. They are now ready to take care of special skating parties on any evening. The charge is 15 cents an hour, 2 hours for 25 cents.

On Saturday afternoon children under 12 years of age may skate for 10 cents an hour. The patronage of the public will be appreciated.

MRS. W. E. FORNEY AND MRS. F. G. SHAFFER ARE SELLING BALLET TICKETS

The public is reminded of the Hunkers' Ball which will occur on the eve of Jan. 15 in the high school gym. Tickets are now on sale, with Mrs. W. E. Forney and Mrs. Floyd Shaffer in charge.

If all those who have Christmas trees to donate will place them in their front yards they will be collected on the day previous to the ball. Refreshments and a door prize are included in the 50 cents admission fee, the funds to go toward the philanthropic work of the sponsoring society, the King's Daughters.

CONDUCTS CONCERT

Bernardino Molinari, as guest conductor of the Detroit Symphony orchestra, will lead that group of musicians in an interesting program in the Choral Union series in Hill Auditorium, Ann Arbor, Friday night, Jan. 15. Mr. Molinari, one of Italy's most distinguished orchestral conductors, appeared in the same capacity last year and on one previous occasion.

FORD HAS QUIET DAY IN COUNTRY CHURNING BUTTER

Henry Ford made an early morning call at the farm home of L. N. Bogart, Twelve Mile road, New Year's day to exchange the season's greetings with old friends and incidentally help Louis, the young son of the household, do the weekly churning. It is said to say which of the "boys" was the more pleased when the butter came.

Mr. Ford, although past 74 years of age, is just a young man beside "Grandpa Marvin Bogart," who lacks but a few days of ninety-seven.

Mr. Bogart, despite his advanced years, is still hale and hearty; enjoys doing small chores around the house and can hardly wait for his daily paper that he may read the world events.

LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL ACCREDITED FOR TWO YEARS, R. H. AMERMAN

Dr. D. F. Curtis Recommends
Change in Science Room and Curriculum

Superintendent of Schools R. H. Amerman was informed Wednesday by George E. Carothers, secretary of the University committee on relations with secondary schools, Ann Arbor, that Northville had been approved for membership on the list of University of Michigan accredited schools for a two-year period ending June 30, 1939.

The acceptance of the local high school was granted following an examination of the system by Dr. D. F. Curtis of the University science department. His report of his inspection reveals a number of commendations for the superintendent, board of education and teachers, who are working under adverse circumstances.

Northville's most serious high school problem is the need for more teachers. "Six teaching periods a day and in most cases, an additional supervisory assembly period, I suggest that everything be done to correct this condition next year," writes Dr. Curtis.

According to Mr. Amerman, the board of education is already doing what it can on this matter of hiring additional teachers. One teacher, Miss Florence Harper, was added last fall. "When the depression began, we had 30 teachers, we dropped to 21; now we were back with a staff of 25," affirmed Mr. Amerman.

Dr. Curtis made suggestions for (Continued on page 8)

VILLAGERS APPROVE CHRISTMAS LIGHTS

When Northville's strings of Christmas lights were taken down throughout the village district this week, shoppers and business men were still giving voice to expressions of approval for the attractive appearance they created.

It is the general opinion here that the lights, which hung as avenues across Main and Center streets over a three-block area did much to bring about a community holiday spirit and feeling of good will at Christmas time.

With the village itself putting out an initially large sum to buy the lights for this more extensive type of decoration, local merchants stepped with the trend and created more elaborate and artistic individual window displays than has been the case for a number of years.

It was by vote of the commission that the traditional tree at the four corners, which for many years has been the sole village decoration and the popular, widely used colored lights were accepted. At the time the change was under consideration by the commissioners, they agreed to try the lights this season to see if they met with the approval of the community at large. The equipment is the permanent property of the village and will be used now from year to year.

The large cluster of white lights which formed the star at the intersection center was a decoration put to the village from the Civic association.

CULBERTSON ASKS COUNCIL'S O. K. ON WALLS

Hamill Recommends Ironize
Coating to Waterproof
Reservoir Structure

Reservoir Contractor H. B. Culbertson's proposal to repair the leaky walls on the newly constructed PWA reservoir, village project, with an ironized coating process has not been accepted by the village commissioners.

According to Herald P. Hamill, civil engineer employed by the village to inspect the job, Culbertson offers to plaster the inside east, west and south walls and the floor with an ironized coating to assure waterproof wall chambers, guaranteeing the job for a period of five years.

Culbertson's written proposal, read publicly before the council Monday night by Hamill, asserts that the soundness of the structure

SPECIAL MEETING

A few hours after The Record goes to press Thursday night, Jan. 7, the council is to sit in a special session to give further consideration to Culbertson's proposal to use an ironized process on the reservoir walls to waterproof them.

Although only a five-year guarantee is given the process by the Western Waterproofing company, it is recommended by Hamill, who says that the company has been in business 22 years and at no time of its work has it been

It is expected that some decision will be reached in the special meeting and that Culbertson's plan will either be accepted or rejected by the commissioners.

When the reservoir was filled with water and the walls withstood the pressure

Contract specifications
Commissioner William T. Gregory was outspoken in an effort to have the contractor carry out the original contract. "The first contract definitely specified that a poured wall be constructed. This is the best type available. Now the contractor is trying to finish the job by fixing the leaks in a way not specified. We contracted for a poured reservoir wall. I don't know why we even consider this proposal," he said.

Play-Boles with Wood
Likewise, Commissioner Elmer Perrin voiced his disapproval of the walls. "The wall was a regular sieve when I saw it—they plugged the holes up with wood. I'm told," he affirmed. "I don't consent to a patch job if we can have the wall as specified," he said.

"I'm not satisfied with the job," stated Commissioner George A. Hicks, who is a building contractor himself.

Seek PWA Approval
When Hamill was asked if the PWA inspectors would approve the ironized process, he stated that the State PWA inspector had approved each step as it had been taken and that the inspector had stated that the repair job would be acceptable.

"At the time the forms were torn down, why didn't you reject the job?" queried Commissioner Perrin of Hamill.

"I can't reject it because I considered that the proposed repair job would be considered satisfactory," responded Hamill, who recommended that Culbertson's plan be accepted, after talking with Professor Graham of the engineering school of the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

"DETROIT'S MOST PICTURESQUE SUBURB"

"Your parkway drive is as beautiful a landscape as I ever saw anywhere," said a resident of Jackson to us the other day.

"Do we appreciate what a lovely community we have here in Northville? Do we realize that literally Northville is 'Detroit's most picturesque suburb?' Do we understand that a great host of Detroit and other people wish that they could live where we live?"

TOWN CLOCK ASKS REPAIRS

The west side of the village clock, atop the Methodist church, needs attention and needs it badly so a number of local residents are telling The Record. The figures are pretty much obliterated and need revitalizing.

"Uncle John Gardner, who gave us this clock, would feel badly if he knew how that west side looks," said a resident this week.

MAKING MONEY IN GOOD TIMES

Maybe you had never thought of this but, Roger Babson, the noted economist and statistician, says that in booming times, only ten per cent of the business people really make a profit. Most everyone in prosperous times thinks he gets along very well but a cold-blooded analysis shows that only one in every ten is actually making money. "Paper money," of which there was so much just prior to 1929 does not become real money. The wise business man—and we are all business men in one way or another—will be interested in this warning from Mr. Babson:

"Whereas depression hits everybody, prosperity is always selective. Profit tickets are not passed out to all that enter the Big Tent of good times. In a period of business expansion you must work just as hard to assure profits as in a period of depression you must work hard to avert losses."

PAINT THE KILLER'S CAR RED

Editor Schuyler L. Marshall of St. John has a good suggestion on how to stop the murderous massacres on our highways. He writes:

"As soon as any driver is established as a careless driver, let him be compelled to paint a bright red stripe from the front to the back of his car and along the sides so that other motorists may see that red stripe and be warned. On second offense, besides paying such penalties as the court might impose, compel him to paint two broad bright red stripes front, back and sides of his car. If that didn't cure him and the law still allowed him to drive a car, require him to have his entire car painted a distinctive and bright red—a constant signal to everyone on the streets and highways that here was a car to be avoided."

THE HIGH COST OF STRIKES

Just as a general boom for everyone, with a chance to catch up on depression losses, is about to break, we here in this chief automobile area of the world face the terrific losses of a general strike.

Strikes are like wars—there are no winners.

The first of this week, as this was written, the wage losses alone every day were one million dollars. That loss hits you as well as the striker who is getting no pay. You may not think so, but indirectly it does. Indirectly it probably hits at your pocket book in more than one way. Northville, in particular, will be much concerned if this general strike continues very long. The glass workers' strike alone would be enough to tie up nearly every automobile plant in the country, if the glass makers stay out long enough.

As to the merits of the strike, most of us are poor judges. We lack the knowledge to get both sides of the case. Yet the undoubted fact remains that automobile workers are the highest paid employees of the nation—everything considered. The work "on the line is hard" but there are millions in this nation who would be very glad to trade places with the men in the automotive plants. Take it here in Northville. We have young men, without special training or preparation which other men have taken years to get, drawing their six dollars a day. Where else can a young man do as well?

The devastating thing about these general strikes is that the greatest loss falls on the innocent. A "sit-down" strike that started in Atlanta, Ga., or Kansas City, Mo., reaches out its destructive hands and takes money from the pockets of women and children in the cities of Michigan. The public "takes it on the chin" in these walk-outs and no one fool himself. Strikes are a national menace and hit every last individual, whether he knows it or not.

As the biggest sufferer, the general public has the right to retaliate. It cannot "sit-down" but it can carry on and take its terrific loss. A gradually rising indignation will, of course, in time bring about the resumption of work, but in the meantime the loss is appalling.

How does this unfair hitting at the prosperity of us all appeal to you?

REINHOLD F. KIUKEN

In the death of Reinhold F. Kiiken the village of Northville loses not only a splendid citizen but a most valuable public servant. From our village hall has gone a loyal, faithful, conscientious and capable official whose memory will be cherished.

Mr. Kiiken was not an ostentatious, dominant character. He was quiet of manner but as "deep rivers run still," so his life was effective in a modest but very effective way. He served his community without blare of trumpets but did well and faithfully the task at hand. Many of us have gone by the village hall and park for years and have known his loyal service in keeping up the community property. You would travel far to see a better kept park with its splendid trees, shrubs and grass. Into the care of this, Mr. Kiiken put a pride and a loyalty that were known to few—so often do we take so many things just for granted.

In the protection of our homes and business places from fire, Reinhold F. Kiiken showed those traits of loyalty and fidelity that we have mentioned. Not many weeks ago, for example, when he was more ill than he or his friends knew, he went to a small fire when he should have been in bed. With him duty came first and with him loyalty to his trust was uppermost.

He has left a worth-while life. We shall all miss him.

THE COST OF THE INTEMPERATE LIFE

You must have often wondered to yourself this question:

"Where is the fun in this fast living, which puts liquor on the pedestal as the chief god in our 'good times'?"

To put it another way: "Is the big headache of the morning after worth the price it cost?"

Through the years we have made a little private study of our own, of men who drink to get the most out of life and of those who can leave liquor alone—in times when few do leave it alone. Our honest conviction is that class number one makes a pretty sorry bargain—with just enough exceptions to prove the rule—and that class number two, although they may seem to stand alone sometimes, live longer, live happier and have actually more real fun. Of course, there are also enough exceptions in this group to prove the rule.

Detroit drivers took a number of lives during the holidays because of the cost of out intemperate living. And this kind of living will keep on taking lives. There is no escape from that. As a preacher said in a Detroit pulp Sunday:

"We have voted in America for the fast, indulgent, extravagant, and intemperate life. If we are going to live this way, then we will have to pay the fiddler."

Isn't it so?

PUBLIC EMPLOYMENT SERVICE BECOMES PERMANENT BUREAU

A new public service has taken hold in the United States during 1936 which promises to open the place along side of public schools, public hospitals, post-offices and other similar governmental organizations as an accepted institution.

Throughout the country there has been a tremendous development of public employment offices operated under the United States Department of Labor as the United States Employment service.

In Michigan, one of the largest of the industrial states, it is estimated by Mayor Howard Starret, State Reemployment Director, that nearly 275,000 different persons did business with public employment offices last year.

There were nearly 136,000 new applications for work.

Over 150,000 Michigan persons were sent to jobs of all kinds. Of these more than 93,500 were jobs with private industry and private contractors at prevailing wages while approximately 56,500 were in Federal relief projects, at security wages, he said.

Every State in the union has its public employment offices operated either jointly by the State and the Federal government and called the State Employment Service or operated directly by the Federal government and called the National Reemployment Service.

Operated in many European countries for decades, the public employment office as a successful contact between the nation's unemployed and employers is comparatively new in the United States.

Occupied almost entirely since 1933 with taking people from relief roles and placing them on Federal project, the first test of the system as a service to the public during normal times came with the early months of 1936. Industry and business began to hum and the unemployed looked toward private jobs. Michigan was one of the testing grounds. The National Reemployment Service, at the end of 1935 was placed in charge of Major Starret, industrial engineer and business man.

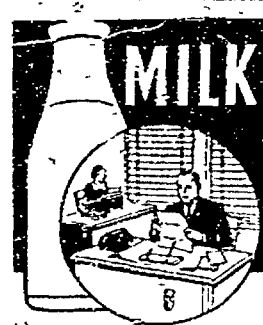

Applicants began to register in large numbers when the word was passed that jobs were to be had. The attitude toward the unemployed became one of personal assistance. Jobless men and women were not only referred to jobs but advised on how to obtain them.

Jobs with private industry and private contractors nearly trebled those of 1935. The Detroit district serving a heavily populated area led in private placements but districts throughout the State kept pace.

THE MORNING AFTER

"There is no mirth and laughter. In the cold, gray dawn of the morning after."

Too often what seemed such a gay time at night looks ridiculous by daylight. No good time is a good time if it is "outweighed" by a bad time afterward. If headaches and loss of self respect follow a mad race after fun, the fun hasn't been worth the cost.

The holidays are over and many a young person has gone back to college halls and to jobs fagged out by his "vacation" which has meant a series of late parties instead of a time of refreshing relaxation by the home, hearth and a bit of wholesome fellowship with the family.

"And the 'old folks.' Well, many a Dad will wipe his eyes after bidding good-bye to the departing youngsters and will turn with a pat on the shoulder of his companion and sigh, 'Now, Mother, we can get a good night's sleep with both eyes closed.'"

Present pleasure, at any cost, seems to be the folk's rule of youth without thought of the morning after.

Physicians agree that it is not hard work but late hours that bring nervous wrecks to their offices.

We are reminded of the shiftless colored man who sold his stove in the summer time to buy a ticket for the big show saying, "De circus am here and de winter am a long way off."

An experienced person gave a rule long ago. "When you are puzzled as to what course to follow in choosing your conduct, do the thing that you will be glad in ten years from now that you have done."

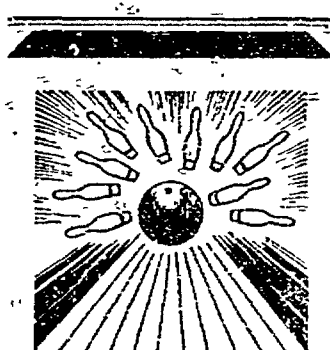

Most of us need to play more, to laugh more, to have more genuine fun—but we need the kind of good time that will send us off with lighter step and clearer eye to do a better day's work on "the morning after."

Colorful FRUIT SALADS

Provide a "Lift"

BRIGHT warm colors do things for us when autumn rolls around. They back up our spirits for chilly days to come. A pagan inheritance perhaps. "Ma: U. F. knows about that and wears out-of-doors a flaming tapestry to flaunt in the face of October winds. Indoors, we light a log-fire and candles which catch the high-lights in our warmer rugs and draperies. It's a cozy sort of comfort."

Friends drop in—for a game, for a chat, for just to be companionable over the knitting needles which are weaving bright, warm winter tops. And what have you? What have you to serve for these pleasant chatty moments, when there's no time to fuss over foods?

We Nominate Salads

If you're a good fellow, you know how to put bright warm colors and delicious exhilarating flavors into fruit salads. Pagans weren't salad fans, so far as we know, but it is recorded that they did worship the harvest goddess. They heaped up red and gold and russet fruits and no doubt mingled them for the sheer glory of bright color and glowing flavor.

Autumn salads, gay with the gold of peaches, the amber of pineapple and the red of tomato, can be quickly made in the morning, put away in your refrigerator for all ready to emerge for lunch, tea—or saved for dinner if there is no call for them to be served sooner. Experiment—play with some of the new colorful salads, and see how much zest they add to your autumn menus.

For Example

Jellied Pineapple and Peach Salad: Dissolve one package of instant jello in one cup boiling water and add one-half cup of canned peach syrup and one-half cup of canned pineapple syrup. When cold and ready to set, add one cup of diced canned peaches and one cup of drained crushed pineapple. Add one-half cup chopped nuts and one-half cup chopped dates and mold as desired. Serve cold on crisp lettuce with mayonnaise. Serves eight.

Walrus Salad: Polish eight medium-size apples having bright red skins. Cut a slice from stem ends and scoop out the centers. Now cut down in wide points to represent tulip petals. Mix one-half cup diced apple from the centers, one cup diced canned peaches, three-fourths cup diced celery and three-fourths cup chopped salted almonds. Moisten well with mayonnaise. Fill the tulips with this and set in nests of lettuce. This serves eight persons.

Still More Fruits

Pear and Tomato Salad: Slice chilled ripe tomatoes and place one slice in each of eight individual nests of lettuce. Place half of a canned pear on top of each, having the cut side of the pear up. Mix one-cup cheese with three tablespoons chili sauce and fill in the pear cavities. Garnish with strips of canned pineapple and serve with either mayonnaise or French dressing. Serves eight.

Banana Boat Salad: Cut bananas in halves lengthwise and scoop out the centers. Fill the cavities with a mixture of diced pineapple slices and chopped black walnuts moistened with mayonnaise. Garnish with several maraschino cherries which have been dipped in mayonnaise and then rolled in canned meat coconut.

Fruit Cold Dressing: Mix together two tablespoons lemon juice, six tablespoons olive oil, two tablespoons bottled lime juice, two tablespoons confectioner's sugar, salt and pepper to taste, a little paprika and a few grains of mustard. Shake until emulsified.

CHURCH SENTENCE IS FINAL DECREE FOR SALEM MAN

A Lutheran minister in Northfield township stepped in the law department recently to have a sentence for a Salem man changed from two to seven years in the House of Correction, to five years of regular church attendance.

The minister's client, the story goes, had been thrown out of a Salem beer garden. He took revenge on his boozier by stealing the man's turkeys.

And so the judge said, "It'll be from two to seven years in the lockup for you."

And the minister said, "It'll be five years in regular church sentence for you."

And so the preacher will see him in church.

Ambler, 20 days before election, which is to be held Monday, March 1. The deadline for filing petitions is Feb. 8, points out, Supervisor W. A. Ely.

Wasting Compliments

Pat wanted to borrow some money from Michael, who happened to have a small boy with him at the moment. "This a fine kid you have there, Mike," said Pat. "A magnificent head, and noble features. Could you lend me a couple of pounds?" "I could not," replied Mike. "This my wife's child by her first husband."—L. M. S. Magazine.

23 HOURS EQUALS YEAR'S LAST DAY IN MANCHOUQUO

Dec. 31 had only 23 hours in Manchoukuo, for at 11 o'clock all clocks were advanced one hour to conform with standard Japanese time. New Year's Eve ended an hour before normal midnight, and the New Year put in its appearance an hour earlier than ever before.

This step, which has been under consideration for some time both in Japan and Manchoukuo, was expected to facilitate and coordinate communications of all kinds between the two countries.

It was announced in the form of an Imperial Ordinance.

The new coordination of time with Japanese time will have the effect of putting Manchoukuo permanently upon daylight-saving time, as Hanking is almost exactly 15 degrees or one hour west of Tokyo.

Long Wearing

The enthusiastic young salesman of a hardware company was warming up to his work. Seizing his prospect by the lapel he said earnestly: "Yes, sir, these iron window sashes of ours will never wear out. Once they're in, they're there forever. And if you have no further use for them, you can sell them for old iron."—Grit.

YOUR CHILD AND THE SCHOOL

By Dr. ALLEN C. DEAN

Director, Physical and Mental Education, New York State Department of Public Instruction

Prevention of Colds at School

First of all, to keep colds out of the school it is essential that parents cooperate by keeping children at home when the earliest signs of a cold appear. There is no measure quite as effective as this.

At school, the temperature of the room should be kept around 63 degrees. Hot, dry air increases the chances of taking cold. Wet clothing should be removed and every child should provide some means, however crude, for drying clothes. "Bundling" should be avoided by regulation, and by that, that an inflexible rule should prohibit the wearing of sweaters, windbreakers, rubbers and the like in the classroom.

All pupils with signs of cold should be excluded. It is only in this way that spread can be limited to a few cases. The exchange of pencils, pen holders and small objects that can be put in the mouth must be prohibited. With a little patient teachers can educate children to cover the nose and mouth while coughing or sneezing, but when that stage is reached each child should be in school.

Water drinking should be encouraged. Fresh milk and the fruit juices are excellent preventives as well as remedies. Correct diet and home measures should be the subject of class projects and discussions. Finally, the teacher should himself see a good example.

How the mothers should care for the child at home.

teaching more classes than they should; the classrooms are crowded, and the salaries are not so high as they should be. It's the bet we can do now, but we plan to raise salaries just as soon as the budget will let us," he affirmed.

The board of education was commended for their being able to raise salaries in a letter from Dr. D. F. Curtis of the University of Michigan who recently inspected the school system here. For the past two years, eight increases in the salary scale have been made, but according to the board, the scale is still below the depression days.

Dr. Curtis also advised that additional teachers be added to the staff to lessen the burden the teachers are now carrying. It has been pointed out by Mr. Ammerman that when the depression began 30 teachers were employed here. The number was dropped to 21; and is now back to 25. Dr. Curtis has been interested in the additional teachers will be added just as soon as money can be obtained for this purpose.

STATE'S COLLECTION OF MUSIC INCREASES

A general revival of interest in music and the increased teaching of music appreciation in the classroom are reflected in the growing popularity of the music collection of the Michigan State Library.

From a humble beginning the collection has been built into a representative assortment of the finest works of the world's leading composers. Many valuable donations have aided materially in swelling the collection into one of sizeable proportions.

Requests to the State Library for the loan of music subjects indicate the renewed interest is attributable to two major sources. The radio has been a leading factor, particularly those broadcasts devoted to music appreciation, for both adults and children. Another reason for the popularity of the music collection has been the fact that many persons have turned to music for recreation as a result of increased leisure in recent years.

The wealth of material in the library files includes the scores of all the better known operas and many of the recent operas. In addition there are numerous books of a descriptive nature, explaining the origin and significance of the operatic compositions.

Among the most widely circulated books are those containing songs of various types, piano and violin music. Included in this collection are folk songs of many lands, Indian and Negro music, an excellent assortment of early American music and most of the vocal, piano and violin selections and rank near the top in the music world.

A comprehensive collection of choir music and anthems was deposited in the State Library several years ago by the State Federation of Music Clubs and has proven valuable to small churches in the rural communities. The original collection has been expanded and the choir music is now in circulation constantly.

Another group of books popular among music students are those containing piano arrangements of symphonies. The collection of instrumental music has not been built up as fast as the other sections of the music collection but is being expanded gradually.

Numerous books are available containing biographical sketches or dealing with the history and theory of music. Others describe the music

Saginaw, Mich. Attacks Night Accident Problem

Michigan Traffic Record Poor

"SAFETY WITH LIGHT" installation, Washington Avenue, Saginaw, Mich., just in front of the Chevrolet foundry. Due to the particularly dangerous conditions at that point, the installation was made by the Consumers Power Company. (Right) Night Safety Analyzer.

Through a "SAFETY WITH LIGHT" program, recently sponsored by its Safety Committee and Automobile Club, Saginaw, Mich., took a positive step toward combating a night accident record that is one of the worst in the country. A study of local statistics by Paul H. Goodell, safety expert representing the Street & Highway Lighting Safety Bureau of New York, revealed that eight out of every ten fatal accidents on the streets and highways of Saginaw, and vicinity occur after dark. Compensating for the fact that the volume of night traffic is only one-fifth that in the daytime, these figures indicate that driving becomes about sixteen times as hazardous after the sun goes down.

Michigan Record Poor.

The study also demonstrated that the rate of fatalities in the same territory is 25 per 100,000 population, which is 60% greater than the national figure. It also compares very unfavorably with the fatality rate for the State of Michigan, which is itself poor. Referring to the accident experience of Michigan, Ferdinand D. Hollman, Chairman of the Saginaw Safety Committee, expressed the hope that all cities and towns in the State would make studies similar to that carried out in Saginaw. He said, "Mr. Goodell's analysis shows that the national increase in motor deaths for 1935 was 1.4 per cent, but for the city of Saginaw it was 25 per cent. This experience for the whole State, though better, was nevertheless shocking when viewed in the cold light of facts. Something must be done and we intend to do something in this city! Possibly we can contribute to, or take part in, a state-wide movement."

Mr. Hollman went on to explain, "It isn't a war we're fighting, though more than 35,000 people were killed on the nation's highways in 1935—over 21,000 of them at night! It is worse than war, more insidious, just as devastating—a sacrifice without a cause, and without glory."

Safety Demonstration.

Prominent Saginaw official took an active part in the campaign which was featured by the demonstration at the Hotel Bancroft of the "ACCIDENT METER" and the "NIGHT SAFETY ANALYZER." This equipment, lent by the Street & Highway Lighting Safety Bureau, dramatizes the vital problem of SAFETY, and emphasizes the importance of adequate light at all hours (both night and day) to safe driving.

Over 500 people, including Mayor Marzer of Saginaw, were tested by the Night Safety Analyzer. One just as any automobile, that machine reproduces in exact ratio normal driving conditions through the movements of a miniature car controlled by the operator. The fact it establishes—while at the same time testing the driver's reflexes—is that adequate light increases his factor of driving safety by almost 200 ft. In other words, under conditions of modern highway illumination he is able to make out an obstructive object and stop his car 200 ft. sooner than under usual headlighting condition. Mr. Goodell points out that at 59 miles an hour it takes little more than two seconds to cover that distance.

ed $223,294.71, numbering 25,517. Money orders, 3,329 of them, were paid at this office, amounting to $34,767.65. "The fees on money orders collected here came to $2,460.89," commented Mr. Stark. "And out of all those issued here, only 81 were spoiled," he added.

In the month of December alone, 2,500 money orders, totalling $23,316.72, were issued here.

"Taking everything in general, the postal business during the last half of the year, was a steady increase over the first six months. November was the second biggest month of the calendar year and February was the lowest," concluded Mr. Stark as he released his report of the year.

rearrangement of the science room, where tiered seats make it necessary for the instructor, Miss Geraldine Huff, to face the windows all day long. He found the laboratory space inadequate and advised removing the partition between the lecture and laboratory rooms, turning the chairs so that the students will face the west, thus eliminating a faulty lighting system and giving added space.

For this same department, he suggests that a change be made in the curriculum, extending the one-year general science course over a three-year period, teaching biology in the sophomore year.

Likewise the efforts to buy new band instruments and to replace the supplementary books for the grades, which were destroyed in the fire last January, were approved by Dr. Curtis.

He also approved the plans now under consideration for modernizing the manual arts department, which at the present time is little more than a wood working room. By including drafting and other equipment, this department will be transferred into a general shop as outlined by Mr. Amerman and Paul B. Thompson.
