Monday evening councilmen named Fred Hicks to succeed the late Reinhold P. Kiiken in the village caretaker's position, which has been vacant since Dec. 30, 1936.

Mr. Hicks took over the duties of the office Tuesday morning and will occupy the caretaker's apartment in the Village Hall within a few days.

For the past 11 years Mr. Hicks has been Northville's fire chief, an appointive job which he will continue to hold in addition to his newly appointed post.

It was the opinion of the members of the council that the nature of the job makes it advisable to combine the work and have it carried on by one man.

The new fire chief received his appointment shortly before the councilmen added new fire fighting equipment to the department. Two fire extinguishers, one a quart size, the other a half quart larger, have been ordered to be attached to the police car and the village pickup.

When the purchase was under consideration Commissioner William T. Gregory stated that all cars should be equipped with similar fire extinguishers. His motion to buy the equipment was backed by Commissioner Elmer Perrin and supported by the other members of the council.

Small fires originating in the downtown district may be controlled readily with the new extinguishers. "It is understood, however, that the police car and the pickup will not, as a rule, be sent out in answer to fire alarms," asserted Dr. H. H. Burkart, village president.

MAYBURY MAGAZINE OBSERVES BIRTHDAY

The February issue of The Fluoroscope, the official publication of the Maybury sanatorium, marks the magazine's fifth birthday anniversary.

Appearing in a birthday jacket designed by the new art editor, Walter Moxley, the 20-page booklet celebrates its anniversary by changing its size and the number of columns from four to three. Throughout the pages, pictures are used to give further attractiveness to the departments of the magazine.

The publication has grown in scope as well as in size since the first issue came off the press in 1932. At that time the four pages carried all the features and news stories. With the release of the initial issue, a contest was sponsored for naming the magazine, on honor which was shared by two patients, Charles Henry and Mrs. Hines.

Sitting on the editorial staff five years ago were: Eugene Smith, editor; Russell Channell, associate editor; Mildred Kennedy and Jerry Galvin, reporters; Madeline Detroyer, secretary; and Eva Ellervich, treasurer.

BARRMEN BATTLE WITH WATTSMEN ON HOME COURT

Victory for Local Squad
Will Create Three-Way
Tie in League

Tonight at 7 o'clock in the high school gymnasium, Northville's basketball shooters will enter the court to meet Melvindale's undefeated five coached by Ted Watts, the man that kept the local squad in the lead for three consecutive years.

This is the second game of the season to be played with the Watts-men. The game played Dec. 18, ended in a 33-28 victory for Melvindale.

Local sport fans enthusiastic over the match here tonight, point out that should Northville leave the court with the large score, there would be a three-way tie among Redford, Union, Melvindale and Northville for first place in the league. At the present time Redford-Union and the local team are tied for second place.

In all probability the five eagles who played together last season will start the game tonight—Hochkins, Turnbull, Bishop, Westphal and Luginid. For the first time this year, all members of Coach Elliott Barr's basketball team are eligible to play.

In addition to the Melvindale loss in December, the local players have been downed by Redford Union.

TWO WALLED LAKE TEACHERS RESIGN IN GRADE SCHOOL

Two changes in the teaching staff of the Walled Lake Consolidated school mark the beginning of the second semester.

Miss Margaret Tuttle, fourth grade teacher, has been granted a leave of absence to permit her to complete her studies for a B. S. degree at Wayne University.

Miss Tuttle is the second member of the Walled Lake staff to leave for degree study in the past year. Miss Margaret Heinz has started her second term at Wayne. She is commercial instructor here. Mrs. Charles E. Hultor of Walled Lake has been retained as supply teacher for Miss Tuttle. Mrs. Hultor was formerly connected with the Clarkston school of music, art and kindergarten teacher. She received her training at Michigan State Normal college at Ypsilanti.

Mrs. Kermit Stinson, nee Jean Wallace, has resigned her position as sixth grade teacher, after six years as a member of the Walled Lake faculty, and will leave for her new residence in Caro. Miss Marian Everett, a former teacher at Shelby, has been given a contract for the sixth grade. She is a graduate of Northern State Teachers college at Marquette, and formerly taught at Lansing.

ROSSOW HERE SUNDAY

Installation services will be held at 3 p. m. Sunday, Feb. 7, in St. Paul's Lutheran church, for the Rev. Edwin E. Rossow, who comes from Detroit to accept the pastorate made vacant by the death of the Rev. Leo Eckstedt. For the past 14 years Mr. Rossow has been the pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran church at 15492 Lesure avenue, Detroit.

New Colors, Designs and Fabrics Make Appearance in Early Spring Furniture Styles on Display Here

Simultaneously with the appearance of new spring hats, women's attention focuses on doing something to remedy the drab condition of their homes.

Anticipating the demands that would be made in the Schrader furniture store to help solve the home problem, R. J. Casterline, buyer, made ready this week to display 12 two-piece living room suites that lead the trend in smart color and style in the furniture line.

Notable in the selection are the suites of mulberry, in hues slightly deeper than those that have been used in other seasons. An outstanding model in this group is fashioned of pinkish fabric with solid walnut frames. Other suites made of this

BOARD VOTES TO INCREASE RENT FOR GYM

Northville's School System
Joins Group to Receive Educational Films

Members of the Northville board of education voted Monday evening in their regular meeting to increase the rental charge for the high school gymnasium from $5 to $8 an amount still under the former $15 price.

Superintendent H. H. Amerman pointed out that no charge is made to organizations which use the gymnasium for charitable entertainments.

At this same meeting a contract was granted to the Michigan Insulating Company of Detroit to insulate the floors above the furnace room in the high school, eliminating the danger of the second floor catching fire as has happened in the past. Further improvements have been ordered for the heating plant in this building where extensive repairs were made during the Christmas recess.

Following approval given by the board members, Northville is joining a number of other schools in the State in forming a club to receive, for a fee of $20 or less the use of educational films released by the extension division of the University of Michigan Library. Some $0 films will be available during this coming school year to supplement routine classroom requirements.

According to Mr. Amerman, Dr. George F. Carothers, secretary of the University committee on relations with secondary schools, will end members of the personnel of the School of Education to inspect the local school during the next few months. Dr. Carothers was here a few days ago to make a general checkup on schedule of classes, teaching conditions, methods of instruction, general administration and policies. A similar check was made here last spring in the language department. It is expected that the training departments will be inspected this year.

The purpose of the survey is to prepare the way for a gradual change in the curriculum.

Four additional contributions to the band fund have been received during the past few days from Northville township, W. R. Forney, Kenneth Rathbun and the American Legion. Leslie G. Lee, music director of the local schools, plans to give the second band concert of the year during the month of February to raise money which is needed to buy instruments for the organization.

JORDAN, MC CORMICK HURT IN CAR CRASH

Clayton Jordan and Royal McCormick sustained serious head injuries early Saturday morning en route to Inkster, when the car in which they were riding crashed with another on Plymouth road near Rosedale Gardens.

Both men were rushed to the Eloise hospital where they are receiving treatment. Jordan's head was severely cut and both men are suffering concussions of the brain.

NORTHVILLE RECORD WINS HONOR IN MICHIGAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

Hometown Newspaper Places in Front Page
Contest With Clinton County Republican
News and Midland Republican

BY RICHARD T. BALDWIN

State-wide honor has come to The Northville Record, the oldest newspaper in Wayne county outside the city of Detroit.

At the sixty-sixth annual meeting of the Michigan Press association, held last week at East Lansing, the third award for the "best front page" of the weekly papers of the State was given to Northville's home newspaper. Publishers of over 300 of the country weeklies and small city dailies are members of the association.

Two of the best weeklies, not only of Michigan but of the entire nation, took first and second honors in the front page contest. Both have circulations of over 5,000 and are found in two of Michigan's best small cities. The Clinton County Republican-News of St. Johns, of which Schuyler L. Marshall is the editor, took first place, with the Midland Republican, edited by Phil H. Rich, taking M. P. A. president winning second honors. The Northville Record, published in a much smaller field, feels it an exceptional honor to be ranked next to these two mentioned nationally known weeklies.

The contest was in charge of the journalism department of the Michigan State college and the awards were made by Prof. A. A. Applegate, head of the department.

To Miss Virginia G. Anderson, news editor of The Record, goes much of the credit for the high honor that has come to Northville. She planned the three consecutive issues that were submitted in the front page contest. Miss Anderson, a graduate of Baker university, Baldwin, Kansas, came to the Record in October of 1935 and has done exceptionally fine work for this newspaper in her stay here. Before coming to Northville she had been connected with two Kansas newspapers.

The front page contest was the only one in which The Record was entered.

High honor came to our neighboring city when The Plymouth Mail, published by Elton R. Eaton and son, Sterling Eaton, won the Michigan Press association Highest Award for General Excellence. Taking second and third places were the Midland Republican, mentioned above and the Lapeer County Press of which Harry Meyers is the publisher. Editor Elton R. Eaton, former Record editor, a past president of the M. P. A., former managing editor of the Kalamazoo Gazette, one of the State's leading dailies, and once secretary to Governor Alex. J. Grosbeck, may well be proud of the splendid distinction that has come to The Plymouth Mail.

J. G. ALEXANDER, 74, DIES HERE MONDAY

Last Rites Held Thursday
From Schrader Chapel
For Aged Resident

After illness since April, John F. Alexander, a resident of Northville for 36 years, passed away at his home on Bell avenue, Monday, Feb. 1, at the age of 74 years. Until his last illness, angina pectoris, Mr. Alexander had been an unusually robust health and was active in his work.

John George Alexander was born in Burlington, Va., April 6, 1862. He was united in marriage to Florence E. Moore in her home near Holly, Mich. Two sons were born to this union, Earl J. of Walled Lake, and Lisle of Plymouth, who, with their mother, survive him.

In 1900 the Alexander family moved to Northville and have since then made their home here. For many years Mr. Alexander was the general barber of the village until eight years ago he entered the real estate business which he continued until forced to retire temporarily because of ill health.

Mr. Alexander, known to his many friends as "George" was always jovial and enthusiastic with a warm greeting to all whom he met. He especially loved little children and his one grandchild, Joy Lou, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Alexander, was the pride of his heart. His beautiful home and garden by the river-side were sources of deep pleasure to him.

Only recently Mr. Alexander's came down to his office on Main street and seemed happy to be back at work. His death, though long anticipated, came suddenly Monday morning.

While in Northville Mr. Alexander was affiliated with the Presbyterian church.

The funeral was held in the Schrader funeral parlors Thursday afternoon with the Rev. H. J. Lord officiating. Carrying out a long-made wish of the deceased, the remains were cremated in the White chapel, near Birmingham.

Both men were rushed to the Eloise hospital where they are receiving treatment. Jordan's head was severely cut and both men are suffering concussions of the brain.

DR. AND MRS. EASTLAND ARE MAKING RECOVERY

Dr. and Mrs. J. K. Eastland, who sustained serious injuries Jan. 27, when the car in which they were riding crashed into a telephone pole at Plymouth and Telegraph roads, are making satisfactory recovery in the Redford Receiving hospital, Detroit.

Miss Dorothy Richardson, who was also in the wreck, was brought to her home in the village, Sunday. Her left elbow is injured.

ATTENTION, SUBSCRIBER

The Northville Record has this week received two anonymous letters, each signed "Subscriber," making a protest against the publication of certain news.

While anonymous letters have no standing in newspaper offices, The Record editor will be pleased to talk with either or both of these writers, if they will call at the Record office. The policy of this newspaper is to be as far as possible to everyone and we are always glad to talk over anything, at any time, with our readers.

The Rev. William R. VanBurkle, moderator of the Detroit Presbytery will preside. It will be his privilege to ask the constitutional questions and offer the prayer of installation.

Further assisting in the service will be the Rev. Walter Nichol of the Plymouth Presbyterian church, who will offer the prayer of invocation and read the scripture lesson.

The sermon on this occasion will be given by the Rev. William H. Marback, D. D., of the First Presbyterian church of Pontiac. Giving the charge to the congregation will be the Rev. Leslie A. "Music for the service will be sung by the local church choir under the leadership of Carl H. Bryan.

Dr. Smith was received into membership by the Detroit Presbytery at the meeting held Jan. 4. He formally accepted the call to the Northville pastorate at the meeting of the Detroit Presbytery Monday, Feb. 1.

The Rev. Harold G. Whitfield, formerly pastor of the Northville church, and Dr. Smith, formerly pastor of the Presbyterian church at Hibbing, Minn., effected an exchange of pastorates, beginning Dec. 15, 1936.

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY ARE BIG DOLLAR DAYS

Northville Record readers who want to bring their subscription payments to date or pay in advance are asked to save their dollars until bargain days, Friday and Saturday, Feb. 12 and 13.

On these two days, one dollar will do the work on subscriptions that $1.50 usually does. This price reduction gives readers an opportunity to pay for papers that may be two and three years in arrears.

Members of The Record staff will serve coffee and doughnuts on the two dollar days, making the occasion a time when neighbors from the village and surrounding territory may visit in the office and renew friendships with the office personnel and other readers.

POSTPONE DEDICATION

Due to the fact that the new grade school building is not sufficiently completed, the meeting of the Parent Teachers association which was to have been held on the evening of Feb. 11, has been postponed. (This was to have been a double celebration of the dedication of the new building and of the anniversary of the founding of the P. T. A.)

Further announcement of the postponed date will be made.

12-Year-Old Don Kreeger, Rotary Protege, Walks and Runs After Two Year Infantile Paralysis Treatment

To see walking and running, before them, apparently healthy, and with smiling face, a boy who had several years before seemed bound to a crippled life, following infantile paralysis, was the thrilling experience of the members of the Rotary club at the regular meeting Tuesday noon.

Don Kreeger was the boy. Don is the twelve-year-old son of Herman Kreeger and has been the protege of the Rotarians for the past two years. His case has been one of the outstanding projects of the club ever since, through the influence of Percy Argove, executive secretary of the Michigan Society for Crippled Children. He was taken to the University hospital in Ann Arbor for examination. Dr. Bagley, orthopedist, had the case in charge and the boy was given physio-therapy and surgical treatment.

Two operations have been performed, the first for lengthening tendons and the second transplanting muscles. It is expected that Don will soon have other muscles transplanted and later a fourth operation will arrest the growth of the normal limb so that both will be more uniform in length. It was during his treatment that E. L. Mills was "big brother" to the boy taking him to the hospital.

Introduced by Mr. Argove, John Tenney, secretary of the Wayne county chapter of the Michigan Crippled Children's Society, and principal of the Harvey Leroy school, in Dearborn, was the speaker of the day. Mr. Tenney gave a remarkable (Continued on page 10)

Grade School Building;
Others Must Wait

Bringing their pennies from weekly allowances, pupils in the kindergarten and the first six grades, pooled their savings last week for the sufferers in the flood region. Their contribution totaled $56.29.

School for five grades, was held this week in the new building, still under construction.

Miss Selma Jarvis, grade school principal, marched with her first graders Monday morning from the Lapham State bank, the temporary quarters for the past year, to the modernly equipped structure next to the high school building.

Determined to see that the small pupils were protected against traffic accidents as they made their way to the new building, the class was accompanied by two members of the grade school patrol.

Once inside the building, the first graders found that four other groups had found their classrooms and were ready to begin the week's work.

Workmen, assigned to long shifts over the week end had completed the rooms now occupied by the kindergarten from the Scout building, and grades three, four and five from the American Legion building.

"Everything works like magic," reported one fourth grader at the dinner table after her first day of school in the new building. "The clocks are magic and so are the doors—they wouldn't stay shut," she said.

The pink plans, which was the source of much delight from the kindergarten pupils, became the object of comment by the Orange and (Continued on page 10)

HIGH SCHOOL DEBATE TEAM PRACTICES FOR EXCHANGE MEMBERS

BY C. A. ROLPH

Members of the Exchange club were interested listeners to the Northville debating team of the high school as they presented the affirmative and the negative sides of the question of public ownership of utilities.

Alfred Cousins and Miss Nancy McDoughlin were on the affirmative side. Scott Cole and Miss Margaret VanHelmont represented the negative side of the question.

The speakers were vigorous in their arguments. They made use of every available point in the brief time allotted to them to score a winning decision. As the team was training for its debate with a Chelsea team Friday, the local team practiced upon the Exchange audience. The effort was heartily approved.

Next week some fine pictures of Mexico and its west coast are to be presented and members will do well to be there on time.

HOLD PRAYER DAY

The annual World Day of Prayer will be observed among village churches Tuesday, Feb. 12, in the Presbyterian church. Mrs. K. S. North will conduct the service.

Residents of Northville township have joined individually and collectively during the past two weeks in the splendid work of relief for the flood stricken residents of Ohio, Illinois and Kentucky.

Cash donations have poured in; individual and group services profited; buildings made available for relief work; stations; trucks and drivers put on call; authorized men and women handled solicitation of cash both on door-to-door basis, from business, fraternal and other public organizations; and from farmers in this township; adults have worked shoulder to shoulder in the three work relief stations; local merchants not only gave donations of money but of supplies, stocks and their own time as well as labor—have the women and school children of this area. Out of the value of $1000 have responded to the call and sent supplies by automobile to the main station here.

Many are the human nature stories which might be written into this story of the proof of Northville's neighborliness. Of how new residents of the village worked side by side with those who have spent all their lives here—of how school children and dads have prepared their own noon-day lunches and done up the stack of dishes mother had left in her haste to report early for work at a relief station or to take up her door-to-door calls—of how business and employed men preface had to neglect their regular routines in order to drive miles and to transact phone calls for solicitation of funds or other business connected with this project—of the sermons preached in the local churches on sharing our brothers' burdens—of the patience of the switch board workers (Continued on page 10)

DIVIDE PROFITS

According to information released today by Mrs. Iker Ward Lester, 70 per cent of the proceeds taken in Tuesday, Feb. 2, at the Northville Restaurant, 112 West Main street, will be given to the Red Cross flood relief fund.

SALEM CHURCH GOERS ATTEND UNION SERVICE

Baptists of the local church and the Salem Federated church held a union meeting in Northville Sunday evening.

The service was in charge of the young people of the church here. Miss Margaret Nagy, president of the B. Y. P. U., presided; Bruce Turnbull, vice-president read the scripture.

Musical numbers were sung by the male quartet, from Salem and by the choir from that place. Robert Lewis, Salem, played a cornet solo. The local male trio, composed of Clifford C. Winters, R. H. Amerman and the Rev. K. S. North, sang during the program. Congregational singing, led by Mr. North, accompanied by the Salem young people's orchestra, and a solo by Mrs. K. S. North, completed the song service.

The Rev. Mrs. Cora Pennell, pastor of the Salem Congregational church, in attendance at a conference at the Moody Bible Institute, Chicago, was not able to fill the pulpit as was scheduled. Mr. North spoke, using the topic, "The Green Eyed Monster—Jealousy."

Another union meeting will be held Mar. 30, in Salem.

SIX YEARS IN NORTHVILLE

Monday, February 1, 1937

"We came to Northville to run The Record on February first, 1931—just six years ago today," we said to a good friend of this fine community. And then added: "Would you personally want to go back and live those six years over?"

Our friend—it happened to be a woman but might just as well have been a mature man—answered:

"I don't believe I could take it."

That probably expresses the feeling of most of us who have battled the past half dozen years and have lived to tell the story. Yet when we start pitying ourselves in thinking of all the difficulties, grief and heart-aches we have seen since the first of 1931, we think of one of the favorite sayings of Dr. John L. Seafon, president of Albion college, our alma mater. This is his slogan: "Too much sunshine makes the desert." You folks who have seen the desert can just shut your eyes, see the never-ending cactus, the merciless sun, the grim wide spaces and know just what he means by that. Clouds with a refreshing shower would be a great relief. Our finest character is not built in the sun parlor. (P. S. Our medical friends may not agree.)

"The moving finger writes and having writ, moves on,
Nor all your piety and wit can lure it back
To cancel half a line
Nor all your tears wipe out a word of it"

There you are! Time is the most precious thing we have, yet we sometimes act as though we had centuries of it, right on tap. These six years we have just finished have joined the ages. They will never come back; life is just shortened by six years. Some of us are living at the high noon of our lives; others of us are in midafternoon; a few are in the evening time.

As we sit here at home alone we ask ourself the question:

"Is Northville a better place; a more friendly spot; a more healthful place—in more ways than climatic; a more contented and a more inspiring community in which to live than it was in the beginning of 1931, when our country began to wobble as it had never staggered before?"

We think we can say sincerely that Northville IS a better place in all of these respects than it was back in February of 1931. And in saying this we are not forgetting the weak spots, the imperfect people—we are all that—and the unrealized ideals. One thing is sure, this community hasn't taken the past six years of troubles of all kinds, "lying down." Among the men, women and children of this area, there have been plenty of heads that have been "bloodied but unbowed." No one knows it better than the preacher, the doctor, the lawyer and the editor. Collectively speaking, Northville has played the part of a man through all the distressing days and months in which we have had troubles of many kinds we never had before.

We felt humbly proud the other day when a discriminating citizen of influence said to the writer: "The Northville Record has had a large part in making Northville a more friendly place the past few years." If that seems like boasting, may we remind you readers that if we take credit to this paper for what it has done—or indeed if there were discredit for what it has not done—that scores and hundreds of people help make this Record each week and theirs is part of the honor—or the discredit. If Northville is more friendly than it was six years ago, then we should all be profoundly glad, for without friendliness and brotherhood these coming years, this old world is going to be "licked."

Yes, Northville is a better place, a more helpful community, a happier spot than it was in 1931. Unless industrial unrest continues, our place in the sun is assured.

Forward with Northville!

THE ONLY POSSIBLE DECISION

The decision of the Flint judge that the "sit-down" strikers must evacuate the General Motors plants which they have been holding for over a month was the only legal decision that any straight thinking judge in the United States could give. It was the only honest decision and certainly the only American decision possible.

In saying this we are not passing on the grievances of the strikers. These grievances are a matter for arbitration.

It was the only legal decision possible because the "sit-down" strikers had broken the law. And the amazing thing about the whole illegal possession of these plants was that the leaders of the strike—the "high ups"—encouraged the illegal possession. That is the alarming thing—the fact that men can be made the pawns of leaders who flaunt the law.

No less an authority than Walter Lippmann, the nationally known writer, says that these strikers were holding these plants for ransom. That is literally true and, no matter what the grievances of the strikers, holding property for ransom is a terrible thing and what amazes us is, that the American people have not risen up in protest at such attempt at ransom. If property can be held for ransom, how long will one's home be safe from invasion from some one who thinks he has a grievance—and who possibly has a complete grievance?

If, in attempting to settle our industrial differences, we break laws, destroy American tradition and create feeling of class hatreds, sad days are ahead for this country.

IT COMES TO US ALL

"Well, John how are you anyway?" we said to an up-state editor whom we met last week at Lansing at the annual gathering of editors of country weeklies. "And how is the wife?" we continued as we smilingly took his hand.

"Didn't you know, Dick? Haven't you heard of our trouble?" he replied. "We lost our boy two weeks ago and my wife just couldn't come to press meet."

Then he told us how the young man, only 20 years old, had for two years battled an incurable disease and had gone out of this life with a smile on his face. Yet, knowing our friends as we do, we realize that from their broken home will come a newer and finer service to the community, a higher and better loyalty to those who remain and above all, a new and richer sympathy, molten in the fires of overwhelming grief. And we think, as we always think when a life passes out: "Never morning wore to night but some heart did break." How eternally true!

NORTHVILLE "HAS A HEART"

Northville rose magnificently to the help of the flood sufferers. Touched by the terrible tragedy that swept over the big river valleys, our people showed their sympathy not in words only but in cash contributions. A very substantial sum was sent to the flood area and more will be sent. Luckily, we are free from flood menace and these cash contributions are a small expression of our feeling of gratitude for living in such a favored part of the world. We can sleep better because of the very real pouring out of our sympathy. Yet, if we could ever see the devastation of a flood, what we have given would seem like the proverbial "drop in the bucket."

NORTHVILLE'S YESTERDAYS

1 YEAR AGO

With the granting by the council of a 10 year land lease, covering the property owned by the Village at the corner of Dunlap and Hutton streets the building of the Boy Scout house can go forward after township action has been approved. Northville was deeply shocked and grieved Wednesday by the news of the death of Nelson C. Schrader, 58, one of its prominent citizens who died early Wednesday morning at Fort Lauderdale, Fla. where he had been since the forepart of January. With the passing of Mrs. Emma Allen Dabney Johnson 54, Feb. 2, Northville lost another prominent village character who had lived throughout the 41 year span of her life in the community and immediate vicinity.

Dr. J. Harold Todd who has been a dentist in the village for the past 10 years has purchased the equipment belonging to the late Dr. Freeman B. Hoover of Plymouth.

Mrs. Ellen Grennan was honored by a company of friends Wednesday, Jan. 2, at her home adjoining Farm Crest on the Six Mile road. The occasion was Mrs. Grennan's seventy-sixth birthday anniversary.

5 YEARS AGO

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Benton on the Seven Mile road, occurred a pleasant occasion last Sunday honoring their mother, Mrs. Eliza Crocker of Detroit, on her eightieth birthday.

The William H. Maybury sanatorium will have a paper of its own. The first publication being scheduled for Monday, Feb. 15.

Sunday while Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Benton were motoring on the Seven mile road they had the misfortune to have their automobile by a milk truck which was crossing the highway. Both Mr. and Mrs. Benton were badly bruised.

Wendell S. Miller completed his course at the University of Michigan last week.

A broken water pipe turned the American Legion room in the Bufile building into a swimming pool one night last week, when about 12 inches of water covered the floor. Working men with pumps soon had the room cleaned up again.

A very pleasant event occurred last Friday afternoon and evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Will Mellow of Northville where about 50 relatives and friends met with them to help them celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage.

Some extensive alterations and improvements are being made to the interior of the Presbyterian church. A balcony for use as Sunday School rooms is being erected across the front of the church and when completed the walls will be newly decorated and a new roof added to the building.

WILLIAM ROSE BENET DISCUSSES POETRY AT FISHER IN DETROIT

William Rose Benet, editor, poet, critic, whose stirring rhymes are known to thousands, will present a "Discussion of Modern Poetry" before the Detroit Town Hall audience at 11 a. m. in the Fisher theatre Wednesday morning, Feb. 10.

A magnetic speaker, a charming personality, Mr. Benet is a lecturer of unusually wide interest, not only a great creative artist, but one of the best-informed persons in America on contemporary poetry.

Benet has had a strange background for a poet. The son of a Colonel, Benet was graduated with a Ph. D. from Sheffield Scientific school. He received his Hon. M. A. from Yale University and his Hon. Litt. D. from Dickinson college. He starred as a reader for Century Magazine. The war interrupted and he became commander in the U. S. Air service. After the war he became associate editor of Nation's Business, and later associate editor of the Literary Review of the New York Evening Post. From there he stepped to an associate editorship of the Saturday Review of Literature.

Golden Fleece, a new anthology of his best poems, was recently published by Dodd, Mead and Co. Among his other books are Merchants of Cathay, The Falconer, of God, The Great White Wall, The Burglar of the Zodiac, The Perpetual Light, Moon of Grandeur, The First Person Singular, The Flying King of Curo, Wild Goshawks, Man Possessed, Rip Tide and Starry Harness. He is also translator of The East I Know, editor of Poems for Youth, Fifty Poets and co-editor of Twentieth Century Poetry.

Tickets for Mr. Benet's lecture are on sale at Grinnell's, also Monday to Wednesday before the lecture at Grinnell's.

KEEP BOYS OFF THE STREET

The Adventurers' Club in New York City went out the other day, gathered up over 700 boys from the worst part of town, dined them in the Hotel Astor, and agreed within the club to use every means to keep these boys from a life of crime. "It is easier to train a young boy in the way of right living than it is to train a man or reform him, once he has begun a life of crime."

By MRS. EDITOR

THAT OLD CHUM.

In the large hall—crowded with newspaper men and their wives we found her—that old school girl chum.

"Would you have recognized me?" each eagerly asked the other. Have I changed much?"

"Not a bit!" each lied cheerfully while she eyed the other and wondered "Do I look as old as that?" Twenty years and more had rolled by since our last meeting when this chum was a bride. Much of life has been lived since those care-free days back in old Cassopolis when two girls sauntered arm in arm to the school house that lay at the far end of the village. That walk was never too far for us.

There was much to talk about after twenty years. While wise editors waged a wordy warfare about strikes and security we went off to a quiet corner seat and "let the world go by." We were girls again and had to catch up the "dropped stitches" of our old friendship.

Back to the old school room we went in memory where dear Mae Carr, one teacher who stands out through the years, taught us Psalms by the yard, and encouraged us to memorize poetry. We have always been thankful for these and for the songs we sang from the "knapsack."

We talked of our school mates. Some were "gone forever." One fat boy is now a banker; one promising girl is still a spinster; that gawky country boy with the outstanding ears who sat across the aisle has made another outstanding record in the newspaper world and is Jay G. Hayden of Washington correspondence fame.

Most vivid to us were those jolting hours on the corner where our ways parted after school. One of the "kiss that bound" us was mutual self pity because it did not do for the daughter of a Presbyterian deacon or of the Methodist preacher to indulge in some of the youthful "involvement" of that day. We did feel sorry for ourselves then. That was long ago. We have learned since that "it is good to bear the yoke in thy youth."

By strange coincidence we have both married editors and very few editors wives escape smearing their fingers with printers' ink. What experiences we "swapped!"

Both of us found problems in connection with adolescent children and each bolstered up the courage of the other—"Remember how we used to act when we were young!" and then we giggled "and look at us now!"

Yes, it's pretty nice to run across an old chum who "knows all about you and loves you just the same."

RECIPES

Whenever you go to a pot luck dinner and taste all the good things don't you wish you knew how they were made?

At the recent "luncheon of the Woman's Club" many of the recipes of favorite dishes were handed in and will appear in this column. Here are some cakes that "made a hit!"

Swedish Cake
Mrs. Harvey Whipple
1 cup butter. Cream with 1/2 cup sugar; add 4 egg yolks well beaten, 4 tablespoons milk, 1 cup flour sifted with 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Spread in 2 cake tins and cover with meringue.

Meringue
4 egg whites well beaten. 1 cup sugar added slowly. Spread over batter and sprinkle one layer with chopped nut meats. Use plain layer for lower layer. Spread whipped cream between layers.

Cream Sponge Cake
Mrs. C. M. Chase
1 cup sifted flour, 1/2 teaspoon baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 2 eggs, separated, 1/2 cup cold water, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 1/2 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 2 tablespoons sugar.

Sift flour, measure and add baking powder and salt. Sift 3 times. To egg yolks add water and lemon rind and beat with rotary beater until light and foamy. Add sugar gradually beating well after each addition then add flour in small amounts. Beat egg whites until foamy, add lemon juice and beat

FOOD MARKET

Advice

GENERAL SUPPLIES of many vegetables are in market at very moderate prices in spite of the California freeze, which seriously affected supplies of many vegetables from Florida, Kansas and the West Indies are coming in.

GREEN and ROMA BEANS, BEETS, CARROTS, CELERY, EGGPLANT, PEAS, TOMATOES, SQUASH, SPINACH and TOMATOES as well as new POTATOES, TURNIPS and ONIONS are also plentiful and cheap. MUSHEROOMS and salad GREENS with the exception of iceberg LETTUCE are abundant and relatively inexpensive.

Eggs Plentiful and Cheap
EGG production has been unusually large for the season and prices are low. There is a shortage of eggs for hatching and supper dishes and use the combination in cooking for the value is exceptional and severe weather may at any time reduce production and raise prices again. High food prices may also shorten their season of plenty. BUTTER prices, too, are somewhat lower.

Lean Sausages Most Valued
LAMB continues to be the best meat value. When varied with less expensive cuts of BEEF and PORK and with POULTRY it can be the mainstay of several dinners a week. Poultry, with the exception of fowl, is like lamb cheaper than last year. A shortage of good beef is beginning to be felt. VEAL is high and scarce but fresh PORK is somewhat lower. FISH supplies at this season are not dependable.

Winter Fruits Reasonable
APPLES and BANANAS are reasonably priced and fairly plentiful while ORANGES and GRAPEFRUIT are plentiful and cheap. AVOCADOS are reasonable. Not many years ago at this season they brought a dollar and a half a piece now they are available for as little as fifty cents in some markets. Winter STRAWBERRIES are unusually plentiful and cheap for the season. They are sweet and full of flavor as well.

Below is a menu planned around foods which are plentiful and moderately priced.

Egg and Anchovy Causapee
Fried Chicken Cream Gravy
New Potatoes Green Beans
Avocado and Grapefruit Salad
Bread and Butter
Strawberry Shortcake
Tea or Coffee

This menu tested and tasted in A&P Kitchen.

Distinguished Austrian Pianist, Artur Schnabel, Appears in Ann Arbor, Feb. 23, For Second Time in Choral Union Series

Artur Schnabel, the distinguished Austrian pianist, will be heard for the second time in the Choral Union series in Hill Auditorium, Ann Arbor, Tuesday evening, Feb. 23.

In the opinion of the eminent music critic, Lawrence Gilman, Artur Schnabel is indisputably the musical man of the hour.

Schnabel now lives largely in London, and unlike most of his colleagues, his years of preliminary training were few. At the age of ten he began his studies with the celebrated Leschetizky, with whom he remained for five years. This was all the regular instruction he ever had. He began concertizing at the age of 15, and has been before the public continuously for 23 years.

Both in this country and in Europe he has established what is generally called "The Schnabel Vogue." His brilliant interpretations of Beethoven have won him international recognition as the greatest living interpreter of this composer. Last season in New York City he gave seven Beethoven recitals. He is also the idol of the younger generation of pianists, many of whom have been his pupils. Through them as well as through his own activities he has exerted a tremendous influence on contemporary concertizing.

Vast and almost worshipful audiences pack his every concert appearance. In spite of his towering intellectual attainments, and his general reputation of being a musician for musicians, Schnabel has proved to be one of the greatest attractions before the public for the average person as well as for the trained musician.

For his Ann Arbor program he has chosen the following:

- Sonata in A major (posthumous) — Schubert
- Allegro — Schubert
- Andantino — Schubert
- Scherzo: Allegro vivace — Rondo: Allegretto
- Bagatellon, Op. 126 — Beethoven
- Fantasia, Op. 77 — Beethoven
- Rondo a capriccio, Op. 129 in G major — Beethoven
- Daubundertanze, Op. 6 — Schumann

OBITUARY

ALICE S. JONES

Alice S. Jones was born in Madison county, New York, July 17, 1851, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Perry.

On Oct. 10, 1882, she was married to Hamilton H. Jones who died in 1918.

For a number of years they lived near Farmington, coming to Novi in 1893.

During the years she lived here, Mrs. Jones won the love and friendship of all with whom she came in contact and many were the kind deeds done for others even when in failing health. Children loved to visit her and she always had a smile and kind word.

She was a good Christian woman and bore her illness and affliction with wonderful patience, though often remarked to her friends her wish to go home and be at rest.

Mrs. Jones possessed a very active and bright mind, often telling of the more interesting events in her life. She would often recite poems and verses she learned when a child.

To all who knew her it was a sincere pleasure to spend time with her.

The Novi Mission circle was to her of great interest and when her health permitted, she loved to meet with them.

Surviving her are two sons, David W. Jones of Portland, Ore., and Judd S. Jones of Farmington; one sister, Mrs. Fred Durfee of Novi; six grandchildren and four great grandchildren besides a host of friends.

"God calls on loved ones, but we lose not wholly What he hath given; They live on earth in thought and deed. As truly as in Heaven"

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science text book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 254): "Imperfect mortals grasp the ultimate of spiritual perfection slowly; but to begin aright and to continue the strife of demonstrating the great problem of being, is doing much."

DRUNK, DEAF, HALF BLIND—YET HE DRIVES

The urgent need for a drivers' license law is one of the midwestern states was emphasized recently with the arrest of a motorist on a charge of drunken driving.

Investigation disclosed that the defendant was hard of hearing and blind in one eye. The prosecutor was incensed when the man was brought into court.

"If we had a drivers' license law, your Honor," he said to the judge,

"This man would never have been allowed to drive in the first place. He is a menace to the safety of the people and his right to drive should be taken from him."

The judge was forced to admit that the matter did not come under his jurisdiction but was something for the legislature to decide. He sentenced the man to jail for ten days on the drunken driving charge.

A physical infirmity will not prevent anyone from passing the examination for a drivers' license, provided he has some means of overcoming it when he drives. It is extremely doubtful if a man who is deaf and blind in one eye could prove to the license law examiners his ability to drive safely.

The standard drivers' license law catches unsafe drivers and removes them from the highway before they become involved in accidents.

He light" and "They that Saw in Trans." Sermon, "The Fellowship of Prayer."

We have a staff of responsible teachers in our church school who serve without pay in giving religious and moral training to the pupils of all ages. They deserve the cooperation of parents in the matter of regular attendance. We will be in a bad way as a nation if the time comes when parents feel that regular moral and religious training is non-essential in a child's development.

Our junior program is now a two-hour schedule, beginning at 10:30 with a junior choir. The pastor has tickets for Stanley Jones' address at the Metropolitan Methodist church, Wednesday evening, Feb. 10. They are free for limited distribution.

The second of our series of prize winning games will be held Tuesday evening at 8:30, Feb. 9. The selection of members of the Sodality Cycles will be made by the lady leaders next Wednesday evening after services.

All of the ushers and church committee members will be on hand next Sunday for the distribution of Lenten calendars. ROCKWELL KENT TELLS GREENLAND STORY NEXT WEEK

Rockwell Kent, famous artist, poet, traveler and adventurer, will speak on "My Two Years in Greenland," with motion pictures, under World Adventure series auspices at the Detroit Institute of Arts at 3:30 p. m. Sunday, Feb. 7.

While Kent's paintings hang in great museums such as the Metropolitan, and his books are internationally known, he has spent much of his life in travel and exploration. In Greenland he lives in a house of his own making, fished and hunted seal with the natives, drove his own dog team, went on long and hazardous expeditions across the ice. He has lived in Argentina, Porto Rico, Denmark, Chile, Alaska, Ireland and Newfoundland.

The Vogue For MIXED VEGETABLES

WELL blended vegetables are like well blended colors. The produce harmony. Every housewife knows how important it is to get a variety of vegetables in the family diet. And how to do it is in a household where Mrs. Kent likes one vegetable and John likes another. The task of securing, cleaning and cooking this variety is laborious.

Canners have produced a variety of better and taken a load off the backs of the housewife, preparing frozen, canned, mixed vegetables. You will want to know how to use them. For example:

For Chilly Days

Scalloped Mixed Vegetables. Turn the contents of one No. 2 can mixed vegetables which have been drained, into a buttered baking dish and pour over one half cup of cream. Mix together one fourth cup grated cheese and one fourth cup buttered crumbs, and sprinkle over the top. Brown in a hot oven. This serves five persons.

Baked Stuffed Peppers. Cut the stems ends of six or eight medium-sized green peppers and remove the seeds and membranes. Parboil for two or three minutes in boiling water and drain. Combine the contents of one No. 2 can mixed vegetables with one can of white sauce. Season with salt and fill the peppers with the mixture. Top with buttered crumbs. If desired, a square of sliced cheese may be placed on each pepper. Place close together in a shallow pan and surround with a little hot water. Bake until tender and browned, or about thirty minutes. This serves six persons.

Vegetable Pie. Turn drained vegetables from a No. 2 can of mixed vegetables into a buttered baking dish and pour over the contents of one 10½-ounce can of tomato soup. Roll out biscuit dough, cut in rounds and lay on top. Bake for fifteen to twenty minutes in a hot oven. This serves eight persons.

Seaman: "What did you find hardest when you were learning to pilot the Admiral's barge?"

Coxswain: "No, because she is always after meals."

listened to a fine temperance address by the pastor, the Rev. A. K. Mac Rae. This was Temperance Sunday and the Sunday School lesson was on that line.

Nearly 30 from Novi attended the special services at the Plymouth Baptist church Sunday night, conducted by the Rev. and Mrs. Stuckey and daughter, Ruth, Detroit. This is the second and last week of their work in Plymouth. The Stuckeys are a very musical family. Miss Ruth, only a young lady, has composed many musical numbers and gives great promise of a great work in the musical line. Mrs. Stuckey plays several instruments, while the Rev. Stuckey is very efficient in playing the musical saw.

Opera Star Votes for Cooking

COOKING is of universal interest, for men as well as women enjoy developing the art, according to Madame Elisabeth Rethberg, star of the Metropolitan Opera. A world traveler interested in the various foods of all nations, Madame Rethberg collects recipes while on tour to try on her modern gas range when she returns to her home in Riverdale, New York. She has many old-standby recipes and advocates substantial foods for physical sturdiness. Among her favorites are the German Bohemian types of her youth, the Swiss, Italian, and Australian curried dishes. The versatility of this star, who made her American debut in 1922, is evidenced by the fact that she sings in all languages, and numbers more than 125 roles in her repertoire. Although famous as "Aida," she sang the role of "Sieglinde" in "Die Walkure" with which the New York opera season opened recently.

Scenes as Chevrolet Workers Return to Their Jobs

Approximately 90 per cent of the 40,000 Chevrolet workers called back to work last week reported at their work benches. Above is shown a group of happy Chevrolet workers as they return to their jobs at the Chevrolet Gear and Axle plant in Detroit, in line with the company's program of giving part-time employment to as many employees as possible in order to keep them off relief rolls. Upper right, some of the workers gathered inside the plant awaiting the shift change which will give them the signal to return to their machines. Lower left, Frank Svatora checks in with a big smile while Walter Frost waits in line behind him to follow suit.

Walled Lake News BY CHARLES E. HUTTON

Heavy rains of Walled Lake and vicinity during the past week struck a diversified note, ranging in trend from the gully of the Pleasant's hill to the grim apprehension felt by the community towards the flood disaster of the Ohio River Valley, involving possible danger to bridges, to friends and relatives of people here.

Commendable response to the efforts of the local fire department to raise money for fire truck equipment was made by people hereabouts when they attended the benefit at the Walled Lake cafe Thursday night, adding $50 to the reported fund and thereby assisting the purchase of an electric alarm and a fog nozzle. Other equipment to be included in the aid apparatus are a trapulph and a Baret pump, capable of throwing 400 gallons of water a minute.

A real sense even more note worthy has been that of the people of Walled Lake in the drive for money and supplies for Red Cross emergency relief in the flood area. Effort was made by deputy Zimer McQuinn who found Walled Lake people eager to contribute to the worthy cause. He was much impressed by the enthusiastic support of children at the school. They almost overwhelmed him in their efforts to give their carefully preserved weekly allowances, ranging from three cents to a dollar. The Civic Welfare Club held a game party at the Carnes residence one afternoon and raised $20. They then voted to add $45 more, and turned in $50 to the fund. Individual contributions amounted to $50, bringing the total amount for Walled Lake to $120. Mrs. Joseph Long, township chairman for the Red Cross, reported that the quota of $100 had been more than doubled with $225 received and more yet to be turned in.

Other events of the week included an organization meeting of the County Council of Parent Teachers' associations, held at the Walled Lake Consolidated school; a card party given by the local Masonic lodge, auditions for the community talent show to open at the school Thursday night, Feb. 4 and run for three nights; and basketball games between Walled Lake and Roseville schools at Keego Harbor.

The P. T. A. meeting was the first of its kind to be held in the county, and was attended by representatives of the Doherty, Watford Center, Union Lake, Jubling, Waterford, Troy, Daniel Whitfield Stringham, Auburn Heights, Barna (Birmingham) and Walled Lake school associations. Business included the adoption of by-laws and election of officers. Those elected were President, Mrs. Harold Tuck of the Walled Lake P. T. A., first vice-president, Mrs. R. N. Hickson of the Waterford Center group, second vice president Mrs. L. M. O'Dell, principal of the Doherty school, secretary, Mrs. Russell Cowan of the Union Lake association, treasurer, Mrs. J. A. Sturman, president of the Doherty P. T. A., and 1st. Morgan Mrs. Harold Lottan, president of the Auburn Heights association. A luncheon was served by the local committee of the local group, with Mrs. Earl Skarratt and Mrs. Fjord Brenner in charge. Mrs. Harold Tuck was luncheon program chairman and introduced Mrs. John Talbot, of the Union Lake association, Mrs. J. E. Gilson of the Daniel Whitfield unit and Mrs. Harold Grenzback of the Barnum school, Birmingham, who performed a candle lighting ceremony in commemoration of the fortieth anniversary of the national parent teachers' organization.

The balance of the full day's session included the discussion in the morning by the Rev. Victor Wik of the local Baptist church, an address by C. A. Hoffman, superintendent of the Walled Lake school, and an address of welcome by Mrs. Paul Parley, president of the Walled Lake P. T. A. The afternoon program was devoted principally to a discussion of past year projects of the groups represented. Music was provided by Larry Davis, tenor, accompanied by Mrs. Warren Wikman. The Rev. D. E. Evans gave the luncheon invocation and led in community singing. The next meeting will be held at the Waterford Center school in April.

A generous bill of home talent entertainment is promised for old and young during the week of Feb. 1, when the Future Farmers of America and Student Association of the Walled Lake school will cooperate with radio station WLS, Chicago, in presenting the WLS Community Talent Show in the school's inadequate auditorium Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights. It is predicted that over 100 aspirants to possible radio fame will participate, and will include comedians, singers, dancers, impersonators, instrumentalists and whatnot. The affair is open to anyone in Oakland and nearby counties. Those possessing unusual talent may be selected to perform over the Chicago station sometime in the future. Auditions were held in Jan. 28 and 29, and entries will be accepted on the performance nights, if they have sufficient merit.

Walled Lake basketball teams returned from Keego Harbor Friday night in possession of the lead in the Southwestern Oakland county league race for championship honors. The varsity squad defeated the Presidents 20 to 6, and the Walled Lake girls were presented with

BROADWAY MUSICAL HIT 'ON YOUR TOES' OPENS IN DETROIT

Fresh from a triumphant run of ten months on Broadway, "On Your Toes" Dwight Deere Wiman's musical comedy sensation, with Ray Bolger, Luella Gear and Tamara Gera, will come to the Cass theatre, Detroit, on Monday evening, Feb. 8, for an engagement of one week.

Doris Carson and Monty Woolley also are featured and the show comes with the entire New York cast and production. Ray Bolger will be remembered as the cyclonic dancer of the picture, "The Great Zigfield." In "On Your Toes" of course, he appears in person.

"On Your Toes" is an eye-feast for the patron of the song-and-dance, girl-and-guy type of entertainment, featuring the gossamer and lanky ladies. It has been heralded by the New York critics as the liveliest musical play of the past two seasons, a new high in originality and smartness.

On the lyric side, for which Fletcher Rogers and Lorenz Hart are responsible, the show contains not only "There's a Small Hotel," one of the biggest song hits in recent years, but after such other melodic gems as "On Your Toes," "The Three B's," "It's Got to Be Love," "The Heart is Quicker Than the Eye," "It's Good for the Average Man," "Glad to Be Unhappy" and "Quiet Night."

George Abbott, the world's busiest collaborator, shares authorship with Rogers and Hart.

Magnificently staged by Worthington Minor in 18 gorgeous sets by Jo Meilzner, costumed richly by Irene Saraff, "On Your Toes" has been produced by Mr. Wiman with tasteful extravagance. The choreography, at the hands of George Balanchine, is a witty, humorous, strolling lampoon of the whole leg-lifting art of the modern dance from the Russian Ballet to its American paraphrases and jazz-hoofing. It holds at the same time the cerebrum and diaphragm.

Oh, there's never a shadow where sunshine is not, And never the sunshine without a dark spot; Yet there's one will be victor, for glory and fame, Without heart to define them, were only a name!

NORTHVILLE DEFEATS TRENTON FRIDAY

Home Team Wins by Score 18-13; Holds Second Place in League

BY JACK STUBENROLL

Northville continued her prestige over Trenton by beating them on our court Friday night, 18-13. Some real defensive basketball was played in the last half, holding Trenton to 5 points. With every man on the Trenton team 5 feet, 11 inches or over, it was thought Northville was defeated. To make matters worse, Westphal was put out of goals at the beginning of the last half. Lucky Luck was with us, though, for about 5 minutes later, one of Trenton's best men was put out on fouls.

Northville started fast, the first 4 minutes of the first quarter, getting 3 baskets to Trenton's one. Duguid and Scott accounted for the quick score. Trenton didn't stop at this, however. They passed the ball around as if it were a basketball and made 3 close shots to make the score at the end of the half, 10-8.

An inspired bunch of boys started the last half playing like they never played before. Their passing was nothing extra, but their defense was like a stone wall.

As a result of last Friday's victory, Northville is tied with Redford Union for second place in the league. If we have a victory over Melvindale this Friday, three teams will tie for first.

BETTY GREER'S FLEA ESCAPES IN TYPING ROOM

Horphininus' Disappearance Causes Frantic Search Among Students

BY ALICE EATON

If you haven't read Horphininus you just haven't lived. Horphininus (pronounced Hore-fine-in-us) is that little flea Betty Greer has trained to do all sorts of amazing things.

Betty said she found him one morning when she was combing her hair, and she thought he looked so different from ordinary fleas—you know, intelligent, and all that sort of thing—that she just couldn't resist him. Horphininus is really very clever, even if he is so small no one can see him except his mistress. He can jump from hand to shoulder and wrist to wrist when Betty tells him to.

A tragedy almost occurred, however, when Betty was demonstrating her pet's tricks to an interested group in Miss Dona Lunden's typing room. Horphininus was leaping merrily about when suddenly he disappeared. Betty, of course, was the only one who realized he was gone, and she immediately started a frantic search for him. She found several varieties of fleas on the overcoat spectators, but none of them was precious Horphininus. You could hear Betty's heart breaking clear across the room, when out of thin air, the tiny flea was discovered on Miss Lunden! Betty said the lost Horphininus was sobbing and she has resolved never to endanger him like that again.

JITNEY DANCE TO BE HELD AFTER GAME

The student council will hold their third jitney dance tonight in the gym after the Melvindale game. The dancing will begin immediately after the game and end at 12 o'clock. The admission will be five cents a dance.

The orchestra will consist of three local boys: Martin Summers, Merle Fraser and Otis Teiskbury. These boys have been organized quite some time and they played for the jitney dance last Friday.

The Observer

A short, pleasingly plump girl with pretty blue-grey eyes and dark brown curly hair is the one to observe this week.

She is full of fun especially in the assembly fourth hour. Her hobby is commercial art. She is a very good artist, too. If you have seen any of her drawings, you will agree with me.

This certain young lady has dimples and blishes quite often. She is a junior and is on one of the committees for the J-hop.

If you are still in doubt, ask Mr. Johnson who it is that draws pictures of him on his blackboard.

ROUND THE SCHOOL

"Tonight is the night, my friends! For the second time this season Northville will clash with Melvindale, a team which threatens to become more of an arch rival than Pymouth."

All this intense school spirit didn't spring up until Coach Ted Watts, erstwhile of Northville, hid himself off to teach Melvindale the principles of basketball. And when Melvindale defeated Northville, it was just too much. Ever since that fatal night, everyone from Coach Elliott Barr to the most insignificant of the substitutes have sworn themselves to revenge the smirched honor of our fair Alma Mater.

Right now the only people kicking are the student council members. They think that a nice heavy debt (not so large as Francis's but large enough) is sufficient for one organization to carry. But when the student body doesn't attend games—watch out for mutiny in the high school.

NEW CLASSES TO BE HELD THIS TERM

Several new classes will be introduced at the school this semester, a few of which have never been given in previous years.

R. H. Amerman, superintendent of the schools, announced that the board of education has worked out a plan whereby there will be week-day religious classes, financed and instructed by the various village churches. According to the present plan, this class will be open to grades 4, 5 and 6.

Paul B. Thompson, principal of the school, is planning a mechanical drawing class, if time is available. Mr. Thompson said, no plans were yet definite, but if any students wish to take it, they should sign up at the office. The manual training department is crowded for rooms and tables, and only if these are available, the class will be held.

Leslie G. Lee, head of the music department, is beginning instruction in a class in harmony. According to Mr. Lee, students who have already had instruction in music will be eligible for the course. The class will learn to write two other musical parts from a given score, such as writing bass and alto parts from a piece of music written for a soprano.

It was hoped for a while that E. L. Johnson would hold a regular debating class in order to prepare students for next year's trial but neither Mr. Johnson or Mr. Thompson were able to give definite plans as yet.

In the grade school a class will be continued for the first time in several years—that of group piano instruction. The class will be taught in the new grade school building and will probably begin on Feb. 15. The students are taught in groups of eight, and the charge is 15 cents a pupil, ten cents less than the class was when previously taught here. Mr. Amerman asks parents to watch for future announcements.

"Well, well, here it is another week and time for ye olde columnist to do some snooping."

A group of our junior classmen went into the big city last Friday to recuperate from exams and to do something about decorations for the Hop.

Who's the most fickle person in N. H. S.? Three guesses, Myrtle News! Right the first time!

The Jitney dance went off right well Friday p. m.—and did you see the game? The local boys were right up on their toes weren't they?

Mo's sick this week, boys and girls. He took his best girl skating and he not only broke the ice—he fell through!

Did you know—Mr. Johnson held a rather exclusive class Monday night at 3:30. We weren't invited—were you?

MELVINDALE TEAM MEETS LOCAL SQUAD

Northville to Play on Home Court—Team That Holds First Place

In what will prove to be a climax to the home cages schedule, the boys' basketball team will play Melvindale here at 7 p. m. Friday, Feb. 5.

Tonight's game has a lot at stake since a win will mean a tie for championship. A loss means that the home team is out of the running.

The home team will be at the height of their strength with every one eligible for the first time this year. This game is of much more importance too, because of the rivalry between the two schools which has grown greatly since the appointment of Ted Watts as the Melvindale coach. It is believed that it will take an exceedingly strong team to beat the Northville group, which is in full strength.

Coach Elliott Barr would make no comment, but is hoping for the best.

The lineup will probably be made up of the five boys who played together last year—Westphal, Turnbull, Bishop, Duguid and Hochkins.

The Northville debate team had an active week with two debates given. The first was an audience decision contest given at the Exchange Club on Wednesday. Alfred Cousins and Nan McLoughlin were teamed up against Margaret VanHellemont and Scott Cole in debating the question, resolved: That all public utilities should be governmentally owned and operated.

Today the negative team was to meet Chelsea here in a debate whose victory would allow the home team to enter the eliminations for state championship. E. L. Johnson, debate coach, stated that he believed Northville had an excellent chance to win. He planned to start Nan McLoughlin, Scott Cole and Margaret VanHellemont.

INTERCLASS GAMES PLANNED BY BARR

Interclass basketball this year is to be run on different principles from past year.

Previously the captain has managed and substituted and as the arrangement caused a great deal of hard feeling a change is being made. Among the men Coach Elliott Barr has devised a method which will prevent the hard feeling. Some member of the varsity team will coach each class team and the referee will be any person on the varsity team who will be free during the time of the game.

Since the seventh graders are so much smaller than the high school players, a league is to be started with the surplus eighth and seventh graders. There will be approximately seven or eight games a week and an elimination contest.

She: "Haven't you ever longed to fly—to be an ace in the air?"
Navy Bull: "Yes—and I have also thought of crashing—of being an ace in the hole."

History Class RECONSTRUCTS EARLY AMERICA

Ludwig's Seventh Graders Build Ships, Brooms and Cabins

If anyone wants any information on what people did in America in colonial times, what they rode in, how they dressed and what they worked with, you have only to go Miss Gladys Ludwig's room where are exhibited models of all these things.

It is the seventh grade history class that has been working on these interesting projects, and it is hard to believe that 12-year-old boys and girls have made some of the articles. One is an accurate ship's model, made by Leo Holts, complete with masts, ropes and all nautical equipment. Bob Hunter built a model of Boone's Loughmud made of matches. Harold Schoultz constructed a foot-warmer and Yvonne Taylor made a wall-plaque with a cabin made of sticks and trees made of pine tails.

A colonial lantern made of tin cans soldered together and punched with numerous holes to let the light through was contributed by Jackie Covell. Dorothy Jane Corgo gave a gold and black wampum belt, a copy of one given to the white men by the Indians to signify peace.

Other very interesting models were a tiny broom, a miniature ducking stool, flat-boats, cabins, covered wagons drawn by oxen, a model of Harvard college when it was first established and dolls dressed in colonial style.

The seventh grade is to be complimented on its ability to reconstruct the early days of America up to 1789.

Interview

MISS BEGLAH MILLER

Born March 4, —, Huntington, N. Y. Miss Beglah Miller, our new second grade teacher, moved about a great deal during her life.

During her childhood she lived in Chicago, Detroit and Memphis where she remembers hearing the children say "Make the little Yankee girl talk." And now she says they make fun of her southern accent. This funny world.

After her graduation from high school she entered West Tennessee State Teacher's college, later teaching from 1921 to 1934 in Sweden school, Memphis.

During her summers she satisfied her urge to travel. Several of three summers were spent at university centers where six weeks would be spent in study.

In the summer of 1926 she made her first trip to Europe, sailing on the steamer "Montroyal" from Quebec. She took the trips tourists generally take on their first adventure abroad. This included Iceland, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Finland, Estonia and Russia.

Her trip to Central America was made at Christmas time in 1933. In 1935 she returned to college to complete work for her degree. This

Booklovers' Corner

Superintendent E. H. Amerman has just bought nine new pamphlets for our library. Each one of them is interesting and each has something in it you should know.

You can get a very good idea of what they are by looking at the titles. They are "Manners and Right Conduct," "Learning to be Liable," "Manners and Personality in School and Business," "Personal Hurdles," "Personal Efficiency and Citizenship," "Youth and Study," "Parliamentary Practice," "School, Home and You" and "Alcohol Talks to Youth."

They show you the do's and don'ts in developing a likeable personality. The what-to-do's and the what-not-to-do's at social functions.

The pamphlet "Parliamentary Practice" would be of special importance to the students who take speech.

"Manners and Personality in School and Business" deals with that all important question of how to get a job after you are out of school.

With so many topics to choose from, surely you can find one that appeals to you, and one that will help you in some way.

Society

There was no school Friday and a group of juniors took advantage of this one day vacation by spending the day in Detroit. From what we hear this trip was made because of business reasons. Now what kind of business they could of had in Detroit would not be hard to guess with the 5-hop plans made and the juniors ready for work and action.

Those in the group were: Gwen Jones, Nan McLoughlin, Peggy Walker, Mary Jane Boelens, Renee Bolton and Marvin Schoultz.

Others who could be seen strolling around that day were some of the well known sophomores, Pat McLoughlin, Louise Alexander, Vivian Grosvenor, Kathryn Marburger, Doris Hogan and Jeanne Atchison. They saw the show at the Michigan Leonard Young and Cecil Giles were also in Detroit Friday and saw the movie "Champagne Waltz" at the Michigan.

Marjane Ligerand entertained company over the week end.

Helen Winters had a Sunday night luncheon and those who were present were Skip Hochkins, Doris Teiskbury and Bruce Turnbull.

Joe Ault gave a farewell party at Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Johnson's home for her brother, Forrest, who is about to go to Mississippi. Those who attended the party were Lilian Fritz, Walter Garschow, Dorothy and Martin Brotnager, Bill Owen, Jean Auld and Virginia Ford from West Point Park.

Some of the students who attended the President's ball Saturday night in Northville were Louise Alexander, Ed Angove, Pat McLoughlin, Bruce Turnbull, Betty VanHellemont, Dayton, Dick, Vivian Grosvenor, Ken Walker, Helen Winters, Skip Hochkins, Jane Grosvenor, Claude Buchanan, Lewis, Refie Parmenter, Barbara Oyster, Harry Richardson, Lou Schoultz, Bob Bray, Kye Moen, Helen Johnson, Vera Scott, Barbara Phillips, Bob Lyke.

Those who attended the President's ball in Plymouth were: Betty Haystead, Bill Holdforth, Nan McLoughlin, Hal Horton, Gwen Jones, Bob Wingard, Marjane Chase, Harold Thorne, Virginia Washburne, Donald Bessie, Fabian Fritz, Kenneth Fisher. There were also many others who attended.

she did at Arkansas State Teachers college. After six weeks of work there a position was offered her at Holly. She taught in Holly until the last of the year.

Miss Miller stated, "I am so happy that it has been possible for me to come to Northville. I am looking forward to many pleasant associations with the people here."

One must keep in the peak of condition, steady nerves, pep, strength and endurance, to battle today's business problems. Plenty of MILK will give you all of these.

Junior High Notes

Harvey Richee, an eighth grader, was seriously cut last week end while sliding. He is being cared for in Sessions Hospital.

Miss Florence Harper's Michigan Government classes are writing letters. They pretend they lived during the early days of Michigan's history and write telling of events of that period. An example of these letters is that of one person wrote of the great fire in Detroit in 1805, probably to a friend or relative who lived several miles away, and was thrilled or grief stricken at the news.

Senior Who's Who

LAWRENCE E. PARMENTER

This young 19-year-old senior was born in Detroit, like all the rest, on Sept. 13, 1917. He lost no time in getting out here, for when at the tender age of four, he brought his family to Northville. Mr. Parmenter better known as Larry, needless to mention, has been a faithful paper boy these many years, but has just informed me of his resignation. He is also a soda-jerker at the Northville Drug Store. Larry was in the choir one year, played basketball a year and as you all know played football two years. Math is his favorite subject and hockey occupies plenty of his time. Just to let you in on his private life—Plymouth is his hobby and Northville his pastime. Larry plans to go somewhere to college after graduating.
