Hopes High for Township
Wildcatter Developing
Into a Commercial

The Kehrl wildcatter, Salem township, sec. 2, N. W., N. W., N. E., is the scene of much activity this week. Information has leaked out that a showing of oil has been reached. Contrary to a report circulated here Wednesday, the well has not been blown in.

A slight showing of gas was found Wednesday, but not enough for a commercial gas well, admitted one of the workmen at the rig.

It is understood that drilling, now in the Niagara will continue to the Trenton formation.

Drillers at the rig have been instructed to keep the drilling depth figures under cover. These instructions have been made by C. J. Hammer, 2235 East Seven Mile road, one of the promoters.

The Feb. 13 issue of the Michigan Gas and Oil News, published at Mt. Pleasant, with a branch editorial office in Detroit, carried the depth at 2580.

SPOT NORTHVILLE FOR ONE OF HENRY FORD'S 'VILLAGE INDUSTRIES'

Note: The following article appears in the February issue of the Ford News. It is reprinted in The Record because the circulation of the News is limited.

Time was in America when country roads and streets were dotted with little industries, gristmills, sawmills, foundries and small manufacturing establishments. With the growth of great cities and the consequent centralization of industry, there came a change.

In 1920 Henry Ford began to give industry back to the countryside. It had been wrested from him by starting the first of the Ford Motor company's "village industries."

Sixteen years later in December, 1936, operations were commenced in a new Ford factory in Northville, signaling continued progress of his plan.

The new plant at Northville replaces the factory in which valves used in Ford cars and trucks have been made since 1920, when it was opened as the first Ford "village industry." In its 16 years of operation, the original Northville plant produced more than 181,000,000 valves—68,000,000 for V-8 type motors alone.

The new factory, designed by Albert Kahn, is a one-story structure of steel and brick with ground dimensions of 100 by 300 feet. The 30,640 square foot floor space in the new plant is compared with 24,240 square feet in the old building. Extending under the new structure is a half basement, housing power plant equipment, compressors, blowers and other machinery.

When the 300 workers left their machines and tools in the old shop to commence operations in the new, they found an air-conditioned building equipped with the most modern machinery. They found, too, that more local residents were to find work. More than one-third as many machines as the old plant housed were installed. The new equipment and added men would be able to turn out in 16 hours the 70,000 Ford valves formerly finished every 24 hours.

Added to the architectural attractiveness of the new factory in its carefully landscaped setting is an artificial lake, formed by the damming of the River Rouge, and an overshot wheel, operated by water piped under wide lawns from the head of the backed-up water, Yerkes pond.

This water wheel serves as part of the power-developing equipment of plant, though only a part, since the River Rouge at this point is of insufficient volume to develop the necessary 750 kilowatts required by the valve factory.

Council Rescinds Repair Job Vote

IRONIZED WORK IS UNDER WAY ON RESERVOIR

Culbertson's Original Plan to Remedy Leaky Walls Found
Satisfactory Here

Members of the village council have rescinded their vote demanding that H. B. Culbertson, general contractor, put a one-inch coating of ironite on the walls and floors of the reservoir.

This action was taken Monday evening as four members of the council—W. T. Gregory, Elmer Perkins, J. W. Perkins and Fred G. Shafer—met in regular session.

The former motion was recalled after representatives of the Western Waterproofing company, contractors assigned to the wall repair job, had stated to individual commissioners that the final coating over the ironized process, now being applied, was unnecessary.

By rescinding the vote, councilmen have accepted Culbertson's original plan for repairing the leaky

RECEIVE APPLICATIONS

Applications for the portion of Chief of Police of Northville, made vacant by the death of William H. Safford, have been received by the councilmen from Orrin Casteline, Roy H. Graham, Ernest Lyke and Harry Small. No action has been taken on the matter.

SIT DOWN STRIKE BRINGS WAGE JUMP

A sit down strike which began Tuesday evening at the Felt Products company, Plymouth, spread early Wednesday to two other factories in that city, the Daisy Manufacturing company and the Plymouth Stamping company.

Immediate difficulties at the Felt company were settled within half an hour after the strike began at 7 p. m. Tuesday, when company officials made a five-cent an hour increase in employees wages. A meeting Sunday will iron out further issues in the matter. It is also agreed that a suction device to clear the factory of dust and lint be installed.

At the Daisy Manufacturing company, makers of air rifles, some 300 men went on strike Wednesday for higher wages. The factory is closed, but it is understood that the strike is conducted in a friendly manner.

Employees of the Plymouth Stamping company threatened a strike when only the wife of the manager was in charge of the factory. An agreement was reached between her and the workers not to close the shop until the manager himself returned from the hospital.

Eight hundred men and women at the Farm Crest Baking company, 5845 Russell street, Detroit, have barred the doors, refusing to let other employees shifts to enter.

FIRE LEVELS YERKES' HOME IN BARBADOS

To the family of Robert Yerkes, Barbados, British West Indies, have gone since the first of the year two large boxes of clothing from Orlov G. Owen's store.

It was talk about the recent fire at Salem that brought out the fact from Mr. Owen that fire had completely destroyed late in December the Yerkes' home, along with all their household furniture, clothing and jewelry. The loss, with the exception of the jewelry, was covered by insurance.

CKLW RADIO ENTERTAINERS VISIT MAYBURY

200 Patients Attend Valentine
Party; Frolic Boys, Lewis and Townsend Give Acts

Echoes of a valentine party came down the hill from Maybury to the village this week.

Five CKLW radio entertainers made the occasion a merry one and some 200 patients witnessed the three-way wrestling match that Joe Gentle, Angie Rose and Tobby David exhibited. The story is in circulation that no particular strength or skill was demonstrated, but the holds were quite involved.

The non-athletes proving that to take care of themselves was a task. Tobby David, who has added another act to his undressing pastime—that of taking a bath, more than equalled the applause he was given last fall at the Air Circus performance.

It was good stuff, the best of that kind I've seen," affirmed the advertising manager of the Fluoroscope.

Walter Townsend of the same broadcasting station, the man that has the touch that brings that extra something from the piano, played several numbers that were enthusiastically received. During some of these finger tips over the keys, Bill Lewis sang thus doubling the applause. Lewis, through imitations, let it be known that he had heard about Bing Crosby and Bob Carter, two men who are doing right well by themselves on the net work.

FIRE LEVELS STORE TUESDAY AT SALEM

Dog Awakens Two Families Who Escape from Flame- Filled Building

For more than two hours, three fire departments fought early Tuesday morning to save the Mankin store and beer garden at Salem from flames which leveled the building. The occupants narrowly escaped.

Northville's fire department answered the call at 4 o'clock, together with firemen from South Lyon and Plymouth. The two-story building, recently redecorated, which housed a grocery store, two living quarters and a beer garden, was completely lost by fire of unknown origin.

Mr. Mankin estimates his loss at $3,200. "I had about $1,300 worth of meat and groceries there, my equipment was valued at $1,200 and clothing and household furnishings at $700." Insurance covered Mr. Mankin's loss. This is the second time in two years that flames have claimed Mr. Mankin's property.

John Q. Adams, owner of the fire leveled building, plans to rebuild immediately and Mr. Mankin will go into the grocery business again just as soon as the building is ready.

Not so fortunate were Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Blade who carried no insurance on their property which they value at $5,000. They lost everything—even Mr. Blade's teeth and glasses.

"Lightning," the seven-year-old dog belonging to Charles Mankin, Jr., was the hero of the tragedy. The dog, sleeping in the store, was awakened by the heat and noise of the burning building. For the first time in his life, he proved that he was well-named by dashing to the rear of the store and into the Mankin living quarters to awaken Mr. and Mrs. Mankin and their children, Charles and Evelyn.

The Mankins, together with Mr. Blade, proprietor of the restaurant and beer garden, escaped from the flame-filled structure in their night clothes. Mrs. Blade, who remained in the bedroom to gather a few clothes, was trapped by the flames. It was necessary to use a ladder to get her out of the second story of the house.

Before the neighboring fire departments were called, the emergency chemical fire extinguisher was put into use, but the small chemical weapon could only keep the fire from spreading to other buildings.

Dr. Stamp, a member of the Detroit Board of Health is substituting for Dr. J. E. Eastland in the Maybury sanatorium dental office.

KNOW NORTHVILLE

Four Women Tell of Village History, Topography, Institutions and Industries

Northville has four women of note—Mrs. E. Z. Lapham, Mrs. H. S. Willis, Mrs. Leslie G. Lee and Mrs. E. L. Mills.

The "Three Smart Girls" who have been the targets of commendation for several weeks in the film colony following their recent picture success, have nothing on "Four Smart Women" who spent several hours touring Northville's factories, sanatoriums and institutions; delving into village history; and counting the number of feet above sea level whereupon Northville sits—all this and more too, they did in preparation for the outstanding Rotary program of the year.

This feminine quartet was the surprise element at Tuesday's Rotary luncheon on a "Know Northville" program arranged by Richard T. Baldwin.

Twice a Secret
As the appearance of the women on the program was kept under cover—a secret from even their Rotarian husbands—Mrs. Lapham, who talked on "Northville's Yesterdays"—admitted that her style was not what it might have been had she talked over some of the history of the village with her husband. "Edward," she said, "has an inexhaustible supply of stories that occasionally make the listeners feel uncomfortable when he begins a yarn of days gone by."

Shocking Conduct
In speaking of school in the old brick building, erected in 1865 and burned in 1914, Mrs. Lapham said that the Golden Glovers' activities were nothing at all compared to the problems involved in maintaining discipline in the high school. Many dignified, gray haired ladies in the village have been known, in their youth, to go down the steps the easy way—via banisters.

The building which now houses the Village Hall, the library building, the public drinking wells, the School Furniture company, the Fishery and the Milk Condensing Machine company all have a place in Northville's yesterday, the speaker pointed out.

Mrs. Lee used a Big dictionary to help her out when Mr. Baldwin assigned her the topic, "Topography, Physical Aspects and Population." Webster scored one for her by defining topography as physical aspect—cutting her three points down to two and winning a few laughs to give to Editor Baldwin.

Her research in this field revealed the fact that Northville is 900 feet above sea level and that its neighbor, Plymouth, is only 750 feet above sea level. Further, she disclosed, Fred Foreman's farm is the highest point in Wayne county.

Springs flow beneath the land surface here, giving forth as much as 50 gallons of clear water a minute in some places. This natural resource is responsible for two industries that have developed in Northville—the Silver Springs Water company and the Felt Hatchery.

The Central and Fairbrook parks are attractive grounds where land events and recreational activities can be promoted.

These factors combined, have been the means of bringing city dwellers to this section where beautiful country estates have been built on Northville's outskirts.

The village itself boasts a population of 2,600 and is a town with an embrace of 4,000.

At Mrs. Lapham, Mrs. Willis regretted that a source of material for her topic, that of "Institutions" was withdrawn by the society surrounding the participation in the program.

At the annual "Mens Night" of the Northville Women's Club the husbands and other guests of the members shared the pleasure of honoring the memory of Abraham Lincoln on the evening of his birthday, Feb. 12. The Presbyterian church was the scene of the event.

With the stars and stripes draped about the room and the long tables decorated with flowers and tall tapers in red, white and blue, a patriotic spirit was in evidence.

The Rev. H. J. Lord pronounced the invocation before the large company sat down to the three course dinner served by the Women's Union.

In a few well chosen words of prayer, Mrs. H. S. Willis, president of the club welcomed the members and guests and then called upon Mrs. H. P. Wayne, club chairman of the program committee, to introduce the speaker of the evening, Dr. Edgar DeWitt Jones, pastor of the Woodward Avenue Christian church, Detroit.

"Abraham Lincoln" was the theme. Contrary to the usual custom of tracing a biography, Dr. Jones reversed the story, hitting the curtain upon the death-bed scene which struck the keynote of his address. When Secretary Stanton said with reverence "And now he belongs to the ages."

In simple but masterly language the speaker told the story of the life of Lincoln, picturing vividly his boyhood in the rude cabin in the hills of Kentucky, the 14 years of poverty and hard work while he was growing up in the home in Indiana, the 31 years in Illinois when he rose gradually into a place of prominence in public affairs, and finally the last period when, as president of the United States, he made his way to Washington to bear the burden of his country.

Throughout these last years of suffering and being reviled and misunderstood, Abraham Lincoln held to his "bed rock of honesty" said Dr. Jones as he added:

"A revival of honesty in the country now would send a revival of good will singing across the land."

"Lincoln held to his sense of humor in his philosophy of life," he continued, "that saves many a tense situation. You can't defeat a man with a sense of humor."

Seldom, if ever, has a finer picture of Lincoln been given and Dr. Jones left his hearers in a hush of reverence as he quoted a tribute to this great hero: "He held the ridge pole up—he fell as a kindly cedar falls, full branched, and leaves a longsome place against the sky."

An additional feature of interest on this program was the exhibition of souvenirs shown by Dr. T. W. Smith whose grandfather was a friend of Lincoln.

A spirited song fest led by Mrs. Charles F. Murphy also added zest. A good fellowship to one of the outstanding events in the club's history.

Friends of Mrs. Cora Bissell of Grace avenue will be glad to know that she is recovering well from her recent accident when she fell fracturing an arm. The arm is still in a cast. Her nephew, Frank Coon, and Mrs. Coon and daughter, Crystal of Pullman, Mich., are visiting her.

At the high school on Washington's birthday, Feb. 22, a special program stressing peace will be brought to the students.

Plans for the Peace Mass Meeting for the Northville community are progressing with the project being presented at various meetings.

At the King's Daughters' meeting Tuesday evening, Mrs. E. K. Starkweather told the women of the plan and met with hearty response.

On Monday evening, Feb. 15, the Nellie Yerkes auxiliary will meet with the Peace study group in the parlors of the Nurses' Home at the Maybury sanatorium. This meeting is open to the public.

DETROITER PENS OBJECTION TO SWIMMING POOL

Boys' Vulgar Shouts Would Destroy Quiet and Peace of Cemetery

In reply to the question of a Record reader "Why can't Northville have a swimming pool?" with the suggestion that the old Ambler pond be used for this, comes the following protest from B. R. O'Donnell of Detroit:

Editor Northville Record
My Dear Sir: My protest on the question of making the old "Ambler Pond" of that is the Ford property located on the boundary of the cemetery into a swimming pool.

The question of the lovely spot hallowed as the resting place of our loved dead, would be ruined and forever would be decorated by the noisy tumult of boys who can never swim or play without the natural accompaniment, very often with vulgar language added. Not at all in harmony with nature's grief.

I am very much in accord with the cry, need of a safe place for the youth of the town to swim out would much prefer that to a place better than the Ford property.

As I live the Richardson pond in the cemetery.

WRITE SEN. BROWN AND YOUR CONGRESSMAN

A great wave of revolt against the new plan of President Roosevelt to "repack" the Supreme Court is rolling toward Washington. Leaders of both democratic and republican parties are amazed and stunned at the audacious proposal of the president to gain personal control of the judicial branch of our government.

Well may the people protest against this scheme of President Roosevelt to take control of the highest court in our land. In condemning the plan, without mercy, Walter Lippmann, democrat, the noted writer, says that this proposal has brought about the greatest constitutional crisis in the country in 70 years. This is a most terrific indictment.

Then Paul Mallon, another noted Washington correspondent, says that there can be no compromise in the plan. These are his words: "The one simple indismissible question is whether the President shall control the Supreme Court. Either he gets the control or he does not."

Even such a nonpartisan newspaper as the Christian Science Monitor says: "If effected, and if appointees can be found who will guarantee in advance the color of their judicial opinions, we shall have the spectacle of 'the President's judges' marching in to dragoon 'fellow justices' with whom they should be expected to work in unity and respect."

Alarmed at the far-reaching possibilities of the President's plan, The Detroit News, which has been very fair to Roosevelt, urges in a lead editorial that thoughtful citizens "Tell Your Congressman." Unless we wish that control of the Supreme Court should be taken over by the chief executive of the nation and be kept in his and his successors' control for many years to come, voters should protest and protest strongly.

If you feel that the Supreme Court should be kept as the third branch of our constitutional system, write or telegraph your protest to Senator Prentiss M. Brown and your congressman. In this Northville area the congressman is George A. Dondero. This is not a political move. Some of the most bitter criticism of the "repacking" scheme has come from Democrats. Protest now. Protest strongly.

A WORD ABOUT THE TEN COMMANDMENTS

The Ten Commandments are the bed-rock which has made America great.

We think that practically all statesmen, economists, thinkers and patriots will agree that the Ten Commandments are back of our national well-being, success and progress.

Take away this basic law and the United States might well become a nation ruled by anarchy.

Maybe some of us haven't thought about the Ten Commandments for some time. They might well be read aloud in every home, lest we forget the rock from which we are hewn. For the benefit of us all, here they are:

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS

- I. Thou shalt have no other gods before me.
- II. Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image, or any likeness of any thing that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth: thou shalt not bow down thyself to them, nor serve them: for I, the Lord thy God am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me; and showing mercy unto thousands of them that love me, and keep my commandments.
- III. Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain: for the Lord will not hold him guiltless that taketh his name in vain.
- IV. Remember the Sabbath day, to keep it holy. Six days shalt thou labour, and do all thy work: but the seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God: in it thou shalt not do any work, thou, nor thy son, nor thy daughter, thy manservant, nor thy maidservant, nor thy cattle, nor thy stranger that is within thy gates: for in six days the Lord made heaven and earth, the sea, and all that in them is, and rested the seventh day: wherefore the Lord blessed the Sabbath day, and hallowed it.
- V. Honour thy father and thy mother: that thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee.
- VI. Thou shalt not kill.
- VII. Thou shalt not commit adultery.
- VIII. Thou shalt not steal.
- IX. Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor.
- X. Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's house, thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's wife, nor his manservant, nor his maidservant, nor his ox, nor his ass, nor anything that is thy neighbour's.

WARNING IS GIVEN THE REPUBLICANS

"Last week's editorials were terrible," said a good friend of the Record editor as he sat down across from him.

"Which one?" we asked him.

"All of them," he shot back.

"Now why don't you run the truth once in a while?"

I really think you do mean to be fair," our friend continued. Then he handed us the clipping from a Detroit paper which appears below. We are glad to pass it on for the comfort of good democrats and the humbling of too-earnest republicans. After running the cartoon drawn by Ed. Fuller, at the request of some ardent republican friends, it surely is fair to give the New Dealers a "break" in Northville's home paper. Read and ponder:

DO OR DIE, GOP WARNED

Governor of New Hampshire Asks Social Justice

Boston, Feb. 13.—New Hampshire's republican governor, Francis P. Murphy, left with his party's leaders today a call to "do something for the people or forget the party."

The republican party "has too long represented the favored classes," Murphy told 500 members of the Middlesex Republican Club.

Indorsing an assertion by John D. M. Hamilton, national republican chairman, that the party had "lost the pulse of the people," Murphy said, "I have nothing but criticism for the leadership of the republican party."

"It is not a question of liberalism or conservatism," he asserted, "but a question of human rights. We must give a measure of social justice and consideration for the people."

"No one used those words more than Lincoln. The republican organization is all wrong. I'm glad you won't like what I said, but the favored classes too long have had something to say in the republican party."

His statements won indorsement by Massachusetts' young senator, Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr. Lodge added, "We republicans see our duty. I propose to do mine. Any party which does its duty need not worry about the future."

SOMETHING FOR YOUR COMFORT

We all have to deal daily with some "narrow gauge" people. If you are troubled over the littleness of some folks you meet, just remember that you should not expect "big things" of "little people." A good school teacher has to overlook a lot of things. So does a good citizen who has more vision than a small-souled neighbor or associate.

And don't feel badly if you are criticized for taking a chance. Remember this: "You can't steal second base if you keep your feet on first."

(P.S. Nothing personal in this editorial for we have had a very busy and pleasant week, thank you. We got the idea from a conversation with a friend. We all have the same experiences.)

AT YOUR SERVICE

Fifty years ago the telephone in Michigan was a laboratory curiosity. Today it is the instrument of a tremendously valuable, widespread public service. This development represents the practical working out of the vision of the telephone pioneers. Their crowded goal was the best possible service at the lowest cost—consistent with financial safety. For half a century that policy has guided the telephone's destiny. It motivated every improvement and expansion; it was behind all the many reductions in rates. And that, for-sighted policy applies just as strictly today as it did two generations ago.

MUSH

(Florence Riddle-Boys)

When I was a child, our church had "Mush and Milk Socials." Almost the only refreshment was cornmeal mush, served hot in a bowl with big pitchers of rich, fresh milk from which one could help himself. Sugar was usually sprinkled over the mush and milk, and Oh Boy, but it was good on a cold night.

The women of the Ladies Aid Society used to gather in the early afternoon and boil the mush long hours, in big iron kettles, over the wood fires in the home where the social was held. It required almost constant stirring after it began to thicken.

If you are making mush and milk for the family supper, it is a good plan to make it a little extra thick, cook twice as much as you will need for supper and pack the rest in a dish to fry the next day.

One must keep in the peak of condition, steady nerves, pep, strength and endurance, to battle today's business problems. Plenty of MILK will give you all of these.

Walled Lake News
BY CHARLES E. HUTTON

Accidents provided the theme of a rather exciting composition of events, written for the most part, in a minor key throughout the seven movements that comprise Walled Lake's real-life symphony of the past week.

Last Monday, we awoke to look out upon a fog-filled morning which proved to be a perfect camouflage for a slithering coating of ice, covering every inch of exposed surface of highways, side walks, trees and rooftops. Not a pleasant thing to contemplate, as we prepared to go about our daily tasks, which required the use of an automobile. Accidents were inevitable. Reports of them were not long in coming. Cars in ditches, banged fenders, broken wheels, collisions, minor injuries, all too numerous to mention.

Mr. and Mrs. William Kothe of South Lake Drive, did have a hectic night of it, however. They were returning at a late hour from Detroit. It had rained, and the roads were a glare of ice. They tried to reach home by the usual shore road, but couldn't make a slight grade, within a quarter of a mile of their house. They retraced their way back to North road and continued on around the lake to the village, planning to encircle the lake and reach home from the west approach. Another icy grade in the village stopped them, however. They tried another street, with even worse results, when the car slid into a ditch.

It was late, and there seemed to be no one on the road. No help was available, as all garages were closed. So Mr. Kothe walked two miles to his home to get his sled-chains. Mrs. Kothe held the fort in the car, the meanwhile. After what must certainly have seemed and actually been, hours, Mr. Kothe slipped and slid his way back to the helpless auto. But the end is not yet. Only the beginning, in fact. Bill (we call him) had just nicely arrived, and greeted his brave wife as he was about three a. m. when his feet slipped from under him and down he went, breaking a rib. The injury was too painful to make further attempts to move the car, so there they stayed until morning, when help could be summoned, and he could be treated by a physician.

Frank Lee, 67 years old of Redford, and brother of Fred Lee of South Shore Drive, sustained several injuries Friday afternoon, when he fell 20 feet from a scaffolding on which he was at work, making alterations on a cottage. The Schuder ambulance was called from Northville, and he was rushed to Redford Receiving Hospital, where examination disclosed a badly crushed right arm and an injured right leg.

We have often heard or used an expression having to do with "treading on this ice," intimating certain dire results therefrom but perhaps seldom contemplating them, specifically a literal example of what really can take place, happened here Thursday afternoon. William J. MacDonair, Jr., 37, and Daniel, 14, sons of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. MacDonair of Novi road, just south of the lake, started for the village on their bicycles. They decided they would save themselves a lot of pedaling if they crossed the ice, instead of following the road. Things were going nicely for them until they reached the middle of the lake, where they struck a thin spot. Thin spots in lake ice at midwinter can be caused in several ways. Underneath may be an air pocket or a spring, feeding from the lake bottom. Extreme cold may cause the ice to expand, cracking the surface in several places. Or a thin spot may be the abandoned location of a fish house.

At any rate, the boys rode across this thin ice at the same time, and broke through, into 35 feet of water. William, the older boy, began to sink.

When the officers of our church were given opportunity to hear the speakers from Detroit. The program for this notable service provided a sermon by Dr. Marback of Pontiac; the Prayer and Constitutional Questions by Dr. VanBuskirk, Moderator of the Detroit Presbytery; a charge to the congregation by Dr. Bechtel of the Cairny Presbyterian Church, and a charge to the pastor by Dr. Gelston of the Highland Park Presbyterian church. The choir furnished appropriate music. It has been seven years since such an occasion has been seen in our church.

Word was received here late Thursday night of the death of Mrs. A. Goshier, Indianapolis, Ind., mother of Mrs. Arthur Wimmer of Walled Lake. Mr. Wimmer left at once for Indianapolis to join his wife, who has been with her mother for the past two weeks.

Visitors at the Hutton residence, Friday were Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Perce and daughter, Ernestine, Farmington. Saturday guests were Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Cameron and Mrs. Ange Tucker of Detroit.

Mrs. Minnie M. Hutton was the guest Tuesday of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dabuar of Northville.

Regret has been deeply felt and is now expressed by Charles E. Hutton in finding himself unable to came entangled in the wheel, and went down twice. Dan, the younger brother, managed to free himself, grasp William, and reach the edge of thicker ice. He crawled out of the water, and then helped William to safety. Moral: The longest way around is the safest way there.

So much for accidents. They aren't pleasant to read or to write about.

Methodists of the community enjoyed hearing a former Walled Lake minister, Sunday, when the Rev. Bertina Ede of Saline, preached for the morning service. Mr. and Mrs. Ede have many friends here. It was nice to have them with us once more. Still another former Walled Lake preacher will be heard here, when the Rev. P. A. Blake comes to take charge of the morning service this Sunday. The present local minister, the Rev. D. E. Evans, is still enjoying a vacation.

Speaking of Mr. Evans reminds me to tell you, in case you haven't heard, that "Ted" is now a full-fledged amateur. He placed eighth among the ten winners of the Major Boxes contest of Feb. 4. It is our understanding that he is now entitled to a place in one of the traveling Bowes amateur groups, to tour the length and breadth of the land, singing the songs that made his famous, "Hold Thou My Hand." If he chooses to do so, we wonder what song he may be singing when, like the lonely traveler he "slowly" wends his weary way homeward.

The February meeting of the Oakland County Council of Women was held Tuesday, in Pontiac, at the Hotel Milwaukee. E. J. Lederer, County school commissioner, spoke on proposed State school legislation. He also discussed the teachers' "tenure plan." Mrs. A. T. Popers was program chairman. The business meeting which followed was presided over by Mrs. Glenn Buffmeyer, president of the Council. A luncheon concluded the session.

A community supper was held Wednesday night at the Carnes residence, in the interests of the Methodist church building fund. Many attended and enjoyed typical Carnes hospitality, besides contributing to a worthy cause.

A temperance play sponsored by the W. C. T. U. was held at the school, Wednesday night. Several faculty members took part, including Supt. Hoffman as judge, and W. C. Proctor and L. J. McLaughlin as attorneys.

The Parent-Teachers' association meeting for February took the form of a visiting day at the school. Parents and members visited classes for an hour in the afternoon, after which tea was served by Mrs. Harold Hurst and a committee. This was followed by the regular business meeting.

The Walled Lake Future Farmers of America entertained officers and advisers of Holy Miford, Lake Orion, Oxford and New Hudson organizations at a dinner, here Thursday night. During the business meeting that followed, plans were discussed for the organization of an Oakland County F. F. A. Council.

The high school basketball team returned to their winning form against Brighton here, Friday night. The first team was composed of second or third string Walled Lake players who still found the going easy, as they built most of the 45 point score against Brighton's 15. The second team, made up of Walled Lake bantams, walked away from the ski-jumpers, 20 to 12, while the local girls found no difficulty in winning, 20 to 12.

Word was received here late Thursday night of the death of Mrs. A. Goshier, Indianapolis, Ind., mother of Mrs. Arthur Wimmer of Walled Lake. Mr. Wimmer left at once for Indianapolis to join his wife, who has been with her mother for the past two weeks.

Visitors at the Hutton residence, Friday were Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Perce and daughter, Ernestine, Farmington. Saturday guests were Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Cameron and Mrs. Ange Tucker of Detroit.

Mrs. Minnie M. Hutton was the guest Tuesday of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dabuar of Northville.

Regret has been deeply felt and is now expressed by Charles E. Hutton in finding himself unable to visit the Record office either the 12th or 13th to partake of the free hand-out, consisting of coffee and friend-cakes. Mr. Hutton is an old friend-cake and coffee "connoisseur" and has been known to go miles out of his way upon hearing of, or smelling of, said delectables—especially free ones.

Julius Nelson, employed for several years at the Taylor garage, will resign this week, to take charge of a new super service station at Wixom, erected by the Wixom Cooperative association. Mr. Nelson is well liked in this community, and his many friends hope for his success in the new venture.

BIRTHDAY DINNER HONORS HAMILTON

Frank C. Hamilton, for 73 years a resident of this community reached his birthday Feb. 10 and celebrated it in company with a group of relatives and friends who came to his home on the West Ten Mile road. A beautiful dinner was worthy of the occasion.

Frank Hamilton was born in the house now occupied by Mrs. Mary Christensen and the Dr. Waldo Johnson family on the Novi road. At that time Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Porter lived in the lower part of the house and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hamilton in the upstairs rooms.

Under the great walnut tree, the largest in this part of the country, young Frank played during his boyhood and went to the district school known as the Onward school on the Beck road just off the Ten Mile road.

Fifty-two years ago Mr. Hamilton was married to Miss Lucy Tiffin and for 39 years they have lived in their present home extending hospitality to many friends. Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton are fortunate in having their two sons, Charles W. and Don E. settled on farms adjoining theirs.

Mr. Hamilton has the distinction of being the only nephew to claim "Aunt Ida" Hendrick called so by many, as his own aunt.

people rather than the one-sided program now carried out in so many of the territories.

A vocal tour followed the adjourning of the business session.

It was clean-up night at the Boy

Scout building Thursday evening.

The kindergarten kids had moved out.

The boys were divided into squads and the work started. Some more boys the partitions that the school had used to divide rooms.

Some tackled the basement—and did it well!

On Wednesday, Feb. 10, 26 Boy

Scouts were excused from school

Detroit. We had a swell time watch-

Sunday was church-going day for

SPOT NORTHVILLE FOR ONE OF HENRY FORD'S "VILLAGE INDUSTRIES"

Inspection of village used in Ford cars and trucks and Lincoln-Zephyr motor cars. The rough casting poured in the Rouge plant foundry, are brought by truck to the "village industry" where they are finished, then shipped back to the motor assembly departments.

It is sometimes asked: Isn't this movement of material expensive? Isn't it costly to set up small plants doing work formerly carried on under one roof along with the other manufacturing processes? Experience of the Ford Motor company has not found it so. Transportation costs are low. Ford V-8 trucks being used to make the short hauls to and from the River Rouge plant in Dearborn and the little industries. The spirit of the workers is remarkable with a resulting pride in the product reflected in accurate and well-done work.

Shirley Temple Displays New Talent and Charm in 'Stowaway' Sonja Henie, Prize Skater, Makes Debut in 'One in a Million'

Now she's in China! Who? None other than Shirley Temple! She even talks and sings Chinese, and she takes charge of a fascinating romance, faces danger in glittering Shanghai, performs in a Chinese theatre and, in short, plays the most unusual role she's ever had, in her new and most thrilling picture, "Stowaway," which opens Friday and Saturday at the Penniman-Allen theatre.

It's a picture for your "must" list—with a gripping story, a glamorous cast of great stars, Gordon and Revel's latest song hits, and—first last and always—the incomparable Shirley!

Little Miss Temple plays the role of a little orphaned waif sent in China, a victim of the bandits. She becomes an unwitting stowaway on a cruise liner, on which Robert Young, a bored millionaire, Alice Faye, and the latter's mother-in-law-to-be are traveling. Shirley brings Alice and Young together, much to the chagrin of the older woman, who promptly cables her son, Alice's fiancé, to meet the boat at Hong Kong. Meanwhile, Shirley, Alice and Young go out to do the town and have a grand lark. Shirley winning a prize in a local theatre by singing in Chinese.

The fiancé, Allan Lane, then appears, but Alice refuses to marry him. When Chinese authorities threaten to take Shirley away from Young's guardianship because he is a bad boy and hence not considered a proper foster father for her, Alice agrees to marry him—in name only—to make the guardianship legal. She then departs for Reno for a divorce from Young, but he follows and, with Shirley showing the way, they realize that they are truly in love and decide to stay married, with Shirley making a third member of the family for a happy fade-out. In addition to Robert Young and Alice Faye, Shirley's strong supporting cast includes Eugene Pallette, Helen Westley, Arthur Treacher, J. Edward Bromberg and Astrid Allwyn.

"ONE IN A MILLION"
With Sonja Henie, Queen of the Sliver States, executing dazzling dances on crystal ice and romancing with Dan Ameye, Adolph Menjou pulling another hilarious performance out of his rag-bag, Jean Harsholt more lovable than ever, Ned Sparks dead-panning his way to new laugh highs, the Ritz Brothers running amusingly amok, Arline Judge cute, capturing and comical, Borrah Minervitch and his gang playing hit rhythms on their harmonicas, and Dixie Dunbar, Leah Ray and Shirley Dene contributing beauty and hi-de-ho, "One in a Million," the Twentieth Century-Fox spectacular musical smash, comes Sunday to the Penniman-Allen theatre.

Set in a brilliant new world of delicious new thrills "One in a Million" tells a story of love burning as sun on snow, sprinkled with fun, roaring as on open fire, with songs you'll remember as the year's big hits.

The plot of sparring Sonja's first screen triumph has to do with a troupe of American entertainers including the Ritz Brothers, Arline Judge, Borrah Minervitch, Dixie Dunbar and Leah Ray, in straightened circumstances, who are traveling Europe under the wing of their ebullient manager, Tad Spencer (Adolph Menjou).

The troupe arrives at a Swiss resort, where they were to have put on a performance, but find that the hotel has burned down. Installing his flock instead at a little lodging house, Menjou discovers a marvelous, gifted amateur ice skater (the person of beautiful little Greta, the innkeeper's daughter (Sonja Henie), who is being trained by her father (Jean Harsholt) to win the Olympic figure skating championship, which he once held, but which was taken from him on false charges of professionalism.

Amid plot complications during which Menjou nearly ruins Harsholt and Sonja's hopes by attempting to put her in a professional skating exhibition, Sonja finds examples of her genius as a canoeist and of the stellar quality of her acting.

Finally, through the help of a young American newspaperman (Don Ameche, who has fallen in love with her), Sonja is saved from the taint of professionalism and wins the Olympic championship. It's exhilaratingly new and excitingly different screen entertainment with the cast, the songs, the laughs, the girl and the thrill in a million.

"WHITE HUNTER"
A man and a woman trying to hate while fierce-longing flames in their hearts is the thrilling theme of Twentieth Century-Fox's amazing drama of savage passions, "White Hunter," which opens Wednesday at the Penniman-Allen theatre. Warner Baxter and June Lang, who created such a sensation in "The Road to Glory," are brilliantly cast in a drama even stranger, a romance even greater, the most stirring adventure a man and woman ever shared.

Assisting the star is an excellent and impressive cast headed by Gail Patrick, Alison Skipworth, Wilfrid Lawson, and George Hascall. Baxter is seen as a colorful hunter who accepts a commission to guide a big game expedition through a strangely wild country. Included in the party are Wilfrid Lawson, a powerful munition magnate, Gail Patrick, his wayward wife, and lovely June Lang, his daughter by a former marriage. Alison Skipworth, a thorough hypocrite, and George Hascall, her ten-petted spouse.

Baxter joins this group hundreds of miles away from civilization and then discovers that the man he is to guide on the hunt is his bitterest enemy, Lawson, who years before had caused his ruin in England and subsequent exile.

A tense, hate-laden atmosphere oppresses the entire group as Lawson and Patrick realize they are authentic Baxter's power.

Patrick confronts Baxter with being a former Under-Secretary in the British War Office and tries to re-awaken the spark of an old passion he once had for her. Baxter's mind obsessed by his desire for revenge, repulses her.

June Lang, who is unaware of the terrible hatred existing between her father and the white hunter develops a strong attachment for the latter which turns into love when Baxter saves her life.

Lawson, believing that Baxter is trying to hurt him through his daughter, confronts him and charges him with this Baxter counters by accusing Lawson of causing his father's death through the humiliation of disgrace.

Meanwhile Gail Patrick, whose passion for Baxter is fired by his refusal to take things up where they left off, tells June that the white hunter was—and is—her lover.

June refuses to be shaken in her faith in Baxter and defiantly proclaims her love.

Lawson determined to put an end to June's interest in Baxter, and at the same time do away with a dangerous enemy plots to kill him during the big hunt.

In one of the most dramatically compelling climaxes in recent years the primitive passions of the principal characters clash with furious force as the picture reaches its stirring end.

ADOLPH A. CAILLE DIES

The death of Adolph A. Caille in Detroit a few days ago recalls the fact that he and his associates were at the point of locating in Northville in 1901.

The Cailles were building coin operated machines and wanted to buy the old Globe Furniture company plant after the fire of 1899. The matter stood in the balance for several weeks and finally fell to Detroit.

The business would have been a fine addition to Northville industries.—Contributed.

Much to the joy of Kay and Eddie's brother in the picture, Lloyd Hughes, who is male lead as a virile, jungle-prowling he-man of a missionary who can use his fists as handily as quotations from the Scripture. Packed with action and comedy, "A Man Betrayed," is fast-moving entertainment from the first flicker to the final flash!

Vegetable Grower's School
There will be a vegetable grower's school held at Wayne, Feb. 22. There will be two sessions, one commencing at 2 p. m. in the community room of the Wayne Library, 3611 Monroe street, across from Scarlett Drug store; the other is at the Wayne high school and commences at 7:30 p. m.

The afternoon meeting will be devoted to a discussion of soil testing, diseases and insects. The evening meeting will take up a discussion of production problems.

Doctor J. H. Niska, plant pathologist, C. E. Mahoney, extension specialist in horticulture, and C. B. Dibble, extension specialist in entomology will conduct the discussions.

Name Conservation Committee
Andrew Campbell, district supervisor was in the county, Feb. 9 and held an organization-educational meeting on the 1937 Soil Conservation program.

The officers elected were: President, Wm. Felt, New Boston; vice-president, Fred C. Barker, Belleville; third member, Maurice C. Bird, Wayne; alternate, Bennett Butler, Dearborn.

A series of "Save the Soils" meetings will be held about the middle of March.

Specialized Industry
Did you know that about 75 per cent of the rhubarb forcing business is located in the Detroit area? Many people do not realize that such a large industry is near at hand.

C. H. Mahoney, extension specialist in horticulture and the county agent, E. I. Besemer, spent two days in visiting the rhubarb houses. There are two types of houses, the temporary house which is torn down each year and the permanent house. An even cool temperature is maintained and the house is kept dark so as to develop the deep red color which is so desirable.

Farming Needs Maturity
Nations grow up just like boys, so it isn't any wonder that we have made mistakes in the use of land, claimed C. V. Ballard, state county agent, in a talk presented during the recent Farmers' Week program at Michigan State college. American tradition in his opinion, has not aged sufficiently to offer much, as we have been operating as a nation for a relatively few years.

N. H. S. TEAM MEETS BERKLEY

Jitney Dance to be Held After Game in Home Gymnasium

Northville will play the Berkley five in the home gym tonight. This game is expected to be a triumph for the N. H. S. team. The game will have one point of interest and that will be how much N. H. S. can win by.

The second team will have a tough game for the last time they played Berkley's second team they only won on the decision of the referee, the game ending in a tie. Their game starts at 7:30. The starters will be chosen from the following:

L. P. Bishop, McCrumb, R. P. Duguid, Turnbull, C. Westphall, Boelens, R. G. Scott, Myers, L. G. Rockliffe, Schoultz.

TRACK TEAM HAS FIRST MEETING

The track team had its first meeting last Tuesday and though nothing definite was decided upon, Coach Elliott Barr says the schedule will probably be as follows:

May 1-A triangular meet with Melvindale-Trenton, Trenton.

May 8-The league track meet, University of Detroit stadium.

May 15-The regional meet probably at Ypsilanti.

May 22-The State meet Lansing.

May 29-An invitational meet, teams probably will be Melvindale, Trenton and Berkley.

Mr. Barr announced that he would give the team a light workout for about a month, outdoors as much as possible.

Some of the boys who are out for track are Lawrence Way, Bruce Turnbull, Kevin Bolton, Art Mitchell, Fred Casteline, Clifford Smith and Warren Bogart.

The student council didn't sponsor the track team last year and it is doubtful whether they will this year.

Senior Who's Who

HARRY RICHARDSON

This young senior was born right here in Northville on Nov. 22, 1919. All of his 17 years have been spent here with the exception of a semester when he went to school in Florida. How was that for breaking the monotony?

Harry (G???) played football, his favorite sport, two years and was also out for track a year. He was in the choir one year, the junior play and sang in the opera "Leavilla."

I like many others, chemistry is his favorite (school) subject but, he mentions any names, has another little favorite subject somewhere else.

Harry will go to Michigan State college next year and take up chemical engineering.

Sport News

BY ALBERT BOELENS

The date for the basketball tournament has been set as March 4—the teams for the first night will be picked in the near future.

Melvindale was beaten last Friday by Trenton, so now N. H. S. must beat Redford Union, in order for Melvindale to win the championship.

The 37 track team had its first gathering last Tuesday with about 20 fellows out. Elliott Barr will coach the team.

The town people are planning a basketball tournament after the high school team has finished their season. The teams will come from all over the state. The high school boys are planning a team and are making arrangements with Orlov G. Owen to enter.

Next Friday will end the league high school basketball careers of six fellows. They are: George Westphall, Jim Hochkins, Bruce Turnbull, Dean Hardesty, Ken Wilber and Fred Casteline. We pay tribute to these boys for their contribution to N. H. S. basketball fame.

We hear that some of the boys thought that spring was here, so they brought their baseball and golf equipment out of winter storage.

I have quite another purpose in life than to be thought great. Time and goodness determine greatness. Mary Baker Eddy.

ROUND THE SCHOOL

Did you ever sit with a piece of paper before you and a pencil in your hand and try to think of something to write?

That's just what happened to us. We can't be another Walter W. Weller—the 2222 column is already—that reminds me—where are those names you were asked to supply for that column? After all, it can't go through life simply known as a question mark—that isn't much of a mark of distinction.

Now look, the Orange and Black will be perfectly fair—the winner of this name contest gets one thin dime (10 cents), guaranteed to be genuine, United States mint money, perhaps slightly used, but still capable of buying a nice soda.

All you have to do is supply a name which the staff thinks is appropriate (what do you mean, the staff can't think? Wanna fight?). The contest is open to all readers of the Orange and Black—so listen youse mugs—get busy or I'll sock ya one. There! Is that tough enough?

The contest this week goes to Mary Jane Gregory—she got bit. No, not by a dog! One of N. H. S.'s dear students did it—ask Mary Jane, she'll tell you.

NORTHVILLE WINS OVER VAN DYKE

Northville in a last quarter rally beat VanDyke Friday night on their court, 27-20.

McCrumb, Duguid, Boelens, Scott and Schoultz, the five boys who beat Trenton started the game. They played three quarters and held VanDyke to 17 points. The fourth quarter saw five new boys, Bishop, Turnbull, Westphall, Hochkins and Myers. Their efforts with Scott and Duguid made 11 points to win the game with a seven-point lead.

Northville was never behind more than three points and only two at the half, 10-6. Both squads played fast basketball but the latter bunch had a better offense to win Northville another ball game over VanDyke. VanDyke as long as she's been in the league, has yet to win a game from Northville. The seconds with some tough luck beat VanDyke by one point, 13-12.

Lineup:

VanDyke	Northville
Perroll	McCrumb
Haspacher	Bishop
Jones	Duguid
Koerk'n	Turnbull
Itabideau	Goelens
Forester	Westphall
	Scott
	Hochkins
Mrukowski	Schoultz
	Myers

ASSEMBLY SEES FILMS ON MEXICO

The assembly was entertained last Wednesday when Paul B. Thompson, principal, showed two reels of films on Mexico. These films, which are sent out by the Southern Pacific railroad, were shown by Paul B. Thompson at the Exchange club several weeks ago.

The picture showed scenes on the west coast of Mexico, and the most interesting places in the capital Mexico City. Mr. Thompson hopes to have more films for the assembly programs in the future.

THE OBSERVER

Well, another week's rolled around, and once more your struggling columnist begins tearing his hair and wracking his brain, for—strange as it seems—nothing ever happens around the old Alma Mater, or at least so it seems to us, as we rush around trying to dig up enough to fill a column each week. But, anyhow, here goes—

The sophomores did it up right last Saturday p. m. with their hearts all strung around. Were you there?

Did you notice Albert chasing Louise around all evening? It seems Albert escorted his favorite blond to the dance but from then on it was every man for himself.

That emulat red-head, our own E. L. Johnson, is very happy these days. His latest brain-child, the debate class, is coming along right well!

If this columnist had known what the results would be, I hardly think this column would have been started! Something tells us we should hibernate for the rest of the school term. According to rumors, our very life has been threatened—some people just haven't a sense of humor!

A certain radio program on Sunday nights seems to be rather popular among the students around N. H. S. Has your best friend threatened to "give-you-a-hit-in-the-head-in-a-minute" yet?

Did you notice Myrtle Drews' new bangs? They've gained her the name of "Chink" from one of her many admirers.

Have you heard the rumors going around school about Mr. Johnson's middle name? He won't tell us what it is, but if you can keep a secret, we think it's Leviticus.

NORTHVILLE DEBATES BROWN CITY THERE

Second of Elimination Debates Held Last Night

The Northville debate team will meet Brown City Thursday in the second of the elimination debates. If the local team should win tonight it brings them one step closer to the State championship, and will mark the fifth victory. The contest is to be held at Brown City, whose team was victor of their league.

The question will be the one that has been used in every debate this season. Resolved: That all electric utilities should be governmentally owned and operated. The Northville team will have the affirmative side of the question.

E. I. Johnson, debate coach, plans to have Margaret Van Hellemont, Scott Cole and Nan McLoughlin start in the order named.

LETTER CORNER

Northville, Mich.

Feb. 5, 1937

Dearest Matilda—
Before I go any further I want to ask you to excuse this writing. You see my writing arm is very lame. My other arm, right and left legs, and spinal column are very lame, too, but then that isn't the idea—anyway it wasn't my idea.

I was sitting at home yesterday when Amelia Jane phoned and said we were both going to learn to ride a bicycle. I said that no, we weren't very definitely, and so in an hour we were on our way.

We hired two bicycles from the nicest man with blonde hair and blue eyes and oodles of bicycles.

Next I had to mount one of the darn things. I'd seen Henry, the neighbor boy, doing it hundreds of times so I knew just how to go about it. I stood upright with the bicycle leaning against my right hip, my right hand on the seat, (the bicycle seat) and my left hand on the left handlebar. But there—ended the resemblance between Henry's mounting and mine. I swung my right leg over in a graceful arch, hit the seat with it, and gently sank to the ground accompanied by the bicycle. I got up with a profusion of blushes, black and blue marks, and the aid of a kind old man.

But I did it again and again until I landed in a sitting position, square on the seat. I had a little trouble in steering at first, and got awfully dizzy. Come to find out I was facing the wrong end of the bicycle.

After I got seated I realized the necessity of going someplace. That's one thing about riding a bicycle. After you are once seated and ready to go you can't stand still. There are three ways to go—to the right, to the left and forward. I went to the right, thus completing the arc I had begun in the process of mounting. The next time I went to the left, leaving me lame in nicely balanced areas.

Finally, through sheer impulse I went forward. One can hardly imagine the excited feeling I felt—the madness that poured through my veins and over my head when I ran over the young man's hat.

When it came time to stop, I simply ran into a big white house and I found that I was not only stopped, but off in one continuous uninterrupted motion.

Thus ended my first—and last—lesson.

I advise you not to try it sometime. I really must close now, my dear, and go take some alcohol externally.

Lovingly, Hildagard.

The entire education of children should be such as to form habits of obedience to the moral and spiritual law, with which the child can meet and master the belief in so-called physical laws, a belief which breeds disease. Mary Baker Eddy.

KNOW NORTHVILLE

the Wayne County Training school and the Marbury sanatorium, the most amazing fact that she upturned was right in her own front yard. "I was astounded when I learned that 3,500 dozen eggs are used in one month at Marbury," she said.

At Eastlawn, Mrs. Willis learned the story of how the sanatorium grew from a one-cottage project sponsored near Detroit in 1920, to the present 99-patient hospital at an 1,100 foot elevation in Northville.

The rapid growth of Detroit crowded out Dr. A. B. Wickham's crowded estate in the city where a fight against tuberculosis was waged. After searching in four counties for a spot with high elevation, landscape, trees, birds and flowers, Northville was selected in 1923 for the home of Eastlawn.

It's a Cheery Place
"I was delighted with the cheerfulness and the marvelous views which may be seen from any window at Eastlawn," she remarked. "Eastlawn is not only known and the staff welcomes visitors who want to become acquainted," Mrs. Willis reported.

There is a radio in every room; recreation is planned for the patients. It is far from being the hopeless him-drum existence one would believe an institution to be," she affirmed.

Marbury sanatorium, which houses 310 patients, of whom 150 are children is located west of the village on a 1,000-acre tract.

This institution is owned by Detroit and is a part of the board of health of that city.

The Wayne County Training school, where 1892 children have been admitted in the past ten years, is exactly 26 miles from the center of Detroit. Enrolled in this school are 586 boys, 333 girls with 175 staff members on the personnel list. The rate of residence is three years and students are on the payroll on year before being discharged. Mrs. Willis was informed by Dr. R. H. Havell in an interview.

Teach Trades
Many former pupils of the school are now in Ford's trade school. During the stay at this Northville institution, the students have the opportunity of belonging to one or more of 25 clubs. Forty trades are taught at the school. Practically all of the milk used is supplied from the school's own dairy herd. Forty per cent of the food are produced on the 1,000-acre site.

Mrs. Willis found the new Ford factory a center of activity with 400 men in shifts turning out 470,000 valves a day and she has a valve to prove that she really inspected the plant. She learned that each completed valve represented 27 distinct operations.

Build New Factory
It was in 1919 that Northville first became the home of one of Ford's units where four or five men were employed. Since that time a new factory has been erected to keep up with production. The minimum wage paid here is 75 cents an hour. The company is the second largest taxpayer in the village.

The largest taxpayer here is the Detroit Edison company which serves Northville and other communities. This company took over Sam Wilkinson's one-man plant in 1915 and built its new home in 1928.

Heatedly Speaking
Last year 500 furnaces were made in the Independent Furnace and Foundry company which occupies the home of the former Bell factory. Here between 35 and 49 men are employed.

Another industry of note is the Marz machine shop where castings for water pumps for Ford motors are made. Twenty-six men are employed here.

Mrs. D. Frank Marchano superintends the factory work in the Michigan Wood Products company owned by Mr. Marchano, where furniture is made to be marketed in Detroit stores.

Mrs. Mills' check on the industry took her to the Northville Laboratories where 80 per cent of the extracts used in Michigan are made. The products—extracts, ice cream flavorings and food colorings are shipped throughout the United States and even to Cuba.

These are the largest business places of Northville—there are many smaller ones which add greatly to the advancement of the community, the speaker pointed out.

What about Northville's tomorrow? Clarence Davis will take this up with the Rotarians at the March 16 meeting. He came out from Detroit with his brother, Charles, to tell them about it Tuesday, but when four women had "larned" the men about Northville, the clock on the wall said 1:30 p. m. and back to their desks the men did go.

Marvin Schoultz, the junior Rotarian for the month was introduced by Harry Richardson, outgoing junior Rotarian. —V. G. A.
