'HICK TOWN' GIVES TICKET TO DETROITER

Officers Enforce Double
Parking Ban—Postpone
Bogart's Case

"You won't catch me, paying a fine in a hick town like this," boasted a Detroit motorist one night last month to Richard Loomis, night watchman, after the Detroit car had been given a ticket for double parking.

Following a hearing Saturday morning before Justice Harold G. White, the Detroit car, Russell M. Leod, paid a $13.50 fine and decided that the area of the law reached into such "hick towns" as the Village of Northville.

E. M. Bogart's hearing, scheduled for Saturday, was postponed until April 17. Mr. Bogart refused a ticket summons given him when Chief of Police Lyle M. German enforced the double parking ordinance, fining him when his delivery truck was double-parked in front of the EMB grocery store Friday afternoon April 2.

Held in the local jail one night last week on a drunk and disorderly charge, Roy Smith, formerly employed at the George Rattenbury farm, paid a $5 fine here Monday morning when Justice White found him guilty.

Smith had walked into the P. J. Moffitt home, 355 East Main street, and fallen asleep in a chair in the living room, where he was found by members of the family. Chief German was called to take the man, a stranger to the Moffitts, to jail.

ARMY MANEUVERS EXPLAINED BY MILLIS

Exchanges See Pictures
Of Sham Battles Held
In Michigan

By C. A. DOLPH

Major F. L. Millis, of the Officers Reserve Corps, gave exchange club members a most interesting series of views of the army maneuvers in western Michigan last fall, when they met Wednesday noon.

The reels shown and the descriptions given pictured how the Fifth Corps was concentrated in the Allegan sector, how the various units were mobilized and the methods of transporting troops and supplies and the order maintained throughout.

Major Millis contrasted the paper study of war and the actual situations as covered by the movements of troops in working out the battle lines and achieving of the objectives. This attempt was, the first free movement of army units ever tried and the control was exceptionally fine. Seventy-five units of telephone wires were used in supporting the stations for the various umpires in crediting the results of commanding air movements and troop orders.

The severe illness of the Rev. Harry J. Lord and of Mrs. Roy Crowe were reported.

Former Northvillites Play Hosts To World Celebrities As Owners Of "Pretzel Bell," Student Hangout

When Leopold Stokowski brought a concert of the famed Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra to a close at the May Festival in Ann Arbor last year, he made straight for a place owned by two former Northville boys—the Pretzel Bell—for a glass of beer.

As soon as Emil Ludwig, the biographer, could get himself away from a stiff University of Michigan faculty reception, he also made for the Pretzel Bell. And so did Bruce Blyden, editor of the New Republic, Giovanni Martindale, Metropolitan Opera star, and a long list of other distinguished persons. And the two Northville boys sat back in their chairs and, smiled a satisfied smile.

For the Pretzel Bell, owned by John and Ralph Neagards, has become, in three years, a campus institution that rivals the fame of "Joe's" and the "Orient."

Northville's New Grade School To Be Dedicated

SCHOOL NINE OPENS SEASON HERE TUESDAY

Coach Barr's Baseball Team
To Take on Farmington
In Local Game

Northville's high school baseball team will open the 1937 season at the Cass Benson Park diamond Tuesday against Farmington. The game is expected to start at 4 p. m.

Both Coach Elliott Barr and Harold Kammerer, Farmington coach, are fairly confident. Coach Barr says he has an especially strong lineup, although he looks dubiously at his outfield material. The Northville team has been having strenuous workouts for the past week in order to catch up with the inclement weather, which has kept the baseballers inside. A game among members of the squad Tuesday showed fine hitting. Coach Barr said, and if some good outfielders materialize out of the eight men trying out for those positions, he, as Coach Kammerer, feels that his team has a definite chance for the suburban League championship.

A 12-game schedule has been drawn up, leaving several open dates, for which school officials hope to engage other contests. The next game is Tuesday, April 27, when Melvindale brings its team here. (Continued on page 10)

Dr. Eugene Elliott, State Superintendent, Will Speak at Ceremony in Gymnasium at 8 p. m., Thursday, April 22

Dedication of Northville's new $59,000 grade school building next Thursday, April 22, will feature an address by Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, state superintendent of public instruction. Russell H. Amerman, superintendent of schools, announced yesterday.

The dedication program is being sponsored by the Parent-Teachers Association, in addition to a speech by Dr. Elliott, the program includes remarks from a representative of the Public Works Administration, office in Detroit, explanation of some of the advantages of the new building by one of the architects, presentation of the building to the school district by a representative of the general contractor and acceptance by one of the school board members.

The dedication ceremony will start at 8 p. m. in the gymnasium in the high school building. Upon its conclusion, the assembly will make a tour of inspection of the new building, after which the P. T. A. will furnish refreshments.

Northville Boy Scouts and the School Band will be present for the occasion. Mrs. Edward L. Millis is chairman of the P. T. A. program committee. Other members include Mrs. Eber Ward Lester, P. T. A. president, Mrs. Wilbur Johnson and Mrs. Robert E. Gersaghy. For public Mr. Amerman emphasized, is urged to attend the dedication.

The new grade school building replaces the old one, torn down after being razed by fire Jan. 13, 1935. Construction on the new building of an entirely modern design, began July 2, 1936. It was completed Feb. 6, 1937. There is a semi-indirect lighting arrangement and the building is done in copper. It is of fire-proof construction and brick exterior walls. It has ten grade rooms and offices of the superintendent and board of education.

The corridors are lined with 193 lockers for students. The unusual kindergarten room decorations are miniature furniture.

PWA office in Detroit estimate that $3,600 worth of work were put in building the structure and approximately $7,700 spent in wages. A PWA loan of $27,000 and an outright grant of $42,954 aided Northville in financing the building.

From the time the old grade building burned, until classes were held in the new structure, pupils were "farmed out." Teachers met their classes in deserted houses and empty buildings. Both the students and teachers, the superintendent reports, are "extremely pleased" with their new school home.

FRANK DUFFEE FUNERAL HELD WEDNESDAY

Farmer and Public Leader in
This Area for 50 Years,
Dies April 12

Frank E. Duffee, for a half-century a prominent farmer of this district, died early Monday morning at his home on the East Nine Mile road in Northville, following a long illness at the home, where he was 75 years old.

Always active in public affairs he was for many years a member of the school board and board of relief of the Northville township. It was in recognition of that service that the Northville township board adopted this week a resolution paying tribute to Mr. Duffee.

Referring to the many years he "diligently and conscientiously served the public," the resolution "learned with deep sorrow and regret of the death of Frank E. Duffee. His counsel and advice, coupled with fair-mindedness and a generous public spirit, will be sorely missed in our township and community affairs."

Mr. Duffee was stricken suddenly last week with heart trouble, the same illness that doomed him for a time in the fall. He died at 4 a. m. April 12. It was only March 10 that the community paid their respects to Mr. and Mrs. Duffee on their Golden Wedding.

VISITING REPORTER BEGINS CALLS TO HOMES OF READERS

Hunts for Feature Material
To Accept Subscription
Payments

To find new readers for The Record and to get acquainted with the present members of The Record family—to find out what they like and read in Northville's only paper and to gather material for features and local news, Miss Virginia G. Anderson will begin Friday and Saturday to visit the homes of Dunlap and Randolph streets.

It is her plan to call at each home in the village this spring. At the time of her visits, she will give visitors an opportunity to renew their subscriptions or to buy new ones. She will also take any copy for classified advertising for the paper, to an adequate operating level.

Miss Anderson, at the present time, is the only house-to-house visitor who is authorized to accept payment for renewed, or new, Record subscriptions. She will carry identification papers to protect persons who find it more convenient to pay for their subscriptions at home than at the Record office.

A FULL-TIME PRINCIPAL IS SCHOOL'S AIM

Finances Puzzle Amerman
As He Tackles Budget;
To Boost Salaries

Northville's schools, having limped through six years of depression on a 50 per cent reduced budget and curtailed personnel and yet maintained satisfactory standards, are planning a major step to put themselves back to an adequate operating level.

The step, Russell H. Amerman, superintendent of schools, announced this week, is the reestablishment of a full-time principal, with the possibility, although not the probability, of an additional high school teacher. At the same time Superintendent Amerman announced that salaries of the entire faculty of the school will be increased approximately $50 per person for the coming year.

Since the death of Thad J. Knapp in the spring of 1933, Mr. Amerman, who was then principal, has been sharing the principal's duties with Paul B. Thompson, manual training instructor, who has held the post of assistant principal. While the school has "gotten by" under this arrangement, Mr. Amerman explained the burden of the work has been too great to make it satisfactory.

A full-time principal will be hired, therefore, and Mr. Thompson will devote himself next year entirely to his shop work and Mr. Amerman, who has taken on the duties of principal, is expected to make a decision in the matter soon.

Chief problem is the matter of salary. The new principal will receive a figure between $1,800 and $2,000 per year, Mr. Amerman explained, but he doubts if this will leave enough to find a salary for an additional high school teacher. The full-time principal, the additional high school teacher and general salary increases were urged for "the near future" recently by Prof. Frances Curtis of the University of Michigan School of Education, in speaking the school both for the U. of M. and the state department of education.

It is almost astounding to note that Northville has kept its high educational rating during the depression according to Mr. Amerman, when the drastically reduced budget and the faculty and the increased enrollment are considered for the past seven years.

The budget for 1929-30, for example, was $104,399. The budget for the current year is only $55,436.

The faculty in 1930 was made up of 30 persons. Now it is but 25, and during the leaner years it was even more reduced.

DR. WILLIS DEPICTS NEW T.B. TREATMENT DETROITER'S LOON LAKE COTTAGE BURNS

Revolutionary changes in the treatment of tuberculosis at the William H. Maybury sanatorium have reduced the percentage of deaths from 25 per cent to five and a half per cent, while the number of those who are restored to normal living has been increased from eight per cent to 48 per cent, Dr. H. W. Willis, superintendent of the sanatorium, told members of the Rotary club at their luncheon meeting Tuesday.

The whole scheme of treatment has been revamped in recent years, Dr. Willis said, explaining how surgery has been added to the treatment. (Continued on page 10)

The Walled Lake Fire department responded to an alarm at 4 a. m. Sunday, sent by residents of Loon Lake, near Union Lake, when they discovered a cottage owned by Earl Roberts, Detroit, in flames.

The nearby resident who made the call said that he awoke to notice the reflection of light from the flames on the walls of his bedroom. By the time he could get to a telephone, the flames had spread through the cottage. The Keego Harbor department was also called but neither company could save the house, which burned to the ground, at a loss estimated at $1,500. Firemen succeeded in protecting the cottages on either side.

The cause of the fire could not be determined, the house being unoccupied at the time. A realtor had opened the cottage the day before for inspection by prospective renters. There are six cottages located on Crescent Island, near the south shore of Loon Lake, near the location of the Roberts' cottage. Fire Chief Wimmer of the Walled Lake Fire department said.

Mr. Stage was graduated from Northville high school in 1926. His death followed a seven-day illness. He had lived in Grand Rapids for more than three years, being employed by the Kelvinator company. Jr. Mrs. Stage is planning to come to Northville to live within a short time.

SENIORS TO SPONSOR 2 SHAKESPEARE PLAYS

The senior class of Northville high school will sponsor the Wayne University Strolling Players in two Shakespeare plays here next Friday. Short versions of "MacBeth" and "The Taming of the Shrew" will be presented at 8 p. m. in the high school auditorium, according to Lucille Simmons. Admission for children will be 25 cents, she said, and for adults 35 cents.

ARBOR DAY TREES WILL BE PLANTED

Local Grade School Pupils
To Observe Tradition
Today

Arbor Day, by Governor Murphy's proclamation falls today, and Northville school children will observe it by the traditional planting of trees. Mrs. Willis E. McCarty's second grade pupils will plant a Norway maple tree this afternoon in the village park, in back of the city hall.

Miss Beniah Miller's third and fourth graders will plant trees in the window boxes outside their school rooms. The governor's proclamation declared that all trees planted on this Arbor Day are to be dedicated to the framers of the federal constitution. "The children are showing a splendid interest that every citizen ought to reflect," said Mrs. McCarty, long an observer of Arbor Day. "It certainly is for the best interests of conservation," she said "that such a day as this always be observed."

The teachers are getting their tree from the Flower Acres Nursery, which they said "has been very cooperative."

BRING ON THE ERA OF GOOD WILL

For the first time in many weary weeks, there seems to have come an end to the sit-down strikes and other evidences of industrial unrest that have plagued the United States and especially Michigan. Millions upon millions of dollars have been lost to the wage earners, investors and the consuming public. Many of these millions can never be restored. They are gone forever.

All this terrific cost seems to many people now to be like a bad nightmare. Why need reasoning beings have allowed this devastating loss to go on week after week? As the Detroit papers have pointed out editorially, practically all of the gains that labor has made, could have been made without the harrowing and costly results of the sit-down strikes. It will not be known for perhaps many months or years just what this illegal and vicious outbreak has cost us all.

It is now to be hoped profoundly that the long-overdue "era of good will" will get going. In spite of all that the agitators, Communists, and radicals say, this is still the greatest land of opportunity in the world. For example, in his series of articles in The Detroit News, William Allen White, who wrote on the sit-down strike said: "Seventy per cent of our people are well-fed, well-clothed and well-housed. They are functioning mentally, morally, politically, and for the most part, economically as they have been for a generation."

There is every reason for an era of good will. The people are sick of industrial fighting. They are sick of agitators and those malcontents who would tear down the institutions that have made America great for the last 150 years. We would be fools to believe all these doctrines that have come to us from the devastated nations overseas. The United States will never become a second Russia. The common man here is too much a king in his own rights—for the evidence look up and down the streets and roads of Northville and see what advantages all of our people have.

Bring on the era of good will! After six years of world break-down, we are all desperately in need of it. He who would bring on more class war between capital and labor is an enemy to you and your neighbor. Both industry and labor profess to be willing to start the operation of the Golden Rule. If this is done this country will be due for such an era of prosperity as it has never before seen.

Treat him as a public enemy who would do anything to stop the era of good will which is now the due of every good American.

"PUT YOUR HAND ON A BOY'S SHOULDER"

The other evening at a Boy Scout Father and Son affair we had a conversation with another father that made us think very deeply.

"A man wanted me to work for him tonight," said this friend, "but I told him I would not do it as I was going with my boy to a Scout dinner."

Then continued this friend: "Do you know, Dick, every father of us should have boys as a hobby. Every once in awhile I drop everything to go off with the kids; sometimes for a hike, sometimes somewhere else. I find that this is keeping me from getting old and adding a new interest to life."

Northville owes a great deal to our Scout leaders, to such men as Orlov Owen and Harold White. What these men do for our boys is beyond measure. The records of thousands upon thousands of Boy Scouts show that rarely does a Boy Scout get into any kind of serious trouble. These young lads are thus the makers of the future of Northville. The way they are being grounded in fine principles is an assurance that our community in ten or twenty years from now will be a safer place in which to live.

Go out of your way once in awhile to encourage these boys and their splendid leaders. He who puts his hand on a boy's shoulder to turn him in the right direction is worth more than a millionaire.

ELECTION HITS SIT-DOWN STRIKE

Spring election trends in Michigan don't mean a great deal. Yet, writing from the national capital, Paul Mallon, nationally known correspondent, points out a significant thing.

He says that election returns are not very satisfactory to the advocates of the sit-down strike. He goes on to say that such factory cities as Flint, Lansing, Pontiac and Saginaw, all went Republican. Also that the C. I. O. leaders who ran for office in the various cities were all defeated.

"THE POCKETBOOK PINCHES"

Says the Christian Science Monitor in a very recent issue:

"Even a government cannot live perennially on a deficit."

Then the Monitor goes on to tell some alarming conditions about our national finances. It says that the public debt—now approaching the $5 billion dollar mark—is one of the alarming symptoms. Another serious development that is really menacing to the officials in Washington is the recent slump in government bonds. A third item in the bad news is that the federal revenues are running about $150,000,000 below the treasury estimates for this year.

Says the Monitor again: "It looks as if the Administration fingers were beginning to be caught in the closing hinges of the American pocketbook."

It is still true that "chickens come home to roost." When such a non-partisan newspaper as the Christian Science Monitor says that conditions are alarming, it is hard to laugh off this assertion.

Fortunately, the administration leaders in Congress are beginning to see that something must be done about balancing the budget. With the concurrence of Pat Harrison, head of the Senate finance committee, Representative Robert L. Doughton, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, said last week this startling thing:

I favor retrenching and cutting down expenditures before new taxes are considered. The time has arrived for us to be more cautious and to get away from emergency expenditures in order to relieve the taxpayers of the nation.

APRIL RAMBLING THOUGHTS

Northville is mighty proud of the new Ford plant.

The building boom is here. You can realize it better by walking around town and seeing some of the new houses and the work of remodeling that is going on.

"I was amazed to see what a beautiful community you had in Northville," said an Albion resident to us, the other day. "In fact I never saw anything finer than your parkway system."

From our window we look out and see a woman digging in her garden. We envy her. We would rather turn over the earth any day than pound the typewriter. He who gets in touch with the soil thinks fewer mean thoughts and sleeps sounder at night. By the way, do you know any community of similar size that has any finer flowers than Northville?

Safeguard your health. All too frequently we hear the news around us that "So and So" is sick. Here in the smaller communities where we know each other, hardly a month passes without the hand of ill health touching someone whom we thought was strong and robust. The doctor will tell you that after you get past 50 it is wise to slow down your ambitions. You are not so important as you think you are. Do a little less and live a little longer.

Hopes for the establishment of a reorganized bank in Northville were greatly heightened Tuesday evening when a meeting of between 40 and 50 business and professional men and a few from the surrounding country, held at the Lapsam State Savings bank, endorsed the moratorium plan, prepared by the state banking department and took steps to gain the necessary number of signatures to the depositors' agreement.

At the end of a hard-fought contest in spelling last Friday morning, Frances German, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. German, Sr., carried off the laurels and will represent Northville in a later district contest.

T. R. Carrington was honored at Pontiac Tuesday noon at the luncheon of the postmasters' association of the seventh district by being named president to succeed Postmaster Harris of Pontiac, whose death occurred last week.

A gentleman named Murray from Grand Rapids, who is manager of a Kelley Gold cure was at Lansing with a bill providing that the supervisors of any county might send drinks to a gold cure where they were lodged and boarded in the same building. Rep. Cass Benton thought that was an exclusion act against Northville where they don't board and room patients and he just had that portion of the bill scalped and Northville is once on the map again as big as ever.

William Blair, an old and much respected citizen of this place, passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Frea Fry, Thursday afternoon, aged 75 years. He had been in poor health for some time.

REVERIES ON A GREEN BENCH

No. 1—Gossip

If anyone should ask us: "What is your most vivid impression of St. Petersburg, Fla.?" we would reply immediately: "Green benches."

Benches, benches, everywhere—along the sidewalks, in parks, on the pier, in front of churches and theatres! Always folks sitting on them apparently waiting for something to happen. Always waiting.

A certain bench at a corner of the park was the trysting place for the members of our family to meet after errands. "Meet you at the park bench!" We called back in parting. Long waits here gave opportunity for reveries to the music of mocking birds in the palm trees near. With the confusion of business that comes in the southland we squint with half-closed eyes at the occupants of other benches and make wondering guesses as to the great variety of human nature that comes and goes. People from every state and station.

Just a little way off from our bench sat a group of three women one afternoon. They were engaged in animated conversation. One of them was especially active in talking and now and then broke out in a tune with gestures. The others listened politely.

Finally this rather talkative woman rose and walked to a drinking fountain at a distance and quite reigned for a few minutes while the other two women put their heads together in whispered conversation with frequent nods in the direction of the drinking fountain.

Gossip, it was plain to be seen. That woman was "getting hers" with a vengeance.

By and by she sauntered back to the bench and instantly the whisperers moved apart and smiled a bit more cordially than seemed genuine. It reminded us of a little girl who said to guests who were departing: "Good-bye folks, now we can talk about you and you can talk about us."

Church of Our Lady of Victory
Sunday services: 8 a. m., low Mass; 10 a. m., low Mass.

Even if one class hour in religion per week is slighting to that paramount subject, yet we must tolerate it under present conditions. However, we must insist upon attendance by all school pupils for the same reasons that we have state compulsory education. We remind all of last Saturday's absence of the class hours at 9:30 and 11 a. m.

Next Tuesday afternoon, April 20, at 2 o'clock is the monthly meeting for all members of the ladies' sodality.

A paper on a subject of vital importance to women will be read immediately before Benediction. "In too many cases people learn principles of immorality and new defenses for them from the lips of their favorite heroes and heroines, and in their readings accept them from the pens of antimoral authors."

Soak the beans overnight, drain, cover with fresh boiling water, add soda and boil half an hour then drain again. Cut the beef in cubes and roll in the flour and seasoning mixed.

Brown the beef with the onions in Crisco then place in a casserole in layers with the beans and tomatoes alternating. Pour in enough boiling water to barely cover, put on the lid and bake 2 1/2 hours in very slow oven (325 degrees) replenishing water if necessary.

DONDERO INTRODUCES COURT AMENDMENT

Congressman George A. Dondero has introduced a joint resolution in the U. S. House of Representatives proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States to fix the number of Justices of the Supreme Court. The object of this amendment is to preclude making the high court the plaything of any President, regardless of party affiliation and to give the American people direct and full control of this coordinate branch of the Federal government.

The Dondero proposal fixes the number of Justices at nine to be named in the same manner as at present. Upon the approval of this amendment, the number of Justices could only be effected by the direct voice of the American people through another amendment. Neither the President nor the Congress would have the power to add or reduce the membership of the court. Since the Supreme Court is provided for in the Constitution, the Dondero amendment would require all change to be effected by enactment of equal dignity.

The text of the Dondero amendment follows:
"Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled (two-thirds of each House concurring therein), That the following article is proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which shall be valid to all intents and purposes as a part of the Constitution when ratified by conventions in three-fourths of the States:

"ARTICLE—
"The Supreme Court shall consist of nine active judges, one of whom shall be appointed as Chief Justice, and eight of whom shall be appointed as Associate Justices; to be appointed by the President with the advice and consent of the Senate. The Judges of the Supreme Court shall hold their offices during good behavior, and shall, at stated times, receive for their services a compensation, which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office."

Spirit of Service

A SERVICE that is vital to public welfare puts a special responsibility on those who supply it. Many workers recognize such an obligation. And they include the 8500 men and women behind your telephone in Michigan.

Time and again telephone employees have shown self-sacrifice in the public interest, have faced danger with courage and perseverance. The operator choosing to stay at her switchboard during fire or flood; the plant man maintaining circuits in a heavy storm—their devotion to duty has become a tradition.

Emergencies bring them to your attention, but their spirit of service is in effect day and night, week in and week out. They know the public importance of their work. And they do it well—with skill, promptness and courtesy. Without that spirit, Michigan would not have the kind of service it is getting today—as fine telephone service as there is available anywhere in the world.

FRUIT GROWERS BUY VILLAGE MADE CRATES.

Three years ago William Scharburg established in a very small way a plant for the manufacture of crates at his home on Linden street. He made nearly all the machines that he now uses in the manufacture of the crates and each year has found his business increasing. Last year he sold 7,000 crates to the fruit growers and farmers in this section, and he could have sold three times as many, so great was the demand. He makes a very substantial crate and uses a total of 120 nails in each crate, while the usual number used by other makers is about 80. Last year he used 12 kegs of nails. He now has on hand material for 15,000 crates and is busy putting the crates together.

Word is received by Mrs. Charles T. Thornton that Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Rogers expect to arrive in Northville Monday afternoon from the West where they have been for several months. Mr. Rogers was formerly a member of the Northville club and is now a member of the West club.

San Francisco Fair Site

A main-made island of plaster and wood—offering a glimpse into the future two years hence—was presented to officials of Golden Gate International Exposition in San Francisco recently.

It was P. O. Tognelli's scale model of the exposition grounds and buildings to be built on a piece of filled ground adjacent to Yerba Buena Island in the middle of San Francisco Bay.

The model measures 29' by 18' and is built in twenty-eight sections. It cost $10,000 and represents six months of painstaking work by Tognelli and a crew of seven assistants. It is said to be one of the largest scale models ever constructed in the United States.

A Nash Ambassador six is pictured beside the model to give a comparison of size.

Among those present at the "unveiling" was Winthrop Rockefeller who inspected it in connection with the participating of Standard Oil company in the Exposition.

BASKETBALL BOYS HOLD BANQUET

Bruce Turnbull Chosen Toastmaster for Occasion

The mothers of the basketball boys gave a banquet last Wednesday in honor of their sons.

These mothers were headed by Mrs. C. B. Turnbull who served the guests in the school cafeteria. The boys were made up of those players who had participated in at least one game during the basketball season, and the list was compiled by Coach Elliott Barr.

During the course of the evening the seniors who leave us in June gave speeches. These boys who played their last game for Northville at the tournament were Dean Hardisty, George Westphal, Kenneth Wilson, Bruce Turnbull, James Hocking and Clifford Smith.

Dr. L. W. Sawyer and Dr. A. A. Holcomb were also present at this annual function.

The district medals which the players earned in the recent tournament were presented to them by Mr. Barr.

Following the dinner the team attended the Penniman Allen theatre in Northville. The tickets were donated by the theatre management and C. B. Turnbull.

PLAY DAY HELD BY JUNIOR HIGH

Something new is under the sun. The freshmen have set aside Friday, April 16, as "Play Day" which means that all you guys and gals with muscle or brawn had better pay the admission of one cent and enter some of the various competitions to be held.

From 3.30 until 6, under the sponsorship of Miss Florence Harper and Miss Gladys Ludwig there will be outdoor games of broad jump, hurdles, sprints, baseball, races and horsehoes, with indoor games of four shots, balance beam—and of all things—ping-pong.

Another thing that should lure you will be the refreshments Robert Orr is in charge of Play Day.

This is something that is believed to be new, and every one is invited to attend.

This column wishes to extend apologies to a certain senior in dear old N. H. S. We solemnly promise that his name shall not appear again under these disgraceful question marks. It seems he raises some objection whenever we mention his name.

True to E. L. Johnson's prophecy, the "Love Bug" has been busy around N. H. S. this spring. Leonard Young and Dorothy Miles have been bitten quite severely by that little insect.

If you noticed a puzzled frown on Elliott Barr's fair countenance second hour the other morning, here's the reason: Jean Marburger had racked her brain all morning trying to discover a word that meant "deflated" and began with a "p." Poor Jean finally gave up and transferred the worrying to Mr. Barr. P. S. That gentleman gave up, too.

Have you heard the latest? Ferd Scott has a patent on a new brand of coco cola. The "coco" consisted of wild cherry, strawberry, raspberry, pineapple and a dash of a few other flavors.

Eber is getting to be quite a mathematician. He can put two and two together and get two, or maybe just one, for all he knows. Guess what two he put together—much to his disgust? Just to make sure his figuring was correct, Eber spent several minutes the other night doing some important telephoning, only to come to the discouraging conclusion that he was right in the first place. Rumor has it that he now plans something drastic. A certain dark-haired girl of medium height has a surprise in store for her one of these nights.

Miracles do happen! Or wasn't that Alice Eaton we saw the other night with a strange and good-looking male?

Must Have Been: Restaurant Cashier: "What did you have?" Customer: "I don't know." "Eash is 35 cents."

'ROUND THE SCHOOL

Jackie Holcomb, who bids fair to be a politician, quite recently introduced a rather startling new idea to the high school. It seems that Jackie, being young and energetic, thought that it would be only too lovely if school began at eight and ended at three.

Being a man of few words, but many actions, Jackie got Mrs. L. B. Cooke to back his plan and then proceeded to find out just what his fellow students thought of his idea.

In a wild burst of enthusiasm the students came out in favor of the plan.

Finally when the petition got around to R. H. Amerman, that gentleman with a stern look in his eyes, said that yes, indeed, it was a very good idea, but unfortunately unless the students could show that they could get to school by 8:30—well, Jackie took the hint, and has begun a one-man campaign for the greater use of alarm clocks. What the result will be no one knows, but it looks as if school life begins at 8:30—as usual.

Giving the crowd gets harder every week—and this time we gave up entirely. We did think of a couple of teachers—but why waste the precious bloom.

EIGHTH GRADER INTRODUCES PLAN

Jack Holcomb of the eighth grade recently introduced a new plan to be voted upon by the school board at its next meeting. According to the plan, school is to begin at 8 a. m. and will close at 3 p. m. There will be five classes in the morning and three in the afternoon. The senior and junior high schools voted 302 in favor of the new schedule, and P. B. Thompson, assistant principal, and Superintendent R. H. Amerman, also support it.

Mr. Amerman wishes the parents of the children to express their feelings about the plan before the school board votes. The superintendent said, "I am very reluctant to see an 8 o'clock program put through unless they can show they can get here at that time."

SENIOR PLAY IS BEING REHEARSED

By JULIE MODOS
The senior play, we hear, is going to make stage history—at least in Northville. Two casts with Director Edlin Johnson, Assistant Director Florence Harper and Senior Adviser Mrs. J. B. Cooke, have been working just as if a Broadway opening was in the offing for the past two weeks.

Here's a glad surprise for those of you who like a little variety. In between the acts of "Bashful Booby" (yes, that's the name of the opus—believe it or not) there are going to be two numbers—probably singing and dancing. Furthermore, announces Mr. Johnson, a couple of skits are going to be given. In one of them Scott Cole and Lucille Shummons will be the emoting actors. The title of the number is "It Might Happen" (With Scott around it probably did) This is a romantic skit, with lots of moonlight (umm)

SPORT FLASHES

By ALBERT BOELENS

As the proverb goes "Better late than never," I will now give you my version of the 1937 basketball banquet—all the celebrities were there. Mr. Amerman, Dr. Holcomb, Dr. Snow, Mr. Thompson, Mr. Barr and all of the basketball boys. There wasn't any contest on but the boys all competed to see who could eat the most but it looked to me as if it was a three-way tie between Jack Stubenvoll, Ferd Scott and Arthur Mitchell. As you will notice the managers were well represented with both of them placing.

The banquet started off with a little of Jack Stubenvoll's humor. He brought a "plate lifter," which is a balloon with a long rubber tube attached to it with a ball on the other end. When one presses on the ball the balloon on the other end is inflated—the balloon was placed under the table cloth under Mr. Barr's plate—the tube was run along underneath the table cloth until it came to Jack's place. Every time Mr. Barr went for a bite of meat the plate would raise an inch or so off the table. At first Mr. Barr ignored this menace, but after it happened four or five times, it got on his nerves so he investigated and found the cause—thus humor was enjoyed by all, including Mr. Barr. After the eating, Mr. Amerman told the boys how much he enjoyed these banquets every year and hoped to be at many more. He then appointed Bruce Turnbull toastmaster for the evening.

Mr. Barr was the next speaker. He passed out the medals to the 12 boys who went to the tournament and to every boy made a few remarks about—how much he'd miss them, if they happened to be a senior—or how much better they will be in their remaining one or two years if they were juniors or sophomores.

Following this all of the seniors gave a few words—most of them saying they enjoyed playing with the team this year—wished they could be back—but seeing they wouldn't, they wished the team next year all the luck in the world.

This ended the evening at the school but it wasn't the end for the Penniman-Allyn theatre invited the whole team down to see the show free of charge. The show was enjoyed by all and in behalf of the team, I thank the home management for this treat.

It could end here, but I believe that first I had better keep you posted on the other doings at the school—the same day as the banquet there was a meeting held to discuss both boys' and girls' athletic letters—the girls proved themselves the best talkers when they won their argument and will receive from now on six-inch English type letters and the boys will keep on the same receiving six-inch block style letters. The baseball team received their suits last Monday, and are now in full swing.

THREE TEACHERS TO LEAVE SCHOOL

Entire High School Faculty Offered Contracts for Next Year

R. H. Amerman, superintendent of schools, announced today that three grade teachers have handed in their resignations to the school board. The three, Mrs. J. A. Congo, Mrs. A. Russell Clarke, and Mrs. O. P. Reed, have all taught at Northville for several years.

As yet, the three, who teach the third, fifth and the second grades have no plans for the future. Mr. Amerman also announced that the entire faculty of the high school had been offered contracts for next year. None of the teachers have given their decision yet, but the school board expects to be able to vote on next year's faculty when the board meets in two weeks.

Until the teachers either accept or reject the positions, next year's faculty will be the same as it has been this year, with, perhaps the exception of an extra teacher added to take some of the extra load off the present staff.

SENIORS PLAN FOR SECOND CARD PARTY

The senior class is planning its second card party of this semester at 8 p. m. Monday, April 19, in the high school gymnasium. Admission is 25 cents.

Helene Johnson, who is in charge of the affair, announced that many different games are to be played. Guests may arrange their own card games if they care to. A door prize will be donated, and table prizes given. Reservation can be made by calling 28.

At the last party of this kind which the class held on April 3, over 50 people attended, and a profit of twelve dollars was realized. The door prize was won by Mrs. Laura Myers, who was a large cake given by Mrs. D. G. Van Hove.

COMMENCEMENT PLAN BEGUN BY SENIORS

Plans for this year's commencement week exercises are being formulated by Superintendent R. H. Amerman. According to announcements, the commencement services will be held on Sunday, June 13, and will be in charge of the Rev. Kendall S. North of the Baptist church.

Class night is planned for Tuesday, June 15, but as yet nothing definite has been decided upon.

Commencement is to be held on Thursday, June 17, but the class must yet decide between a speaker or a class activities program.

Seniors are urged to plan their orders for commencement announcements as soon as possible.

THREE NEW PLAYERS ADDED TO BAND

Three new members have just been added to the band by Director Leslie G. Lee.

The two new clarinet players are Lucille Lapham and Marian Heatley.

Jack Holcomb is the new French horn player.

Two more cornetists will be added in a week or so, but Mr. Lee has not decided yet just who they will be.

The band is planning a series of concerts in the village park this summer—which is something we'll all look forward to.

Grade Notes

Miss Ann Richards' young kindergarten pupils have built a post office and have sold seals for the crippled children. On Thursday, in the afternoon, the pupils visited the Northville post office.

Miss Sonna Jarvis' first graders have now begun reading library books. The pupils who have enjoyed reading stories read them aloud to the class. These students who have already read two are: Pat Johnston, Elsie Mac Keppie, Ernest Wedman, Danny Strenick, Elaine Vogtlin, Mary Yarmos and Forest Sam-Jon.

The students recently left Mr. K. H. Barr's fourth grade when they moved to Detroit. Betty Barr has entered the Penniman school and June Olsen has moved to Detroit. However, they are spreading in this town. A lot of the children have been vaccinated, along with other cases. This year's room has sold $12.44 worth of crippled children's seeds.

Mrs. J. A. Congo's pupils have been very interested in a large movie which recently came out of its ration.

Editor Strenick is the only student who has been neither absent nor tardy during this year's school term.

Senior Who's Who

MAXINE D. SHIRTLIFF

This is Maxine's first year of school at Northville. Now, where she was born, also saw her attending school until she was eleven years old. She then went to Walled Lake high school.

Maxine says she likes hiding better than anything else—but also enjoys driving a car. One of her main accomplishments is playing a guitar on which she has taken lessons in the past. She wants to go to college but has no immediate plans.

The Observer

Observing isn't always a dull task. For instance—a certain rather tall blond senior has been under my critical gaze recently and I like the work.

This young man has a reserved demeanor but—ah! your correspondent feels there is more here than meets the eye. He doesn't go in for athletics so I can't give you any clue there but he does have a blond brother who is a senior and also smooth.

He and Gerie Raymond are practically twin brothers or don't you think so? Somehow he does his share of acting—and that's all the help we'll give you for your scuffling.

Oregon Grets Great Lakes Expo

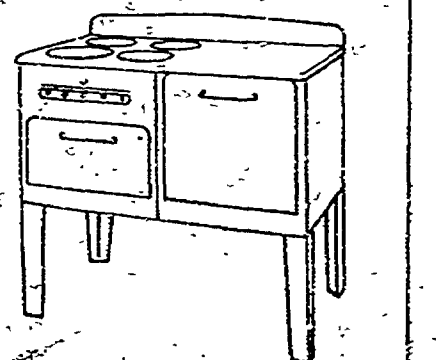

SEI-QUEEN OF OREGON, Miss Rose (Come-and-ask-us) Winkler visited the Great Lakes Exposition at Cleveland this week to pay her respects to the Corps of Yeomanettes who will grace its 150 acres during the 101 days of the big new show, May 29 to Sept. 6. She was received by Miss Betty McIntire (left) and invited to change her heavy winter ski suit soon for a diminutive swimming suit that she might take part in Billy Rose's big water show, "Aquacade", at the new 5,000-seat theater restaurant which will be one of the entertainment features of the 1937 Great Lakes Exposition. From coast to coast, the nation will be represented in the exhibits at the colorful new lakefront show this summer.

SEASON NINE OPENS SEASON HERE TUESDAY

Northville plays Plymouth at Plymouth April 22.

The probable starting line-up for Northville, Coach Barr said, will probably look like this: George Westphall, in the box; Maurice Wolfe, behind the plate; Dean Hardesty, at first base; Charles Bishop, at second; Maurice Hanson, at shortstop; Bruce Turnbull, at third. Outfielders, he explained, will be chosen from the following: Kenneth Wilbur, James Hotchkiss, Laurence Way, Norman Campbell, Harold Card, Walter Myers, Albert Boelsen and Carl Arnold.

Twenty-eight Farmington men answered Coach Kemmerer's call to practice. His last year's team, with the exception of four players, is back. Three of the four are outfields, so he faces one of the same problems that Barr does.

It is the first game for both teams, and each will get another crack at it when they meet at Farmington June 1.

Northville's present schedule includes these dates:
April 27 Melvindale here; April 28, Plymouth there; May 4, Trenton there; May 11, VanDyke here; May 13, open; May 18, Trenton here; May 20, Redford Union there; May 25, VanDyke here; May 27, Melvindale there; June 1, Farmington there; June 8 Plymouth here.

Admission to the baseball games this season is 15 cents for children and 25 cents for adults, according to members of the high school student council.

DR. WILLIS DEPICTS NEW T. B. TREATMENT

Dr. Willis explained in detail the method of introducing air into the lungs for the cure of diseased tissue. Always the big aim in the treatment of tuberculosis, he stated, is to rest the diseased organ as well as the body.

Touching briefly on the symptoms of tuberculosis, Dr. Willis said that undue fatigue or loss of weight that persists often are the first recognized symptoms. Any cold that is apt to be a dangerous sign and should receive prompt medical attention, he added.

The germ of tuberculosis does not recognize the sit-down strike principle, said Dr. Willis, "but is on the job 24 hours a day. The tubercular bug is so small," added the Maybury head, "that it is 25,000 of them were laid end to end they would measure only an inch."

President William E. Forney was in charge of the day's meeting and presiding the talk of Dr. Willis, Charles H. Bennett of the Plymouth Rotary club gave an urgent plea for the Rotarians to do all in their power to secure the passage of House bill No. 207 which provides for a more complete care of crippled children throughout the State.

FORMER NORTHVILLITES ARE ANN ARBOR HOSTS

Interviewed by a reporter from the Michigan Daily at the time, Stokowski said, looking fondly at his glass, "This beer is the best I have ever tasted."

Dr. Alexander G. Ruthven, president of the university, was shocked when Biographer Ludwig had said at a faculty reception, "what, no beer?"

Dr. Ruthven had himself recently led a fight to keep beer from the Michigan Union, where the reception was being held. As soon as he could, Ludwig slipped away from the reception with a dozen faculty men and students and whispered: "Take me to the Bell place I have heard about."

And Bruce Biven, editor of the magazine the liberal New Republic, following an address in Hill Auditorium, practically conducted a forum in liberal thought at The Privat Bell, as he and more than a dozen students and professors drank beer together and discussed current problems.

Glenn Martin, 31 one time, actually refused to appear in a concert until he had had a "session at the Bell" and each time the Metropolitan quartet appears in Hill Auditorium, his ruddy, smiling face and wavy, white hair are familiar sights to the Neelands brothers.

"We see quite a few Northville folks over here every now and then," Ralph Neelands said, "and we try to keep in touch with the old home town as best we can. Running The Privat Bell is a splendid thing. We keep in touch with the student attitude, and at the same time are hosts to some of the world's leading figures."

CEMETERY TO BE DEBATED TONIGHT

All who have burial lots in Rural Hill cemetery should plan to attend a meeting to be held at the village hall this Friday evening at 7:30.

At this meeting affairs of the association will be discussed and an effort will be made to perfect plans for the future direction and up-keep of the cemetery. There is great need for some improvements in condition of the cemetery, according to many people.

RAY WESTPHALL SET FOR MINORS AGAIN

Raymond Westphall plans to leave next week for Tiffin, O., to begin his second season as a minor league baseball player.

Last year Ray ended with the Tiffin Mud Hens batting .310 and a star third baseman. He will probably be at the hot corner again this year.

Ray is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Westphall of High street. He was graduated from Northville high school in 1934 after making a name for himself as a baseball and basketball player.

First coming to the United States 26 years ago she made a trip abroad three years later and has not made it since.

Hearts, all be glad to have an opportunity of hearing her. Anne Campbell has a charm all her own. In reality she is Mrs. George Stark, wife of a member of the Detroit News staff.

Owing to limited space it will be necessary for reservations to be made early. Tickets at 50 cents a plate will be on sale by the local merchants the first of the week.

MRS. YERKES SENDS WORLD'S SMALLEST DAILY TO RECORD

The world's smallest daily newspaper came to the desk of the Northville Record recently sent by Mrs. C. C. Yerkes while touring through the south.

This miniature sheet, which seems to boast of its size, measuring only 5 1/2 x 5 1/2 inches is called "The Tyro Daily Bulletin," published in Tryon, N. C. It has been recognized as a newspaper since the year 1879.

News of society, baseball, steeple chases, flower shows and hunts cram this tiny paper, which, says Mrs. Yerkes, "is devoted as eagerly as if it were a New York or Chicago paper."

REV. LORD IMPROVES
After a slight attack of pneumonia and other complications, the Rev. Harry J. Lord is reported as making excellent recovery and after a good rest of a week or more will be able to resume his pastoral duties.
