HE NEED NOT HAVE DIED

The tragedy of the death of Senator Joseph T. Robinson is that he need not have died. At least that is the conclusion of many thoughtful Washington observers.

Senator Robinson literally died in the harness fighting not for a cause that he had personally espoused but to please his superior, the President of the United States. Fighting this battle in the cruel summer temperatures of our national capital, he literally paid with his life for his remarkable devotion to his chief. To keep Congress in session through the devastating heat of Washington against the advice of many of the finest leaders of the Democratic party is a matter that is extremely hard to understand.

"Joe" Robinson was a splendid national leader of fine personal qualities. Although he often gave way to a violent temper, he was beloved by both parties and his sudden passing has brought sincere grief to the whole nation.

CURTAIN DROPS ON THE TOWNSEND PLAN

Just a year ago in the primary campaign in Michigan there were candidates running for office on a platform asking for the adoption of the Townsend Old Age Pension plan.

Just a year later we are now seeing the collapse of this movement which had planned to give $200 a month to every person over 65 years of age. The Townsend plan is now dead. Its followers, once numbered by the millions, now admit this and we shall have to await some other plan to bring easy wealth to the people of our country. Even Representative McGroarty, California congressman who was among the first to back Dr. Townsend, now admits the breakdown of the plan in the following words: "I was the first sponsor in Congress of the Townsend drive which for a time, justly boasted of a vast following among the people, but which has now collapsed."

WHAT DOES THE PRESIDENT MEAN?

The bitter determination of President Roosevelt to carry on his fight for the packing of the Supreme Court is in the minds of many of his best friends, beyond comprehension. Just a few days before his death, the late Senator Joseph T. Robinson is said to have advised the President that his plan could not possibly succeed. There is hardly a leading Democrat who has any heart for the President's plan; on the other hand a great array of leading Democrats are most bitter in their condemnation of the whole packing scheme.

Just why the president persists in splitting his party wide open is hard to understand. Can it be that he is planning a new party on the wreckage of the old? This is a question that some people are asking. If it were a nobler cause one would have to admire the President's dogged bulldheadedness."

HE ADDS TO NORTHLVILLE'S BEAUTY

If you go by Northville's Ford valve plant, you will see a beautiful lawn where once was a factory building. That transformation has taken place in a few short weeks. A number of visitors to our town have commented on this fact.

Not only does Henry Ford provide work for hundreds of our people here but along with it he gives beauty to the whole community. This beauty has cost many thousands of dollars and beauty is not usually associated with factory buildings. There are no finer flower beds nor better kept lawns than around the Ford plants.

Those who appreciate the true value of beauty in our community thank Mr. Ford.

ALL NORTHLVILLE BOOSTS FOR IT

August in Northville is made historic by the coming of the Northville Wayne County Fair. Few villages the size of our town can boast such a fine community asset.

The encouraging thing about our fair is that everybody about the town seems to take pleasure in boosting for our community festival. Take away those buildings and those acres of ground down on South Center street and there would be a vacant spot that nothing else could fill. We can all be grateful that such fine community co-operation has all through the years been back of this splendid fair.

ANOTHER "BONEHEAD" BY THE C. I. O.

Already under the whiplash of public opinion, the C. I. O. leaders apparently do not yet see the handwriting on the wall. Their latest outrage against the great mass of people was the milk strike and the attempt to call out truck drivers. No group of men should be big enough to take the milk from little children. Give these radical leaders enough rope and the hanging of their cause will be a thing of the near future.

P. S.—This editorial sentiment stands although the strike has been settled.

HOW MUCH OF A GAMBLER IS HE?

Riding by a water-covered field where sickly-looking corn stood only a few inches high, a friend riding with us said: "What a gambler the farmer is anyway!"

As a matter of fact the farmer who will go on good Michigan land and stay there for ten years is not as much of a gambler as a good many other folks that we know. Over this period of ten years we will get bad years, indifferent years, and certainly in this state of Michigan, several good years. But in most any year the farmer is sure to have two things for which most city workers spend most of their wages, viz., a roof over his head and enough to eat.

Yes, the farmer is a gambler but when you come to real independence and actual security, he is less of a gambler than the worker in the big city and in this modern day he has everything that the city man has, except the bright lights, and he can get to those in a big hurry if he desires.

Cigarettes made from it and the drug is simply smoked. Make no mistake, it is as powerful and evil as any other vicious drug. It takes criminals of its addicts.

An authority on crime related his own experience in testing the drug's power. He smoked several cigarettes and in no time he was released from every moral restraint. He was watched by guards to see that he confined his actions to his own home and he stated that he felt a terrific battle waged against his conscience which the drug won, throwing overboard every good and moral thing in his nature. He concluded that if this happened to one over 40 years old to a man taking a daily fight against crime, how much easier the drug can possess a young person.

Farmers' Day at Michigan State college is July 30. It affords an excellent chance to see the experimental work being done. Probably the best set of pasture experiments in the United States has been started using 6, 12, and 18 sheep to the acre and various pasture mixtures. Smooth Brim grass and alfalfa mixture seems very promising.

The Misses Gertrude and Pearl Duke of Richmond, Va., were guests Tuesday of Miss Louise Perry.

Labor is discovered to be the grand conqueror, enriching and building up nations more surely than the proudest battles.—William Elery Channing

Language is a city to the building of which every human being brought a stone.—Emerson

A spiritual understanding of the Scriptures restores their original song in the language of Spirit, that primordial standard of Truth.—Mary Baker Eddy.

Language is the amber in which a thousand precious and subtle thoughts have been safely imbedded and preserved.—P. C. French.

Continent today, LéRoy met him in Paris last summer induced him to sign a long term contract and brought him to Hollywood.

The "King and the Chorus Girl" is a glamorous, whimsical comedy at its best. M. Gravet plays the role of a wealthy, illegitimate ex-monarch who becomes a Paris playboy. His titled wife and wife try to put his royal feet on the straight and narrow path but "King Alfred" loves the bright lights.

Then he meets Joan Blondell in the role of an American chorus girl. She is independent, high-spirited, fair, impudent and cares not a whit for royalty. The greater of her disdain of her royal suitor, the more impetuous does his high-pressure courtship become.

Humorous complications follow fast and furiously, aided by Edward Everett Horton, Mary Nash, Alan Mowbray, Jane Wyman, Luis Alberni and the other notables in the cast. There is never an idle moment because the humorous dialogue and march of situations keep up the swift pace.

Dancing? Of course! And in a highly mounted scene in Paris, farous Folies Bergere, the intricacies of the "can-can" dance are revealed. Music? But certainly! Jean Muir has the leading female role, as the sweetheart of the Draegerman. You go out humming "For You" and "On the Rue de la Paix" and you'll fall in love with the baritone voice that is only one of Mr. Gravet's many talents. Kenny Baker, radio favorite, does some of his famous crooning.

In all, Quids into perfect entertainment—romance, glamour, comedy, music, dancing and a new star who is destined for the topmost heights. Our advice is: "Dont waste time in this excellent part."

Bartol McLane plays the part of the rough-and-ready foreman, young giant who laughs in the face of danger when it becomes too hot to handle. He gives a grand performance as the twice-toughened mine boss and the worker—ready at any moment to battle with any man or with the elements.

THE KING AND THE CHORUS GIRL

A new film star—handsomely entreated and infinitely likable—will flash across the screen of the Penniman-Alten theatre Sunday evening, a multitude of friends admiring in his first American picture.

He is Fernand Gravet, the Continental film star, and picture is "The King and the Chorus Girl," a delightfully humorous romance, the first film w/ the brilliant young Warner Bros. director, Mervyn LeRoy, himself under his new rank of peer.

You are going to hear a lot more of M. Gravet, now in Belgium, educated in Eng., now a resident of France, he learned in more than 25 foreign lands and is the leading screen man the world over.

Miss Margaret Keeping Speaks Marriage Vows Saturday Morning in Our Lady of Victory Church; Breakfast at Plymouth

In the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends nuptial mass was celebrated in Our Lady of Victory church Saturday morning, July 17, when wedding vows were spoken by Miss Margaret Keeping, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Keeping, Thayer Soudar and Harry Weyermiller, son of George E. Weyermiller of Detroit. Rev. Fr. Joseph G. Schuler read the nuptial and a male quartet from the Capuchin Monastery, Detroit, sang the mass chant.

Baskets of white gladiola and Gypsophila were used in effective profusion about the chancel and the lighted taper added a halo to the lovely scene.

The takers who seated the couple were Ronald Keeping, brother of the bride, and Carl and John Schechter. To the strains of the Longfellow wedding march, played by Mrs. E. B. Whitman of Detroit, the bridal party entered the church.

Miss June King whose marriage to Louis H. Schneider will take place Aug. 2, was honored Friday evening at her home on Cedar Street with a miscellaneous flower given by Miss Ellen McClelland of Royal Oak.

The entertainment on this occasion was a mock wedding portrayed by Mrs. Gordon Mathews of Detroit, minister; Mrs. A. E. Brocklehurst of Plymouth, bride; Mrs. John Doherty of Detroit, bridesmaid; Miss Marie Cradie of Detroit; bridesmaids; Mrs. Catherine Murphy of Northville; best man, Mrs. Jack Peat of the village; flower girl.

Late in the evening refreshments with shower appointments in pastel colors were served to the honoree, the mock bridal party and Mrs. Ernest Schucker, Mrs. Paul Butts, Mrs. V. C. Kierhan, Mrs. John M. Burke and Miss Polly Anna Wright all of Plymouth. Mrs. Margaret Bevally, Mrs. Robert J. Quinn and Mrs. George Jarrett of Detroit; Mrs. George McClelland of Royal Oak; Mrs. Herman Schroeder and Miss Marion Schroeder of South Lyon; Mrs. Clifford Schutte, Mrs. Marie Wilson, Mrs. Bert Snow, Mrs. Jessie Boyd, Miss Isabel Tibble and Mrs. Harry Stalter, all of Northville.

Bomby India Friends Visit in Richardson Home

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Woughter and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Elliott, Flint, and Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Elliott of Bomby, India, were house guests over the week end of Mr. and Mrs. Gile R. Richardson, 415 North Chester street.

Mr. Elliott is the British liaison for all the railroads in India.

He is Mrs. Elliott left Wednesday for Montreal, called on the Duchess of York for London returned to India completing a world tour. They came to the States after crossing the Pacific.

Immediately following the ceremony the bridal party including the immediate families of both Mr. and Mrs. Weyermiller, went to the Mayflower Hotel, Plymouth, where a wedding breakfast was served. Flowers were used in table decorations and the bride cut the pyramid cake.

At one o'clock a reception was given in the ball room of the hotel where a company of about 100 attended, including the young couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Weyermiller left Saturday afternoon in their automobile for their return trip to Cleveland and Cincinnati, Ohio, stopping with relatives in Salem, O.

Mr. Weyermiller is engaged with the Great Lakes Bottling Company, Detroit, and Mrs. Weyermiller has a secretarial position with the Commonwealth Brass Company, Detroit, and will continue to work there. Until their arrival in Cleveland the young couple will make their temporary home with Mr. and Mrs. Keeping.

An interesting coincidence connected with the wedding is that it was the twenty-fifth wedding anniversary of the parents of the bride who shared with their daughter the greeting of many friends.

Sunday Service-10 a.m.

Sunday School and Bible class 11 a.m.

The Vacation Bible school has been meeting regularly since July 6. The school will have its closing session on this week Friday with a special surprise in store for the children. The attendance and results achieved, we feel, have been very satisfactory. The entire group trained in singing by Mrs. Arthur F. Schoultz, sang "Beautiful Savior" during last Sunday morning's service.

Our special thanks is herewith extended to all who have contributed to the success of the school.

with the agricultural classes at Holly high school, showed a net income of $2,443.57 for the year ending June 30, according to the annual report just released.

The projects were completed by 20 students under the supervision of E. A. Lightfoot, agriculture instructor at the local school at a total cost of $4,705.40. Total credits amounted to $6,707.31. The net profit of $2,001.82 plus $441.80 paid to students for labor, totals the net project income of $2,443.57, a figure nearly double that of the previous year.—The Holly Herald.

Belleview—James H. Cody, brother of Frank Cody, superintendent of Schools in Detroit died Monday, July 12. For more than 20 years Mr. Cody was clerk in the office of the secretary of State. He resigned in April because of failing health.

Mr. Cody had long been active in affairs of his home community of Belleview, where he was born in 1885. Besides his brother, he is survived by his wife, Harriet E. Cody. Services were held in Belleview at 2 p.m. Thursday.—The Wayne Dispatch.

Holly—Over 50 members of the Holly Board of Commerce were guests Monday, July 12, of the Ford Motor company on a tour of their main plant at River Rouge, the largest industrial plant in the world, and where 35,000 men are now employed.—The Holly Herald.

Olivet—Joseph La Fountain, 17, was instantly killed, by lightning during a storm at about 7 o'clock Wednesday night. The place is owned by Joe Saccari of Detroit, and at present is occupied by the David Ginsburg family of Detroit. Six people were eating supper at the time, but were uninjured. The cottage did not catch fire, but the bolt shattered windows, tore open walls, twisted furniture and burned and twisted lighting fixtures.

Damage was estimated at about $200. Fire Chief Arthur G. Wimmer, after an investigation said that the radio aerial was not properly grounded and that the lightning apparently entered the house on this wire. The exterior of the house was not damaged.

SEARCH FOR PLYMOUTH GIRLS—Betty Kiser, 13, and Katherine Schrader, 15, route 3, Plymouth, were reported lost Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock when they failed to return from the amusement park at 1:30 and were instructed to be back at 5 o'clock. When they failed to return, authorities were notified, and a search was started. Deputy E. L. McQueen was notified and at 2:30 p.m. Monday they had been found and had returned to their homes.

DUNKERS MAKE HOME WITH INSECT ZOO

Dunkers who made dunking a science long before Emily Post said you couldn't get away with it became permanent residents of the Michigan Insect Zoo in Convention Hall, Detroit, last week.

They are Hans and Fritz, a pair of 2-month-old raccoon pups who won any such delicacy as cake, hamburger or dog biscuit unless they can first wash it thoroughly in milk or water.

This particular pair of "coons" was sent to the Zoo by W. C. Cornett of Big Beaver. Their first act after they arrived was to explore their room cage. Apparently deciding that they liked the air at the top they proceeded to hang upside down, huddled close together, to take solace through black-spectacled eyes at the spectators staring at them.

Hans and Fritz earn a place in the Insect Zoo because of the importance of their clan in controlling insect pests! Raccoons feed largely on wireworms, cutworms, white grubs, grasshoppers and other such insects.

"Among other acquisitions of the Zoo in the last few days have been Texas tarantulas, Big Prorus beetles, yellow-bear caterpillars, Texas blister beetles whose blood is used for healing plasters, squash bugs and several kinds of butterflies. A big blue racer captured near Walled Lake is another."

The Insect Zoo is open from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. every day.

A FINANCIER-FARMER—(Memphis Bee) We supposed that farming had gone with the wind long ago until we came across this in our search for something new. We were told that a man in this vicinity purchased a farm for $4,000 and from farming last year cleaned up enough to pay for the farm and had $200 left over. Evidently he was so busy making money that he did not know that farming is a losing game.

A GOOD STEWARD
One morning in Clapham, Eng., a prominent merchant named Thornton, received news of a loss of $100.00 he had suffered in a shipping venture. Later in the day his minister called to collect subscription.

He had promised, but learning of the merchant's loss, apologized for calling. Taking the minister by the hand, Thornton bravely replied: "The wealth was not mine. Since this has been taken from me I will be diligent in making good use of what is left."

Then he doubted his subscription.

Then law is no restraint upon the freedom of the good, for the good man despairs nothing which a just law will interfere with.—J. A. Proude.

The offices affected are the title division and the chauffeur's and operators' licensing divisions which are now housed on the fourth floor of the Capitol Building, Lansing.

The fire marshal has warned that this floor constitutes a fire menace to these divisions with hundreds of thousands of valuable records must move. It develops that public office space in Lansing is at a premium and so there is no place in that city suitable for these offices.

Approximately two-thirds of the business of these offices is from the Detroit district.

With these offices located in Detroit, new titles and transfers of titles could be issued within two or three days to residents of Wayne County, whereas now delays indefinitely result in a wait of from ten to 15 days. It is pointed out that, while Detroiters send papers to Lansing, Wayne County motorists who constitute the majority of car owners in the State would be benefitted, outstate owners would get as prompt service from Detroit as they now do from Lansing. Indeed it is likely that with increased space and more efficient office methods available in Detroit, the outstate service could also be greatly improved.

DETROITER SINGS AT CHURCH

Mr. Berdell Arthur and daughter, Miss Helen Arthur, were Sunday Walled Lake visitors. Miss Arthur, a Detroit singer, was heard in solo at the Methodist church during the morning services. Miss Grace Pulse of Madison, who was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Trapp of Lower Straits Lake, was present and accompanied for the fine service.

MRS. GILCHRIST DIES

Mrs. Emily M. Gilchrist, wife of James T. Gilchrist, died at her home at 2120 Arendale Avenue, Sylvan Lake village, Monday morning, the victim of a heart attack. She had been ill for the past three years. She was born June 8, 1866, and was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Newell Jones. She had lived her entire life in Oakland County.

She was married to William R. Gilchrist of Walled Lake in 1886, and to this union three children were born. A daughter, Carrie, died in childhood. Two sons, Clarence of Farmington and Harold of Sylvan Lake were present when she died.

Mr. Gilchrist died in 1901 and she again married in 1904 to James T. Gilchrist of Walled Lake where they lived until 10 years ago when they moved to Sylvan Lake. Mrs. Gilchrist was active here in church and missionary work, and was well known throughout the community.

She was a member of the Walled Lake Baptist church and of the Christian Missionaries, Alliance of Pontiac.

Surviving her are her husband, two sons, three grandchildren and a brother, Orville Jones of Holland.
