17 BOY SCOUTS LEAVE SUNDAY FOR EAST TAWAS

Owen; Britton and Schoultz
Take Trip With Boys;
White Sets Up Camp

For the sixth consecutive year, Owen G. Owen leaves at 5 a.m. Sunday, Aug. 27 with a group of Northville Boy Scouts for a week's outing at East Tawas.

This year 17 Scouts will make the trip in D. P. Verkes' truck. They come home Sunday in a truck donated for transportation use by Con Langfield.

A neighboring Scout enthusiast, Glen Buffmeyer of Walled Lake, is lending the boys an ice chest and from the Lloyd H. Green Post of the American Legion comes a gift of an army storage tent which will be the mess tent. This, together with the two army bivouac tents, sleeping given the boys two years ago by the Rotary and Exchange clubs, will solve the camp problem.

Scout Master Harold White is in East Tawas now setting up part of the camp. With him are Bill Schoultz and Charles Altman who will remain there next week for the Scout camp. Mr. White will return this Saturday.

Making the trip with Mr. Owen are the Scouts, who will be Charles' music.

EDITORIAL MENU IS BORROWED

No matter how well cooked the food or how attractive the home surroundings, every well regulated family likes to "eat out" once in a while. Acting on that principle, and also because of the further fact that we have been extremely busy on our "writing days," we are borrowing this week's editorial menu. We think you will like the change of diet. Here it is.

A FUNNY KIND OF TOWN

(Bob Gifford in Eaton Rapids Journal)

Finlay Petrie of Opal, Wyoming, a village of 50 inhabitants, is the prize winning 1937 country correspondent. One of his items reads: "Special Opal Note: We still saucer our coffee, dunk our toast, hang the bathtub on a nail, take a shower in the rain, but there is no one on the dole and the health of the inhabitants is 100 per cent."

MURPHY GOING TO WASHINGTON?

(M. H. DeFoe in Charlotte Republican-Tribune)

Governor Frank Murphy is definitely on his way to Washington, either as a cabinet officer, or a member of the U.S. Supreme court. He will remain in Michigan long enough to attempt a completion of his so-called legislative program, much of which is good. This will throw the 1938 democratic primary wide open, with M. D. Van Wagener, popular democratic vote getter, as one of the candidates.

WHY CIRCUSES PROSPER

(Harry Myers in Lapeer County Press)

Barnum said, if you've got $100 to spend on a show, spend $10 on the show and $90 on advertising. That's been the watchword of circuses ever since. Art Miller, advance agent for the Seals-Sterling circus coming here next month, said that his outfit has a crew of 17 men who do nothing except plaster the towns and country-side with "paper"—posters—billboards—handbills. Four advance men look after newspaper advertising and direct mail. Their advertising budget for each show runs about $300.

UNHARVESTED CROPS

(Elton R. Eaton in Plymouth Mail)

Early last spring farm leaders of Michigan declared that unless the farmers of the state could secure more help, that a very good portion of this year's crops could not be harvested. It was estimated on the first of April that there was an actual shortage of some 43,000 workers on the farms in this state. That estimate was made by the United States crop reporting office operated in connection with the state department of agriculture in Lansing. Since that time the demand for farm labor has constantly increased.

Think of the absurdity of the situation! With the farmers of Michigan able to use not less than 50,000 additional workers, the non-thinking legislature in Lansing voted for the greatest state welfare appropriation in the history of Michigan! Yes, that is a fact, the taxpayers of Michigan are going to spend more money during 1937 and 1938 for welfare than has ever been spent before in this commonwealth—and the farmers are unable to hire sufficient help to enable them to harvest their crops. But a lot of voters still think common sense isn't needed in Lansing.

CITY EDITORS VS. SMALL TOWN PUBLISHERS

(Ray Corliss in Parma News)

The writer was one of 360 publisher-members of the National Editorial Association in Detroit the first of the week for the annual convention of the organization. One of the most interesting comments was made as a result of the affair was carried in the Detroit Free Press by Iffy the Dopester, commonly believed to be Malcolm Bingay, editorial director of that paper. Said "Iffy":

The National Editorial Association is holding its annual convention here in Detroit. Its membership is made up of the editors of the non-metropolitan areas of America.

The only difference between a big city editor and a small town editor is that the small town editor usually knows what his community is saying and thinking. He's a part of his city instead of being isolated in omniscience.

He talks with his readers instead of at 'em. He has to. His daily contact with them keeps him humble. He's discovered that most of the lads around the stove of a winter night know just about as much as he does. And that ain't saying he does not know quite a lot, either.

Small town folks have a better idea of what is going on in the world than do their big city brothers. They are not in such a hurry to get nowhere. So they have time to think. They make up the real public opinion of America.

QUIET, PLEASE

(V. J. Brown in Ingham County News)

The hot weather of recent weeks has yielded a crop of complaints against raucous radios. Nearly every section of Mason has complained. It seems that in every neighborhood there are people who are assailed with constant radio clamor.

In hot weather many people thoughtlessly turn on their radio sets full blast and then go out on the porch to listen to it. They forget that if they can hear it distinctly that the noise will also carry to the homes of neighbors. Perhaps the neighbors want to sleep. Perhaps the neighbor's baby is taking a nap. Maybe the neighbors themselves want to drowse away an afternoon. Often elderly people and sick persons are disturbed.

We should be more thoughtful of the rights of others especially in hot weather when nerves are sensitive. As radio fans we should confine our favorite programs to our own households and not assail the ears of our neighbors. We should sit closer to our radios and keep them tuned low.

A LETTER TO GOVERNOR MURPHY

(W. H. Berkey in Cassopolis Vigilant)

As to Governor Murphy's call for a special session of the legislature, we feel like writing the Governor the following brief letter:

To His Excellency,
Governor Frank Murphy,
Lansing, Michigan.
Dear Governor;

I note that you have called a special session of the Michigan legislature to enact eight laws which you think are essential to the welfare of the people of Michigan. You ask them to meet in brief session. Now, Governor, these are the same legislators you had to work for six months, and if they couldn't do the job up right in that time what reason have you to believe they can do it in a brief session? The people of the state heaved a sigh of relief when they adjourned and went home, and now you get the people all jittery by calling them back again. How do you know they won't stay until Christmas? Why pile up another bill of expense? Why not "let sleeping dogs lie?"

Yours truly,
John Q. Citizen.

Cosmetic Capes
A woman is earning extra money from the sale of cosmetic capes which she makes. They are fashioned of colored rubber sheeting (comes in all pastel colors) and are cut circular like a deep collar, the edges pinked with pinking shears and bias binding around the neck edge to tie in the back.

These useful little capes to slip over the shoulders are to be put on when applying cosmetics, so as to prevent powder from dusting over one's clothes. She sells these little protective capes for 50 cents each.

Hey, Ma-a-a! Where's that old soft granman left us? That broke down when that summer can full-back called on Sis? Ad in the Record says man wants to buy one.

If Ma can climb down from the step ladder she has mounted to stuff a few more of Sis' magazines into the attic through the trap door, and can get Bud to repeat the information given above and before, she will learn that an anonymous advertiser in the Record classified section is calling for nominations for the Broken-Down-Dayport Sweepstakes.

Contrary to usual race track rules, age is no bar in this Derby. The advertiser states, quote:

"Wanted, an old overstuffed dayport, the older the better, etc."

There you are, folks, in black and white. The wantader has sounded off call for what should prove to be a contest up antiquity. If you have an entry, just turn to the Classified section of the Record, page eight of this issue, look under "WANTED—Miscellaneous" and get all the details.

MICHIGAN'S DUSTLESS ROADS, PARKS AND PICNIC NOOKS ATTRACT $300,000,000 TOURIST MONEY

DURING a typical year, the state occupies an area of 2,500,000 square miles of state automobile roads, approximately $300,000,000 in Michigan, consisting of good roads and bad roads. Their cars burn 30,000,000 gallons of gasoline, adding $90,000 to the state's gas tax revenue. Penetrating almost every nook and cranny of the upper and lower peninsulas, these tourists and vacationists travel practically every mile of the state and county highway systems.

Michigan's popularity as a vacationland has increased tremendously during the last decade, and the State Highway Department is largely responsible for the increase. Miles and miles of concrete and luminous trunk lines cross the state in all directions. Many-laned arterial highways lead into, around, and out of the principal cities. Gravel trunk lines, and many of the side roads as well, have either been stabilized or are adequately treated.

With surface applications of calcium chloride to eliminate the discomfort and danger incident to dust. No other state in the Union boasts as high a percentage of dustless roads as Michigan.

Along the highways at frequent intervals, the tourist finds beautifully landscaped and well-kept picnic spots where chosen bends in the road, lakes, streams, and woods provide picturesque settings for the rustic cabin, trailer, tent, and other facilities provided by the state. The Michigan State Highway Department has indeed become a national leader in making dustless highways and roadside picnic spots a powerful agency for the stimulation of Michigan's great tourist industry, an industry which in 1936 was the largest in the state.

The natural beauty of the state, its many lakes and streams, and wooded parklands, combine to make Michigan a vacation paradise. And its roads, known throughout the world for their excellence, will keep visitors coming back year after year, bringing their friends with them.

No, I don't let myself look sad. The children notice it if I do, so I am gay with them, for childhood is so sensitive to sorrow and anyway, she brightened, "there is so much that is beautiful in life still. There are the flowers, the trees and all the lovely things in nature—oh, there's so much that is beautiful!"

Hats off to the little woman who refuses to be defeated when an ideal crashes down about her head, who can still keep her head up and still love life.

"Into each life some rain must fall." Happy those persons who can turn a deaf ear to the pelting rain and find joy in simple things. Some can lose themselves in a good book that carries them afar; some find healing in their gardens among growing things; some turn to unselfish devotion to a higher purpose; some find outlet for pent-up

'1937 IS TOP YEAR FOR BUGS' SAYS EDDY

BANANA CAKE
Cream together:
cup shortening
1/4 cup white sugar. Add

If you think bugs are more numerous this year than others—you're right!

Insects of all kinds are more numerous in 1937 than for many years past, according to Braxton Eddy, director of the Michigan Insect Zoo in Detroit. Lots of rain—that's the reason.

"Nature has supplied unusually luxuriant vegetation this year," he explained Monday. "That means plentiful food supply for the caterpillars, beetles and other insects that feed on groceries. So the insect crop is big, both in number and in variety. Many residents of Detroit and surrounding towns have called at the Zoo with specimens of bugs that they've never seen before."

In dry years or exceptionally hot ones, he continued, greenery is less plentiful and its epidermis is tougher and harder. Consequently, mutations occur in insects develop from the egg to the adult stage.

The insect Zoo's collection is unusually rich in variety and number of specimens, Mr. Eddy said because of that condition.

We have fine collections of many of the common caterpillars, anothor leaf-eaters, and it has been easy to get them. The result is that we're able to know life cycles of insects, both helpful and harmful, as well as the best methods of controlling them in an unusually successful manner."

Mr. Eddy said that the insect collections in similar exhibits he has seen—even in the one he directed in Rhode Island in 1934 and 1937—were skimpy and unsatisfactory in comparison to that at the Detroit Institute.

COLLEGE SPECIALIST RECOMMENDS EXTRA FEEDING OF LAMBS

Extra feeding of lambs at this time of the year to supplement the pasture and frequent sorting of the flock in order to market animals of a desirable weight and finish is recommended by George A. Brown, head of animal husbandry at Michigan State College.

By marketing his lambs as fast as they reach around 80 pounds in weight and acquire a desirable fat, the flock owner may be able to avoid the lower prices which usually result with the influx of western lambs on the market. Indications are that the bulk of lambs in the country this year will be somewhat later in coming to market than usual, Brown says.

Where the best leguminous or green-stemmed grass pasture is available for both lambs and ewes, then the lambs should be weaned at from 3 to 3½ months old and placed on better pasture. The alfalfa or clover meadow from which the first cutting has been removed offers an ideal place for the lambs which have just been weaned. Brown suggests No danger from foot need be expected if we provide the meadow as dry and the lambs are full when first turned on it in pasture, and also if there is an abundance of shade and plenty of water.

To help put them in market condition as soon as possible the lambs should be started on oats, and after 10 days barley, corn or wheat added to the ration and increased in amount until the animals are receiving a mixture of equal parts of oats, corn and wheat or barley. The amount fed should be increased until the lambs are getting about 1 to 1½ pounds a head daily after three weeks on feed.

The residence of H. G. Richardson, Spring Drive, has been improved recently by a fresh coat of paint.

Mrs. Charles H. Young, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Margaret Shannon, her daughter-in-law, Mrs. E. C. Young and son, Charles, and two grandchildren, Ann Joyce and Shirley Hopkins, are enjoying a cruise on the Great Lakes going as far north as Duluth, Minn. They expect to be gone ten days.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Young and Mrs. Geraldine Hopkins spent the week end on the yacht of their uncle, L. A. Young, Detroit, taking a trip to East Tawas beach on Saginaw Bay. In the party were several Detroit guests: Miss Alberta Garrick, Roy Embury, George Eberle and Sally Woodward of Detroit, N.Y. On Monday those who listened in on WWD heard Sally broadcast the tale of her experience on the water when a big storm came up Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rangel and son, Arthur, and daughter, Mrs. Ernest Schwartz, and Mr. Schwartz and son, Danny, Detroit, attended the Seldenburg-Groth reunion Sunday, July 25, at the Grange hall at Plymouth. They were supper guests that evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Helmuth Rangel, Salem. Mr. Gordon and daughter, Gertrude, Detroit, spent Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Helmuth Rangel.

From out in the state have come per cent of the expected yield. The reports of serious damage by black stem rust, the worst infestation in years, county agricultural agents are reporting to men on the staff at Michigan State college.

Normally Michigan's wheat fields are maturing in time to escape serious damage, explains E. E. Down, plant breeder at the college. In his work he has experimented in an attempt to breed wheat that would be more resistant to the black stem rust. The problem is that it is difficult to combine resistance with good yield and a desirable stiff straw.

Michigan has worked for two decades to eliminate the hazard of rust. Japanese barberries have been hacked out and salted in every county in the state. The barberry serves as a host for the spores of the rust when it is not working on a crop. Because the barberries are gone, the spores that arrive with winds from the south and east usually settle down in Michigan after the wheat is matured and past possible danger.

This year a late spring and damp growing weather caused the wheat to grow more slowly and gave the rust spores a chance to work. In some sections of the state estimates of the damage run as high as 30

News of Northville's Neighbors

Human Interest Briefs From Exchange Columns

Plymouth—Following long years of dispute and agitation, Plymouth residents will be pleased to know that the city commissioners, in co-operation with the county drain commissioner, have worked out a plan whereby Tonquish creek will flow through a big six-foot concrete conduit from Harvey street to a point several hundred feet east of the South Main street. The Plymouth Mail.

Birmingham—The report of the Birmingham police department issued for the month of June shows that $74.40 in fines was collected during the month. Three felonies and seven juvenile offenses were handled by the department.—The Birmingham Eccentric.

Bearborn—I ain't, my fault, Boss. Any time I gets about three shots of liquor and a couple of beers into me, I ain't responsible for my actions. Yes, can't keep my hands off an automobile then."

This was the defensive argument put up Monday by Hubbard Murray, 32-year-old negro, when he was arrested for the tenth time as an automobile thief. Police say Murray has served 11 years in Jackson prison, due to his weakness for other people's cars. This time it was a car belonging to the Oakland county poor commissioner.—The Dearborn Independent.

FOOD MARKET

Advice

EATING outdoors is something many families enjoy even when they don't like picnics because outdoor meals eaten at home are regular meals and can be prepared on a porch or deck. If another porch or deck is available, the dining table may be moved close to windows made gay with potted plants or window-boxes.

Mr. Price, Miami, Minn.—The last round of price war in the meat market was made record high last week. Forequarter cuts of LAMB, VEAL and BEEF are still the best meat values. POULTRY prices are less attractive than they have been as the surplus supply is gradually disappearing. Prepared meats are more expensive, but are really making one-half pound of cold cuts will serve a family when at least a pound of other meats or fish would be required.

FISH prices in general are reasonable but so far the market season has been disappointing. There has been little change in EGG prices but quantity must be guarded by refraining from good eggs quickly. Dried fruits are a welcome addition. Both cottage and American CHEESE go well with summer type meals. The quality of the latter is exceptionally good at this time.

Vegetables plentiful, cheap

Irving Pichel will be seen as the mastermind of the criminal band with Cesario Romero as his chief lieutenant. The picture was directed by Lewis R. Foster from William Pierce's story.

WINGS OVER HONOLULU

Combining the color of Uncle Sam's naval air forces with the romance of the tropics in a highly dramatic story, Universal's screen play, "Wings Over Honolulu," opens at the Penniman-Alten theater on Sunday with Woody Barrie and Ray Milland in the leading roles. Milland is remembered for his work in "Three Smart Girls."

The picture was filmed in connection with the cooperation of the United States Navy and contains spectacular aviation scenes.

The U. S. S. Ranger, giant naval aircraft carrier, is the locale of a number of the picture's outstanding scenes. Several of her officers and enlisted personnel appear in the production. Notable among them is Capt. P. N. L. Bellinger, commander of the ship.

Captain Bellinger's debut before the cameras occurred when director H. C. Potter discovered he needed two more Navy officers for a scene being filmed on the flight deck of the Ranger. He persuaded Captain Bellinger and Lieut. Commander Valentine Schaeffer to fill the roles.

In addition to Miss Barrie and Milland, the Hollywood members of the cast of "Wings Over Honolulu" include Kent Taylor, William Gargan, Polly Rowles, Mary Philips, Samuel Hinds, Margaret McWade, Clara Blandick, Joyce Compton and Louise Beavers.

All the male actors except Taylor portray naval officers in the picture. Miss Barrie is seen as the wife of a young lieutenant played by Milland. Miss Rowles is cast as the daughter of an admiral and the sister of Milland's best friend and brother officer portrayed by William Gargan.

One of the most elaborate Navy pictures ever filmed, "Wings Over Honolulu" was adapted by Isabel Dann and Boyce DeGaw from a Red Book magazine novel of the same name by Mildred Crim, nationally famous fiction writer.

In addition to the Ranger, Navy hangars, planes and the Naval Transport Chaumont were used by the movie crew.

Painstaking care was exercised by the studio and the navy to prevent technical errors in the picture. With Lieutenant Commander Schaeffer acting as liaison officer between the navy and the film company every detail of the production was checked.

Joseph Valentine, one of Hollywood's ace cameramen, handled the photography in "Wings Over Honolulu." Valentine also photographed such notable films as "The Moon's Our Home," "Three Smart Girls" and "Top of the Town," remarkable for their photography.

"EVER SINCE EVE"

Two stars of immense popularity, and of well deserved top rank among comedy players, come to the Penniman-Alten theatre next Wednesday in "Ever Since Eve," the Cosmopolitan production which has its local premiere there.

They are Marion Davies, the lovely blonde comedienne, and Robert Montgomery, the debonair youth stars for both outboard and inboard motors on boats located here. Section 6 of the ordinance states that all boats must be equipped with adequate mufflers or underwater exhausts to deaden the sound of motors. Another section states that boats cannot be operated between the hours of 10 p. m. and 6 a. m. on week days, and 12 p. m. and 9 a. m. on Saturdays and Sundays. Violation of section 6 is punishable by a fine of $100, 90 days in jail, or revocation or suspension of boat licenses for six months.
