7 VILLAGERS HURT IN CAR CRASH SUNDAY

1937 Fair Attendance Exceeds All Time High Made Here Last Year

Four-Car Accident on US-12
Injures 10 Persons, 2
Seriously

A heavy fog, which made driving hazardous late Saturday night and early Sunday morning, was responsible for the four-car collision on US-12 near Dixboro about four and a half miles east of Ann Arbor at 7:40 a. m. Sunday, in which seven Northville persons were injured.

Raymond Smith, 2, and his sister, Edith, 21, of this place, were the most seriously injured. Raymond has a fractured skull and Edith has fractures of the pelvis, collar bone and several ribs. These three are receiving care at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor.

Mrs. Smith is suffering chest neck and arm burns made when gasoline ignited after the accident.

The Smith car itself did not catch fire.

Fred, Jr., 8, another son, suffered a fracture of the left leg and left wrist. Glenn Smith, 9; Clifford Smith, 19; and Miss Adella Kidd, 20, were cut and bruised.

Ralza Smith, 15, and Lawrence Smith, 5, who were in the car driven by Clifford, were not injured.

Three persons riding in the second car involved in the crash were hurt.

Harold Alber, 32, 232 Murray avenue, Ann Arbor, the driver, was cut on the face and arms. D. Alber, 12, was bruised, and Otto Hartig, 49, 1325 Packard street, Ann Arbor, suffered abdominal injuries and was cut on the right hand.

All ten victims were treated at St. Joseph's hospital.

The automobile driven by Clifford Smith and Alber collided head-on, completely wrecking the Smith machine, when Smith, according to information received by Deputy Sheriff Ervin Klaeger, turned out to pass a car ahead while driving west on US-12.

While the injured were being loaded into the ambulance, an automobile driven by A. R. Jones, 45, Charles, bumped into a car driven by George Jillick, Kalamazoo, which had been stopped at the scene of the first accident. Jillick's car was rammed against the ambulance, but no one in either of the second pair of cars was hurt.

ALBERT HOLMES, 23, DIES SUNDAY AFTER PROLONGED ILLNESS

After many months of serious illness, Albert Holmes, 23, died Sunday morning, Aug. 29, at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Holmes, 531 Novi road.

Albert, who had been discharged

two weeks ago from the University hospital, Ann Arbor, where he had been receiving treatment, was a victim of a childhood disease of some 15 years ago. It was not until early last fall that it was learned that the sickness suffered in early boyhood, had left its scar internally.

A popular high school student,

Albert was graduated with the Novi class of 1933. Technical inclinations led to his experiments in the building of a number of radio sets for home use.

Surviving him are his parents, Mr.

and Mrs. Holmes; three brothers,

Hiram, Elmer and Edward, all of Detroit; and one sister, Orli, also of Detroit.

Funeral services were held at 2

p. m. Tuesday, Aug. 31, from the Schrader Chapel with the Rev.

Frank Miner of the Walled Lake

Methodist church officiating. Burial was made in Walled Lake.

MISS AVIS BROWN TAKES LIBRARY POSITION AT BRADLEY POLYTECHNIC

Miss Avis Brown, 18, Ann Arbor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Brown, formerly of this place, has accepted a position as assistant librarian at the Bradley Polytechnic school at Peoria, Ill.

Miss Brown leaves Ann Arbor to take over her new duties on Sept.

13. Since receiving her Library of Science degree at the University of Michigan in 1931, Miss Brown has worked in the various departments of the University library. She was graduated from the University of Michigan in 1930, following her graduation from the Northville high school in 1928.

HINES PROMISES EARLY OPENING OF NEW MORANG ROAD

From Edward N. Hines, Wayne County Road Commissioner, comes word this week that the construction of the Morang road from Mt. Clemens drive to the Seven Mile road has been completed.

"It will be open to traffic at an early date," says Mr. Hines.

The Morang road was built as a PWA project at a cost of $145,400. The Federal government's contribution on this enterprise was $80,430," asserts Mr. Hines.

Built of concrete, it is 40 feet wide with curbs and under drainage, making a desirable cut-off from Seven Mile road.

WHEN BRETHREN DO AGREE

Anyone who followed the recent conventions of the U. A. W. must certainly have been impressed with the disorderly way in which the sessions were carried on. Fighting among delegates, quarrels of all descriptions on the floor, and intemperate language, seemed to have played a big part at the convention in Milwaukee. Things got so heated at times that a guard had to be placed at times around the presiding officers.

And this is the group of labor leaders who are supposed to have been planning a fair and more just way of employment for the workers! When one notices how these leaders behaved at their national convention, is it any wonder that the state of Michigan has suffered so many months of violence and disorder at the hands of these labor leaders?

WHEN THE GOLDENROD DOTS THE HIGHWAYS

As we sat reading on our porch the other evening a cricket hopped cheerfully upon our lap bringing greetings of the coming of fall. We didn't have the courage to swat the little fellow but let him hop into a nearby corner. Then we realized that on that very afternoon we had seen the goldenrod nodding its blond head along the highway. All the stored-up glory of the summer time bursts into full bloom in the gorgeous goldenrod, foreteller of the coming autumn.

Signs of fall are on every hand. Someone brings us in a bushel of ripe pears and home grown peaches are yellowing on the trees. Frost strikes Michigan many times before the middle of September and before we know it, one of these fine mornings we shall see smoke coming from the chimneys of our neighbors. Michigan in September and October is glorious but let no one forget to plan for the sterner days of winter that are ahead.

THAT BIG BURROUGHS PLANT

The giant structure now nearing completion on the Plymouth road one mile east of our neighboring city is the new Burroughs Adding Machine factory that is coming out from Detroit to enjoy the country air. In time this factory will undoubtedly employ hundreds and hundreds of men. These employees will spread out to Northville as well as Plymouth. Our hills and valleys will undoubtedly lure many of these workers to settle in this ideal suburban spot. This is what the Michigan Manufacturer and Financial Record has to say of the new plant:

An outstanding example of decentralization of industry is afforded by the building of the new Burroughs Adding Machine factory at Plymouth. For years, the Burroughs company has found its production plans hampered by the crowded condition of its Detroit plant and this year the company began building a modern plant in Plymouth on land purchased some time ago for such expansion purposes. The plant will be one of the most modern in the country and is being constructed according to plans made by Albert Kahn, Inc., Esslinger-Misch Company, Detroit, has the general contract.

WHEN GAMBLERS SQUAWK

When young or innocent persons lose money to gamblers we have all sympathy for the losers. But when grown men who ought to be used to the ways of the world set out to beat the gamblers at their own game and then complain when they take the usual licking, we have no pity at all.

Everyone should know that gambling is a racket and that the "house" always wins; in fact, a ratio of 60% to the house and 40% to the losers is unusually favorable to the man who is taking a chance against the gambler. Usually the ratio is much higher for the gambler. The man who sets out to gamble has just one motive—greed. He hopes to get something for nothing which in this "vale of tears" is something that seldom happens. If he does win something it comes from the pocketbooks of other "suckers" who lose that he might win.

The man who does get a break once in a while does not complain when he gets some money he has not earned. Therefore if he loses most of his money, and he usually does, he is a poor sportsman if he "squawks." In other words, it takes two to gamble and gambling is played according to certain rules. Every sane man should know this and unless he wants to contribute to the income of gamblers he should stay strictly away from all games of chance. He is licked before he starts.

THE BREAK-DOWN OF GOVERNOR MURPHY

News from California that Governor Murphy of Michigan has suffered a nervous collapse and was sent to a hospital is not surprising. With all the strain he has undergone this year the marvel is that he had not gone to a hospital before. No human being, no matter how rugged, can definitely endure the tension and strain which he has been under as a result of our industrial strife that began early in the year.

The human body is in many ways a delicate mechanism and the nervous tension under which many men work takes its toll sooner or later. One has only to read the daily papers to realize how successful men, under the strain of public life, are constantly falling by the wayside. Deaths of men in their early sixties is reported all too frequently for the good of their families and friends. Because of the pressure of our highly organized business and industrial life we literally kill off our people before their time. Every man past middle life should have the courage to slow down but, as in the case of Governor Murphy, the public simply will not let them.

The same newspaper that told of the collapse of Governor Murphy told the news that Father Charles E. Coughlin had left on a trip to Europe following a collapse because of the pressure of public speaking. Here again we have the case of the human body rebelling against the too heavy load it has been called upon to carry.

How futile and foolish seems all of our highly organized life when so many good men have to break down in the insane rush which seems to enmesh us all! We surely are not as smart as we think we are.

WHO WANTS TO RUN A RESTAURANT?

Two of our friends have recently expressed the idea that it would be a fine idea to run a restaurant. Make good money and have a generally interesting time. After three days of waiting on tables at the Rotary dining room at the fair last week we have a few ideas on the question of running a restaurant. Don't do it. That is, don't do it unless you have the constitution of a mule, the patience of Job, the smile of a movie star and the business sagacity of the buyer of a big department store. Also it will do no harm to have a good supply of that unusual quality known as common sense or gumption.

In our short experience of "slinging hash" we found that there are two classes of eaters: One kind is very appreciative, another kind that you can't please at all. For example one evening at about eight o'clock when the food was about all run out we made the mistake of bringing one chicken neck and a wing to a customer who chanced to be one of the hard-boiled concession men at the fair who also discovered that we had short changed him on the vegetable course. He wanted some beets like his neighbor had. But instead of being sympathetic with his surroundings he hissed at us, "Do you think I was born yesterday! Bring me some real food." Well, we killed him with kindness but we wouldn't relish doing business with folks like that every day.

On the other hand we had many people say to us, "That was a very fine dinner and we thank you for your service." One even went so far as to offer us a tip but with all its variety and spice the restaurant business holds no lure to us.

SUICIDE

By THEODORE WERLE

This morning learned of the suicide of a friend. He threw himself from a high building and so brought his life to its close. He had been much troubled by ill health and financial loss. He was a sensitive man of fine attainments. It was a pleasure to sit with him in conversation. So deeply had he been disappointed in the course his life had taken that he could no longer bear it. He sought peace and rest and has found it—forever. I can believe that a merciful Lord will offer tenderness, haven to a soul thus returning from a world-tormented body.

To one who finds the earthly struggle too trying there comes with gradually increasing seductiveness the soothing song of death's slumber. Walking from sleep is but returning to travail. Walking from anesthesia in a dentist's chair, or the surgeon's table, is cruel disappointment. Day by day the liability of escape grows more alluring—responsibilities here on earth less important. Day by day the melody of eternity is more desired. The final step is but reaching out for the soul's release. So it is to the suicide.

It seems very different to us. We are shocked by the cruelty and suddenness of the taking off. A suicide's death is seldom easy. Often frightful physical torture for days precedes the end. Courage is needed to commit the act, but more courage may be needed to live on. For this last reason, suicides have been loosely called cowards. So they may be. Certain it is that if they would but hang on to living a bit longer, life's wheel would turn for them as it does for us all. Changes come as certainly as the rising of the sun brings new mornings. Each new day offers new beginnings. And to learn how thoroughly deceived the suicide is on the bring of his act, talk with one who was pulled back and who, as time spun onward, found happiness.

May his friends have mercy on his memory.

that is just what Governor Wilbur M. Brucker said to A. E. Fuller, head of the department at the Northville Wayne County Fair, last Friday, at "Governor's Day" here.

Mrs. Benore and Mrs. Thomas, wives of the two young Canadian soldiers, who were appalled and heartbroken as deserters, were in town Tuesday to remove their household effects from the Irving flats.

During the five hours absence of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Butler from their farm home southwest of town Sunday, their house was broken into and money, jewelry and papers to the value of several hundred dollars stolen.

30 YEARS AGO

The residence of Mr. George Harris, High Avenue was the scene of a quiet but pretty wedding on Wednesday at high noon, when Harriet Lillian, daughter of the late George Harris and Mrs. Harris, was married to Frank Wesley Stephens son of the Rev. W. G. and Mrs. Stephens of Northville.

Mrs. Mary E. Savage died at Harper Hospital Aug. 28 and the funeral was held from the home of her

HOMEMAKER'S CORNER

By MRS. EDITOR

By FLORENCE RIDICK-BOYS
Copyrighted.CHILDISH DAWDLING
A perplexing mother-problem is what to do about the slow, dreamy habits of a growing child. If he is permitted to indulge this habit he is in danger of becoming lazy and trifling. If the parent perpetually prods him, this spoils the sweet imagination of years of childhood and may start a feeling of resentment on the part of the child, which will be difficult to overcome.

Life usually brings its griefs aplenty, as the years go by, and it is a pity for the young child to miss the care-free years, the happy memories and the chummy comradeship with his parents which seem his due. Can we not split the difference between good humored patience and up-and-coming discipline? Can we not devise interests, excitements and inducements which will pep him up a bit with his dressing or dishwashing, or whatever has task he may be—until he gets the habit of putting some speed into his motions?

There is some excuse for the daily habits of children in that they are growing rapidly, both physically and mentally, and their endurance and stamina are not as vigorous as they will be later. With a happy environment and a good example, children usually "snap out of it" when they get a little older.

HOUSEWIFERY

When rolling out and cutting the dough for cookies, fried cakes or pie crust, estimate the measurements carefully, so that you will have the least possible dough to roll twice. Dough which has been rolled more than once is less delicate than the first rolling. Do not mix the scraps with the fresh dough, save them for a separate rolling at the last.

To dust sick-furniture or the carvings on other furniture, use a small paint brush. It will not scratch and will remove the dust which is inaccessible to the dust cloth.

To cut the rind from bacon slices, use the scissors instead of a knife.

It is almost impossible to remove the white stains left on a table top by hot dishes. Sometimes these may be removed by rubbing them with camphorated oil.

"Slave Ship," Film Two Years in Making, Is Friday Feature; Jane Withers Returns To Screen in Comedy, "Angel's Holiday"

SLAVE SHOP

Storming in epic sweep over half the world; as the last slave sails on its last desperate voyage, "Slave Shop" opens Friday at the Penniman-Alen theatre, giving the screen a new claimant for the title of "biggest of all sea sagas."

Twentieth-Century-Fox's most spectacular production of the year, "Slave Shop" co-stars Warner Baxter and Wallace Beery in pulsing tale of the slave-trading era, with Elizabeth Allan and Mickey Rooney among those on the boat as with decks rederecked by mutiny, it realms the seas on its final fury-racked voyage.

In the most colorful role of a colorful career Warner Baxter plays Capt. Jim Lovett, romantic scourge of two seas who defies the navies of the world, and fights at last for love in the greatest sea adventure of the mall.

Wallace Beery, whose long list of shipboard roles reads like a veritable history of the salt-water cinema, sinks his teeth into a meaty role that presents him as the villainous mate of the slaver—big-faced, bull-headed, genial and treacherous to his dying breath, one minute a roaring beast, the next, a gentle child; friend and foe alike to the captain he serves—and betrays.

"Slave Shop" traces the tempestuous career of a swift bark engaged in the slave trade, and its courageous captain, Warner Baxter, who planned to retire from "blackbirding" to settle down to "blackbirding" with his young bride, Elizabeth Allen.

As they sail on Baxter's boat on the bone-marrow cruise which is to mark the end of its days as a slave, they find that they have been betrayed by the mate, Wallace Beery, and the crew, avid for more slaving profits. The honeymoon cruise is turned into a voyage in which they are continually brought face to face with danger and death.

Sought by the natives of every nation, and torn by mutiny aboard the slave ship sail on through adventures on the high seas, and along the African coast, and it is a dramatic climax which clears the future for the canting couple and sends the l-f-fates silver to its ominous destiny.

The story of "Slave Ship," which is based on the novel by George S. King, was written by William Faulkner, and the reticent play is the work of Sam Hellman, Lamar Trotti and Gladys Lehman. George Sanders, Jane Darwell and Joseph Schudkratz are among those who appear in the huge cast.

One of the thrills of the track took place the opening day when the start found George Van Slieck in the neck behind Swift Direct, the winner of the 1936 2 21 pace.

Van Slieck left far in a plateau, drove Swift Direct into first position in the 2 16 pace, coming in first in the first two heats.

McLoughlin Family Moves to Detroit; Leaders in Village Social and Civic Affairs

When the J. N. McLoughlin family moved from their home in Oakwood subdivision to Detroit Monday they left a decided "hole" in the community in which they have lived for 11 years. Every member of this family has taken an active part in Northville affairs. Mr. McLoughlin, who holds a responsible position with the Fenestra Window company, chose this village as a wholesome place to let his four children grow up. For a number of years the stone house on South Rogers street was home to them until it was sold to Harry Rack.

Mrs. McLoughlin was for two years president of the Northville Woman's club and a valued member. Known for her kindly hospitality, she has won a wide circle of friends.

Both Frances ("Tom") and Jack

Nan is the horsewoman of the year, carrying off many a blue ribbon from the Fair. She can

AROUND THE HORSE SHOW RING

28-Year-Old Sandy Is Favorite With Spectators

There was so much activity around the horse show ring last week it was often difficult to close in on the horses that were wearing nearly-won ribbons.

With spectators dressed in mid-summer costumes, the scene was quite a contrast to last year, when brisk autumn winds brought out fall clothes for two days of the show.

Ronald Morris paced around back of his bachelor's box—which was usually so full that there wasn't room for him taking pictures, movies and stills—we're told—of competing horses and their owners. His camera is still in working order, which is more than a Detroit Times photographer can say. One of the horses had no respect for a camera man who was poised on bended knee to take a flicker as he was leaving the ring. The horse didn't stop, and the Times man spent several minutes picking up the pieces.

Saturday afternoon this department got quite worked up and was ready to campaign for the dismissal of two men from the spectators' section who were standing next to the press box. Especially because a horseholder requested a groom to move some polo horses away from the boxes, the men gave loud voice to their opinions. The restless horses kicking their hind legs were sending tufts of grass and dirt into the boxes. No, knowing that the request came from a horse show committee man who was fulfilling his duty in looking after the comfort and safety of the boy-holders, the fight-leaders found themselves experiencing extreme unpopularity after one had remarked: "Just who does he think he is, he ain't no better than the rest of us standing up here."

All in case the two men return for the show next year, it might never turn to you that persons who take along the riding at the extreme ends of the ring do so at their own risk. So the two men crashed through the young fighters for the right to be called a veteran.

Charles Newkirk's short partnership in the other racing field, but a longer one would have been useful and the young drivers.

The young men of the village made the show a success this year, all due to the efforts of Mr. and Mrs. Francis McLoughlin and a troupe of girls, Barbara Phillips, one of whom, she said, is a graduate of West End Bob Telle, Louise Meyers and Gwen Jones, Shirley Grimes and Betty Clark, who helped to work at the illustrations and posters. It was a great success, and when it was time to give the grand prize, Paul Hayes, the winner, Peggy Walker, who had just come in from the University of Michigan, A. V. M.

VAN VALKENBURG

TELLS OF TROUBLE SHOOTING LIGHTS

By C. A. DOIPH

Did you ever stop to think what happens to your lights or your electric apparatus when a big thunder storm comes into action? Ever think how many men spring into action to protect the property of yourselves and others?

It was the pleasure of the Exchange to have Ray Van Valkenburg tell them Wednesday about the routine followed and how difficulties were remedied as quickly as possible.

In opening the subject, Mr. Van

Valkenburg gave a brief outline of electric service in Northville from 1888 until 1914, when the Edison company bought the plant from the village. It seems that Northville was the second village outside the metropolitan area to install a light system.

Continuing, Mr. Van Valkenburg

said that a power of 120,000 watts were delivered from Marysville and Superior power houses and stepped down to 2,400 volts at the local sub-stations. From there it went on overhead lines and thus found its way into various services.

The various reactions to a storm or trouble of any sort outside the sub-station was outlined and the procedure all along the way until the fault was corrected.

Another person looking particularly smart in a brown and white habit was noted other than Marguerite Kolody, the assistant secretary, herself, who from time to time entered the ring to present trophies and ribbons to the winning horse owners. Mrs. William

Rawle Brown gave congratulations and encouragement to the Junior Show participants Thursday afternoon. She wore a black and white ragged ensemble for the occasion.

CAR CRASHES

We certainly have our weekly alloment of emergency news in these parts of late. Few weeks have passed this summer without one or more incident reports.

FIRE THREATENS COTTAGE

Last week Monday, at 11:45 p.m., it was called out a couple of times, picked up his ears a bit, Friday night, after he returned from the Detroit, 25 years old, during the week. Dan Hullock's car, and had visions of a front page headline, "Dan Hullock, who was driving cottage, 128 Maple Boulevard, was south on East Lake Drive, crashed, threatened about 8:30 Saturday night, when a tree, which was ignited in the woods, about 3 a.m. The alarm, Chief Wimmer, estimated at $300. The car was badly damaged. The cause was undetermined.

HE FELL ASLEEP.

"Scoop" Hutton, ever on the alert, spread on the tip that a well known local citizen was reported missing into a tree, when, according to his story, he was forced off the road by a fire in the store. The informant said Roy H. McQuern, who had gone huckleberrying about 11 a.m. Friday, was driving south on the wrong road, when a fire was under control before he came to a stop. Hamilton suffered Saturday a week ago, cuts about the face. Passengers in the car were Mary Poulard, 718 (on the 26th) Fire Chief Wimmer, Grand Avenue, Detroit, who sus- and staff made a run to Middletown, a broken leg; Lewis Young, Straits Lake in answer to a call of

The second brood of Codling Moth has made its appearance and is September as winter injury will follow. If it has been as low as 14 days since a spray was applied another is needed according to Ray Hutton, entomologist.

The tarnished plant bug is causing injury to various plants. Dusting with a pyrethrum and sulphur mixture seems to be giving best results to date on full grown bugs.

Spray 1-400 nicotine sulphate in Bordeaux mixture at 250-400 pounds pressure. Dust 50-50 mixture of finely ground pyrethrum, flowers and leaves of sulphur or commercial pyrethrum dust made with sulphur.

They breed on Mare's tail, lamb's quarters, ragweed, daisies, goldenrod and wild aster. Weed control will help.

DON'T CUT ALFALFA

S. T. Dexter, farm crops specialist, recommends that farmers should not cut or pasture their alfalfa in September as winter injury will follow.

The alfalfa plants need time to store up food in their roots for next year's growth. If a second cutting is taken late in August, further cutting or pasturing is considered unwise.

Some vegetable growers are experiencing troubles with melons, tomatoes, and egg plants. A recent trip to the college brings out the advice to keep the foliage well covered with a Bordeaux mixture. The Bordeaux mixture at 250-400 pounds pressure. Dust 50-50 mixture of finely ground pyrethrum, flowers and leaves of sulphur or commercial pyrethrum dust made with sulphur.

In previous years, the course has been known as a hatcherymen's school. This year, Sept. 13 to 17, the course will be open to poultrymen, in general, combining hatching phases with the annual blood testing school.

Two courses are included in the program. From Cornell University the short course is obtaining a movie showing how a chick develops in the egg during 21 days. Another from the United States Department of Agriculture illustrates operation of the new national poultry improvement plan. J. A. Hartman, secretary of the state board of agriculture, will be the speaker for the banquet program Thursday evening, Sept. 16. His address will concern his recent trip to Alaska.

Poultrymen who will attend the course should inform the poultry department, Michigan State college, East Lansing. The department to take care of visitors, wants to know the number of persons who will attend and how many expect to be at the banquet.

September to June is a long test of normal vision, but for a child laboring under the strain of poor eyes, the school year may easily be turned into a period of utter defeat — of poor marks and bad health.

An examination of your child's eyes — done with modern scientific equipment and by a skilled professional optometrist — may reveal eye deficiency now when it can be corrected with little effort and cost to your child's well-being.

You are cordially invited to make use of our services in promoting your child's welfare for the coming school year.

sprayed with 8-12-100 Bordeaux mixture. The affected fruit should be picked and removed from the field. Watermelons do not seem to be setting. This may be attributed to the cool nights and rainy weather. Michigan is not a watermelon State. They require more heat units than muskmelons.

A new bulletin "Potato Protection for Small Acres" is available at the County Agent's office, Dearborn.

OFFER POULTRY COURSE

Poultry short courses and conference programs for five days in the middle of September are offered for the eleventh year by staff members of the Michigan State College. Greater efficiency and quality in the state's 24 million dollar egg and meat industry is sought.

Apple growers and commercial processors recently attended a meeting at the college and sampled some of the fresh pasteurized cider. Some of the visitors will be in a holiday mood.

The Civic association will be brought to a close with a three-day festival which began on Saturday and will continue through Sunday and Labor Day.

Anticipating that many of the visitors will be in a holiday mood, the Civic association has arranged for a number of entertainment features in connection with the home display. Among these will be a carnival company.

A feature of the festival will be the turning over of the three multi-unit homes to their new owners, the first unit on Saturday night, the second on Sunday night and the third on the night of Labor Day.

The homes on exhibit are called multiple-unit homes because, when completed, they consist of from one to three units, depending upon how large a home an individual may wish to build.

The home is so designed that additional rooms may be built on either side without any alterations being made in the portion already erected; all partitions in the first unit remaining just where they were when the unit was built.

The homes will be open to visitors from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. daily through Labor Day.

SCIENCE ENTERS*CIDER MAKING

Olden time pastime of sipping cider through a straw is still a process that can garner many a Michigan farmer some extra cash from apples. But science has come along to help the industry, for some folks don't like their cider when it starts foaming at the cork.

In studies at Michigan State college, one of the newest bits of help for cider makers is found in a process of flash pasteurization that can be utilized by cider makers. The (Continued from page 1) to the color of the whole week by parading from the home-to-home fair grounds in cars decorated to advertise Plymouth day which was that day.

Friday was Farmington day, and the uniformed band from that place was a highlight in the program for persons seated in the grandstand.

Variety in scope and appeal were the attractions, that brought these hundreds of visitors to the fair grounds. A E. Fuller's poultry show was bigger this year than last displaying birds of finer feather.

To Mrs. Henry Hill, Northville, went the first prize for the best display in the horticultural department, A Plymouth man, John Miller, placed second with his entry, while two Northville fruit growers, William and Fred Foreman, took third and fourth places. Lewis Bogart, Wixom, took the fifth prize ribbon.

Three Towns Claim Cars

That the fair here is a focus point for surrounding towns was evidenced this year when the Friday car drawing sent the Plymouth car to Plymouth to be owned by Mrs. Cary Chapman of that place. The following day, a Novi woman, Mrs. Harold W. Miller, drew the Ford.

E. M. Flaherty of the village was the signer of the ticket which gave the Chevrolet to him.

From the grandstand, the free acts were witnessed by capacity crowds, while to one side of the huge stage, bell fans watched the Schrader-Haggerty team take the Thursday game from the Perfection Laundry by a one-point margin. On Friday Garden City defeated Bellville, 6-0. Garden City took the final game Saturday from Schrader-Haggerty, 8-1.

Stock Parade Is Climax

Climaxing the events of the week as far as the farmers were concerned was the Saturday stock parade, headed by Elmer L. Smith, president of the Fair association.

Harry B. Clark, chairman of the Senior Horse Show; Charles Newkirk and his daughter, Miss Laura, all mounted and colorfully dressed, in high boots, gay scarfs, riding breeches and large hats.

The Goslin and Blackwell grand champion Belgian and Percheron horses were in the parade, as were the Belgian horses belonging to Floyd Appeling of Farmington. R. D. Willoughby of Plymouth, who makes a hobby of livestock, had a show of horses here. Also in the final game Saturday from Schrader-Haggerty, 8-1.

Saturday, Sept. 4, the game will be called at 1:30 p. m. Following the game, plans will be made for a picnic in the near future.

Mr. Carlson reports that the baseball equipment this season has cost $1834. Total ticket sales and donations amount to $1440.

Getting the Better of the Law

"Smith certainly is a tovy fellow. He's drawn up his will in such a way that the lawyers can't get more out of it than his own heirs."

FESTIVAL FEATURES
EXHIBITION OF 3 GARDEN CITY HOMES

After being open to the public for a period of two months, the exhibit of Multiple-unit homes at West Warren and Middle Belt roads, sponsored by the Garden City Civic association, will be brought to a close with a three-day festival which began on Saturday and will continue through Sunday and Labor Day.

Length of the time the cider remains in the pasteurizing tubes varies from 5 to 40 seconds, as compared to the more commonly used pasteurizing method that retains the liquid under heat for from 20 to 30 minutes.

Apple growers and commercial processors recently attended a meeting at the college and sampled some of the fresh pasteurized cider.

The Civic association has arranged for a number of entertainment features in connection with the home display.

Used to be a carnival . . . Had ball games and races, though back in those days . . . Circle "N" team used to really put it on . . . Used to have some stick trotters and pacers, too.

Timber Burrows, Seedy Van Vleet, Smith and many other "old timers" could step 'em off, no foolin' . . . Caught myself with my mouth hanging open as I marveled at the dark skinned, black fezzed young fortune teller who told 'em while you waited, first come, first served . . . First name and full age . . . Only missed once, while I watched . . . That was on mine . . . How do they do it?

The homes on exhibit are called multiple-unit homes because, when completed, they consist of from one to three units, depending upon how large a home an individual may wish to build.

The home is so designed that additional rooms may be built on either side without any alterations being made in the portion already erected; all partitions in the first unit remaining just where they were when the unit was built.

The home will be open to visitors from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. daily through Labor Day.

Novi News*Too Late to Print in Full

The Novi school will open Tuesday, Sept. 7, with the following teachers in charge: Sept. H. F. Crook, Tecumseh; Principal Roderick Bryan, Royal Oak; fifth and sixth grades, Dorothy M. Rendell, Milan; third and fourth grades, Edna Hill, Novi; primary, Maryann Atkinson, Novi; janitor, A. L. Hill.

Miss Louise Perry began her work Monday as teacher in the St. Charles school.

Mr. and Mrs. George Mairs began housekeeping in their apartment in Ypsilanti this week.

4-H Club*Parade

In the section of the parade reserved for the 4-H club members Lucy Steeb, 14-year-old Washburn country girl, a blue ribbon winner with her entries, displayed two yearling sheep lamb. In this group was Charles Foss, Jr., 13-year-old son of a Guernsey farmer that was a first prize winner.

It was with a great deal of pride that Fred A. Northington, secretary of the Fair, pointed to the enlarged horse show ring Saturday afternoon where some of the finest horses from stables in Michigan and Ohio were competing for blue ribbons.

The horses have grown up now and this year set its highest number of entries 107 as compared with last year's 67. This is in addition to some 60 horses entered in the June Show," he said.

Horse Show Is Success

Harry B. Clark, chairman of the Senior Show and Mrs. William Basle Brown, chairman of the Junior Show, Edmund Dorling and Miss Margaret Kolodny have completed their first year as secretary manager and assistant-secretary of the horse show. Spurred on by their expectations that have tapped sources which promise an even larger turnout for the class events next August.

Carlson Comments on Young Ball Players

Due to the Fair, no game was played last Saturday between the local Yanks and Tigers. However, the game that was scheduled for that day was played on Monday as part of a double header.

A. C. Carlson, manager, in a statement to the boys of the teams commands them for the improvement they have shown in their playing. He attributes this to the faithful attendance at the games, which is essential if they are to become good ball players.

Saturday, Sept. 4, the game will be called at 1:30 p. m. Following the game, plans will be made for a picnic in the near future.

Mr. Carlson reports that the baseball equipment this season has cost $1834. Total ticket sales and donations amount to $1440.

and, alone, worth several times the cost of the whole show, the stage features of entertainment are of high class, the race card produces very interesting and exciting heats, and the ball games show that there is some very good amateur, if not professional talent, in this section.

"Observing the features of the amusement program from the grand stand, one is reminded of the confusion of the three ring circus, while trying to follow the races, baseball and horse show all in action at the same time, and the vaudeville filling in to preserve the continuity of interest.

I would suggest, however, that it would add greatly to the enjoyment of the patrons of the grand stand, and incidentally to the whole crowd, if the 'workers' on the midway were somewhat muzzled by elimination of the microphones. One sitting in the grandstand is there to bear, as well as to see, what is going on in front and not behind, but when those loudspeakers and tom-toms break loose in the midway, the adjoining stage but the noise from the rear is very distracting and confusing, and a to-order ear is agreeable.

Judging from observation of methods used, much of the success of the enterprise each year is due to the plan of having one man named as the responsible head of each department and giving him full room with no interference from outside.

I am very glad that I happened to be here just in time and fortunate enough to get a seat at the annual banquet to the Fair judges and superintendents, chosen by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Clark at their beautiful home.

Mr. Clark is a young life, stepmother, Mrs. Josephine Carr, his wife, Mrs. A. F. Fuller and another half-sister, Mrs. Edith Palmer of Wallington, who came here to visit her mother and sister, and to see the Fair. Merritt Meeker, of Syracuse, N. Y., owned Wellstar, to whom his wife and children were spending the summer at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fuller.

ANNOUNCE NEED FOR U. S. GAGE READER

The United States Civil Service commission announces an open competitive examination for the position of gage reader, with the salary ranging from $1200 to $1500 yearly.

As a result of this examination certification will be made to fill a vacancy in this position in the engineering department at large, South St. Marie, and future vacancies occurring in positions requiring similar qualifications in the Detroit engineer district at approximately the same rate of pay, unless it is found in the interest of the service to fill any vacancy by reinstatement, transfer or promotion.
