

RELIEF MAN IS NEED OF POLICE FORCE

Mayor Burkart Says Special Meeting May Have to be Called Next Week

With Street Commissioner Earl Montgomery taking over the police chief duties permanently, or at least for the duration of the time that the present council is in office (terms expire in March, 1938) members of the village commission have only one office, that of relief man, to fill as a result of Loye M. German's recent resignation from the police department.

Only two written applications for this particular post have been received by the council, and the wages asked in these cases are above the present budget.

"We've had more trouble in keeping men in village offices in the last six months than in the whole seven years that I've been on the council," asserted Dr. H. H. Burkart, village mayor, at the council table Monday evening. Death has claimed four village officials within the past ten months.

Dr. Burkart recommended that commissioners give the situation some serious thought within the next few days and told them that it might be advisable to call a special meeting to fill the vacancy.

"The three men (Street Commissioner Earl Montgomery and Nightwatchman Richard Loomis) must have a man to relieve them on duty," he said.

Commenting on the police department, Commissioner Elmer Perin pointed out that the time was not far in the future when the police force would have to be a three-man affair.

"That will have to come eventually. We're asking too much of our men now," agreed Dr. Burkart.

EDITOR EATON FINDS WASTE IN PROJECTS IN WEST, DUST-BOWL

Declaring that the expenditure of millions of dollars for federal projects in the West is a shameless waste of the taxpayers' money, Elton E. Eaton of Plymouth, in an address before the Northville Rotary club Tuesday noon, told in vivid detail of his visits to several of these enterprises on his recent trip to California.

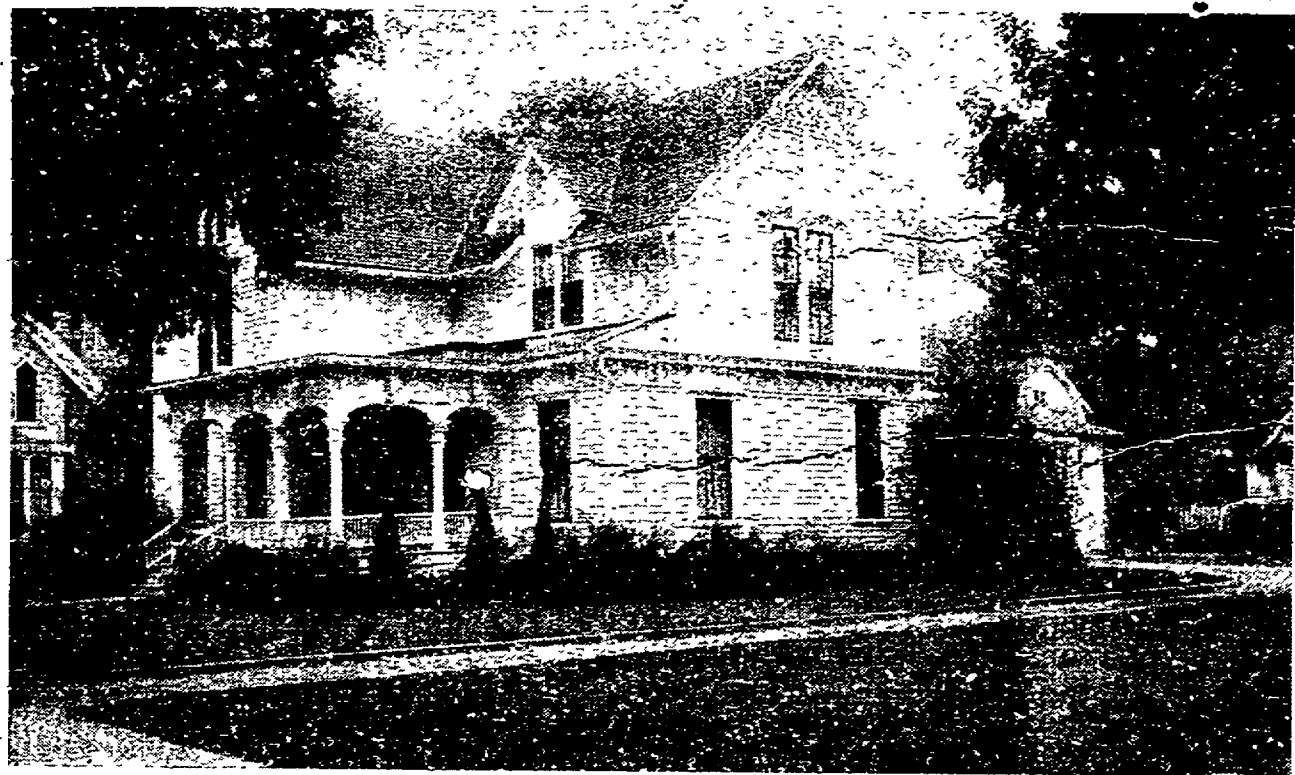

Accompanied by Mrs. Eaton, Mayor Eaton made a month's trip to the coast, his objective being his brother's home in the Imperial Valley. The trip was made by the northern route in going out and the southern in returning.

Mr. Eaton told of his visits to several federal dams and with the exception of Boulder Dam he maintained that the projects were very costly and would not return anything like the returns that are expected of them. At Fort Peck in Montana, for example, $198,000,000 has already been spent and it will be two years before the dam is completed. People of that section, he said, themselves did not want the dam. Every cent of the expense will come from the taxpayers and there will never be any revenue from the dam.

Continuing his denunciations of the vast expenditures, the Plymouth editor told of a cave-in of a dam in Kansas where $150,000,000 was wiped out by the complete collapse of the dam. "As taxpayers we should look on these projects in real alarm. I do not see how they can continue this wild spending much longer. It is time for the people of this part of the world, which is providing much of the tax money, to demand an accounting of their money."

Mr. Eaton had a good word to say about Boulder Dam where there is some real reason for the giant construction. This dam serves a four-fold purpose: to control floods; to prevent erosion; to provide power; and to assist in irrigation. There (Continued on page 8)

VISIT DETROIT NEWS

Three members of the Orange and Black staff, Peggy Walker, Gwen-dolyn Jones and Louise Alexander, will be guests of the Rotary club Tuesday when the group visits The Detroit News.

R. J. Casterline announces the opening this week of his funeral home at his residence, 122 West Dunlap street, bringing an end to 20 years of association at the Schrader Bros. furniture and funeral chapel, 14 years of which he spent conducting the funerals for that concern formerly headed by the late Nelson C. Schrader.

Mr. Casterline has his home under construction where remodeling is well under way to complete a private funeral chapel in the first floor. The Casterline apartment will occupy the second floor of the structure. "This arrangement means that there will be an attendant in the home day and night," asserted Mr. Casterline.

He is buying modern equipment to compliment the new chapel, which, although close to the business section, is surrounded by adequate parking space.

Fred Casterline is his father's assistant in the new business which began serving the public Monday of this week.

Mr. Casterline plans to have a formal opening of his chapel within a few weeks.

Police Dog's Game With Cat Comes To Dead End In Tank Car

A dog's troubled life claimed the attention Tuesday morning of Northville police department, employees of an oil company and the Pere Marquette agent Abram V. Barber.

It all started when a spotted police dog and a chow took to the heels of a stray cat in the railroad yards. The chase ended in a frame understanding which runs the full length of an oil tank car, the property of an oil company. Brought up on the theory of self-preservation and the survival of the fittest, the cat raced through the underpassing and on to the great open spaces, leaving the pursuing police dog caught half-way through the casing.

For three hours, the dog eyed, from small openings in the casing sides, his canine pal who was standing guard with Police Chief Earl Montgomery and a crew of volunteer rescuers. A steel pole was finally used to push the frightened dog back to the entrance where he made his exit, hind legs first. Bewildered by his experience, the dog attached himself to the rescue party. His willingness to follow one of the men to Beal street, gave Chief Montgomery reason to believe the dog's owner lives in the southeast section of the village.

SCHOOL ENROLLMENT REACHES NEW HIGH

An unprecedented enrollment figure for the Northville schools was reached this week, bringing the total for both high school and grade school to 203.

It was the early registration which pointed to a high enrollment that led to the hiring of an additional grade school teacher, Miss Ruth Cassidy, after classes had actually convened in September.

The last report on the grade school gave the following distribution of pupils: Mrs. James A. Huff, grade 6, 42; Mrs. Lester Stage, grade 5, 21; Miss Ruth Cassidy, grades 4, 5, 28; Mrs. Z. H. Habbitt, grade 3, 23; Miss Estelle Griffiths, grade 3, 23; Mrs. Bertha Miller, grade 2, 34; Mrs. O. F. WILLIAM HENSCH REPLACES E. M. BARR

Wayne University Graduate
Will Teach Science
In High School

William Hensch, a University of Wayne graduate of the class of 1937, has been given a contract by the Northville board of education to fill the high school vacancy, which occurred when Coach Elliott M. Barr resigned last week.

Mr. Barr, who became a member of the faculty here in the fall of 1936, joins the Bay City high school science department Monday, Oct. 25.

Mr. Hensch will take over the science classes in chemistry, physics, general science and high school geography, which Mr. Barr instructed.

Mr. Hensch, together with Mrs. Hensch, will move from Detroit to Northville next week.

FRANK PIPP TALKS TO EXCHANGITES

By CHARLES A. DOLPH
Frank Pipp, son of E. G. Pipp, founder of Pipp's Weekly, was the guest speaker at the Exchange club meeting Wednesday noon.

Mr. Pipp is police radio reporter, now covering the Detroit area. So far this year, he has handled 55,000 runs, as they are called when a car is sent on investigations, and 112,000 messages during his eight-hour shift each day.

The speaker was introduced by Cameron Lodge who was in charge of the program. Mr. Pipp outlined the mechanics of the varied assortment of calls to the police department and how quickly results could be obtained. Illustrating, he told of a call which came in at 11:23 p. m. Monday, of a man breaking into a business place and of the car called reporting at 11:31 that they had their man and were on the way to the station.

The department gets many calls which do not amount to anything but they want folks to be free to report suspicious actions so that they can head off trouble. One day a woman called and a scout car responded. When they reached this woman's house, they found her sitting on her husband who was well liquored-up. The police said she seemed to have the situation well in hand. "Yes," the woman agreed, "but I can't sit here all afternoon."

Interstate communication is advancing rapidly and Michigan has direct communication with Ohio and Indiana police so that immediate action results in case suspects flee across the State line. They also have lines so that in case of bank robberies word can be flashed to New York state points and as far as Denver.

HARTZELL HELD IN JAIL AFTER EXAMINATION

Justice A. S. Nichols Sets
Bond at $2,000; Awaits
Circuit Court Trial

Charles Hartzell, 29-year-old parolee, was placed under $2,000 bond and bound over to Circuit Court Tuesday afternoon when his examination before Justice Arthur S. Nichols came to a close in the Village Hall.

Hartzell is being held in the Wayne county jail on charges of taking indecent liberties with his 16-year-old stepdaughter.

He was arraigned here on the charge Tuesday, Oct. 12, following

SENTENCE GANG LEADERS

The two ring leaders of the youthful gang apprehended here last summer by former Police Chief Loye M. German, following a series of robberies in and around Northville, have been sentenced in Circuit Court to serve from two to four years in a State prison.

One of the members of the gang who was involved in the Greppan Estate robbery, was arraigned this week in Circuit Court. He pleaded guilty to the charge. The boy, a Ford employee, who faces possible deportation to his birthplace in Canada, is receiving the backing of a number of business men in Northville in his efforts to obtain another chance to live here.

The three Plymouth youths, all of the same gang, were given a probation of two years.

A complaint signed by the girls' father, Joseph Leska, who said Hartzell made advances to her on a road near Northville, June 24, 1936, was given to the court. Hartzell has a prison record in 1934 he was given two years' probation after he was found guilty of stealing a car. He was given from one to five years in the Jackson prison on a second car-stealing offense in 1935.

CHIEF MONTGOMERY WARNS PRANKSTERS

Pee-Halloween pranksters also began their work Tuesday night in the business district leaving soap writing on the windows of stores, prompted a warning Wednesday from Chief of Police Earl Montgomery.

"Window-writing isn't doing permanent damage to property, but that sort of fun can't be tolerated here two weeks before Halloween," asserted Chief Montgomery, who admitted that a certain amount of such work is to be expected each year.

Three boys who were responsible for some of the marking in the business district this week, have been identified. The police are on the look out for others who have been doing property in a similar manner in various sections of the village.

"Persons who actually damage property will have to be handled in the manner stated in the village ordinance," Chief Montgomery emphasized. He seeks the cooperation of parents in this matter.

SESSIONS HOSPITAL

William Brown, Wayne, is receiving medical care this week at the hospital.

Mrs. Hazel Williams of this place underwent an operation Monday.

James Spagnuolo, who underwent a major operation several days ago, was released from the hospital Wednesday, Oct. 13.

At the time of the accident the boys were hunting near the Pere Marquette railroad.

FARMERS POST LAND AGAINST CITY HUNTERS

Sport Fast Becomes Game of Lawlessness; Ignore All
Respect for Property

When hunting season opened Friday morning, followers of the sport in this section found themselves faced with sign-posted farms forbidding hunting and trespassing on practically all of the surrounding area.

Farmers, in stating the reason which prompts their protecting themselves and their property in this manner, say that it isn't the hunting that is objectionable — it's the way the hunters go about it. "They'll climb over our fences, cut holes in them for their dogs to go through, shoot our turkeys, frighten the livestock and help themselves to anything that catches their fancy," asserted one farmer.

The State conservation department has compiled a courtesy code for the hunters which will help them combat the situation which is fast putting some sources out of their reach.

The code stresses the following rules: Keep in mind: That hunting was once the sport of kings and princes only and regarded by them as an honorable and chivalrous pastime. That today it is the sport of the common man. Do nothing to degrade it.

Be considerate of others' days. Do not use intoxicating beverages while hunting.

Buy a hunting license and carry it at all times.

Keep a copy of the Michigan Game Law book in your hunting jacket. You can't afford to not study the code law. Be true to your season ticket and don't hunt before the season opens.

BUSINESS MEN FAIL TO KEEP ALLEYS CLEAN

Health Officer Reports on Creameries' Inspection
In Northville

"Very poor cooperation has been received by certain storekeepers in maintaining the general cleanliness of their alleys," Dr. R. M. Atchison, village health officer, informed members of the council Monday evening when he made his health report on conditions in Northville.

As an aid to bettering this unsanitary condition, Dr. Atchison recommends the building of a large incinerator in a lot north of the East Main street block. "This would keep things clean and eliminate rubbish and garbage thrown away by persons living in the flats above the stores in that block," he said. He pointed out that at the present time, the rubbish is only partly burned in an inadequate incinerator, creating a site which makes the city dump. It is further looked upon by the health department as a fire hazard.

Dr. Atchison has placed a great deal of stress upon this particular location repeatedly since he took over the duties of health officer a year and a half ago.

Upon request of the State milk inspector, the creameries of the village have been inspected by the health officer. He reports that two of the creameries meet the necessary State health requirements. "The other creamery," he affirmed, "is being carefully checked at the present time, and is operating with better efficiency. All creameries failed to have a one-hundred per cent recommendation. Monthly inspections by State trained men have been requested. Any creamery failing to rectify itself will be closed."

During the months of July, August and September, there have been two cases of chicken pox, four of whooping cough, and one of scarlet fever in Northville. In July six persons were treated for rabies, and in October 12 persons were given the Pasteur treatment.

Mrs. Eber Ward Lester, head of the local Red Cross organization, has a list of "Players" ready to begin the annual drive which opens Monday, Oct. 25, commencing at 11 a. m.

Assisting Mrs. Lester in mapping out the Red Cross campaign this year are Mrs. William H. Safford, who has charge of the Red Cross room; Mrs. Ernest B. Wood, organization nurse; Mrs. Harold Bloom, treasurer; and Mrs. Eric Nilson.

"There has been some misunderstanding here at the time of the regular fall drive," says Mrs. Lester. "The annual campaign subscription fee is divided, the local chapter keeping 50 per cent of the money for local use. But, when emergency drives are carried on at the time of disasters which may affect a particular section of the country, the entire contribution is sent to national headquarters," affirmed Mrs. Lester.

A training course in the elements of Boy Scout troop leadership will be held every Wednesday evening, beginning Oct. 27, at the Washington school in Royal Oak. The eight-week course is for troop leaders of Northville, Plymouth, Ferndale, Royal Oak, Birmingham, St. Clair, Shores and other communities in southern Oakland county and the southern part of Macomb county.

Charles B. Warner, field executive of the Detroit Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, will be in charge of the course.

TEMPERANCE IN TALKING

These are pretty troublesome times. There is talk of war and strikes, and on a smaller scale of course, much gossip on every hand. In a newspaper office nearly every day of the week we see how carelessly many people use the English language. They say intemperate things, probably many of which they would not say if they deliberated at all.

The case of Father Coughlin, who was recently rebuked by Archbishop Mooney can teach us all something. The Royal Oak priest, said the bishop, went too far in his criticism of our president. Of course the Archbishop was right. We can all disagree very violently with public officials without becoming unbalanced in our talk. We should all weigh our words more carefully. In so doing we can stick to our principles, no matter what they are.

These are times for faith. Faith in each other; faith in our institutions. Here in Northville we are literally under the eyes of tremendous labor disturbances at Detroit. We have profound convictions about them, and so have you. There are some dangerous indications, and some things that will have to be fought out in the open courageously and before it is too late, yet in so doing we can all be brotherly and kind. Look to your language. Keep your faith.

WHEN SHOULD BOYS GO HUNTING?

To shoot or not to shoot, has been the question in some Northville homes these days. "Why, Dad, I tell you half the boys in our room at school go hunting" says one boy in an appeal to his father for the chance to go hunting for pheasants and rabbits.

Facing the issue whether to let his 13-year-old boy get a gun, one Northville father counselled with a number of other dads in town. Said one well-known citizen, "Let me tell you my experience. As a boy my father and mother were both strongly opposed to hunting. There was not a gun of any kind about the house. Father never cared at all about hunting. So the result was that I was absolutely forbidden to hunt at all and as for owning a gun, that was simply 'out.' Well, what did I do? I had the average boy's passionate yearning for sticking a gun to my shoulder, so at the age of ten years, or so I took my own money and went and bought an air rifle. I didn't dare take it home, of course, so arranged with a neighbor boy to keep it for me. And of course I found plenty of chances to shoot it. I had a wonderful father, but I am going to let my boy shoot—in fact my boy has an air rifle now and I have tried to teach him sense in handling fire arms."

So there you are. The boy who goes hunting does take a chance, but we suspect that if he is a boy of fairly good sense and judgment, it is just as safe kicking up the leaves in the woods after rabbits and pheasants as he is going across the streets to keep out of the way of automobiles. And of course there are many things to be said in favor of the out-of-door life and its wholesome-ness.

BUILDING NORTHVILLE'S RETAIL CENTER

Wiser heads among the business people everywhere are seeing that in the efforts to build towns there is no room for quarreling and bickering among local merchants. Rather, in the fight for business in these modern days, competition is between communities, not between individual stores in a certain town. If merchants spend their time fighting each other, they not only lose business for themselves but for the whole community.

The other day in a nearby city a big mail order house opened a retail store. The local paper had the courage to come out and say it thought this was a good thing for the town. It went on to explain that when people come to see this big store, they will not all trade there but will spread out to visit other stores. In other words, draw more people to your town and everybody will benefit.

So, right along this line, we are all glad to note the fine cooperation that seems to prevail among Northville merchants. While there are individual differences of opinion, there is not what you might call "fighting" between the various stores. We are all for that. Northville has the shoppers that we should all have. No man has success.

Incidentally, we still maintain that such suburban towns as Northville ought to more and more become fine trading centers. Every once in a while some Northville woman tells us that she finds shopping in Detroit more and more difficult. The crowds make it a tiresome matter. Then, too, the problem of getting a parking place is getting worse. As a matter of fact, we frequently hear of someone who goes to the city for some certain article and then comes home to find that he could have gotten it here just as cheap, or cheaper.

For the alert and progressive merchant in Northville who will keep in touch with the spirit of the times there is plenty of chance for outstanding success. The business is here. Go get it!

OCTOBER RAMBLING THOUGHTS

Apparently an off year for the Northville High School football team. Perhaps the debating teams will do better. The U. S. Department of Labor says that 62 out of every 100 automobiles are bought on the installment plan. In the industrial areas around Detroit we should say that probably 82 out of every 100 are bought that way. Says Editor Myers of the Lapeer Press, "About the only thing in favor of red fingernail polish is that it hides the nicotine yellow." Our old college president often used to tell his classes that it was never necessary to tell a lie. Was he right? Cass City, up in the thumb of Michigan, is going to have a $5,000.00 swimming pool. No, PWA will not furnish it. One of the luncheon clubs of the village backed this successful campaign, aided by the local newspaper. Mark this prediction: Some day Northville will have a swimming pool. Nelson D. Brown, one of the editors of the News at Mason, brags that for the past twelve years the doors of his home have never been locked. Now at his wife's insistence, locks are on the doors. We vote with the wife.

NORTHVILLE'S YESTERDAYS

1 YEAR AGO

From the chapel of St. Paul's Lutheran church, last rites were held at 2 p. m. Monday for the Rev. Leo Ekstrand, 33, who died Saturday, October 17, at the Monticello, Ill. hospital, following a nervous breakdown and illness of more than four months.

The old village power house is being razed. Built in 1913 this old brick building over near the site of the one-time Amber pond, served the village in furnishing its electric power for only one year when the Detroit Edison company purchased it. Later they gave it back to the village, which in turn sold it to Henry Ford who now owns it together with a wide section of that locality.

GERMAN

By THEODORE WERLE

She came into my office, tall, beautiful, in her early twenties. Her hair was done in "Gretchen" braids about her head. Her eyes were strong in their straight-forward gaze. She strode toward me in long-legged, unhesitating steps. When she spoke, her voice came in a clear, honest, contralto melody. Her speech was the English learned and practiced in German universities. A mutual friend had sent her, asking that I be as helpful as possible. Soon I heard her story.

"My father was a German of Polish extraction—a gentle and professor in—university. My mother was a German Jewess. They are both dead. Friends in Germany counseled me to leave though I had not yet finished my schooling, when the programs against the Jews included those of part Jewish blood. They were certain that I and other young women like me were in grave danger. I could take none of my inheritance, or any other thing of value beyond the clothes you see me wearing, and money enough for my steamship fare. I arrived in New York with two dollars and a half in American money."

I found her something to do, and soon her employers called her invaluable.

A year later she asked for a private, personal conference; was then again in my office. There was something radiant, almost vivacious about her. She sat back in her chair smiling happily.

"He is coming, my fiancé, whom I thought I should never see again. He is coming here and I am so happy."

We mapped out a program for him and waited. He came and the program had to be dropped, as were all the high hopes of these two fine young people. This was the story. "Eric could get permission to leave Germany for only thirty days. The steamship company had to give a $2,000.00 bond promising his return; before they could sell him a ticket. He was permitted to take only as much money as the government believed he might need for the intended travel he had outlined."

"Why don't you marry here and go back together?"

"Our marriage would not be recognized in Germany. They would punish him and force me away from him forever into what—the Lord only knows. All this is because he is a gentle and I have Jewish blood. He must wait at least two years before he can make a new effort to come here permanently because he shall soon be called to the colors for one year."

"He can have no financial account outside of Germany. No German is permitted that. His mail is under constant surveillance, as is the foreign mail of all Germans."

"Is he pleased with such a government?"

"Officially he dare not be otherwise. No German can live long who opposes Hitler's party. In the beginning we thought Hitler Germany's savior. Germany's plight as a nation was serious and Hitler promised much. We gave him extraordinary powers, over us which he said he needed for the emergency. He not alone has never relinquished those powers but he has used them as means toward getting more. Germans are now the slaves of Hitler," she blazed.

"Margaret! Margaret!" he remonstrated softly and sadly. "You should not speak so of him."

Turning to me, "It will not be for always. Hitler is a necessary phase of an evolving new Germany. We will again be free."

Suddenly his face fell. He was clearly alarmed as he turned to look apprehensively behind his chair. We were in my office. I assured him he was safe.

"You cannot imagine how we are watched. Eavesdroppers report everything they hear. And America is full of spies who report in great detail about Germans traveling in this country. You will protect us, will you not, in what has been said?"

Let Americans never forget that eternal vigilance is the price of freedom. When a man or a party seeks mastery of a people they promise much as they steal away liberty. The pathway to enslavement is paved with grants of "extraordinary powers."

"TO GROW OLD SWEETLY"

Straight as a Georgia pine and with a vigor that belied his 93 years, this venerable man rose to address a company of co-workers in the interests of a home for the aged. Listening to the clear-cut thought, sprinkled with keen wit, more than one listener wondered, "What is the secret of this man's remarkable vigor or intellect?"

And then came the answer from the speaker himself: "If you want a good old age you must begin in youth. The habits begun in early years hang on and are even accentuated in age."

Clean clear through, this old friend was a living example of the harvest of a good planting.

Years ago a certain preacher used to use this phrase frequently in his public prayer: "Help us to grow old sweetly." Those who heard him recognized the reason for this constant plea. His mother-in-law made her home with him and was known for her constant complaining. Unconsciously, this good man longed to escape such a sour old age.

Many older people wonder why they are not eagerly welcomed into the homes of their children, little realizing that the habits of complaint, criticism, worry and dictation have been growing upon them through the years. To be a desired mother-in-law is a real art — and a rare one.

"Life has its bumps and disappointments, yes, and disillusion, but happy the person who comes to ripe age with faith in and love for his neighbors. The time is past when gray hairs consign one to chimney corner idleness. There are so many things to be done now that have been crowded out in the years of raising a family. There is time now to read those books long laid aside, to cultivate those friendships, time to attend those social and church affairs without feeling that one is neglecting the family. The last for which the first was made, beautiful years, indeed, if the first had been 'made' right."

Age is not measured by years. Here are two verses which are worth clipping and pinning to the mirror: "We live in deeds, not years, in thoughts, not breaths, in feelings, not in figures on the dial. We count our time of heart throbs. He most lives who thinks most, feels the noblest, acts the best."

How Old Are You?

"Age is a quality of mind—If you have left your dreams behind, If hope is cold, If you no longer look ahead, If your ambition's fires are dead, When you are old; But if from life you take the best, And if in life you keep the best, If love you hold, No matter how the years go by, No matter how the birthdays fly, You are not old."

We believe that the study of the Bible and Christian living as carried on in our church should have the wholehearted cooperation of every parent in the congregation. Relatively few children at the present time are in Sunday School with the same regularity as in day school. Surely the knowledge of the Bible is as important to the life of the child as an hour spent in the classroom.

The need for Christian education will be discussed in the sermon Sunday morning. Special music will be sung by the choir.

Those who have attended the Sunday evening fellowship services are finding them helpful. Meet with us this Sunday evening.

The October meeting of the W. H. M. S. will be held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Charles Rogers. The Fellowship class will meet for a potluck supper, social and business meeting, Thursday evening.

Farmers Say They're Forced to Protect Their Property—State Department Gives Tips to Villagers Who Go 'A Hunting'

companion. Avoid the individual who is careless or dangerously excitable under fire.

Drive reasonably and safely. Respect the speed limits as you drive through towns.

Do not hunt so near towns or villages as to endanger the residents. Understand the Horton Trespass Law and its application in farming areas.

Remember, that under provisions of the Horton Law, a farmer may have you arrested for entering his premises to hunt without permission, even though his land is neither fenced nor posted.

Always ask for the privilege of hunting on a farm. If, after investigation, it appears that no one is home, leave quietly. Do not hunt on the premises.

Be quiet. Do not sound your horn so as to attract the attention of the landowner or to annoy the occupants of the house.

If the hunting privilege is granted, inquire if there is any place where hunting might be hazardous or where property might be damaged. Avoid that place.

Be polite. Introduce yourself to the owner. Park your car out of the way in the yard.

Invite the landowner to go hunting with you.

Prevent your dog from chasing or otherwise annoying stock. Do not kill cats on a farm.

Do not fire your gun within 200 yards of a highway, farm house or domestic animals, especially animals in harness.

Do not climb fences. Use the gate if possible or crawl under it. Remember to close the gate.

If you have been responsible for any damage or find that damage has been caused by others, report the damage to the landholder.

Do not run when approached by a stranger. Have a clear conscience and you will have no impulse to run.

Observe and follow the spirit and letter of the law and others will respect you and enjoy your companionship.

Do not compromise others or be compromised by a violation of the law.

Remember that rowdiness and vandalism have no place in the sportsman's code.

Cooperate with the conservation officer. The conservation officer is employed to serve you and to protect your rights. The sportsman has nothing to fear from him.

Learn to distinguish readily the legal game species. Always be sure of your target before you shoot.

Be fair. If you find hunting good, remember the other man. Leave some of the game for him.

Do not forget that the law forbids the cleaning or dressing of game in the field so as to destroy identity of sex or species. Wait until you get home.

Show your game to the landholder. Offer him some of it. Thank him for permitting you to hunt on his land.

Leave a clean camp. Be careful in disposal of heated matches and cigar or cigarette butts.

Do not put food, game, or other things in the house of the landholder.

Do not forget, if you or the landholder are attracted to your hunting license. Use it to report your game kill before it is lost.

We should try to succeed, not to fail by favor. Faith.

NO LESS than the engineer, you have a stake in any truly basic advance in automotive design.

For that reason, you will not lightly pass over the most important news-story of the new-car season: the story of Buick's new DYNAFLASH ENGINE and TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING.

What happens in this engine happens nowhere else in the world.

Each fuel charge is converted into a tiny fist-size hurricane — and the spark that sets it off releases more performance than gasoline ever gave to motorists before!

Matching this marvelous power, is an equally incomparable ride.

Old-type leaf springs are replaced with jarless coils of easy-flexing steel.

No matter how the wheels may dip and curtsy, you ride serene in everlasting comfort unrivaled anywhere before!

No other car in the world has these two features. Yet they are only leaders of a host of others you can't afford to miss!

Northville Teachers Are Guests Of Woman's Club

Interpreting the present conflict between China and Japan from a viewpoint of one who has lived for five years in China, Mrs. Alex Bradley of Royal Oak, addressed the members of the Northville Woman's club and their guests, the teaching staff of the public schools, at the library Friday evening.

"I have no optimism to offer in the present terrible situation," said Mrs. Bradley. "China is tottering between the old civilization and the modern. She fights with cruelty and cannot understand the paradoxical attitude of Americans who go forth to kill and then follow up with humanitarian hospitalization."

Contrasting China and Japan, Mrs. Bradley asserted that the Chinese leaders do not want to fight but the people do, while in Japan it is the leaders, not the people, who are promoting war.

Contrary to American prejudice against the oriental nations, the speaker presented a new concept of the beautiful culture of China as she knew it intimately as a resident there. Illustrations were drawn from "The House Divided" by Pearl Buck, a friend of Mrs. Bradley.

A charming quartet, Louis Eaton, Robert Boyden, Robert Ross and Harold Martens, played two numbers, and a social hour, directed by Mrs. Leslie G. Lee, Mrs. Theodore N. Kampf, Jr. and Mrs. John C. Burkman, followed the program. A contest for securing autographs gave informal opportunity for mutual acquaintance between the teaching staff and the club women. Mrs. K. H. Babbitt took honors in this.

Refreshments were served from a table attractive with a bowl of roses and tall lighted tapers. Mrs. H. S. Willis and Mrs. R. H. American poured, assisted by the members of the social committee.

Service League Meets Tuesday In Listeria Home

Mrs. William Hebertson opened her home Tuesday evening to the members of the Service League of the Methodist church. Assisted by her with hostess duties was Mr. J. B. Cooke.

Members responded to roll call by singing their favorite hymns. The study hour of the evening was given over to a paper on "Meditation" prepared by Mrs. Dana Deane. Mr. Marshall Harkness led devotion. Mrs. M. J. Kodyke will bring to the group when it meets Nov. 2. Roll call will be followed by singing favorite songs of the season.

Mrs. Lester Stage Opens Home Monday to Teachers' Club

"A little sluttish now and then is rebuffed by the best of men," Those Northville teachers have been at it again. This time it was a "tacky" party. Old shoes, patches and gunny bags, not to mention some very lovely old fashioned dresses, were to be seen Monday evening, Oct. 18, at the home of Mrs. Ruth Stage.

A delicious dinner of baked potatoes, roast pork, and apple sauce, together with some of Mrs. Stage's famous pumpkin pies and biscuits was served in "farmer" style.

Elmer M. Barr and his candid camera helped to enliven the evening.

Mixed with the fun was a feeling of regret that this would be the last time Mr. Barr would be with the Teachers' club as a member. He received a gift as a token of remembrance, and many wishes for success in his new position—Contributed.

Installation Service Begins Year for Epworth League

At an impressive installation service conducted by the Rev. H. J. Lord at the Methodist church Sunday evening the new officers of the Epworth League were given their commissions.

The new officers are: President, Merle Fraser; first vice-president, Betty Greer; second vice-president, Fern Mertens; third vice-president, Marion Coleman; fourth vice-president, Margene Lidgard; secretary, Ruth Leavenworth; and treasurer, Laura Marie Lord.

The opening service was in charge of the young people who acquitted themselves creditably. Merle Fraser sang a solo.

Mrs. Ruth Marie Baldwin played the organ for the service. A pleasing surprise Mrs. Herman Bennett assisted by Mrs. Charles T. Thompson served light refreshments during a social hour.

King's Daughters Enjoy Fall Spread at Stewart Home

In spite of the inclement evening a King's Daughters' fall spread at the Stewart home was a success. The ladies gathered at the home of the late Stewart Tuesday evening to enjoy the spread. The program was given by Mrs. Dana Deane. Mr. Marshall Harkness led devotion. Mrs. M. J. Kodyke will bring to the group when it meets Nov. 2. Roll call will be followed by singing favorite songs of the season.

AVIATION IS THEME OF SUNDAY LECTURE

The "behind-the-scenes" story of aviation's latest achievement, trans-Pacific flights, will be told in a lecture to be given at 3:30 p. m. Sunday, Oct. 24, in the Detroit Institute of Arts, Woodward at Kirby, by Robert Edson, Filson, Jr., world traveler and adventurer.

Mr. Filson who gained international fame by circling the world on a motorcycle and then continued his adventure by taking to the air, brings to his audience all the romantic experiences which have combined to make aviation what it is today. His lecture is fully illustrated with new and exciting motion pictures. An actual flight across the Pacific is pictured in detail. Stops are made at Hawaii and at those tiny islands, Midway and Wake, that have been featured so much in the news today.

Mr. Filson's lecture is sponsored by the World Adventure Series of the Detroit Institute of Arts. Reservations may be made either by calling at the World Adventure Series office or by telephoning Temple 2-7676.

The group listened to a splendid paper "Michigan 100 Years Ago and Now," by Mrs. Foster Smith, who also supplied many interesting items about Michigan 100 years ago and down through the years. She was well able to do this having had ancestors living in the locality during that time.

All enjoyed the solo "Stars, Trenches Among the Gold" sung by Mrs. Dewey Farley, who wore a gray wig and was dressed in an ancient costume, with bonnet, shawl and cane. Mrs. George Hennings accompanied her and also joined with her in a duet on the organ.

From an ancient ledger and scrap book, Curtis Hamilton gave some interesting items and thoughts of those times. At one time it was considered an acceptance of marriage to kiss a man, so it was only proper for young girls to kiss married men and young men to kiss married women.

"Lullaby Time" was sung softly by Shirley Mack. She was accompanied by Mrs. Harmon Galt.

C. W. Lewis being unable to attend the meeting, the reading he was to give was substituted with a duet by Mr. Carrie and Mr. Atchison, "Have You Read What Father Said?"—South Lyon Herald.

Ted Shawn, America's greatest male dancer, brings the crowning achievement of his career to Detroit this fall when Shawn and his men dancers present "O. Libertad," an American Saga in three acts, at the Masonic auditorium, Friday evening, Nov. 12. This spectacular presentation, under the joint auspices of the Wednesday Town Hall and Women's City Club, combines thrilling drama, spectacular costumes and magnificent dancing in a dramatic dance program unlike anything previously seen in Detroit.

Shawn, the choreographer, spans time and history in three acts. Act I, "THE PAST," encompasses the Spanish invaders, the missionaries, the Aztec emperor, the gold rush. Act II, "THE PRESENT," depicts: 1. The Olympian; 2. War; 3. The Jazz Decade; 4. Depression; 5. Modernism; 6. Recovery; 7. March of the Veterans of Future Wars. Act III, "THE FUTURE," Kinetic Mopai. In presenting his now widely known "Kinetic Mopai," Shawn offers this as one of the forms of dance of the American man of the future—an art definitely ahead of the times.

Tickets are now on sale at Grinnell's box office, Detroit.

BOY SCOUTS LOCAL NEWS

By a Scout

The 1937 Fall Camp Brady "Overnight" is now history. Last Saturday 40 Scouts and men from the Plymouth district went up to Brady and thoroughly enjoyed themselves. The three troops that were not represented simply missed it. Ask any of the boys that went about the night hike through the woods and tangled shrubbery. Ask them how nearly like Indians they sounded trying to sneak quietly through the woods. Ask them how many "doinks" Dick Loomis found among them on the swamp road. Ask them what happened to the three boys who slipped out from the hike. Ask them what became of "Mike's" grand meals. Let them tell you all about the football and the Paul Bunyan tales and the stunts around the campfire and the three bikes and the tests passed. There were really several tests passed at camp. Let them tell you about the championship paper knife cutting contest with the law book. Let them tell you about the all-around contest among the boys. Boy! A good time was had! Mr. Warner said "It was a good job."

A summary of the 1937 Camp Brady work of our district has been compiled by headquarters for the commissioner. It shows that eight boys from two troops spent 12 camp weeks at Brady, not counting five Scouts and an assistant scoutmaster from RG-1 who spent a week there in their own tents.

One first class rank was won, also 12 merit badges, one star rank and one life. Two of the boys received special citations. Only two of P-1, for group leaders in, and Robert Dacey of P-1 for industry and perseverance.

Several of our troop committeemen went to Dearborn high school last night to attend a Troop Committeemen's Round Table Committee Chairman Harold White of N-1, was a discussion leader at the Round Table at the Washington school in Royal Oak on Wednesday night.

The next District event is the Court of Honor at the Plymouth high school Thursday night, Nov. 18. One Eagle Rank will be conferred, beside a lot of other advancement and veteran awards.

The Training school swimming pool is out of commission for repairs. Notice will be sent around when the swimming schedule can be resumed.

Mr. Henry took Cub Pack 600 for a nut hike out to Spier's farm last Saturday. The boys had a lot of fun. They cooked their own lunches.

Mr. Thompson, scoutmaster of RG-1, has moved away from our territory. At present the troop is being carried along by the committee and assistant.

He that will not serve one master, will have to serve many—John Ray.

Mr. and Mrs. Don P. Yerkes left Thursday Oct. 14, for an extended visit and hunting trip in Traverse City, where they are the guests of Mrs. Yerkes' sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Weaver. Robert E. Weaver and Miss Margaret Shepard were married in Traverse City Wednesday of this week at a ceremony attended by Mr. and Mrs. Yerkes.

At 4 p. m. Sunday, Oct. 24, the vesper preacher at the Christ Church Cranbrook, Bloomfield Hills, will be the Rev. Dr. Frederick B. Fisher of the Central Methodist Episcopal church, Detroit. Dr. Fisher was formerly the Methodist Episcopal Bishop of India and the student chaplain at the University of Michigan. He will speak Sunday on "The Art of Effective Living."

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Gray and Mr. and Mrs. Chub J. Smith returned Friday, Oct. 15, from a trip of approximately three weeks to the Pacific coast. The two couples drove a total of 5,778 miles, going by way of Salt Lake City and returning the southern route. A week was spent in Los Angeles visiting Mrs. Smith's brother and family. The trip included such sights as Boulder Dam, the Grand Canyon, the Painted Desert and the Petrified Forest. The travelers all reported it to be "a wonderful trip."

Fifteen-year-old Dick Ambler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sherrill W. Ambler, 340 South Rogers street, has crashed the picture section of The Detroit News. A photographer from that paper was out this way last week to get a line on Northville's football "utility player." Young Ambler posed with three of his teammates to emphasize that he is only five feet, one inch tall and weighs but 89 pounds. Coach Elliott M. Barr says that Dick is sometimes used as a quarterback. Pictured with Dick were Benny Duguid, right end; Art Mitchell, fullback; and Captain Eber Lester, left tackle.

WELFARE CLUB MEETS
A special meeting of the City Welfare Club held Wednesday afternoon, several important business matters were considered.

Action was taken on an emergency relief case, and plans for future relief work were discussed. The executive committee, comprised of Mrs. Howard Mesnard, Mrs. George Groll, Mrs. Byron Aldrich, Mrs. M. G. Post, Mrs. Ira Carnes and Mrs. Glenn Buftmeyer, presented a tentative outline of the current year's club program.

Committees were assigned to assist in staging the coming holiday party of Nov. 6, to be sponsored by the club in the recreation rooms of the Wimmer cafe. It was decided to award prizes, which will include those for the best costumes. Tickets, on sale by club members, will include complimentary refreshments.

PLANT PIKE IN LAKE
One hundred fingerling pike were planted in Walled Lake, Thursday, by the State Conservation department.

The fish had been taken in spawn here last spring and kept in a separate tank in the Drayton Plains hatchery, where they were specially fed in accordance with an experiment in fish culture.

The pike planted here had made rapid growth during the summer, each being at least ten inches long. They were marked with lip bands by the department, each band being numbered. The department expects that anyone catching one of these fish will make note of its length and weight, and send the information to the Drayton Plains hatchery.

CONTINUE WINS
Walled Lake high school's undefeated gridiron squad continued its quest for league championship honors Friday by defeating a scrappy Brighton team 20-0, in a game played at Brighton.

Due to the injuries of four regulars in the Walled Lake eleven, Coach Hursh used a team made up principally of substitutes, which, even so, was seldom required to extend itself in maintaining the lead provided by touchdowns in the first, third and fourth quarters, plus two extra points after touchdowns.

DeGroot, for the lakemen, continued his stellar triple threat attack with fine running, kicking and passing. Sedey also displayed passing ability which accounted for the first touchdown. R. Green played his usually dependable game, while Graham, diminutive red head quarterback substitute constantly wriggled and knifed his way through gaps in the Brighton defense blockade for credible gains.

Milford, always a fly in the Walled Lake ointment, is here today in an attempt to blow the fire from the local steam roller.

IT'S MOVING DAY
Thursday was moving day for several Walled Lake families. The W. S. Wixoms left their Hickory Hill location and are now in their residence on Market street, recently purchased from J. A. Devereaux. Ralph Francis and family are now living in their West Main street home formerly the residence of Mrs. Mae Rhodes. The Julius Nelsons have moved to their West Maple road home, north of Wixom and Mr. and Mrs. Hort Wilson are not occupying the house which was formerly the home of the Nelsons.

NEWS BRIEFS
Charles F. Rose left Saturday for a two weeks vacation at Charlottesville, Va. He was accompanied by Mrs. Margaret Garrison and her children, Florence and Eddie.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Cameron and Mrs. Angie Tucker were Sunday afternoon visitors of the Huttons. Minnie Hutton returned to her home over the week end, and left again to continue her stay with Mrs. D. L. Brown of Pontiac, who is in ill health.

SO LONG, OLD BUS

Was Sticker for Obeying Red and Green Lights

By CHARLES E. HUTTON

After two years of loyal, steady service, the old bus has traveled its last mile under my persuasive guidance. During the time it so invaluable aided me in the pursuit of my multitudinous activities, the old bus covered a total of fifty-five thousand miles of highway and byway, through mud and snow of winter and spring and dust and sand of summer. It safely carried me up and down steep mountains, across plains, and through hub-deep water of rocky, rutted, washed out road beds, with far less audible complaint than expressed by its master when forced to walk a couple of blocks on a disagreeable, rainy day.

The old bus responded to my every demand, were it a mile-a-minute gallop for a day at a time, or a small-dike crawl in the thick of city traffic. It was a lightning charger at the green light, and a gentle, submissive servant at the red. Always had the bit in its teeth, it seemed, ready for double duty, not only for me but for the rest of the family, with seldom so much as a squeaky whine or an indignant rattling.

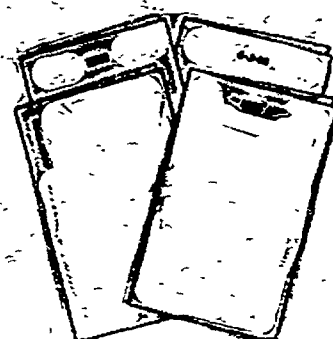

The old bus is fully as worthy of spending the rest of its life in a pasture of knockless gasoline and first class lubrication as was any thoroughbred Dobbin of living his declining years in a field of blue grass or clover. But the old bus remained faithful to its true born station of subordinate service to the last, by retaining a respectable appraisal value (which, even so, was modest and self-effacing) and thereby lessened the cost, to me, of the fresh mount elected to take over the duties I assign.

The old bus will be given a quick rejuvenation by its temporary owners, and will then return to the road, contented, I suppose, to be of help to anyone who will treat it with consideration.

E. M. BARR RESIGNS TEACHING DUTIES

Former Coach to Instruct Science in Bay City High School

Coach Elliott M. Barr, who has been on the teaching staff of the Northville high school since the fall of 1936, has obtained his release from the Board of Education and will take up teaching duties at Bay City Central high school Monday, Oct. 25.

In addition to his coaching Mr. Barr has been teaching physics, chemistry and history at Northville. Bay City Central is a class A school with 1,500 students. There are 150 rooms, each of which is connected with a public address system. The announcements made in the school are made over the loud speakers in the rooms twice a day. Mr. Barr will have charge of this public address system and also all the radio programs broadcast to and from the school. He has been working in radio and public address systems for six years. Mr. Barr will also have two classes in Physics II, which deal with light, sound and electricity and one class in radio. He will have no coaching duties.

SPORT FLASHES

By ALBERT BOELENS

Northville suffered its fourth straight defeat of the season Friday when Redford Union defeated them by the overwhelming score of 48-0. The score itself shows the kind of game Northville played. This was one team Northville was given a chance against and they were beaten worse than they were beaten by Berkley who is leading the league. Redford Union didn't score in the first quarter, but scored 12 points in both of the following quarters and then scored 24 points in the last frame.

Now just how can we account for this defeat? To do this we will first have to look at the facts.

Northville outplayed their visitors in every department the first quarter and passed up two good scoring chances. One was a compact play, which caught the opposition completely unawares. Myers, who camped out, stood on the goal line. (Not a man within 10 yards of him) Bishop threw him a perfect pass only to have it slip through his hands. But this could happen to anyone so Myers is not to be blamed for the defeat as he is one of our best players.

Breaks like these make or break a team. After this play Northville gave one of the poorest exhibitions of football seen in a long time.

Although the team showed little spirit there were some boys who gave all they had. The football situation has become so bad at the school that Principal G. V. Harrison called a meeting Monday to discuss it with the boys. He told them they were lagging in spirit. Then he put it to a vote as to whether or not the team wanted to carry on the rest of the schedule. It was voted on, and unanimously decided to continue under the agreement that if the boys did not show more spirit and cooperation in tonight's game with Trenton, Mr. Harrison will cancel the rest of the schedule.

Superintendent R. H. Armanian then said a few words about the team. He stated that the main fault of the team is that no one is in condition and no one who isn't in condition can play his best game. This topic of condition is true, and there are only about 10 per cent of the team who are in good enough condition to play real football. As an example, when one of the boys received a perfect pass from one of his teammates, and started to run for a touchdown, the opponents were far behind. It seemed that the boy was out for a hike rather than running for a touchdown, and consequently his opponents tackled him.

It was announced at this meeting that E. M. Barr was leaving and Harry Smith will have complete charge for the Trenton game. Mr. Smith then said a few words saying that with a little cooperation the team would be as good as a team as they have anywhere.

The starting lineup for last week's game was as follows: LE Myers; LT, Lester; LG, Beall; C, Bray; RG, Defino; RT, Alden; RE, Duguid; QB, Bishop; HB, Junod; FB, Hinchman; FB, Mitchell.

Editor's Note

School spirit seems to have a lot to do with team spirit, doesn't it? Of course, it's very fine to do or die for dear old N. H. S. But don't you think a little enthusiasm would help? The fellows do their best (anyway almost their best) and ought to be better than the previous encounters because if the fellows don't show that they really want to play football, this sport will be eliminated from their schedule. Enough said about football except that we'd like to see you fellows get in there and fight for a change.

Now that the hunters of N. H. S. have hunting out of their system for a while, school can again resume in full force. There were so many of the boys out playing with their guns that classes were absolutely bare.

Peg Walker decided to take a bit of a vacation from the editorship this week so Gwen has taken over her duties. Haven't she done a swell job of it? Neither one of the girls wrote this editorial, so if there are any objections to my humble efforts, please send the roof of the school along with seventeen contented students to Peg and she'll make amends.

DEBATE TEAM MEETS TRENTON IN N. H. S. ASSEMBLY TONIGHT

Northville's debate team under the direction of E. C. Mollema, debate coach, will meet Trenton tonight for the first debate of the 37-38 season in the high school auditorium at 8:30. The question for debate will be: Resolved: That the General States Should Adopt the Unicameral System of Legislation.

The negative side will be defended by Northville with Trenton defending the affirmative.

Marjorie Reine, Margaret Van Helmont and J. W. Erwin will be the debaters.

Mr. Mollema accepted a challenge from Wayne for a practice debate which took place Monday at 3:30 p. m. Oct. 18. There were two debates taking place at the same time, one in the assembly and the other in Mr. Mollema's room.

The debaters are working hard to get into shape for the debate tonight and have a very plausible case worked to the point where the team hopes to receive the judges approval.

STUDENT COUNCIL TO PRESENT PLAY FOR STUDENTS, OCT. 26

The Student Council is sponsoring a play that will be held in the school auditorium at 3:30 p. m. Tuesday, Oct. 26.

The players are to be Arthur Blackaller, a Shakespearean actor and Miss Orletta Baird, with the assistance of two picked children of the school. Blackaller assisted Jefferson, a great player, in many famous roles.

The play to be given will be "Rip Van Winkle" and the general admission charge is ten cents.

HOLD COLUMBUS DAY ASSEMBLY PROGRAM

Columbus Day was the object of an assembly program held last week in memory of Columbus' discovery of America.

Superintendent R. H. Armanian gave a short talk about Columbus and our country as it was then and as it is today. Betty Greer gave the life of Columbus. A clarinet quartet composed of Louis Eaton, Bob Ross, Bob Boyden and Harold Marten played a selection. A boys' quartet composed of Cecil Giles, Wally Garchow, Fred Johnson and Harold Martens sang "My Old Kentucky Home." Wally Garchow and Keene Bolton played their Hawaiian guitars. Cecil Giles acted as master of ceremonies and gave two monologues.

Principal G. V. Harrison states that the program turned out very well and that there will probably be more programs of this type in the future. The students seemed to be very much interested in the student talent assembly.

THIRD GRADERS BUILD FARMYARD IN CLASSROOM

Your reporter was browsing around the grade school building the other day and accidentally wandered into a miniature farm, located in Miss Estelle Griffiths' third grade room. It seems that sometime ago Miss Griffiths conducted her class on a tour of the William B. Chase farm on Base Line road. The object was to make observations so that the children could begin work on a farm project they had been planning. After the trip, which proved very interesting to the children, they chose a group of committees to work out the project. The leaders of these committees were Charles Freydl, Dino Politz, Robert Todd, Oliver Raymond and Francis Smith. Phyllis Kreeger, Delores Glazer and Marjorie Hancock, who received pens for outstanding work in penmanship a few weeks ago, also had prominent parts in the building of their farm.

The first thing that caught our eye as we entered the room was a wall free of farm activity. It covers one part of the wall in the far corner of the room and is composed of scenes familiar to a farm yard. Further along the wall in the back of the room is a stand containing a silo, barn, granary and an apple grader. These wooden structures were made by the pupils at home and then brought to school to set up.

Miss Griffiths told us that this work had been correlated with the students' art work, and in addition, they were making cut-out books of farm life.

N. H. S. GYM SCENE OF COUNCIL DANCE

Did you hear about the Scotchman? It seems that much talked of gentleman took a penny from his pocketbook one day and the Indian blinked at the light.

Compare the student body with that Scotchman, and you probably have about the picture the Student Council gets each year when it starts its everlasting struggle to finance this and that for all you appreciative guys and gals. You do appreciate it, don't you? You should.

This outburst leads up to the fact that the Student Council gave the first dance of the season last Friday in the high school gym. It was a very, very informal affair, so everyone had a good time. But don't take my word for it, ask those who were there. And in case you didn't go yourself, here's the lowdown on who went with whom.

Remember Vivian Grosvenor, Pat and Nan McLoughlin? They were there despite the miles between them, and N. H. S. these days, and we have Kenny Wilber, Bruce Turnbull, and Scott Cole, respectively to thank for bringing them back Friday.

The old grads turned out in good shape. Jack Junod took Louise Alexander, and wasn't that Jerry Trotter with Gwen Jones? ... Evelyn Ambler and Carl Arnold showed up together, and Helen Brainer and her "little" sister Madeline were there.

Our old rival, Plymouth, had a representation, too, how about it, Connie Burgess and Dorothy Brentmeyer? ... The juniors really did this thing up right, among them: Betty Jane Gillespie and Alfred Cousins, Jane Van Atta and Dale Bray, Lucille Lapham and E. K. Starkweather, Helen Harper and Don Armstrong, Dorothy Heaton and Ray Parmenter, not to mention Geraldine Johnson and Jack McCrumb. ... Those seniors weren't to be outdone, though, and Bette Schrader, Virginia Washburne and Barbara Wood popped up with Herman Toussaint, Claude Hinckman and Albert Boelens. ... Poor Keene Bolton was kept busy all evening, much to the disappointment of some sweet thing, we'll be ... Peg Walker came with Martin Brettmeyer. ... Joan Hein looked awfully swell with Kenny Wolfe. ... and what would a dance be without a stag line? "Nothing," said Bill Schoultz, Clayton Myers and Marvin Schoultz and a host of others. So

CHINESE STUDENT HONORS P. T. A.

C. K. Yang, U. of M. Student, Talks of Far East and Chinese Situation

The Northville Parent Teachers Association held open house Thursday evening, Oct. 12.

At this time the new members of the faculty were introduced to the parents by Mrs. Eber Lester, the program chairman.

Immediately following, C. K. Yang, a Chinese student from the University of Michigan, gave an instructive speech entitled, "The Crisis of the Far East." The Japanese motive in the war, Mr. Yang explained, was one of world conquest. The war began, he said, in 1931 with the capture of Manchuria by the Japanese. Japan signed a treaty with China granting Japan the right to station soldiers around Manchuria but Japan violated this treaty, causing China considerable trouble, he continued.

Things of nature gradually led to the present situation. Japan could be prevented from further invasion of China if the United States and Great Britain would boycott Japanese merchandise, Mr. Yang stated. Scrap iron and cotton are bought from these countries by Japan. "As you buy silks and articles with a Japanese trademark you are enabling the Japanese to buy more armament with which to slaughter masses of Chinese just as human as you or I," he said.

Mr. Yang explained the situation in China as follows: "The Chinese are developing their industries, constructing roads and airports as well as making such rapid progress in her industries that Japan is afraid she will eventually be overpowered by China. Japan's political conditions are unstable and as the war is claiming so much attention the Japanese are not aware of the serious difficulties that might arise."

The Chinese are financially and politically much stronger than Japan and if the war carries on a few years more the Chinese will be more able to defend themselves. As it is, Japan realizes this and for that reason she is trying to subdue China as soon as possible.

Mr. Yang stated that we in the United States do not realize how lucky we are to be free and to be living in a democratic country. Following the meeting, refreshments were served.

Senior Who's Who

Betty Bolton

Betty is another true Northville girl having lived here since Aug. 31, 1919, the date of her birth. She has always attended school in Northville.

Betty is completing her high school course in three years which is no little task in itself. She is taking a commercial course. Besides all this work she found time to sing in the choir during her freshman and sophomore years.

She likes movies and dancing above all other things and her favorite hobby is corresponding with foreign pen-pals. Among the countries she keeps in track of are England, France and Spain.

Betty would like to do commercial work after graduation.

Marie Brayman

This member of the senior class was born in Milford on July 7, 1920. She attended school in Milford for six years, then pulled stakes and moved to Highland where she went to school for one year. After this she moved to Northville where she has been attending school for three years.

There they were a "stag" in Mayor Keene Bolton reported, from his station behind a popular soda fountain in town, that the Student Council was about $18 ahead after the dance.

to school for one year. After this she moved to Northville where she has been attending school for three years but she succumbed to the lure of Northville in 1936 and began her junior year here and here she remains until graduation.

Her favorite sports are basketball and swimming and one of her hobbies is playing the guitar.

Marie would like to be a doctor and intends to further her education after graduation. She is not sure what college she will attend.

CHEVROLET STRESSES THRIFT THIS YEAR

Chevrolet's Master models for 1938 are designed and built for owners who seek to practice thrift without compromise on completeness. To such buyers, the Master Chevrolet is presented as embodying in fullest measure those qualities which Chevrolet's extensive public contacts indicate that modern motorists demand in their cars.

Performance, economy and comfort are carried to new heights in these models, without sacrifice of beauty and style. The cars are as roomy as the Master Deluxe series; they are powered by the same 35 horsepower six-cylinder valve-in-head engine, and they offer the year's outstanding engineering advance, the new "Tiptoe-matic" Chevrolet clutch.

Like the Master Deluxe again, they embody numerous refinements, in features affecting performance, comfort, safety, durability, and style. The result is an all-round heightening of the qualities which for the past three years have been generating a steadily-increasing demand for Chevrolet with the result that production capacity has had to be enlarged again and again.

The principal difference between the chassis of the two new Chevrolet series is the use, in the Master series, of conventional I-beam front axle for the fully-enclosed knee action now beginning its fifth year as a feature of the Master Deluxe.

PHELPS TO GIVE

DETROIT BOOK TALK

William Lyon Phelps, professor emeritus of Yale University and one of America's foremost literary critics, will discuss current books and plays before the Detroit Town Hall audience at 11 a. m., Wednesday, Oct. 27, in the Fisher theatre.

Previous to last season when Dr. Phelps gave his first Detroit literary lecture before a large and demonstrative Town Hall audience, the popular Yale professor had spoken only on the big lecture forums of the East. His return to Detroit will be welcomed by his big following for "Billy" Phelps is well known in Michigan.

During the summer months for more than ten years, he has preached at Huron City in Michigan's Thumb. His Sunday afternoon sermons, drawing people from all over the State, have proved so popular that it was necessary to enlarge the church twice to its present capacity of 1,000.

Dr. Phelps' autobiography, to be completed next year, will contain his reminiscences of literary giants of Europe and America—Shaw, Chesterton, O'Neill, Sinclair Lewis, Barne, Daudet, Maeterlinck and a host of others. Phelps is author of numerous books on literature, essays and magazine articles.

For 32 years until 1933, he was Lamson professor of English literature. As Yale's public orator he has presented honorary degrees to several distinguished persons, including President Franklin D. Roosevelt. He is president of the New Haven Symphony Orchestra and the Little Theatre Guild. He writes a daily syndicated literary column reaching 10,000,000 readers.

will be revenue from this dam, he stated.

The Plymouth editor took a few minutes of his time to tell of the political corruption in North Dakota. He interviewed a number of people in that state and was amazed at the conditions that prevail there. "If you want to see what crazy and corrupt politics can do to a state, you want to go to North Dakota," he said. "In spite of large appropriations for highways by the federal government, the roads in that state," said Mr. Eaton, "are not as good as those that Michigan had 25 years ago. Conditions became so bad, he added, that the federal authorities withheld all funds until the highway department could be completely reorganized. The speaker blamed most of the ills of the state on the Non-Partisan League which dominates North Dakota.

The speaker touched briefly on his visit to the national parks. Unless one has a trailer or a tent, costs are high there, he said. "I suggest that the government let Henry Ford clean out some of the deadwood in the national parks," said the speaker.

The Eatons came close to the dust bowl. He was told there that precisely what has happened by pouring the grazing soil was predicted 50 years ago. In other words, that land is not adapted to farming under any condition. It should be allowed to go back to the original buffalo grass.

Touching briefly on conditions in California, Mr. Eaton said that he was greatly impressed by the way the Japanese have taken complete control of the fruit and vegetable markets. All up and down the coast, he said, they control vast markets. The Japs themselves are unusually hard workers and put in hours that an American would care to stand.

Concluding his speech, Mr. Eaton said, "Our trip to California was in every way a delightful one. The tourist cabins all along the way are marvelous—they are really getting to be rivals of the best hotels."

Superintendent Russell H. Amerman was in charge of the meeting. The speaker was introduced by R. T. Baldwin, chairman of the program committee.

Preceding Mr. Eaton's speech, D. H. Van Hise, well known Detroit manufacturer who lives on Beck road, was installed as the newest Rotary member. E. H. Lapham placed the club emblem on Mr. Van Hise's lapel and welcomed him to the organization. Chas. H. Scholte, the official flower presenter of the club, in appropriate words placed the birthday boutonniere on Herbert D. Ryan.

Guests at the meeting were the Rev. Walter Nalot and William Wood of Plymouth, and Orlos G. Owen.

merce also comes up for judicial determination. The court will be asked to decide whether an order of the SEC directing a telegraph company to produce telegrams is a violation of the constitutional guarantee against unreasonable search and seizure. Under the Constitution the Congress acts only in a legislative capacity. The duty of determining whether or not the laws enacted by the Congress conform to the provisions of the Constitution devolves upon the U. S. Supreme Court. "In this respect the Supreme Court acts as the people's watchman to guard against acts of the Legislative and Executive branches that are beyond the powers granted them by the people."

Last year the income taxpayers of this country paid out more than one billion dollars in special highway tolls. Of this sum only 40 per cent, according to an estimate based on reports of the Federal Bureau of Roads, was directly spent on the construction and maintenance of state highways. The tabulations show that the remaining 60 per cent was allocated as follows: 25 per cent for city streets and local roads, 16 per cent for non-highway purposes, 14 per cent for payments on debts incurred to build roads, 4 per cent for administrative expense, and 1 per cent for State police. The total reported diversion of highway funds last year amounted to more than one-third of the funds actually spent in the improvement of the State highway systems. In several states the amount of diversion exceeded road improvement expenditures.

Profit-sharing plans participated in by manufacturers and their employees deserve earnest consideration as a constructive approach to amicable labor relations. Senator Arthur W.
