IN THE WAKE OF FLOOD

This scene was enacted many times in refugee centers established by the Red Cross during the Ohio-Mississippi Valley flood. Inevitably, floods bring the danger of disease as drinking sources become contaminated and large groups of people are thrown together. The medical health service of the Red Cross serves thousands each year, and is maintained by membership funds contributed to the organization at the time of its annual Roll Call from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy W. Covell and daughters, Janice and Hazel, will spend Thanksgiving at the home of Ray Coreil in Phoenix.

"I do the very best I know how, the very best I can, and I mean to keep on doing so until the end. If the end brings me out all right, what is said against me won't amount to anything. If the end brings me out wrong, ten angels swearing that I was right would make no difference."

-A. Lincoln.

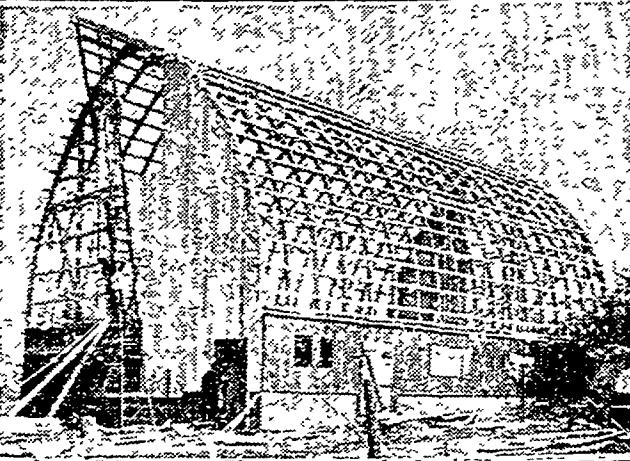

In these days of Federal subsidies it is not strange that there should not be a proposal for a subsidy to consumers. This suggestion comes from a group which insists that the Washington government ought to make up to the consumers of this country in regular checks like the AAA checks what the various New Deal agencies and schemes add to his cost of living.

Without in any way criticizing the idea of paying farmers not to raise crops nor to restrict their acreage and apparently forcing that the government gives it to the farmers,

The session opens Monday, Nov. 18, and throughout its deliberations assure them the fruits of their toil, the people of the 11th Michigan district may be sure that I will consider in prior resulting from subsidies each proposal on its merits in stores to farmers would not come the light of its possible benefits to consumers. Many of my most of these day since the beginning of my service in Congress are now fortunate finance in Congress.

CUTS BARN COST, SAVES SPACE

Arch type roof of the new barn on the farm of Roy Wosner near Mulliken, is able to carry all of its own support through the arched rafters, adding strength to the barn and space to the mow.

NEW BIOGRAPHIES AT NORTHVILLE LIBRARY

A biography to suit a variety of tastes may be found in the following list of books which may be borrowed from the Northville library:

1. Crop surplus control;
2. Proper land use;
3. Reorganization of government departments;
4. Minimum wages, maximum hours, and prohibition of child labor; and
5. Stronger anti-trust laws to curb cup cake from the refreshments served. So I didn't entirely miss out at that.

Here is another notice which should be noted by our Record subscribers hereabouts. (All 17.) That meeting of the Home Extension class which was scheduled for last Tuesday has been postponed until Nov. 30. Same time, 10 a.m. The lesson to be discussed will be "Color in the Home." More women should attend these meetings. They are really quite worth while.

They think they've arrested the fellows that robbed the F. S. Nook hardware store, Monday morning. County authorities found four suspects in a vacant house near Novi, and with them six of the eight guns that were taken, according to the papers.

Just as I suspected, the Walled Lake high school football champions won their final game with Clawson, by a score of 7 to 0. That gives our boys a clean slate for the season. They've won all their games, by substantial margins, both league and non-league, and haven't even been tied. Nine men are in their senior year, and Friday's game marked the end of their gridiron careers, as far as high school is concerned. But I'm a pretty strong hunch that some of them will carry on in college, and gain further laurels for themselves. Here's hoping.

We really have some pretty good ex-high school varsity men subbing on the Michigan State team this year. Only Coach Kochman doesn't seem to know it. Maybe he'll realize next year before it's too late.

Well, I seem to be at the end of my rope for this week. Also at the end of my copy paper. (Record, please notice. END of my copy paper.)

Full of Holes

Lorraine's mother sent him to bring a coltman. Some time later she looked out of the window and saw him playing in the yard. She called to him inquires about the manner.

Say, Mom," he said, "that thing isn't fit good. It was full of holes."

than the farmers and benefits payments constitute a heavy burden on them.

Whether this group presents its proposal with sincerity, or merely as an embarrassment to New Deal policies, the plan is not without justification. It would seem that this business of paying Federal subsidies inaugurated by the New Deal should not amount to a benefit to one class and burden to another. But we are told, much of this is being accomplished by "soaking the rich" of the nation. This so-called "soaking the rich" merely puts a tax-collecting middleman between the Federal government and the ultimate consumer. The man who sells a commodity is in a position to include taxes in his price but the ultimate consumer, since he consumes the commodity, cannot pass taxes on to anyone. He is the one who foots the tax bills.

In calling the special session of the 75th Congress, the President has outlined the following legislative objectives:

2. Proper land use;
3. Reorganization of government departments;
4. Minimum wages, maximum hours, and prohibition of child labor; and
5. Stronger anti-trust laws to curb
