Merchants' Gala Opening of Shopping Center Draws Hundreds of Buyers to Northville; Store Windows Are Decorated

Dec. 2—Northville's downtown district was crowded tonight with hundreds of persons gathered to participate in festivities marking the opening of the Christmas shopping season, featuring a personal appearance of Santa Claus and ceremonies attending the first use of Christmas lights and decorations in the business section.

A special movie program directed by the business group, Alford theatre this afternoon where they were guests of the management and Northville merchants at a special benefit party. Each of the youngsters presented two potatoes as admission and these were to be turned over to the King's Daughters for distribution to needy families.

Grade school children from surrounding towns and rural schools were invited to the movie party.

In answer to a special invitation sent out by the business group, Santa Claus, age of a favorite of young and old alike is expected from the town tonight. He will appear in person during the evening. The jolly saint left his North Pole palace early today by snow plane for a flying trip to Northville.

The downtown Christmas decorations will be formally initiated in a ceremony conducted by the Northville Civic Association, sponsors of the holiday arrangements and street decorations. Merchants have created special window displays and exterior decorations which will be needed to public view for the first time today. The business district presents its most gala holiday attire in the history of the village.

In keeping with the spirit of the occasion a community ring is planned for the evening program. Songs long associated with the Christmas season are to be sung.

This special community program has been planned by the merchants to inaugurate the holiday season and to express goodwill to their friends and patrons. V. M. Pliginsk, chairman of the committee for the merchants, explained: "We hope that everyone will have a good time, just as we hope that they will be able to make this the happiest kind of Christmas. The merchants have prepared well for a big season, and everyone can find the means for giving in the Northville shopping center."

KING'S DAUGHTERS ATTEND DEDICATION OF HOME FOR AGED

Six villagers, all members of the Northville King's Daughters organization, attended Sunday the dedication services of the Home for the Aged at Pierson avenue, between Santa Clara and Pickford avenue, Detroit.

The building, costing $115,000, is a project of the Detroit chapter of the international order of the King's Daughters and Sons. The village chapter has had a part in the enterprise, having furnished one of the home's rooms with money raised from a dinner and benefit bridge party.

Housing 69 aged men and women, the structure is fireproof and modern in design.

Speaking at the dedication ceremony was the Rev. Dr. M. S. Rice, pastor of the Metropolitan Methodist church, Detroit.

Attending the festivities from here were: Mrs. Mark Brock, Mrs. E. M. Starkweather, Mrs. W. E. Forney, Mrs. Jean A. Cole, Scott Cole, Mrs. Marvin H. Sloan and Mrs. "Aunt Ida" Hendryx.

WRITER BLAMES CLERGY FOR LOW MORAL STANDARD

Dr. T. W. Smith's Letter and Talk Bring Criticisms

The Rev. Dr. T. W. Smith's letter to the Editor which appeared in the Nov. 26 issue, is responsible for another letter this week on the same subject. It is written by a young man—a university graduate who has been brought up in a Christian home in Northville.

To The Northville Record
If the community of Northville is so immoral as Dr. Smith and others would have us believe—and it appears that it is—there are two questions that come to mind.

One: Who is responsible for it?
Two: What are we going to do about it?

It seems to me that Dr. Smith, in his letter to the editor last week, answered neither of these questions. He told us that the blame is placed on the moral standard of the clergy. They are not to be blamed for these customs and restrictions that we are so prone to think of as sanctions. They know nothing of such customs, nothing of God, no right and no wrong. All these things are taught to him—by parents, by school, by church.

Teaching is Responsible
Most of the things he is led to believe were taught him because hundreds of generations have proven that they are logical. But the average person does and believes.

DR. A. B. WICKHAM TO HEAD PROGRAM

With Dr. A. B. Wickham, superintendent of Eastern sanatorium, and all other local physicians invited to be present, parents and teachers of the village will gather at the high school gym on the evening of Dec. 9 for the annual "Health Day" program. At this time will occur an open forum for discussion of any health problems that may occur to either parents or teachers.

Mrs. Robert Geraghty will be the chairman of the gathering. Utmost informality will be in order and there is reason to believe that much good in a very practical way will come from the information to be gathered at such a "dinner."

Northville is fortunate in having a corps of physicians who are public spirited with the welfare of its citizens at heart. It is hoped that all of them will continue their good work in this educational health movement to bring about an "ounce of prevention" among the children of the village.

HARRY ROBIE, 45, DIES
Aunties have identified a man who died in Sessions hospital Wednesday morning of injuries received when he was struck by a truck driven by John Monroe of Lansing.

The accident occurred about 7:15 p. m. Tuesday on Grand River, one mile west of Novi, and the injured man was brought to the ambulance in the Schrader ambulance. The body was identified as Harry Robie of Warren township, Macomb county.

NORTHVILLE HORSE SHOW ENTRY WINS HONOR IN NEW YORK

King High, ridden by his owner Captain Royce A. Drake, came through the recent National Horse Show at Madison Square Gardens in New York, N. Y., with second honors in one of the international classes, placing second in an entry from the Irish Free State.

Capt. Drake and King High are favorites here having shown in a number of Northville horse shows in the ring at the fair grounds. Drake, formerly stationed at the Michigan State college, has been promoted from lieutenant to captain and is now a member of the United States Horse Show Team at Fort Riley, Kans., a position envied by all officers in the cavalry branch of the service. This is the team that has been chosen to represent the United States at the Olympics. King High formerly belonged to Dr. Charles A. Peck, but he was sold to Drake when he became a member of the Horse Show Team. Drake's entries are also known at the Northville horse shows.

GUN WOUNDS KILL GEORGE GUEST, 55

Aged Scout Friend Fires on Form He Thinks Is Bear

Orion C. Owen left the village late Thursday afternoon, Nov. 25, to make his second trip this season to the father's cabin at East Tawas. He was to answer a friend's call to go to the cabin to help with the hunt.

His 70-year-old father, John O. Owen, recently purchased by Dr. DeGroot and Mackay, returned to East Tawas on Thanksgiving day a hunter, 60-year-old George Guest of Melvindale, whom he believed to be a bear. The fatal shot occurred on the 29-acre Owen tract near Tawas, Mich.

Owen who was with his coroner, H. Reed in Tawas City until after an inquest Friday, Nov. 25, was released on his own recognizance pending a decision on whether a charge will be placed against him. The coroner's verdict contained the statement that Guest "came to his death as a result of gunshot wounds from unintentional negligence of John Owen."

It was not until this season that Owen took up hunting—his coroner's superintendence took all his time. At the time of his retirement, Owen took a new hold on life, determined to get some enjoyment out of life—do the things that had been crowded out by hard work.

When his son took Ted Carved and M. C. Gussell to the cabin at the beginning of the deer season, Owen hunted the fourth in the party which hunted from the cabin each day. The morning he shot his first and only deer, the thrill of a full hunter's bag was overshadowed by his own pang of pity for the dead buck—he refused to join the afternoon hunting excursion.

Known to Northville Boy Scouts as "Uncle John," each summer he is their host when they make their trek up his way for an outing. "Geese that's tough for Uncle John," said one Scout when he learned of the tragedy. "On the last night of camp this year he came with candy for us all. He put up the cash for prizes in our games, too."

And the Scouts and village hunters who know Mr. Owen agree that it wasn't being held for inquest that has already scared deeply his heart, but it's the heartache and grief that the accident has brought to the bereaved family of Guest, the man whom he took for a bear.

Monday Owen waived examination on a manslaughter charge preferred by West Branch State police. A trial has been set for Dec. 7.

CREAMERIES PASS RIGID INSPECTION

Milk Distributed Here Meets Pasteurization Standard, Health Officer Reports

Milk distributed from Northville's creameries is meeting the pasteurization test requirements, Dr. R. M. Archison, village health officer, announced this week following a check made during the month of November.

While this test has no bearing on the State inspection which was ordered here several weeks ago, it is a guarantee that an effort is being made to give all requirements fully in the pasteurization of the creameries that the State health officer all caught in the pasteurization of creameries.

DR. PETER SHIFRIN IS ROTARY GUEST

Stresses Care of Deformed Children; Shows Pictures of Paralysis Victims

They were not very pleased in the parson in the dimly lighted parson's study, Tuesday noon at the weekly meeting of the Northville Rotary club—Dr. Peter Shifrin, that made the company of professional and business men, present more than ever the necessity of good health. Dr. Peter Shifrin of the Bone and Surgical department of the University of Michigan, was the speaker. He was introduced by Dr. Joseph E. Seaudy, chairman of the day.

Dr. Shifrin's talk illustrated by a number of slides, touched on the deformities with which children are afflicted. In very realistic pictures he showed the ravages of infantile paralysis and of the misfortune that come to children who are born with abnormal bodies. Dr. Shifrin stressed very emphatically the early care that is essential in the case of children whose bones and muscles are not properly formed. "The child does not take any complaints in early life, and every parent should verify scientifically and carefully investigate any suffering complained of by the child," said this authority. Taken in time such cases can often be completely cured or at least greatly relieved.

The apparently simple matter of posture, said this visiting Ann Arbor specialist, is very vital to health. Public school teachers should be on the look-out for improper posture as it often vitally affects health, urged the speaker.

Dr. Shifrin's address brought vividly home to the Rotarians and guests the vital importance of every young person being given every possible care in the fight for health.

Following the address, Arthur Carlson gave an interesting brief talk on the possibilities of Northville having an organization of "Cub" Scouts. Mr. Carlson told of the remarkable growth of the baseball movement here for younger boys. Only half a dozen were present at the first meeting early last summer but at the close of the season, 30 boys were on the list and two full teams were always ready to take the field. A "pack" of Cub Scouts will be organized in the very near future, it is expected.

WALTER DAVID SMITH SAYS 'HELLO WORLD' WITHOUT DOGS AID

Walter David Smith of Plymouth made nothing less than a spectacular entrance into the world, Monday, Nov. 22, at Rest Haven.

In the first place he arrived some two and a half months earlier than his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Smith of Plymouth, and the doctor expected. Then it seems that there was some mishap about whether young Smith was to be born in Northville or in Plymouth. Walter, a doctor, paced the floor in Plymouth waiting for Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Smith was in Northville waiting for the doctor, but Walter David wasn't waiting for anybody. Impatiently he blew the coc with a few little whistles when the man with the little white bag rushed into Rest Haven after a few minutes, the race with the clock.

Mrs. Smith left the hospital Wednesday leaving her premature son in the doctor's care. At birth, Walter David weighed two pounds and six ounces.

He was delivered by the hospital doctor, Mr. A. H. Lane, and Mrs. Virginia M. Brown. The baby was born at 10:20 a. m. and weighed 2 pounds 6 ounces. He was born in the hospital and was delivered by the hospital doctor.

CHRISTMAS FUNDS RELEASED BY BANK

Club Members Save $3,103 in 12 Months; 124 Join First Year

The Northville Savings Club of the Depository State Bank observed its first birthday this week and 124 members celebrated it quite profitably on occasion.

A total sum of $3,103 has been built up during the past 12 months by villagers who had a little foresight about the Christmas of 1937 and determined to have money waiting for them when they started their tour of the shops this holiday season with their gift lists.

If the sum total should be divided evenly on the 124 deposits, they each have twenty-five dollars and some odd cents, pointed out E. H. Luykava when he made the Christmas club announcement Tuesday morning.

GIFT PARTY PLANS ARE MADE KNOWN

Now that December is well underway, members of Our Lady of Victory church are putting stress on the annual Gift party which will occur Monday evening, Dec. 6, in the high school gymnasium.

The children of the church have taken it upon themselves to sponsor an out-of-season baseball contest as a feature of the evening. They have hoarded for the great eight baseballs, autographed by 11 of the Detroit Tigers, including Charlie Gehringer, Goose Goslin, Hank Greenberg and Gee Walker.

Some outstanding pieces of handwork will be given away by the women of the church in their own contest. In addition, each woman will donate a gift to be used in the 20 or more games that will be played during the evening's entertainment. The games are to be supervised by the men.

The general public is invited to attend the Gift party. In past years, the crowds have been drawn from the village at large.

GUNTZVILLERS PROVE THAT IT CAN HAPPEN HERE

Rolly Thinks There Is Something to Hunting Even if He Misses

The Guntzwiller brothers—Marvin, Harry and Herbert—have something to talk about.

Out at their country home, 1540 South Taft road, when serves as the place of business for their taxidermie establishment the brothers have just "skinned" a black duck that came to town from an Indian on Waipo's Island.

The black duck was a happy-go-lucky bird that had been raised by a local farmer. It was shot by the Guntzwiller brothers and is now being prepared for the market.

A Hat for a Duck
In the duck's eyes from the neck were attached one of the black ducks, a black one was raised by the Guntzwiller brothers and is now being prepared for the market.

Rolly Misses
It seems that the Guntzwiller brothers had a very good time on their duck hunt. They were out for a few days and were successful in their hunt.

Submit Solution for Housing Need
Due to the widespread demand for greater assistance to families desiring to build small homes, the government is investigating the possibility of increasing the percentage on loans which it is possible for approved housing loan agencies to make toward purchasing new homes.

It is believed by a number of loan agencies that Congress will enact legislation making it possible for families to construct new homes with only 10 per cent of the purchase price in cash.

The Plymouth Federal and Savings Loan Association, which has been operating in its home community since 1919 is endeavoring to determine to what extent there is need for new home financing. On page 4 there is a questionnaire which every person interested in have hoarded for the great eight baseballs, autographed by 11 of the Detroit Tigers, including Charlie Gehringer, Goose Goslin, Hank Greenberg and Gee Walker.

19 SHUT-INS RECEIVE FRUIT FROM KING'S DAUGHTERS

Vela and Peggy are just little girls—they go to grade school and that's as it should be—little girls belong there, especially if they have warm clothing to wear and have mothers to cook good, nourishing foods for them before they start out every morning.

Although Vela and Peggy's legs ached from the first grade, Miss Salma Jarvis, teacher and principal, found them fasting her just before Thanksgiving, wanting her to help them in their errand of good will.

They had the basket and Vela's cupboard at home was filled with good meals of all kinds that could be shared with a few more little hands in the village. The girls had a very special day in their lives when they were able to help the shut-ins.

WHERE THE MONEY GOES

In 1933 the number of federal employes was 110,000. This number has grown to 325,000 and someone also says that every sixth automobile is driven by some government employ of one kind or another.

WANTED: $5,000 HOUSES

One way to help bring new prosperity will be for the experts to find some way to build $5,000 homes for the ordinary families. Here in Northville, for example, are probably scores of people who would be glad to build a house costing $5,000 but who will wait indefinitely before tackling a residence costing $8,000 or $9,000.

It would seem that architects and builders could work out some plan to build a thoroughly modern and well-constructed house at a cost not to exceed $5,000. Certainly one thing is true, viz., labor cannot be paid the outrageous prices for construction that it has been asking.

Can anyone here in Northville tell us how we can start building some $5,000 homes?

WHAT ABOUT THE "RECESSION?"

Nearly everyone who makes a thoughtful study of the daily papers these days or talks with any intelligent observer of industrial conditions in the cities, realizes that times have distinctly slowed down.

Started in Northville on the top of one of the great hills and on the crest of one of the great hills of the country of the United States, a great number of us in this country are falling and resting in the deep shadows of a depression that is not only a national but a world-wide phenomenon.

The depression of the present is not only a national but a world-wide phenomenon. The results of the nationwide survey are intensely interesting and the economists will be glad to help that the survey is more optimistic than might have been expected.

First, most of the economists do not foresee a depression like that of 1929. In fact, 85 per cent of those who replied to the poll think that the present depression is nothing like the one we all remember so well.

The great majority of these authorities place the blame of the present slow-down on the lap of the national administration. They maintain that the country is in a jittery and unbalanced condition due to all the uncertainty in Washington and the country.

Other big reasons for the depression are the administration's open antagonism to business in general and its over-friendly attitude toward certain labor groups; government encouragement of price-advances; attempts of price fixing by government; direct competition of government with private business; and the general relief policy of the government "which has impaired the will to work and the desire of self-support."

Bright spots in the whole picture are that most experts are agreed that the way back to recovery will be quick. Congress already is literally up in arms over the national situation and ready to take some of the tax shackles off business.

All agree that what the country is suffering now is a case of the jitters. The country is ready to go ahead on a new era of prosperity if the state of mind of the nation can be brought to normal. If Congress will proceed on the plan to reduce tax inequalities; if the President will cooperate in a friendly spirit with business and if the people in general will show confidence in each other, the return to prosperity will not be long delayed.

GOVERNOR MURPHY RAPS "SIT-DOWN"

Governor Murphy last week severely criticized labor leaders for the latest sit-down strikes. It seems that our state executive has at last "seen the light." Last winter he condoned the sit-down strike; now he says that conditions have changed.

NO 40-HOUR WEEK FOR FARMERS

Two thoughts on the 40-hour week which some labor leaders want made into a national law: One Northville man, working in a nearby city, joined the union and tells us that he saw his weekly wage drop over $10 a week, due to the shortening of the hours per week.

The Michigan Farm Bureau opposes the 40-hour week. Says Clayton Rand, southern Democrat and former president of the National Editorial Association:

"I know of no successful man or woman in all history who ever got there on forty hours a week. Make this a land of drones and smarter nations willing to work 50 or 60 hours a week will skin us alive in the competition of the world."

FROM "WELFARE" TO UNION BOSS

The "workings" of the C. I. O. and the U. A. W. are "strange and wonderfully made." Editor C. S. Seed of Rochester is close to Pontiac and the following from his typewriter will be of interest to our readers:

"It certainly is a funny world. One of the members of the Executive Board of the U. A. W. Pontiac local, was on the welfare for a number of years until he landed this connection with the Union and now he is dictating what the factory employes should do and consequently throwing thousands out of work.

FATHER'S "STUDY TABLE"
Let poets sing of "The Old Oaken Bucket," "The Old Spinning Wheel" or the "Trundle Bed," there is nothing so full of happy childhood memories to us as the old "study table" of our father where we sat the other day. The center of family activities, it was as important to the household as the cook stove.

A really homely old piece of furniture it is, large, unselfishly and carpenter-made. Because it had to follow in the preacher's itinerary every few years its great wooden legs were made removable so that it could be hoisted through the door of the latest parsonage. As soon as its legs were on and it was rolled against the wall the place became "home" at once.

The "study" with its book-lined walls was at the center of home. It was planned as a quiet refuge for the pastor to wrestle with his thoughts alone but the study door was never locked.

There was something alluring about that big desk where the red family Bible, "Cruden's Concord-ence" and "Wheaton on the Wall" bulged from its shelf while John Wesley and Great-grandmother Hancock looked down from the wall above as a spiritual stimulus to the preacher.

Often to this study table each baby in turn was brought by a too-busy mother to be deposited on its roomy top to play with the curious contents of a little drawer. While our father's great red pen creaked away with his Sunday message his attention was divided between a wiggly child and his sermon. Pretty soon the baby grew tired of the playthings and tumbled over into the father's arms until eyes grew heavy looking at Wesley smiling hazily from his red frame. If Father's sermons were less "weighty" because of these interruptions, his understanding of "Lace as a father pineth his children" was the deeper.

(Mrs. Roy Matheson)
1 1/2 cups brown sugar
1 egg
1 cup chopped suet
1 cup chopped carrots
1 cup chopped apples
1 cup chopped potatoes
1 cup currants
1 cup seedless raisins
1 teaspoonful cinnamon
1 teaspoonful nutmeg
1/2 teaspoonful cloves
1 teaspoonful soda
1 teaspoonful salt
1 3-oz. package mixed osei
3 cups sifted flour.
Mix all together and steam three hours. Use with any kind of pudding sauce.

Cranberry Orange Salad
(Mrs. Howard Greer)
2 1/2 cups of cranberries
1/2 of medium sized orange
1 cupful sugar
1 package of lemon-flavored gelatine
1 1/2 cups of hot water
Wash and drain the raw cranberries. Grind the cranberries and the orange (peeling and pulp) through the fine knife of a food chopper. Add the sugar, mix, and let stand 1 or 2 hours. Add the hot water to the lemon gelatine and stir until dissolved. Add the cranberry mixture and pour into a small square pan to mold. Chill until firm, cut into squares, and serve on lettuce with salad dressing. A few chopped nuts or some dried celery may be added to the mixture if desired.

STATE RESTRICTS US-16, FARMINGTON, TO ONE-WAY TRAFFIC

The Farmington cut-off on US-16 is again restricted to one-way traffic.

Murray D. Van Wagoner, state highway commissioner, ordered the by-pass restricted to east-bound traffic this week upon completion of the pavement widening at the west end of Farmington. West-bound traffic is being routed through the village.

At the same time a 45-mile-an-hour speed limit on the cut-off has been restored. When it was open for two-way traffic during widening construction in the village, there was a 35-mile limit.

The one-way traffic restriction was first invoked in September, 1935.

when a report showed there had been 40 deaths in four years along the cut-off. In the 12 months following its restriction to one-way traffic, the accidents dropped to two with one death.

T. W. SMITH SPEAKS BEFORE ASSEMBLY

Presbyterian Pastor Talks on Truth and Honesty in Sports

Rev. Dr. T. W. Smith, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, was the guest speaker at a Thanksgiving assembly at Northville high school Wednesday, Nov. 4.

Dr. Smith talked on honesty and truth in sports. He also said that, although Northville's football team won only one game during the season, they showed very good sportsmanship. He spoke, too, about Thanksgiving and its meaning.

The student body joined together in singing "America the Beautiful" under the direction of Leslie G. Lee and accompanied by Laura Marie Lord, Walter Gorchow and Cecil Giles sang "Thanksgiving Song" and closed the program with "A Dutch Hymn of Thanksgiving."

Did You Notice?

Everyone's waistlines seem to be increasing over the vacation? Wonder why?

The expressions on the faces of the seniors after viewing the proofs of their pictures? Does the truth hurt?

That Wally Gorchow picks very convenient times to run out of gas? The latest was after the Prom. We wonder if Sue walked home?

Chuck keeping track of Joyce? Bill S. looking for a girl friend? Here's your chance, girls!

How nice everyone looked at the Prom? Especially WE students!

That Lee T. and Ralph B. went out of town seeking talent? We all saw the return, which were two, by no means bad, blondes.

That Jack H. seems to be doing a lot of talking about a certain girl he is next to in geography? It's OK, Jack. We all have had or will have our first kiss.

That Eric can't make up her mind if she'll give to the Red Cross? Well, it's a pity that she misses it. She's a real loser.

Senior Who's Who.

ALICE PATON
This girl, about whom the boys have heard so much, is a real beauty. She is a member of the Red Cross and is very active in church work. She is a member of the Northville High School and is a member of the Northville High School. She is a member of the Northville High School and is a member of the Northville High School.

LOIS DIEM

Lois, who with her sister, Doris, comes from Waterford each day to attend N. H. S., was born Aug. 1, 1917, in Deerpark. Lois evidently enjoys driving for at the age of three, she moved to Pontiac. She moved from there to farm on the Six Mile road and has lived around here ever since. She helped at the Senior Booth and also helped to decorate for the J-Hop. Her favorite sports are baseball, roller skating and ice skating.

Grade Notes

Miss Beulah Miller's second graders made place cards with pictures of turkeys and pilgrims on them last week. They also made churches and houses.
Everyone in the third grade brought at least a penny for his contribution to the Red Cross fund.
The health class drew pictures of a good tooth and a bad tooth. Everyone in the class is trying to eat the right food to help build good teeth.
The following pupils had perfect spelling last week: Irene Bedore, Edna Graham, Vera Larkins, Derwin Melbourn, Paul Palmer, Billie Weeks, Wanda Wagner and Francis Wooten.
Mrs. E. H. Babbitt's fourth grade gave a play in front of the first assembly held for the grades.
Arlepe Toussaint, who was ser-

Editor's Note

Why is it that so many people look down upon the younger generation of today as being flighty, inconsiderate and having a very poor sense of judgment? What's the world coming to? We hear over and over. We are accused again and again of being harum-scarum, having no thought of tomorrow and the consequences of what we do. And say today. And why should we? Why can't we live to the fullest extent today and worry about tomorrow, tomorrow?
We are the post-war generation. How can we be sure there even will be a tomorrow? We've been reared in the destruction and ravages of the last war, and with another one starting in its face — why can't we live our lives, while we have them to live — as we want to? We're not afraid of war. We've been taught not to be. We've been taught that war, and all its consequences, is inevitable. It's bound to

ANNUAL PROM PROVES GALA EVENT OF YEAR

Though the Prom is only a "has been," it leaves behind many pleasant memories.

Practically everyone in school attended the annual function. The decorations were lovely and all the girls were correspondingly attractive. Decoration Chairman Doris Tewsbury looked as lovely as her masterpiece in aqua taffeta. Stanley Smith certainly is a lucky lad. President Martin Breuninger imported Madeline Salow from Plymouth for this important occasion. She looked perfectly perfect in a blue taffeta dress.

Gwen Jones and Jerry Trotter were most certainly there and Gwen looked pretty special in one of the smartest black numbers seen around. VERY nice! Barb Wood wore a cute blue changeable taffeta and Albert Bogus danced an orange tie to match. They're one of our most attractive couples! Etta Schreder's gown was a black and white creation that is just too good to see. Her escort, Good-looking, Mr. Felt, said that Barbara Phillips and good-looking Felt were in front. Barb Wood always seems to be happy. Pam, the blonde, had a black and white gown with a black and white sash. She looked like a queen.

Lois, who with her sister, Doris, comes from Waterford each day to attend N. H. S., was born Aug. 1, 1917, in Deerpark. Lois evidently enjoys driving for at the age of three, she moved to Pontiac. She moved from there to farm on the Six Mile road and has lived around here ever since. She helped at the Senior Booth and also helped to decorate for the J-Hop. Her favorite sports are baseball, roller skating and ice skating.

Grade Notes

Miss Beulah Miller's second graders made place cards with pictures of turkeys and pilgrims on them last week. They also made churches and houses.
Everyone in the third grade brought at least a penny for his contribution to the Red Cross fund.
The health class drew pictures of a good tooth and a bad tooth. Everyone in the class is trying to eat the right food to help build good teeth.
The following pupils had perfect spelling last week: Irene Bedore, Edna Graham, Vera Larkins, Derwin Melbourn, Paul Palmer, Billie Weeks, Wanda Wagner and Francis Wooten.
Mrs. E. H. Babbitt's fourth grade gave a play in front of the first assembly held for the grades.

JUNIOR CLASS TO PRESENT PLAY

"Fifty-Fifty," 3-Act Farce, To Be Given Early in New Year

"Fifty-Fifty," a three-act farce of love, luck and laughter, has been accepted by Directors Miss Estelle Griffiths and E. C. Mollena, and Miss Kathryn Giltner, committee chairman, as this year's junior play to be presented early in the new year.

The double cast of characters are: Paul Graham, an author, Warren Bogart, Henry Dean, an artist, Dale Gray, O'Malley, an Irish janitor, Don Armstrong, Mrs. Podge, a staid land-lady, Laura Mart, Lord and Betty Armstrong, Sophie Bland, a pretty dancer, Louise Alexander and Betty Gillispie, May Dexter, an enthusiastic, Rose Brubansky and Marion Colman, Mrs. Hawley, a society matron, Kathryn Marburger and Betty Carlson, Sadie, a funny caddy valet, James Geraghty and Edward Baughman.

Miss Griffiths stated, "I am anticipating the cooperation from the double cast and committee to make this rollicking play a success."
Mr. Mollena announced that the play was a very good one but success depended entirely upon the students.

The Observer

The object of our attention this week is a blond sophomore girl. She is very good looking and dresses neatly. The observed one is very active in sports and is participating in girls basketball this year. One of the most popular girls in school possesses a fine sense of humor, (ahem) and enjoys playing jokes on people. If you are still guessing, she is often seen in the presence of a plump, dark-haired girl known as...

Novi News

Miss Estelle Griffiths, third grade teacher, gave a play in honor of children's book week. The play was given in costume. The name of the play was "The Enchanted Dessert." The plot of the play centered around the main character, Jack the Giant Killer, who was hunting for the factor of happiness. "Where's the factor?" it was the door to every public library.

Piffle About Pippie

Arlepe Blake has changed her mind again. It seems that the current flame is none other than a former inmate of N.H.S. Well you please make up your mind — Arlene? If you don't know whom I mean, maybe you could get some information from one Joyce Myers.

DR. HARRISON TALKS AT TURKEY DINNER

Fellowship Class Burns Roller Skating Note at Annual Event
By C. A. BOLT
Four turkey dinners were served at the Northville High School on Thanksgiving. The dinners were served in the gymnasium and were very successful. The Fellowship Class Burns Roller Skating Note at Annual Event.

was the subject upon which Dr. Harrison focused attention.
The speaker warned against shallow gratitude and reminded his hearers that higher values must be sought in one's really grateful. "It takes true appreciation to gather to itself all the fine virtues," he said.

Perfectly "Parley-vous francais?" "Huh?" (Slowly and distinctly) "Parley-vous francais?" "I don't quite understand." "Do you speak French?" "Oh yes—yes, of course." — Exchange.

WRITER BLAMES CLERGY FOR LOW MORAL STANDARD (Continued from page 1) merely because he has been taught. He goes to Sunday School and to church and to believe in God because for the greater part because his father went. And it is, I think, well that that is the case. He is chaste because he was taught. It is the thing to do — and he was so taught because a majority of the people believe it.

Non-way does the average citizen stop going to church, or stop believing in God or stop being chaste? I think that when enough of them begin to differ from what they have or should have been taught to cause such concern as exhibited by Dr. Smith, there is something wrong with the conditions under which these persons were "taught" are brought up.

Consider the Church Consider, for a minute, the church. Has it progressed with the times? Have its ministers done their duty to the fullest sense of the word?

I think the answer lies in the empty pews and jammed highways when meet the eye Sunday after Sunday depending on to which group you belong. People do not go to church because they ask "what good will it do me?" And they find themselves unable to give the answer.

To one who has set through unimpaired and even ungratified sermons, long liturgical prayers and repetition of dogma and superstition, such attitude is quite understandable.

Function of Clergy It is the function of the clergy to teach people what they do not know, to guide them in their lives, to comfort them in their sorrows, to console them in their grief, to cheer them in their joy, to warn them in their danger, to comfort them in their sorrow, to console them in their grief, to cheer them in their joy, to warn them in their danger.

What is the function of the clergy? It is to teach people what they do not know, to guide them in their lives, to comfort them in their sorrows, to console them in their grief, to cheer them in their joy, to warn them in their danger.

School Needs More Rooms According to an editorial in the current edition of "Student Chatter," the local school paper, the Walled Lake school district is agitated with the serious problem of lack of room to accommodate the constantly increasing school enrollment. It is pointed out that the condition is a result of the recent expansion of the district, but rather, is due to many new residents in this area.
