

THE NORTHLVILLE RECORD

C. B. Dibble, Insect Control Specialist, Michigan State College, advises the treatment of horses for bots and worms with carbon bisulphide. Have the work done by a veterinarian. Stop mange in early stages with 1 to 50 lime sulphur or with crude petroleum.

The coming winter (1937-38) will probably be one of the most favorable for dairy production since 1930, the Bureau of Agricultural Economics points out in the annual dairy outlook report.

Feed prices during the current feeding season will average decidedly less than a year earlier. During the next 3 or 4 years conditions in the dairy industry are likely to average better than during the last 4 or 5 years. In most cases, the farming areas the tendency will be to increase the production of hogs, beef cattle, and veal rather than milk so long as the price of meat animals continues high.

Committee Plans Elections

Wayne county farmers will elect 1938 committee members for the 1938 Agricultural Conservation program during the two weeks between Nov. 29 and Dec. 11. At this annual meeting the farmers elected will have responsibility of administering the 1938 Agricultural Conservation program.

Any one who is a farmer will be entitled to vote for the three-man community committee, the chairman of which will be a member of the county board of directors. The success of the program in the community and county depends to a large extent on the election, by the farmers, of capable committees.

Announce 1938 Payments

The 1937 Wayne county committee consists of R. William Felt, chairman; Fred Baker, vice-chairman; Maurice C. Bird, members; and E. L. Besemer, agricultural agent. Mrs. Helen Mott is the secretary of the association. The committee announces that the 1938 agricultural conservation program report is now available.

The report shows that a total of 1,697 farmers in Wayne county, 492 farmers had their farms measured. Of these farmers 416 received payments.

Soil management practices were for tilling 60 acres; for seedling 4-550 acres legumes and grasses.

Bulls Are Listed

Increased sales of dairy bulls, newly prepared lists of bulls available for sale on the east and west sides of the State, more calling and less milk produced a cow are some of the highlights of a recent survey compiled for dairy herd improvement work in Michigan.

The dairy extension office at the Michigan State College has set up lists of sires available for sale out in the State. Copies of the lists can be obtained by writing the dairy extension office at the college, it is announced by E. C. Scheidemuth, extension dairyman at the college.

More than 500 cows were retired from the herds on test out in the State last month. Low production, older trouble, sterility were the three main reasons for culling. Yet more than one-fifth of the animals were sold for dairy purposes.

In October the average cow on test produced 22.4 pounds of fat or .73 pounds a day. November production is expected to show a further decrease, although the present milk flow is already below the usual low period of the year normally reached in December.

Changes in rations are being made in the 1,500 herds on test. The new corn crop is being shovelled into milk production, combined with protein supplements that largely are cottonseed and soybean oilmeal because the factors involved.

cause of prices lower than other protein feeds.

Recommend Ventilation

Proper ventilation in the poultry house, is essential to the health of the chickens. The application of good insulation materials will contribute to the health and comfort of the birds.

Want Buy Apples

The Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation plans to cease buying surplus apples in the State Dec. 1.

Secret of Profit

Lessons learned in many years of keeping poultry still fail to be forgotten in too many plants on Michigan farms where the total industry in a year amounts to as much as 40 million dollars.

Winter weather does not mean building up the laying flock, says C. G. Card, head of the poultry department at Michigan State College. But some of the precautions should include: Keeping down moisture, proper litter, cleaning of houses and insulation and ventilation are the factors involved.

Wayne county flocks would be more profitable without much extra care, E. L. Besemer, agricultural agent for the county, points out.

Flocks may not need to have coops warmer than 30 to 35 degrees. It is important to keep down moisture for damp houses start colds and other respiratory diseases. Four gallons of water can't be given off by 125 birds in 24 hours. This must be removed from the house through removal of litter and through adequate ventilation.

Litter commonly used in Michigan is wheat or oat straw because these are generally available on farms in this state and need not be purchased. Some poultrymen are using peat moss, sawdust, sugar cane fiber shavings and ground corn cob peat moss and sugar cane fiber to be excellent for absorbing moisture, but Professor Card believes poultrymen should cut costs where they are able.

Other winter hints that make for maximum egg production and flock health are simple but important. Birds should have 3½ to 4 square feet of space for each bird. Droppings birds should be cleaned often. Fountains should not drip, overflow, or waste water as this would add to the moisture problem. In severe weather stores may be necessary, but shields should be used to keep the birds off and to circulate the nest.

PUT LICENSE PLATES
ON DISPLAY IN CITY

Auto license plates from every state in the country are on display in the Union City Depot, Washington Boulevard and Grand River Avenue, Detroit.

This interesting exhibit was prepared under the direction of Leo D. Cade, Secretary of State; it is mounted on a panel 20 x 7 feet in size.

In addition to the plates of other states there is an exhibit of the various types of passenger and commercial plates used in Michigan.

Information is presented as to what happens when a citizen makes application for an auto title and an enlarged copy of a certificate of title is shown. Statistics are given showing that 1937 license plates totaling 1,664,937 were sold, bringing in a revenue of $10,658,151 as compared to 1,690,000 plates sold in 1916, the year the present auto registration law went into effect.

Another section of the display shows how money collected from the gasoline tax is distributed to counties for construction of the good roads. Already this year more than $23,000,000 has been realized from the gasoline tax.

Chamfers and drivers' licenses are issued by the Department of State and the display gives helpful information for persons who will be required to renew such licenses.

Be noble! and the nobleness that lies in other men, sleeping but never dead.

Will rise in majesty to meet thine own.

LIFE

The next time you hear someone say that civilized man deserves to have a stone tied around his neck and the whole awful bundle dropped in the deepest well, remind the cycle of the response to a mother's radio-newspaper plea for a blood gift for her son believed to be dying of a "strip" infection. About 3000 offers of assistance poured in from all over the world. And it is significant that the donor accepted was a Canadian, that he may have saved an American.

UNION

Now that the CIO has gained a foothold in Maybury sanatorium this writer wonders whether the unionized staff will refuse to attend patients holding cards in the A.P.O. or suspected of sympathies with the Green labor faction? Will the organizers promote strike to focus attention on the incipient local? How much of each dollar paid by members goes to pay the rent of that super-elegant, steel-barred suite of offices in the Griswold building—a rent reported to be $17,600 per year? And will the CIO members balk at wearing regulation gabs, standing on their rights to wear union suit?

directions before it is launched on its uncertain course. So many opposing factors must be brought to accept a compromise, that the proposal, excellent though it may be, may never live to fulfill its destiny.

HOMES

We pray that some worthy soul close to the housing project, can be won for this country and steer the proposal by the light of his experience—to a campaign limited to single family dwellings. Apartments, tenements, and even two-family flats have come of necessity, but the country needs the values that can be found in a single family residence. Next to a universal religious revival, nothing could accomplish as much good as a campaign to build millions of HOMES on our broad, beloved land.

THOUGHT

A person who should know better once remarked that he didn't care what people think of him. For a time we struggled for words to express our return to this country only to discover that Walter Pitkin had done it so adequately in this observation. Such a person is either lying outright, or whistling bravely to keep up his courage.

"The Creation" Will Be University of Michigan Christmas Concert Dec. 15

Haydn's splendid work, "The Creation," will be presented as a Christmas offering by the University Musical Society, at 8:30 p.m., Dec. 15, complimentary to the general public. This work is being given this year instead of the traditional "Messiah," which for many years has been heard at Christmastime. It has been deemed wise to provide the general public with an opportunity of hearing this fine work at this time.

The University Choral Union of 300 voices; the University Symphony Orchestra of 75 players; with soloists from the faculty of the School of Music; all under the musical direction of Earl V. Moore, will participate. The soloists will include Thelma Lewis, soprano, who has been heard at May Festivals and in many other important musical capacities both in Ann Arbor and elsewhere; Arthur Hackett, distinguished tenor, whose name is international; and Hardin A. Van Duzen, bass-baritone, who has joined the faculty of the School of Music this year, after having served as a member of the faculty of Albion College with distinction. Palmer Christian, University organist, will preside at the organ.

This money, in accordance with a new State law, will be devoted to the financing of examination of applicants for this type of license.

State police and department of State officials are arranging for examinations which it is believed will weed out many unfit drivers.

ELECTRIC COOKING

You are shopping for a new kitchen stove and you look at two stoves, both the same price. One is an ordinary stove and one is an electric range. Which should you buy?

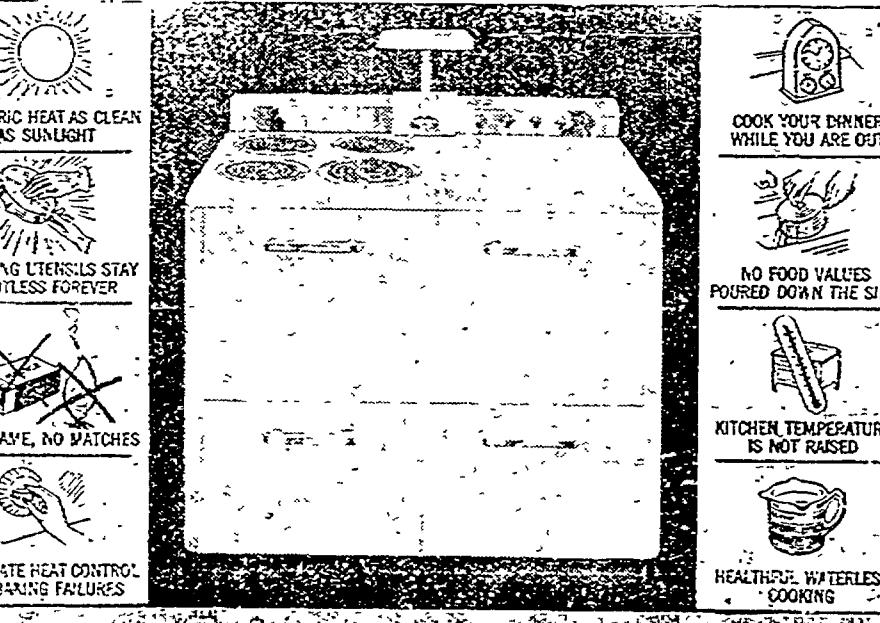

Outwardly, there is little difference in appearance. Both stoves are attractive, both have enamel finish, both are about the same size. Apparently, there is little to choose between them. YET THERE IS A BIG DIFFERENCE!

Electric cooking is the latest and most modern method of cooking. That is what appeals to most of the 10,000 families in and around Detroit who have switched to electric cooking during the past year. And today you can purchase an electric range for just about the same price you pay for an ordinary stove!

But in addition, an electric range gives you advantages you obtain in no other oven. It brings you CLEANLINESS, with heat from a glowing wire—heat as

Heroes Are Honored

The 38 members of the Walled Lake football team, 100s of its boosters and supporters of the Walled Lake-Southern Oakland County League, were honored Wednesday night by the people of the community at a banquet sponsored by the school class and held at the school.

The capacity attendance provided many persons from distant points, representatives of universities and colleges of the State and former members of Walled Lake football teams who are now attending college, several of whom are now on college teams.

The 1937 squad is the fifth to annex the league championship under Coach Harold W. Hurch since the organization of the league in 1930. This year's team was undefeated and unfeated in its opponents, failing to cross the Walled Lake goal line in the eight games played.

The champions piled up a total of 165 points against none for the opposition. Walled Lake has been undefeated in the past three years, having won 23 consecutive games.

Among the varsity regulars and reserves are 11 seniors, concluding their high school gridiron careers at the close of the current schedule. They are Raymond Seeley, John Richardson, Fred Lee (captain), Robert Philip, Charles Cox, Harold DeGroot, Boland Green, William Eikenwood, Douglas Graham, John Forbush and Joseph Porter.

The balance of the squad includes Raymond Seeley, William Frid, George Woodworth, Paul Green, Gaylord Vredland, Frank Healey, Norman Smith, Thomas Ellis, Junior Thompson, LaVern Hazen, Roy Mercer, David Bilby, Floyd Vickery, Harry Colestock, Eugene Hilary, Charles Long and Glenn Anscombe.

The program for the banquet had as its principal speaker, Walter Weber, backfield coach of the U. of M. The balance of the program was as follows: opening march, Lois Fenn; master of ceremonies, Charles Hutton; invocation, the Rev. William Pixley; piano, solo, Lois Fenn; vocal duet, Anna Morgan and LaFay Davis; tap dance, Helen Parley; presentation of gift, Fred Lee; response, Coach Hurch; clarinet solo, Monroe Riley.
