BABY CLINIC IS ABANDONED BY RED CROSS

Mrs. Eber Ward Lester Says
Health Survey Will Be Conducted Here

Northville's monthly baby clinic, sponsored by the village unit of the Red Cross, has been abandoned, according to information released by Mrs. Eber Ward Lester, head of the organization for this vicinity.

"Until a health survey is made in the village, we'll discontinue the clinic. The attendance hasn't been so good," affirmed Mrs. Lester, who said that the few persons making use of the clinic might be due to a lack of knowledge about the project, or it might be that there isn't a need for it here.

The survey, proposed by Dr. A. E. Wickham and Dr. J. E. Selby, both of the Eastlawn sanatorium staff, will get underway next week to determine just what Northville needs in the way of a health program.

Working on the survey will be the school superintendent, R. H. Amerman, school patrons the Red Cross, the doctor's nurse, Mrs. Starr Baby, as well as Northville physicians.

Following a parish-teacher health program held in November, at which Dr. Wickham and Dr. Selby were speakers, the Red Cross became interested in having the survey conducted before budget appropriations for the year were made.

"If we find that there is a need for the Baby Clinic, it will be continued," asserted Mrs. Lester.

BREAKFAST HOST

Harry B. Clark

Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Clark will open their country home, 2015 East Eight Mile road, to members of the Northville Rotary Club Saturday as a New Year's breakfast.

The breakfast occasion has become an annual event in the Rotary circle. For two years the Clarks have been the club's hosts on New Year's day.

The custodian of the New Year's breakfast began with Charles Atkinson.

Foreign Correspondent of Stethoscope Visits Dr. A. B. Wickham

By A. L. ANDERSON

Dr. and Mrs. A. B. Wickham of Eastlawn sanatorium had as their guest during the Christmas holidays an American girl who knew war-torn China long before the term of bullets and bombs descended on the vast Oriental nation.

Thomas Heide, 16 year of age, is the young man who came to Northville a little more than two years ago to continue his education in American schools, and who within two years completed a course and, through a scholarship award, entered Yale last fall.

PEAK DAY IN HEAVY POST OFFICE RUSH IS MONDAY, DEC. 20

Monday, Dec. 20, was the peak day for the Christmas mailing rush at Northville's post office, according to information released by Postmaster Fred E. Van Atta.

On that day, the afternoon load sent to the Pere Marquette station was heavy. When mail was stacked for the 8:40 p. m. train, it was necessary, for the first time, to make two trips.

The entire Christmas business at the post office has been estimated at 10 per cent above last year, with about a 12 per cent increase in business for the 12-month period over the year previous.

To handle the heavy distribution of mail, it was necessary to put on three extra men, taken from the eligible list as far as possible. Roy Larkins, Albert Lowry and Joe Litschberger worked in addition to the regular force.

In order to keep the post office clear and the distribution up-to-date, a Sunday, Dec. 19, delivery was made in the village. For the same reason, the post office windows were kept open all day, Saturday, Dec. 18.

D. J. Stark and I worked in the office two evenings until 8:30 o'clock," commented Mr. Van Atta.

"When asked just how the train wreck of Dec. 17, affected the Northville distribution, the postmaster said that the packages were held up one day. One sack, he was sure, had been sent back to Detroit, then rerouted out here, making it two days late.

"The packages were wrapped well this year, with four or five exceptions," replied the postmaster in answer to the question as to the condition of the mail that was sent from here.

When a check was made of the stamp sales, Wednesday, Dec. 29, it was learned that 60,000 cent and a half stamps had been sold, compared to the 51,000 which were sold in December, 1936.

Joy, Success, Tragedy All Leave Footprints in the Wake of 1937; News Stories of Past 52 Issues of The Record Pass in Brief Review

Northville, Michigan, Friday, December 31, 1937

The year 1937 in Northville saw the completion of the WPA water system, the resignation of Chief Police Loyce M. German, the end of Chief of Police William H. Ford as well as Mrs. Frank S. Clark, who was prominent in fair-enterprise enterprises. Tragedy was accident which claimed the life of Billy Foreman.

Two ministers left Northville for their charges, the Rev. E. G. White and the Rev. K. S. North. The village schools began a year of enrollment and a full-time principal, G. V. Harrison, in charge of the senior high school.

At all-time high attendance record was made in August at the "Festiville," Wayne County Fair, which boasted the largest "House" in its history. Such records include success stories, marriage ceremonies and the founding of new homes were all bright spots during the past 12 months which offset the happenings of the year that brought grief and unrest to villagers and their homes.

Following a violent quarrel with his housekeeper, Mattie Wilcox, Harry Musolf, 37, drank poison at 2 a.m. and died a half hour later.

Di and Mrs. J. K. Eastman, 430 East Main street, and Miss Dorothy Richardson, 745 Springer av-

WE STOP AT A NEW MILESTONE

Tomorrow we can open the door to a New Year — 1938 enters and gone beyond recall is 1937, with all its good and all its sorrow and worry.

"Phoebe," say the flippant. "Well, what of it?" say the careless and indifferent. "One year is just the same as another," say the selfish.

Yet the starting of a New Year should mean much to an intelligent and reasoning person. If there are to be no inventory times in life, no times of checking up, no times of counting the cost, then indeed we shall miss much of what life can hold for us.

The beginning of a year does mean something. It is a milestone that might well enough mean the beginning of an entirely new era for every one of us. Let the cynical, the foolish and the careless say the New Year means nothing. It may mean nothing; on the other hand it may mean everything.

What shall we think about as the New Year starts? Well, first of all, is it not time for inventory? Is it not a time for comparison with other New Years, a time for some sane resolutions? — no matter if the irreverent think that is something to laugh about.

The wise business man takes inventory at the close of his year. Is not human personality worth as much as the stock on the shelves? Checking against last year, what progress have we made? If the advances have been small, let us be honest and ask ourselves why they are not larger. Isn't that wisdom?

Why not some new resolutions? Certainly, any progressive person should have learned something during the storm and stress, should have added something to his experience, yet should even be a little bit richer in this world's goods.

So, good friend, go ahead and resolve for the New Year! The past year has been full of mistakes — he who makes no mistakes makes nothing. The New Year is here with page fresh and clean. If you are as smart as we think you are, you will make the New Year better than the past. Success to you! And may the riches of 1938 overflow through all your household.

WHAT 1937 BROUGHT ONE MAN

Just as we write this page a personal letter comes from a life-long friend. A bit of what he says is worth passing on to everyone. Here is what he says:

"While I can't say 1937 will leave me better off in material things than I possessed last January first — it has been good to me in many ways — excellent health, our small family still intact and with the addition of a sister-in-law, new friends and many happy occasions."

LIQUOR BY THE GLASS NOT WANTED

That sentiment is growing against free-flowing liquor is seen by the thoughtful. It is still true that the dollar spent for booze can't at the same time buy shoes or groceries. Even though the outward evidence might indicate that drinking is all around us, there is also strong evidence that sentiment is growing against liquor.

Even such large cities as Kalamazoo and Lansing have voted against sale of liquor by the glass. More recently, look what the county seat town of St. Johns, Clinton county, did to this very proposition. Voters of that fine little city of several thousand actually voted nearly eight to one against the sale of liquor by the glass. The pulse of the people shows that a rising tide of sentiment is again with us. Prohibition probably won't return but there will be some change made in the present tolerable situation.

BOTH ARE GOOD MEN

The political sensation of last week was the action of Lieutenant Governor Leo J. Nowicki in demanding that he be given pay for the days that he served as governor while Governor Murphy was away. To understand the case you have to know that the Lieutenant Governor gets only $8 a day while the Governor draws down $13.88 every 24 hours.

Lieutenant Governor Nowicki demanded pay for 72 days while Governor Murphy was out of the state. Governor Murphy has already given back his check for $444.42.

Apparently Mr. Nowicki saw no reason to promote democratic harmony at the expense of his pocketbook. Certainly it is pretty tough for a public official to have to live on $3 a day. Governor Murphy is reported to have shown bitterness over the Nowicki action and states that the law that was used to bring about the refund was enacted in 1840. Be that as it may, a law is a law and the Governor will obey it.

We see no reason for a controversy over this matter. Both the Governor and Lieutenant Governor are high-minded men. Both have to pay their bills and naturally both have to be more self-centered in thinking where the checks come from.

COACH BACHMAN'S CONTRACT

The "firing" of Coach Harry Kipke at the University of Michigan has been the big sensation of the sporting world during the last month. Among the noted coaches who have been suggested to take Kipke's place in Ann Arbor was Charles Bachman whose success at Michigan State has given him a national reputation. What Coach Bachman said when he was interviewed in regard to the place makes rather startling reading. He said bluntly that he didn't want the job and he added that two coaches had left Michigan State, thereby breaking their contracts and that he was not going to be the third who would take a similar jump. That is fine. We suspect that may have some bearing on the fine influence that Mr. Bachman has on his athletes.

FORD WILL BUILD HOUSES

There are plenty of bright spots on the 1938 horizon. An especially pleasing outlook is the announcement that Henry Ford and the Ford Motor Company will, next spring, start building from 4,000 to 5,000 houses on a 1,200 acre section in Dearborn. It will be a non-profit sharing plan and certainly is one of the finest plans that Ford has ever announced. These houses will be for both low and high income groups.

This plan is so gigantic that some expert has said that "if the whole thing were started at once it would require all the carpenters and masons of Detroit." Luckily the building will not be started fast enough to wreck the market for builders.

As would be expected from a man of Mr. Ford's vision, the development will include parks and playgrounds. For good measure he will probably add a school. Providing homes for possibly 20,000 people will give Henry Ford a real thrill, as have many other of his achievements.

ALCOHOL

BY THODORE WILHELM

Recently one of my neighbors a gentle, kindly man called on me to wish to interest me in support of local liquor opinion. He assured me that his church was actively engaged in the liquor fight. I like this man and did not wish to offend him. His good intention was clear, but I took a deep breath, mustered my resolution, and said, "No." My interest in mentioning this subject now is to promote emotional thinking. I am convinced that local option is a means for liquor control as mistake. It merely dumps the problem in our neighbor's laps. No thoughtful adult any longer believes that voting liquor out of a community puts it out. We were once a large majority of us so naive as to believe that. To repeat the errors of prohibition would be folly indeed. And the gross overall effect of prohibition was impatience. We could not wait for the slow and steady leaven of education to lead from the temperance which we had achieved to more temperance.

Local option is a return to prohibition and it will reap defeat.

With every other thoughtful family in this nation I abhor to which alcoholic excess leads men and women. But I have been burned once with the rest of my fellow citizens, on this problem by trusting in the vote. I don't want to make that mistake again. I'm going to be more cagey about following the lead of emotionalists in liquor control. Their intentions are all right — but!

Let's keep religion, as such, out of liquor control. All extorting to the contrary, notwithstanding, there is nothing sinful about alcohol. Alcohol is a drug with a peculiar affinity for the tissue cells of animals. Church groups might very well devote themselves to teaching what they like about alcohol but as a public policy let's be practical enough to admit that church supported organizations were as babes in the woods in the liquor debacle of 1919 to 1929. They misled us as they themselves, innocently enough were misled. We want no more of that. Kindly and high-minded as were their intentions, the problem is one they cannot handle.

Any procedure which throws the common use of alcohol into politics is bad. We will not be able wholly to avoid some voting on the matter, but any plan which provides for constant agitation of the subject for vote purposes is a weak plan.

Now then — what to do? I can see no honest, factual choice other than we must permit people access to liquor. I would be for hedging it around with enough openness and restrictions — other than financial — to make it difficult and irksome, but not hard to get. Make it hard to get and you invite the bootlegger.

They should organize continuous, well-directed education about alcohol for our youth. Let us refrain from attempting to force theological opinion about alcohol upon them. The scientific facts are more convincing. And let us refrain from forcing our will on others. Education and patience will bring us with us. Force — prohibition — will set them against us.

I believe my children should know about alcoholic drinks. They should know all that is known about the penalties exacted by the drug, alcohol. I want them to know that its unusual use will lead to disease and disgrace. I want them to know within their souls that they are its masters. They'll not have the strength of character necessary for this triumph unless they are free to exercise their own discretion. I want them to exercise it. I expect to continue to show them by personal example how it is done. I am not afraid of the results.

We are not living in Utopia. Unpleasant sounds will smash upon our

Improved lighting attracts more customers

HERE is an interesting table of figures. It is interesting because it applies to YOU. It shows how typical stores — both large and small — have used better lighting to attract more customers and increase sales. What these stores have done, YOU can do.

The left half of the table deals with show-window lighting, the right half with interior lighting designed to draw attention to a particular display inside the store. The percentage of people attracted BEFORE and AFTER improved lighting was installed is highly significant. Increases of fifty to one hundred per cent have been achieved at only a nominal cost for lighting.

The figures above are not guesswork. They are the result of an accurate check in a number of representative retail stores. And they show that light will work effectively no matter what the type of merchandise sold. Lighting has boosted the sales of gasoline, women's hats, groceries and meats, shoes, hardware, men's furnishings and a hundred other different items. You can make lighting an investment, returning good dividends.

Improved lighting pays its own way.

There is no charge for the expert advice and services of a Detroit Edison lighting engineer. He is skilled in every phase of making LIGHT do a good selling job. We shall be glad to send one of our engineers, at your request, to look over your store lighting. He may be able to give you helpful suggestions. Call your Detroit Edison office.

Miss Evelyn Grennan Opens Her Farm Home to Waterford School Children for a Christmas Party

Miss Evelyn Grennan opened her farm home, 945 East Six Mile road, Thursday evening, Dec. 29, to the children of the Waterford school at a Christmas party at the Farm Crest Inn, Chelton, held Dec. 27, in that place.

It all started some ten years ago, when the late Michael, a tea-dealer, for a tea-day, invited Mrs. Grennan to be host to the children at Christmas in Cleveland they will visit with Mrs. Winston's parents in North Royalton.

Mrs. Winston was graduated from the North Royalton High school with the class of 1932. She then attended the University of Michigan, where she was graduated. Since then, she has been a member of the group who distributed gifts to each nurse's staff of that hospital.

Some 30 children were present, together with just a few grown-up friends of Miss Grennan.

Baptist Juniors Sing Carols
Before Church Party.

Thirtynine's jackets and interfaced suits of the Baptist Church School enjoyed their annual Christmas party in the new church basement
Thursday evening, Dec. 29.

Preceding the party, members of the junior choir, with their leader,
Mrs. Earl Montgomery, went caroling through the courtesy of Dr. H. H. Burkhardt, mayor, the village truck filled to overflowing with merry boys and girls, and manned by Chief of Police Earl Montgomery.

Carrying the singing group over their charted route, the juniors were made happy by the words of commendation and the applause which they received from the villagers
along their route.

Upon returning to the church,
they joined the festivities already in progress. Games under the direction of Miss Lorraine Livingston, a Christmas tree and an exchange of gifts, were features of the evening.
Refreshments were served by the teachers, Mrs. Frank Stanford, Mrs.

A. G. Stage and Mrs. George Gardner.

Ruth Slezynski; Miracle Child of the Piano Will Give a Recital Monday, Jan. 10, in Ann Arbor

Ruth Slezynski, the miracle has chosen the following numbers: Grosse Fataisse und Fuge in C major J. S. Bach. Monday evening, Jan. 10 Hill Auditorium, Ann Arbor, made her New York debut four years ago. Since then she has played in leading cities of Europe and America and has won many awards. Her skill is one of the most remarkable personalities in the world of music. Her technique is as fine as that of pianistic prodigies. She possesses an uncanny sense of rhythm. There is nothing showy in her performance but instead, the take on the substantial proportions. Valse Brillante in A-flat major, Op. 34, No. 1, Chopin.

For her Ann Arbor concert she will play Ballade in G minor, Op. 23, Chopin.

Shirley Temple in "Heidi" Will Climax Gay Holiday Week at Northville Theatre

Shirley Temple as "Heidi" in the big-picture tradition set by the Kipling classic millions the world over have been enthralled by the warmth, the tenderness and the charming beauty of it all. Shirley was wide-eyed with elation when she was assigned Heidi and all the colorful folk who lived and laughed and loved high up in the Swiss Alps, just beneath the stars. Translated into all languages and read everywhere, it is a story that had to wait for its star screen. The Twentieth Century-Fox production of "Heidi" starring Shirley Temple, coming to the Pen-Arena-Allein theatre Friday and Saturday, Dec. 31 and Jan. 1. This is the picture for which she is remembered always.

"Heidi" brings a Shirley Temple more glorious than has ever been known, in the picture she was asked to make by thousands of fans who prominent role in "Second Honeymoon,"
