HOW'S YOUR INSURANCE?

We are not selling fire insurance nor boasting in particular for any agent who sells it but we do have a profound conviction that fire insurance is often neglected by some otherwise very business-like people.

The ruin of a Northville home last week by fire ought to be a spur to every home-owner or home dweller to check upon his insurance. The next fire may be yours.

NO POLITICS TOMORROW NIGHT

There will be no politics Saturday evening at the high school gymnasium at the President's Birthday Ball. In other words there is no politics in human suffering. Only a small soul will think about party lines when large-hearted men of all political faiths are making common cause to help their fellow men.

Everyone knows of the splendid successful fight that President Roosevelt made to recover from this devastating disease. No one knows better than he the ravages of this dread malady. We think it is very fine that he allows his name and birthday to be used for these birthday parties to aid in the fight against infantile paralysis.

You don't need to dance to help out the Birthday Ball tomorrow evening. The money you pay for a ticket will fit as much good as other you dance in not.

PUBLIC BACKS HENRY FORD

Put down your letter to the Ford Motor Company for Ford in his dispute with the U. S. W. That ought to be good news to Northville because it is a town so eager

The American Legion Post 100, Northville, about what went on over there, has been in touch with the Legion in Albion, Michigan, to let them know that in the last election the Legion organized the largest delegation of its members to the state convention in Detroit, January 27, 1937, for the election of a new state commander favoring Henry Ford. It is a good idea to have our automobile men vote for Ford again on January 27, 1938, for Mr. Homer Martin and his colleagues on the corner of Main and Main are on the way to 51 favoring Ford.

The result of this meeting will be a good indication that the country is going to take cognizance of its sense of Incidentally the politicians had to pay attention to the fact that president election if foreseen the result within one or two percent of the actual vote.

TOO MUCH CHURCH NEWS?

Some people in Northville think the Record publishes too much church news, said a good friend to us. We don't mind a suggestion — why don't more people give some constructive ideas about the home news?

We just checked last week's front page to see how much church news there really was. On the front page there were 24 "headed articles." Two of these were about churches while the rest of these on page one were given over to other community interests. Put in terms of actual inches of news, the churches were mentioned in about one-seventh of the entire front page. If a person doesn't like church news, surely he can find enough interest in the other six-sevenths of the news. But as a matter of fair play aren't the churches of Northville entitled to one-seventh of the publicity in the home newspaper?

If the Record publishes too much church news we should be very happy to receive some constructive ideas of what kind of news should replace church items.

We'll say one thing to the front page of last week with the exception of fire and death items, the news was pretty pleasant! Would you want it any other way? If we started putting in gossip, much of which might not be true, we are afraid the sparks of the conflagration would come pretty close to many.

FIGHT, THEN FORGOT IT

A bunch of sparrows eating on a feed box outside the window where we were writing these editorials have taught us a good lesson. Let us pass it on to you.

Six or eight of these scrappy, feathered friends were making a meal off some table scraps in the box. We sat for several minutes and watched them. As they sat on the edge of the box and dipped their bills into the food, there was plenty of fighting and scrapping among them. Every few seconds a couple of the sparrows stopped picking at the food, squared off as it were, and then went to battling each other. After pecking and flying at each other they would suddenly cease and calmly go back to pecking away at the food. We noticed there was only one round fought between every pair of contestants.

We thought, "Why can't human beings be as sensible? Why can't they have their disagreements, talk it over, maybe a little bit forcibly, then, like the sparrows, drop their differences and get to work on a common problem?"

Maybe it's a bit of simple sermonizing, but why can't human beings be as sane as a bunch of sparrows who have to make their living right now in a world covered by snow? Everyone of us know cases of pitiful heartburn and long continued sorrow that have been brought about by some simple difference of opinion.

We have been told several times by Northville people about a former well known resident here who was just as smart as the sparrows. He could differ with fellow citizens very sharply but come right back the next morning all smiles and sunshine and never refer to the matter again.

PASS THE PRUNES

Leave it to Elton R. Eaton to think up some ideas that attract state-wide attention! For over a week his suggestion for a mush and salt pork diet for Republican banquets has been attracting unusual interest. A few thoughts:

Personally, we like the suggestion of Editor-Merle D. Foe of Charlotte that prunes be added to the simple menu. Prunes are good for everyone.

Editor Frank Moses of the Marshall Chronicle, a high-up Democrat whom the Record editor has known for years, has a very timely comment on Eaton's idea. The Marshall scribe says:

"We will bet Elton Eaton, whom we know pretty well, that he'll have a tough time digging up cooks who know how to fry salt pork. Yes, you fry it and there isn't one cook out of ten thousand who knows how to do it. Salt pork is extremely edible if properly cooked; but no city slickers or hotel chefs know how to do it."

Speaking of banquets and dinners, Editor Walter S. Kennedy of Albion asks: "Why are banquets, anyway?" When we were in Albion we used to notice Mr. Kennedy sidestepped every banquet he could. In his editorial column last week he gave this reason for not attending banquets:

"As a matter of principle, we don't attend banquets. We used to. We had the usual fodder they serve to the goofs who attend banquets, we listened rather sleepily to three or four stuffed shirts get it off their chest and then went home, thoroughly exhausted from the effort of keeping awake, and then went to bed utterly unable to sleep for hours, because of the composite mess of gravy bricks we had eaten at the banquet."

We have a notion to invite our good neighbor, Fred Van Atta, to go over to Plymouth to eat mush and salt pork with us. Then P. J. and the Record editor actually will be on the same side.

It is a very good natured man, though he and his wife are giving up much red meat.

Patricia is giving up much red meat.</

ON THEIR OWN

"I don't want you children to have to go without as we did when we began," said the big, stalwart father to his son and new daughter-in-law as he shouldered his brass bedstead and carried it into the little house just furnished. That was back in the days when a fancy bedstead was something." "We don't need such a fine one," they both protested. "You and mother didn't have such nice things."

"No, but we want you to have things easier than we had them. We had to skimp when we began," he said kindly.

"And you don't want us to be as smart as you were," the young people laughed.

That was many years ago. Those folks have since learned that no matter how protecting parents may be, each young couple must make its own way along the road of experience. They must learn by their own mistakes. With almost foolhardiness they launch their fragile financial barge upon a very perilous sea and trusted to luck that it will not capsize.

Every child who grows up normally wants to be independent. It seems only a little while ago that a little figure in white climbed down the porch steps squirming away from our protecting arms. "No, no," she said, "I can go by my own self!"

Down the path she ran alone. The picture is still very vivid in memory—the tassel on her white wool cap bobbing up and down as our only little girl went "by her own self" for the first time to the neighbors to take part in the game.

The King's Daughters will meet Tuesday, Feb. 1 at the home of Mrs. J. G. Alexander, 353 Beal avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy W. Covell and daughters, Hazel and Janice, visited over the week end with relatives in Dearfield.

Villagers have purchased tickets for the President's ball, an annual affair which will be held Saturday, Jan. 29, in the high school gymnasium.

Charles Rogers, who was reported ill last week, was able to be down town Monday morning of this week.

Mrs. Gladys Johnson and Mrs. Dawn Holcomb left Sunday for a stay in Florida.

Mrs. Ray Baker, 129 West street, will be hostess Tuesday, Feb. 1, to the members of the Nellie Yerkes Auxiliary.

Mrs. Nancy McLoughlin, Detroit, was a Sapurday night guest of Miss Margaret Walker, Happy Acres, Eight Mile road.

W. T. Jones, who has been seriously ill for several weeks, showed a slight improvement in his condition this week.

Mrs. Eleanor Booth of the Pontiac Edison office, formerly of the Northville office, was in Northville a short time Saturday.

After nearly three weeks' illness with lobes pneumonia in the University hospital, Ann Arbor, Donald Starr was able to return to his home here.

Members of the Garden club have been asked by one of the officers of the organization to send their dues to Mrs. Charles W. Westphal, 218 High street.

Dana Briggs, a victim of blood poisoning in his right arm, was taken east Thursday to University hospital, Ann Arbor, where he is making satisfactory recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stockman were Detroit visitors Sunday at the home of their niece and nephew, Mr. and Mrs. John Muñoz, who returned with them for the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Cal Platt and Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Sackett, of Detroit, and Mrs. Ray Rorabacher of Plymouth, were guests of Mrs. Albert Stockman one day last week.

Mrs. T. Glenn Phillips plans to visit this week end with her daughter, Miss Barbara, who enrolled a few weeks ago at the Hathaway Brown school in Cleveland, O.

Charles H. Thornton of Trenton, son of Mrs. C. T. Thornton who underwent an appendectomy a few days ago, is making satisfactory recovery. He is now able to be up.

Miss Trisha Bradford, a member of the high school teaching faculty, will spend the week end in Flint, the guest of Miss Geraldine Huff, former of the high school staff here.

From a reader comes a terse comment on last week's letter box contribution to The Record. The reader clipped the article, and wrote upon it in like manner, "Dear Editor: 'The Truth'! Then What? A Rev. edition?"

Among the 488 students enrolled at the Cleary, Ypsilanti, which opened its winter term Jan. 4, are the following Northville high school graduates: Jane Greschner, Robert Lyke, Dorothy Niles and Charles Strutz.

Wain weather damaged the ice Saturday to the extent that the skating party planned by the freshman and sophomore classes on the Ford pond had to be changed to an informal school party in the high school gymnasium.

So much interest has been aroused in Farmington by the recent morals controversy which flared up in Northville that the Rev. Gilbert Miles, pastor of the Farmington Baptist church, will begin a series of eight sermons upon the issue.

Dr. H. H. Burkart and the village councilmen have named T. R. Carrington to fill the unexpired term of assessor, held by the late Charles L. Blackburn. Carrington will take care of what routine business there is to do in the office until March 14.

A Rotary district meeting will be held Feb. 2, in Royal Oak. Northwood Inn is to be the scene of a banquet for the group at 6 p.m. Rotarians are invited to attend the Golden Gloves boxing exhibition that evening at the Royal Oak high school gymnasium. The evening will be climaxed by attending the floor show at the Northwood Inn.

Numerous Detroit committees have been organized to handle the thousand and one details of staging the biggest indoor show in the world, the thirty-third annual Shrine circus which will open Feb. 7, for two weeks at the State Fair coliseum. Highlights of the three-ring program will include Captain Terrell Jacobs and his 38 lions, Hoot Gibson, famous movie cowboy and his "gang" in a whirlwind western drama; and Rudy Rudynoff and his clever liberty horses.

Because of conflicting engagements, the Right Rev. Harry Wise Hobson, the "trailer bishop," will be unable to speak Sunday afternoon, Jan. 30, at Christ Church Cranbrook. The four o'clock vesper service, will be conducted by the Rev. W. Hamilton Auerbach, who will talk on the topic, "The Parson Advises Brides and Grooms." At the 11 a.m. service, the preacher will be the Rev. Thomas L. Harris, formerly student chaplain at the University of Michigan and Harvard University, and now rector of St. Luke's and Epiphany, Philadelphia.

Mrs. James A. Huff, Jr., returned Tuesday, to her sixth grade classroom after a week's absence because of illness.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Dowling were dinner guests Tuesday evening of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Dowling, East Main street.

Charles F. Carrington, father of T. R. Carrington, has been confined to his bed because of illness for the past several days.

Mrs. Petrone Spencer attended two performances last week given by the San Carlo Opera company at the Wilson theatre, Detroit.

Mrs. George Rackham visited Sunday at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Parkham, en route to her home in Ohio.

Donald and Dale Bray, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Starr Bray, students at the Western State Teachers' college, Kalamazoo, spent the weekend in Northville.

The Elmer S. Reed family moved this week to Plymouth. Last week, fire destroyed the house in which the Reeds were living and burned all their household furniture.

The Rev. Fr. Joseph G. Schuler attended Tuesday the picturesque ancient ritual which marked the consecration of the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Stephen S. Wosnick to the episcopacy of the Catholic church in Detroit.

Hans Hammelstädt of Bradner's store left Monday morning for Cincinnati where he was to stop over a day before continuing to Miami, Fla. He will return to Northville after a vacation of two or three weeks.

Thomas Mitchell, Novi, is keeping the Turman Barber shop on North Center street open during the absence of Ira Turman, the proprietor who is ill at the University hospital, Ann Arbor.

Cass Bolton will present a copy of this week's Record at the box office of the Paramount, Allen theater, and receive his companion admission to the show, Friday evenings.

Elmer Stenger, W. F. Clark, Mrs. Baile, S. S. Staeter and the Rev. Harry J. Lord attended Tuesday evening the Methodist men's meeting at the Wayne Methodist church in Ferndale, for a social hour.

Among the villagers who attended during the past week the "Tonight at 8:30" cycle of plays by Noel Coward showing at Cass Theatre were Miss Doris Reber, Mrs. Frank H. Hawkins, Miss Kathlyn Gilligan, Miss Irene Palmer and Miss Gladys Ludwig.

Dr. Paul Lovewell and Dr. Victoria Lovewell and Dr. W. H. Johnston attended Jan. 29, the Michigan Osteopathic association which was held in the new unit of the Detroit Osteopathic hospital, under the direction of the chairman of clinics, Dr. R. M. Wright of Detroit.

Word is received from Mr. and Mrs. Don P. Yerkes and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Northrop who are spending the winter months in St. Petersburg, Fla. that they are having a fine time. They express surprise at the fact that a large number of folks attend church down there.

Milk delivered for the Detroit market was about six per cent higher in December than in November, or 93,998 pounds more each day. Thus amount, however, reports the Michigan Milk Producers association, is 182,733 pounds less daily delivery than in December 1936.

A group of men of the Methodist church, by contributing material and labor, have just completed a parlor room in the church building. Assistance in this way have been H. E. Blowers, C. C. Rix, Ed. Rix, E. P. O'Leary, S. S. Staeter, W. A. Liebtreu, R. W. Covell, E. M. Bogart, C. A. Dolph and W. F. Clark.

Besides the daughter, a son, Paul Cooper of Detroit also survives.

Mrs. John J. (Minnie) Krumm, Dean claimed Mrs. John J. Krumm Thursday Jan. 20, at Sessions hospital following a major operation. She died at the age of 58 years.

Born Sept. 1, 1879, Minnie Griffiths was the daughter of William and Minnie Griffiths of Livonia township. She had spent practically her entire life in this section of Michigan.

Last rites were held at 2 p.m.

Mrs. Jean Buckley is confined to her home by illness.

Mrs. J. N. McLoughlin and Miss Nancy visited Wednesday afternoon in the village.

Mrs. Maude Bennett left Monday for Florida, where she will spend several weeks.

Mrs. William Wain is reported as critically ill at the home of her sister in Wayne.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ely plan to leave early next week for a vacation in Florida.

The appearance here Tuesday, Feb. 8, before the Northville Teachers' club of Miss Estelle Downing of the Michigan State Normal college, Ypsilanti, has been postponed.

Mrs. J. W. Cleaver, who has been ill for the past two weeks with bronchitis, is somewhat better, although she is still confined to her bed part of the time.

The Elmer S. Reed family moved this week to Plymouth. Last week, fire destroyed the house in which the Reeds were living and burned all their household furniture.

Mrs. Charles Filkins, Ann Arbor, was in the village Wednesday of this week to attend the Merry-Go-Round club which was held at the home of Mrs. Clyde H. Schoutz.

Hans Hammelstädt of Bradner's store left Monday morning for Cincinnati where he was to stop over a day before continuing to Miami, Fla. He will return to Northville after a vacation of two or three weeks.

Saturday, Jan. 22, 22 officers and members of Order chapter 76, leader of the Eastern Star, attended the Farmington Chapter meeting to witness the enthronification of the deacons by the officers of the Grand chapter of Michigan.

The extremely popular weather Monday caused the opening of the top of the Senator Periodical chapter to climb and fall to the sidewalk. Partygoers climbed to the top of the building to knock down all loose cement as a safety precaution to pedestrians.

Although the thermometer has not gone to the zero mark, Northville has been experiencing severe winter weather this week. The streets and walks remain wet and coated with snow. The high wind which raged here Monday and Tuesday brought ruin and havoc to towns and villages in upper Michigan where communities are isolated. Marquette suffered heavily in the storm when flames damaged business property.

'FIFTY-FIFTY' TO BE GIVEN BY JUNIORS FEBRUARY, 3 AND 4

E. C. Mollema and Estelle Griffiths Direct Annual Dramatic Production

"Fifty-Fifty," the dramatic production to be given Feb. 3 and 4, by the junior class, is in the last stages of preparation. Warren Bogart and Dale Bray, the male leads who were absent from school last week because of illness, have returned and once more rehearsals are in earnest.

The story concerns two young men, Paul Graham, portrayed by Warren Bogart, and Jerry Dean, by Dale Bray, a writer and a painter who, down on their luck in the first act, through a hilarious turn of events, reach success and fortune in the second and third acts. The rest of the cast includes Louise Alexander, who portrays Henry's fiancee; Rose Brumansky and Mario Coleman play Paul's heart-interest; Laura Marie Lord, landlady; Dan Armstrong, janitor; Betty Carlson and Kathryn Marburger, wealthy art patronesses; and James Geraghty and Ed Baughman, a Negro Valet.

E. C. Mollema, who with Miss Estelle Griffiths, is directing the play, said, "The cast has been working hard, and will turn out the best performance possible."

The tickets may be purchased from any junior for 25 and 50 cents.

GIRLS CHECK OFF BERKLEY ENCOUNTER

The Northville girls basketball team met the Berkley team on Friday evening at 8 p.m. As the game had been played when this story went to press, the scores are impossible to predict. Last year game proved to be a victory for N.H.S. by the score of 22-2. The Berkley girls were defeated by Redford Union last week by one basket.

Northville lost a guard last week when Helen Van Sickle sprained her ankle badly in the Farmington game. She will not be able to return to the team for about three weeks. Her place will be taken by Jeanne Atchison, who has been practicing at guard position since Helen's injury.

The line up is not settled yet but the forwards will be chosen from Mary Frances Batt, Rose Arunashay, Helen Kinnel and Louise Alexander. The guards will be Jeanne Atchison, Kathryn Marburger and Laura Bolton.

Northville's next opponent will be Melvindale, but the game date is not yet definite.

The Observer

It seems that we observers enjoy observing the freshman students. Maybe we upper graders see something that our class doesn't possess but here goes anyway. This gentleman, for this he is without a doubt, fits the old phrase, "Tall, dark and handsome." He is of a jolly, carefree manner. Of late he's been wearing a red and black plaid shirt and he has a sister in the senior class by the name of Virginia. You usually see him with one of the senior boys, but in case you still might be in the dark, ask Al Bolton. He'll know.

Did You Notice?

All the new hair dresses Monday? Jack and Don struggling through a square dance?

Alice Corvo singing "You're a Sweetheart" to Peggy M?

All the pictures in school? Guess you've heard about the Palladium. The junior play cast becoming haggard because their two leading men have been ill?

Miss Tisha Brassfield busy with her little pad and pencil the eighth hour Thursday?

Dot H's history book? It's a pip! Al B.'s theme song, "I Have No Use for Women?"

Editor's Note

Why is it that every year certain people in N.H.S. seem to acquire the good old-fashioned "big head."

There would be some excuse for it if they were so concerned over getting all "A's," but when they swell all up over their few points in high school basketball or because they happen to be terrific Requies.

They are so concentrated over getting all "A's," but when they swell all up over their few points in high school basketball or because they happen to be terrific Requies.

LOYLE M. GERMAN PURSES "TRAPPERS" The Record's clipping department has lifted a newsy bit from Sunday's Detroit News just to make sure that all of Loyle M. German's village friends have a chance to keep tab on his progress as conservation officer.

He is.

"Officer Loyle 'Dutch' German of Monroe county is one to do his duty, as even his district supervisor, Everett E. Tucker will say. Take the other day when Dutch patrolled in the vicinity of Monroe spied two men across the fields standing up and bending down, standing up, bending down. Trappers, snuffed German and with a gash of his vigilant teeth, he raced away in hot pursuit of the culprits. Merrily the chase flew over hill and dale, 'Dutch' ever watching the up-and-down motions of the two. With a final puff after a hard run, he burst through a hedge row hand uplifted to proclaim the law - and the trappers' role blithely on their way, as they pumped their hand up and down, up and down.

A PAYING PROPOSITION Strolling along the boardwalk, a man dropped a quarter through a crack in the planking. A friend came along a minute later and found him squatted down, industriously poking a five-dollar bill through the treacherous cranny.

"What are you doing?" inquired the friend.

"I'm trying to make it worth my while to tear up this board!" Exchange.
