TROUBLES OF THE RAILROADS

(Dearborn Press)

It takes the receipts of five months and six days of the Michigan railroads to meet their annual payroll and 29 days of their income to satisfy the tax collector, according to a survey by the Michigan Railroads Association. There are numerous other days each year when railroad income immediately becomes "outgo," declares the survey which is based on 1936 I. C. C. reports. For instance, it takes 21 days of income to pay the roads' locomotive fuel bill; 55 days' work to pay the materials and supplies bills; 31 days for all other operating expenses, and 67 days for interest, rents and other fixed charges. That leaves only five days' each year whose income goes toward dividends. And 1936 needed to have an extra ten days to have enabled the lines to meet their dividends in full that year, something they failed to do by that much margin.

UNDERSTAND... APPRECIATE

(Grand County Herald)

Someone has said that in order to have understanding we must have insight. We must be able to look into another country, into another community, into a business establishment, into a family circle, into hearts and minds. This is not always possible, but, where it is possible, it is like that, that we will be toward understanding.

How can understanding alone will not necessarily develop and grow. The first step is association. We must understand and that is the first step. We must appreciate his own life, and that is the second step. We must appreciate his own life, and that is the second step.

In some circumstances, we may have to be tolerant of things we do not appreciate and of things we do not understand, with the hope that such things will change for the better from our point of view or that with more understanding our appreciation of them will be developed.

WHY LINCOLN FREED THE PIG

(Joseph Earl Norton, "Hunting Excess Day")

Lincoln and his long partner, Abraham, looking along a muddy road in an old barn. The two men were discussing a point of philosophy—wherein there is such a thing as a disinterested in flesh and blood. Lincoln said so. He said that there are such acts.

They passed a pig through a crack of an old rut fence, squinting for a look. A little farther on, Lincoln, who was driving, stopped the buggy, got out and let the pig loose. When he climbed back in, his feet were muddy with his clothes wet, his hat dripping.

"There now," said Abraham. "In spite of your fine logic you have proved my point. Why get out in the mud and let that silly pig out when he would have wiggled his way out anyhow?"

"It was a purely selfish act," said Lincoln. "If I hadn't, I would not have slept a wink tonight, his squeal would have echoed in my dreams. He might have wiggled his way out, but I wouldn't have known it. I win the case."

THE BUSINESS OF LIVING

(V. J. Brown in The Ingham County News)

Just now in looking over the pages of a national magazine the advertising of a great manufacturing corporation caught the editorial eye. It is that of a modern lad of about seven years, up in the attic of a fine old home. The boy is looking with inquiring eyes at his mother who is moving about among some discarded articles. There were enlarged pictures of his ancestors of the twenties, there were elaborate kerosene lamps of an earlier period, there were old straight back cane chairs; there was an old phonograph with suspended horn.

The lad is puzzled.

"Gee, Mom, were they all poor people?" the lad asks. That picture should be given a prominent place in our modern homes. Too much is taken for granted nowadays. Too many, it seems, believe everything is due them, without effort of their own. Too many forget that even with the hard work and sacrifices under which our forebears struggled, many of the modern day conveniences, accepted now as standard, were unobtainable at any price.

It is good now, and then to evaluate that which we have, that which we might go without, that for which we yearn. The poorest now are better off than the richest a century ago. Even a half century has witnessed a revolution in standards of living. Taking stock is good for any business, even the business of living.

STILL AT IT

(Hastings Banner)

Pressure is being brought against the president by certain groups at Washington to end the present "repression" by embarking on a new spending or "pump-priming" program. Spending evidently wasn't a cure for the last depression and there is no logical reason to feel that the present difficulty can be corrected by such methods. In fact, it may be that nothing at all is wrong with the pump. It may be that the well, itself, is getting a bit dry.

NORTHVILLE'S YESTERDAYS

1 YEAR AGO

Substantial completion of the new Northville grade school building on Feb. 6, has been announced by PWA Engineer Inspector, C. J. Sullivan. boast such spirit as this old gentleman displayed in adversity. I'll not here repeat the details of the story as given in the press, but I do want to repeat that man was made of sterner stuff than we have been seeing in our people of late. All credit to him, and shame on ourselves. There are too many among us who whine, whose sense of personal honor has been collapsed by the beggar's guile. After the lessons of shovel-leaners stealing from the public purse at a time when gratitude for the help extended them would drive upstanding men to deliver an honest day's work, this Austrian is refreshing.

I have the pleasure of knowing a young man who is made of the same fine stuff as this Austrian carpenter. I have never known this boy to be idle. When the factories closed down he was thrown out of work like thousands of others, but he invariably found something to do. He brought a cleaner and did a spring house cleaning for Mrs. Weir. He built and sold a small utility trailer or two, and soon was known as an expert trailer builder, reliable, inexpensive and willing to please. He couldn't make a living recently have been willing to let the rest of us do our best while they seemed always to have one in work to fill his spare time. He hauled on our backs.

Last week's party was well attended, and much enjoyed by those present. The refreshment committee was P. S. Nook, George Goodrich and Roland Tuttle.

Poplaski Pleads Guilty
Barry Poplaski, arrested Feb. 3 by Deputy E. L. McQuinn on a drunk and disorderly charge, pleaded guilty Saturday before Judge J. J. Schulte, and was sentenced to 60 days in the Oakland county jail.

Ma didn't sleep well the other night. She said something she ate, maybe, or worry, kept her awake. I'm inclined to think it was the latter, since her explanation of the insomnia.

You see, she's apt to get quite concerned over things over which she thinks others may be concerned. Sort of a sympathetic reaction I guess. It so happened, on Sunday afternoon, we had company (My cousins Nell, Angie, and Bob.) (And Pat, the terrier.) I mentioned that I ought to be doing some news writing, but there wasn't anything to write about, as yet. Shortly afterwards my wife and I left to keep a five o'clock dinner engagement.
—My lack of news evidently sort of played on Ma's mind. She couldn't get to sleep. She even developed an irresistible urge to help me out even to doing some writing herself. She handed me the results the next morning at the breakfast table. You'd wonder how and where she picked up all the items. She hasn't been running around much of late. Not nearly as much as I had yet. She had written enough, in a style of her own (as though she was, coming the writing) to fill the space which is occasionally allotted to me for what I call my features. I here-in give you, at least in part, the result of Ma's urge:
—Luke Andy, "Ise regusted." No news for the paper. Ma said, "Go after the news. Make news." (As though I didn't.) When she used that tone of voice, I got it. I found that Mr. and Mrs. Ira Carnes had been to a lumbermen's convention, in Detroit, last week. I wonder what they do at those conventions? They reported a good time, was had by all. Especially the eats. I dropped in at the Alice Beauty Shoppe to find out if the "day for men" was successful.
I hailed Dr. Lindsay for news. No babies this week. Business not so good. The new self-serve grocery announced everything was swell. I learned Larry Gilliam has been sick in bed for a week. No one told me about it. Now Larry says he'll have to do more business to get even with the M. D.

No fish houses to rent. All occupied, and the occupants say they have good catches. What's that mean? Our barber Herron is still cutting hair and whiskers. Joe Wiltsch hired a new salesman. Charlie Rose is not rushed on summer cottages yet. Expects to be soon.

Our school-buses are working on schedule bringing in the few run-down pupils to Walled Lake's newly enlarged building. One of the teachers is out, with scarlet fever. Mrs. C. E. Huston is substituting. George Willard thinks that he will soon be able to build a brick block. Doctors advise drinking at least a pint of milk a day. Rockers ought to be glad of that.

A. J. Wimmer looks at his fine new block of stores and tries to think out a way to finance another story, so he can have some up-to-date apartments to rent. One vacant store in town. Anyone want to rent it? See Roach. Mark Feb. 6, 1938, as the date of the year's first thunder storm.

I see my time is up so will buzz off, till next week, to finish the business district and start a house to house canvass. Cheapo.
On yes—Our lake is covered with fine ice. Get your skates and come on over, and maybe you can get a ride in Ray Harris' iceboat. She sure do go! I know for I had a ride.

"Room Service"
Gets Return Bid

Detroit theatricals will take on fresh activity, with the stage presentation of "Room Service" for a return engagement at the Cass Theatre the week of Sunday, Feb. 13.

This attraction has been tagged by the Broadway critics as George Abbott's biggest laugh. Scoring in quick succession with "Three Men on a Horse," "Boy Meets Girl," and "Brother Rat," this producer is a master of productivity. Regardless of which he takes best all of these shows have one thing in common: Abbott's directorial acumen. He seems to have what it takes to make comedies, click. The authors of "Room Service" are John Murray and Allen Boretz. The fun of a piece of this sort comes always from its main idea but from the way in which that idea is expended. With his unerring eye for the right people, George Abbott has cast "Room Service" with such lights as Reed Brown, Jr., Clinton Sundberg, James Lane, Matt Briggs, Jimmy Ward, Mary Cheffer, Nat Cantor, Patricia Palmer, Marshall Brundoff, John Clarke, Michael Dumbloff, John Carmody and August Wallace. George Abbott's sense of assembling a good company will not do him with his system skills, for the aid of a well-framed staff headed by Edith Van Cleave who is general stage manager and director. Abbott does not read a great many plays himself but goes over only those recommended by his assistants. Once he gets a play which, in his opinion, has the stuff, he buys it immediately, and then the real work begins.

Tsk! Tsk!
A little boy at the local school speech day came forward on the platform and began to recite:
"Friends, Romans, countrymen, lend me your ears," he began.
"That must be the Jones boy," said one of the listening mothers, with feeling. "They're always trying to borrow something."—Answers

GRAY OWL, NATURE
AUTHOR, TO SPEAK
SUNDAY IN DETROIT

Gray Owl author of "Penguin of the Wild" and other nature books, will appear at 3:30 p. m. Feb. 13 at the Detroit Institute of Arts, Woodward at Kirby, to present his motion picture lecture, "My Friends of the Deep Wilderness."
Gray Owl gained international attention recently when he attempted to broadcast in England a plea against fox hunting, one of England's most popular sports. He was cut off the air and stalked from the broadcasting station refusing to alter his script. Prior to the broadcast incident, Gray Owl had appeared before the royal family and had appeared nightly throughout England before large audiences.

NOTICE

TO HOLDERS OF TRUST CERTIFICATES

The Depositors' Agreement of the Northville State Savings Bank and Lapham State Savings Bank terminated January 27, 1938. There are a number of unliquidated assets belonging to each of those trusts.

Application has been made to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for a termination loan for the purpose of distributing cash to the depositors.

Distribution at this time depends largely on the outcome of the application.

Every effort is being made to bring this to a close as rapidly as possible. All depositors will receive due notice when everything is in shape for distribution.

"A BOY?... WHERE'S THE TELEPHONE?"

GOOD NEWS travels fast, and cheaply, when it goes by Long Distance telephone. Year after year, your Long Distance service has increased in value... for it has enabled you to hear better, connect with more telephones, talk farther, and complete your calls more rapidly.

Meanwhile... in a period of a little over eleven years... your Long Distance rates have been reduced eight times.

UNDER OBSERVATION

By V. R. H.

BUILDING

Circumstances rarely do what as nicely as they did Monday when a warm day, comparatively speaking, a bright sun and the beginning of remodeling on the Elliott building gave the men of the town something to do. Main streeters can't recall such a turnout since the paving and widening. We consider it a stroke of fortune that the D & C property is on the north side of the street, for the sun shines there almost all day.

KINDERGARTEN

We're glad to know that the same science which has fastiged better ways of raising and handling children so that their own parents find it to recognize them at odd moments has moved to do something about the tender, leafy vegetable and the tough old cocomor as well. We hope and do believe that the garden folks will respond and fare better under the program of handling and care prescribed for them by Kroger authorities. The local Kroger store has just received a large printed sheet complete with instructions for caring rightly for every product of the garden, orchard and vineyard. Fruits and vegetables are classified as one-day, two-day, three-day, four-day, five-day, and six-day items according to perishability, and points are given on displaying, refreshing and bedding down every succulent little leaf at night. We've changed our notion that growing is an easy field of work.

HOUSES

One of our local businessmen who has been unable to bring his family to live here gives an interesting sidelight on the operations of certain property owners and representatives. It seems that certain of these scale rents according to their estimates of the prospective tenant's ability to pay. While this is close to the ancient formula of charging all the traffic can bear, it is discrimination that upsets an honest business person.

AGAIN

That promise of the more abundant life is struggling to break into print, so we yield our place to him.

CANDIDATE ASKS IF IT'S WRONG TO GO TO CHURCH

Saddened by charges of his opponents that he has taken to church going for political advantage, Horatio G. Dippelbeck took time out this week from his vigorous campaign for the village presidency to explain his reappearance at Sunday worship after an absence of many years standing.

Feeling that I must prepare myself for the responsibilities that will be mine after March 14 and victory at the polls, I am beginning a program of churchgoing for self-improvement. The candidate stated if anyone stoops so low as to suggest that I shouldn't go to church, let him meet me on the platform in open debate.

Probing further into the local water situation Mrs. Dippelbeck found conditions worse than he had anticipated. He is investigating the refreshing and bedding down every succulent little leaf at night. We've changed our notion that grow-when submerged in village water. He has found that the ancient method of telling when one was clean after a bath by the amount of dirt left on the towel has failed because clean towels are scarcely recognizable from dirty towels.

Dippelbeck will appear before several organizations this week in his own behalf. He is doing his best to stir up some excitement in the current campaign, and is disheartened by his opponent's almost complete disregard of him. "How will the people know there is an election if we don't sing a little clean mud?" he asks.

NORTHVILLE CAGERS PLAY RETURN GAME WITH MELVINDALE

League Leadership to be at Stake in Tonight's Clash There

By TOM MARTINO
The N. H. S. basketball squad will journey to Melvindale tonight to oppose the Melvindale team. They hold a 16-6 decision over them already on the home court. The game here was very exciting with good defensive work on the part of both teams.

The battle tonight will decide the league leadership, so tension will be high throughout the game. Both teams will probably have the same starting lineups as they were here. This game should prove to be very interesting and thrilling.

FRESHMEN PRESENT ASSEMBLY PROGRAM

Last Wednesday the freshman class gave a program in the assembly at 10 a. m. This is the fifth in the series of programs given by each grade. E. V. Elson, sponsor, helped the freshmen with the program.

Because of the variety of talent in the ninth grade the program was in the order of a radio program.

Jack Holcomb was master of ceremonies. The program began with the freshman band playing the school song. The program continued with reading by Addie Mae Bartrum, Lorella Kugel and Ruth Parmelee. Alice Bentley played the Mazurka on the piano. A sextet of girls: Jane Ely, Jane Behen, Marilyn Cavell, Mary Ellen Burgess, Mary Ann Muttar and Ruth Parmenter, accompanied by Ingeborg Baumgartner on the piano, sang "Gold Mine in the Sky" and "Vocal Viper".

The band with Louis Easton, Bob Boyden, Bob McCluskey, Douglas McGraw, Robert Ross, and Harold Muttar, played "Vocal Viper" with the girls. Mary, Betty, Ruth, and David.

The program was closed with a boxing match. Tom Gillespie and Harold Shepard were the contestants.

FOOTBALL AWARDS GIVEN LETTER MEN

Coach Harry Smith announced that the list of boys to receive letters for their work during the last football season was as follows: Eber Lester, left tackle, 3 years on the squad; Arthur Mitchell, full back, 3 years; Sam Aldea, right tackle, 3 years; Albert Boelens, quarterback, 2 years; Charles Bishop, halfback, 1 year; Harold Card, end, 1 year; Claude Hinchman, halfback, 1 year; Ed Baughman, left guard, 2 years; Walter Myers, left end, 2 years; Jim Beall, right guard, 1 year; Warren Bogart, tackle, 1 year; Dale Bray, center, 1 year; Ben Duguid, right end, 1 year; Dick Larkins, half back, 1 year; Kendall Willis, guard, 1 year; Joe Defino, guard, 1 year; Jim Dixon, center, 1 year; Harold Fritz, half back, 1 year; James Funk, halfback, 1 year; Sidney Junod, halfback, 1 year; Sprague Lester, tackle, 1 year.

Piffle About Pipple

Have you seen the excited look on Mary Scholtz's face this week? Wait until you see his "date" for the senior dance tomorrow night and you'll know why. By the way, Mary, do you know what junior girl told us that you were the object of her affections? You'll never guess.

We've heard very definite rumors of a bit of a romance concerning one Richard Ambler and one more Marilyn Cavell. Will either of you substantiate these rumors? Have you a statement for the press?

Editor's Note

The "Gettysburg Address," one of the most famous speeches in history, was written by a man who probably wouldn't rate a second glance if he should pass you on the street.

He might possibly call a smile of ridicule or a look of derision to your face if you noticed his odd, gangling gait and misfit clothes. But if you had taken time to examine this man more closely you would have seen something much more interesting. There was a strange depth in those dreamy eyes that could have told worlds of stories never before even thought of. The strong creases in his jaw bespoke determination and a will to do right. No one, gazing intently at that face—a face later to be engraved in the heart of every true American and to be done in murals on the walls of all great institutions—would have said that Abraham Lincoln was a homely man. There was something about that angular face that belied any such conviction. His eyes, which showed real sincerity, and his strong mouth that could break easily into a smile of true friendship, made his facial appearance seem almost beautiful.

The lines in his face told of years of worry and suffering, yet, out of all this had come a real understanding of human nature and the problems that confront it. When his life was taken one night by a half-crazed individual who didn't realize how great would be the remorse of the whole nation at his deed, the world was robbed of one of the greatest men of all times.

N. H. S. DEFEATS TRENTON THERE

By TOM MARTINO
Northville's basketball team went to Trenton last Friday night and defeated Trenton by the score of 35-20. The game was very tough with numerous fouls being called on both teams. Harry B. Smith, coach, alternated the boys in different playing positions, which turned out to be a good change.

Northville took the lead in the first quarter and was never overtaken thereafter. The home team played a very good offensive and defensive game. Coach Smith stated after the game that he didn't think that Trenton was up to its peak at any time during the game. The high point man for Northville was Albert Boelens with 13 points. The team as a whole did very well. The lineup for Northville was as follows:

	FG	FT	PF
Bishop, C.	2	0	0
Nutter, F.	1	1	1
Card, C.	2	1	1
Boelens, G.	6	1	1
Duguid, J.	3	0	3

Subs: M. Scholtz, McCann, Larkins.

The second team won its game also by the score of 25-15. Louis Elson was the offensive star with 10 points.

We hear Janet Stewart made the acquaintance of a State policeman the other day. She claims they were only doing 45 miles per hour too. Maybe it was your fatal alarm that attracted him.

Wasn't Warren supercolossal as a lover in the play? And Dale is most definitely the romantic type. Tons of orchids also to Rosie Brumansky for her swell performance. You should wear that wig all the time, Rosie (even if Bud doesn't like it).

Benny Duguid and Elen Bramer seem to have an awful lot to talk about in history class every day. Don't tell us that Benny's finally breaking down. We don't believe it.

Alb Boelens has been relaxing lately. It seems that Keene Bolton is taking care of Barbara for the time being. Nice going, Barby!

Question of the week: What member of the girls' basketball team blamed the wrong person for what appeared in this column?

We won't mention any names, but we think she's being a lousy sport.

N. H. S. GIRLS BEAT MELVINDALE, TAKE LEAGUE LEADERSHIP

Brumansky Stars As High Scorer As Northville Turns Tables

The Northville girls' basketball team defeated Melvindale last Thursday on the Melvindale floor by the score of 20-13.

The first quarter ended with the score 2-1 in Northville's favor, both teams fighting very hard. During the second quarter, Northville increased their score to eight, while Melvindale followed by a score of six, giving Northville a two-point lead.

Northville's passing and scoring in the third quarter far exceeded that of the Melvindale team. In this quarter the Northville team scored eight points and doubled their score, making Melvindale to two points, making the total score 16-8.

In the fourth quarter, Melvindale scored five points to raise their score to 13. While the Northville team made only four points, bringing the total score to 20 points.

Melvindale made ten fouls while the Northville team made only six. Miss Gettifer Eppley, who refereed the game, made the statement that the game was one of the fastest and most hard fought games she had ever refereed.

The lineup was as follows: Forwards, Brumansky, Batt, Alexander, guards, Marburger, Bolton and J. Achison.

The second team lost its game by a score of 30-16. The lineup was as follows: Forwards, Parmenter, Brainer, Ely, guards, Cavell, Kern, Geraghty, sub, Walker.

The girls' team met Farmington last night in the Wayne County Training school gym. As the Orange and Black goes to press on Tuesday, it is impossible to print the score of this game. Miss Gladys Landwig, girls' coach, said the lineup would probably be as follows: Forwards, Brumansky, Alexander, Batt, guards, Achison, Bolton and Marburger.

JUNIOR PLAY NETS PROFIT FOR CLASS

The junior class play, "Fifty-Fifty," which was presented last Thursday and Friday evenings in the N. H. S. auditorium, netted the class $65.00, not deducting several small bills.

The class wishes to thank E. C. Mollen and Miss Estelle G. Griffin, co-directors of the play, for the time they put in and the help they gave, and Miss Kathryn Giltner, who took charge of all the committees. Special thanks goes to James Harper for the excellent work he did in painting the scenery for the play.

The class also wishes to express its gratitude to the many townspeople who attended the show and helped to make it a success.

The Observer

This week I'm going to observe one of the unsuspecting junior girls. Being one of these rare students, and I do mean rare, she creeps through the finals with an "A" in United States history test and an "A" in American literature test. Like many others around these parts, she is a farmer. She is quite active in choir having participated in several operettas and concerts. She usually drives to school in a Buick, but now and then she arrives in a Chevrolet. Her faithful buddy is called Gail.

be "likes to take old cars apart, etc." but that he "wasn't a mechanic." He likes swimming, skating and fishing. He expects to attend Michigan State and would like to take a course in forestry.

Did You Notice?

That certain bottle being passed around after school Monday? Art E. aren't you sorta young?

M. J. O. capturing a certain senator Romeo's heart? Come on, Lee, tell us about Sunday night.

C. H.'s studious gaze? Step on it, Buck, and start the semester out right.

The nice posters for the junior play? Thanks to the advertising committee and Jim Harper!

Rose B.'s day-dreaming—becoming a habit this hour? Evidently it's captured her, too.

The change of library girls? Sorry, it had to happen, Dote!

Dote's name missing from this column? No wonder the school has been quiet!

J. Gibson getting that way about a certain bunch of fens? Notice the bunch.

Jerry J. and Jack Mc are the only forever faithful couples in N. H. S.?

Ed Baughman reading his private mail in typing class?

The interruption between a noted romance when Jim B. stepped in? Tsk, tsk, Cupid has her dimes worth in!

That Cec N. hasn't grown up yet? Poor boy, what'll become of him at the age of only 29, at the rate he's going now!

That forlorn look on Benny's face? We can't figure him out!

For his his red nose? M. E. B. can explain that!

Fred Johnston flirting with the ner? (ner non library gal?)

Is name on the board because she had no assignment? You're using the first step toward entering a chain gang, Lucille!

LEWIS TO LECTURE.

Sinclair Lewis

The lecture event of the year is the coming of Nobel Prize winner Sinclair Lewis to Detroit. He will speak at 11 a. m. Wednesday, Feb. 16. This occasion will be the first time this fiery American writer will speak here in almost a decade.

His topic, "I Have Happened Here!" promises to explode some new bombshells in his attacks on stage censorship, Reds, Fascists and other things.

FREE PEN INSPECTION - If you have a good pen, it should be inspected annually. Make a good watch. We offer this inspection without charge or obligation to help you see the best performance from us.

LIGHT

for a low-ceilinged
Recreation Room

★ ★ A ROOM with a very low ceiling—such as a basement recreation room—presents a special lighting problem. The lighting fixtures used in a room of ordinary height may hang as much as 12 to 18 inches from the ceiling. These are obviously impractical here.

There are three solutions—any or all of which may be used, depending on the size of the room to be lighted. A recessed glass panel almost flush with the ceiling will provide good general illumination, when used in conjunction with other lighting and eliminate any danger of bumping one's head on the usual projecting type of light fixture. Wall brackets are another possibility. Graceful new plastic wall urns are an attractive variation of the usual shaded bracket and supply a good quality of indirect illumination. Finally, there are floor lamps and table lamps with a reflector bowl under the shade to diffuse the light. These have the advantage of being portable and may be used alone or in combination with the other two types of lighting fixtures mentioned above.

For helpful suggestions on your home lighting, call in a Detroit Edison Home Lighting Advisor. He will show you how to measure your lighting with the Sight Meter and help you with any lighting problem you may have. If you wish, he will make a complete lighting survey of your house, and give you expert advice on types and arrangement of lamps, fixtures, etc. No charge or obligation! This is part of our service.

REPUBLICANS EAT MUSH AND LIKE IT

The bushel to the hogs that hungry men can't get enough for their tables.
There were two women speakers at the dinner. One was Northville's "Aunt" Ida Henry, who says she is 82 years old and then one and so for as the knows is the oldest republican woman voter in Northville township, if not in Wayne county. The other was Mr. Fredrick T. Murphy, Gros Pointe, who promised a fight to the death for the republican party by the women voters of the State.
Mr. Eaton said that his much admired plan had been for the party.

posers: To raise funds for the neighbors and friends who are in distress due to unemployment and to provide a public rebuke to the sponsors of the recent extortionists' held in Detroit and other places to raise slush funds for political campaigns.

By adopting the mush way, tickets were sold for 50 cents, numerous gifts being contributed for charity. The large basement room at the hotel was filled to capacity by diners who were seated at tables set with paper plates. Milk was served in cardboard cartons, as were the beans and the crowning dish, mush. Michigan corn ears were used throughout the huge hall for decorative purposes, along with yards and yards of red, white and blue bunting.

Orlow G. Owen led group singing at the close of the program. The Northville Civic association public address system was used.

VILLAGE GUEST FLEES CHINA'S WAR SECTION

all that saved the British ships from having the same fate as the Panay at that time," affirms Mrs. Harris. Some 100 men and women, after being left in Canton where they were sheltered in the foreign concessions along with Britishers. "We really felt very safe in the concessions," says Mrs. Harris. "When war first broke out there, China was confident that America would step in and aid her. But she has about given up hope now," she continued.
When Mr. Harris has his six-month leave beginning in June, he will join his family in the East. From there they will make their way to Michigan to spend the summer. It was just four years ago that Mr. and Mrs. Harris left for China immediately after their marriage. There they began housekeeping among new friends and Chinese servants.
The Harris household servants include a boy, who does the work of a butler; a cook; a couple who does

DEATH TAKES TWO OAKLAND CITIZENS

first in several district schools of Michigan and afterwards in the Pontiac high school.
She was married Nov. 1, 1875, to Philomen J. Taylor, who died Nov. 11, 1910. They once owned and lived on a farm that is now Oakland Memorial Park, at Novi and Twelve Mile roads. They later built the present residence at Novi and Thirteen Mile road, which has been their home for the past 25 years.
Mrs. Taylor was for many years an active member of the Novi Methodist church, and for 13 years was president of the Oakland county chapter of the W. C. T. U.
She is the last of seven children, and is survived by several nieces and nephews. Her nephew and niece-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Tremper, have made their residence with her for the past 18 years. They were aided in her care by another niece, Miss Grace Tremper of Northville.
Mrs. Taylor was fairly active until within 12 weeks of her death, when she fell down a flight of steps in her home, breaking both wrists, from which she never fully recovered.
She was buried in Walled Lake cemetery.

Fred E. Woodman
Last rites for Mr. Woodman, 58 years old, who died Jan. 27 in Foots Memorial hospital, Jackson, following an extended illness, were held Sunday in the Walled Lake Methodist church. Mr. Woodman was born in 1879 in Northville.
He is survived by his widow, Elizabeth, a son, Albert, of Jackson; and a brother, Hoyt of Lansing.
He was associated with the J. L. Taylor company of Walled Lake for several years, and previous to that was connected with the State highway department during Governor Fitzgerald's administration. He had also worked for the Ford Motor company, and at one time was South American representative for the Port Huron Engine and Thresher company. He was an organizer of the Walled Lake Masonic Lodge.

The MODERN

GAS RANGE

Lincoln represents freedom and so does a modern Gas Range. It frees women from cooking tasks that waste their time and energy. For instance there is no back breaking stooping when you use the new broiler. The High Speed oven actually bakes biscuits from a cold start in a few minutes and the oven regulator permits you to leave home while food is baking.

FREE TRIAL!

Without any obligation whatsoever we'll put a new modern range in your home on free trial—try it yourself—prepare your favorite dishes—then if you wish to keep the range you can pay for it with a small amount each month.
