Engineering laboratories worked for four years perfecting for American household this new Bendix home laundry to replace the washing machine. The Bendin laundry washes, rinses, and damp-dries clothes with no handling necessary beyond placing the dirty clothes in the washing cylinder and removing them damp-dry, ready for the line. The machine is compact and has no exposed parts, and its speed and efficiency are designed to turn the usual drudgery of wash day into a time of relative leisure.

The Lights of Home

.-cheery, comforting and kind to your eyes

FOLLOW THESE 8 SIMPLE RULES:

The warm glow of light shining through the window extends à welcome that is symbolic of hôme. The magic of light transforms old familiar surroundings and lends new beauty to rugs and furnishings and drapenes. To achieve best results and use light most effectively, here are eight simple rules to remember.

1 Be sure of decorative fitness of your lamps and fixtures. There is STYLE in lighting just as in dress. Choose your table and floor lamps to harmonize with your furniture.

2 Ehmunate harsh contrasts (brilliant light and dark shadcws). Do not have bright pools of light in a dark room. Supplement local lighting with general room-wide light.

3 Have enough light for each seeing task. There are definite recommendations as to the amount of light needed for reading fine print, sewing, mending, working in the kitchen, etc.

4 Avoid bare lamp bulbs . . . they cause glare haw lighting is poor lighting-even if there is plenty of it Shaded lamps are always preferable. -

5 Use the right size lamp in the night fixture. Too largé or too small a lamp may cause eye discomfort and fatigue.

6 In your floor or table lamps, choose the type of lamp with a reflector bowl; and—wherever possible—shades with a white lining to provide more light. The bowl helps to diffuse the light and ossures a soft, pleasant quality of ulumination.

Wipe lamp bulbs frequently with a dry cloth-also the reflector bowl of your floor and table lamos.

6 if in doubt about any phase of your home lighting, call in a Detroit Edison Home Lighting Advisor. There is no charge for this service.
