

MEN CONTINUE SURVEY WORK ON EIGHT MILE

Expect Paving, Rerouting Recommendations To Go to Federal Aid

Surveying of the Eight Mile road, which began some three weeks ago, has not been completed, according to word issued Tuesday afternoon by Paul Holland of the Wayne County Road commission.

Upon completion, the survey report will be turned over to the County-Federal aid, with recommendations, it is understood, for the paving of West Eight Mile and with possible rerouting suggestions, involving in one instance the elimination of Randolph street from the route between West and East Eight Mile roads.

Nothing, as yet, can be learned as to the probable expense of the project, should the enterprise be accepted by the County-Federal Aid. It is expected, however, that if the recommendations are accepted, it will be a summer project.

EXPLOSION, ROBBERY CAUSE UPSET FRIDAY FOR FARMINGTONITES

No sooner had talk of the early morning explosion Friday reached a normal conversational tone, than a noon bank robbery set Farmingtonites all agog once more, and business in the community was practically at a standstill for the remainder of the day.

Explosions, which were heard for miles around, accompanied by flames which went 50 feet in the air, leveled the plant of the Wall Chemical company, Grand River near Haggerty highway, at 8 a. m.

According to L. V. LaRue, plant engineer, there were no casualties, but expensive equipment used in the manufacture of anesthetic gases was destroyed.

Firemen from Nov: as well as Farmington fought the blaze, preventing it from spreading to a larger building which houses the Aetna Cases, Inc., a subsidiary of the Wall company.

The blaze was first sighted and reported by a night employee who said the fire started in the retort of the nitrous oxide unit and spread rapidly.

And the robbery at the Farmington State Bank at 12:30 p. m. the same day, closely parallels the Depositors State Bank holdup of a year ago.

The holdup was made by three armed men, two of whom entered the bank and put a gun on Mrs. Irene Knickerbocker, teller, forced her to the door. All the loose money in her cage was scooped up. Howard C. Knickerbocker was next forced to the floor, along with one customer who entered the bank while the holdup was in progress.

Escaping in a stolen car, and heading for Detroit, the men abandoned their car within a mile of Farmington, slaying completely out of reach of the blockade instigated by the State police. Approximately $5,000 was taken from the bank.

Northville motorists in the Farmington territory were stopped by the road blockade for questioning.

Police believe that they have in custody one of the men involved in the robbery. He is Walter McDonald, 40, who was picked up Monday night and his picture sent to Mrs. Knickerbocker, who identified him as one of the men. He had $50 on his person at the time of his arrest, and $70 was found in his room, along with a pair of glasses similar to those worn by one of the bandits who robbed the Farmington bank.

McDonald has served long terms in the Federal penitentiary at Leavenworth and the Ohio State prison at Columbus. He denies the Farmington bank holdup and wants to submit to a lie-detector test.

This organization includes among its activities a program which sees to it that every crippled child receives the best medical, educational and vocational training possible.

The State society, a branch of the international society for crippled children was organized in 1921. It maintains public clinics, orthopedic and convalescent facilities, as well as special schools and classes.

SPIRITUAL SETBACK IS LORD'S WARNING

"It is important that we don't go spiritually bankrupt," said the Rev. Harry J. Lord in a thought-provoking address before the Rotary club Tuesday night. Introduced by Luther Lapham, the local pastor held the keenest attention of the men as he analyzed not only the religious but the secular conditions of the world.

With facts and figures, he drove home the point that a material let-down is always preceded by a spiritual collapse. For example, Mr. Lord pointed out that troubles of Germany under Hitler are nothing new but had their beginnings as far back as 1899 in the preaching of hatred and materialism. Similarly, Russia's troubles have come about from the corruption of religion.

"We have minimized our spiritual heritage," said the pastor, "and there can be no material prosperity until spiritual foundations are again established. The church is still the most productive business in the country if men will only give it a chance."

Preceding the address, Alonzo P. Ewing of the Detroit Rotary club, gave a personal invitation to the Northville Rotarians to attend the district conference to be held under the auspices of the Detroit club, April 25 and 26. Among those who will address the gathering will be W. J. Cameron of the Ford Motor company, Edgar A. Guest, Michigan poet, and Roscoe Bonisteel of Ann Arbor. It is possible that the Northville club will cancel its meeting for April 26 and attend the Detroit session in a body.

President Russell H. Ahernman was in charge of the meeting and the musical end of the session was led by Leslie G. Lee with Miss Doris Tewksbury at the piano.

Other guests were: Dean E. Davis of Detroit, Dr. A. B. Wickham and E. A. Chapman of Northville.

CASTERLINE FUNERAL HOME INSTALLS NEW PIPE ORGAN

The installation of a Stark Electric Pipe Organ in the Casterline Funeral home was announced today by Ray J. Casterline.

Mechanical work and final tests were completed yesterday. The new Stark organ is a masterpiece of acoustical engineering. Those who heard the test state that the tone closely resembles that of the large cathedral pipe organs. A feature of the new instrument is that it makes possible the recreation of world-famous organ music at will.

Sacred and secular pipe organ music of outstanding character, and great variety will now be available for services at the Casterline Funeral home.

"So many persons particularly like the organ, it is for their use that I've added this equipment. But for those who prefer piano music at services, we still have a piano in our music room," commented Mr. Casterline.

Return Match Already Scheduled, Walter
Moore Says

Walter Moore's soft ball team started the season off with a 12-8 victory over the Federal prison at Milan, played at the Milan ground Sunday forenoon.

"The game was clean sport from both sides and I was very much pleased at the splendid support I received from the Northville players. The Milan team played fast and hard baseball," says Moore. Northville plays there again Sunday, April 10.

The following was the Northville line-up:

EM B CELEBRATES SEVENTH BIRTHDAY

There's much ado this week at the EMB Food Market, where the proprietor, E. M. Bogart, is celebrating his seventh anniversary in business.

The market is all dressed up for the event, food, wearing a few thousand dollars' worth of new equipment. Meat is being sold these days from a modern display counter that also boasts extra service equipment. The latest thing in meat storage boxes, all black and white porcelain to match the front of the show case, has been added. Scientifically designed, it will keep meats in good condition for customer use. A rearrangement of the meat department, bringing it to the back of the store gives more space for the placement of additional shelves on the east side of the building.

In reviewing the years he's been in business here Mr. Bogart points out that after spending 12 years with a national chain organization, he opened a grocery store next to his present site. That was back in August, 1931. In January 1933, he moved to the present store, adding at the same time a meat department with Charles H. LeFevre in charge.

"We feel that we have been rather successful in the venture, but we also know that any success we have attained is due solely to our customers, many of whom have patronized us regularly since 1931," said Mr. Bogart.

13-Year-Old Mother and Son Are "Doing Fine" at Hospital

A child bride and her 6 pound 12-ounce son have been the center of attention since Sunday at Sessions hospital.

Mrs. John Butler, 13-year-old wife, gave birth to a son, who represents the fifth generation living on the young-mother's side of the family. The mother was June Ruedel. Her great-grandmother, grandmother and her own mother are living.

The father is only 17 years of age and hopes that a fulltime job will come his way before long. He's a WPA worker now.

Dr. A. A. Holcomb, the attending physician, reports that this is the second time within three years that he has attended the birth of a "fifth living generation baby."

A report from the hospital gives the assurance that both mother and baby are "doing fine."

PLYMOUTH INVALID IS BURNED IN HOUSE

Mrs. Bertram, bedridden and paralyzed for seven years, was burned to death along with two bound dogs shortly after 5 a. m. Monday, March 28, when the three-room Brandell farm house, one mile east of Plymouth, was destroyed.

Mr. Brandell, 70 years of age, tried to pull his 63-year-old wife through the window after he had awakened and found the house ablaze. He ran out of the house from the front room, where he had been sleeping, to back of the house to look in the window of the room occupied by Mrs. Brandell. Attempting to pull his wife through the window by the hair, Brandell severely burned both hands. His cries for help brought a neighbor to his aid, but the two of them could not rescue Mrs. Brandell. She weighed 195 pounds.

POST OFFICE BULLETIN

Northville business men found their interest in the prospect of a new post office heightened this week when it was learned that the village officer leads in sales all other post offices in the 17th district that are not housed in government owned buildings.

There are just three other communities listed with Northville on the eligibility list for a new building. They are Holly, Milford and Farmington.

It is still not known whether appropriations will be made at the end of the congressional session for government buildings. It is expected, though, by persons in the know, that Northville will be the next place in this district to have a new building by reason of its exceptionally large volume of business.

REV. SMITH PRAISES DONDERO'S STAND ON NAVY ISSUE

A letter to Congressman George A. Dondero by the Rev. Dr. T. W. Smith of this place, is responsible for the printing of a letter on the navy bill written by Dondero. It follows:

Rev. Thomas W. Smith, 250 E. Main Street, Northville, Michigan Dear Dr. Smith:

Your courteous letter of March 22 is received this morning in which you commend me for my vote on the Navy Bill, which passed the House of Representatives a day or two ago.

When the Appropriation Bill for the Navy was before us for consideration not a single word was uttered in regard to the need for a larger navy, and I am opposed to joining in a mad race for armament with the other nations of the world.

It was thoughtful of you to write me a word of encouragement for my vote on the bill in question.

I agree with you that an attempt should be made to cut down on the immense expenditures on wild schemes. I have not been approached by lobbyists for the big steel and munitions manufacturers, however.

Very sincerely yours, George A. Dondero, M. C.

EXTENSION LEADERS MEET

Buyership studies will be continued by the local leaders of Wayne County Home Economics groups Tuesday, April 5, at the Wayne Library, where they will meet with Miss Marjorie Eastman, extension specialist in clothing from the Michigan State college.

D & C Store Shows Attractive Red Front to Village Main Street

A completely modernized store will greet patrons of the Northville unit of D & C Stores, Inc., when the local branch opens for business Saturday morning in its new location on East Main street in the site of the old Elliott building.

Specially built fixtures, embodying the newest ideas for display and customer service, have been installed in a building almost completely rebuilt for the specific purpose of housing the store. The stock will be moved Friday, April 1, from the present location on North Center street to the new home and made ready for the grand opening Saturday morning.

The new store bears proof of abundant planning. Located on one floor to spare customers walking from one floor to the next, the store has attractive cherry toned fixtures and modern lighting. The stock will be placed in the store with a view to serving patrons in the best manner possible. The items for which the greatest number of people will shop will be located at the front. Others will be placed according to their drawing power.

The Northville store, managed by Gerald Woodworth, is one of 17 operated by D & C Stores, Inc. All are located in Michigan, most of them in smaller cities in the south central part of the state. The firm has main offices at Stockbridge. Other stores are located at Plymouth, on Grand River in Detroit and at Rochester.

The Mt. Pleasant store will soon move into a new and enlarged store. The company has the policy of keeping its units in the most modern buildings possible.

HELDE WRITES OF AIR RAIDS IN WAR ZONE

Friend of Dr. Wickham
Describes Work of
Y. M. C. A. in China

George T. Helde, for 20 years a Y. M. C. A. secretary in China, and personal friend of Dr. A. B. Wickham, superintendent of Eastlawn sanatorium, gives some highlights of the Chinese situation in a letter to Dr. Wickham. His son, Tom, was a guest just a few weeks ago at the sanatorium. Mr. Helde was here in January, 1937.

"We have been bombed twice in the past week," Mr. Helde writes in a letter dated Feb. 18, "and both times the point of attack was the air field. A number of people were killed and wounded both times, but not so many as the first attack we had when the bombs were dropped in a thickly settled part of the city. My house is fortunately strong, and the Y. M. C. A. building is strong, so I feel pretty safe in them. Besides, I have a strong dugout in my yard which could not withstand a direct hit, but I think it is proof against bomb fragments, machine gun fire or shrapnel. We had an alarm at 5 a. m., but the planes did not arrive. They bombed a large city about a hundred miles to the south of us.

The big fighting is now taking place along the Yellow river and the Lung Hai railway which parallels it. This is a long distance from Changsha, so we feel pretty secure here until the Chinese morale should collapse, something that there is not a sign of at present," he explains.

Speaking of the courage of the Chinese, he writes, "It has been amazing to see how all have fought and how selfless the feeling in the whole country is. The Japanese have much more mechanized equipment and at times, poorly trained Chinese soldiers have weakened, but even if they lose the war, it can never be said that they were afraid to fight. But mere flesh and blood is no match for steel. How on earth Japan can hope to penetrate farther and hold what they gain is a mystery, but I am trying to keep a level head and not either get too optimistic or pessimistic with discouragement."

Commenting upon the strike of the Y. M. C. A. he says, "In the unoccupied areas Y. M. C. A. is bigger than ever. There is a tremendous interest in lectures of all sorts, dormitory rooms are overflowing with men who have had to leave other parts of the country, and there is a constant demand for additional educational opportunities, as many of the schools and universities have been destroyed. Then there are the endless campaigns for soldiers to be organized and trained, refugee students, many of them homeless and penniless, to be rehabilitated."

"The national committee was unable to function in the interior because of interrupted communications and long delays, so a branch office has been established in Changsha. We are in charge of all the work among soldiers, and have more than 100 men at the front with them. We are also handling student relief funds and have organized committees in a number of cities with more now in the process. We also use this city as a training center for preparing both young men and women to work in refugee camps, soldier encampments and hospitals. Some of the money for all this has come from abroad, some being sent by students in Europe and America and we have also raised quite a lot here. One man has given us $10,000 another $8,000. Madame Chiang Kai-Shek gave $3,000 from her organization of Chinese women, and there have been many small amounts. The Rotary Club of China have sent a check for $1,000 to Changsha to be used for refugee work," he affirms.

MOORE PLANS 16 INTERCITY BALL TEAMS

Movement Is Under Way To Erect Huge Flood Lights at Park

An inter-city soft ball league for Northville, with 16 teams competing in evening games at a lighted diamond at the fair grounds, is a possibility for this season.

Walter Moore, well known to baseball followers here, promoter of the plan, says that the local fair board is offering exceptional cooperation with the plan. To equip the diamond with flood lights will require an expenditure of $800. Proceeds from the season's games which will be held four evenings of the week will be large enough to cover this expense.

Plans for the new diamond call for 14 flood lights on seven poles, which will give a grade B diamond. The flood lights will be of 1,500 watts capacity. It is also planned to rebuild the diamond which will make it the finest field of its kind in this whole area.

Teams from Northville, Plymouth, Wayne, Salem, South Lyon, Walled Lake, Novi and Farmington will provide a host of players for the season's play. The Maybury sanatorium and Wayne County Training school will also have teams. Both Plymouth and Northville will have at least three teams entered in competition.

According to Mr. Moore, it is planned to get the league under way in the very near future. There is much enthusiasm, he says, for the league in all the communities which would participate. He asks that anyone interested get in touch with him either at his place of business or by telephoning 85.

MANNING, LOCKLIN TO OPEN NEW PIT ON CENTER STREET

Manning and Locklin will soon begin operations on the site acquired last fall northwest of the junction of North Center street and Base Line road according to plans revealed by H. G. Richardson, plant superintendent.

For a time the new pit will be used to produce maintenance material for Wayne and Oakland county roads. The company plans to install special machinery designed to turn out material of the size required by the county highway departments. According to the explanation given by Mr. Richardson, a smaller size gravel is used in building and maintaining "black top" roads. To obtain this product, special crushers, screens, conveyors and stock towers, all steel, must be erected on the new site.

The main pit is now located east of the P. M. railway between Seven and Eight Mile roads. About thirty trucks are kept busy hauling out the gravel, and eighteen men work within the pit.

Dr. Smith Offers Remedy for Worry, Sleepless Nights

"Go at your troubles with a song," urged Dr. Thomas W. Smith in a stirring address on "Songs in the Night," delivered to his congregation Sunday morning at the Presbyterian church.

Those who toss on sleepless beds, "Graved by anxiety or lashed by worry over debts or other perplexities," he advised to find comfort in "songs in the night." "Songs," said the speaker, are the release of the soul. There is more real comfort in song than in any luxury.

Neither unbelief nor paganism ever wrote beautiful music, continued Dr. Smith as he cited illustrations of courage aroused by religious songs. With strong appeal he inspired his hearers to "try out the hero in their own souls" by a faith that can sing in the midst of trial.

SCOUTS HAVE OUTING

Eighteen Boy Scouts were given an outing Saturday evening when Robert Power and Richard Loomis took the boys to the Wayne County Training school cabin for an over night trip. Orlow G. Owen and Harold White joined the group Sunday morning for breakfast. A Sunday morning service was held at the cabin under the direction of Mr. Owen.

THE TROUBLE WITH US ALL

Here is something to make one feel pretty sober: "The average American working class or 'white collar' family does not put aside a cent for a rainy day."

This statement was the result of a survey that has recently been made by the Bureau of Labor of the United States.

One of the most serious problems of today, right here in Northville or in any other community, is the fact that the outgo of the family income eats up every last nickel of that income. We are not referring to depression times such as we are now having, but to prosperous or any other kind of times.

In normal times most people take in enough money. The sad thing is that they turn right around and spend practically every penny. We are not arguing anything about economics but are simply saying that most of us lack the courage to boss our money. We lack the courage to keep our budget under our income. Most of us won't admit it but we do try to "keep up with the Joneses." Except in unusual cases, we think any normal person could save money if he had the iron will to do it.

Every community has people who have had equal opportunities. Out of half a dozen people probably one will save money, will have his home, will travel, will buy books and educate his children. The other five, with the same opportunities, will be found at the end of life just barely making ends meet. Is this too harsh a criticism?

CIGARETTE SMOKING BY BOYS AND GIRLS

Without the slightest wish to do any crusading, let's say a word about cigarette smoking by pupils of the Northville high school.

The subject of pupils smoking on the school grounds was discussed on the Orange and Black page of the Northville Record last week. It seems that this problem was brought up by the entire student body. We disagree with one statement of the Orange and Black editor and heartily agree with another. The one we don't like says: "It isn't up to anyone to dictate whether or not a student should smoke. This is entirely a matter of personal choice." As a matter of fact, it is up to a lot of people whether our boys and girls smoke. First, it is up to the parents whether their boys and girls smoke. We think we know boys and girls well enough to say that much smoking by our youths is done without the knowledge of parents, or at least without their approval. In the next place, let it not be forgotten that our schools are maintained at public expense and the taxpayers certainly have some right to say how their property is used and how our young people are trained.

Smoking by adults is in general, only the adults' business. Smoking by immature boys and girls is, or should be, the business of the home, the school, and to a certain extent, the entire community. Don't let us fool ourselves. The formation of the habit of smoking in the early years of life is an enslaving chain that usually binds one the rest of his life. We have asked scores of doctors and athletic coaches about this and, without a single exception, everyone of them condemns the habit.

Almost every time we see a boy smoking cigarettes, a feeling of sorrow comes over us as we think of the shackles of habit which he is tying on himself. First, not one of those boys whom we know around Northville can afford to smoke. The cost of smoking throughout the years "runs into money." We have known many smokers throughout the years who, had they saved their smoking expense, would not be in the pitiful financial state they are in today. With Northville and the whole state of Michigan in the clutch of a cruel depression, what right has any boy in health and strength to be spending a single cent from his own or his father's pocket for the satisfaction of a drug habit that will hold him closer and closer as the years go by? This item of the cost of smoking is only one of the many arguments against smoking by boys and girls.

The Orange and Black editor says this: "Let's go home if we must smoke." This is exactly right. Unless we misjudge the average Northville home, we believe that there are very few of these "kid smokers" who would dare smoke at home. Most of the smoking by boys and girls with which we are familiar convinces us that much of it is done "on the sneak." Maybe Northville parents are different from others, but we have known very few parents who have knowingly encouraged their children to form this habit.

WHY NOT RENT AUTOMOBILES?

People rent houses—why should they not rent automobiles?

Renting of automobiles, instead of buying them—has recently been suggested by some student of the present upset motor condition. The plan looks to have some sense back of it.

Anyone who studies his own community—Northville or anywhere else—will be convinced that many well meaning and deserving people spend too much of their income for automobile expenses. Certainly many of us spend too much for our own peace of mind. Probably most of us could cut down our auto expense without suffering any hardship. Not many people have the courage to face squarely ALL that the automobile costs us through the year. If we did, we should sit more often on the front lawn and just watch the cars go by.

If we rented, instead of buying our cars, we could save by using the automobile only when the time and seasons are best. If people spend money for renting autos while visiting in Florida or California, why cannot folks who are living in Michigan do the same thing? You rent your house; why not save money by renting your car?

WANDERING THOUGHTS

It would be fine to remember Postmaster Fred E. Van Atta as one who helped get Northville its new post-office.

Walled Lake is surely on the map. Miss Alice Bentley, well known here, was named Michigan's queen of the Festival of States at St. Petersburg, Florida.

Congratulations to "Jerry" Woodworth, whose vision and courage have given Northville its fine new D. & C. store. Most folks would have said it couldn't be done but Jerry did it, depression or no depression.

Thanks to Ronald Beasley for starting Northville's 1938 house building program. Who will be next?

If you can buy that car now, you will not only help yourself but a lot of other folks.

We like this sentiment of Mayor Nichols: "We are all going to pull together for a better Northville." No reason why this community can't always be: "Detroit's most picturesque suburb."

Heard on a Northville street: "I never heard him say a mean thing about a single person."

NORTHVILLE'S YESTERDAYS

1 YEAR AGO

Sherrill W. Ambler, who was defeated by John Latsinger in the March primary for township clerk, is running as a stocker candidate for clerk at the request of friends in the general election.

At a meeting of the Northville Fair association, held March 8, the members of the board took action favoring the candidacy of Willard A. Ely for supervisor of Northville township to succeed himself.

Miss Maxine Jenkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Herron of Walled Lake, became the bride of Marvin Tibble, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tibble of the village, at 8 p. m. Saturday, March 27, when the wedding vows were pledged at a home ceremony before the Rev. K. S. North of the Northville Baptist church.

10 YEARS AGO

Miss Edward Stinson, wife of America's famed aviator, who resides on Thayer boulevard, has the distinction of being the first woman to make a non-stop flight from Northville to Jacksonville, Fla.

Mayor Charles Fikins Monday night appointed Contad Langfield a member of the village commission to fill the vacancy caused by the election of Mr. Fikins, a member of the commission, as mayor.

Northville citizens for the second time within a year paid tribute Tuesday evening to Eddie Stinson. The event was in honor of the winning of the world endurance record at Jacksonville, Fla., last week.

THAT FLOWER SHOW

From the raw March wind we stepped the other day into sudden summerland at the Flower Show in Convention Hall. Such an abrupt contrast to the bleak out-of-doors! Here was the sweet, earthy smell of growing things - daffodils, tulips, violets and innumerable wild flowers.

Winding paths lured one on through gardens that rivaled each other in beauty. Backgrounds of evergreens, accented by silvery birches and blooming shrubs, behind stretches of green lawn formed a perfect setting for borders of richly colored azaleas, roses and such a variety of blossoms. Stepping stones in some of these gardens led to rocky dells where ferns and clumps of low growing plants nestled as they do in natural woods.

From the depths of the trees came the songs of birds - Canaries, their cages hidden by the dense foliage, so that they seemed like songs of free birds. The moving things seemed to catch the spirit of almost reverence and spoke softly to each other. We seemed to feel "the solemn hush of nature newly born."

After the long winter months one felt like sitting long hours satisfying his hunger for springtime in the beauty so prodigally scattered about. We went back the second time to the rustic bridge to stand and gaze at "the world's largest American wild flower garden." Here a riot of anemones, spring beauties and nameless other treasures of the great out-of-doors spread like a carpet below. Here and there Johnny-jump-ups lifted their heads among ferns and trilliums.

"I like this place best of all," said the boy at our side, and we whispered, "So do we. It's most like the woods in spring, isn't it?"

The marvel of it all to us was that man could bring the beauty of out-doors into a great, bare hall in a crowded city where thousands of folks were glad to pay admission for the wholesome joy of seeing growing things.

WOULD YOU BELIEVE IT?

In a report from the Detroit Federation of Women's clubs Mrs. C. M. Chase brought the following startling facts:

There are four and one-half million young people out of work in this country. Of these, one-third are under the age of 25 years.

If a young person provides himself for a job in a "set pattern" he will not be fit for that job within a few years.

Young people of this generation are fine, but they have the stupidest lot of grown-ups to get along with. It is the older women who have made cocktails "smart."

The crime age is lowering each year. America leads the world in its crime record.

The state is paying more for its crime bill now than it receives in taxes on alcoholic drinks.

Temperance is the moderate use of that which is good and total abstinence from that which is bad.

Orange-Filling Cake

(One of the popular cakes served at the Woman's club luncheon was this one made by Mrs. William H. Yerkes)

1 cup sugar, 4 tablespoons melted butter, 1 egg, 3/4 cup milk, 2 cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder. Beat all together well. Bake in three layers.

Filling

Juice and rind of one orange, juice of 1/2 lemon, scant cup water, small piece of butter, yolk of 1 egg, heaping tablespoon - cornstarch. Cook. Use white of egg for boiled icing for top.

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Ps. 107:21): "Oh that men would praise the Lord for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men!"

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (page 119): "God is natural good, and is represented only by the idea of goodness; while evil should be regarded as unnatural, because it is opposed to the nature of Spirit, God."

English Students Present Hour of Poetry and Music

by Virginia
This was the program given by a group of Mrs. Frank W. Hawkins' English students Friday afternoon, bringing a climax to the first week of spring.

And it all took place in a very special stage setting, with palms, ferns and potted plants making a frame for the nine girls dressed in formal frocks, reflecting the high hues of the improvised flower garden.

A departure from ordinary assembly programs, attendance was not compulsory and was open only to students who had an appreciation for poetry and music. Poems given to musical accompaniment were selections of the students' own choosing. Soft, but clear came the voice of Louise Alexander as she presented Edna St. Vincent Millay's "The Spring and the Fall." Equally well received were the readings of Betty Jane Gillispie — "Invictus," Virginia G. Washburne — "Barter," Laura Bolton — "The Sea Gypsy," Wanda Bender — "Myself," Catherine Stevenson — "I Shall Not Care," Helen Winter — "Little Boy

Blue," Ruth Reed — "The Mocking Bird," and Rose Brunansky — "The Long Hill."

These melodies — poetic — were heightened by songs of a quartet which included Louise, Jeanne Atchison, Betty and Helen. They sang "Lovely Night" and "Bromes Lullaby." A boys' sextet gave the initial and closing numbers on the program, by singing "Softly Now the Light of Day," and "In the Gloom," O'Neil Gills, the only soloist, sang "On the Road to Mandalay."

The piano continuity was played by Laura Marie Lord and Doris Tewksbury.

Walter Garchow, Marvin Schoutz, Arthur Mitchell, Cecil Gies, Martin Breitmeier and Fred Johnson made up the sextet.

The name of this program? They called it "Things of Loveliness." 'Twas all of that — refreshing, colorful, full of charm and things of lasting beauty — for it took poetry and wrapped it all up in music.

Woman's Club Closes Season with Luncheon Friday

With the prospect of beating rugs and cleaning house looming up, before them, the members of the Northville Woman's club closed its season of literary activities Friday afternoon, enjoying a cooperative luncheon together in the library.

Small tables were placed around the room, and the bountiful menu was served buffet style with Mrs. Thad J. Knapp, Mrs. L. M. Eaton, Mrs. E. G. Wood and Mrs. A. E. Strasen in charge of arrangements.

At the close of luncheon a bevy of second graders dressed in gay colored Colonial costumes tripped into the room, led by their teacher, Miss Beulah Miller, and directed by their music teacher, Mrs. Wilbur H. Johnson. The little misses went through the sate steps of the minuet and sang a number of songs from their operetta "Irving Shoenberg" and Dorothy Strenich sang two dialogue duets. The children left the library amid a round of hearty applause.

The following little girls took part in the minuet and songs: Joanne Gullner, Marie Scarfoss, Kathryn Perrin, Marcia Spirling, Patricia Chase, June Ann Richards, Patricia Johnston, Dorothy Strenich, Lois Overman, Elaine Mae Keeping, Betty Sutton and Elaine Vogtlin.

Mrs. C. M. Chase and Mrs. E. M. Sullivan brought reports from the "Lioness" program. Presiding for the first meeting of two years in office, Mrs. R. S. Willis, called for a report from the various officers of the club. The reports showed that the year has been very successful and progressive. A number of the programs have been outstanding in interest and the club has opened its doors frequently to guests during the year.

In her farewell remarks Mrs. Willis commended her associate officers and committees for their willing cooperation and expressed appreciation to all members who had contributed to the programs. Said Mrs. Willis: "A club is not a slot machine in which one drops her coin and receives something but an organization in which each contributes to mutual welfare and to the community."

Mrs. J. N. McLoughlin of Detroit, an ex-president of the club, was welcomed back.

During the afternoon, Mrs. Harry J. Lord, gave a review of the Wesley family, which she supplemented with hymns written by Wesley. Mrs. Russell M. Atchison played the piano accompaniment. Devotions were led by Mrs. Herman Berendt. Following this Mrs. Leslie G. Lee described the workings of the various organizations and boards of the church. Entertain Club.

The Merry-Go-Round club had for its hostesses for March, Mesdames Archie Morris and A. W. Olde.

These ladies entertained the club, first, by taking them to the Legion hall where the ladies of the Auxiliary served a most delicious luncheon consisting of veal birds with mushroom sauce, shoe string potatoes, molded pear salad, warm rolls, radishes, raspberry jam, celery, chunk pickles, sliced carrots and coffee hot and all you wanted, for dessert individual pineapple pies.

We were certainly hungry and did these things taste good? After all this we had to run for the cars (on account of the pouring rain) which took us to Mrs. Morris' home where the afternoon was spent just visiting, sewing and having a good time generally.

Mrs. S. Power read a very interesting letter from Mrs. Chas. Rogers which told of the nice time they were having in Texas and made us happy to know they were all right this winter away from the home folks. We will all be glad to welcome them back.

Thirteen members and one guest were present. Mrs. Mary Astelford of Detroit, seems like one of our own members, she always finds time to bring her mother, Mrs. C. C. Chadwick, to spend one day with her old friends.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. L. A. Babbitt and Mrs. H. D. Dean April 27 when we hope our wanderers will all be home and with us again—Mrs. B. W. Hewitt, reporter.

Second Prosperfun Auction Next
Wednesday at Penniman-Allen
Theatre; Large Crowd Expected

The local merchants interested in the Prosperfun program will hold the second auction next Wednesday evening immediately following the first show at the Penniman-Allen theatre.

Judging from the last auction, with the additional incentive to the public, overflow crowds are expected. In view of the fact that those who attend the first show can remain seated for the auction, they of course, are assured of the choice seats.

Also, those attending the first show will receive $5.00 in Prosperfun "Exchange" as complimentary and for use in paying for their bids.

Bids for the prizes close at noon Tuesday, April 5, and the largest bid will be called.

The winner must be present or represented by his bid stub and Prosperfun "Exchange." If not, the second highest bid will be announced. If second high bidder is not present or represented, the article will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for Prosperfun "Exchange." Prizes will also be awarded the person who has succeeded in writing the word "Prosperfun" the greatest number of times on a post card or card of equal dimensions. There are lots of nice prizes that anyone can use and it will be interesting to see the amounts they will bring in Prosperfun "Exchange," since they can only be bought with the same. At the last auction a dress worth $7 in U. S. money brought $425 in Prosperfun "Exchange" and a sack of flour worth $1.25 in U. S. money brought $2.00 in Prosperfun "Exchange." We shall see what they bring this time as people will have larger sums to pay with at this auction for those who did not win the last time kept their money to bid this time. There was lots of borrowing of Prosperfun "Exchange" last auction and perhaps there will be more of it this time.

Sunday Barb gave a tea for a few of her friends. The guest list included: Dorothy Price, Betty Van Hoy, Clara Rader, one of Northville's newer residents, Betty Schrader, Lois Chapman, home from Oakwood for spring vacation, Ida Altman, Peg Walker, Nan, Fat and Tom, McLoughlin, Mary Lou Hubbert and Pat Roberts, all of Detroit.

We noticed Club President Roland Morris, who was with Catherine Duguid, smiling benignly on all those truckin' around at the Alumni Athletic club dance last Friday. Happy, Rolly?

Don't know just who was wrong, but Louise and her escort, Edward of the Angoves and yours truly were a wee bit on the tired side before the dance was half over. We wouldn't blame him a bit if Alf Parmenter (he brought Peg y'know) was disgusted at the whole thing. Gwen strolled in with Alumnus Cloyce Myers and we saw Janie Grosvenor with Gerry Trotter, Dick Junod and Betty Findlay, Harry Richardson and Dotie Heaton, Leo Thompson and Rosie Brubaker, Keene Bolton and Margaret Hein, Dayton Deal and Betty VanHove, Bud Murphy and Leona Moffit, were glimpsed walking around the gym.

By-the-way, we believe our worthy Alumni club members deserve a whole great big bunch of praise for their dances. Congratulations, boys.

Editor's Note

By MARY GEORGE
The appreciation of all things beautiful is sometimes forgotten in the mad scramble of every day existence. Good poetry is one of the most beautiful and greatest gifts ever bestowed upon the world and those who can express in words what others only see and feel are indeed among the blessed. It is a pleasure which can be shared by rich and poor alike. The price of a few hours spent in some quiet corner with a volume of anyone of the great poets. But poetry is not found only in books. It exists in the very air we breathe, the murmur of the brook, the rustle of the leaves, the birds that sing. Poetry, plays upon our emotions just as the gifted musician plays upon his instrument and each produces something equally precious.

NEW DRIVE ON FOR PALLADIUM SALES

Year-Book Well on Way To Completion; Pictures Taken Last Week

The year-book department has started a new drive for Palladium sales, hoping to hit the 200-mark this time. At the end of last week, orders had been taken for 142 year-books, but with the present high school enrollment, it shouldn't be difficult to sell at least 50 more.

A photographer from the Camp Publishing Company, who is doing all the photography for the annual, was at the high school last Thursday. He took pictures of the freshmen, sophomore and junior classes, seventh and eighth grades, the sports teams and most of the organizations. Those organizations whose pictures weren't taken will be taken when the photographer comes back later. Each student whose picture was taken paid one nickel for his first picture and the rest were taken free.

The Palladium staff has started laying out the pages and reports that the book will be ready for press at the end of April or the first of May.

Congressional Comment

by Representative George A. Dondero
17th Michigan District

"There can be no permanent recovery until the Federal government shows a sincere willingness to cooperate with private industry to enable it to absorb the millions of unemployed."

—Sen. Edward R. Burke.

Recently the little business men from 45 States were in conference in Washington to the number of about 1,000. They were here from all parts of the country to discuss their common and mutual problems, to consider questions that vex them, to come to some conclusion, and offer suggestions to the President, and to the Congress, of what might be done in order to solve the problems which confront them.

When the special session of this Congress came to an end I went back home to my district, as did many other members of the House, and I made it my business to talk with big business men, laboring men, men and women of all walks of life, for the purpose of obtaining from them, if I could, what their problems were, what their opinions were, and what they thought ought to be done in order to help make conditions better in this country. I came back to Washington for the regular session and wrote a letter to the President and included in that letter the result of my efforts and what the opinion was which I obtained from all walks of life in various parts of my district. It was rather refreshing and illuminating to read the newspapers and find that the things which the small business men in conference here were discussing and the problems that they voiced, very nearly corresponded with the very things that I had included in my letter to the President of the United States.

When I wrote that letter it was my desire, and now it is my desire to be helpful, to lay before our President such things that are coming from back home which are annoying and holding back the people of this country from going forward to a better day. Among the things included in the letter was the suggestion of the repeal of a radical modification of the undistributed profits tax law. That was one of the things voiced by the little business men or men representing little business in the recent Washington meeting.

Another thing was suggested in my letter to the President was either a modification of the law known as the Wagner Labor Act, or a complete repeal of it; and, further, that a helpful attitude on the part of the government, and not a policy of threat, strangulation and reprisal, was needed not only to encourage big business, but little business as well; that competition on all business had to cease before times would be better; that too many laws were being passed by Congress to regulate, strangle, and dry up the business interests of the country.

It is my opinion that we can do much in this Congress to alleviate business and bring back better days by repealing some of the laws which we have passed and which we now find are not working to the advantage of our people but rather to their disadvantage. So far as my State and my district are concerned, in my judgment, industrial warfare will have to cease before happier days will come again, and that is true particularly of that great automotive industry, the largest in the country at present.

Another thing we could do to help this country is to emancipate business from politics. When we take off the shackles that have been put on business in the way of burdensome taxation, undue governmental regulations, and government competition with private business, the sooner we do that, whether we be Republicans or Democrats, in my judgment, the sooner will come a better day for the American nation.

The Department of Labor estimates that factory employment declined 520,000 in December, the greatest decline since the same month in 1920. Between November and December, cities reported a 17 per cent increase in general welfare cases.

Two Families x Five Weddings = Tea For Ten

The four sons of Napoleon Bonaparte, left, married the four daughters of Mrs. Elvira Rancourt, seated. Then, to make it unanimous, Napoleon wed Elvira. When the Bonapartes left their home town of Lexington, Maine, to visit New York for the first time, Bob Ripley promptly nominated them for his "Believe It or Not" show. A minute before facing the dreaded microphone the assembled Bonapartes en masse turned to tea: left to right, Napoleon and Elvira, Bertha and David, Marian and Godfrey, Gabrielle and Ludwig, and Elizabeth and Arthur Bonaparte.

Lovable, Talented Deanna Durbin Heads Theatre Booking for Week; She'll Appear Friday in "Mad About Music"

"HIDEAWAY"
A new romantic team in the persons of Marjorie Lord and William Corson makes its debut in "Hideaway" in which Fred Stone is starred.
Miss Lord, lovely brunette, is cast as Stone's daughter, a country girl who years for the city. Corson is seen in a rugged characterization of a forest ranger who convinces her with the aid of her father, that the country spells happiness and romance.

Other important roles are filled by Emma Dunn, also featured, Tommy Bond, J. Carrol Naish, Ray Mayer, Bradley Page and Paul Guilfoyle. Richard Rosson directed.
"Hideaway" will come next Friday and Saturday, April 1 and 2, to the Penniman-Allen theatre. It is an RKO Radio picture.

"COUNSEL FOR CRIME"
"Father versus son" is the clashing dramatic theme of the Columbia film "Counsel for Crime," which begins its local run at the Penniman-Allen theatre, April 1 and 2. Otto Kruger and Douglass Montgomery head the large cast with Nana Bryant and Jacqueline Wells in the top featured roles. John Brahm directed.

"MAD ABOUT MUSIC"
Deanna Durbin's latest picture is always an event.
"Three Smart Girls" was a surprise, bringing to the screen a fresh, sparkling and lovable little star. "100 Men and a Girl" was a revelation of the tremendous singing abilities of this amazing youngster, and "Mad About Music," which opens Sunday and Monday, April 3 and 4 at the Penniman-Allen theatre is an astounding display of both acting and singing.

The producers of "Mad About Music" have boldly thrown Deanna into a story that demands the utmost in acting talent. And 15-year-old Deanna handles the difficult assignment with ease and assurance.
Deanna is cast as a fatherless girl, attending a private school in Switzerland. Her mother is an American screen star, famous for her ingenuities. Her manager has convinced the star that her future on the screen would be ruined if the public knew she was a mother; hence she cannot write to Deanna, nor can the child admit who her mother is.
The child keenly feels her plight as the other children boast of their parents, and to make herself appear equal to them, she has invented a fictitious hunter-adventurer father from whom she receives letters (written by herself) which she proudly shows to the other students. But finally she is forced to produce a father. She selects Herbert Marshall as her male parent—and then the complications follow thick and fast.

"THEY WON'T FORGET"
Holy controversial, "They Won't Forget" is an uncompromising adaptation of Ward Greene's sensational "Death in the Deep South." A brave and rousing film, it is one of the most unusual ever to have come from Hollywood. It is booked here for Wednesday, April 5.

Box office names, the conventional happy ending, a safe theme, all were ignored by Mr. LeRoy, who boldly made a picture which might arouse regional resentment. His story is a tragedy of Southern justice, a prejudice, of a shameful lynching.

No pretty picture, it shocks, leaves a powerful impression. Less theatrical than "Fury," it is a forthright account of an actual butchery. A splendid cast of new players performs the principal roles; their very newness contributing to the credibility of the tragedy. Miss Gloria Dickson, a blonde, with a vivid personality, gives a handsome performance as the wife of Prejudice's wretched victim.

Edward Norris plays this trying role with conviction and charm. A Mrs. Lana Turner and a Mrs.

UNDER OBSERVATION

By V. R. H.

POLITICS

A few more words on this old subject, and then we'll be silent. The first phase of our lecture is that nothing is as out of place as a defeated candidate's squawk. When one is in politics he must take defeat more gracefully than victory, and by no means should he impugn the intelligence or purposes of the electorate.

SECESSION

We're still waiting for the farewell word that Bealtown has seceded from the union of Northville. The issue is a version of "taxation without representation," which made so many heroes years ago. The Bealtowners are incensed that they have no duly elected representatives on the "village commission, and feeling runs high.

COOKS

Two young ladies who are about to marry (not each other) occupy an apartment together in Detroit. In the course of their courtship they occasionally entertain their swains with a home-cooked dinner. One such occasion occurred recently after one of the girls had brought some fresh-dressed beef from her farm home. When they began to prepare what they thought to be a roast, they found that it was too thin for successful roasting, and again too thick for proper broiling. Swiss steak seemed to offer a way out, so the two cooks seethed their single cook-book in haste for the recipe. No success. Meanwhile the chances that the fiances might eat the meat uncooked or take the girls out for dinner loomed large, until one of the young ladies thought of calling her mother by long distance phone for the information. Budget item: Meat for dinner, 60c; phone call for recipe, 90c.

RAILS

Part of the decline in rail travel

may be explained by the unlovely sights along the right-of-ways of many of the eastern railways. When the buses take you along the boulevards, why ride in a car that takes you past the best dumps in town and behind so many ill-kept houses and factories? On the other hand, the trains offer the best of it for night travel.

Boundary Line Confusion

Much confusion of laws and jurisdiction is occasioned by the international boundary line in Eschle-Nassau on the Dutch-Belgian frontier. Weaving its way through this little town, the line crosses the middle of hotel-rooms, shops, bars and even billiard tables. —Collier's Weekly.

A Job for Cyril

Last Saturday morning I took my small son to see some large iron girders hoisted by a large crane on the site of the old Adelphi terrace. Workmen were preparing to make fast a huge piece of ironwork, and I went over to the man who seemed to be in charge of the gang, and asked him the weight of it. He said, "Fifteen tons." "Are you going to lift it into position this morning?" I inquired. "No not this morning," he said.

THE GOOD EARTH...

Sun... Soil... Rain... and Electricity

Farm customers throughout the area served by The Detroit Edison Company are billed at the same rate as city residences. This rate averages 3.47c per kilowatt-hour for farms and is recognized as one of the lowest average rates for electric service in the United States. This rate includes without extra charge lamp and fuse renewals, and minor repairs to appliances, as part of the same low rate. And the more you use the less it costs per unit.

Farm applications of electric power are almost unlimited: On farms served by us, electricity milks cows and cools the milk, separates cream, heats water for sterilizing dairy utensils and for other uses, grinds feed, pumps water to stock, provides running water for irrigation and for all farm uses, brings chicks into the world, warms them under the electric brooder, warms their drinking water and keeps it at the right temperature, provides light to stimulate egg production and plant growth, shells corn, grades fruit, washes vegetables, hoists hay, fills the silo, saws wood, heats soil in hotbeds, sharpens tools and does many other chores. Electricity does these things better and more economically than they can be done otherwise.

One of our farm customers who keeps accurate records saved $363 last year by using $53.17 worth of electricity instead of doing his work by hand. Carefully detailed figures were published in THE MICHIGAN FARMER and included all items of interest and depreciation on equipment.

Sun and soil and rain... These are the elements that have brought bountiful harvests to farmers since the early Egyptians tilled the rich land along the Nile. Now, with these age-old elements, electric power is contributing to better farming. For thirty years now, areas have been served by The Detroit Edison Company. Since 1928 groups of farmers have been able to get Detroit Edison service without any charge for line extensions, provided there are more than a minimum number of farms per mile: In 1928 this figure was 10 per mile; in 1933 this was reduced to 7 1/2 per mile; and since 1935, 5 per mile.

Today, 27,157 farmers are served by 6,414 miles of Detroit Edison farm line; 87.8 per cent of the farmers in the older Detroit Edison territory are now connected to our lines. In the two years since we began serving the Thumb area, the farms there which we serve have trebled.

Farm electrification has been a reality in Detroit Edison territory for ten years.
