TOWNSHIP ACTS ON LIBRARY REPAIR NEEDS

Budget of $13,500 Voted at Annual Meeting,
April 4

Upon the recommendation of Supervisor Willard A. Ely, Northville township took care of its financial obligations for the year Monday afternoon in the library where only a few taxpayers attended the annual meeting.

It was voted to place $4,500 in the contingent fund, along with $1,000 for the library. The county welfare agency is asking Northville township to raise $5,000 for welfare this year.

"In order to give $8,000 to the welfare fund, and at the same time take care of our other needs, it would bring us outside the 15 mill allotment," Mr. Ely explained to the taxpayers.

It was his suggestion that the taxpayers vote a $13,500 total for the year, which would include the $8,000 for welfare, and then cut the sum when it was learned how much it exceeded the 15 mill limit. The vote was carried upon Mr. J. Murphy's motion.

Mr. Ely informed the taxpayers that no money was raised during the year in the road repair fund, the electric light fund and in the fire refund.

Already men are at work doing $3,200 repair work on the library at the cost of something like $1,200 to the township. The WPA is supplying the labor, the township the material, which is supplemented by material donated by the Detroit Library association. The cost to the township also includes the installation of a second-hand heating plant.

"We found that the library foundation was bad; the sills under the building were rotted and the stone walls in the basement were crumbling," affirmed Mr. Ely as he told the taxpayers that it would be dangerous to let the building go longer without repairs.

WILLIAM PETZ, 20, DRIVES DEATH CAR SUNDAY MORNING

William Petz, 20, of 890 Main street, Plymouth, and partner with his brother, Wilbert, in the Fleet Wing station on East Main street, Northville, was the driver of the death car in which James Livingston was instantly killed at 2:45 a. m. Sunday, when the car sideswiped a milk truck, skidded 200 feet and went into a ditch on Plymouth road, near the River Rouge east of Plymouth.

Livingston, who lived at 299 Elmhurst street, Plymouth, was in the car with Petz and two University of Michigan students, John Kinsey, 20, of 413 Maple street, Ann Arbor, and Alec McConnell, of 1408 Washburn avenue, Ann Arbor. They were treated at the Plymouth hospital for cuts and bruises. Kinsey, whose home is in Plymouth, was a high school football star there and was also on the university football team.

The youths had attended a dance in Plymouth and then had gone into Detroit where they picked up young Livingston for a trip to Ann Arbor.

Earl Smith, 35143 Leaky street, Ann Arbor, employee of an Adrian creamery, was the driver of the truck.

TELLS OF RUSSIA

Alvin E. O'Konsky
Rotarians listened Tuesday noon to a talk by Alvin E. O'Konsky, professor of speech at the University of Detroit. His address was based on a recent visit to Russia.

O'KONSKY REVEALS RUSSIA'S PLIGHT

Detroit Professor Cites Experiences in Soviet Union

"What really is Communism?" In a startling speech before the Rotary club Tuesday noon, Prof. Alvin E. O'Konsky, professor of speech in the University of Detroit, gave his answer to the question, his conclusions having been drawn from a three-months' trip to Russia in 1933.

Prof. O'Konsky's address was based on his own experiences while in Russia while there on a specially conducted tour for 200 students and teachers. Communism he described as a vast propaganda machine which seeks only to influence the youth of the world — the Soviet Union is not interested in converting people over 20 years of age. His descriptions of the means taken to corrupt the minds of the youth were most amazing. The Soviet Union, he declared, has taken over all the educational facilities of that vast country and seeks only to do away with Christianity and the capitalist system.

Parts of his speech were: "Even the children aren't left out of this propaganda. It is the practice in Russian schools to grow two gardens. One is called the students' garden and the other God's garden. Both are planted at the same time and with the same seed. The student garden is cultivated, watered, and weeded. Nothing at all is done to God's garden. Naturally, the (Continued on page 4)

Kysor Is Designer of Device; Display It at Gavel Pit

One of the most novel new developments in the automotive field, designed by Karl D. Kysor of Northville, will be demonstrated here Saturday, it was announced today by Dr. L. W. Snow and Dr. A. A. Holcomb, who are interested in financing of the project.

The device, a new type driving axle and transmission which powers all four wheels of a truck instead of the conventional rear wheel drive, will be demonstrated at 2 p. m. Saturday at the Taft gravel pit near Northville.

Kysor, vice-president and chief engineer for the company, an engineering authority on axles and transmissions, was formerly chief engineer for the Cross Gear and Machine company of Detroit, the National Twist Drill company and the Palmer Bee company. He is designer of the Cross-Kysor marine engine, the Kysor marine drives and was designer of the drives for Gar Wood's famous speed boats, the Miss Americas. His home is in Northville, but his time is devoted to designing engineering at Alma.

The drive, marketed under the trade name "ALCO" has been hailed by engineers of the automobile industry as being revolutionary in the axle-transmission field. Five groups of applications for United States patents have been filed and are being prosecuted to formal allowance, it was stated. Patent applications have been filed in 21 foreign countries.

The Alco Drive, which is claimed to increase the pulling capacity of a truck nearly 100 per cent, consists of a unitary transmission driving both front and rear axles on a straight line, and a new type driving-steering front axle.

Councilmen Support Sewer Project Outlined by State

Members of the council approved Tuesday evening a motion introduced by Commissioner George A. Hicks which provides for the connection of the sewers of Northville with the line of sewer of Wayne county, to be constructed along the branch of the River Rouge, passing through the village.

Councilmen assume in the name of the village, to meet the pro-rate share of the cost of sewage disposal.

Edward D. Rich, director of the bureau of engineering of the Michigan health department, has informed the council members that Northville and Plymouth must act immediately to improve their methods of sewage disposal.

"Considering the conditions now existing in this locality, the department of health believes that the problem should be met by the village, if Northville wishes to continue the operation of its municipal sewage treatment plant and discharge the effluent therefrom into the Middle Rouge river, at or near the present outlet location," asserts Mr. Rich.

The State health department states specifically that all sanitary sewage entering the system must be treated at all times and that no

The tavern license applied for by Lewis M. Coe, 157 East Main street, was approved Tuesday evening by a unanimous vote of the councilmen.

Discharge of untreated or partially treated sewage into the Rouge river shall occur. Rich further stipulates that the sewage treatment works shall be under the full time supervision of a properly qualified operator. All devices must be of such a character and operated in such a manner as to be substantially free from offensive odors. The State has outlined definite treatment qualifications and insists that apparatus and devices must be kept in condition so as to assure continuous functioning of the plant at all times. Records of the operation at the plant must be maintained for State inspection.

"If we make this a healthful community, we may be able to draw more persons to Northville," encouraged Mr. Nichols.

SIDEWALK PROBLEM IS INVESTIGATED

Northville's need is 10,100 running feet of sidewalk, according to a recent survey made by Earl Montgomery, for several years street commissioner for Northville.

His investigation was made at the suggestion of President Arthur S. Nichols, preparatory to considering an application for a government project which would leave Northville with approximately only 25 per cent of the cost to face.

Of the required number of feet, much of it is needed in sections of Northville, where the present sidewalk is crumbled or where it is extremely low. Mr. Montgomery says that it is likely that some of the walks can be salvaged by repair, but that much of it will need to be new to withstand wear through the years.

Applications for a position on the police force were tabled Tuesday evening by President Nichols and the councilmen until the next meeting of the council scheduled for April 13. W. W. Zongker, John A. Moore, Charles W. Myers, Jack G. Wafson and G. W. Glason have filed applications during the week with the village clerk, Mrs. P. R. Alexander.

Should the sidewalk project be applied for by the village, and accepted by the government, Northville's welfare problem will be lessened, is the opinion of Mr. Nichols, who believes it is safe to say that 60 per cent of the laborers would be local men. "But definitely about the number of men in Northville who would be put to work on the enterprise, I can't say until I talk with the man in charge of this business. We've been trying to contact him all week, and we (the commission) will have a conference with him before we go into this, so that we'll know about labor and cost," he stated Tuesday evening at the council meeting.

BEALTOWN HAS OWN GOVERNING HEADS, WISE MEN

Sam Wilkinson Is Mayor;
Police Force, Grads
Are Aides

Secession, which was discussed by V. R. H. in the Under Observation column has really gone through, according to a letter received by the Editor from a Bealtowner. "Taxation without representation" has the boys up in arms — they've established their own government — with a mayor, six wise men, a parson and justice of peace, police department and minute men as additional guards.

Bealtown, Mich.
April 1, 1938.

Dear Dick:
Bealtown, the beautiful settlement, situated at the foothills and across the village river from Northville proper, already has "seceded" from the union and has its own governing body. Ever since a former village commission placed the sewage disposal plant in our end of town, we think we have earned the right to do so. Although they tried to do it they never have broken the old Bealtown spirit and rubbed it in.

With our native son, Sam Wilkinson, as mayor, we think we are on the right road. Our six wise men are Peter Ely, Charles Meisner, Myron Taylor, Fred Wedell, John McEnany and Wayne Zongker.

Curly Allen and Clarence Schwab, graduates of the Northville police department, comprise the police force. Parson Maurice Giles contributes to our spiritual needs and Clarence Farmer, is justice of the peace.

Our minute men, all former soldiers are Tracy Ely, Charley McKenney, Claude Ely, Francis Wilkinson, Elmer Jackson, Myron Taylor, Jim Reidel, Pete de Pino, Jack Peat, George Lawrence, Al Glaser, Clarence Schwab, Fred Hoffmann, Richard Schoen, Fritz Hoffmann and myself. "No sir, Dick we have no Ray Van Whicker in Bealtown. They are all wide awake down here. We challenge any one across the river to come down across the Bealtown bridge and start something. We'll Americans all."

"By this crude bridge I am arching the flood."

Here once the ancient Bealtowners stood.

To April breeze with flag unfurled: And fired the shot, heard around the world."

Yours,
Norton T. Greene

SCHOOL NAMES DATE FOR TUBERCULIN TEST

Tuberculin skin tests will be given to the eleventh and twelfth grades in the high school gymnasium, April 19, by the Detroit Tuberculosis society, with Dr. David S. Brachman, conducting the tests. He is a staff member of the Herman Kiefer hospital, Detroit.

These tests are made possible, Mrs. Stair Bray, school nurse, explained by the sale of the Christmas seals and will be given only to students who have the consent of their parents or guardians. Permission slips were given students this week to be signed by parents.

Following the custom of many years, three of the Protestant churches — Baptist, Methodist and Presbyterian — are meeting together to observe Good Friday in a service from 1 to 3 p. m. Friday, April 15, in the Presbyterian church.

Addresses will be given by the Rev. Harry J. Lord of the Methodist church, the Rev. Cora Pennell of the Federated church at Salem, and the Rev. Dr. T. W. Smith of the Presbyterian church.

GRIER-SPENCER TRIAL BEGINS IN ONTARIO

Canadians Crowd Court
Room; Spencer Says
He Is Not Guilty.

In Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., where Vernon Spencer, Wisconsin dairy farmer, is being tried for the alleged murder of Miss Helen Grier, 28, Pontiac stenographer, who died in a north woods cabin they shared, Oct. 28, medical experts were to testify Thursday.

It took only an hour Wednesday for the Ontario government to hear the defendant's plea of innocence and to swear in a jury. Should Spencer be convicted of murder, he faces death by hanging.

"Mrs. Gertrude Spencer, former Los Angeles society woman, was present in the court room the first day of the trial and sat in the front row directly back of the prisoner's dock. More than a third of the spectators in the crowded court room were women.

It is expected that the defense will be built on the theory that Miss Grier shot herself. At the moment it was found that she died of a bullet wound and split fracture. Further information given out at the moment, established the fact that Miss Grier and Spencer were sharing the fifth lodge tent at the cabin. This statement was made by William Roach, a guide who had taken the couple to the cabin. Another guide, Fred Olaf, reported Helen and Spencer were enjoying life when they left the Holcomb cabin on Oct. 26 and they were not quarreling.

Mr. Spencer declined family aid at the opening of the trial that he would stand by his husband. Spencer has declared that he is not guilty of the murder.

BAND WILL APPEAR IN PARK CONCERTS

Seeking to give villagers some entertainment during the summer months, councilmen voted Tuesday evening to appropriate $100 for concerts to be played by the Northville high school band, under the direction of Leslie G. Lee.

The concerts will be given in the park. Money, appropriated to the band, will be spent immediately to purchase uniforms for the members of the organization which has some $175 on hand to apply on the cost of uniforms. This, with the $85 which will be received from the sale of old uniforms, leaves the band in need of $177.50 before the suits, which will cost $537.50 can be bought.

According to Superintendent R. H. Amerman and Mr. Lee, who appeared before the council Tuesday evening, two concerts are planned for this spring when it is hoped that additional funds can be raised.

"As it is now, the organization is so large that we can't have all the band members on display at one year because there aren't enough uniforms," explained Mr. Amerman, who said that the band would be expected to play for the Memorial Day exercises.

D. & C. STORE WEARS NEW DRESS

5' TO 125' D & C STORES INC. 5' TO 125'

Approximately five thousand persons thronged the new D & C store when it opened last Saturday morning, according to "Jerry" Woodworth, manager of the store and owner of the new building.

Remodeling of the old Elliott building, formerly three stories, gives Main street a bright new addition to its business section. Offices of Cochran and Crandell are at the front of the second floor.

COMMITTEE DENIES HORSE SHOW CHANGE

A strong denial that the Horse Show Committee of the Northville Wayne County Fair has changed the dates of its annual show from August to May has been issued by the committee through Edmund Dowling, secretary-manager.

"It has come to the attention of the Horse Show committee that the Saddle and Bridle magazine, issue of April 1938, carries an announcement in its Michigan Echoes which is grossly in error," Mr. Dowling stated. "The Northville Horse Show will carry on as in the past 21 years, as a feature of the Northville Wayne County Fair, the Horse Show dates being August 18-20. The show referred to in the magazine item is undoubtedly the one to be held at the Thomas Blackett stable on West Seven Mile, which isn't in the village of Northville and isn't to be confused with the established Northville Horse Show."

The magazine item, referred to, stated that "contrary to tradition, which has been to have a fair show," the Northville Horse show would be held in the latter part of May.

Village Is Low in Child Disease Victims This Year

According to information released from the office of the health officer, Dr. R. M. Atchison, Northville continues to be the low mark in this section of the State in the number of cases of measles reported.

With epidemics claiming victims in surrounding communities, the village, has maintained throughout the year, a minimum number of cases, never exceeding more than three quarantines at one time.

From Lansing, however, comes another story, with the announcement that Michigan is experiencing the worst outbreak of measles in its history.

The head of the Bureau of Communicable Diseases, Dr. C. D. Barrett, says that 30,027 cases have been reported since the first of January. Although the records are incomplete, 13 deaths were listed in February and two in January. As yet no report has been released for the month of March.

Supporting the theory that the incidence of measles runs in three-year cycles, Dr. Barrett says that 1938 has brought an outbreak worse than even that of 1935, when 22,147 cases were reported in the first three months of the year.

In the Detroit area the brunt of the outbreak has been borne. A total of 3,094 cases was reported in Detroit last week, compared with 5,326 in the entire State.

In January, Detroit reported 1,736 cases; in February 6,948; in the first 28 days of March, 9,455. Figures for the entire State showed 3,056 cases in January, 10,490 in February, and 16,491 in March.

Pre-school age children have been the most seriously affected and Dr. Barrett advises prompt medical attention for children who have been exposed to the disease.

ATTEMPT IS MADE TO FIGHT CANCER

"Fight cancer with knowledge" is the slogan that is being sounded in a nation-wide campaign against that most dreaded enemy of mankind, cancer. To spread information, the "Women's Field Army" of the American Society for the Control of Cancer is making an organized campaign during the month of April.

Because women suffer most from cancer and because 70 per cent of cases could be cured if taken in time, this movement purposes to "spread the alarm through every village and town" to awaken all women to facts they should know. "Knowledge is cancer's worst enemy," and ignorance are its best friends," says the authority, who have been wrestling with the ravages of this baffling disease for many years.

Northville, with its own progressive spirit has joined the ranks of this "Field Army" of women who are trying to spread information. Mrs. E. S. Beard is chairman of the local committee who will promote education on this subject through publicity in the various organizations and through the local newspaper. Leaflets containing facts compiled by authorities are being distributed, posters are placed in the windows of several business places and every possible means will be used to tell folks that cancer can be cured if taken in its early stages.

To promote the spread of information there is necessarily some expense. Those who wish to help by taking a membership at the cost of one dollar will help just that much in saving life. Memberships may be obtained from the local committee.

Mrs. Beard, Mrs. Maxwell Austin, Mrs. Eber Ward Lester, Mrs. Waldo Truxell and Mrs. Richard T. Baldwin.

MONTGOMERY BEGINS TESTS FOR DRIVERS

Rollin C. Preston was the first villager to be examined for a driver's license this week when tests were given in Northville by Chief of Police Earl Montgomery.

Chief Montgomery reports that no one has failed the test as yet although one driver was accused to buy glasses immediately. Others who have passed the test are: Fred Beach of Plymouth, Alce A. Goodale of Walled Lake, Gilman Perry of Farmington, Otto Stahl and Peter Trost.

According to Montgomery, the written part of the test is the most difficult for the applicants. He recommends that all persons who must take the examination to re-new their licenses should prepare for it by studying the book "What Every Driver Should Know."

HOLD BAPTIST CHURCH MEET

The annual meeting of the Baptist church will be held in the church at six o'clock Monday evening, April 11, when the election of trustees and other officers will occur. Reports of the various departments of the church will be heard. A potluck dinner will precede the business meeting and a program will follow. Of special interest will be songs and a musical by some small children.

SALEM STICKER WINS JUSTICE POST, MONDAY

Townships Show Only Light
Vote; Little Competition in Elections

Northville township's election brought only 195 voters to the polls to cast votes for the one ticket — republican. In the first precinct, 104 persons voted. Ballots were cast by 91 voters in the second precinct.

Although there were whispers among the "Lions" in the township, indicating a possibility that the defeated clerk candidate, Sherman W. Ambler, would have his name written in the ballot by loyal supporters, nothing came of it when time for balloting began.

As the result of the election, Northville's mayor, Arthur S. Nichols, is also the township's justice of the peace.

Despite the fact that only one ticket appeared on the Salem township ballots, a sticker candidate, John Waldecker, polled 131 votes, against the primary winner, Harmon F. Gale for the post of justice of peace.

A similar situation existed in Commerce township where M. G. Post, sticker, took the vote from Arthur Winger, incumbent, for the office of justice of peace. Everything went to the republicans in this township, too.

In like manner, Livonia township had only one ticket, with the following republicans winning places: Supervisor James Ziegler, clerk, Harry S. Wolfe, treasurer, Arthur Trapp, justice of peace (full term), Homer K. Biddinger, justice of peace (vacancy), Leo Nye, highway commissioner, Charles S. Wolford; board of review, Albert Nacker, Leonard, Charles H. Canfield, Edward Howard, Ray Owen, and John W. Waldecker.

MORE TROUBLE IN DETROIT

There were more sickening accounts of Detroit labor trouble in the daily papers last week. Broken heads and injured men sent to the hospital, all in fighting the picket line. We are still "sowing the wind" and yet some people wonder why we are "reaping the whirlwind."

HATS OFF TO BEALTOWN!

The Record certainly thanks Norton T. Greene for the very cheerful letter run in this issue. This letter came at a time when two of the Record crew were ill or disabled, the cold March wind was blowing, there was little money coming in and in general when things were running at low ebb. So Brother Greene's letter came like a pretty crocus poking its head up through the snow and ice.

As we have often said, the Record welcomes all kinds of letters from all who can pound a typewriter or wield a pen. The Record is, or ought to be, a public forum. This is your paper as much as it is ours. Yet we admit that it is very heartful once in a while to let down the controversial feeling and enjoy a facetious skit like the one from Mr. Greene. We always did like Bealtown and we thank Correspondent Greene for telling the world about it.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT GIVES US A LAUGH

We are indebted to President Roosevelt for one of the few good laughs we had last week—guess we do spend too much time talking about our troubles.

Here is how it was. Last week the president, in an amazing statement to the press, protested bitterly against the thousands of telegrams that were sent to congressmen asking them to defeat the reorganization bill. According to the chief executive, the people who sent these telegrams were members of some sinister "telegram lobby." Yet at the same time the papers were full of talk about the intense pressure being brought on the congressmen by the administration in the attempt to switch their votes in favor of the same bill. Compared to the efforts of this lobby, the efforts of these telegram senders looked like child's play. No wonder we laughed.

It will be a sad day for the United States when people cannot send telegrams to their congressmen expressing their views on public measures.

WHY ONE MAN QUIT BUSINESS

After 35 years in business Maxwell M. Nowack of Hammond, Ind., is quitting business.

According to stories in the daily papers he is turning his back on the door which he has opened for over a third of a century because he is tired of paying over 50 varieties of taxes which he has had to meet recently. Mr. Nowack, so the story goes, has gotten tired of struggling to meet these 50 taxes. He has convinced himself at least that the struggle is not worth the effort. Mr. Nowack did a million and a half business every year selling livestock feed in 28 states. He had been 35 years in building the business up to its present state. The news story said that just paying taxes got to be such a burden that he had to have a special staff of bookkeepers, clerks and lawyers to make sure he would not break some federal law.

The case of this business man will not be the last you will hear about. This tax business is a burden, the extent of which is becoming a crushing load. Some day the American people are going to wake up and put a stop to this tax orgy.

WANTED—A NEW AUDITORIUM

A real public need for Northville is a new auditorium.

At the present time many of our public events which call for an auditorium are held in the high school assembly room. Within the past month probably half a dozen meetings have been held there. Anyone who has ever sat through a high school play or lecture in this room certainly must have longed for an arm chair at home. The fat folks can hardly squeeze into the seats that are meant for younger people and skinny folks with long legs have to drape them out in the aisle.

Not only is the high school assembly room inadequate for seating audiences, but the stage is also too small. In this day of public events of every kind, every progressive community like Northville needs a public auditorium. It is true, of course, that our churches take care of many gatherings but in general churches should not, for a variety of reasons, be used for secular events.

An auditorium adequate for this village for years to come could probably be built for $25,000. Such an auditorium might be built in one of two very central locations, in the rear of the high school where it could be heated from the school plant, or adjacent to the village park where it could be heated from the city hall plant.

What of the cost? some may ask. Superintendent Russell H. Amerman very pertinently suggests that the village and the school work together very finely on possibly a P. A. project, sharing the cost.

Certainly if Northville is to continue in its progressive stage, something will need to be done in the near future about its public auditorium. What do you suggest?

BE GLAD YOU'RE HERE

This is a true story: In a home in one of Detroit's fine residential sections there is an electric light in the back yard. Talking the other day to a member of this family, she told us this startling thing: "If my husband comes home late in the evening he doesn't first put the car in the garage off the alley but rings the door bell and asks me to put on the light in the back yard."

And then she went on to explain that after the light was on, he went out to the garage and put the car away for the night. With the light on he need not be afraid that someone would sneak up on him and hit him on the head as he had occurred recently in a nearby neighborhood.

Let's be glad that we have to take no such precautions in peaceful Northville.

HOOVER SEES ONE BRIGHT SPOT

Thoughtful people who heard former President Hoover Thursday evening over the radio tell of world conditions, did not get very much good cheer about world conditions, but they did learn one very pleasing opinion from this world statesman and that was that general war in Europe is not imminent.

After listening to Hoover for nearly an hour any sane person must have been impressed again that things in this old world are upside down. But surely after hearing him one must have reached the conclusion that all the bickerings, ruthless ambitions, lusts and assassinations, and the terrific hatreds, will in time fail as they have always failed in world history. Socialism has already failed as Hoover pointed out. He predicted that Fascism will go the same road. In other words, as was said 2,000 years ago: "They that take the sword, will perish by it." Let us all hope that we will live long enough to see Europe restored to sanity and reason.

Hoover's warning to the United States should be heeded by every thoughtful person. The United States is still a democracy and God pity us if it ceases to be such. We have no dictator now, but there are some trends that point to one. As Hoover well pointed out, all of Europe's dictatorships began with this so-called "planned economy." We must all stand together to keep the United States one of the few remaining democracies of the world.

NORTHVILLE'S YESTERDAYS

1 YEAR AGO

Sergeant Frank Fontney (Raymond) has told for the last time on these hunting grounds the story of the "Little Big Horn fight" where General Custer, "a stubborn man and a perfect one, wanted to sail in and catch Sitting Bull himself and get all the glory." He died Saturday evening in the University hospital, Ann Arbor, following an illness of a few days.

One local democrat, Louis V. Bonenberg, and one State democrat, Murray D. Van Wageningen, took flight, over their republican opponents in Northville township's general election held Monday when 982 ballots were cast. BY MRS. EDITOR

(Not many of us housewives can see the romance in housecleaning as does the writer of the following which we coaxed from her to print in this column, hoping that it might bring a touch of sentiment to that annual drudgery. We wish this writer would let us publish her name but she is too modest. This much we will reveal—she is a well-known Northville woman.)

SPRING HOUSECLEANING
As soon as the first robin chirps at the back door, the ambitious housewife begins to think of the annual upheaval known as spring housecleaning. Not very often with much keen pleasure, however, for only dreary confrontations here. She thinks too, of the useless mania at such times and of her ugly hands at the bridge table.

There's no romance for her in this spring performance and yet she must not shrink or she'll not know where the material can be found for those kitchen holders or some patches for Jimmie's pants. Of course none of this would apply to the woman cozily existing in a small apartment where the extra package must be tucked under the bed if kept out of sight, but to one who is really living in a house which brings its responsibility, and which is a sense of home ownership.

If this housewife is systematic she'll commence chasing dirt in the attic. And oh, the romance to be found way up there in the loft. The first baby bonnet worn by that little son or daughter, and which she cherishes too much to destroy. The palette and a few oil sketches—the first efforts of a sister who long ago left this world with all its beauty and color she loved so dearly. Then there's the gun which a younger brother proudly carried during one of the early wars.

In a box are scraps of dresses she wore once, and she remembers each as she sorts them over. Each has a story known only to herself. She looks them over and then lays them tenderly away.

Perhaps she would not wish to be caught appearing so firmly riveted to sentiment, but even though this annual overhauling causes our backs to ache a little harder and our hands to become much more rough, the joy of the romance and emotions is quite worth while.

Amelia's Brown Bread

(This brown bread, made by Mrs. Ed. Balko, but the recipe of Mrs. Amelia Ford, was enjoyed by the members of the Exchange club, and their wives the other evening. Some asked how it was made. No eggs or shortening! Think of it.)

2 cups white flour, 2 cups graham flour, 1 cup sugar, 2 cups sour milk, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 small tablespoons molasses, 2 teaspoons soda, 2 teaspoons baking powder. Mix well and bake in moderate oven.

CHURCH NEWS

Christian Science Churches
"Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" will be the subject of the lesson sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, April 10.

The Golden Text, Isa. 60:26, is: "The light of the moon shall be as the light of the sun, and the light of the sun shall be sevenfold, as the light of seven days, in the day that the Lord bindeth up the breach of his people, and healeth the stroke of their wound."

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Proverbs 12:28): "In the way of righteousness is life; and in the pathway thereof there is no death."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 42): "Death will be found at length to be a mortal dream, which comes in darkness and disappears with the light."

Filchew, Europe's Polecat

The filchew, according to authorities on natural history, is to Europe what the ferret, weasel and mink are to the States. Over there it is recognized as the polecat, a name we apply to our skunk, according to a writer in the Detroit News. It is a slender-bodied creature about 17 inches long, extremely blood-thirsty and, like the weasel, will always kill more than it can devour. It is an expert swimmer and kills great numbers of fish in any stream it invades. In Europe it is considered highly predatory and is a menace to domestic poultry and all game birds and small animals. Its fur is coarse and the color is blackish-brown.

Panic Over Reorganization Bill Is Unwarranted In Opinion of Writer Who Has Studied Contents

A brief history of the Reorganization bill which has been plugged through the years by Harding, Coolidge and Hoover and an explanation of the five provisions of the bill is written for The Record by Fred Warner Neal. Next week the criticisms which have been fired at the bill will be treated by the same author.

By FRED WARNER NEAL
The hysterical opposition to the Government Reorganization bill is not only ridiculous; it is insidious as well.

The cry of "dictator" raised in connection with the bill would be sheer nonsense if the falsity of that cry were not doing a lot of potential harm.

The attempt to compare the Government Reorganization bill to the plan to enlarge the Supreme Court would be sheer stupidity if those persons who so compare it did not know they are deliberately misstating the issue when they do so.

The whole attempt to involve the issue of civil liberties in the Government Reorganization bill is disgusting fol-de-rol.

Whether or not one agrees with the provisions of the Byrnes Bill—and a safe guess would be that more than two-thirds of the loud and frenzied opponents could not outline its provisions—is not the point.

The point is that, with isolated exceptions, the opponents of the reorganization bill are not attacking it on its merits, while most proponents of the bill—and, by and large, they consist of a majority of impartial students of public administration—have debated what many think is an unanswerable argument in favor of the bill, opponents hysterically shout "dictator" in an apparently successful attempt to confuse the issue.

The point is also that what is euphemistically called the opposition in Washington is crying "dictator" once too often. And like the fable of the shepherd who kept crying wolf, sometime a real danger may appear and the "dictator-baiters" will shout in vain.

Any person with a grade school education who reads the Byrnes bill or any of the bills in the House of Representatives when this is written—April 2—can see the fallacy of the "dictator" angle. Any person who knows that Washington is in the District of Columbia can see the need for some such bill. Any of those who have followed national politics through the past decade know that almost identical requests of power were asked by those three radical, dictatorial-minded gentlemen, Warren G. Harding, Calvin Coolidge and Herbert Hoover.

The bill passed by the senate, known as S. 311, was not the same as that first asked by the President. It is a much more conservative bill granting fewer powers. The bill asked by the President followed recommendations of the Brownlow-Gullick-Memmlin committee. That committee's report was hailed by political scientists and students of

MAGICIAN ENTERTAINS AT EXCHANGE DINNER

By C. A. DOLPH
The members of the Exchange club and their wives and guests were a hilarious crowd Wednesday evening, March 30, when Harry Cecil presented his slight of hand program.

Mr. Cecil, famed magician and candy manufacturer, kept his crowd in an uproar for more than one hour and a half with many new and old tricks of that ancient art. He kept the folks so busy in fact that they had little chance to solve the puzzles Carl and Charles Ely were used as stooges and merrily did they aid the old maestro.

The dinner was served by the Ladies Aid society and it was so fine that a vote by applause was given.

The meeting was handled by Vice-president Harry J. Lord, owing to the absence of both the president and the first vice-president.

The magician was introduced by L. C. Stewart, one of the entertainment committee and because the two have been friends for a number of years.

Sunday was the twenty-seventh anniversary of the founding of the National Exchange club and a few outstanding facts as to its character and growth were presented for the information of the ladies' night company.

O'KONSKY REVEALS RUSSIA'S FLIGHT

student garden produces vegetables and beautiful flowers. But God's garden produces nothing but weeds. Then, the children are told by the teachers: "See, you can do more than God." Every school teacher must give assistance to this crazy project or give up his position.

"Russia is a land of 160 million people. Of these only two million are Communists. The other 158 million are nothing. They are the machines of the two million. These two million live in the finest of luxury—up palatial residences—with all that they desire—which includes anywhere from one to fifty wives. The other 158 million are the tools of the state—and that is all. They have absolutely no choice—no power—no suffrage—nothing! No! Not even the right to see their children! No! Not even the right to a home life of the most improved kind! That, my friends, is Russian Communism!"

"We too are in the midst of a very deadly war. Right now this terrible thing, growing at our foundations of civilization, is seeking to destroy our churches, our homes, and our government. It is a monster which has been born into our modern life without resistance from any of us. A cold reptilian blood flows through its veins. It possesses the science of civilization without its mercy and the fanaticism of religion without its God. This White Ant of the twentieth century is none other than the spread of Communism within our own gates."

"The meeting was in charge of President Russell H. Amerman, J. W. Erwin, who has been a Junior Rotarian, in a few words thanked the club for the 'food and friendship' and introduced Albert Boelens as his successor for the coming month."

Among the guests were: E. R. Eaton, Russell Dames and H. P. Anderson, all of Plymouth.

The Northville sale is headed by Dr. J. E. Selady, who has the assistance of W. E. Forney, R. H. Amerman, G. V. Harrison, M. C. Gundersell, Merrill Sweet, C. A. Dolph, Mrs. Waldo Truxell, Mrs. E. B. Cavell, Richard T. Baldwin, Mrs. Eber Ward Lester, Dr. and Mrs. H. S. Willis and Mrs. Pauline Puntty.

Three crippled children of this community received aid from the fund last year, reports Mr. Angove. Since 1927, 7,000 crippled children have been corrected and special education has been given to 4,000 of these handicapped youngsters.

WASHINGTON TRIP TO START APRIL 25

Seniors To Take Annual Trip Earlier This Year

The seniors will leave for Washington Tuesday, April 26, for a five day trip spent visiting Harper's Ferry, Washington, Annapolis, Alexandria, and Mount Vernon.

First Day—They will leave Detroit at the Port Street Union Station at 5:15.

Second Day—Arrive at Harper's Ferry, West Virginia. A sight seeing trip of this quaint old village, will be made.

Leave Harper's Ferry and arrive in Washington about noon.

After luncheon, the sightseeing buses will take them on their first trip in Washington. The route is up Sixteenth Street, which is known in Washington as the "Avenue of Presidents." On this trip they will pass the homes of the late presidents William Taft and Woodrow Wilson, the Washington home of Mary Roberts Rinehart, and Georgetown University, and the birthplace of Francis Scott Key.

In the evening sightseeing cars will take them to the Congressional Library. They will see the originals of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States.

Third Day—

In the morning they will take a trip to view the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. They will also visit the Washington Monument and obtain a bird's-eye view of Washington.

After luncheon they will be conveyed to the Franciscan Monastery, where guides will take them through the Church of Mount St. Ephrem. They then proceed to Annapolis, Maryland, to see the governor's mansion and the Capitol building. After visiting the Capitol building they go to the United States Naval Academy, returning to their hotel in Washington for dinner. The evening will be left open for individual attractions and pleasures.

Fourth Day—

The next morning they go to Alexandria and Mount Vernon. At Alexandria they visit Old Christ Church, where Washington worshipped and where Lee was confirmed. On their way to Mount Vernon from Alexandria they pass the home of Lighthouse Harry Lee, father of Robert E. Lee.

Upon their arrival in Mount Vernon they will view the mansion, the stables, coach house, the kitchen and tomb of George and Martha Washington.

In the afternoon they visit the museums. In the Old Museum the flag that was flown over Fort Henry and inspired Francis Scott Key to write "The Star Spangled Banner" is on display. From the Old Museum they go to the Aircraft building, which houses many famous planes, such as the hull of the "NO-4" that was used in the World War. After the Aircraft building they visit the New Museum, which contains the Roosevelt African collection and the first piece of gold discovered in California.

From the New Museum they go to the Capitol building. After that they proceed to the Union Station where they board the train for home.

Fifth Day—

Arrive in Detroit at Union Station at 8:30.

Those of the seniors who will probably go are: Sam Aldea, Keene Bolton, Martin Breitmeyer, J. W. Erwin, Walter Garchow, Cecil Giles, John Litsenberger, Arthur Mitchell, Harry Rattenbury, Ed Reid, Marvin in Schoultz, Robert Trofist, Willard Wilson, Eber Lester, Jean Anderson, Louise Barley, Mary Boelens, Constance Burgess, Alice Eaton, Margaret Garden, Margaret Hein, Gwendolyn Jones, Irene Kalamy, Margaret Jones, Betty Schrader, Doris Tewksbury, Virginia Washburne, Margaret Walker, Leona White, Barbara Wood, Claude Hinchman and Lois Dism.

H. B. Smith's ninth grade general science class is planning a trip to the weather bureau in Detroit. They will leave this Friday afternoon at 1:15. The students have been studying the works of the barometer in determining atmospheric pressure.

Editor's Note

Play fair! I was practically raised on those two words. They were emblazoned on my mind from the time I first knew what they meant, and it astonishes me now the number of people I meet who either never heard those words or pay no attention to them if they have.

To play the game—no matter what this—fairly and squarely has always seemed to me one of the most important things in my life. It's almost as important and necessary to my design for living as honesty is.

So many people—I know today are willing to take all the kindness, help and assistance "good Samaritans" are willing to give!—yet never think of repaying those friends with a little help on their part, or perhaps just one word of gratitude. So few people today are really grateful for the work others do for them. To me it seems only fair to be grateful for help—or to do some work—or at least offer to do some, when your turn comes. Too often it's left to just a few to do all the work and usually it's the same few that do it all the last time. It takes such a small amount of your time to do your share, and in the end people will think so much more of you for having done it.

The Student Council is quite pleased at the way the student body has responded to their non-smoking campaign. The smoking on school grounds has decreased considerably although there are still a few non-conformants who for some reason or other, don't seem to want to cooperate. The majority of students who had been smoking on the grounds have stopped and are cooperating admirably with the rest of the student body.

They have realized that the whole of NBS will be judged by those few who persist in smoking. Just stop to think a minute—how would it appear to you, if you were a stranger, visiting our high school, to see a group of students gathered around one or more of the entrances to the school smoking, and throwing the stubs around on the school property? You wouldn't have a very high opinion of the school or the people in it, would you?

It can't be so very hard to break the habit of smoking on the school grounds. Can't you learn to throw your cigarette stubs away before you step on the campus? Have a little pride in our building—after all, you spend most of your day here; why not make those hours pleasant ones for everyone?

SPORTS by SPECK

It seems that the track team is not getting the proper training. What they want is to just go to State and win a medal.

They're a few boys who really take their work seriously, though, so keep it up, boys, the training will help you.

The track team has three meets scheduled. A four-way meet at Trenton. A meet with Trenton and a regional meet to be held at a suitable location soon to be gotten hold of.

The Plymouth track team is starting to challenge Northville's track team right away.

A card from them stated they would like to meet Northville. W. Henschel will probably coach the track team, according to a statement made to me by H. B. Smith.

The following boys are out for track: Bolton, 100-220-relay; Blahon, 100-220-relay; Lester, high jump; Broad jump; Cherepew, 220-100-relay; Beall, half-mile; Deftine, 225-100-relay; Mitchell, 100-220-relay; Bogard, 100-yd. vault; Duguid, shot; Boelens, Johnson, shot.

It seems that baseball practice is being hampered by weather conditions and also the senior play but there have been some boys who came out in spite of these obstacles.

Coach Smith will coach baseball this year. The golf team has not been organized yet but some of the boys have been going out to practice a few swings. They look good by my opinion G. V. Harrison will take charge of golf.

Departmental Notes

Miss Gladys Ludwig's eighth and ninth hour biology classes went down to the fish hatchery last Thursday. They walked down and were greeted by a guide who showed them the fish. The pupils saw one tank that held around 21,000 baby fish. In other tanks, they saw small trout and rainbow trout. The fish were shipped from Colorado and when they are one year old they will be sent North to other hatcheries. The students also saw the mammoth beef hearts, which are chopped up and fed to the fish.

Miss Doris Reber's cooking, sewing and art classes have been very busy this week. The seventh grade cooking class has planned a breakfast and will serve it sometime this week. Making sport clothes, such as blouses and shorts is the business of the eighth grade sewing class.

The ninth grade sewing class is testing their ability to choose style and colors of clothes to suit their person.

Silk dresses were designed and will be made by the tenth grade. The twelfth grade girls are still working on their graduation dresses.

The first semester art class is studying art colors.

The second semester art class has been decorating the bulletin board in the assembly with posters of foreign lands, ships and advertising. Part of this class is also working on Palladium pictures.

R. H. AMERMAN TO CONDUCT SURVEY

R. H. Amerman, superintendent of schools, has been given permission by the board to conduct a survey of students and business men about an apprentice training program to be started in the village.

Mr. Amerman stated that if enough business men would cooperate with the school and place 15 students within a year's time, the training would be started.

The student must be 16 years of age and completed the tenth grade in order to be eligible. The plan is that one-half of the day the student would be employed to work four hours and during the last four hours of the day the student will attend school and study subjects which will help him with his apprenticeship work. The object of this plan is to prepare students for work after being graduated from high school.

This will also give the student a chance in which to earn money while attending school. The hours which the student works will count toward his credits for graduation and will be the same as taking two subjects at school.

The commercial class consisting of 14 girls is going to carry out much the same program as this but they will work for one hour over a period of ten days, doing such work as typing and bookkeeping that the business men would have. This same plan was carried out two years ago under the supervision of Mrs. Jack Taylor, former commercial teacher at the Northville high school.

Did You Notice?

How quiet third hour assembly can be? We thought it was impossible.

How handsome F. Johnston is—when he's sleeping? Now, Fred, we saw you.

J. Gibson's boldness? He actually sat with B. Carlson in the assembly, at all places.

That Lee T's back in school? Maybe we haven't, but we'll bet M. J. C. has.

W. B. telling everybody that she was "stood up" one night? Something new, Wanda?

Alb. not knowing how to act in the principal's office, when he knows he's not getting heck? Something different for a change.

How quite successful the play was? Congrats, seniors.

W. Meyers not walking with that "I Love Me" attitude?

How Miss Findley studies—out the window?

How "upish" Jean A has been acting? Must be the play has taken affect.

Grade Notes

Miss Ann Richards' kindergarteners have been talking about their homes and how they can help their mothers at home.

"The Little Pig and His Garden" Roy's second graders for their own will be dramatized by Mrs. O. F. enjoyment in the near future. They have enjoyed hearing the story of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" which was read by their teacher and also hearing the songs from the story on the phonograph. March 30, they had a candy sale to earn money for a new picture for their room. A net profit of $4.17 was made.

Miss Estelle Griffiths' third graders are coloring Easter eggs in art class.

SPELLING BEE TO BE HELD TODAY

Friday's Winners Will Be Crowned Northville's Champions

Common Chatter

By GWEN

Within the next few hours two important events are to take place. At 3:30 school will be dismissed for a week's spring vacation. Of course, much to everyone's approval. This evening the juniors make it possible for everyone to celebrate by coming to the annual J-hop which no one can afford to miss. The juniors, of course, want everyone to know that the public is invited and even though they aren't going to celebrate the closing of school for a week, there must be something which can be used as an excuse to come.

Of both alumni and students who will be trading the measures of the grand march will be Don Armstrong, the class president, and Betty Gillette; Peggy Walker and, of course, that alumnus Alf Parmenter; Louise Alexander and Ed Angove. Joyce Myers and Gwen Jones will be there. Both boys are alumnus of N. H. S. Frances Alexander, alumnus of '36, will be there with King Ganthier of Lansing. Bill Scholtz will escort Virginia Stewart, also of Lansing. Nan and Pat McLoughlin will be there with Scott Cole and Bruce Turnbull respectively. Eber Lester will also have an out-of-town guest in the form of Nancy Ostergen of Detroit. Dick Hatchon will be seen with Harry Richardson, still another alumnus; Walt Meyers will be there with Arlene Blake; Marie Angove and Kendall Willis are going; Bob Parmenter will escort his sister, Ruth, and Ray Parmenter will have Betty Bloom of Detroit; Barbara Wood will appear with Harry Rattenbury. Albert Boelens will have outside talent, Essie Dwyer of Detroit. The mayor, Keene Bolton, will escort Margaret Hien; Doris Tewksbury and Art Mitchell decided that maybe they did have enough money to go after all; good for you, Art. E. K. Starkweather and Lucille Lapham; Jack McCrumb and Geraldine Johnson will be trading a merry measure; Bettie Findley and Dick Junod will of course be there.

Jane Van Atta and Dale Bray, too; Rose Brunansky will be there with Bud Partridge of Plymouth; Ben Duguid will have Kate Marburger in tow; Helen Harper will be there with George Bonita. As I know I haven't mentioned everyone, I'll give you more dope next week. And so until I see you there.

Senior Who's Who

ROBERT TROFIST

Robert Trofist, born in Detroit, Jan. 26, 1920. He began his schooling at the Reading School in Detroit and attended it for eight years. He then moved to West Point and attended the high school there for two years. Northville, then, attracted his attention and he decided to graduate from our Alma Mater. He has a decided preference for stamp collecting and horses. He doesn't care especially for school, but he is a very good student. He probably will attend college, but is undecided as to the place.

REORGANIZATION BILL PANIC DISCUSSED

terical opponents of the Byrnes bill were for it. Senator Byrd of Virginia, an opponent now, conceded it would be a fine economy measure.

Nobody has ever disputed the statements of Presidents Harding, Coolidge and Hoover that the badly muddled and overlapping executive agencies of the government need reorganizing. Nobody has ever disputed the fact that those three presidents, because of his desire for patronage and because of the pressure brought on individual Congressmen by individual parties, cannot do the job.

Nobody has ever disputed the statements of Harding, Coolidge and Hoover that only the President can do the job. Nobody has ever disputed what they learned from experience: that every congressman who is a politician and not a statesman will fight tooth and nail to prevent the President from effecting the reorganization.

Nobody disputed them, that is, until now, when the small-time politicians join with the powerful interests opposed to Mr. Roosevelt to shout hysterically, "dictator, dictator."

If these gentlemen do not realize that the organization bill is about as far from being similar, in any possible danger, to the court bill as the North Pole is from the South, they do not believe in Congress. If they cannot see that it is as different from the court bill as black is from white, they should not be allowed to wander about loosely. But they do know it. They know perfectly well that in lowering themselves into attempting to fool the electorate into believing that there is any connection between the Government Reorganization bill and civil liberties they are being cheap, political hypocrites.

That point cannot be emphasized too strongly.

It should be mentioned, of course, that not all the Senators who voted against the Byrnes Bill, and probably not all the Representatives opposing the House bill, fall into this category. There are some persons—for example, Senators Borah and

UNDER OBSERVATION

By V. R. H.

WEATHER
The Observer has studied the weather charts for the past few weeks and come up with an explanation of the departure of the summery temperatures that blessed our land as late as March 30. That he adds a political tinge to the analysis is only incidental to the report.

He finds that the onslaught of the cold wave occurred coincidentally (a good word, at that) with the rise of frenzied opposition to the "Dietator" Bill in Congress, and deduces that the loss of all the heat generated by "sack Roosevelt's" timid Democrats and rabid Republicans, not to mention Father Coughlin's children of the air, left a void into which great masses of chilling air rushed. Hence, the sudden drop in temperature. He adds, "To get better weather, DON'T WIRE your congressman."

WEATHER II
The writer found a sympathetic friend in a bewildered Robin at the intersection of Penniman and Main in Plymouth Wednesday. Unable to understand the cold following such balmy March weather, the Robin inquired of us the way South. He complained that times hadn't been worse in 52 winters, and we agreed. Then we recalled that we hadn't been here 52 years, but agreed that

REDUCE HIS POWER

By THEODORE WERLE

Vern Brown, able editor and legislator of Mason, recently wrote an editorial which he called "Puddle Ducks." In it he emphasized the character debasement which is part of the price an alms-taker pays for alms. The puddle duck, says Mr. Brown, is the wild duck which, through an easy life of being hand-fed, can no longer wing with the wild. In the soft life of the pen it loses its independence, and more. It loses the will and the ability to live in self-reliant freedom. Freedom, whether for humans or ducks, demands something that alms-takers do not have.

Not alone the alms-taker grows debased when he takes part of a national population goes the easier way. The government too, of the nation which undertakes the general giving of alms—regardless of the form—becomes debased. When he is given vast sums of money to spend for help of the needy, the politician becomes the master instead of remaining ever the servant of the people. Money—huge sums of public money—gives him to deliver men from hardship—and more money spent to tell the public about, and post pictures of the politician who distributes the money—these all are ready-made for a man elected to office by those to whom he gives. It brings on a desire for power—a greed that grows on the weak willingness of "puddle ducks" to give their freedom for a measure of Caesar's corn.

I am but one of many who felt misgivings when the federal government organized all forms of relief under a political bureaucracy. The political development of this humanitarian enterprise in the subsequent years has justified the fear. It is my conviction that the American people have made a grave mistake, which they need to correct if they would preserve their freedom. Before the political appointees took over, there existed, as they had for many years, excellent, privately organized channels for relief of persons in need. Professional charity workers were named, and labored everywhere.

O God, our Father, Thou Searcher of men's hearts, help us to draw near to Thee in sincerity and truth. May our religion be filled with gladness and may our worship of Thee be natural.

Strengthen and increase our admiration for honest dealing and clean thinking, and suffer not our hatred of hypocrisy and pretense ever to diminish. Encourage us in our endeavor to live above the common level of life. Make us to choose the harder right instead of the easier wrong, and never to be content with a half-truth when the whole can be won. Endow us with courage that is born of loyalty to all that is noble and worthy, that seems to compromise with vice and injustice, and knows no fear when truth and right are in jeopardy.

Guard us against flippancy and irreverence in the sacred things of life. Grant us new ties of friendship and new opportunities of service. Kindle our hearts in fellowship with those who sorrow and suffer. May we find genuine pleasure in clean and wholesome mirth and feel inherent disgust for all coarse-minded humor.

Help us, in our work and in our play, to keep ourselves physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight—that we may the better maintain the honor of the Corps untarnished and unsullied, and acquire ourselves like men in our effort to realize the ideals of West Point in doing our duty to Thee and to our Country. All of which we ask in the name of the Great Friend and Master of men.

The father, himself only 17 years old, was on hand to take his small family home—they're living at 317 Yerkes street, with the young mother's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence E. Reidel. They'd like a place of their own, but right now with John only getting two or three days a week as a laborer on the WPA list, they can't quite set up housekeeping by themselves.

Young Butler has gained since birth when he weighed six pounds, nine ounces. When he weighed out of the hospital Tuesday morning, he tipped the scales at seven pounds, two ounces.

"The mother is one of the happiest I have ever seen," states Miss Irene Fennell, superintendent, who says that during the year, 70 babies have been born at the hospital. "I don't think I ever sent home a happier mother and the father is as proud as he can be," she continued at the same time expressing a wish that a break would come for the father who wants to work and make a home for his wife and son.

Much of the time that Mrs. Butler was in the hospital has been spent opening letters—many of them congratulating her—others that were really mean, reports Miss Fennell. The letters have come by the score from this area, but they have come from Chicago and Florida too.

Child Mother, Son Still "Doing Fine"

Our local churches are attempting to work with the young people of the community, yet I heard a young man say that it was such a "sissy thing" to attend church.

For the benefit of this young man and any others who may feel similarly I direct them to this excerpt from a leading magazine:

Sunday morning at West Point. In a high-arched chapel hung with faded and bravely tattered battle flags, eleven hundred young men, in gray dress uniforms, bow their heads in prayer. As one man they repeat a deep-voiced plea for heavenly guidance, a prayer which each cadet has learned by heart as a plebe. It was written by Lieutenant Colonel Clayton E. Wheat, former chaplain of the Military Academy, who now teaches English there.

A stirring prayer, swelling from the heart, uttering the hopes and desires of the army of American youth everywhere.

O God, our Father, Thou Searcher of men's hearts, help us to draw near to Thee in sincerity and truth. May our religion be filled with gladness and may our worship of Thee be natural.

Strengthen and increase our admiration for honest dealing and clean thinking, and suffer not our hatred of hypocrisy and pretense ever to diminish. Encourage us in our endeavor to live above the common level of life. Make us to choose the harder right instead of the easier wrong, and never to be content
