

FIRST SINGLES TENNIS MEET DRAWS 20 MEN

Postpone Doubles Tourney to May 20-22 Because of School Conflict

Play in the men's singles of the Northville closed tennis tournament will begin this afternoon. Approximately 20 racket wielders of the village will start battling for the trophies which are on display at the Northville Drug store. Matches will all be played at the Cass Benton courts.

A conflict with a high school tournament will make it necessary for the local doubles matches to be held one week later, May 20 and 21. This will give more time to finish the singles play.

Those who have entered so far include: Dayton Deal, Otis Tewksbury, Jay Leavenworth, Bill Duguid, Jack Moffitt, Irving Marburger, Marvin Schulters, Harry Cassie, Roland Morris, Bob Reed, Dugie Thompson, Jack Junod, Harold Potter, John Steeneken, Herb Berend, Del Hahn, Richard Shipley, Sidney Mose, Alec Milne, Marvin Schults, Fred Casteline, Albert Vradenburg and George Ferguson. It is expected that there will be other later entries too late to be mentioned in this article.

A bracketing sheet will be posted in the Northville Drug store, and one will be kept at the courts.

The doubles tournament will be played off the week-end of May 20, 21 and 22 and the winning team will take possession of a cup similar to the one to be awarded to the winner of the singles competition. Both cups were given by Del-W. Hahn.

A similar tournament will be held next year and the winners of this year's tournament will have to defend the cups again.

EXCHANGITES MAKE INSPECTION TOUR OF VILLAGE ALLEYS

By C. A. Dolph

Inspection of some of the village's derelict out-buildings and alleys, of which convinced the Exchange members that there was abundant need of a cleanup week and an every week inspection following a checkup by the business men Wednesday noon.

The individual property owners could be of real help in seeing that their back alley is in good condition. So many factors make up the fire insurance rate that it would seem that self interest would stir these folks to action.

Health Officer Atchison is doing a worth-while work in calling attention to matters of this kind. Members of the club were greatly surprised at some of the conditions which the inspection trip revealed.

Conference Brings Lutheran Pastors to St. Paul's Church

While one of the most severe electrical storms of the year raged, members of St. Paul's Lutheran church attended Tuesday evening the Southern Michigan Pastoral Quarterly Conference which had brought some 70 pastors to Northville.

"If the professional men of the world feel need for conferences, how much more we men of the gospel need them," for we have the greatest task to do on earth. Exchange of views and experiences is of great benefit to us," affirmed the Rev. E. A. Schack of Melvindale, speaker at the communion service.

"We of the ministry have a two-fold task to perform—the greatest work in the world, that of restoring proper relations between man and God, and that of battling the enemies of God," he continued, stating that the law of God and labor with untiring zeal were the tools with which the church could be built up.

Following the sermon, the communion service was administered by the senior pastor and by the Rev. E. E. Rossow and members of the Lutheran church performing the host duties for the visiting pastors.

Food Market Opens for Business Today

The Northville Food Market, newest addition to the local business front, opened this morning at 112 East Main street.

E. V. Mercer and his son, William, with J. N. Wilcox of Walled Lake, are proprietors of the market, which is of the self-service type now becoming popular in this section.

Gleaming white, from the very front to the farthest corner inside, with green for contrast, makes the store appear spotless and clean. Computers for checking out are located at the front center of the store, leaving the merchandise displays open for self service by the customers.

Slight over each section of shelves, identify the merchandise displayed there. The shelves are of modern design, wider at bottom than at top.

The Northville Food Market will feature nationally known brands of merchandise including Del Monte and Stokely canned vegetables and fruits, the management states. Fresh vegetables, fruits and a complete line of dairy products will be carried.

Announcement of the grand opening sale appears on page 3 of this issue of The Record.

EDWARD ANGOVE PLAYS IN COLLEGE CONCERTS

Edward Angove, sophomore from Northville, is a member of the Michigan State college concert band, which will present a series of spring concerts, beginning Wednesday evening, May 11.

Three concerts, all under the direction of Leonard Follone, will be presented on three successive Wednesday evenings, May 11, 18 and 25. The concerts, which are open to the public without admission charge, are a traditional part of the M. S. C. spring program, which is climaxed with senior week activities in June.

The M. S. C. concert band of 80 pieces recently was heard from coast to coast over the National Broadcasting company network. The marching band, composed of members of the concert band and 20 additional students, is a feature of football games and other athletic events.

A new band shell now under construction, is expected to be completed for the concerts. The band shell, a gift of last year's graduating class, is located near the Red Cedar river on the M. S. C. campus. It will be used for musical events and outdoor plays throughout the spring, summer and fall season.

Owen and Traube Open Hamburger Store in Milford

Ole G. Owen, village haberdasher, and Jack Traube, mushroom culturist, opened the Jack and Ole Hamburger store Thursday, April 28, in Milford.

They have leased the Gamble building across from the theatre, where they have done considerable redecorating and installation of equipment for the lunch and short order business which has already received the stamp of approval from Milfordites.

SCOUT-OFFICER TIE-IN FAVORED BY CIVIC MEN

Mayor Nichols Commended for Retaining Richard Loomis on Force

Talk circulating throughout the village about the proposal of retaining Richard Loomis as Scout officer, has focused the attention of civic leaders to the Boy Scout program which Mr. Loomis has headed during the past months for Northville.

Since Mr. Loomis has taken over the Scout work the troop has grown to such an extent that two troops had to be formed to absorb the membership. At the present time there are 70 Scouts on the roll, with a troop of cubs in the making under Arthur C. Carlson's supervision.

Some 120 boys use the Boy Scout building weekly for their activities where they lay the foundation for wholesome hobbies which, the program, Mr. Loomis says, "will go a long way toward keeping the boys out of the pool rooms and beer gardens when they get in their late teens."

It is understood that the village councilmen, Judge O. W. Owe's recommendation under consideration, which if accepted, would put Loomis at the head of the police force, giving him his nights comparatively free for more extensive work with the Scouts and a general boy's program.

Public opinion in matter is voiced in the comments submitted by a few of the civic leaders of Northville, which follow:

Charles Schoutz: "It is a great pleasure and satisfaction to know that we have a village president and council that are standing back of Richard Loomis by retaining him on the police force and giving him time to devote to Boy Scout work."

"There are 60 boys of this village whose respect for the law through Mr. Loomis is a big influence to all other boys whom they come in contact with."

As a committeeman from the American Legion to the Boy Scouts, I take this opportunity to thank the village president and council for the help they are giving to our future citizens of Northville."

Harold Church: "It's the best thing that could happen to the boys' activities under a competent police officer—especially one whom the boys think is okay in the way they think of Richard Loomis."

Dr. T. W. Smith: "It is a pleasure to me to hear that the village council is retaining Richard Loomis on the police force. I have discovered that he has a wide-spread and wholesome influence on many of the growing boys of this community. That alone ought to commend him for a policeman, provided he does not neglect his police duties for the fine work he does as a Scoutmaster. I think very highly of Mr. Loomis personally. I believe that the moral influence which secures the admiration of our boys is more powerful than the swing of the night stick."

"Any man who can win the cooperation of many boys may be commended."

To Open Wilson Ice Cream Store

Residents in this part of Wayne county where Ira Wilson and members of his family are so well known, will be especially interested in the announcement made in this week's issue of The Northville Record of the formal opening on Saturday and Sunday, May 7 and 8, of one of the Ira Wilson & Sons Dairy company's ice cream parlors in Rosedale Gardens.

When this well known pioneer family left this locality some 25 years ago to move into Detroit and engage in the milk business, little did any of them ever expect the day to come when Wilson's ice cream parlors would serve a very good portion of all the people of Detroit and Wayne county. Now they have come right back home with one of their stores where their first success was gained in the dairy business.

The new Wilson store at the corner of Plymouth and Meridian roads in Rosedale Gardens has just recently been completed. The structure and all of the equipment is new and of the latest design. The interior of the store is beautifully arranged. For the opening on Saturday and Sunday, roses will be provided for the women, and of course there will always be those great big Wilson helpings of ice cream.

LOYLE GERMAN REFUSES POST IN NORTHVILLE

Loomis, Montgomery, Hicks, Atchison and Cochran Get Appointments

Loyle M. German's refusal to accept the police chief's post in Northville after Mayor Arthur S. Nichols had made the recommendation Monday evening at the council table, has left Earl Montgomery still the acting chief.

Mayor Nichols' other two-year appointment recommendations were accepted by the councilmen, giving Richard Loomis the night police job; Mr. Montgomery continues as street commissioner; Fred Hicks is named fire chief and village hall caretaker; Dr. R. M. Atchison returns as health officer, and F. J. Cochran will be the village attorney again.

Upon the announcement of Mr. German's rejection of the chief's appointment, Orson G. Owen was supported by Carl Schultz in his motion to name Mr. Loomis to the place.

"Personally I'd like to see Mr. Loomis have the place. If you look over his record you'll find it is fine. During the time he's served on the force, he's taken in fines for arrests which total over $400, while Mr. German has been responsible for something like $150 in fines. We know Mr. Loomis. He has performed his duty as ably as any officer you've had in some years, and when I say any officer, I mean just that," Mr. Owen said.

Owen's motion lost in the vote which followed. Commis. James Perkins stating that he wanted to give Mr. German the place and thought that the chief's appointment, signing with Mayor Nichols that the councilmen should get together to talk things over before the matter is settled permanently.

Mr. Perkins said of Mr. German that he wanted to see the matter settled. Mr. Perkins said of Mr. German that he wanted to see the matter settled.

Baby Dies in Fire Started by Sisters Who Strike Matches

Tragedy struck a family for the second time within a year when flames claimed the life of Marilyn, one-year old daughter of Mrs. Fred Smith, aged 30, who stood by helplessly watching fire destroy her home Monday in New Hudson.

Just last September, a great niece of Mrs. Campbell's was struck by a motorist as she ran across the road from the mail box near her home. She was ten-year-old Lillian Horsfall.

Mrs. Campbell discovered the fire that took her daughter and home shortly after 10:30 a. m. in the bedroom where four of her six children were playing. She hurriedly snatched Eileen, 6; James, 3; and a three-month-old baby and carried them to safety. Flames drove the mother back when she attempted to return for Marilyn.

Two other children were in school at the time of the fire. Authorities said that the fire was started by one of the children who was playing with matches. Their father is employed in Pontiac.

NORTON BEGS COUNCILMEN FOR LICENCE

Nichols and Hicks Cite Taxpayers' Complaints in Defense

John Norton, who contends that he was the first person in Northville to sell legally a bottle of beer, came before the village commissioners Monday evening to request that his application for a liquor license be re-considered.

His petition was rejected a few months ago by the council which at that time was headed by Dr. H. H. Birkhart, mayor.

Norton asserts that he "has" not had a square deal and that only two neighbors are opposed to the taxing of his business.

Mayor Arthur S. Nichols and Commissioner George Hicks on the other hand, told Norton Monday night that they had been receiving complaints, as many as 15, from the taxpayers in that section who object to having a beer tavern in the residential section of town.

"If there have been complaints, why didn't you send the police down?" queried Norton.

"It just wasn't on a certain occasion that these persons voiced complaints, it's that they are opposed to having an establishment of that nature where they have their homes," retorted Commissioner Hicks.

"I think my record is as clean as any in Wayne county and I'm a good citizen. I beg the council to reconsider my petition," said Norton.

"Didn't you just pay a fine before the State Liquor Commission for playing cards in your place?" questioned Mayor Nichols.

Norton admitted paying the fine and also affirmed the charge made by Nichols that he had "not" to get over the heads of the council to get an license granted.

Mayor Nichols advised Norton to pay the fine and request for a license which would be granted before the council at the same time warning Norton that if he seemed to be making a habit of such establishments, he would not have a license granted.

GOP Women Back Frank Fitzgerald

Northville's women republicans pledged themselves in an organization meeting to support Frank Fitzgerald in the gubernatorial race.

Dr. L. W. Snow turned over his office for the meeting which was open to a group of republican women of the village. Mrs. Jean Cole has been named to head the organization in the president's capacity. Mrs. Lawrence LeFevre is vice-president; Mrs. Arthur C. Carlson is secretary; Mrs. Frank Thompson is treasurer; and Mrs. "Aunt" Ida Hendry is corresponding secretary.

Designed to give the women of Northville an opportunity to engage actively in the coming campaign, the Federated club will discuss National and State problems at its meetings, one of which is to be attended by Mr. Fitzgerald.

Mr. George Rogers, who heads Fitzgerald's campaign among the women, was present from the United States.

MRS. PETER F. STAIR TO SPEAK THURSDAY AT M. E. BANQUET

Monday, April 25, Mrs. Peter F. Stair will again talk at the banquet table at the annual occasion observed at the Methodist church, May 12. A general invitation is extended to all who wish to join in the happy event.

The committee has been very fortunate in securing Mrs. Peter F. Stair of Strathmore as the speaker of the evening. Mrs. Stair was a guest of the Methodist women at a gathering at the home of Mrs. C. E. Rogers last fall and was very enthusiastically received. A mother of daughters herself, Mrs. Stair will have a very worth-while message to bring to her audience.

Other features of interest on the program will be a toast to mothers by Miss Betty Greer and a response from a mother, Mrs. Russell H. Stillerger. The smallest daughters will also appear in song and recitation.

As is the custom at such events, the banquet will be brightened at intervals by the singing of old favorites led by Mrs. Leslie G. Lee. Mrs. Florence Johnson will be heard in a vocal solo.

A desirable menu will be served at 30 cents a plate. Tickets are now on sale at various members of the committee will ask the reservations be made at once.

BLOOM IS CHAIRMAN OF BOARD OF TRUSTEES

Harold Bloom was named chairman of the board of trustees at a meeting of the board held Wednesday evening in the Presbyterian church house.

Note: When Owen Jones and Peg Walker, editors of the Orange and Black page, returned from their Washington trip with the senior class, they checked notes over the village telephone system and this is their combined story of the four days in Washington.

The weather was ideal as we gathered at the station platform waiting for the train to pull in that was to take 29 of our senior class to Washington. When it did finally come, we just about had time to grasp our bags and run madly up the steps into the car before we felt the wheels move under us.

It was fortunate, really, that none of us were terribly tired, for some of our friends seemed to think it was the proper thing to do to wake as all up at every town we went through. That first night wasn't a very quiet one—it is funny how gosh-awful a harmonica can sound at 2 o'clock in the morning!

The worst part of that night was the fact that everyone decided to get up the next morning at 4 o'clock—and the train didn't reach Washington until 3:30!

We're still talking about what a wonderful place our capital city really is. It's unlike any other city in the country. Its beauty and quietness seems to reach out and engulf the newcomer in a mighty "welcome."

The city at first seems to consist of huge, beautifully-built buildings which, in turn, consist of endless steps and pillars. Nowhere are there any dirty buildings. They are all

POST OFFICE GIVES BOOST TO AIR WEEK

With the cost of air mail letters only three cents more than ordinary postage it is the opinion of the Northville post office force, that the ever increasing speed of delivery for such mail will see a return in the use of the service by villagers during air-mail week, May 15-21.

A temporary splurge, during national air mail week is not expected. Once the public is conscious of the convenient service at the low price which the government gives, it is believed that the service will find permanent favor with the letter-writers of both business and personal correspondence.

Northville like every other village, is cooperating with the United States Post Office in the celebration of the anniversary observance of the inauguration of the air mail service in this country. In joining Mayor in the celebration Postmaster W. A. Arpa invites every person to send at least one air mail letter during this week. Attraction provided by air mail envelopes will be a collection of 21 persons in Northville to be between May 15-21.

For the convenience of persons who may want to use this service, the local post office staff has accelerated the mailing schedule as follows:

EVELYN AMBLER'S RECITAL RECEIVES FAVOR OF CRITICS

Music critics acclaimed Miss Evelyn Ambler a rising young vocal artist Wednesday evening following her first concert given in the Peace auditorium, Ypsilanti, attended by a number of Northville persons.

Her rendition of Italian, French and German songs was particularly noteworthy as she gave them a freshness of interpretation that revealed her wide vocal range and depth of voice.

Included in her program were Handel's "Care Selve" and "Oh, Had I Jubal's Lyre," Schubert's "Wohnung," and "Du bist der Ruh," Schumann's "Des Nussbaum" and "Waldung," Debussy's "Un doulx hen," Gounod's "An Prompces," and Liszt's "Sous les palmiers des ailes."

Two songs which through the years have been favorites of audiences, "Gloria" and "The Crucifixion" were given by Miss Ambler. They were given by Miss Ambler and Beach's "The Voice at the Spring." These two songs received the rapturous applause of the audience.

Miss Ambler presented her program at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Ambler of Northville and was graduated with the class of 1936. She completed this year her sophomore year at the Michigan State Normal college where she is studying voice.

TWILIGHT PLAYERS TAKE NOVI GAME

The Northville Normal League has officially opened its season. Unable to raise the necessary money to operate its league as had been originally intended—playing their games at night—because of lack of funds, the group of ball enthusiasts have started their season as a twilight league.

Schradler Brothers team got off to a good start by taking a close game from Novi Equipment, 7-6. Tony Bongiovanni squeezed the winning run home with a perfectly placed bunt, bringing Karl Hess in from the field.

Unable to interest the Northville Fair Association in putting up part of the money which would have been necessary to provide the local fair grounds with lights, Walter Moore

WHO ARE WE TO CRITICISE?

This is a good time in the history of the world and in the little city of Northville for everyone to be in a pretty humble frame of mind. Yes, we go a little farther and say that we should all be in a mood of tolerance and good will.

Out text for saying this is a sneering remark which we heard someone make about a WPA worker. As a matter of fact, who has any moral right to belittle anyone who happens to be on the WPA? Who has a right to belittle anyone who is on relief? We'll go farther and say, who has a right to make light of anyone who has any kind of trouble?

Any thinking person knows that in these perilous times just a simple turn of circumstances may put the finest of men on the WPA. A man who has had a good job may find himself jobless and forced onto the welfare. In these times, a turn of the wrist may switch one from prosperity onto the relief roll.

In view of all the present uncertainty, and the fact that many good men are not to blame for their condition, what right has anyone of us to sit in judgment on the other fellow? None of us knows what the morrow may bring. This is precisely why it should make us feel badly to hear anybody speak slightly of those who have had a change in luck.

This is a good time for all of us to ponder on the words of St. Paul: "Let him that thinketh he standeth, take heed lest he fall." Or, when you look at some one in misfortune, to say with the cardinal as he gazed on the tramp: "There but for the grace of God am I."

BROWN IS A GOOD CANDIDATE

After ten years of distinguished service in the State Legislature, Vernon J. Brown of Mason, editor of the Ingham County News, has announced his candidacy for the nomination of Auditor General on the Republican ticket.

This news is one of the brightest political omens that the State has had in many months. Not because he is a newspaper publisher, but because he is an outstanding student of public affairs. We think that Vernon J. Brown, if elected, will give the state distinguished service. He has served the legislature in such brilliant fashion as to command respect in both parties. Unusually able and energetic, he knew the government of Michigan as few men know it.

Those who have been careful students of affairs at Lansing in recent years will remember Brown's campaign for economy in state government back in 1932. A commission of which he was a dominating member, was given credit for the passing of 100 economy bills in the state legislature. Passage of these bills resulted in cutting the 1932 budget by about five million dollars.

All good citizens who desire to see good government in Lansing and who wish to have a part in cutting the rising cost of our state administration will do well to keep an eye on the candidacy of Mr. Brown.

WHEN THEY GOSSIP ABOUT YOU

In a small community like Northville one is bound to hear occasionally something of the devastating work of the gossip. We used to have a good friend who gave us a word of advice about his own attitude about gossip—and no one is free from the lashings of the critics. This man never paid the slightest heed to any gossip about himself but if anyone mentioned that there was any gossip about him, he would smile and say: "The truth needs no defense."

We have just run across this quotation which will cheer you up if you hear someone has been talking about you "If evil be said of thee, and it is true, correct it; if it be a lie, laugh at it."

WASHINGTON NEEDS GOOD WILL

Anyone who reads two or three newspapers of varying political complexion must be pretty well convinced that the biggest need in this time of unrest and business uncertainty is a spirit of good will in Washington, D. C. In other words, many of our best leaders are convinced that our present troubles are due to an unnecessary spirit of bitterness and fighting. Let us explain what we mean.

A week or so ago a group of the nation's daily newspaper editors conferred with President Roosevelt "off the record." Because it was "off the record," of course nothing was said about it. But a correspondent to the Christian Science Monitor wrote:

"They left the White House irritated, disappointed, saddened, and some of them were boiling mad."

Why should a large group of leaders of the nation's thought go away "mad" after talking with their President? A person of good judgment would have thought that here was a splendid opportunity for the President to create good will among these editors, many of whom came from communities that are in a state of real despair. The Monitor went on to point out that recently Mr. Roosevelt had scolded these editors in much the same way that he had scolded their Washington correspondents. Then the correspondent asked this highly significant question:

"They may have deserved it, but can the Administration or the country today indulge in the luxury of scolding?"

It does seem strange to the impartial observer that a man of Mr. Roosevelt's outstanding ability cannot realize what a tragic mistake he is making in not showing magnanimity in these turbulent times. Nothing but a spirit of good will and cooperation is going to solve our problems. Just as long as we delay the coming of good will and cooperation, just so long do we delay the coming of prosperity that is due us all.

MAYTIME THOUGHTS

Heard on a Northville street: "There is not a mean hair in his head."

Why not put in some bulbs this month and harvest some soul-satisfaction later?

"Things will be better by fall" seems to be the almost unanimous impression of people who ought to know about business conditions.

If you want an afternoon of real fun, just go and see those young Tigers and Yanks play ball. The community owes Arthur Carlson a big debt of gratitude for doing so much for these kids.

The big political news of last week was the start toward a third party, made in Wisconsin by the La Follette brothers, Robert, the U. S. senator and Philip, governor of his state. In deserting President Roosevelt whom they supported in both 1932 and 1936, the brothers said: "Ten years of temporizing with the depression have brought us back to where we started." These are preliminary planks in the new party platform: (1) Public ownership and management of money and credit; (2) restoration of the right of everyone to earn an honest living; (3) reorganization of executive government "to get things done" without dictatorial power; (4) security for farmers and workers; (5) an end of "coddling or spoonfeeding the American people"; (6) belief in the sacred destiny of the Western Hemisphere as a place where "man should work out the final act in the great drama of life."

Mr. Porter of the Home Telephone company has installed for the village an electric fire alarm gong to be put up on the village hall. It will be operated from the Central station and the noise it will make will "just raise perfect Ned."

AGING MEN

By THEODORE WERLE

The doctor—an old friend—and I sat quietly enjoying one another's presence, through the evening. There was an occasional conversation in which more was implied than said. We had been thinking about aging men.

"Henry is a case in point," said the doctor. "Useful, hardworking, respected, trusted all his life. Married 30 years. Several grown children. Now, 57, he blows up breaks with his wife. Takes in a girl in her early twenties."

"Darned unfortunate for everybody," I commented.

"Long silence."

"Contemplate the alimentary canal. Its chemistry leaves man agape. Body's chemical checks and balances are most delicate. Much not yet known. Chiefly in the dark about the ductless glands. Imbalance in these leads to disease; strange behavior. Aging men seem often to suffer imbalance of sex glands. Too little known about that chemistry. Henry needs hospital care, though there might not be much we could do—yet."

"In time that chemical flurry may be expected to subside. If it does, he will return to normal for his age, and his love will leave him—leave him standing alone in the social wreckage."

So it was in Henry's case. So it has been in others of which each of us might know. These aging men, whose strange sex behavior disgusted their friends, were sick like a person with an enlarged thyroid, too, is sick. They destroyed their homes in a frenzy for a young woman because something within them which affects mind-perception and body-action alike—and over which they have no control—has gone berserk. There was no staunching the flood for they could not tell there was a flood. Wife and life partner is forgotten. Heartbroken and bewildered by the change in his husband, she seeks and is promptly given a divorce. Sympathy is with her; she retains the home and most of their life's joint earnings. The aged playmate is turned out. The neighbors say, "Seems him right."

Now comes patient science to say the man is sick. You may do what you wish with him, but he is not himself. He will fight most efforts to deny him his amora. He will deny he is ill, because unfortunately, what has happened to him does not make him feel weak and unfit. He seems, all unknowingly, to have drunk at the fountain of youth. He has received an injection of life's dynamite, the effects of which soon will wear off.

"We are not so organized in our social life that we can deal properly with this unhappy phenomenon of aging glands. Perhaps medical science will find an antidote. It seems well on its way in that direction. In the meantime, however, these men, victims of a chemical formula gone mad, can be better understood by their friends, perhaps shielded and protected by their families, from complete destruction even if at the cost of some pride I have seen this done, and have read in the eyes of all who know, the deep satisfaction that they felt. For them there was not the nightmare of the aged wanderer, homeless, ill, neglected, finally dying of heart-break in a roadside ditch—he who once had been there. They had brought him back, and he lived again down to the end of his years loved and devoted in the bosom of his family."

GOING AROUND

There it stood — a great gnarly oak tree — right in the middle of the road. Some travelers on that thoroughfare, hurrying out to the golf course, said as they turned to the right and went around the tree: "What a beautiful old oak! How fortunate that the road goes round it so it can stand!"

Others restlessly sputtered: "Why don't they cut down the old thing?"

It's in the way, it sakens my speed.

Yet there it stood for many years spreading its grateful shade over the roads on both sides. And folks kept going round it.

We thought of this old tree the other day, when a looming obstacle confronted us. What should we do — stop dead still and say, "I can't go on any farther, I can't get by this?"

Or should we waste energy nacking with little strokes at the gigantic trunk trying to hew it down; should we quietly submit to the fact that the big thing was there and the only way to go on was to go around it.

When we stop to think of it every life — no matter how smooth it may look on the outside — has some obstacle to "go around." To some it is an annoying habit of a member of the family, to some a curious obtrusive neighbor, an untidy co-worker, a "bossy" mother-in-law, a willful child.

A very smart wife of a temperamental husband said to us once: "I never say much to John before he has had his breakfast."

Obstacles in the way? We know a couple who earned his way through college and now has reached a great success in life. We have heard Helen Keller, blind, deaf and dumb utter this exclamation at Bay View: "Oh, the lake is beautiful!"

Yet she saw it only through the eyes of her teacher. We read the other day of a young woman who by an unusual personality made folks forget the hideous birthmark on her face that would have spoiled some folks' lives.

A brave old aunt cheerfully taught the third generation of school children down in the "Quaker City of the West" long years after she had been deserted by a worthless husband and a son who was like him.

Her alertness and good humor drew many friends to her.

There are heroes and heroines right here in Northville who are going around difficulties that can't be removed. We know two women who say they have never been without some helpless old person to care for.

It wasn't easy to adjust their affairs to these cares yet both of these women are now among the best beloved in town.

Fortunately it is possible to find paths that lead aside to things worth while, avenues of escape. There are always fine books to lead one into great adventures; there are always new friends to discover; there is always service to render; there are always meals to cook; floors to sweep and, now that spring is here, there is the garden to dig in while the cardinal in the apple tree sings "Good Cheer."

Often an obstacle that changes one's course is a blessing. Some of the folks at our sanatoriums have found during their enforced idleness talents they never dreamed of. The song writer, Carrie Jacobs-Bond, might never have left us "The Perfect Day," and other beautiful songs if she had not been left a penniless widow with a child to support.

A school friend of ours who might have married a knacker — but didn't — has written a text book and has become an unusual business success. While she "gums over" Europe for a short vacation, she might have been making over the preacher's trousers for "Sonny" or listening patiently to sermons warmed over from the previous pastor.

Instead of being blocked by that difficulty in the way, we may find that by going around it we will discover a path that leads to rich discoveries. When the obstacle looms too fearfully large say this over several times:

"The common problem, yours and mine, is not to fancy what were fair in life provided it could be, but how to make it fair, up to our means."

A very different thing.

DuPont Company Develops Paint That Self-Cleans

A self-cleaning house paint is one of the most recent developments of the research laboratories of the DuPont company. The term "self-cleaning" means that dust and dirt which settle on the paint film today will be washed away by tomorrow's rains. Many white paints collect and hold dust and dirt from the atmosphere. This dirt collection results in prematurely dirty, gray houses that look unattractive.

This latest and undoubtedly startling advance in the field of house paints has come with the development of a new material called titanium oxide. This oxide is made by means of many complicated chemical processes by the Krebs Pigmment department of the DuPont company.

Titanium oxide is extracted from a substance that looks like black sand. Surprising as it may seem, this black sand yields the whitest pigment ever produced. It has the greatest hiding power or opacity of any white pigment, which makes it an ideal material for use in white paints. In addition, the use of titanium oxide in a paint gives the paint certain self-cleaning properties.

Houses painted with the new outside white paint formulated by DuPont chemists are said to be whiter and to stay whiter than has been possible heretofore.

"Adam and Fallen Man" will be the subject of the lesson sermon in all Christian Science churches in the world on Sunday, May 8.

Among the Bible citations in this passage (II Cor 6:17-18): "Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing, and I will receive you, and ye shall be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty."

Congregational passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 326): "The purpose and motive to live right can be vainly won. FIFTH GRADERS SKETCH CANINES

Students Draw Free-hand Pictures of Various Kinds of Dogs

By IDA MARIE WALKER

Startling things are happening in the grade building lately. Mrs. A. G. Stage's fifth grade art class is showing superior skill in drawing. Their latest subject has been man's great helper, the dog.

About twice every month the Stover Art school in Birmingham sends a woman to Northville to teach art in the different grades. This month she brought pictures of every kind of dog to the fifth grade. The pupils chose which kind of dog they would like to draw and began free-hand sketches.

Charles Peak should be complimented on his Eskimo dog and sled and Dorothy Leavenworth did excellent work on a Pekinese dog. Lee Roy McGlue, Tim Hancock and Alice Harper showed their skill in drawing Spitz dogs and Jane Lanning drew a good picture of a Cocker Spaniel.

TWO N. H. S. GIRLS ENTER TOURNAMENT

Gwen Jones and Peg Walker, seniors, have entered the Open Tennis Championship of Michigan tournament for junior girls to be held May 13-15 at Kingswood School in Bloomfield Hills.

The contest is under the sanction of the Western Lawn Tennis Association and the United States Lawn Tennis Association in accordance with their rules and regulations. It is open to girls between the ages of 15 and 18 and there will be prizes for the winner and runner-up. The official referee is Miss Luella Houser.

When interviewed, the girls replied rather vaguely as to their real object in entering this match. Gwen said, "I only hope they don't beat all of N.H.S. on their tennis playing," and Peg announced that she "will probably be knocked off at first chance, but it'll be fun."

Did You Notice?

The quarrel between Betty Armstrong and Jean Haley over that new Cooley recruit? Why, Julian M. Nagy's new nickname? It's "Irish" and it seems that it's a hangover from Washington!

The carefree air that some N. H. S. students have acquired since the weather turned so balmy? Spring is in the air! The la tra la!

The still flourishing romance between Keene and M. Hen? And they tell me that there was a certain little incident in Washington that caused Mr. Bolton's face to take on a peculiar reddish hue.

The Observer

One of the weaker (?) sex will be observed this week. This gal is about 5 feet, 5 inches tall and has blonde curls that are arranged in various modes. Her 14½ years have been spent in Northville. She is also a member of the up and coming freshman class. Second team basketball was honored this year by her ability at being a capable forward. In case you are still doubtful about this observed one, you may recognize her by her well given nickname, "Giggles."

NOTICE TO SMELTERS

Boysie, City—George Crowe, working on the new breakwater, slipped and fell into the water. After being rescued by workmen, he discovered that his false teeth were missing and he asks all smelt fishermen to examine the larger fish to see if any of them are wearing his teeth.

LOYAL LEGIONNAIRES

Oxford—When Jos. Herdick, local American Legion officer, had the privilege of picking a name for his first born son, he showed his loyalty to the organization by choosing the name "Lee John." This, he said, was as close as he could get to the name "Legion."

Editor's Note

With our gray hairs getting gray or every minute on account of that ancient custom, the publication of the Falladum, in which the O. and B. staff is up to its neck, we go to press this week with our finger crossed. It seems to be getting more difficult every week to get news. When we've gone through all the seniors for Who's Who and we're mighty near the end, we'll be in an awful spot for copy. And I'm NOT being pessimistic!—much.

The weather has been rather warm, have you noticed? Of course,

Senior Who's Who

Virginia Washburne
This little Miss has both dancing and acting ability along with a pleasing personality although she is petite.

Virginia was born in Detroit, Dec. 21, 1919, and attended school in Detroit and Lansing before she gave Northville the chance to claim her. She entered here in the seventh grade and will complete her schooling in June. She played an important role in both her junior and senior plays. Swimming and dancing are her hobbies. Virginia expects to attend college, but is as yet undecided where.

Elmyr Wilson

On Jan. 31, 1920 in London, Can. Elmyr had her first glimpse of this world. With her family she moved to Northville where she started to go to school. Titter Port Huron, New Hudson and Dearborn all beckoned her for awhile, before she decided she wanted to settle her and finish her schooling. Her hobbies are dancing, and hiking. After graduating, Elmyr wants to go in training for a nursing career.

The Detroit Municipal Employees' club is sending Cecil Nirdler to the Wolverine Boys' State at East Lansing. He is not being sent by Maybury sanatorium.

NEWSHAWK FINDS THE BELL

Iron River—A thirsty reporter, covering a meeting of the Iron River township school board, wandered down the hall in search of a drink. Finally he found a button and pressed it. Instead of bubbling water, the shriek of a fire alarm greeted the reporter. Of course, the dignity of the meeting was ruffled slightly.

WASHINGTON TRIP ENDS FOR SENIORS

Rattenbury, Wood, Nagy Walk Down Monument Steps

By BARBARA WOOD
A sight seldom seen in Northville was the mighty crowd gathered to say adios to the seniors who took a trip to Washington last Tuesday.

At 3:30 p. m. sharp, the train pulled into the station, and the seniors with a few hasty goodbyes were away for five glorious days of freedom.

Little sleep was obtained that night, but in the morning everyone appeared bright-eyed with expectation of what was to come.

The train pulled into Union Station at 8:20 a. m. Here they clustered on a nightseeing bus, and made their first stop at the Printing and Engraving building where money and stamps are turned out. From here they stepped over to the Washington monument. Three illustrious seniors, Harry Rattenbury, Margaret Nagy and Yours Truly, decided they would be different so they walked down the monument. After such a strenuous walk they retired to their hotel for lunch.

After lunch they visited the Pan-American building and the Washington National Cathedral. In the evening they visited the Congressional Library where the originals of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States were the main points of interest.

The next day, with the exception of J. W. Erwin, who spent a night worrying about his suitcase, were ready for more excitement. The old and new Smithsonian museums were visited. In the afternoon the girls went to town with the Annapolis boys. All about you could hear the click of the cameras.

In the evening the seniors had their free night. Most of them went to the movies or to Glen Echoes, the amusement park of Washington.

Thursday found them reliving the life of Washington at Mount Vernon. In the Christ church at Alexandria, Mrs. G. V. Harrison played the organ.

Six o'clock that evening found everyone homeward bound ready for school the following Monday.

known among his closer associates at work (in one of a nearby city's largest industrial concerns) and elsewhere as one of the shrewdest, most capable plant executives in the business. Almost single-handed, he recently checked a threatened wild-cat strike among the employees under him. Men, at that.

All this ties in with the dominant thought of the sermon by the rector of St. James, Easter Sunday morning when he quoted repeatedly a line from one of Longfellow's poems, to-wit: "Things are not what they seem." That would seem to be the moral of this fable. Or perhaps you can think of a better one.

St. Johns—Local citizens were aroused one recent midnight by the wall of a warehouse burglar alarm. It was a false alarm, however, as a sudden blast of wind had forced a door ajar, thus setting off the alarm.

MODERN FABLE or Do You Know These Four

By C. E. HUTTON, Walled Lake
This is a fable of life, centered about four characters of our village.

A man who was heard by others to give vent to his highly provoked ire in much profusely expressed profanity, caused one of his listeners to remark to another, "Well, one thing you'll have to say for Sam, he's all he-man."

Another man, after an evening in a beer garden, staggered down the street to the echo of a chant, intoned by some of his pals, who said, "Well, one thing you'll have to say for old Pete, he's a he-man, all right. He can take it."

And at a local meeting, recently, a pallid, gray man of some 40 years was asked to give an invocation, which he did, in a colorless, thin sounding voice. He was known by most of those present, but seemed to have little in common with them. Later, a group of several men were heard to say as he passed by, "Well, a funny guy. Never goes in for anything much, except church, and stuff like that. Never takes a drink, and wouldn't say 'damn' if they hung him. Guess he's just a pansy." Yet Bill (though not many know it) holds citations for extraordinary valor on the battlefields of France. He'll never get over the effects of a gas attack sustained while trying to rescue a buddy, sometime during the war.

Still another man was heard to be criticized, not long ago, because he always seemed to prefer to stay home, with his family, rather than to "go out among the boys," one or two nights a week. All he seemed to care about were highbrow books, lectures, good music and his flower garden. Not much he-man stuff about him. This man, however, is

Walled Lake News By CHARLES HUTTON

Well, the band went and did it! Yessir, our high school band, less than a year old, and barely out of the freeping stage went to Ann Arbor Saturday, to play in the annual school band festival, along with numerous other bands from schools throughout the State. And would you believe it? They placed second in Class C! Praises to Frank Bach, the faculty instrumental instructor, who has done such a swell job with his group of some 36 boys and girls, and who has, at the same time, started a junior band which will keep the ranks of the number one group well filled, despite the annual loss of senior members. Robert Seelye placed fifth in the instrumental solo competition on Friday.

And as if or though that amount of recognition was not enough, our Walled Lake school spellers brought home their second consecutive district spelling championship, Friday from Milford. Eva Gaffka, 13-year-old eighth grader of the local school proved to the townships of Commerce, Milford, Highland and White Lake that she was the logical one to represent them at the finals in Detroit, May 13. Her last word (officially, which she spelled correctly, was "civilian").

So, now Walled Lake Consolidated schools lead in three competitive activities—football, band music and spelling. That ought to prove something, don't you think?

A grass fire was responsible for the loss of a cottage at Oakley Park, Saturday afternoon. The house, owned by Goldy Galbride of Pontiac, was of single frame construction, partly furnished. Its value was estimated at $1,500. It was unoccupied at the time. The blaze was discovered by Mrs. Ed. Beagle, who called the Walled Lake fire department. They were unable to save the place but prevented the flames from spreading to adjacent buildings.

The local Parent Teachers' association has recently inaugurated an extensive child health program throughout the entire school district with Mrs. William Fox in charge. A survey of the district has been organized for the purpose of establishing permanent health records for the school. The current week has been particularly observed as Child Health Week, in recognition of Child Health Day, May 1, declared by President Roosevelt. Dr. E. J. Lindsey and Dr. A. W. Stuart will donate their services for the examination of pre-school children at the school, May 18, as a part of the P. T. A. program.

The program as designed by Mrs. Fox has already received the recognition of the State Health department. Mrs. Fox has been asked to speak at the summer health round-up meeting at Battle Creek to describe her plan.

Bancroft Brothers will open their East Shore Tavern Friday night with dancing and special music. That will make things just about 100 per cent open hereabouts. There yet remains a couple of eating places to hang out the obvious worded "open for business" signs, which is also true for an ice cream store and a drug store. The free movies have yet to start but we're told they will get under way May 9. We'll then be in full bloom, so to speak, just waiting for our summer public to make its annual appearance.

Funeral services for Henry R. Alvea, 79-year-old Walled Lake resident who died at his home Wednesday morning, following an illness of several years, were held Saturday afternoon at the Walled Lake Methodist church, with the Rev. Joseph Chapman of Bancroft.

Northville Is Low in Disease Victims

Northville continues to keep its health record for the year almost spotless, especially noteworthy when it is compared at large with the State.
 Figures received this week from the State by Dr. R. M. Atchison, health officer, reveal that the measles epidemic this year far surpassed the high outbreak of last year. In 1937, for the month of January there were 184 cases of measles reported by the State. For the same month, the ratio for 1938 was 3,056; for February, 1937, there were 204 victims, against 1938's 10,480 for the same month. The ratio for March was greatly increased, with 332 reported cases in 1937, and 2,151 in 1938.
 On the other hand, there were 50 per cent fewer pneumonia victims in 1938 than there were in 1937. Diphtheria afflicted about the same number of persons this year as last, while whooping cough has been slightly lower this year. Scarlet fever lost about 1,000 victims this year, compared to what it had in 1937.

 and his softballers have gone ahead as a twilight league with games scheduled for three nights each week. At the present time there are six teams in the league. Besides Schrader Brothers and Novi Equipment there is a team representing Northville A. A. C., Northville, Garage; Alex Johnson; Farmington.
 Playing at the local fair grounds, which the players have improved, the league swings into its second week of active competition next week. All games begin at six o'clock and are played Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings of each week.
 The schedule will bring Schrader Brothers up against the Farmington slugger who this past week whipped the Northville A. A. C. 12 to 2. Northville A. A. C. will be out to avenge their past defeat by tangling with the batters from the Northville Garage; Johnson's team will try tripping the Novi Equipment team.
 These fast teams are gradually polishing off the early season rough spots and are playing a brand of ball that should interest all the ball fans in Northville, according to Walter Moore who was instrumental in starting the league.

CIVIC LEADERS FAVOR SCOUT-OFFICER TIE-IN

 promoted on the police force with benefit to the entire community, for one who in commend our Mayor, Judge Nichols, for his good judgment in retaining Mr. Loomis and trust our village magistrate will continue to favor the highest interests of Northville.
 Russell H. Amerman—I think the matter of an officer-Scout tie-in is a very work one thing. It knows the boy in this manner and can get their cooperation to train, it gives him a better foundation for understanding the boys and their problems—all of which is basic for his work as police officer.
 Mrs. Eber Ward Lester—By all means, I think there is a logical tie-in between an officer and the Boy Scout program. There isn't a more noble cause than the Boy Scouts. It's splendid to have an officer who will teach the law as well as enforce it, helping in this way to mould character. It teaches the boys respect for the law and creates a companionship between officer and boy which will do much for the respect.
