LOST - THE BEST YEARS ⇒ OF YOUR LIFE

The winning section next played

Too many people wait until around 45, when hmitation of the focussing power forces them to wear bifocels or 'reading glasses? It is a pity. A considerable number of these people have lost the best years out of their lives, so far as seeing is concerned. All of the time, they have had some visual handicap - it could not have been too great - eise they would not have been able to overcome it by sheer vitality or adaptability.

But after all, it, is like getting along with a ten-year-old rar when there are so many modern

There may be more to see than you see There may be a greater reward for you m extended visual capacity - tasks that call for more than even your abundant "itality can produce. There might be the avoidance of accidents - great and small, for the fall of a medicine bottle, the vexation of some mistake in figuring, the headache that kept you from meeting some important person - all these are as much accidents as the fall thar breaks an arm or the auto collision that does worse. * # *

It's a queer kind of pride that will keep people from enjoying to the fullest the best years of their lives. What kind of pride is involved in NOT wearing optical lenses if these lenses give you new treedoms?
