Taxpayers Ask Council To Oh Unpaved Village Roads

It was an open night for petitioners Monday evening when members of the village commission sat at the council table to hear complaints about a family of goats and requests from taxpayers asking that the dirt streets in Northville be paved.

First came petitions seeking oil for the streets of the village. Upon the recommendation of Mayor Arthur S. Nichols, an investigation was to be made of the project was authorized and the council will study the findings at the July 5 meeting.

"I feel something should be done about these people paying taxes on other streets," said Mayor Nichols.

The petitions carried the signatures of Frank W. Thompson, Clyde Dethloff, Thomas Ware, Louis Taylor, J. C. Palmer, Edna W. Painter, Nels King, F. M. Lambert, Mrs. G. Riley, Ross M. Village Merchants Join Sales Build-Up Program in Detroit

Plans are being made for participation by Northville business people in a nationwide crusade to revive business through intensive sales effort. Under the slogan, "Sales Makes Jobs," the Northville Civic Association will sponsor a dinner program early next week to launch the drive locally.

Thus Northville will follow the lead set by business executives determined to whip the current business depression and unmask it as a product of the imagination, not of politics or widespread inability to buy.

Eight Northville representatives participated in a luncheon meeting Tuesday night at the Detroit Masonic Temple. R. H. Amerman, Dr. D. A. Ertel, Tom Edmondson, V. R. Hassler, Catherine Lodge, Orlow G. Owen and Nelson Schrader were the guests of C. B. Turnbull and the Nash-Kelvinator Corporation. About 750 salesmen and businessmen attended the rally.

After the luncheon, speakers in the Detroit meeting and from a national meeting in Chicago urged every sales person and every business man to do his part in making sales and creating jobs so that the depression could be turned back. The Chicago speeches were brought in by radio telephone. Prominent business figures used "fighting talk" to spur the listeners.

The national salesmen's crusade began in Lincoln, Neb., five weeks ago and exceptional results were reported from a united effort to break down resistance to buying. Department stores, small businesses, and sales organizations felt an immediate response from buyers. George Mason, president of Nash-Kelvinator, or corporation himself took to the streets and called on prospects. Two direct sales of refrigerators resulted from his 10 calls.

As one speaker put it, "You can't make footprints on the sands of time sitting down," and businessmen were told to "ignore the elements that make conversation and arguments, such as politics, foreign affairs and taxes while concentrating on sales efforts. The salesman who sits around telling himself how poor business is was especially condemned."

Former Eastlawn Sanatorium Patients Return for One Day

By ROBERT LANG

It was one of those rare June afternoons, Sunday, June 19, and it made the Eastlawn Ex-patients Home-coming day a successful one in every respect. There were many reunions held under the trees as the old grads got together once more and talked over the good old times.

The Northville high school band, under the direction of Leslie G. Lee, and resplendent in new uniforms, opened the program with several fine numbers. They received a good round of applause from an audience of about 500 persons, not including the patients who listened over the sanatorium broadcasting system.

Daniel Disanti, tenor soloist from WMBC, accompanied at the piano by Alphonse Bonavia, sang two selections. Carey Dubs, five years old, who has sung over CKLW, sang four songs and danced his way into the hearts of the audience.

Then came Toby David, who is heard daily with Happy Joe Gentile over CKLW. Toby's impersonation in pantomime of a young lady arriving home from a dance-all tired out, brought the audience in an uproar of laughter. Toby's nephew, Fred Nabley, brought along his saxophone. His first offering was "Cavavav." He then impersonated on his sax many well known orchestras, allowing the audience to guess which was which. The audience guessed correctly, proving that Fred knows his stuff.

Homer Ely, a teacher of music from Illinois, and nephew of Mrs. Elizabeth Ely, a patient at Eastlawn, appeared twice on the program, singing four songs in all.

Dr. A. B. Wickham in a brief address welcomed the Ex-patients and visitors, telling them how happy an occasion it was for him.

Margaret Barthel, that talented young pianist, played by special request, her own arrangement of "Beautiful Blue Danube Waltz." Margaret played several encores and also appeared again later on the program with several fine selections.

Elaine Wiggins, eight years old, from Detroit, amazed the audience with her skillful playing of the piano accordion, which was almost as big as Elaine. When one considers that Elaine has been playing the ac-

TALKS TO SENIORS

Lee A. White

Last night, 49 members of the graduating class of the Northville high school heard Lee A. White, director of public relations of the Detroit News, give the commencement address. Yesterday, today and tomorrow.

FR. SCHULER SHOWS WAY OUT OF 'MESS'

"The world is pretty much messed up today in a so-called recession. We don't know where to look for leadership. Many of our former opinions have had to give way—it's a hard world to face by one just out of school," the Rev. Fr. Joseph G. Schuler told members of the senior class Sunday evening at the baccalaureate services held in the Presbyterian church house.

"But there is a way out, not a popular one, though," he encouraged as he went on to quote Leroy White of Cleveland, who makes a business of adjusting personal and commercial difficulties. It is White's opinion that no one need do anything without reward or pay. He found a way to serve God, humanity, nature and ourselves and get the best results.

Father Schuler gave White credit for saying that interference is causing our "messed up" condition and is the reason for unemployment. "It certainly isn't God's plan to have things this way. We try to forget him, thinking we are smarter," he says. Money is not an essential quality of success and successful living, points out White, who has found by a careful study of the life of Jesus Christ, that there are five rules for success: "Honesty—there are no short cuts in dealing with honesty; don't place one's interests first; daily conduct should be exemplary; do nothing to be ashamed of; never hold a grudge—be tolerant; consider yourself as only a caretaker of everything you possess."

"Go to some church—go to your church," were the concluding words of Father Schuler to the seniors who want to experience successful living.

The invocation was offered by the Rev. Rufus M. Traver of the Baptist church; Leslie G. Lee directed his school choir in two numbers; the benediction was spoken by the Rev. Harry J. Lord of the Methodist church. The Rev. Dr. T. W. Smith of the Presbyterian church was the presiding minister for the occasion.

VALEDICTORIAN PRAISES SCHOOL

Compares America with China

Margaret Nagy's valedictorian speech, given last night in the Penniman-Allen theatre at the commencement exercises, is slated below. Next week, the salutatorian's farewell written by Marie Becker will be printed in this column.

Parents and Friends:

The time of year has again come when all over our country commencement exercises are being held. We recognize past achievement and are grateful for the opportunities that have been ours. Truly we can say—America: the land where boys and girls have a real chance!

As I read and think of conditions in war-torn China today, my first thought is of the children. What does the future hold for thousands of helpless young Chinese—many of them homeless, friendless and suffering? Or for the little European whose country is shadowed by war clouds and who must be taught from early childhood to hate his neighbor and be militarized—how bright is the outlook for him when his very being is governed by a dictator?

What a different picture we have in America! You see it everyday on our own village streets. Mothers you have watched the little ones hand in hand as they joyfully romp to experience their first school days and it has made you forget your troubles and be glad that you are alive!

Believe everyone has heard the two forms you that when he "dets big" he's "doing to too." It gives me a little tingling sensation to see the delight of the child and happiness of a mother as she thinks of what an important part school days will play in the life of her child. She watches him go in perfect confidence knowing that he will be given an opportunity to make the best of his life without sacrificing his freedom. That alone is enough to make us glad we live in America—glad for the educational opportunities.

You see before you 49 young people who are thankful for these opportunities, thankful for school

Marburger's Long Standing with Ford Gets Recognition

H. G. Marburger, manager of the Northville Ford factory, who has been with the company since 1933, was among the four oldest executives who celebrated the thirty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the Ford Motor company, June 16, with Henry Ford.

The celebration was made in the characteristic Ford manner—with out furniture and pomp. After visiting the new $4,000,000 expansion program which is going forward at the Rouge, plant the four together with newspaper men and photographers, went to Ford's office where Ford gave out an interview to the press, posing for pictures at the request of the cameramen.

He told newspapermen that he was not worried about unionism in his plant—or outside for that matter. "It sort of looks as though the unions are having enough troubles within their own ranks to be bothering us," he commented.

Refusing to take a gloomy outlook on present business conditions, Ford is going ahead with plans for it is his "aim to build a better car at lower prices and raise wages so that everybody may own a car."

"Mr. Ford would not give a price on the new tractor he is making. He expects to have a chance to inspect an experimental job soon. He said the cost would depend entirely upon production. He believes that the future automobile will be made from farm products, giving the farmer new independence and economic security."

Besides Marburger, the three executives who accompanied Ford on this occasion were John P. Wanders, metallurgist who has been with Ford since 1902; Charles E. Sorenson, who has been with the company since 1903; and P. E. Martin, vice-president who has been with Ford since the company was incorporated.

Mr. Holt stresses the fact that any pupils of Miss Covert are welcome to attend the picnic.

COUNCIL MAKES BID FOR WPA FOR ROAD JOB

To Widen Drives in Rural Hill Cemetery If Okay Is Given Project

Councilmen voted Monday evening to apply for a $4,750 WPA project which, if granted, will provide for the widening of the driveway from the Rural Hill cemetery entrance to the bridge.

By making a 20-foot gravel track and building 10-foot shoulders cars can pass in the cemetery where now it is possible for only one car to go.

The project, as outlined by a member of the Wayne County Road commission, will ask that the sponsor (the village) be responsible for $755 of the amount of the cost, to be used to hire a driver, supply a truck and pay a superintendent for the enterprise. The government's share would be $4,025.80.

It is understood further, that if the project is accepted, the drive will be given a black topping after it has settled at no further cost to Northville.

Earl Montgomery, street commissioner, was named by Mayor Arthur S. Nichols to be superintendent of the proposed project. Mrs. P. R. Alexander, village clerk, is the sponsor's agent and Harold Bloom, village treasurer, is to be the fiscal agent.

NORTHVILLE SCOUTS BOAST 161 AWARDS AT COURT OF HONOR

Northville Boy Scouts took practically everything in sight in the way of awards when the Court of Honor was held Thursday, June 16, in Plymouth.

Richard Loomis' troops, N1, took 161 of the 316 awards which were distributed among the 11 troops in the district. Plymouth, Northville's closest competitor, took 80 Northville set a new district record.

It's Mr. Loomis' own enthusiasm for the work that keeps the boys working for awards, commented one Scout enthusiast who was present at the court to witness the presentations. Mr. Loomis, Harold White and Robert Power do merit badge work themselves, along with the Scouts.

Taking part in the court were Russell H. Amerman, Bob Willoughby, Charles Schoutz and the Rev. Dr. T. W. Smith.

Practically every Scout in the Northville troop was given an award. To the Hunter family went more than its share. With George, Frank and Bob taking several in recognition for the requirements they had met, J. Harry Bolton's troop commiteeman was given a five-year veteran award.

The troop was awarded the banner for the best citizen attendance. He also says that it will be up to the Northville members to be hosts to persons coming from out-of-town. Mrs. James N. Van Dyne is the general chairman.

Mr. Holt stresses the fact that any pupils of Miss Covert are welcome to attend the picnic.

● The Advertising Man Speaks

(By R. T. Baldwin)

At the request of the editor, Virgil R. Hassler, advertising manager of The Record, is filling our column this week. He "gets off his chest," some convictions that are worth passing on to our readers. Read and you will be interested.

● Advertising Makes Work

Reversing the present trend of American business, Chrysler Motors plan to increase their July operations rather than shut down for the month, so we are told in a news dispatch.

The largest factor in improving the Chrysler picture is the success of newspaper advertising of the Plymouth Roadking, a lower priced automobile. Changing just this year from an infrequent user of newspapers to one of the present leaders in the industry, Plymouth has demonstrated that advertising makes work. When others awaken to the advantages that await the advertiser, American business can throw off the pall that now envelops it.

● An Investment That Always Pays

Fair-dealing with one's fellow men costs nothing except the effort, but it remains the most precious investment an individual can make.

When a business firm follows this policy, the long-term returns are many-fold. One successful Northville firm has the policy of trading with local enterprise as much as possible. Recently it has made large expenditures for expansion and modernization, and in every possible instance has patronized local tradesmen and mechanics. The result has been the creation of good business here at home for their neighbors and fellow businessmen.

In the success of this firm through the years is a lesson for all who make their living in Northville. Fair dealing and regard for your neighbors will bring a reward that no one can take from you at death or by taxation.

● To Harry Marburger, Congratulations

When Henry Ford celebrated the thirty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the Ford Motor company last week, Harry G. Marburger stood with Mr. Ford and three others who have worked continuously in the building of this industrial empire. Only John F. Wards, metal-burgist, who joined Mr. Ford in 1902 has been associated with Mr. Ford longer than the Northville Ford plant manager.

Such a record as Mr. Marburger's implies much that is not carried in the story of this event. The confidence in the young engineer's ability, the courage to associate with a venture condemned by many as utterly foolish, the loyalty, ability and industry that kept Mr. Marburger with the Ford Motor company all these years are worthy of recognition.

Northville is honored to have one of the first actors in the Ford saga as its resident, and we join with all who congratulate Mr. Marburger for thirty-five years of faithful devotion to duty with Henry Ford and the Ford Motor company.

● The Business That Gets Away

That there are fish to be caught in Northville is proven by a statement that an average of eighty (80) parcels of merchandise are received daily by Northville patrons of two mail order houses. Eighty orders at an average of $3.00 each—a very low estimate—represents at least $250.00 worth of retail trade now getting away from local merchants—trade that any merchant can use in these times.

A fisherman who tells himself that there aren't any fish in the pond and refuses to put out a line won't get the fish. The mail order houses continue to mail larger catalogues to more people, advertising their merchandise. The articles are priced, described and pictured so well that people buy these rather than take chances with a local merchant who does not advertise his goods and services.

For lack of vision and cooperation among our local merchants a good portion of the Northville market is forced to trade elsewhere. Advertising and trade promotion will help win this business for Main and Center streets. Just what are you doing about it, Mr. Merchant?

● Americans Like Their Sport Heroes

When we read of the feat of the young graduate of New Jersey sandlot baseball who pitched his second successive no-hit game before a capacity crowd at Brooklyn last Wednesday night, we noted how much of the stock of drama went into the story.

First night game for Brooklyn, playing against Cincinnati where night baseball made its major league debut... full house... 500 hometowners in the stands to cheer the favorite son... Mom and Pop there too, Pop to see his first big league game... the girl he was going with also a witness... and the dramatic ninth inning when he lost control and walked three batters, only one out, and fame slipping out of his hands... the manager walks to the mound... the crowd cries, "don't take him out!"... Johnny Vander Meer faces the crisis, takes control of himself and wins out... the only man to pitch successive no-hit games in more than one hundred years of organized baseball.

We're glad that this sport hero could push politics, murder, kidnapping, crime and war from the front page. It is far better for us to "get worked up" about a new pitching sensation than to read of nothing but trouble as those who live abroad must do.

● Wandering Thoughts

The fruit crop may fail, but the crop of queens goes on forever.

Wonder how much dad had to pay for all those things he got on Father's day?

The Texas state treasurer is something like 52 inches tall. Isn't it bad for a treasurer to be short?

Someone has defined marriage as the act of giving away half of your groceries to get the other half cooked. Or as amended by Dyspeptic Don, "to get them all half-cooked."

How the President's popularity has fallen. Last year the Romeo Peach Festival queen was sent to the White House with a basket of peaches for FDR. This year, hearing that he might be in Michigan for a bridge dedication, the Festival association bids him appear at Romeo Labor Day. So he has to come and get the peaches himself in 1938.

NORTHVILLE'S YESTERDAYS

1 YEAR AGO

John Fritz received the first award given Thursday evening, June 23, at the commencement exercises of the Northville High School. The award was presented by Mrs. H. S. Wilson, president of the Northville Women's Club, in recognition of the excellent sewing she did on her graduation dress.

The tax rate for the Village of Northville has been set at $18.82, according to Charles L. Blackburn, assessor, who submitted his books Monday evening, June 21, for the inspection of the commissioners.

Some $700 was on the fair of trousers which was taken early Tuesday morning from the Donald C. Maclean home, 616 Fairbrook avenue.

10 YEARS AGO

When the big balloons rise from the Ford airport at Dearborn, Saturday afternoon in the international balloon race for the Gordon Bennett cup, William Naylor, chief engineer of the Sunbeam corporation of Northville, will guide the entry that represents the United States.

Scott A. Lovell is the new president of the Exchange club.

Detective Sergeant Ray R. Lockwood, son of Edmund W. Lockwood of this place, died Wednesday, June 23, in Receiving hospital, following a two-week illness.

Mrs. Martha I. Horton, daughter of C. R. Horton, left Monday night for a trip of two months through Europe. She is in the same party that Mrs. Margaret Murdock is with.

15 YEARS AGO

The citizens of Northville are urged to decorate their places of business and their residences all next week, in celebration of "Made in Northville week" and the Fourth of July.

Many Northville homes are being connected with the new sewer system.

Northville's heat term was broken during Monday night. For several days the heat was very intense, though out here where everybody has so much room to breathe, no one was overcome.

T. G. Richardson, Dr. E. B. Cavell and D. P. Yerkes, Jr., are building new residences.

20 YEARS AGO

As usual, and as was to be expected, Northville goes "over the top" in its $40,000 War Savings Stamp sale. The sale was under the efficient management of Jerry Lapham and with a sales force of 20, there was pledged about $32,000 of the amount taken up Monday night.

One year ago last Wednesday, June 26, the first division of American troops landed in France.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tibble are the parents of a daughter, born June 24.

Among the marriage licenses published this week appear the names of Don Van Atta, Northville and Arlos I. Finn, Plymouth.

As Mrs. Floyd Northrop was driving along Carly street Sunday morning on her way to the Presbyterian church her horse became frightened by the giving way of some part of the harness and became unmanageable. Finally running away, Mrs. Northrop was thrown from the buggy as it struck a pole on the turn from Chas. to Church streets but by what those who saw the accident consider almost a miracle, escaped serious injury.

30 YEARS AGO

For some reason the water works reservoir is unusually low, for this time of year, and in case of a big fire Northville would be without proper fire protection in short order.

George Rattenbury's bay horse, Oberon, was among the winners at the Iowa race meeting last week.

A bunch of Northville "sportsmen" started in a big hack wagon for Union Lake on a fishing expedition a few days ago but there was too big a load on for the horses and the (the horses) laid down at Walley Lake and refused to go farther during the hot spell. Ebbitt, Hammon, Johnson, Gilbert, Quid, Northrop, Ambler, Montross, Henry, Schrader and Simmons were in the group.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Hadcock, June 20, a son.

A new iron and cement bridge is being built over the river near Rural Hill cemetery.

● WHAT OTHER Michigan Editors ARE SAYING ●

SENATOR COPPELAND (New York Times)

Senator Royal S. Copeland, who died suddenly Friday night, was known in Northville, having visited here a number of times at the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Thad J. Knapp.

An extraordinary career has been brought to a close through the death of Royal S. Copeland. With no previous experience in politics, he was elected to the United States Senate on the occasion of his first candidacy for public office.

With no legislation of outstanding importance that bears his name, he was twice elected to the Senate. With the Democratic machine of New York County his chief sponsor in public life, he was nevertheless an amazing collector of votes up-State, on one occasion (1928) leading his ticket in the size of his majority. His unsuccessful attempt to win the Democratic nomination for Mayor of this city a year ago was an anticlimax to a political career that had previously been marked by an unbroken series of successes.

It was Mr. Copeland's lot never to be an ally of the Government in power. First elected to the Senate in 1922, he came into that assembly in the heyday of Republican triumph following the first post-war reaction. He served through the Twenties under three Republican

FATHER
Because Father's Day follows closely after his birthday, June 15, our father is especially close in memory. Six years have passed since he left us, yet even now when problems get too thick we have the urge to take them to Father. He always understood. Father always felt sure that "things would come out right after awhile." Eighty-six years of experience — joys and sorrows, want and well, just enough — had taught him that the world was not going to pieces. Even now we can hear him sing with cheerful vigor: "What if the clouds one little moment Hide the blue sky when morn appears."

When the bright sun that tints them crimson —
Rises to shine a thousand years —
As a boy of 17 years he had shouldered a musket and had gone forth to help preserve the Union. Throughout the years since he had watched his country in the throes of other crises. With the churning ranks of the G. A. R. he had marched with his companions with head erect, patriotic and confident. Most vivid in our memory is the picture of our father standing with the "boys in blue" while the sun shined down through the trees upon his fine, hoary head as he led the Memorial Day exercises.

Guests Sunday and over the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Dowling were Mr. and Mrs. Steven King and family of Owosso, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hewitt of Grosse Pointe, Mr. and Mrs. Wellington Duguid and daughter, Rose Mary of Detroit, and Mr. and Mrs. R. Edmond Dowling.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Hunt, 642 North Center street, were hosts Friday evening in their home to The More Light club of Detroit. A musical program was the entertainment of the evening, after which refreshments were served to 18 guests, including the guest of honor, Miss Ruth Warren of Boston, Mass.

Donald and Bob Bray, who have been attending the Western State Teachers' college at Kalama, Mo., returned home to spend the summer with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Starr Bray, Kenneth Porter and Spencer Van Valkenburg, who also attended the college at Kalama, plan to attend the summer session.

Mr. and Mrs. William Duguid and Ben Stewart were visiting Sunday in East Lansing where the Boys' Welfare State is in session. Ben Duguid is a member of the group which will be there for ten days.

The Duguids report that the boys are well housed and all apparently having a grand time. An entertainment was given Sunday afternoon, the occasion was parents' and sponsors' day. About 30 of the members of the Wolverine State organized a band Saturday. They played selections Sunday at intervals during the program. They played very well, just as if they were all members of one band that had been organized for months. After each piece, they got great ovations from the large audience," comments Mr. Duguid.

Morley L. Langton

"Red" Langton, veteran Taystee Bread salesman, will be proud to tell his wife and two children to-night about his success in qualifying for the Gold Star award. He lives at 12395 Turner. The Gold Star is given to such Taystee route men as display the highest efficiency and skill in the conduct of their routes. In his ten years as a Taystee salesman, Red has won numerous other rewards for safe driving. His present route covers a lot of territory, including Plymouth, Northville, South Lyon, Whitmore, Pinckney and Dexter. Off duty, Red is a great reader and a devoted baseball fan.

Red attributes the wide popularity of Taystee Bread to the fact that air-conditioned baking seals in the freshness and flavor of Taystee Bread, greatly improving the quality.

YOU can have a lot of trouble if you run out of oil. Burned-out bearings for instance, or scuffed pistons, or maybe even a cylinder rebore job.

That's why we Shell dealers are making you this proposition: If we don't check your oil when you drive into our station—and you catch us up on it—we'll bring your oil level up to the full mark free.

What's more, we'll put in Golden Shell Oil—the oil that's especially made to reduce the wear of stop-and-go driving. Because it's fast-flowing, this oil leaps to every moving engine part the instant you step on the starter. And it's tough, too, so that it won't break down under the heat of steady running. In fact—

There's no finer oil at any price than Golden Shell.

The Orange and Black

COUNCIL VOTES TO AID O. & B. STAFF

Beginning Course Offered in Journalism for Next Year

By LOUISE ALEXANDER
The Orange and Black staff next year has some new plans which we thought ought to be passed on to all our faithful (we hope) readers. In the first place, the student council voted to give half the profits made on the Palladium to the journalists to use as they see fit. So that will mean that next year we will be able to offer you a little more variety on your school page. In other words, we'll be able to rub pictures of our athletic heroes as well as all mental geniuses, etc., that happen along. The staff would like to thank the council here for its generosity.

So far, no plans have been made for a class period for the staff of writers, but a fine course in beginning journalism will be offered for the students who would like to learn the fine points before they attempt to break into print. This class would be very beneficial for the freshman and sophomores, especially to take in order to insure a high standard of journalism and make things easier for the editors in the years which will roll out in spite of anything we can do.

Leslie G. Lee will again act in capacity of adviser for the staff next year.

Editor-in-chief Peggy Walker and Sub-editor Gwen Jones. They did a fine piece of work and the editors next year will have something to try to equal.

VACATION PLANS FILL STUDENTS' TIME

Another school year has almost rolled past, and once again to many of us it means goodbye forever to the old brick building where we spent the happiest days of our life.

Now that exams and graduating exercises have drawn to a close, we commence to think of the warm summer months before us. To some it means one long glorious time for play, others work, some travel, summer school, a trip to Aunt Martha's on the farm or still to others it means a time to relax and forget there ever was such a thing as work.

To Superintendent R. H. Armstrong and his family, means the first vacation in five years. Mr. Armstrong with his family will spend several weeks seeing the beautiful sights and scenery of the West. Claude Hinchman, who is one of our 38 grads, also plans to go out West. He mentioned California in particular. We wonder if he is going to try and "crash the gates" Good luck anyway, Buck.

The city lights of New York will be beckoning Keene Bolton for a week escorted by his parents. Betty Greer will journey to Chicago about July 8, by train, where she will meet relatives and with them spend two or three weeks motoring through several states bordering the Mississippi river.

Don Armstrong and Jack McCrumb will spend a week out West — that's if the old "Star" will get them there. The West also is calling Jean Cole, who with her family will spend several weeks there. Leslie G. Lee will attend the Christiansen choral at Chawbersburg, Pa., from July 31-Aug. 12. It is under the direction of Chris Johnson, director of the St. Olaf choir. Betty Schrader and Jack Holcomb may both be found enjoying the winds of Northern Canada later in the summer.

NEW MEMBERS IN N. H. S. DRAMA CLUB

The N. H. S. Dramatic club held its last meeting of the year this week. Present were the new members who will take over the organization from the graduating seniors. The new members elected Louise Alexander, president; Helen Harper, secretary-treasurer; and Charles Altman, advertising manager. The rest of the club includes Jeanne Atchison, Jane Van Atta, Marie Angove, Dick Ambler, Janet Stewart, Cornelia Spots, Rose Bruns, Dorothy Heaton, Julie Modos and Jack McCrumb.

Editor's Note

With a little sentimentality sprouting in our gray matter, or wherever sentimentality sprouts, we realize that this is actually the last time we shall be writing as "editor of the Orange and Black." It's not an entirely pleasant thought, "cause it's been fun being up on a pinnacle, looking at the rest of you students — even if we only imagined we were up there. It wouldn't have been so much fun if it hadn't been for the cooperation of the other editors and staff members. Thanks! We know it hasn't always been the thing you most wanted to do — sit and listen to your editor blowing off about copy not being in on time, or stories not written right, but we haven't heard an overdose of complaining and — for our part at least — we've liked it.

We're not sure we know exactly how to thank the person who has done the most for this year's Orange and Black — the person who sat back and smiled knowingly at our burst of humor and impudence — he who has all year given us sound little bits of advice and praise — our advisor, Leslie G. Lee. To him we extend our feeble thanks for all the help he has so ungrudgingly given us this past year, and sincerely hope that he has gotten as much enjoyment out of our association as we have.

Your departing editor wishes to announce that, hitherto and henceforward, Miss Louise Alexander will be the Orange and Black staff. The editorship of our school page was officially been turned over to her for next year and we wish her all the luck in the world!

And so — we take leave of you all with these famous last words — "you asked for it!"

Notes

These notes were found around the school and carry the messages of its dear inmates. The first two were found on the floor of the chemistry room and read as follows:

Dear Editor:
Can you understand what this stuff is all about? I can't either. Wow! that's a flashy tie he has on today. What a color combination. Looks like a bed dream.

What did you do last night? I just hung around home all eve. Why didn't ya come down? Let's do sumpin' tonight, huh?

Your loving Proton.

Dear Proton:
I couldn't come down last night 'cause I had to study. Why don't you come up tonight? My folks will be away and we'll raise the roof!

Next our attention is turned to a note in the scrawly writing and stilted manner of a would-be Romeo Dear Margerie:

I know it's kind of early to be asking you but are you going to that dance the twenty-second? If you aren't already invited, I would like to have the pleasure of escorting you myself. I'm awaiting your verdict.

And then there is the opposite type:
Hi Toots!
How about shagging to the next dance with me? Well truck on down and swiz-a Swing it, sister!

The answers to these would probably read thus:
I would be delighted to go to the dance with you. What time shall I expect you?

And to "Len":
O K. Keed. See ya at 9:30.
This note found at election time portrays ardent admiration for a certain candidate.

Hi Mary (not slug)
I am almost worn out, been writing manuscripts to poor sick Jean and I got writer's cramp or something.

I've been sounding people out and so far Don is in the lead. Thank goodness! Keep your fingers crossed though and etc.

Gee, I've been writing so long. I thought sure it must be time for the bell. I looked up and darn we've still got 15 whole minutes left! Oh hum! I'm so tired I could fall asleep right here, have to prop my eyes open, I guess.

Well, lamble pie, before I try that, I'll just let em close. Maybe.

Bye, Betty

Oh! Oh! Oh! What a test! I've got writer's cramp and I chewed off all my finger nails. I feel like the last of the Mohicans. Why can't teachers ask me something I know? I'll probably get a Z on the crazy thing. Guess I'll drown my sorrows in a soda after school. Wants come?

Maybe the funniest of all is that of the love. "Only a puppy love, lover, I'll admit, but it will do (speech class)

Dearest Marie:
Gosh how I miss you. Why didn't you take speech too? Then we'd at least be in the same class but as you leave me speechless, that might not be so good.

Did I ever tell you how beautiful you are? I guess I did. Ya know, I don't see how anyone like you

ATHLETIC PROSPECTS FOR 1938-'39 SEASON LOOK PROMISING

Sports Editor Predicts Good Year for Major Sports

By TOM MARTINO
In the last issue of The Orange and Black I am going to list the prospects for the football and basketball squads for 1938. Considering last year's football squad and the one game they won from Van Dyke they did very well. Although they will lose some valuable men through graduation, I still firmly believe they will give each opposing team a hard and strenuous battle. The boys lost by graduation are Boelens, Bishop, Alcea, Lester, Hinchman, Card and Mitchell.

This year's team will have some better winners back from last year and also a host of boys that are out for football for the first time; they are as follows: Deane, Ludwig, Johnson, Hartner, Lester, S. Brubaker, Larkins, Holcomb, Lyke, Finkle, Narshaw, Baughman, Holt, Parker, Hardesty, Lee Roy, Van Atta, K. Martins, Rembomski, Porter, Ambler, Bray B. Schoutz, Foreman, White, Strenick, L. Bogart, Egarhart, McCuskie, Norton, C. Myers, J. Reed, La Rue, Ross, Anderson, Boyden, McArthur, Widmer, Beasley, Coe, Fritz, Bongovaini and Captain Walter Myers. From this group of boys, Coach Smith ought to round up a very capable team.

With this large turn out the spirit of football is going to really tingle in the air.

The basketball team will probably again go toward the "Suburban League" title this year and part of next year; only with a greater fury. Northville has six letter winners back from last year and with great improvement in the second team, Northville should be well prepared in basketball for this coming season.

The six letter men back from last year are: Ben Duguid, Walter Myers, Len Fritz, Jack McCrumb, Dick Larkin and Cecil Ninder. All with the possible exception of Ninder they will be back in there! Cord as you know broke his foot and whether or not he is back in condition by that time is a big question.

SENIOR BIDS FOND FAREWELL TO N. H. S.
By MARY-GEORGE
I never spoke that word farewell but with an utterance faint and broken, a heart's yearning for the time when it should never more be spoken — Caroline Bgwels.

There is something about a goodbye that brings a little catch to your voice and mist to your eyes. There will be 49 goodbyes said to N. H. S. next week and everyone of them that will be said will cause a sudden little feeling of loneliness and a quick little beat of the heart.

Some of those who are leaving the sheltering walls of the brick school house on Main street may strive to cover their emotions with an air of bravado but underneath, they will realize, at last, exactly what the old place has meant to them. Everyone of the graduates will remember the years to come, the many happy hours spent at dear old N. H. S.

There will be a few, perhaps, who will come back to see their alma mater but never again will they recapture the joys of belonging to it. The goodbyes will close a chapter in

L. ALEXANDER WINS TOURNAMENT
Louise Alexander won the Northville high school girls' tennis championship last Tuesday, when she defeated Peg Walker in three games, 6-0, 6-4, 6-2. Louise won over Leona Mae White in her first game and then Gwen Jones was her next victim before she played Peg in the finals.

Marvin Schoutz is at present at the top of the boys' tennis tournament. Mary defeated Jack McCrumb, Ben Duguid and Ed Reid. In the horseshoe tournament, Margaret Van Hellemont won over Mary Frances Batt after Mary Frances defeated Patricia Klein. Margaret defeated Phyllis Hagemeister in her first game.

could exist: you're so sweet and kind and everything. Boy, you've got "IT."

Have to say goodbye soon, sweetheart here comes the Warden Love.

Here is a note of the "morning after the night before" type.
Oh, did we have fun! First we went on the roller-coaster to start things off with a bang. Then we went in and danced. The orchestra was swell and played all my favorite songs. Gee was the drummer cute! During intermission we went out and went on the speed boat. Then he dragged me onto that House of Horror where I got a run in my stocking. Darn! We went back and danced some more and then came home. Mom was kinda mad 'cause I got home at 2:30 but gosh! what does she think I am. People don't get in at 12 any more. Time for the bell so — goo bye.

Rest is not idleness, and to lie sometimes on the grass under the trees on a summer's day, listening to the murmur of the water, or watching the clouds float across the blue sky, is by no means a waste of time.

Bar Mr. Sun's torrid rays from your home this summer and you'll have a cooler, more comfortable, healthier house. Awnings lend a striking note of smartness to any home — and they'll do so much to make you enjoy the hot weather.

Country Correspondent's Uncle, Aged 102, Heads Walled Lake News Column This Week

By C. E. HUTTON

WALLED LAKE — Not every country correspondent can, in an off-hand, nonchalant sort of way refer to his or her one hundred and two year old great uncle who lives in Ithaca, N. Y. If they could, I'm sure they would, and so will I.

Because I actually have a one hundred and two year old great uncle, living in Ithaca, N. Y. He is my mother's uncle, and is the last of three brothers. My grandfather was past 80 when he died, and my other great uncle was 96 at the time of his death.

Uncle Lou, who is now well into his second hundred years, was born in Wheeland, Monroe county, N. Y., June 15, 1836. I imagine! As a young man, he moved with his family to Benton, Mich., where he became a carpenter and organ maker. A veteran of the Civil War, he enlisted in 1861, serving four years with the Army of the Cumberland, 13th N. Y. Infantry, and fought most of the time in Georgia and Alabama. He lived in Detroit a number of years following the war.

When he was 56 (after the death of his wife), he decided to return to his native state of New York and buy a farm. I figured, I suppose, that he was getting too old to work steady, and that a little 80 acre plot of ground would be just about right on which to spend the remainder of his days.

But he somehow changed his mind and eventually located at Ithaca, where he has remained. He is the oldest Oddfellow in the State, and to celebrate his hundred birthday, the lodge down there put on a celebration. The State lodge officers were there, as were many of the State executives, including the Governor. Several Detroit Oddfellows attended.

Last Sunday a number of his friends and relatives honored him again on the occasion of his one hundred and second year. According to Ithaca papers, he was as spry as ever, and entertained his guests with snappy jokes and plenty of laughter. We, mother, my wife and Jessie, my cousin, stopped in to see through his town. He met us on the steps of his home, attired in natty tweeds, a fifty-top coat and a collar and tie. He was as spry as all get out. Before I got too old, I want to run down there and visit him again, sometime.

Announcement has been received by friends of Miss Bernice Lawrence, former member of the Walled Lake school faculty, of her marriage, June 17, to Edmund Summers of Detroit. The ceremony took place Friday evening at 7:30, at St. Bartholomew rectory, Detroit, before relatives of the bride and groom.

Mrs. Summers is the daughter of George P. Lawrence of Detroit. She resigned her teaching position here a month ago, terminating a ten-year connection with the local school.

The annual vacation Bible school began at the Baptist church Monday morning, and will continue for two weeks, under the general supervision of the Rev. William Huxley. The daily sessions are held from 9 to 11:30 a. m., and consist of Bible study, drills, music, recreational activities, handwork and other projects. The school is divided into three departments, for beginners, primary and juniors. Superintendents are Miss Dorothy Colstock and Miss Roberta Shepard. The school is open to children of the community.

The Rev. Frank N. Miner will report a local church membership of 123, when he attends the annual Methodist Conference at Highland Park this week. Thirty new members were received during the past year, while 17 were removed from the rolls because of change of residence, death or by order of the Conference.

An extensive program of activities has been carried on during Mr. Miner's first year here. They include a teachers' training school monthly forum meetings, special community suppers of social and financial value, and extensive improvements in the church property.

Mrs. Frank Miner is supervising a two weeks church vacation school as sponsored by the Protestant churches. (Continued on page 8)

... the new 1938-model electric ranges

Beauty of design features the 1938 electric ranges! Smooth lines and gleaming surfaces, rounded corners and bright chrome trimmings make these attractive new cabinet ranges truly distinctive in appearance. There's a practical reason, too, for these polished surfaces: Cleaning the range becomes vastly simplified. There are no nooks or crannies where dust can collect, no cracks and crevices and hard-to-reach corners to gather dirt. The range need only be wiped with a damp cloth.

You will like other features, too—the ease with which you can keep your entire kitchen bright and sparkling. Your walls and curtains will remain fresh for a much longer period of time, with less frequent redecorating. Pure heat from a glowing wire — heat as clean as sunlight — keeps cooking vessels as bright as the first time you used them. They require practically no scouring.

Your family will be enthusiastic about the deliciously different flavor of electric cooking — the natural flavor of meats and vegetables cooked to melting tenderness in their own juices. You will like the waterless method of cooking, with precious minerals and important food values SEALED IN. And you will enjoy the convenience of an electric range... the extra leisure it brings, the hours of freedom away from the kitchen. An electric range is a big time-saver — of your time! Stop in at your dealer's and see the new electric ranges today.

See the new electric ranges on display at department stores, electrical dealers or at your Detroit Edison office.

Sunshine Special

Guests Are Warned Not To Forget Time

Some 50 boys will be the guests Tuesday, June 28, of the Exchange club at the time of the annual Sunshine Special outing to Edgewater Park.

"School will be out by that time, and we're afraid the boys will forget to be at the Methodist church at noon, during the day of the outing," says Exchange G. V. Harrison, who wants the parents to keep the day and hour in mind and see that their sons get to the church on time. The Exchange will supply the transportation for their guests.

All Departments Take Part Sunday in Church Program

The progress of man-made light was portrayed by Philip Baldwin, Lura Bolton, Dale Gray, Marjorie Edmondson, Grace Angell, Doris Schrope and Merle Fraser. The dedication of life and knowledge was made by Dorothy Steininger and Betty Green. The Rev. Harry J. Lord brought the Bible and interpreted its message of light. The choir assisted the pageant presentation.

Music was sung by the junior choir at both services. Children were baptized and the preparatory class was received into full membership.

TO GIVE DEMONSTRATION

A demonstration of the effectiveness of home insulation for all seasons will be made by a factory representative of the Zonolite corporation in the building next to Schrader's, furniture store at 2:30 p. m. Saturday, June 25. Free exhibits and literature will accompany the demonstration, sponsored jointly by the Novels Lumber company and the Northville Milling and Lumber company.

TO HOLD CONWAY RITES

TODAY IN DETROIT CHAPEL

Death claimed Mrs. Thomas Conway (Angie Fowler) nee Smith, Tuesday, June 21, at her home, 53 Chicago boulevard, and last rites will be held for her this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the William R. Hamilton chapel, Cass avenue at Alexander.

Mrs. Conway had just recently completed the remodeling of her home on West Dunlap street, and was making plans to return to Northville to live.

OBITUARY

Charlotte B. Rusk

Last rites were held from the Schrader chapel Sunday for Charlotte B. Rusk who died Saturday, June 18, at the Maybury sanatorium. Cremation was made Monday at the White chapel. Reader Holworth of Plymouth conducted the service.

Surviving Mrs. Rusk are her husband William, two children and one brother.

She taught in the Shilwagon school in Detroit for five years. She was born in Lansing 37 years ago, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Brownson.

NOVI NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. George Mairs are the parents of a daughter, Suzanne Grace, born June 16.

The Rev. Lynn Leavenworth, a former resident of Novi, now a student at Redland University, Calif., will fill the Baptist church pulpit Sunday morning.

MRS. RUTH STAGE TURNS EFFORTS FROM BOOKS TO MAKING PIES

With the closing of school, the versatile Mrs. Ruth Stage turns her attention from teaching the multiplication table to making pies. Down in the little cottage on East Cady street, five little Stages watch their ambitious mother roll out pie crust for all kinds of pies to be sold.

And such pies! One business man sneaked his lips and declares he never ate better since he was a boy at home. Several of the local grocers will have these pies on sale.

Among them the EMC store and the Northville Food market.

Down near the main entrance to Cass Benton park, Mrs. Stage has set up a stand where hungry folks who come out for picnics may purchase pies fresh from the oven. She is specializing in those small individual pies that may be eaten without bothering with forks.

Northville friends wish the plucky mother success in her enterprise.

CARLSON, MCKEAGUE GET GIFTS FROM CUBS

"Life," says Arthur C. Carlson, has taken on a greater meaning as he received a leather belt and an engraved buckle from the members of his Cub Scout troop. The presentation was made at the picnic held last Friday evening for the Cubs by the Rotary club in Cass Benton Park. Mr. Carlson expressed his belief that he was getting a great deal more out of life since he had taken over the group of Northville Boys.

Saturday evening the Cubs presented their assistant leader with a Father's Day cake. Blake Coase and Robert Isaacson acted as a committee representing the Cubs in making the presentation. It is rumored that this presentation was not made at the picnic as the boys might have eaten it all up before Mr. McKague was able to get it home.

The Northville Cubs baseball team came out on the short end of the game played Saturday at the fair grounds dropping the game to the Plymouth Cubs 25 to 17.

or Monroe. The enrollment there is 250, with a staff of 30 teachers. The classes are held in the Monroe Methodist church and one of the elementary grade schools.

JULY FOURTH PLANS ARE NEAR COMPLETION

An old-fashioned 4th of July program has been arranged for the Northville fair grounds, according to plans revealed this week by members of the Fair board.

Three harness races, each for a purse of $100 will highlight the afternoon program, while eight acts of vaudeville and fire-works will be events of the evening.

Baseball will share the attention Monday afternoon, July 4, when a game is scheduled between the Northville Cubs and the Plymouth Cubs.

The program opens with a contest open to 2-29 pacers and 2-25 trotters. This second race will be the 22 pace and 18-trot, and the event will close with a free for all trotters or pacers.
