Saturday Is Capacity Grandstand Day at Fair Which Draws Thousands

Frank Hunter Narrowly Escapes Fatal Accident as He Swings on Ferris Wheel Cable Saturday Night

The Northville Wayne County Fair board closed the gates Saturday night on the twenty-second fair, which President Elmer E. Smith believes will come close to the record of 1937. The fair has been a success in every way, and the attendance record, which was set Saturday night, was the biggest day in the grandstand, with Saturday and Thursday vying for general attendance honors for the four-day exposition.

As the fair drew to a climax Saturday evening, an accident occurred on the midway following the rain, which created a great deal of confusion until the extent of the mishap was learned. Frank Hunter, who was riding on the Ferris wheel, was thrown off the wheel shortly after 10 o'clock and as he shifted from one foot to the other on the rain soaked ground he grabbed hold of one of the cables for support. But once he took hold, he found that he could not release his hand. His cries for help caused the man in charge of the wheel to shut off the electricity. When this happened, Frank was knocked to the ground. Chief of Police Loyd M. German rushed the unconscious Frank to Sessions hospital where he was treated and later released to go home. Frank was a frightened boy and Chief German says, "I never was so scared."

Dr. speaking of handling the crowds and checking on the concessions Mr. German says, "The county sheriff and the State troopers certainly gave us splendid cooperation. They lessened our load to a great extent."

Schrader-Haggerty Wins Tourney

In the baseball tournament, the first day's game between the Schrader-Haggerty and Plymouth teams, went to the Schrader-Haggerty players 7-3. Friday's game saw the Garden City team defeat the Northville Merchants 6-5. In the championship game Saturday afternoon, the Schrader-Haggerty team took the game from Garden City 3-2. The umpires were Gray and Hunter. Batteries for Northville were Moore, Dennis and Scheffler, Garden City, Hill, Sonnenberg, Fowler, Scott and Gotro. Schrader-Haggerty, Dehazy and H. Williams.

Two of the three cars given away by the fair board this year stayed in Northville. One, went to Mrs. Fred Balke and one to Fred Wick. Mrs. H. J. Segnitz of Walled Lake was given the car awarded the first day.

A great display of farm implements greeted the visitor at the main gate and deepened the impression of a real county fair. According to Bill Fornay, there were 126 separate pieces of farm machinery in the displays of five dealers.

A reception Sunday evening in the ballroom of the hotel is the first gathering. Monday's discussions will be conducted by growers and specialists from Rocky River, O., Pennsylvania State College, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., and Saginaw.

Exchangites Hear Report on Booth at Fairgrounds

A report on the service rendered mothers and infants by the club's courtesy tent during the Northville fair was heard by Exchange members at their regular meeting Wednesday noon in the Methodist church house.

RELIEF FUND TERMINATION IS FELT HERE

Three Federal Projects Do Not Absorb All-Needing Welfare

Concern over the direct relief for 6,500 families in the outcounty communities which was terminated Monday is felt in Northville, where despite three federal projects which are under construction, some villages remain dependent upon funds from the Wayne County Emergency Relief Commission.

Following conferences Tuesday and Wednesday in Lansing, relief for the outcounty communities seems remote in the opinion of William J. Norton, chairman of the State Emergency Relief commission, and G. R. Harris, county welfare administrator who report that the State has only $100,000 left for emergency allocations for relief and that it will be distributed only to communities in extreme need.

According to Harris 17 townships and 10 cities, villages and towns in Wayne county outside Detroit will be placed on a program that will provide only food supplied by the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation.

At the present time State officials are preparing a report for Gov. Murphy which is expected to confirm previous estimates that $10,000,000 will be needed for relief in the coming six months.

Northville merchants, along with hundreds of others throughout the county, have honored, without reluctance in full to date, orders for supplies for persons who are dependent upon relief.

MORE MEN GO TO WORK

Optimism and a feeling of confidence that fall will bring better business conditions prevailed throughout the village this week when it became known that a part of another shift had been called back to work at the Ford Motor plant. A day and night shift are now working on production of valves for the new models.

REPORTER RAMBLES AROUND FAIR

'Twas a Good Show, But Where Was the Fat Woman?

By V. R. H.
Congratulations to Mrs. H. J. (Ford) Segnitz, Mrs. Fred (Chevrolet) Balke and Fred (Plymouth) Wick. "Darnit, why couldn't we have been in one of their shoes."

Harry Robinson took the grandstand raspberries well following the final harness heat Saturday. Mrs. Orlow G. Owen and Andrea are a charming mother and daughter pair. . . .

Before the car event Thursday, several mothers and children lounged on the grass, shaded by the grandstand at the East end. Exchange club provided a tent for the comfort of mothers and children. . . .

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Couse were interested spectators at the fair. The needlepoint art pieces in the Maybury exhibit were surprisingly beautiful. We can't vote for the quality of the midway dogs - never are one. . . .

D. J. Stark, in charge of the Main building, was with the job serving exhibitors long after the big show was over. The Eloise vegetable display was taken to the Methodist Children's home by Russell Steinger and W. F. Clark. Did the midway have a fat woman? We saw a man who looked like a fugitive from a side show. We have heard many compliments on the fair. . . . and personally, it was a good show.

Northville Horse Show Takes Its Place Among Outstanding Classes Held in Middle West

Marked by the presentation of a new challenge trophy, additional classes, filled spectators' boxes and a large number of entries from outstanding stables, the twenty-second Northville Horse Show took its place this year among the leading shows in the Middle West for hunter as well as for event classes.

Miss Evelyn, Grennan's green hunter, bought this spring in Virginia, repeated their Lexington, Ky. racing by taking blue and red ribbons in practically every event entered. To the Grennan stable and Grand Fungus goes the grand champion hunter title. For the first time in years, Miss Evelyn did not ride. A fall three weeks ago kept her from entering the ring. Her horses were ridden this year by Capey Rogers, the manager of her stable.

Win Red and Blue Ribbons

Grennan hunters took first three places in the green hunters, first in the light weight hunters, third in the hunters' under saddle, second and third in the open jump, first and fourth in the thoroughbred hunters, third and fourth in the middle and heavyweight hunters, fourth in the heavy stakes, second and fourth in the hunter's stakes and third in the soured class.

Arthur S. Hatch's Spillunder was judged the grand champion of the five-gaited class, placing John Fritz's Silver Peacock in the reserve championship classification. Robert H. Skilman's Chief Guide is the three-gaited grand champion, and Fritz's Michael's Pride is the reserve. Miss Betty Cuzens Repulsion is the reserve champion in the hunter division.

Kathryn Takes Trophy

Miss Kathryn Marburger and Princess K took the Hotel Mayflower challenge trophy from Marilyn Finney and Mountain Fashion in Friday afternoon's three-gaited saddle event. Mrs. R. Edmund Dowling, assistant secretary of the show, made the presentation. The Duchess of Wulfin, a Euran and Jane Bagesant, repeated its winning performance of last year to take for a second time the Detroit Horse Show Association's challenge trophy, presented by the organization president, James Vnor.

His successful management of the House of Correction which has been considered America's model prison, and broad experience in penal work are pointed out as qualifications of the office Capt. Denniston seeks. Originally put into the race by his friends, Mr. Denniston is now active in the work of winning the nomination.

Campaign headquarters are at 1364 Cass avenue Detroit.

BOGART, LEAVENWORTH TOUR 4,000 MILES

In a trip suggestive of Edward Hughes' round-the-world flight, Ralph Bogart and Jay Leavenworth covered close to four thousand miles in five and a half days last week. A vacation sight-seeing and a visit to a former Northville youth were the objectives of the trip, made through southwestern states.

Leaving Northville Sunday afternoon Aug. 14 the pair headed for Mammoth Cave in Kentucky via a long detour in Indiana. They tried to sleep enroute just off the highway in Indiana and Missouri, failing there they went on to the first gas station where they found a place to sleep. Both boys received deer coats of tan on the trip. The claim was that the deer coat speed is 60 miles an hour.

REGISTRATION DAYS ARE SET BY AMERMAN

Length of School Year Depends on Amount of State Cut

Not knowing how much of a cut on the matter of funds from the State the schools will have to take this year, Superintendent R. H. Amerman optimistically announced this week that Thursday and Friday, Sept. 1 and 2, are the dates for junior and senior high school registration.

The uncertainty of State funds makes it impossible to plan ahead. If there is to be a 40 per cent cut as some persons have announced, we can't run a whole year. On the other hand, if the cut is between 15 and 20 per cent, as we expect, we can get through the year by curbing our buying. There are a number of things we need - lockers for the high school, for instance, commented Mr. Amerman.

Can't Plan Ahead

But there's one thing - we won't run the district into debt by buying when there is no money. We can't do long-range planning when there's no assurance about the funds. We should know something definite, however after the special session of the legislature. Every effort will be made to keep the cost to the parents as low as possible. "We're making no changes in textbooks (and we're) should because a number of the books are obsolete. The new classes were adding this year will necessitate new books," he continued.

Mr. Amerman predicts a large enrollment in the high school, making classes larger than they should be. He points out that more teachers are needed to break up the classes and to introduce additional subjects, something that cannot be done so long as the State funds are to be curtailed.

Grade Enrollment Not Large

Not such a large enrollment is expected in the grade school where fewer first graders are to be registered this year.

Maile Wheeler who received his degree last year at the Western State Teachers college, Kalamazoo, will succeed F. V. Ellison in the manual arts department. Mr. Ellison has been named to take charge of the apprentice plan. Mr. Wheeler has had 16 years of teaching experience in State schools. He has a daughter who will be classified (Continued on page 8)

SALEM UNION SCHOOL TRIES SECOND TIME TO PASS BOND ISSUE

In an effort to obtain $15,000 from federal funds to be used to construct a $25,000 school building for the Salem Union school district, a second meeting and balloting will be held between 7 and 9 p. m. Friday, Aug. 26.

The first special election called Aug. 11 failed to bring out a two-thirds majority vote. To pass the measure 10 to 15 miles to carry the bonds. The five-year bond proposal to raise $10,000 (Salem's share of the $25,000 cost of the building) also failed by a 37-34 vote.

It is understood that in order to obtain the present 50-year-old building to meet the requirements of the State fire marshal, a sum of money almost equaling that needed for a new structure will have to be spent. Attending the special meeting tonight will be representatives from the Salem Union school district, who will explain the school building problem to the voters of the district before balloting is done.

● The "Low Down" on Russia

Thoughtful people who are not carried away by wild radicalism have realized for some time that Russia must be a terrible place in which to live nowadays. Read this simple news item from the Lapeer Press of Aug. 17 and ask yourself how you would like to move to Russia.

J. C. Graves of Saginaw, known to many Lapeer folks as Mrs. T. G. Caley's father, has returned from a trip to Russia and reports that it is the most discouraged, down-at-the-heel country he has ever seen. The people are living on starvation diets, and their pasty faces never show a smile. Communism, like many other fancy theories of government, may look all right on paper but in practice it isn't so hot. And yet we tolerate CIO agitators and others who are trying to fast a government like Russia's upon us.

● You Pay the Fiddler

The ordinary man is beginning to realize the tremendous tax burden he is bearing. It is a good thing to keep constantly before us the great load we are bearing. How many taxes do you think you pay on your automobile? The number will scare you. You pay 345 taxes on your car. Of this number 27 of these taxes are paid when you buy it, 117 on its upkeep and 217 on gasoline and oil.

Before you go riding in your automobile in the morning think of the taxes you pay on your bacon for breakfast. You pay 38 taxes on this bacon. And of course by this time everybody should know that we are paying 58 taxes on the humble loaf of bread you eat. Of these 58 taxes, 10 are paid by the grain elevators, eight by the flour mills, 11 by railroads, seven by truck owners, nine by baking companies and six by retail stores.

After we have been tax-conscious long enough we shall rise up and make some effort to stop this increasing burden.

● CIO Is Unmasked

Evidence piles up that the Committee for Industrial Organization (CIO) is in the hands of the Communists, leaders although the rank and file of the organization is itself not Communist.

Appearing before the House investigating committee, John P. Fley, of the American Federation of Labor, charged that the CIO was now controlled by members of the Communist party whose aim is to overthrow the United States government. He stated that 280 communists had been at work on the CIO since the CIO either as organizers or as agents.

Said Mr. Fley: "It is time the public knew the truth about the efforts of the Communist party in the United States to carry out the purpose of Moscow and the Third International, which purpose is revolution."

This unmasking of the real truth of the CIO can be well understood here in Michigan. Although over a year and a half has passed by since the CIO struck the devastating blow of sit-down strikes, the sickening memory of these tragic days still lingers. We may not all realize it, but this little community of Northville has suffered the loss of literally thousands of dollars for which the CIO is responsible.

How does it appeal to you to have money taken from your pockets or from those of your friends by an organization which has its home in Moscow, Russia, and whose purpose is the destruction of our American government?

How much longer are we going to tolerate this attempt of radicals and foreigners to run the business affairs of our business and government? How much longer are we going to pay tribute to Moscow?

● Two Democratic Parties in Michigan

It looks as though there would be two kinds of democratic tickets in Michigan at the November election. One of these will be the New Deal democrats led by Governor Frank Murphy and the other, the old-style democrats directed by Ex-Governor William A. Comstock.

Former Governor Comstock has declared war on Murphy and his followers whom he calls the "New Deal Usurpers." A State convention will be held in Lansing Sept. 24 to name complete State and congressional tickets. This challenge of Comstock can hardly be laughed off. Says Comstock himself:

"We don't like Gov. Murphy. He isn't our kind of a democrat. He spends money too lavishly—the people's money. He is responsible for the epidemic of sit-down strikes which flattened out reviving industry last year and brought back general unemployment and the dole."

One of Comstock's influential backers in his plan for the new party is Alfred Debo, former democratic State chairman. Like Comstock, he has no thought of compromise with the New Deal democrats. In fact this is what he is quoted as having said about Governor Murphy:

"He isn't any kind of a democrat. Back in 1930, when I asked him for a little democratic help, he told me he was following the standard of the LaFollette Progressives, and he withheld assistance."

"That, in my opinion, is where he stands right now. He's posing as a democrat and trying to wean voters away from sound democratic principles to LaFollette liberalism."

That the Murphy forces expect trouble is indicated by Hub M. George in the Free Press last week. He said:

"Despite the campaign optimism he voiced last week on Mackinac Island James A. Farley, democratic national chairman, told his national committee colleagues at a meeting in New York that the party might encounter trouble in the Michigan and Iowa elections."

● Wandering Thoughts

More men going to work.

Another Northville fair makes history.

What person in Northville makes a hobby of collecting pitchers?

Sixteen days to the primaries. Study the candidates—there are plenty of them.

The new apprentice system goes into effect in the Northville schools this fall. Books plus actual work should make a good combination.

Michigan is better because of the visit to Detroit last week of Douglas Corrigan, the "one-way" flyer. He made us all laugh again. What more could anyone do for a nerve-racked people than that? We thank the wild Irishman for coming this way.

Over at the Detroit zoo the other day we saw the attendant feeding a couple of baby elephants. With a tin cup he poured milk down their throats as they held their heads high. The elephants were very submissive and if the attendant didn't move fast enough to suit them they would trumpet for more. Reminded us of the way some people think the government should pour a lot of good things down their throat, without work.

F. E. Van Atta has sold his residence property on Rogers street to Detroit parties. Mr. Van Atta expects to build a new house in Orchard Heights.

to the Editor

To the Editor:

The taxpayers of the Salem Union School District are again asked to meet at the school building on Friday, August 26, 1933, from 7 till 9 p. m. to vote once more on the question of bonding the school district for $16,000.

At the last meeting the taxpayers voted against the bond issue. The only difference between the purpose of the two meetings is that this bond issue is for a PWA project instead of a WPA project. It seems very easy to vote for such projects, but our township treasurer's books show that it is very hard to collect the taxes to pay for these same projects.

The moral is: "Don't vote for something that you can't help pay for yourself."

... these new cost figures may change your mind!

How much do you think it costs to cook on an electric range? The latest figures just released may surprise you. A survey has been made of actual cooking costs in families of 3, 4 and 5 people, covering a period of one year's time. Results of the survey are as follows: Average cost for a family of three—$1.55 a month; family of four—$1.73 a month; family of five—$1.83 a month. These are AVERAGE figures, at the rate of 2 1/4 cents (net) per kwhr.

To obtain these cost figures, 5 well-known makes and 9 different models of electric ranges were included. The ranges were used by women cooking meals daily, in ordinary kitchens and under everyday working conditions. The tests prove conclusively that electric cooking on today's modern ranges is NOT expensive!

Why not enjoy the cleanliness, convenience and comfort of an electric range in your kitchen this summer? Sixty thousand families in and around Detroit have chosen this up-to-date cooking method. Ten thousand of your neighbors switched to electric cooking last year. Once you have discovered the many advantages of an electric range, you will wish you had installed one in your kitchen long ago.

See the new electric ranges on display at department stores, electrical dealers or at Detroit Edison offices.

Recent Visitor in Washington Reports That Persons in the Know Do Not Expect Roosevelt To Seek Third Term in 1940

By FRED WARNER NEAL
President Roosevelt is not going to try to run for a third term. That, at least, is the opinion of many men who should know, men—republicans, democrats and impartial observers—in and out of the government, who have access to the President's mind and who have an insight into political affairs. They are betting ten to one that Mr. Roosevelt will not run; although they always point out, there is always the possibility that they may be wrong.

Nobody Knows
The fact of the matter is that nobody but the President really knows whether or not he wants a third term or whether or not he will try for it. But the consensus in Washington is that he does not want to run and will not try to do so. There are many variations of this opinion, it is true, and there the many politicians on both sides who assert positively that the President does want a third term and that he will seek it in 1940, at the Democratic convention, and at the polls.

The almost exact similarity of views of three persons much in the know, however, greatly impressed this reporter recently. These views, all given privately and emphatically off the record, came from a White House official, an authoritative Republican National Committee attaché and the chief of the Washington bureau of a leading press service.

These three men were all asked, separately, these questions: "Do you think President Roosevelt wants a third term?" and "do you think he will try to get a third term?" (The answers might obviously not be the same to both questions.)

They all gave this answer "No." The one view might be called the White House view, and there is reason to believe that if it does not coincide with it closely approximates the view of the President himself. In essence, the White House view is this:

White House View
The two-term tradition is a democratic one, and although President Roosevelt is no respecter of tradition, per se, he is a sincere believer in democracy. The strain of the Presidency is great, and while Mr. Roosevelt has stood it perhaps better than any Chief Executive since Theodore Roosevelt, he would not want to subject himself to the strains of the office beyond 1940.

He has accomplished more than perhaps any other President, and by and large, his program is completed and in effect. He has made the nation "New Deal conscious," and there is little doubt that he has established the trend which the American government will take for years hence. He is almost certain that he will control the democratic party in 1940 and thus be able to dictate the choice of his successor. He wants to devote himself to intellectual pursuits, to writing and play the role of a "country squire," away from the demands that continued political activity require.

The republican view, and this comes from a man who has perhaps more to say than anyone else about the day-to-day policies of the republican party, is this:

Third Term Risk
It is doubtful that any man, even Mr. Roosevelt, would want to risk the strain of a third term. Furthermore, it is doubtful in view of the strong feeling in the country against a third term, that he could be elected if he ran, and he is too good a political strategist to run against certain defeat.

Also, if present government fiscal policies continue, the nation is going to be in a bad way after 1940. Mr. Roosevelt would not want this responsibility on his shoulders. Instead, he wants to sit back and watch another, possibly a republican, be charged with responsibility for the difficulties he himself will have wrought. He would not risk the place in history he thinks he has made for himself for four more years in office, four more years that would be bound to be more bitter and difficult than the past two terms he will have had.

Finally, there is little the President is doing now in a political way that indicates he is building the fences for a third term.

The republican spokesman added, significantly:

The republican party, however, is going to make the most of the possibility that the President might run again. We are going to play on the third term fears of the nation, not only in this congressional election but, in the absence of a fortuitous declaration from the President to the contrary, during the next two years. If we could convince the average voter that Roosevelt wants a third term, the stock of the republican party would be boosted more than through any event since the court packing bill. Idealist and Political Opportunist.

The view of the newspaperman, one often critical of the Administration but one who, nevertheless, is often consulted for advice by the White House, is this:

Mr. Roosevelt is at the same time an idealist and a political opportunist. He won't run again, because his program is completed, and the election of an anti-new deal democrat, or even a republican, could not change the course the President has set for the nation.

The President is jealous of his prestige. He wouldn't risk defeat. He wants a high, if not the highest, place among the presidents in American history. He is egotist enough to think he has it now. True, a third term might enhance that place in history, but, again, the risk is too great.

Furthermore, Mr. Roosevelt wants to play Jackson to a Van Buren; more accurately, he wants to play T. R. to a Taft, only make certain that he is not fooled like T. R. was about Taft. He will be able to dictate the nomination of a New Dealer in 1940, and the New Dealer will probably be elected. A third term holds nothing but risk for him; or he would probably want it and try to get it.

War and Third Term

These three men agreed on one other point: In the event the United States is at war in 1940, or in danger of becoming involved in a war, President Roosevelt would demand a third term.

These political experts were also asked these questions: Why, if it is so certain that the President does not want and is not going to try for a third term, does he not come out and say so definitely? Why the remarks on the part of the Administration advisers that might be and are interpreted as "third term hints" and why all the third term talk generally?

The replies, similar in nature, were like this: The President has three main political motives in mind right now. He wants, first, to insure the election of pro-New Deal Congressmen. He wants, second, to be able to control and dominate the next Congress to be able to complete his program and avoid criticism. He wants, third, to be able to control and dominate the 1940 Democratic National Convention, to be able to dictate the nomination of a New Dealer.

Gain and Lose
Therefore, it was explained, the President has much to gain and almost nothing to lose by keeping alive the third term talk. First, he can keep among his more ardent supporters a crusading atmosphere in the belief that the Roosevelt New Deal has not yet reached its zenith. Second, he can control balky senators and representatives through the threat of denying them third term patronage. Third, he can exercise great influence over National convention delegates in general and Federal office holders in particular if he can convince them that he might be in office after 1940 and thus be able to dispense favors and hire and fire.

Finally, it was said, that there is always the unforeseen possibility that Mr. Roosevelt might unexpectedly decide on a third term.

THE JEWS

By THEODORE WERLE

Last Monday it was my pleasure, as it is once each year, to act host at a luncheon to a group of divinity students. This contact with young theologues is often inspiring, and usually leads to interesting discussion. An unusual turn came this year, when it developed that a German born youth, whose parents live on the Danish border of Germany, was one of the visitors. He had begun his theological studies somewhat later in life than the other men being row thirty-three years old. He had come to this country half a dozen years ago, chiefly to escape Hitlerism. He had not visited Germany since coming here because he had not yet been granted his American citizenship. He was afraid that without full citizenship he might find a visit to Germany dangerous to his freedom. This young man was thoughtful, considerate, and well schooled; and he was obviously not a Hitler man.

"Among the many things that I do not understand about the Germans of today," I said to him, "is their hatred of the Jews. What have you to say about that?"

"As you know," he said, "the Jews are not originally a Germanic people. They entered Europe when they were dispersed from Palestine during the first century of the Christian Era and they have never ceased to be a source of irritation for the peoples of Europe. In every nation into which they have penetrated since Egypt, they have aroused antagonisms. Their failure to become assimilated into the blood streams of the peoples whose nationality they espouse and whose protection they seek, has been an important factor contributing to the misery of the Jews in Europe today. Even in this country, which now shelters one-fourth of the Jews in the world, under a political system that gives them greater freedom than they have ever enjoyed throughout their entire history, even here they prefer to remain a distinct, unassimilated, racial group.

"Apply these facts to thickly populated hard pressed Germany, plus the added fact that the Jews took advantage of Germany after the war, when her monetary system went smash, and you will probably see why the average German is perfectly willing to let his government hammer the Jews."

Walled Lake To Hold Third Special Election on Bond Issue; Northville Scouts Join in Community Fete Plans

By C. E. HUTTON

WALLED LAKE—A special election for voters of the Walled Lake school district has been called for Monday, Aug. 29, to vote on a proposal to increase the mill tax limitation by three mills.

The increase is necessary to assure a probable levy of about 2 1/2 mills to repay a school building bond issue of $55,000 within a period of five years. The bond issue was approved at an election held July 18. The bonds cannot be issued unless the voters approve the larger tax spread.

A two-thirds majority vote is required to pass on the millage increase, which was not obtained on two previous elections on the same proposition.

A public mass meeting will be held Friday evening of this week at the school, to discuss the election, at which time Warren S. Holmes, architect of the proposed building, will speak.

Approval of a PWA grant has already been given the board's application, and is awaiting the action of district electors at Monday's election.

Mrs. Harvey Segnitz was the lucky receiver of a car at the Northville Fair, last week. Her elation in winning the coveted prize was hardly greater than the genuine feeling of pleasure felt by her many friends of this community over her good fortune. In driving her prize home, she was given official escort by Deputy E. L. McQuerry, who opened wide the exhaust whistle of his car, as they drove through the village. News of the event spread throughout the community with the speed of a forest fire on a windy day, and by the time she reached her home, the whole town was talking. The balance of Fair week saw many reporters pouring about the grandstand at the time the cars were given away.

Walled Lake's first annual inter-community celebration and picnic will take place Saturday, Aug. 27, at Bachelor Brothers' East Shore Beach, when one of the season's largest crowds is expected to attend.

A bathing beauty contest will be held in conjunction with the performance, with entries from several surrounding towns, including Detroit, Farmington, Plymouth, Walled Lake, Northville, Commerce and Upper St. Clair.

Seating arrangements for 800 will be provided, facing a large stage, erected in a large area adjacent to the highway. Other entertainment will include speed boat races, scooters, and dancing in the pavilion.

Sponsors of the celebration are Ottawa Tribe No. 7, of the Improved Order of Redmen of Plymouth; the Northville Boy Scouts and the Woodman Chapter of DeMolay of Walled Lake.

The Happy Hour Club of radio

"How did the Jews take advantage of Germany after the war?" asked.

Jews came into Germany from all over the world with monetary metals when Germany's own money had become worthless. They bought real estate, businesses, corporations, which meant life to Germans, went to Jews, and left the Germans bitter and vengeful. The Jew ever has been a sharp trader. In Central Europe, I think he over-reached himself. Some day you will feel in this country what all Europe feels toward the Jew, unless the Jew changes. I do not think he will change. His historical cycle has gone on unchanged over nearly three millenniums.

So spoke this thoughtful young man, presenting the German point of view.

BIGGER AND BETTER STATE FAIR PLANNED

The 1938 Michigan State Fair is not only going to be "bigger and better" than the state has ever enjoyed, but it is the ambition of Frank N. Esbey general manager, to make it the Nation's Greatest State Fair. That is the slogan that has been adopted and every member of the executive staff is bending all efforts to see that this goal is achieved.

There will be more stars of the stage, screen and radio; more free attractions, more brass bands; more outstanding features of an educational nature, and more facilities for the general comfort of visitors than ever before at any Michigan Fair.

A visitor gate of 800,000 to 1,000,000 persons is expected this year.

Five or six of the greatest bands are to be heard at the Fair. They are Rudy Vallee and his "Connecticut Yankees" with Caryl Chess, Edna Kennedy, Edna Strong, and The Gentlemen Songsters, Benny Goodman, "The King of Swing," and his orchestra with Martha Tilton, Lionel Hampton, Jess Stacy, Teddy Wilson, Harry James, and Duke Ellington. Buddy Rogers and his Hollywoodites.

Capizzi Denounces Lax Enforcement; Seeks County Post

Lax and biased prosecution has so crippled the law-enforcing agencies of Wayne county that even his superiors have been obliged to publicly rebuke the present prosecutor for his failure to proceed against flagrant violators of the law. I. A. Capizzi declared at a republican rally recently of supporters for his candidacy for the office of Prosecuting Attorney of Wayne county.

"The hand-cuffs of privilege and preference must be stricken from the prosecutor's office," he asserted, "before punitive hand-cuffs can be snapped upon the greedy hands of those who flaunt the demand of law-abiding citizens for a return to the peace and safety of law and order."

As a former assistant prosecuting attorney under Judges James B. Ghent and Harry S. Toy and later as an assistant attorney general under Paul W. Voorhies and Mr. Toy, Capizzi's records of investigations and convictions include many grand jury proceedings that uncovered fraud, graft and bribery which were costing the tax-payers hundreds of thousands of dollars.

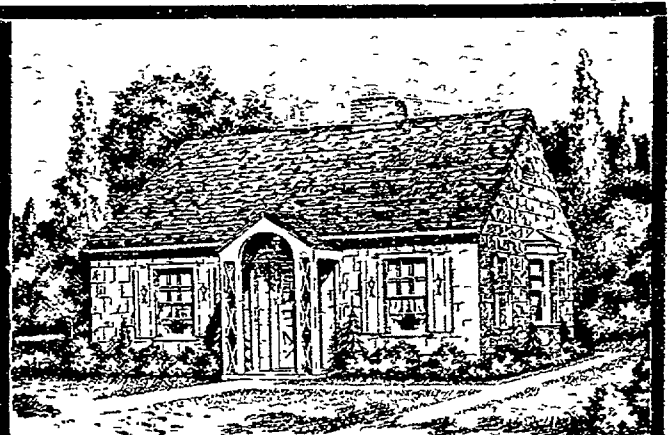

Later, during two years as counsel, member and chairman of the Public Trust Commission, charged with safeguarding many millions of dollars invested by Michigan citizens in real estate projects, he was instrumental in salvaging millions of dollars worth of property on defaulted real estate bonds.

Mr. Capizzi is a war veteran who saw overseas service. He is married and the father of one child. Campaign headquarters have been opened at 1512 Penobscot building, Cherry 0090, Detroit.

Among the Bible citations in this passage (Isa. 9:6) "For unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given, and the government shall be upon his shoulder, and his name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, the mighty God, The everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (page 583): "Christ. The divine manifestation of God, which comes to the flesh to destroy incarnate error."

Normal Catholic life requires the reception of Holy Communion at least once a month. Catholic societies usually demand this as one of their main obligations. But membership in one of these societies is not essential to this. A practical Catholic receives Holy Communion at regular intervals. Setting aside a special Sunday each month for the men and one for the women is merely a reminder for them, and an inspiration for pious emulation, and a wholesome rivalry. Under the leadership of the Sodality next Sunday is reserved as Holy Communion day for the ladies.

The monthly meeting of the ladies' Sodality is held regularly on the Tuesday preceding the fourth Sunday. Last Tuesday's meeting after the potluck luncheon and the Benediction in church, discussed the topics of the Parish Council, parliamentary rules for meetings, and the cleaning and care of the church, made plans for the religious instruction of the children, the music for church services, and a probable sauerkraut dinner for October.

McIntyre Urges Cut in Govt. Cost; Seeks Senate Seat

Advocating a sound, economical business administration for the State of Michigan, Charles H. McIntyre, Detroit attorney, seeks the republican nomination for State Senator from the 18th district, in which Northville township is included.

Mr. McIntyre was a nominee of his party for State Representative in 1936 and has been active in civic affairs, holding membership in the Detroit Bar association, Michigan State Bar, Vortex club, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, St. Andrew's Society and the Civic Pride association.

Born in Lapeer Mich., 42 years ago, he has lived in Detroit 22 years, 17 of these as practicing lawyer. His home is at 14395 Archdale avenue. He is married and the father of two children.

When announcing his candidacy to The Record, Mr. McIntyre declared: "As a candidate for State Senator, I advocate:

"A substantial reduction in the cost of government."

"The use of sound business principles in the operation and maintenance of the various institutions and units of the State government so as to ensure the greatest possible efficiency and economy and the elimination of waste. The State government should be operated and maintained not only on a pay-as-you-go basis, with a balanced budget, but, as soon as conditions permit there should be some systematic plan adopted for the reduction of indebtedness and the reduction of taxes."

"The reduction of expense of relief administration to a minimum so that those in need may receive the greatest possible benefit from the funds available for relief purposes."

"Changes in the laws pertaining to pardons, and paroles so as to prevent the release of dangerous criminals after having served only a small portion of their sentence."

"The use of greater care in the drafting of laws passed by the Legislature to make certain that they are not only constitutional but that they are so phrased that they can be understood without requiring the expense and delay of an interpretation by the Supreme Court."

Mrs. Dora Donelson has been in quite poor health but is better at this writing.

Joanne Holcomb spent part of last week with Mr. and Mrs. Perry Taylor in Northville.

Thelma Kent spent last week with Nina Wenker in Northville.

Miss Anna Holcomb and friend, Frank Huff of Detroit, visited the former's aunt, Mrs. L. E. Coates, Friday.

A number from Walled Lake were present.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS

By JANE BEHEN, Editor

Wonders of the greeting call. The Wakepa Camp Fire girls wish to thank the many townspeople who came to see our exhibit at the fair. The exhibit was to show what the Camp Fire girls can do. Next year we mean to have a bigger and better exhibit than we had this time. We have learned many things during our days at the fair that we did not know before, this being the first year we have ever done anything like displaying our things.

Saturday night the girls and the Boy Scouts with whom we shared a tent at the fair ate the things made by the girls like cake and candy.

At a special meeting Monday the girls discussed the idea of camping for two days in the field, back of the Scout building, this is to let us learn how to camp so that if we go camping next year we will know how to do things. The girls who intend to do this must have their reservations in by next Monday.

directed their cheers to the proxy cattle. Tractors, dogs, Billy (giant hog), the XYZ rodeo troupe, the 3rd squadron 106th Cavalry of the Michigan National Guard and prize winning cattle and horses formed the parade. Wayne County Training School and Eloise county hospital each had several Holsteins in the line of march.

Grand champions of the horse group were a pair of Belgian stallions from the stables of Goslin and Blackwell. J. B. Budd of Belleville entered the champion two-year-old pair, Belgians. A pair of Percheron mares with their colts, were sentimental favorites of the crowd.

Women's Entries Large
Mrs. Archie Morris, succeeding the late Mrs. F. S. Harmon as superintendent of the women's division, reported 2156 entries. The art department led with 796 entries, followed by 215 and flowers 994. Those kept its display of flowers fresh throughout the show. Canned goods were entered from Romeo, Jackson and Detroit, in addition to nearby points. Unusual quality was evident in these displays.

Miss Eva Wall, Detroit department store executive, judged the fancy work and antiques. Mrs. Byron W. Hewitt, Northville, judged baked and canned goods. Mrs. W. T. Jones, also of the village, was judge of flowers.

The 4-H club and school exhibits held up to their usual excellence.

Boundary Line Confusion
Much confusion of laws and currency is occasioned by the international boundary line in Battle NAS on the Dutch Belgian frontier. Weaving its way through this little town, the line crosses the middle of hotel rooms, shops bars and even billiard tables. — Collier's Weekly

Except for the sheep and show horse entries, the animal population had its day before the public Saturday afternoon when the annual stock parade was held. Mickey Cochran's beautiful Aberdeen Angus cattle shared the applause with the prize-winning Clydesdales. The absent Mr. Cochran received a good hand from the crowd when

Grant vegetables seemed the rule, not the exception. Clove displayed extra large pumpkins, egg plants, squash and both green and dried tobacco. The winning displays of vegetables in the professional and home garden classes were exhibited by Cecelia Sanzilar of Romulus.

Mrs. Henry Hill won 1stst honors for the best display of fruit, with John Miller Plymouth second. Third prize was given W. A. Foreman, Northville, fourth premium to Mrs. Fred Foreman and fifth to Louis Bogart, Wyom. governor. Berries displayed were limited to blackberries and strawberries the latter quickly wilting in the summer heat.

YOUR OIL FREE (UP TO THE FULL MARK)
IF I FORGET TO CHECK IT

If you're out of oil, you're out of luck. Almost anything can happen to your engine. Pistons may scuff—cylinder walls "score"—bearings burn out.

You don't want to run out of oil. So get in on this proposition we Shell dealers listed below are making:

Drive into any one of our stations. If we don't check your oil without being told, we'll bring your oil level up to the full mark free.

And we'll do this with the oil that's made especially for today's stop-and-go driving—our Golden Shell Oil.

Maybe you never knew that stop and go calls for a certain kind of oil. Well, it does—and here's why:

You average ten cold starts a day. If your oil is slow-flowing, one start can cause as much wear as 50 miles of steady running.

Golden Shell changes this. It's fast-flowing. The second you stop on your starter, it coats each engine part with a tough oil film that doesn't break down... even under the heat of your steady running. In fact—

There's no finer oil at any price than Golden Shell.

Horse Show Is Outstanding

 for the first time, was awarded to the five-gaited, champion, Spellbinder, owned by Arthur S. Hatth. Miss Betty Schrader presented the trophy. The Philip H. Grennan Memorial challenge trophy, given last year for the first time to A. A. Bull's Androp, went last week to Jane Briggs, riding the Duchess of Walbri. Miss Evelyn made the presentation.

Champions' Place
 The Arrowhead farm $100 stake, one of the major events of the show, went to Chief Guide, Mr. Skillman's champion of the three-gaited division. Spellbinder, Hatch's prize, took the Farm Crest $100 stake.
 Another unmemorial trophy, that given in the name of the late Edward C. Langfield, was won this time by Pvt. Greag, troop 1, and his horse, Chief Gage. Last year, Blue Bonnet, shown by Sgt. Marshall, was the winner.

The Northville Wayne County fair board's state for hunters was given Miss Couzens' Repulsion, and the President's cup in the scurry class was won by Rolo, a U. S. Army, Michigan State college entry.

Present Trophies
 Trophies in other classes were presented by Ex-Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald. Mrs. Harry A. Gardham, Mrs. Harry B. Clark, Mrs. Harry G. Marburger, Mrs. Charles Nettirk, Mrs. Jean Nelson, Mrs. T. N. Kramper, Jr., Virginia McCullough, Col. Griffith, Miss Marburger and Elmer L. Smith.

Outstanding among the featured classes was the Tennessee walking horse event shown in Northville for its debut north of the Ohio river. As was the case last year, the exhibitions given by the 106th cavalry, Michigan State college, East Lansing, were well received. The 29-year-old Sandy, the company's color bearer, was given a big hand in the ring.

There were two mishaps in the ring during the Senior show. Friday afternoon Mr. Gardham fell from his horse on one of the jumps. Neither he nor his horse was hurt, both returning to the ring later in the day for other events.

During the fine harness class Saturday afternoon, David McMorran's Klanch Lao became frightened as he entered the paddock and attempted to jump the rail, smashing the cart and throwing the driver, uninjured to the ground. With the aid of three men, the horse was calmed and sent from the ring before any other damage was done.

SESSIONS HOSPITAL
 Mr. and Mrs. Jack Brooks, Novi, are the parents of a daughter born Aug. 19.

Clown with the Wooden Leg Is Favorite Here with Fairgoers; Jane of the Swing Will Enter Michigan University This Fall

Show folks are real folks as a Record reporter learned in a most interesting chat with the garish clown who thrilled fairgoers with his antics in the air last week, the man with the wooden leg.

The regular Tuesday noon meeting of the Northville Rotary club was in charge of Charles Schoutz and Russell Amerman.

Mr. Schoutz told briefly of his camping trip at East Tawas with the Boy Scouts. He painted a fascinating picture of their camp, their sports, and their eats. Certainly it was a splendid experience for all who attended.

Superintendent Amerman gave a short outline of his recent $500 mile trip through the Northwest, mentioning the fact that his journey took him through 13 states and 2 national parks.

At the close of the meeting, the board of directors elected Will Ely to membership in the club.

Lee Opens Book Store
 Leslie G. Lee, head of the book department, announces that new books for the school year have arrived. He urges parents and students to buy them at the high school book store before school begins.

Thursday and Friday, Sept. 1 and 2, have been set aside as book days, along with the registration activity. The book store will also be open between 8:30 a. m. and 4 p. m., Tuesday, Sept. 6. In order to avoid a rush after school starts, students are asked to exchange their books on the days specified.

Clown at Early Age
 Raymond, the clown, now 31, without his makeup and costume is a personable, tanned young American. He was clowning at 4 1/2 years. The oldest brother, Paul, is the catcher. Ann is the sister, and Buster does the straight flying. The Melzoras' work about nine months of the year, spend three months in their training barn at Saginaw perfecting new stunts and coaching other aspirants to aerial fame.

The wooden leg he twists and turns while on a high platform? It didn't come as a result of a fall or slip but from an accident in industrial work. A piece of iron Raymond was carrying fell and injured his foot. The ferocity of the blow followed the infection that set in, and so the wooden leg makes Raymond, the original flying trapeze clown, the only one of his kind in the show business. But the Melzoras were an outstanding show troupe before the wooden leg era, even as they are now.
