

BROWN PLEA IS REFUSED BY VILLAGE

Walker Plans To Build Homes Here If Sewer Lines Are Made

A second denial by the village council (upon the advice of Village Attorney F. J. Cochran) to grant a refund to Mrs. Sarah A. Brown for excessive taxes paid on a Rogers street site, has brought an assertion from Attorney Max Hulet, who told councilmen Monday evening that he would bring suit against the village to recover the amount Mrs. Brown asks.

Court Decree Necessary

Mr. Cochran told councilmen and Mr. Hulet that the matter was entirely out of the hands of the village governing body and that without a court decree (as was given in the other tax cases) nothing could be done. He was not optimistic about anything being done at all as the $2,000 excess of the $45,000 refund had been placed in the sinking fund and could not be touched.

A building project that may be the first large boost in Northville's 100 new homes enterprise was placed before members of the commissioners Monday evening, when C. H. Walker asked councilmen to give him an estimate on the cost of constructing sewer lines through the Oakwood subdivision.

Plans New Homes

If it is found possible to engineer the sewer lines Mr. Walker plans to build from 25 to 40 homes, to sell for approximately $6,500, in the subdivision. The Benji Gunshaw home which will be started this spring is to be the first in the building program.

Street Commissioner Carl Moulton has been authorized to have the subdivision surveyed and an estimate of the project made before the council meets again.

Dr. Kephart is on the staff of the Wayne County Training School. 25 guests of the day were Thomas D. Bottomley, Detroit; Dr. F. Place, Ferndale; E. B. Brown, Ann Arbor; Ira E. Turman, El F. Campbell and A. Russell Clarke, Northville.

Mr. Place following an introduction by Carl Ely, presented a story in movies of the mining, grading, shipping and selling of coal. The film proved very interesting and gave a graphic account of one of the nation's large industries.

She was the daughter of the brother of the late A. B. McCullough. She died Feb. 7 after an illness of 16 years.

For 30 years she had been a member of the Macabees.

She leaves to mourn her loss in Northville, Mrs. Frederick Hedge, a sister-in-law; C. A. McCullough and family and William McCullough and family of Plymouth. Her husband the late William Scott, died five years ago.

Postpone Carnival to Sunday, Feb. 19

For the third time, this season, Northville's second annual ice carnival has been postponed. The new date is Sunday, Feb. 19, on the Ford pond.

Neil Hannaford, general chairman of the festival, announced Saturday that the carnival had been moved from Detroit that other events would claim members of the Michigan Skating Association Sunday, Feb. 12, and that the Northville carnival would have to be held up for another week, weather permitting.

Northville's ice carnival received a boost this week from the Michigan Bell Telephone company whose policy it has been for the past dozen years to promote summer playground facilities in Michigan. The company has turned its advertising toward making the readers winter-sport conscious and has aided in sending thousands of enthusiasts to the scenes of carnivals this year.

The carnival for Northville is held in the company's advertising display this week with the carnivals scheduled at Petoskey, Marquette, Sault Ste. Marie, Ironwood, Grayling, Gladstone, Jackson, Calumet, Iron Mountain, Munising and Ishpeming.

These advertisements have been designed, particularly to direct the attention of Michigan residents to the fact that their own State is "quipped for winter play."

If travel to these points in Michigan can be promoted, it will be in the interest of the whole State, creating business and employment for many persons; officials of the company believe — for what helps Michigan, helps us all. Therefore the company is advertising Michigan's advantages as a winter playground in the same way it has advertised the State as a summer playground for the past dozen years, comments C. W. Hungerford, advertising and news manager of the company.

SUPT. CODY DEFENDS PROGRAMS FOR BOYS

Former Northville Record Correspondent Is Rotary Speaker, Tuesday

One of the boys from this part of the country who has made good in the big city came back to Northville Tuesday as guest speaker at the Rotary club. In a friendly talk spreading with humor he discussed some of his experiences as a school administrator.

Frank Cody, superintendent of the Detroit public school system won his audience with his brief talk. Cody spent his boyhood in Belleville and was the Belleville correspondent of The Record some 30 years ago.

The speaker paid tribute to the Boy Scout movement and to the fine influence of Rotary in community life. Of Rotary he said that it is the Golden Rule in action. Mr. Cody told of his first interest in teaching and his rise to the office he has held for years. "Education can account for only 15 per cent of the things we call personality he declared; the remainder is within the individual himself."

W. A. Ely, township supervisor, introduced John Cowan, county auditor, who in turn introduced Superintendent Cody as a lifelong friend.

In a brief talk Richard Loomis of the village police staff, requested the cooperation of Rotary members in supporting boys activities and the several programs to raise funds for their continuation. He cited that not one of some 20 boys involved in petty crimes here in the last two years has been connected with the community program for youths. He also warned that Northville has for the last two years had ten times more cases of juvenile delinquency than Detroit in proportion to population. Mr. Loomis disclosed that present work takes in boys between 9 and 18 years.

Guests of the club included Mr. Cody and Mr. Cowan, Detroit; Dick Loomis and V. R. Hassler, Northville; Alfred Cousins, junior Rotarian of the month, was also present.

FREYDL ADDS EQUIPMENT

With the installation of a modern drying unit, the local plant of Freydl cleaners is second to none in any small city in the State, according to Charles Freydl, the owner. The new unit permits the shop to do work as efficiently and quickly as cleaning can be done today.

This is the second expansion of the cleaning plant, only one in Northville, within the year. Recently Mr. Freydl installed a new filter system.

This has been divided on a 50-50 basis between the King's Daughters for the local fight against infantile paralysis and the Warm Springs Foundation.

"It was the largest party ever held here for the infantile paralysis cause," commented Mr. Schrader.

Announcement

The Northville Record, "the oldest newspaper in Wayne county outside of Detroit," has been sold by Richard T. Baldwin, its editor and publisher for the past eight years, to William H. Cansfield of Howell, retiring editor of The Livingston County Press.

The new owner will take possession next week.

Mr. Cansfield comes to Northville with an exceptional background. For several years he has been the editor and one of the owners of Howell's only newspaper, one of the best known and most substantial county seat weeklies in Michigan.

Prior to taking up newspaper work, he was for several years the postmaster of Howell and at one time was the youngest postmaster in the State.

The incoming publisher has had a wide experience in community affairs. He has served as commander of the American legion post of Howell and was the first president of the Howell Rotary club. He is a member of Masonic organizations.

Mrs. Cansfield is prominent in musical, social and church circles of Howell. The new publisher and his wife have two children, a daughter, Helen Ann, aged nine years and a son, William, six. Both Mr. and Mrs. Cansfield are members of the Methodist church. Mr. Cansfield's father, The Rev. Hartley Cansfield, was for years one of the outstanding Methodist pastors of the State. With his wife he now lives in Owosso where for a number of years he served as pastor of the First Methodist church.

Mr. Cansfield and family plan to move to Northville at the close of the school year.

The retiring editor and family will go to their home in Albion where for ten years Mr. Baldwin was editor of the Albion Evening Recorder.

BOYS' BOXING BOUTS DRAW 500 SPECTATORS NAME COMMITTEES FOR ANNUAL BALL

An evening of clean fist and foot action was the reward of about 500 fans who packed the high school gym Monday night for the program featuring the Boy Scouts boxing bouts.

Spectators went away satisfied that they had enjoyed a bout of foot action that had been expected in professional lighting in Michigan this first two years. If there is to be a third year, the youngsters who fought in the gym, though lacking in experience, showed the three-round fight of each pair. Only the Robert Myers bout ended in the first round when Elly was knocked out. The bout went to Myers on a decision of the judges and referee Weston.

Three wrestling matches were arranged to break the run of boxing. J. K. Kofsky originated in these. The two bouts that closed the show brought the house to its feet at several stages when the fighters were trading punches most actively in the semi-final Roger Miller, a novice, was matched with "Fips" Beech. Miller's endurance and studied diligence were too much for "Fips." Miller possesses strength and endurance, and with proper training can stand with the best in the ring.

The final bout brought together "Mohair" Reed and Wally Whipple, with the former getting the decision. Reed has a quick, strong punch on offense, but at times was defenseless against Whipple's attack. The entire program moved quickly, and the boys' healthy swinging of fists and feet was a sight to be seen. Few foul blows landed, and good sportsmanship prevailed.

Readers Are Directed to Advertising Section for Study of Foods and Prices

The food advertisements in ever issue of The Record have pushed the best sellers out of the kitchen as popular reading material according to Northville grocers. Last week's advertisements brought a record rush of buyers to the stores managers report.

Another carnival of bargains is in store this week end for thrifty housewives. The food ads are packed with ways of dressing up the menu and dressing down the cost of good meals. One of the big values of the week is in oranges packed with vitamins and rich food elements. One variety and size sells for almost half the price quoted before Christmas. The housekeeper will wonder, as she takes advantage of the savings, if it pays to go to Florida or California.

The variety of green, vegetables and fresh fruits on display in the stores is dazzling to behold. Florida strawberries, hothouse rhubarb, green peppers, beans, peas, broccoli and a host of items await the shopper. Many of these are listed at deep-cut prices in food ads in the issue.

"Big roasts, cost very little, when one surveys The Record food advertisements. Pork is at the lowest price level in years. Several economy cuts of beef and veal are likewise offered the housewife bothered with a budget.

The bargain trend prevails, as much in staples. Flour costs less than two cents a pound in 24 pound bags, and sauerkraut appears at four for a quarter in the ads. Evaporated milk at five cents, eggs at 18 cents the dozen, navy beans at ten pounds for 29 cents and standard corn at four cents for 25 cents are other bargain offerings.

Northville stores last week quoted prices lower than advertised in galleries of neighboring cities. The Record learned in a comparison of price lists. The rush of business in local food markets made it appear that housewives were quick to sense the fine opportunities for savings presented in The Record ads.

RELIGION HAS PLACE IN VILLAGE SCHOOLS

Developing further the religious program for the Northville schools which got under way this year when Miss Lottie Livingston began classes in the grade school which are scheduled to continue until Easter, the Rev. Dr. T. W. Smith of the Presbyterian church is to give instruction to the high school Protestants.

Dr. Smith's class will be open to any high school student wanting to enroll in his New Testament study class which will meet the sixth hour each Wednesday and Friday.

Similarly, the Rev. Dr. Joseph S. Schramm, pastor of Our Lady of Victory church, will give religious instruction to Catholics for one of two hours each Friday.

The grade school classes in religion have an enrollment of 95 pupils. The thirty-minute periods for instruction are divided to give recitation and written work. Mimeographed lesson sheets and assignments for some study give the classes the same status as the required subjects receive.

Each class has undertaken a special project for the 12-week course. Mrs. K. H. Babbitt's fourth graders are gathering Bible pictures which are to be placed in a scrap book.

Mrs. W. H. Johnson and her pupils are making a scrap book of the incidents of the life of Jesus. These they are illustrating with pictures in a book which will become the property of the school.

Mrs. James A. Haff's sixth graders are making a scrap of the Lord's Prayer, and also writing Old Testament stories which will be made into a book.

SNOW, HETTICHE RECEIVE STATE APPOINTMENTS

Fair Management, Boxing Post Are Given Northville Men

Two appointments by Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald this week focused the State political spotlight on Northville after it became known that Dr. L. W. Snow, who has been named to succeed Frank D. Isley of Detroit, to the post of manager of the State Fair, and John J. Hettiche of the Eight Mile Road, was given the boxing commissioner post, which originally had been slated for Dr. Snow. Mr. Hettiche had been slated for the boxing commission until the Fair vacancy made it necessary for a shifting of assignments.

Snow Is Enthusiastic

Dr. Snow, known throughout the State in sports circles and revered in Northville by youthful athletes as "Doc," because of the encouragement he has given them in backing basketball, baseball and other sporting enterprises for the school and village is enthusiastic about his Fair management appointment even though it turns his activities into a different channel.

Commenting on the present financial state of the Fair, Dr. Snow said that the looks were not as bright as they once were. The figures for the last year showed a loss of $10,000. The Fair is a big business and it is a big responsibility.

GOOD-BY AND GOOD LUCK

By Richard T. Baldwin

In closing our newspaper work in Northville we wish to express our sincere gratitude and thanks to our readers who have so loyally "stood by" us during the past eight years. You all know what those eight years have been. We have all gone through the fires of depression and through the long dark days and nights of unusual trouble. They have literally been years that have tried men's souls.

Yet through these eight years there has shone every day the sun of cheer from the friendship, faith and loyalty of men and women here in Northville and its surrounding area. Though we live to be a hundred (we'll never make it) we shall never forget what this friendship, this faith and this loyalty have meant. This trio of eternal values, as expressed by the daily actions of Record readers, has kept us going when the road was rough. We shall never forget the record you have written for us.

The home newspaper of a community like Northville is a vital institution. It expresses as does nothing else, the hopes, the deeds and the aspirations of this small part of the world. Through all the years we have been here, we have constantly felt the responsibilities of the publisher of the community's newspaper. Our mistakes have been many but through them all we have sincerely tried to hold high the "torch" for Northville. It has been a great privilege.

Over three years ago, when we were laid low by ill health, a true friend of many years said to us: "Dick, you have to be either in or out of the newspaper business. There is no half-way ground." In our efforts to keep the business going since, we have found that this friend—himself a publisher—was right. So this is why we are quitting. To give up our life work—the only work we have known or have wanted to know—has been a hard decision to make. But such decisions come to us all and now that ours is put into effect a deep peace comes over us. We have quit while the quitting was good.

We feel very happy over the prospect that "Bill" Cansfield is going to be the editor and publisher of The Northville Record. Could we have looked all over the State of Michigan and find a man who could not have found a better man than Bill to follow us? And not even half a dozen whom we would regard as capable as he is. He is keen, friendly, well trained and not the least—has been schooled by the experience of years. Best of all, he has the most essential quality of an editor— he loves his fellow men. He will soon make a place for himself here. In addition to all this, he has an ideal family who will fit into Northville very well.

Under the leadership of Mr. Cansfield, the Record will move forward in a line and substantial way. The better he makes it and the more he does for this solidified community, the better we shall like it.

So we say "Good-by and good luck" to every Record reader and to every one in and around this unusual area. This is a garden spot and as well a place of unusual distinction. We feel that great days are ahead for Northville. We shall come back occasionally to see you move forward. "Adios."

MRS. EDITOR'S "LAST WORD"

for all things come home at eventide
and all large birds are early of their roaming—

ANTHONY melody that has been ringing in our ears since circumstances have made it urgent to lay down the pen, cover up the typewriter and call it a day.

"Home" to us means that little gray house back in Albion on Jackson street where our little ones used to gather round the fireplace for their good night story and romp among the great oak trees across the road in the college grove.

Albion, where stands the old college whose worn thresholds were crossed by our father's feet back in 1870, later by ours and then by our daughter's. Albion, where our preacher-father brought back his family to their first real home after years of wandering in various "fields." Albion, where every street and highway, lined by towering shade trees, every bridge which crosses the Kalamazoo river as it meanders lazily through the city, has its associations accumulated through the years of budding romance and later, domestic comfort—memories which pull at the heart strings and call us back "home."

Yet this does not mean that we do not love Northville where we came so hopefully with the car loaded with the children, carrying the family clock carefully on our lap, wondering, as we sighted the hills of Northville, what lay before us. We were on tip-toe with hope.

Some of the dreams have come true; some have burst like bubbles. Folks have been more than kind and we cherish forever the rich friendships made here. Our regret is that we have not had time to cultivate them more.

So, as has been the custom for ages, we follow our life back home where we will dig up old hobbies we never had time to enjoy. It may be like getting off a fast train at first and we may miss for a while the rush and roar, but there will follow, we believe, a peace and restfulness in our "Adventure in Contentment."

As our mantle falls on the new editor's wife, who will be a real asset to the community, our wish is that Northville will be as kind to Mrs. Cansfield as it has been to us.

Rev. Frank N. Miner Starts Series of Lent Talks; Welfare Club Announces Play Date

By C. E. HUTTON

WALLED LAKE—Lent begins Feb. 22. For Wall Lake it marks the beginning of a series of talks, given by the Rev. Frank N. Miner, on the meaning of church to church members, and to those not yet affiliated who may be wondering what it means to be a church member.

The theme of this series of weekly talks and discussions is thought-provoking. To my recollection, no definite, concrete information has been given me as to the fundamental doctrines, the constitution (if such there be), the bylaws or the general "platform" of my church, during the 31 years of my membership. Such information is usually received during one's candidacy for membership in practically every other type of organization.

There are many others who know little, if anything, as to what their church membership entails. They are Methodists or Baptists or Presbyterians because their parents were, before them, or because they particularly liked the preacher or church member who invited them in. The series of discussions led by Mr. Miner proposes to deal with the origin of the church, its background, the differences, if any, with other denominations, and the various articles subscribed to by those who are or will be affiliated. This is not a sales campaign or a membership drive, but is simply designed to help some of us toward a more intelligent understanding of what our church membership really means.

Efficient Seeing
Devoted to Eye Welfare for Everyone

WHY LENSES ON SOME PEOPLE AND NOT ON OTHERS?

"Doctor, you prescribed lenses for me, but you told my cousin that lenses wouldn't do the work for him and that you had to 're-condition'! Why is that?"
A proper question. Some troubles require re-education of the visual skills, but we find other conditions readily corrected by a lens formula. The secret lies in knowing which is which.
Here, for instance, was a man of 35, who had lived out-doors, and never knew he had a pair of eyes. He had an exceptional mechanical bent and undertook work in a dental laboratory. Within a year, he began encountering intense discomfort. Eye pain was present daily. The "three-o'clock headache" was a regular visitor. He noticed an occasional blur that covered everything he looked at. He then had to stop work until he recovered clear vision. In reading, he had a sensation that the print was moving. In all, he felt he was a pretty sick man.
He wasn't—but you can't expect to come in-doors and bend closely over a bench for hours, doing the most delicate kind of mechanical dentistry without some re-education of the visual system. He had trained himself in the manual skills of the dental laboratory, but he didn't realize that he ALSO had to train in the visual skills required in his new work. The analysis showed it was a simple matter of prescribing a certain amount of lens power and in three weeks he was right as a trivet, both comfortable and visually efficient. There was no need to give any orthoptic re-conditioning. The point is, we know when it is needed and when it is not. We don't make "guinea pigs" out of our patients. Some time we will tell you of the opposite condition, where lenses would have been of little avail at the beginning and orthoptics did just what was needed.

Colorful Scenes and Character Interpretations Are Highlights of Juniors' Stage Presentation

A royal play, the first given here in several seasons, by a high school group, was presented Thursday and Friday, Feb. 2 and 3, by a cast made up of juniors, directed by Mrs. F. W. Hawkins.

The vehicle which contained several excellent scenes gave the student actors something to begin with, which is more than can be said of most of the non-royalty plays. This coupled with weeks of intensive direction by Mrs. Hawkins who is more than just casually interested in dramatic productions, won acclaim from the school patrons in attendance. One enthusiast, who hasn't missed a home talent play in many a year, worked himself up into such a state before the final curtain that he was declaring it "the best high school performance ever given here."

Much of the favor which the play won for itself was due to casting. For instance, the colored character roles played by Jean Marburger and Kendall Willis were responsible for the stealing of more than one scene. Amelia Sutton, who has doted on dressing up and acting in plays since her first grade days (and that comes straight from her first grade teacher of way back when), interpreted the part of the lovable granny commendably — she, too, came in for her share of scene-stealing. Older roles often the most difficult to put across, were given splendid interpretation by Natalie Whipple and Charlene Hardesty.

The movie colony actors who moved into the quiet ranch house to cause many an upset in the lives of its owners revealed the ease and sophistication necessary for their parts. They were Wilford Wilson and Max Rowe, who shared the director's role. LeRoy Van Atta the matinee idol, Cornelia Spos and Eugenia Stanford who took their turns in the glamour girl scenes, Jean Orr and Betty Armstrong who were script girls on the respective nights, Rhea Walling, the glamour girls' maid.

A grand exhibition of stunts when stunting was called for was given by Kenneth Wolfe who bore the heaviest of the home by juggling, the pretty leading ladies — of them — Elvira Tynia and Elsie Wilder. Both girls were well-versed in their roles and with some extremely smart timing, costume changes complemented their athletic attractions.

The easy-going, likable cowboy role was portrayed by Allen Gotta and Elmer H. Ko. The bad man of the production was none other than Roger Miller who has a special liking for the West and who genuinely enjoyed his part.

Something different in the way of scenery is accredited to James Harper. He painted the back drop which represented a mountain scene, the background for a ranch house setting at the front of the stage. Very true were his mountain colors. His attempts to obtain distance with his brush were successful.

Club Speaker Gives Shopping Hints

Using for her theme, "A Wool and a Yarn Wide," Miss Natalie Feldman head of the textile department of Wayne University, traced the history of patterns for members of the Woman's club Friday afternoon.

She gave definite pointers to aid women in selecting garments which will wear well and told them how to choose the best quality wool and silk garments. It is her opinion that shoppers should question buyers upon the quality of merchandise that they select for shops to such an extent that they will be forced to buy garments because of their wearing merits, rather than just for the way they look.

Extension Members Meet at Westphal Home

Mrs. C. Westphal opened her home Thursday, Feb. 2, to the members of the Extension group. The afternoon's program was taken over by Mrs. Howard McKeague, who talked on the "Homemaker's 24 Hours." The homemaker's problem, she pointed out, can be summed up in her finding the way to spend her time to bring the most to herself and her family. The success of her efforts can be determined in the hours of happiness she and her family receive. Time budgets and planning sheets were discussed.

An event late in March for the Wayne County Extension groups will include a tour of the Book Cadillac hotel, a produce market and a packing plant. Mrs. Emerson Rutan, 839 Grace avenue, will entertain the group Mar. 23.

PANTHERS LOSE TO NORTHVILLE, 33-24

Orange and Black Leads All the Way in Win from Redford Union

By SPECK
Meeting Redford Union there Friday night, N. H. S. defeated their opponents 33-24.

The game was marked by a fast and concentrated passing attack with Northville playing heads-up ball. In the first quarter, Northville chalked up seven points to Redford Union's five. The home boys surprised all of their followers by making their four shots count in the first and second quarters.

The second quarter widened their lead to four points by scoring seven more points to Redford Union's five. This quarter was exceptionally fast with numerous fouls being called on the R. U. boys for rough playing. Northville was careful to take advantage of their opponent's foul shots in the first half and to play a close defensive game. Thus they managed to get the ball on out-of-bounds and threatened the opponent's basket. The half ended with the local team ahead 14-10.

In the second half, a great deal more shooting was done with Redford Union trying frantically to tie the score in spite of Northville's seven point lead. Northville's close defensive play and alertness kept the Redford boys from scoring more points than they did and possibly winning the game. The home team had a well-balanced offense throughout the game and especially so in the second half. During the third quarter, Northville scored eleven points to Redford Union's nine, thus taking a 23-19 lead.

The fourth quarter saw Redford creep up within four points of Northville's lead, but the N. H. S. squad came through with eight final points to clinch the game. Redford Union was held to five points as the game ended 33-24.

The lineup: Holcomb, f; Fritz, f; Duguid, c; Houghton, g; Larkin, g; subs—Eaton, Hartner.

"Harold Martens and His C. & C. Hornets" will furnish the music. The admission is 25 cents.

BOXERS DRAW CROWDS TO SCOUT MATCHES

To earn money for taking care of the Scout building, buying uniforms, providing for summer camps, and other such projects the various boys' organizations in the village sponsored some boxing and wrestling matches, held in the high school gymnasium, Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Although most of the fighters were members of the Cub Scouts or the Boys' club, the Boy Scouts did their part by putting up the platform and stringing the ropes.

The judges rendered the following decisions: boxing: Robert Gussom vs. Junior Pligman, draw; Dick Meyers vs. Lester Wick, winner; Meyers, Bruce Simmons vs. Fred Wick, draw; Norman Jordan vs. Harley Heintz, draw; Bill Lanning vs. Robert McKeague, draw; Ginger Guard vs. Archie Niles, draw; Bob Meyers vs. Bob Ely, winner; Meyers by a technical knockout; Walter Meyers vs. Chuck Bishop, winner; Bishop, Chuck Altman vs. Lyman Larson, winner; Larson, Roger Miller vs. "Fripo" Beech, winner; Miller, Wally Whipple vs. Jim Reed, winner; Reed, wrestling: Eugene Melbourne vs. Ralph VanSickle, winner; VanSickle, David Willis vs. Clayton Graham, winner; Willis, Junior Bates vs. Don Graham, winner; Bates, Bob Kraft vs. Harold Tuck, winner; Tuck, Jack Funk vs. Jack Maloney, winner; Funk.

The officials of the evening were as follows: Judges, Al Zuymer and Dutch German; time keeper, Dan Draper; referees, Dick Loomis, Ed Weston and Dutch Koldyke.

The next boxing and wrestling show will be presented Monday, Feb. 20, at the high school gymnasium at 7:30 p. m.

Clarence Davis presented the Cub Scouts with two pairs of boxing gloves, as it was this organization which really started the movement.

Editor's Note...

Several people have spoken about the lack of students who have turned out for the lecture series which is being sponsored by the Teachers' club. It seems a shame that there are so few things of a cultural nature offered to the older "teensers" of Northville, and when something of this sort is presented at a price within the reach of nearly every high school student, so few of them take advantage of it. This is truly an opportunity to hear some wonderful lectures. Let's take advantage of it and have more than one of two at the next one of this series.

Work has once more begun on

JEANNE ATCHISON TO HEAD N. CLUB

The newly organized girls' N. Club held its election of officers last Monday night in Mrs. Gladys Lundberg's room. The results of the election were as follows: Jeanne Atchison, president; Mary Frances Batt, vice-president; Helen Kimmel, secretary; and Geraldine Johnston, treasurer. Louise Alexander was appointed head of the club's publicity.

The constitution was drawn up by the committee, and approved by the members after a few minor changes had been made. Under this document, the membership is limited to girls who have won a letter in some sport. If a member is absent from three successive meetings, she automatically becomes ineligible for membership unless sickness or some other good excuse is presented.

The aim of the club is to hold a banquet at the end of this year following the plan started last year by this group of girls.

Plans for a dance have been discussed by the members and further announcements will be made in regard to this project.

The membership now includes: Mary Frances Batt, Jeanne Atchison, Louise Alexander, Helen VanSickle, Kathryn Martberger, Jerrv Johnston, Laura Bolton, Ida Marie Walker, Helen Brainer, Marilyn Cavell, Ruth Parmenter, Jane Ely, Mary Ellen Burgess, Helen Kimmel and Virginia Kern.

Thank You

The junior class wishes to express their gratitude to James Harper for painting the scenery for the play. Also they thank Leslie G. Lee and Miss Constance Burgess for making up the cast. Dr. and Mrs. H. S. Willis for lending furniture and to all others who contributed properties. They also thank Mrs. F. W. Hawkins for her fine direction, and the people who attended the performances.

MOLLEMA GIVES 'APPETITE TESTS'

Several of E. C. Mollema's students took appetite tests to help discover into what type of work they might go. The results were returned last Thursday.

The students of N. H. S. who took the test were three boys and one girl. All had entirely different scores and rankings on the test. Julian Thieme was best suited for a profession of medicine or law; James Geraghty, an engineer's job; Bill Schultze was considered best in the field of salesmanship; Julia Modes showed aptitude for a secretarial or office job.

Mr. Mollema stated that even though the persons taking these tests rated high in any particular field he might not necessarily be a success later unless he had the ambition to force himself along.

This, That and Something Else

Leslie G. Lee: "This book will do half of your work for you."

Warren B. "Good, I'll take two."

Looks like Buck Benny is slowly going after a little blonde.

Long Shot Houghton is still holding Rose; that's better than some other fellows did, George.

We thought for a while Ed. Baughman had started a new fad with high top boots and fitted pants but it's gone with the wind now.

"Fellows are slipping in the matter of good old fashioned chivalry," said Dick Ambler. "I took my girl down town on the street car the other night and neither of the fellows sitting beside me would get up and give her a seat."

Ken Chappell has chosen the loveliest shade of nail polish, of did somebody choose it for him?

Personality Sketches

A fine person is he—this handsome young junior. He is about five feet, eight inches tall and well built. He is about sixteen years old and is a very good student. Being cooperative, not shirking a job assigned to him, and showing himself a good sport, are some of his excellent qualities. He is very popular with teachers and students. Especially the girls. If his identity is still a mystery, ask the junior play cast who is particularly good at directing an imaginary orchestra.

Grade Notes

The third graders took an achievement test and found that some of the pupils have fourth grade reading ability now.

The third graders are making show scenes in art. Narcissus, tulip and hyacinth bulbs are in the third grade room. Everyone enjoyed the presentation of the "Ugly Duckling."

New officers have been chosen for the second semester in Mrs. Robert Radcliffe's fifth grade citizenship club. Blake Coffey is the new president. Carolyn Stephens is the vice-president and Joyce Martino is the new secretary.

Sad and joyful expressions slipped over the faces of the fifth graders Friday, Feb. 3, when the report cards were given out. The majority of them managed to remain where they were as far as class average.

On a geography test recently given the fifth graders, they were asked to define various terms. Among these was the word "gulf." One brilliant pupil wrote, "Gulf is a gasoline used by people in their automobiles."

Mrs. William Chuzmar's first grade room has written a poem about snow. The pupils are painting a mural named "Winter Fun." They have painted the sky, the sun, a hill covered with snow, an ice pond, a little boy on skis and a girl skating on the ice. They are also making stores of snow.

Mrs. O. F. Reng's second graders are making valentines of all kinds during their art periods. Some of the valentines are decorated daintily with paper lace, while others of the comic variety represent rabbits, owls, dogs and cats.

The second graders have written letters to Tommy Stalker and Batten Comors who are absent from school because of illness. The pupils have learned a new poem "The Wind," by G. Rosselli.

Betty Snow of Mrs. James A. Huff's sixth grade will take the grade notes for the next three weeks. The sixth graders have finished a scrap book on Sweden. Norway, Holland, Denmark and Switzerland.

Perry Graham and Melvin Eddy Snow and David Ameican of the sixth grade have neither been tardy nor absent the first term. Joe Bongiovanni, Dorothy King and LeRoy McFigue have not been absent, but have been tardy once.

The first graders have rearranged some of the pupils. They have arranged their programs in order to have a part of their activities together. Miss Beulah Miller's room is working on a big book which will supply the setting for a program which they will present the last Friday in February. They are making valentines and plans to have a party Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Lotue Livingston reports a fine start in the Bible classes in the grade school. The following is the schedule: Monday, fourth grade, Mrs. K. H. Babbitt and Mrs. Albert Stage, teachers; Tuesday, fifth grade, Mrs. Robert Radcliffe, teacher; Wednesday, sixth grade, Mrs. James A. Huff, Jr., teacher; Thursday, fifth and sixth grade, Mrs. W. H. Johnston and Frank Hewitt.

MICHIGAN—for All Sorts of Winter Sports!

MICHIGAN'S natural facilities for winter sports, perhaps unexcelled anywhere in the country, are worthy of promotion. Thousands of visitors should be attracted here from outside the State, and Michigan residents can be shown that they need not leave their own State to enjoy the finest of winter sports.

All Michigan will profit from such promotion, in which the Michigan Bell Telephone Company wishes to do its part. This is the first of a series of three advertisements, appearing in 250 Michigan newspapers, to promote Michigan as an outstanding winter playground.

The Backyard FLOODLIGHT

What is that noise in the back of the house, late at night? Flip on your backyard floodlight and find out! An inexpensive outdoor light of this sort is really a necessity: It adds immeasurably to your peace of mind, it contributes to safety, and it helps light the garage. A 100-watt lamp bulb in a simple reflector will do the job nicely. — and costs next to nothing for the short time it is used. Coming on the low step in your rate, this incidental lighting will probably add as little as 10c a month to your bill. Any electrical contractor will gladly install an outdoor floodlight.
