Term of Trustee Expires. With the expiration of the Depositor's Agreement, Jan. 27, 1938, the Depositor's State Bank's duties as trustee ceased and application was made to the F. E. C. for a termination of the trust. The termination was effected, and the remaining assets of the two former banking institutions have been turned over to the Depositor's Liquidation Corporation pursuant to authority of a decree of the circuit court. The present dividend is distributed by the Depositor's State Bank as agent for the Depositor's Liquidation Corporation. All future dividends and matters of business concerning the two banks named will henceforth be conducted by the corporation as explained by legal notice thereof published in this issue of The Northville Record.

Procedure Statewide. The segregation of the assets of all defunct banks in Michigan, yet in process of liquidation, is now being effected throughout the State. The remaining assets of all such banks in Michigan now in process of liquidation are being segregated and liquidation continued entirely free from the operation of the banks by one corporation authorized to continue the business of liquidation in the interest of the depositors, known as the Depositor's Liquidation Corporation. Former depositors, former stockholders and others having claims against the banks are urged to present their claims to the corporation for future disbursements, and the transaction of any and all business pertaining thereto.

Explosion in Window

A special showing of products of the Northville Laboratories, Inc., in the window of the Northville Drug company (Stewart's) went over with a bang literally, about 8:30 p. m. last Saturday.

A gallon jug of pure lemon extract fortified with purest Vitamin D of a setting jug exploded its contents, 85 per cent alcohol, just as Lew Stewart created the excellent display admired by his pharmacist, Don Whipple.

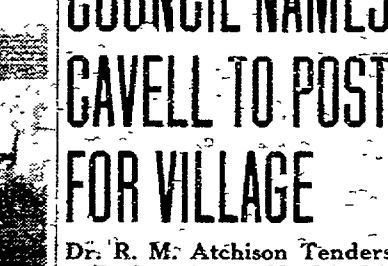

Glass splinters from the broken jug and lemon extract were scattered by the explosion over the show window. The display, designed to show the local laboratory's contribution to Michigan prosperity during observance of "Michigan Days for Michigan Prosperity," was put in again after new decorations had been installed. The display will remain in the rest of the week.

Vanilla beans, shown as they are received from Mexican producers, feature the interesting display of extracts, food colors and flavor emulsions. Pictures illustrate the steps in harvesting and processing vanilla beans. Principle products of the Northville Laboratories are also shown. R. K. Leary of the laboratory and Don Whipple collaborated in creating the exhibit.

Mr. Stewart told how one spectator, apparently under the influence of a friend's report of a well-arranged drink to visit it, remarked upon seeing the damaged display, and before the broken bottle was removed, "Freck, it don't look like much to me." At the moment it didn't, agreed Mr. Stewart.

COUNCIL NAMES GAVELL TO POST FOR VILLAGE

Fix Cemetery Drive

Naming Dr. E. B. Cavell, Jr., to the vacant health officer's post and setting aside money to improve the cemetery drive were matters which claimed the attention of the village commissioners when they met in regular session Monday evening.

The resignation of Dr. Russell M. Atchison, who has been Northville's health officer since July, 1926, created a vacancy in the village which, upon Mayor Arthur S. Nichols' recommendation, was given to Dr. Cavell, veterinarian.

Doctors Refuse. "I've asked every doctor in town to take the post and all of them refused. The charter says that a reputable doctor shall have the post and if one cannot be found to take it, someone else shall be appointed, commented Mayor Nichols when he called the councilmen the exact status of the health situation."

3 Senior Travelers Tell Their Story

Three boys who wanted to make the annual Washington trip of Northville seniors in somewhat different style told the story of their journey to Exchange club Wednesday. Don Armstrong, Dick Ambler, and Jack McCrumb, in that order, strung together the odyssey of their spring trip.

Minus the hero of their travels, the 1939 Star touring car, reinforced by a Chevrolet transmission and Ford rear axle, that took them without major trouble and at an average of 30 miles to the gallon for the entire distance of about 2500 miles, the trio sketched the highlights of their experiences.

Laura Marie Lord IS GIVEN READER'S DIGEST CERTIFICATE

C. V. Harrison, principal of Northville high school, announces that the coveted Reader's Digest Award for Scholastic Achievement has been won by the valedictorian of the class of 1939, Miss Laura Marie Lord.

She received an engrossed parchment certificate at the honors assembly held Wednesday morning.

The Reader's Digest confers this annual award as encouragement to young men and women throughout the nation who by their scholastic achievement, give promise of growing into leadership in their communities.

Principals of progressive preparatory and high schools increasingly advocate an interest among students in the most significant articles which appear in current magazines. Their belief is that vital contact with the living, quickening thought of our day is essential to education, both before and after graduation. As one principal expressed this thought in a letter to The Reader's Digest, "Your award and your magazine appeal to me as a way to keep our best students in the mental vanguard through the difficult transition from school to society at large."

So Proudly We Hail . . .

When our flag goes by, doesn't it make a lump rise in your throat or bring a trace of a tear? It should. There, waving in the breeze, is your sole assurance of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. Does it not make you feel proud and confident of the future? Does it not give you a feeling of security? There in all its brilliance of color and harmony you see the embodiment of yourself and your neighbor—rulers of this nation.

Behind its waving beauty lurks no hideous danger of a dictator, for under its rippling glory all men are free and equal. No one person has the power to tell you how to think, what to say, or when and how to worship. Under its banner there live no sects or isms, but free men proud in their heritage of the past, confident and optimistic of the future; who, like kings, can speak to their God in any language, in any creed, without fear of contradiction.

Yes, it is truly named OLD GLORY. It is the living symbol of the glorious promises of earth of the Eternal Father. It unites into one image all of the Ten Commandments that Moses gave to mankind and that Christ assured us were the laws of God. Is it any wonder that with pride, all of us stand at attention when it passes and render the privileged homage of its citizens—the salute? Given not in fear and dread, not compelled to do so by law, but voluntarily, with loving reverence for the living, visible consummation of an ideal, born in the slough of despondency, despair and hopelessness, in a period of time actuated by the ignorance, selfishness, and brutality of man, now justly called the Dark Ages.

It is the messenger of PEACE. Under its wondrous folds a contented, peace-loving people can live in security and hope. Yet let anyone dare to attempt to destroy our flag and it speaks in thundering tones, "Beware! Beware, lest you arouse the anger of my people, they be not slaves nor weaklings! They will fight though they abhor it. Fight not in hatred and in rage, but in righteous indignation, and if you stir them to war I promise you they shall not lay down their arms except in victory!"

Old Glory, truly today on this troubled earth you are a beacon of hope to other lands, a refuge for all people oppressed, and a herald of hope. May the sun each dawn kiss your Stars and Stripes with pride and delight and at eventide bid you a fond goodnight.—Robert L. Beveridge in the American Legion Weekly.

Clean news, clean advertising, and clean purpose is the constant and uncompromising platform of The Northville Record.

For his continued and fruitful work with the boys of the drum and bugle corps we list the name of Andrew Torok, in Northville's list of community builders and youth leaders. Actions speak louder than words, and it is impossible for cold type to add more than a permanent record of community relations. The volumes of the Northville's Book of Good Deeds, need no apology, only ability to appreciate and record.

Remember it is the spirit of a community that counts—not its size

Atop the Civil War monument in Mt. Rest cemetery at St. John's a dove has built her nest. The nest is in the crook of the arm that rests upon the muzzle of the musket held by the soldier. The dove is raising her brood, a good omen for peace in our land.

June—the month when we edge toward the head of the line to kiss the bride

Here Comes The Graduate . . .

Thousands of boys and girls are graduating from the high schools of the country during the next week. It is expected that over 80 will graduate from the Northville High School in the Class of 1939. To older people these graduates seem just children, knowing them since babyhood, it seems almost impossible that they can be graduating so soon.

Yet these graduates are almost men or women, and we must pause to remember:

- They are going to carry on what we have started. They will sit where we sit. You may adopt all the policies you please, but how well they will be carried depends upon them. Even if you make leagues and treaties, they will have to manage them. They are going to sit in the senate, and occupy the supreme bench. They will control your cities, states and nation. They are going to move in to your prisons, churches, schools, universities and corporations. All your work is going to be judged and praised or condemned by them. Your reputation and your future are in their hands. All your work is for them, and the fate of this nation and of humanity is in their hands. So it might be well to pay them some attention just now and for the next ten years.

It is very important that we keep our promises, every one. It may seem something to do so, but even that is beneficial in that it teaches us not to give our word too lightly. When we learn to think before speaking, we save ourselves a lot of trouble.—Grt.

More common sense in government and less tampering with known principles of economics would undoubtedly bring the country back to a footing. Experiments that don't work inspire other experiments that won't work. A government panacea administered to cure one ill causes other ills, and the result is more idleness and more government. More practical judgment and less laboratory speculation would seem to quiet fears, speed industry and employment and restore old-time prosperity.—Ex.

Lee's Choir Receives Commendation from Critics with Presentation of Colorful Opera "The Mikado"

The most colorful musical program given here in years was presented Thursday and Friday nights by Leslie G. Lee's choir.
Probably the most talked of opera in these parts these days is Gilbert and Sullivan's "The Mikado," by virtue of what Bill Robinson's group of musicians has done to the score by swinging it for Chicago and New York audiences. 'Twas this same opera (not the swing version) that Mr. Lee directed last week before two large audiences, made up of persons who like good music and who give the school projects a boost every time they can. Credit, for the stage settings goes to Robert Reed, who, with his own brush, assigned drops to fit the locale of the opera.
Brilliant robes were worn by members of the cast, making the scenes rich in splendor. Excellent casting for the roles and exceptional chorus work were responsible for the favorable comment the presentation received from village critics — and it isn't the home folk who are always the easiest to please.
Two complete casts were heard

ANN ARBOR DRAMA SEASON PRESENTS FINAL PLAY, JUNE 17

The Chorus of the 1939 Ann Arbor Dramatic Season will take place Tuesday, June 13, at the Lydia Mendelssohn theatre when a special revival of Bernard Shaw's most amusing comedy, "Captain Brassbound's Conversion," will be presented with Gladys Cooper as Lady Cicely Waynflete and Dennis Hoey as Captain Brassbound. The comedy is a study of an utterly charming English lady, Cicely Waynflete who manages to captivate a host of males who had planned to hold her and her brother for ransom and who are quarreling among themselves might have led to a minor war with England except for the fact that Lady Cicely's belief in everyone's innate generosity and nobility conquers all obstacles.
Dennis Hoey, who plays the pirate ringleader, Brassbound, was seen earlier in the Ann Arbor Season as Ulysses in "No War in Troy!" and later as the Revolutionary captain in "American Landscape."

ORR WINS STUDENT COUNCIL ELECTION

At the annual student council election held last Thursday morning, Bob Orr, Marilyn Cavell and Kenny Wolfe were chosen as mayor, secretary and treasurer, respectively for the next year's student council.

The campaign methods followed the usual trend, with candidates trying to see who could get the largest signs, and get them first.

NINTH GRADE VISITS DETROIT NEWS PLANT

Mrs. Marshall Herrick's vocations class and Harry B. Smith's science classes, visited The Detroit News building and its radio station, WWJ, last Friday afternoon.

After meeting at the News plant, they toured through the editorial, photography, news, composing, distribution, classified, printing, and famous other departments.

Editor's Note...

It's the last issue of the year and the last week for some 80 seniors in Northville high school. Included in this group is your editor and although this is the last Orange and Black page of this term...

THE AUTOGRAPH BOOK AND WHAT IT MEANS

Doesn't it make you mad, Doesn't it get your goat, When you get in the bath tub, And can't find the soap?

Don't worry if your work is hard, And your rewards are few, Remember the mighty oak, Was once a nut like you.

Grandpa's getting' old and gray, His whiskers whiter every day, Grandma chews them in her sleep, And thinks she's chewin' 'Shred-ded Wheat'.

Perhaps they'll bring a smile or maybe a tear in your eye but they are happy memories and you would not trade them for the world.

He kissed her in the moonlight, Her face was deadly white, For she was a marble statue, And he was drunk that night.

When evening draws the curtain, And 'plips it with a star, I'll always think of you, dear one, And wonder where you are.

Perhaps you do wonder as you thumb through the aged pages, Funny verses fill your book and you laugh again as you read them and remember who wrote them.

LIT. CLASS PICNICS AT EDISON LAKE

Mrs. Frank Hawkins' senior English literature classes held a picnic and swimming party at Edison Lake, last Monday afternoon.

Meeting at the school, the students were loaded into cars driven by Mrs. Hawkins, Henry Bartrum, Kendall Willis, Maurice Hine, Ernest and Ray Parmenter.

Those who wished to go swimming, rushed to the bath house, then to the lake where they swam for about 1 1/2 hours.

Those who went were Mrs. Hawkins, Eugene Hogan, Maxine Perkins, Rowena Lavraice, John Gibson, Ruth Leavenworth, Gall Hornung, Clara Christensen, Mary Geraghty, Faith Liebigreue, Marjean Lidgarc, James Geraghty, Philip Chase, Don Green, Henry Bartrum, Kendall Willis, Alfred Cousins, Marion Coleman, Juanita Stanford, Bob Orr, Don Armstrong, Berwyn Thomas, Ray Parmenter, Maurice Hage, Lester, Jane Van Arck, Betty Gillespie, Walter Myers, Dick Larkins, Keith Avel, George Eughton, Ross Brunarsky, Rhea Walling, Lucille Price and Betty Carlson.

Class Notes

The pupils of Miss Estelle Griffith's geography class are studying the countries of Europe and Asia. To aid them in this work, they have had slides of India.

These slides show plainly the customs of the Indian people and their various occupations. One of the most interesting was that of the snake charming. His sweet-flowing music attracts both people and snakes and seems to draw them toward him.

Another interesting item was that they left their flint uncovered so that dust from the street settled on it. This is one reason why cholera is a frequent disease in India.

The slides helped to impress upon the students the conditions of the country and the habits of the Oriental people.
