It's Up to Congress . . .

A special session of Congress finds the National Capital again active with the peaceful good old summertime left behind, and the Federal Government united in the opinion that the United States must keep out of the European war.

As the session opens there is stiff tension, for while "Neutrality" is a word that has been on all lips for the past few weeks no one knows how to make it fit a nation whose rulers and citizens are mostly un-neutral.

The question of keeping the embargo on arms and munitions, or repealing that provision of the neutrality act, is but a part of the responsibility of Congress to the nation. Snap judgment and opinion ought to give way to a full examination and determination of policies that will be best for the country, and which will lessen the danger of our own citizens being drawn into the war. But, will it? The best men of the United States think differently about these questions. If "best men" do their "best thinking" that will be the best they can do.

The duty of every citizen to obtain an understanding of the issues that are involved can be easily fulfilled by following the discussions in the United States Senate, and by listening to broad-minded men who submit reasonable facts and opinions—and cut out all prejudiced and dogmatic doctrines—over the radio.

We think we aren't going to get into war, but we thought that in November, 1916, and changed our minds and declared war the following April. Will we go crazy again?

The President has performed the constitutional obligations of his office by calling Congress in special session, and by submitting his recommendations for a changed foreign policy. That is his constitutional duty.

Congress has reached the point where it must assume the full responsibility of the war situation. It can agree, or disagree, with the President. War, or peace, is a tremendous responsibility. No matter what happens that may bring blame, or praise, Congress has the Constitutional authority, and the responsibility, in its hands. Congress has plenty of time to decide, wisely. It should be wise enough not to go too fast.

Hold fast upon God with one hand and open wide the other to your neighbor—that is religion.—George MacDonald

79 Years, Friday . . .

He was 79 years old last Friday. "Ah, yes, this kindly gentleman, beaming in his daily work of selling vegetable, cookies and flowers from his push cart, found joy and a world of remembrance in the brief statement, 'Yesterday was my birthday.' Kind, and the very embodiment of courtesy and un-mellowed grace, we brought ourselves to the many times he had solicited us for sales. Making an honest, and rugged livelihood, selling his wares to villagers, we ever admired his approach, his 'Thank you very much, just the same' when his pocket register showed 'No Sale.' His soft words, his gentle approach, revealed an apparent zest of life and what it has to offer. Yes, you know him better than I do, for our gracious friend who was 79 last Friday, Sept. 22 (the last day of Summer), was none other than Leonard B. Charter. Our congratulations, and best wishes. You merit our admiration; we cite your gracious courtesy as worthy of emulation by raising generations.

Human nature is very much the same, and high and low, great and small yield to circumstances often considered apparently unimportant but exceptionally human. Yes, we thought of that when we heard that the address of the president of the American Medical Society at the Grand Rapids Convention was postponed a half hour while the good doctors listened in on the Pastor-Louis fight. Some may say such things are foolish, but they make life—and the very inconsistencies are often the sparks that make real life, unpredictable and exceedingly enjoyable.

While Europe goes on a war time ration, America will eat turkey one week earlier—another blessing of democracy.

"Season of Mists and Mellow Fruitfulness."—Kent.

Folks are beginning to feel better—Autumn is in the air. The heat of the sun has diminished, and mildly stimulating atmosphere puts zip into the thinned summer blood, and brings renewed energy.

Crackling fires feel good on the cool nights, fruits are mellowing in the orchard, fruit cellars are being filled, all glorious signs of approaching Fall. Soon Mother Nature will be turning on the multitude of colors and hues of Autumn in full force, and what glorious days are in store for us during the grandest season of them all—Autumn. Autumn arrived officially Sept. 23. "Season of mists and mellow fruitfulness."

"Can't become an arsenal for one belligerent without becoming a target for the other."—Senator Vandenberg.

After spending a delightful two hours at the Penniman-Allen theater last Friday night enjoying the Wizard of Oz, we felt that we were thrice blessed. First, because Sam Stremick had the children from the training school in as his guests, and how they enjoyed the evening. Second, much as we hate to admit it, we enjoy these fantasies of child literature and we did enjoy the Wizard of Oz. Third, shortly after the show over the radio came the background of the story as told by the widow of the author. She told how her husband loved to tell stories to the children in the neighborhood, and how the children really appreciated and enjoyed them. She urged him to write them. He dictated, she wrote. They took the story

It was a real Christmas in the Frank Baum home.

Walled Lake Rector Protests Against Present War as Means of Bringing Peace

By C. E. HUTTON

The rector of our church, during his sermon, had delivered an intensely penetrating mind, soul and heart stirring protest against the present war and all wars as a means of arriving at an ultimate, permanent peace, or lasting settlement of anything. He had protested with all his strength against any change in our present laws of neutrality which might in any way effect the very independence and freedom which is the keystone of our democracy.

We must insulate ourselves against propaganda and all other instruments of war. We had turned to the materialists he counseled. You never lose money in the long run, from being right. Figure it up for yourselves. And to all this, "Resolve to appreciate what we have."

In a conversation, a day or so later, pertaining to points in the rector's sermon, a man of spiritual indifference toward any benefits he has received as a native of this country, and who takes his gains as a matter of course and very much for granted, commented to the rector-like this: "If God is supposed to provide us with everything we need, which is worthwhile in our lives, then why does God even permit such things as wars to go on? Why does He let people be killed? Why does He let rulers of countries involve people in mass murder? As for appreciating what I have, I do. But I figure I wouldn't have any time if I myself didn't get it for myself. Nobody gave it to me, religion or no religion. And what can I do to help myself, if my government involves me in war, and causes me to lose everything I have? If God gives me these things, then why shouldn't He help me keep them?"

"In the first place," answered the weary rector, "where did the things you have come from, before you got them? I know they came from the store, the garden, or the mill, or the air, or the sea. But where did the store, the garden, the mill, the air or the seas come from? I know you bought or worked for the things you have. But where did the money to buy the things you used in your work come from? Where did you come from? Where did the human race come from? You say they might have come from fish or monkeys? Where did the fish and monkeys come from? And before that and that and that? . . . We who accept certain things as so, start with God.

He provided us with mind, and bodies, and the intelligence to use them. He also gave us laws governing their use. You accept without question fundamental laws as applied to material things. Why is

Detroit's Theatre Opener Is Headed by R. Chatterton

Monday evening, Oct. 2, Detroit's legitimate theatrical season at the Cass theatre will be inaugurated by the appearance there of the delightful comedienne, Ruth Chatterton in a gay new play entitled "Tonight We Dance".

"Tonight We Dance" is the work of two renowned women playwrights, Marceline Burke and Gladys Unger, and it was staged by another famous woman, Auriol Lee, who was one of the most accomplished of English actresses before she turned to directing. The production has an unusually fine supporting cast including Barry Thompson, prominent in the company of Alfred Lunt and Ignace Fournelle, and last seen with them Lila Lee, star of the silent film days; Marcel Journet, a French actor of high standing in Paris and London; Roy Johnson, Thomas Hume, Adeline Roatina and Jimmy Roland, an 8-year-old youngster who has been hailed a boy prodigy.

The scenes of "Tonight We Dance" are laid in an adobe ranch house near Santa Barbara, Calif. The action concerns the domestic affairs of Ramona Risco (Miss Chatterton), her husband and their two young daughters and son. In an entirely amusing and satirical way, and with many surprise situations, the problems are satisfactorily solved.

Walled Lake News

By C. E. Hutton

The first regular meeting for the fall season of the Walled Lake Parent Teachers Association was held Thursday evening, in the new auditorium of the school, and was well attended by members and people of the community.

The program was centered about a reception for the 36 faculty members of the three schools of the Walled Lake system. Music was provided by the high school band, and brief talks were given by representatives of the school administration, the faculty, P. T. A. business men and the churches.

George Carpenter, school principal, introduced the teachers in an address of welcome, and C. B. Guilford of the high school faculty, responded. E. V. Mercer, president of the school board spoke, as did the Rev. Frank N. Miner and the Rev. William Wheeler Bixley. H. G. Roach spoke for the people of the community, and Mrs. Lloyd Coe, president of the P. T. A., voiced the greeting of the association.

A social hour followed the program, providing those present with an opportunity to inspect the new school additions and alterations.

Walled Lake high school's football squad was highly elated over their return to winning form in their initial game of the season against Northville, Friday.

A church and religious census of the schools of the district in the form of questionnaires is being taken by churches of the village, to determine the degree of interest taken by students in church or religious activities.

Walled Lake high school's football squad was highly elated over their return to winning form in their initial game of the season against Northville, Friday. Although the starting team suffers from lack of weight, indications point to a compensating speed and agility which may figure largely in the progress of the team before their Southwestern Oakland County League campaign ends in November. Coach Hursh enjoyed a somewhat more optimistic outlook as the result of his team's show against the strength of their Wayne county neighbors.

Rally Day at the Methodist church will be observed at all services Sunday. Special effort is being made toward a large attendance at the morning service at ten o'clock, and the church school program at 11:15. Supper will be served at 6 p. m., followed by a fellowship service and concluding with a local church conference of members to discuss and outline plans for the church year, in all department.

The following new members were added to the Wayne County Dairy Herd Improvement Association during the month of August: L. D. King, Plymouth; Dr. Sherwood, Detroit; Lester Budd & Son, Belleville; Stanley Budd, Romulus; and Wesley McCalla, Trenton.

The high herd in pounds of butterfat for herds of eight cows or less was owned by L. D. King, Plymouth, with 28.4 pounds butterfat. For herds of 9-16 cows, Lester Budd and Son, Belleville, with 30.8 pounds butterfat and for herds of 17 or more cows Emerson Dairy with 34.4 pounds butterfat.

Thirteen herds are now being tested with a total of 347 cows.

Reports show that to Sept. 1, 275 bee yards had been inspected in Wayne county by H. A. Gregory, bee inspector.

The Honey Market News Letter shows that 125 beekeepers reporting in Michigan reported 13,586 colonies in 1938 and 15,942 colonies in 1939, an increase of 16 per cent. The average yield in 1938 was 140 pounds per colony as compared to 109 pounds in 1939.

WINGS for WORDS

Distance... once a barrier to spoken words... has lost its power to limit the human voice. Today words defy the intervening miles, and two friends with an ocean or a continent between them talk as if face to face. In thus extending the range of man's voice, the telephone performs a modern miracle. It is part of the miracle that this is done so swiftly, so easily and so cheaply.

These figures clearly indicate that investors are unwilling to take a chance in industrial corporations. Added tax burdens, increased restrictive regulations, and unsettled labor conditions have been contributing factors to this situation.

According to Federal Reserve Board figures, the average yield on utility bonds dropped from 7.19 per cent to 3.87 per cent between 1929 and 1939; from 7.12 per cent to 5.12 per cent on railroad bonds; and from 6.94 per cent to 3.5 per cent on bonds of industrial corporations.

A comparison: From 1913 to 1939, taxes in the United Kingdom rose 430 per cent; during the same period, taxes in the United States increased 640 per cent. In other words, taxes in this country have risen six and one-half times compared to the four and one-half times in the United Kingdom. The national debt of England will show an increase of slightly more than $4,690,000,000, exclusive of newly incurred war costs, in the ten-year period which will end on Dec. 31, 1939. SEEK NEW AMERICANS

NO one of the forty-eight states in the Union is entirely free of aliens—these states hundreds of thousands of aliens are eligible for citizenship in the United States. Graphically illustrated above is the alien problem of the United States—a problem that is admittedly one of the major problems to be faced in the nation's fight for democracy.

The figures above give the number of white aliens, 21 or over, according to the 1930 census. They are in effect the total number of aliens eligible for citizenship in each of the states. A long-term attack on this vital problem was recently inaugurated by the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, through its 1,500 subordinate lodges in cities, towns and villages throughout the country.

In most of these lodges, preliminary and first steps have already been taken to set the campaign in motion. The Elks campaign is based on a four-point program. It calls for a survey of the nation's aliens; a campaign to sell aliens on Americanism and American citizenship; instruction for citizenship; and an active part by the Elks in seeing that the aliens do acquire citizenship.

In each lodge there is, or will be set up a permanent naturalization committee. This committee not only guides Elks activities in naturalization, but seeks to make these activities, community-wide. Such a community-wide effort is a forward step for democracy, Dr. Edward J. McCormick, grand exalted ruler of the Elks, believes.

Fatherly Advice
 Professing himself ready to fight as his father did 21 years ago, Alvin C. York Jr. wants to join the navy. Women Will Study Business of Home in Extension Class
 The women of Wayne county enrolled in Home Economics Extension groups this year will study things they need to know about conducting the business side of homemaking. The meetings are planned to inform the progressive homemaker about some of the laws which affect her family.
 "We do not expect the women to become law experts in two lessons," says Miss Julia Pond, who will conduct the meetings. "We do know that women are interested in knowing about such things and that much interest is aroused in putting family affairs in order."
 Some facts about checks, notes, mortgages, automobile laws, wills and estates will be some of the items considered by Julia Pond who is home management specialist at Michigan State college. Since women may own property in their own right and may need to know whether married, widowed or single, it is a protection to know enough facts to be an intelligent business person.
 An additional feature will be a discussion of price trends of food, shoes, overalls, and other family necessities as indicated by booklet reports for the year, the effect of these price trends upon the family living is one of the worries of every homemaker who must plan ahead for family needs. This discussion will also include information on the financing of household purchases. Such things as charge accounts, installment buying and regulations affecting these will be taken up in the meeting.
 Included in the project will be facts and figures which can be used by the alert homemaker when she purchases, such articles as a saucepan, a paring knife or eggbeater, sheets, pillow cases, blankets, pillows, mattresses and springs.
 In fact the entire group of six discussions is planned to help all home makers, enrolled in the project do a better job of the business and planning side of homemaking. The titles of the meetings are as follows: Laws Concerning Property Rights, Michigan Laws Affecting the Family, Business Information for Every Day Use, Small Equipment for the Kitchen, Buying Sheets and Blankets, and Buying Pillows, Mattresses and Springs.
 The series of six meetings for the leaders of the group begins at 10 a. m. on Friday, Sept. 29, according to Emma DuRoi, county home extension agent, Dearborn. These discussions will be held at the Library, Wayne. It is anticipated that 200 women will be enrolled in the project during the year.
 Miss Kathleen Sprenger succeeds Miss Rhea Lyon as office assistant to Dr. Richard L. Kerr.

Northville Team Plays Melvindale There, Friday

To Be the First Game Under the Lights in History of School

The Northville football team will play its first night game in the school's history, Friday, Sept. 29, at Melvindale. The opening kickoff is scheduled for 8 p. m.

Melvindale will probably put a strong team on the field, because they always have in previous years. The boys are going to work and no matter what the outcome is, they are going to promise a hard fought battle.

FRENCH CLUB ELECTS

An election of officers for the French club was held Sept. 20. Eugenia Sanford was chosen president, Mary Frances Batt, vice-president, Eweria Trofast, secretary, and Joyce Morley, treasurer. Plans were made for a progressive dinner, which was held Sept. 28. After each course was served, the members sang French songs and played French games.

EDITORIAL NOTES

This week an orchid is extended to those who are responsible for the purchase of an electric scoreboard for the high school gym. The three organizations that were responsible are the Boys' 13-Club, Girls' N-Club, and the Senior Class of '39. William Hensch presented it to the student body and the faculty members of the high school Wednesday morning, Sept. 20. Everyone is proud to feel that they have something outstanding in the gym.

The Boys' 13-Club of last year was organized with Kenneth Chapell, president. They originated the idea of buying the scoreboard and immediately began giving dances. At the end of the school year they didn't have quite enough funds so the Girls' N-Club aided them in giving the last formal dance of the season. With these profits the scoreboard was more nearly within their grasp. The senior class had some money left in the treasury which they wished to donate to a worthy cause. Feeling this was a needy one they gave all the money they had. The scoreboard was purchased and is now ready for the basketball game.

These clubs just mentioned were organized by students who had some excellent ideas and wanted to use their spare time to good advantage. These students were pioneering in a new field and leave a challenge for the student body of this and future years.

Drum-Bugle Corps Sponsor Lecture

Thursday night, Sept. 21, in the Northville high school gym, the school band opened a program sponsored by the Drum and Bugle Corps.

Before the speaker of the evening was introduced, Miss Helen Winters favored the audience with singing "God Bless America," accompanied by Carrel Carlson, Orlow G. Owen then introduced Arthur Clifford Reed, a noted lecturer who was at one time an officer of the U. S. Navy and of the Chinese army. The topic of his lecture was "400,000,000 Fight Back."

He emphasized the over population of China and the war situation there. At the close of this interesting lecture, Mr. Reed answered questions asked by the spectators. The band closed the program by playing "The Star Spangled Banner."

First Pep Meeting Held Last Friday

The students of N. H. S. enjoyed their first pep meeting, a few hours before their team opened their 1939 football season, Friday, Sept. 22, against Walled Lake. After joining in a few cheers led by Phyl Jones and Louie Babbitt, a few words were said by Coach Harry B. Smith. The team was presented, and Neville Walker, assistant coach, was introduced. Orlow G. Owen, a great guy to have around, gave a short pep talk. Prin. G. V. Harrison was present. Bob Orr was the master of ceremonies.

Girls' N Club To Hold Bake Sale

Thursday, Sept. 21, marked the first Girls' N-club meeting for the year. The following people were elected to offices: President, Mary Frances Batt, vice-president, Pat Kilin, secretary, Ruth Parmenter, treasurer, Marilyn Cavell.

Plans for a bake sale were made for Saturday, Sept. 30. Ida Marie Walker was appointed to select an open date for a dance, which will be held in the near future.

The date set for the next meeting was Tuesday, Sept. 26.

CHEER LEADERS INTRODUCED

The two cheer leaders of Northville high school are Phyllis Jones and Louie Babbitt. They were really first introduced Friday, Sept. 22, in the assembly for our first pep meeting. The school has provided each with a bright orange sweater trimmed in black. They also have two new megaphones.

LATIN CLUB ORGANIZES

The first Latin club in many years has been organized by the ninth and tenth grade Latin classes. The officers elected were: President, Carrel Carlson, vice-president, Robert McCluskie, secretary and treasurer, Dick Simmons.

With Miss Ione Palmer as their sponsor, they have planned to hold a meeting once a month at one of the club members' homes. Last Monday they had their first meeting at Cass Benson Park.

EDMONDSON TO SPEAK

Tom Edmondson, the Ford dealer of Northville, will address the speech class today about his business and what he expects of his salesmen. The class plans to have someone every week to talk as Mr. Edmondson is doing.

Donations Help Buy New Music, Band Instruments

Receive Money from Village Council For Giving Concerts in Park

The Northville high school band has added some new instruments to the red section. Through the help of the city council for giving concerts in the park this summer the band received a generous donation.

When they played at the Northville Wayne County Fair they were granted another generous sum which has helped in securing four new clarinets and one oboe and helped pay for new band uniforms. They are playing at all the home football games and will give two or three concerts in the gym this winter. They also have many new pieces including "Westward Ho" and the "Mikado," the same "Mikado" which was given by the choir last spring.

Topic for Debate Selected for Year

One of the outside activities that has been a highlight of our school year in previous years is now making motions toward becoming a well organized team - that of debate.

Last week the notice, calling all students who were interested in debate to meet in E. C. Mollen's room was sent around with the result of about six students reporting. The question for debate this year is "Resolved: That the railroad should be owned and operated by the United States Government."

HAVE A HOT DOG!

"Hot Dogs! Peanuts! Get your refreshments here, students!" Such was the slogan that echoed throughout the bleachers and sidelines at the first home football game of the season, Sept. 22. The senior class was responsible for the stand which satisfied so many a hungry palate. Thanks to the hungry bystanders, the seniors increased their treasury by approximately twenty dollars. Besides selling hot dogs and candy bars the seniors also sold potato chips and roasted peanuts. These two latter articles had not been sold in previous years and as a result were very successful.

Senior Sketch

Marie Angove's first cry resounded throughout the nursery on Jan. 24, 1923 in Lansing. About five years later, the kindergarten at Lansing welcomed her. When she reached the fourth grade, Mrs. James Congo greeted her in the old Northville grade school building. These last nine years Marie has attended N. H. S., where she has been active in many outside organizations as well as her school work. Marie's favorite hobbies are playing the piano and caring for her coal black cat called "Snowball." To many of her friends she is known as "Toots," a name given her by her brothers.

Looking into her future years, we find she is planning her freshman year at Albion, and the rest of her schooling at Michigan State college. What she will do from there on, we are all left to guess.

Perchance You May Not Need Glasses

However . . .

RECENT SURVEYS SHOW THAT

That 23 per cent of the school children under 20 years of age need glasses.
Between 20 and 30 years, 33 per cent need the services of optometry; 48 per cent of our people from 30 to 40 years of age need glasses. From 40 to 50 years 71 per cent; 50 to 60 years 82 per cent and people over 60 require glasses for at least 95 per cent of their group.

THE EYE IS THE GREAT GIVER OF KNOWLEDGE - THE WINDOW OF THE SOUL

Man sees a single object - lower forms of life see two different pictures. Many humans because of mal-adjustment, often border on double vision, or suffer great discomfort in attempting to focus both eyes.
All too often burdens have drawn eyes out of line and precise coordination falters - eyes are forced beyond their strength. Then discomfort and fatigue call for the skill of the optometrist to diagnose, and remedy the condition. Why suffer eye strain when the super skill of modern optometry can so easily and pleasantly remove the source of irritation?

A SPECIALIST IS THE OPTOMETRIST

He corrects and stabilizes faulty human eyes with lenses and muscle coordination. He has special training and that is why he furnishes 75 per cent of all glasses worn. He must take a special four-year course of training in Optometry, and must pass a State examination to practice. Optometry is a specialized type of skill with many kindred and basic principles that touch anatomy and psychology. Faulty mechanism, needing optometric aid represent over 90 per cent of all eye troubles.

veition, Mr. Angove took in the sights of London.

Background
As he revealed the historical background and the significance of the many places of interest, the audience was taken to the Houses of Parliament, to Trafalgar Square, Hyde Park, witnessed the changing of the guard, attended with the speaker a Command Party given by the King and Queen at Buckingham Palace, and stepped with silent tread in the Halls of Westminster Abbey, across from the Halls of Parliament a statue of Abraham Lincoln faced the doors of that Hall of liberty, a most significant symbol to the heart of the American traveler. He then spoke concerning the beauty of Hampton Court Palace, and the historical background of this former home of a Catholic cardinal, and later the scenes of the escapades of Henry the VIII.

Continuing his discourse, Mr. Angove told of the convulsion and the strange parade of people of all nations being willing and anxious to join in aiding the crippled children, but revolting through their poverty to yield domestic peacefully the desire for land.

Face War Calmly
Concerning war time England the speaker found that the English people had no quarrel with other peoples, but felt that they must keep a pledge that their country was now prepared to meet the challenge of the hour and the English people were returned to the calm acceptance of war and if it came. The people of the British Isles wintered here above all things, but it was came they were willing to accept in calm and glad determination to see it through.

Mr. Angove spoke most interestingly, in a very informal, but informative manner, filling this talk with personal incidents and experiences that added much to the enjoyment of the evening.
