The Oldest Paper in Wayne County Outside the City of Detroit

Need Daylight Government . . .

At times we pray for a great and good G. O. P. leader, a Moses to lead us republicans in a holy crusade to give the government back to the people, and bring to Michigan economy and daylight in the conduct of affairs in Lansing. While the shadows of a Murphy regime lengthen, there is little hope of daylight in State affairs while the threat of bossism pulls the curtain strings.

There is a growing feeling that all is not well in the present administration at Lansing. Bossism, garbled words, self-seeking publicity, gag rule on financial facts—mouthing without meaning, and other accumulations at the Capital suggest a new crusade for daylight in State government. Minorities and bosses apparently have a stranglehold on State affairs. While payrolls increase and soundings are taken on increasing the sales tax and words confuse, it is refreshing to know that the Auditor General refuses to be gagged, even by executive decree. States Richard Cook in the Hastings Banner:

We're glad to see that Auditor-General Verr Brown refused to be gagged by executive decree. The auditor general holds the theory that a public official is primarily responsible to the people; not to a party or a group within a party. Consequently periodic reports of condition are not only a right but a duty. There is no reason why the administration in power should take a chip-on-the-shoulder attitude toward these reports. These things can be aired in a constructive as well as a destructive way. More public discussion of these matters certainly wouldn't do any harm. On the contrary they might do a world of good.

Remember when—ah, yes, even our oldest inhabitants have to scratch their heads to remember a more beautiful autumn than the one we just experienced.

Be Cautious of Strangers . . .

Look out for the seasonal "rackets"—those smooth-talking strangers who hog your hospitality, irritate your good nature, sponge your rent, light and heat, and covet your Christmas dollars. Photographers claim national Press connections, hosiery salesmen seeking a down deposit, and solicitors for the poor Siamese Twins of Zanzibar, all will take a fling at the Northville dollar and Yuletide generosity. Most of them are fakes. The safest rule is to give the stranger group the cold shoulder. Maybe a future Northville Board of Commerce will set up a credentials bureau to protect the villagers.

Out-State editors are asking the Wayne county boys "Hi Doton is still in the land of the free", referring of course to conditions in industry emphasized by union conduct during recent strikes. Perhaps Detroit might be described as the Land of the "Free for All".

Shop Early This Year . . .

The time honored slogan dear to the heart of the merchant "Do your Christmas Shopping early" presupposes the intention to the merchant to do his Christmas showing and advertising early. Metropolitan stores have been "Christmasizing" for weeks.

With large city stores accessible and mail-order catalogues loudly making their bids with garished advertisements, too many dollars all too often leave town with the morning mail or the automobile. To get a generous share of Christmas trade the Northville merchant must make an active campaign.

Many of the larger sales will be made in the next two weeks, before the family gift budget is depleted. Last-minute salesmen will find it thin and dimmed, equal only to the final details and forgotten little gifts. Those who start now to campaign for their share of holiday selling will get the most substantial sales.

Over 1,800 families covering 90 per cent of this trading area are reading The Record, waiting for an invitation to come in and see what the "home town" merchant has to supply for the bounty of Christmas gifts. An advertisement is your open invitation to the dollars and dimes of each.

Roger Babson says, "Smart buyers will do their Christmas Shopping NOW." He advised everybody to get at this pleasant chore as soon as possible, not simply to avoid the inhuman rush at the last minute, which is even harder on salespeople than on frantic shoppers, but for strictly utilitarian reasons. Observers and forecasters expect this Christmas season to break a lot of records for volume of buying. The late comers may find the things they want to buy already gone.

Only 17 more days 'til Christmas—and remember to patronize those merchants of Northville who extend you an invitation through the columns of THE RECORD—they invite your presence—they welcome you as their guest.

Scouts Do Their Stuff . . .

Northville really stood out in the limelight of Scouting in this district at the Court of Honor held last week at the Training school. Northville this and Northville that, sure brought forth the real facts that Scouting is catching here. Not only is the idea catching but our Northville Scouts are doing—and isn't that Scouting in a nutshell—contagious and up and doing things—that is the program of Scouting. Have witnessed 50 or more courts before, but last week's was the best organized and conducted court we have ever attended. Congratulations to those responsible.

Northville's merchants have already caught the Yuletide Spirit and decorated their stores and windows. The city fathers likewise are lighting the Village Christmas Spirit with lights and festoons strung along the streets for the business district. Really and truly it's great to see the spirit of Christmas in Northville. Don't you think so?

Can you FIND YOUR STORE from a block away?

If you can't, neither can your customers... and you may be losing possible sales. That is why an electric sign is a paying investment. Bright signs and bright windows attract crowds. Look down the street after nightfall in any shopping center: Successful stores, theaters and progressive places of business mark their location with a brilliant flood of light. Names in lights are names noticed. If your store has a transom built over the door and window, it can easily be converted into an attractive silhouette sign. These fascia signs are thoroughly modern and do a very effective job at a minimum expense. Detroit Edison engineers will gladly give you complete information about different kinds of lighting for your store. Call your Detroit Edison office. The Detroit Edison Company.

WARNUP SAVES TRACTOR
An occasional starting and warming up of a tractor, even when it is not being regularly used during the winter months helps keep internal parts lubricated, suggests H. H. Musselman, head of agricultural engineering at Michigan State college. Inside parts kept well oiled resist rust.

Muriel Price-Merrill Emery Speak Nuptial Vows

Miss Muriel Jenne Price, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George I. Price, of 404 Dubuque street, became the bride of G. Merrill Emery, son of Mrs. Harriett S. Emery of 26354 Notre Dame, Dearborn, in a pretty candle light ceremony held at seven o'clock Saturday, Dec. 2, at the home of the bride's parents.

Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" was played by Miss Charlotte Goss, great aunt of the bride, who also played the wedding march for the bride's mother when she was married. Three of the bride's sisters, the Misses Virginia, Lucile and Shirley sang "I Love You Truly" before the pledging of the vows before the Rev. Dr. Thomas W. Smith, minister of the Northville Presbyterian church. Candelabra, and floral arrangement of white mums and roses formed the improvised altar for the home rites.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin gown that formed a slight train. With this she wore a fingertip veil. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses and white baby mums.

Miss Dorothy M. Price was her sister's attendant. She wore a peach-colored blue frock and carried gold-colored mums. Peggy Ann Price, dressed in pink tulle and gold slippers, was flower girl.

Charles Orser was Mr. Emery's best man.

Mrs. Price and Mrs. Emery both wore black crepe dresses for the wedding, accented with baby mums and roses which formed shoulder corsages.

Following the ceremony, a buffet supper was served to the wedding guests in the Price home. Mr. and Mrs. Emery left that night for a brief wedding trip in Toledo, O. They are making their home in Detroit.

"Due to our program of consolidation of adjacent school districts," said Mr. Hoffman, "the cost of improvements to the school building has been no more to the taxpayers of the district than was the tax on the original Walled Lake district. The local school tax is one of the lowest in the State, and will remain so. BOXING

some rest before getting into the ring again.

The highlight of the evening, the exhibition between Kayo and Forbes, kept the audience in an uproar. Kayo danced around the ring with his arms down, while Forbes tried his best to hit him, only to give up in disgust at the end of each round. Fans commented yesterday that Northville had never seen such an exhibition of self-defense. Forbes is a fast and clever boxer, one of the best to appear in Northville shows, but he was unable to put a glove on Kayo, who did not give ground, but slipped or ducked all Forbes' punches.

Dan Draper, the Athletic club boxing coach and matchmaker, referee all of the bouts, except two Bob's power, assisted by Earl and Fred. He weighed in the boxers and bandaged their hands. B. J. Hammermeister and Vernon Plym were the judges. Neville Walker was the timekeeper. A swell job of announcing was done by Orlow G. Owen, minus his public address system. Art Carlson was kept busy rounding up supplies during the fights, while Dick Luoma, manager of the Athletic club, supervised the program.

Angry boxers wishing bouts in the next show in January, are to notify Dan Draper, affirms Mr. Loomis.

ANOTHER CORN COUNTY
Berrien county in Michigan is officially a commercial corn county, one of 13 newly designated counties named by Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture. Other Michigan counties previously classified as commercial corn growing areas are Branch, Calhoun, Cass, Hillsdale, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Lenawee, St. Joseph, Washtenaw and Wayne.

The regular meeting of the Allen Harmon Relief Corps will be held Wednesday evening, Dec. 13, in the Legion Hall. All members are asked to be present for the election of officers.

Water to Reduce Home Heat Cost

Two to five gallons of water evaporated daily into the air in a five room house during the winter heating period can cut heating costs and make the home seem more comfortable.

Spontaneous experimentation in his own home by H. H. Musselman, head of Agricultural Engineering at Michigan State college, apparently has not made him less immune to winter colds, but has cut fuel costs and made his home seem more comfortable.

Dry air, it is explained, causes rapid evaporation from a person's skin. Thus in dry air a person may feel uncomfortably cool when the temperature is 68 to 72 degrees, although this should be a reasonable temperature range.

The water pan on a furnace permits some addition of moisture to the air. Radiator evaporating pans, flat pans on pipeless furnace registers, teakettles on a stove or a flat pan on the kitchen range are other pieces of useful equipment, but generally inadequate. Even house plants help some humidity to the air.

"Just remember the easier-to-breathe air that used to pervade a home during the old-fashioned 'wash day,'" says Professor Musselman. "That was merely a matter of having a higher humidity than on other days in winter when the heating system seemed to be shirking its duty."

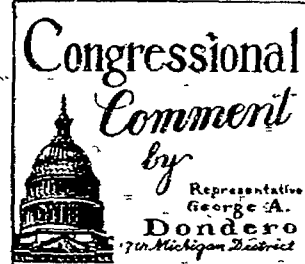

Beauty in Cow No Proof at Pail

More than 600,000 milk cows in Michigan include many "ugly ducklings" whose milk production proves that beauty is no more than skin deep and that a pretty set of horns or an attractively colored hide have no correlation with ability to produce.

So says A. C. Baltzer, extension dairyman at Michigan State college.

In the midst of a new program affecting thousands of animals "enrolled" in dairy herd improvement association work in the State, accurate records involve generation to generation production records. By filing 305-day production records with the federal dairy bureau offices in Washington, cow testers and their association members are learning exact relationships between breeding and production.

"Milk volume and fat test are the selection factors," says Baltzer. "By scanning generation to generation records we can find definite promise of what kind of a bull or heifer calf is likely to be produced by a certain mating," he affirms.

Emergency Executive Powers

Some weeks ago Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg asked Attorney General Frank Murphy to report to the U. S. Senate what executive powers were made available to the President under his proclamation of national emergency and what other extraordinary powers, if any, would be made available to the executive under existing statutes in an emergency or state of war.

Attorney General Murphy responded to the Vandenberg resolution (S. R. 185) with an extensive list of such powers and prefaced his report with these words, among others: "I have prepared and am transmitting herewith a list of statutes which, by their terms, grant to the executive branch of the government powers which may be exercised in emergency or state of war. It is not claimed that this list is complete — indeed, accuracy in this respect can be assured only by careful and painstaking search of the entire body of the Federal statutory law — statutes of this class having been enacted from time to time since the beginning of the government."

It is certainly startling to note that the list referred to by the At-

Four Chinese Who Caused a World Crisis

Here are the four Chinese whose alleged murder of a Jap puppet official at Tientsin, China, several months ago precipitated Japanese demands that Great Britain recognize the "new order" in China. British-Jap conferences in Tokyo, started as a result of the incident, are still continuing and the four prisoners are shown being removed from British to Japanese custody, one of the points on which the British capitulated.

Torrey General included 98 different listings of grants of executive powers, one dating as far back as 1782. This complete list reveals executive powers covering agriculture, banking, commerce and trade, coinage, foreign relations, money, navigation, patents, public health, transportation, shipping, communications, military and naval affairs, and other subjects affecting our citizens. In fact, existing legislation vests dictatorial powers in the chief executive.

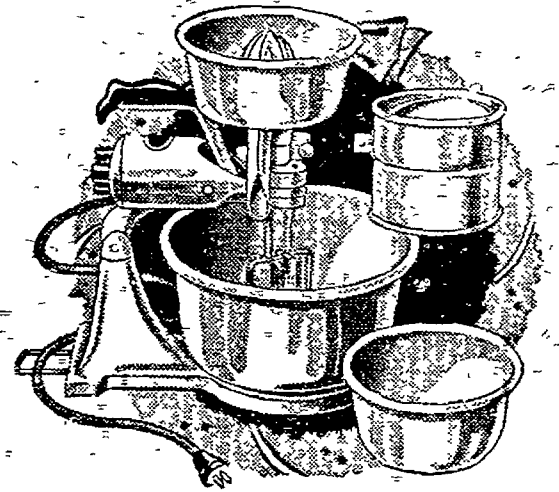

All of these powers were not voted during the period from March 4, 1933 but date back many years. This dangerous situation has been reached because of the failure of Congress to repeal any of them after the emergency which brought them about had passed. The information which has become public relative to the industrial mobilization plan prepared by the Army and Navy has served to arouse public antagonism to vast grants to the executive, regardless of who that executive may be in time of emergency or state of war.

Space does not permit outlining, even briefly, all of the various powers vested in the executive but some are so far-reaching in their effect that they demand public attention. For in haste, power is vested in the President to control production and the prices of all farm commodities. He may also fix wages and hours on Federal contracts to such an extent that the procedure would influence wage levels and prices in private industry. He may also, by proclamation, close the banks and stock and commodity markets. WINTER TRAFFIC TOLL SPURS DRIVE TO REDUCE SLIPPERY PAVEMENT ACCIDENTS

Top right: The National Safety Council measures stopping distances at various speeds on a frozen-lake test tank.

Lower right: Skidproofing icy pavements with calcium chloride treated sand or cinders cut stopping distance in half, Iowa researchers found.

REMEMBER the days when automobiles were almost entirely a summer sport? The days when muddy roads in spring and fall, and snow-jammed roads in winter, kept motor cars in their garages from November through to May? The motorist who operated his car the year-round then was really a bear for punishment.

Paved roads, the tremendous increase in car ownership, social and business growth, have changed all this. Today the one who "puts his car up for the winter" is the rare exception. Winter use of highways has brought many advantages but along with the benefits has come an alarming increase in traffic fatalities. So serious has the winter accident record become that safety engineers and highway departments throughout the country are uniting as never before in a determined drive to reduce the heavy casualty toll.

The most treacherous road condition the winter driver has to face is icy pavements. Snow-bound roads may stop or slow travel, but icy roads spell danger with every revolution of the auto's wheels.

Tests and research studies to determine ways and means of reducing the hazards of icy pavements have been conducted during the past winter by the National Safety Council, the Iowa Engineering Experiment Station, the University of Michigan and others. As a result of these tests and similar ones now under way, engineers are developing methods of ice control that will place winter driving on a much safer basis in the future. The effectiveness of tire chains, skidproofing icy pavements with sand or cinders, and means of removing ice where possible are included in the projects.

The Iowa experiments revealed, along with other significant data, that the distance required to stop a motor vehicle on icy pavement can be cut in half by spreading a thin coat of calcium chloride treated sand or cinders over the icy surface. The calcium chloride treatment was found necessary to melt the sand or cinders into the ice, as otherwise the dry materials are easily whisked off the road by traffic and wind.

While skidproofing treatment of icy highways decreases the possibility of accidents, the measure must be looked upon as a means to accident prevention and not a cure. Along this line, a note of caution is sounded by the National Safety Council in stating, "In the final analysis, good, old-fashioned, careful, common sense driving is the best antidote for skidding and accidents on icy roads."

Engineers and highway officials are extending ice control measures as fast and far as possible to reduce the hazards of winter driving but the cause of safety will always depend to a large extent upon the headwork of the individual driver.

Cattle Feeders To Meet, Dec. 15

It's round-up time soon at Michigan State college for cattle feeders. The annual Cattle Feeders' day at the college is scheduled for Friday, Dec. 15, for presentation of today's problems in buying, feeding and marketing beef cattle.

Use of the new livestock pavilion will provide space for all of the day's events which begin at 10 a. m., says E. L. Benton, college livestock extension specialist. Reese VanVranken, climax, president of the Michigan Cattle Feeders' association, will be ringmaster.

Cattle on feed on outside farms are to be trucked in for use during talks by two Michigan farmers and feeders, Austin Cowles of St. Johns and W. D. White of Hartland. Besides their experiences and advice, the college will present current experimental results through a staff member, Professor George A. Branaman. Market representatives will add to the information available in the day's program.

Miss Betty Gilbert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Gilbert of Holly, will leave Dec. 28 for Washington, D. C., to become a member of the secretarial staff of Congressman George A. "Dodge" Messersmith. She will resign her position as secretary to President Baynton of the Pontiac Business college, a position she has held for the past two and one-half years.

A reorganization meeting of the Methodist Men's club was held Friday evening, Dec. 1, in the church house. It was an informal affair, with time given over to planning the program for the winter months. An election of officers is scheduled by the group for Thursday Dec. 14.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

LANSING—Increase of Michigan liquor sales for 1939, as compared with 1938, has exceeded the rise in farm and industrial purchasing power.

According to latest statistics, Michigan's buying income has soared $306,000,000 since Jan. 1, 1939, due chiefly to the revived automobile industry and the resultant demand for parts and accessories much of which are made in this state. In fact, Michigan leads the U. S. A. in point of new buying power. New York is next with $245,900,000 while Ohio is third with $238,000,000.

Putting this into percentages, Michigan workers have 14.4 per cent more payroll dollars to spend than they had a year ago.

Yet they have been spending (January through September) 18.6 per cent more money for alcoholic beverages. Translate all this into dollars (1938 liquor sales totaled over 37 millions) and you have a sum pretty close to seven millions.

Dead Man's Chest . . . Stevenson's "Treasure Island" the lusty cry of peep-eg John Silvers was "15 men on a dead man's chest" with a "yo, ho, ho and a bottle of rum."

Michigan's version concerning the resurrected John Barleycorn calls for three men as members of the state liquor commission and 103 million gallons of distilled spirits, wines and beer in 1938 instead of one bottle.

The state liquor control commission has a responsibility which even Gabriel would shun. It is given the task of controlling the liquor business — preventing abuse, greed and unfair trade practices — safeguarding youth from evils of alcohol-promoting temperance — and so forth. It's a big assignment!

To regulate the profit motive the state "freezes" prices and turns over to the state general fund a substantial share of revenue. During 1938, for example, liquor sales netted the state treasury $6,806,810.93, while the sale of stamps, licenses and other tax items brought in $5,084,357.35. (The state welfare appropriation for the present fiscal year was $8,750,000.)

What To Do? . . . In handling a subject as controversial as liquor, obviously the state commission must strike a "happy medium" much of the time — the middle path between two possible extremes of public opinion.

Hence answers to the following are not easy to arrive at: First, should the number of liquor outlets be reduced? Through several state administrations since repeal of the 18th amendment, the number of selling places has been gradually increased until today there are 10,324 different spots in Michigan where an adult can put down a drink. This number is exclusive of the 100-tale liquor stores. In the opinion of many observers, this number is excessively high. Too many liquor dealers, invite working at the law because of intense competition and resultant profit per outlet. On the other hand, to reduce the number below reasonable needs would only invite the return of the "blind pig" of prohibition days.

Second, when should such places be required to close? The present closing hour is 2 a. m. but there has been some agitation for a midnight limit. This matter is complicated in some places by night work shifts in mass production industry. There is also the "blind pig" alternative.

Third, how can sale of liquor to minors be prevented? The state law forbids the sale or serving of drinks to minors 18 years old or under. How is the bartender to know the youth's age? Should the state issue license cards to drinkers? (The tax implication of this one evoked a cloakroom tempest at the 1939 legislative session.)

Politics Again . . . Fourth, how can politics (or favoritism) be eliminated from the state's handling of liquor goods?

Remember, the state is the employer of 730 persons who handle and sell liquor and otherwise participate in administration and enforcement of the state act and the commission's regulations. How can favoritism be removed from selection of liquor goods for the state for sale in Michigan? (Here is a potential source of major corruption. Even the "gifts" of liquor goods to politically favored individuals at the 1937 banning Christmas season caused a mild scandal and a public rebuke from Frank Murphy, then governor.)

It has been said many times that national prohibition was largely the result of an indifferent and selfish liquor industry. Dealers and brewers in their rush for profits condoned or overlooked abuses which finally outraged sensibilities of American voters everywhere. (Contrast to this the voluntary policing of movies by the motion picture industry through Will Hays, control of baseball by the major leagues through Keneshaw Mountain Landis.)

Hence advocates of state liquor control maintain that reasonable safeguards against liquor abuses are actually for the best interests of the liquor business itself. Control thus supercedes revenue as the state's primary objective — it is social rather than economic in purpose.

Because of the importance of the above pending problems, considerable importance is being placed by Lansing observers on the appointment to be made by Governor Luren

Tea Sponsored by Latin Students

Mrs. T. J. Knapp Gives Interesting Review of Her Travels in Rome

The Latin club, sponsored by Miss E. Ions Palmer, entertained their mothers and a few guests at a tea held in Miss Palmer's room Thursday afternoon, Nov. 30.

The following guests were greeted at the door by the hostesses, Lucie Bidwell and Phyllis Hancock: Mrs. R. W. Covell, Mrs. Newton, Mrs. Litsenberger, Mrs. Starr, Mrs. A. C. Carlson, Mrs. Knight, Miss Jane Lentz, Mrs. T. J. Knapp, Mrs. Tom Edmondson, G. V. Harrison, E. C. Mollema, Charles Yahnke and Supt. R. H. Amerman.

The meeting was turned over to Carroll Carlson, president of the second year Latin club. In order to show some of the stories received from the study of Latin, the students had prepared a short program. It began with the group singing a Latin song, "Salve, Salve." Dick Simmons spoke about Latin phrases that are used every day. English words derived from Latin words were explained by Shirley Musolf. Alene Mathews showed how French words are derived from Latin to prove that the study of Latin helps one with the study of modern foreign languages. James Remaley gave a short talk on Latin abbreviations and Walter Steiner told about Latin mottos. An old college song, "Gudeamus Ignite" was sung.

Mrs. Knapp, who traveled in Rome in 1934, was the guest speaker. She gave a very interesting talk on her experiences and the places she visited in Rome, starting her discussions by reviewing some of the history of Rome. Some of the places she visited were the Vatican consisting of 11,000 rooms and the library where some of the most beautiful books in the world are kept. She also visited the Sistine Chapel, the largest and most beautiful church in the world whose ceiling was decorated by Michelangelo, the memorial to King Victor Emanuel, the Pantheon and the Coliseum. At the conclusion of her talk she offered a prize of one dollar to a member of the Latin club who writes the best review of her talk. Souvenirs of her trip were passed around. Janice Covell and Laura Jean Litsenberger gave the Latinists a creed and the program closed with the singing of "Adeste Fideles."

The tea table was arranged buffet style. The center piece was of yellow, thyme and candles.

Club News
The ninth graders are really making a showing this year. They are making themselves known to the other classes.

A committee has been formed of three girls, Shirley Nutten, Phyllis Knight and Joan McCollough, to make plans for a Christmas party. The date for the party has been set for 3:30 p. m. Friday, Dec. 22. They plan on enjoying themselves immensely and let's all hope their party goes over well.

The first hour ninth grade English class has separated into two sections. One section may have the privilege of doing as they please while the other section follows certain assignments as soon as the people that belong to the second section learn better habits in preparation they will be admitted to section one.

Through the students' efforts they have brought upon themselves highly deserved attention as well as self improvement in English.

The Hi-Y club, a branch of the National Y. M. C. A., has completed arrangements that will allow the members to get into the complete swing of their objectives. Monday night, Dec. 4, a meeting was held to elect officers and discuss plans for the future. These plans have already started to develop due to the enthusiasm of Junior Holt, who was elected president. Assisting him will be Frank Eaton, vice president; Bob Parmenter, secretary; and Dick Davis handling the finances of the club.

Included in the aims are citizenship as the ultimate aim, followed closely by plans for recreation. Members in this club are those who have not received letters in some athletic sport. Among the recreations that will be provided are swimming, bowling and basketball. Other sports will be added to this list. At present new enrollment has reached 20. The membership includes only those from the tenth to the twelfth grade. Prin G. V. Harrison and Assistant Coach Neville Walker sponsor this club. Their meetings are held at 6:30 p. m. each Monday in the grade school gymnasium. All fellows interested are urged to attend the next meeting.

The Dramatics club, directed by Miss Estelle Griffiths has begun rehearsal on a one-act play for the Christmas assembly. The name of the play is "Angels and Such."

EDITORIAL NOTES

Tuesday of next week, the Northville "Mustangs" will play their first basketball game of the new season. It will be a practice game, a practice game Nov. 29. They lost as Walled Lake, the opponent, is to the grade, but only after a hard fight in the league. The boys haven't had much practice as yet but coaches Smith and Walker report that they are working hard to get the team in shape for their first league game with Van Dyke, Dec. 15. It will not be a home game. We play on our own floor Dec. 19, with their Farmington. The girls fought a close battle in season. They lost to the grade, but only after a hard fight. Coach Ludwig says that she will have the two teams lined up in time for the next edition of the Orange and Black. Their first league game will be with Redford Union, Dec. 14, in our gym. Oh, and by the way, are you team members following training rules?

N.H.S. Mustangs To Play Walled Lake

The basketball practice sessions have started and so far the team is looking very good. Nine boys are being considered for the starting lineup for the Walled Lake game, Dec. 12. They are: Widmaier, Orr, Hartner, Fuhse, McArthur, Easton, Scholtz, Lippold and Bongiovanni. Jack Holcomb and Len Fritz, two lettermen from last year, will be out in this game because of personal difficulties. Elmer Balke, who has been out just a few days, is showing a lot of good basketball.

Besides the Walled Lake game, Van Dyke Farmington and Berkley games will be played during the last two weeks before Christmas. Farmington will be the first team to play on the Northville floor this year. The game will take place Dec. 19.

N-Club To Have Christmas Party

The Girls' N-Club held a meeting Tuesday, Dec. 5. They are to have a Christmas party Dec. 20. The committee for the party are: Carroll Carlson to plan the menu; Alene Mathews to make arrangements to get the gym; Yvonne Taylor and Phyllis Jones to procure a Christmas tree; Maxine Coe and Jane Ely to provide entertainment for the group; and Marilyn Cavell to see that Santa Claus presents each girl with a gift.

Grade Notes

The fifth and sixth graders in room 25 are planning a pet show for Dec. 18.

Thyra Papham's play will be given on Dec. 11, 1932 to be exact. Lucille Graham made her first appearance in the world at Grayton. Lucille lived there until she was 12 years old, attending the home town school and partaking in all their activities.

The sixth grade is writing a play about "Egyptians." The committee chosen to write the play includes Audrie Keller, Ann Davis, Marilyn Jane Goza, Carolyn Stevens, Joanne Litsenberger, Dorey Widmaier and June Bailey.

The fifth grade is giving a Daniel Boone play. The room is making Christmas cards, block prints, and other Christmas articles. Audrie Keller is the news reporter for our room.

Alumni Score over N.H.S. Girls' Team

The N. H. S. girls' basketball team galloped towards an exciting "Mustang" victory, but did not grasp it when they met the Alumni girls in the high school gym last Wednesday, Nov. 29.

The alumni were held to a very close game by the Mustangs. At the half the score was 11-13 in the graduates' favor. Near the end of the second half, everyone became tense and the score was tied and no baskets were being made. The game ended with a tie score, 19-19. A decision was made that two minutes be added and still the score remained tied. But after two two-minute periods were played the score was broken, and the Alumni scored the winning point.

Carroll Carlson, a sophomore, was the outstanding player in the game, scoring 12 points for the team. On the opposing team, Rose Brunansky made 10 points, making her high scorer on the Alumni team.

The lineup for the "Mustang" team was: (Forwards) Carroll Carlson, Ruth Parmenter and Mary Fratt; (guards) Marilyn (Mac) Cavell, Ida Marie Walker and Yvonne Taylor. Substitutes: Phyllis Jones (F), Alene Mathews (F), Jane Ely (F), Maxine Coe (G).

Alumni team players included: (Forwards) Rose Brunansky, Helen Kimmel and Betty Haystead; (guards) Marian Turnbull, Helen VanSickle and Kathryn Masberger. Substitutes: Gilberta Osborn (G), Lucille Cavell (F), Mary Geraghty (G). Assistant boys' coach, Neville Walker, did a fine job of refereeing.

Senior Sketch

All vest on a bleak winter day, Dec. 11, 1932 to be exact. Lucille Graham made her first appearance in the world at Grayton. Lucille lived there until she was 12 years old, attending the home town school and partaking in all their activities. Then the Graham family moved to Carleton where she attended the Long Bridge school. Here, Lucille formed some of her favorite hobbies such as reading, playing tennis and many other pastimes that all young girls enjoy. Two years later they moved to Novi, where they live at the present time. She went to the school there for one year and is finishing at Northville high. Lucille is going to college but at the present, she hasn't made up her mind where.

Projects Started by Shop Students

New Electrical Fire Alarm Is Installed in High School Shop

The first and third hour classes in machine wood working are reviewing the fundamental hand tool process by way of assigned reading and written lessons. These lessons are assigned each Monday and are checked and discussed in class on Tuesday. Several major projects have been started in these classes, including a radio cabinet, a book case, a kitchen cabinet, three desks, and various small tables. Several of these projects are of black walnut and should develop into fine pieces of furniture. Some of the students have learned to do French polishing on the lathe, and a number of attractive wood turning projects have been completed.

The general shop class, of 20 students, is divided into seven groups. Each group is assigned for six week periods on each of the following units of work: in turn, mechanical drawing, wood working, bench metal, ornamental iron, art metal, sheet metal and electricity. At the end of the school year each student will have worked through all of the units. They are now just starting their third unit, Robert Stremick and Kay Stevens, who were working on the electrical unit, recently installed an electric fire alarm in the shop, as the noise of the machines, and hammering of metals have prevented the students from hearing the general fire alarm.

The eighth grade boys are working on various small tables and stools. The seventh grade boys have learned to make a bill of materials, make a simple working drawing, compute the cost of stock in the project assigned to them, and to know the exact procedure in doing a job.

Several model yachts and one model sailing vessel have been started this year so there should be quite a fleet of model ships ready to go, the water by spring.

Studying electrical engineering at Michigan State college.

Allan Götto was born in Detroit on Aug. 5, 1921. After 11 years he moved to Novi where he attended the fifth grade. At the age of 12, he moved to Northville. In the eighth grade at N. H. S., Allan joined the band and choir. He sings baritone and plays solo cornet.

third and fourth place awards last year. Fifth, sixth and seventh placements were given to the Fred

The cup was first awarded six years ago by Robert Yerkes as an incentive to have the business district made as festive as possible during the holiday weeks.

Carl Ely is chairman of the Chris-mas tree party. Supporting him on the committee are A. Russell Clarke and Lloyd Miliken. The club has appropriated $100 to be used for the project. Funds have been raised in the main by the weekly parties at Norton's Hall. The sponsoring of a community Christmas tree by the club is a continuation of a custom which was revived by the organization last year.

When plans for the Christmas activities were discussed Wednesday noon by the club at large, the Rev.
Harry J. Lord talked about the club and its relation to the community program as a whole.

Chinese Puppet Meets Jap Puppeteers

Wang Ching Wei, left, latest Chinese puppet with whom the Japanese are attempting to establish a new Chinese government, jokes with two officers of the friendly Japanese staff. Wang has been branded a traitor by countrymen loyal to Chiang Kai-shek, and his life is forfeit should he fall into Chiang's hands.

ROTARY

Germany, a headline carried a line stating that Poland wanted Prussia in exchange for the Polish Corridor. Much warlike activity was evidenced in England, and everywhere

Hitler had cast his shadow in the hearts and minds of the people.
Mr. Miller thought it would be futile for this country to take sides, and the true mission of our country was to help to bring, and make a lasting peace, seek a better solution for European hatreds, and suspicious so hoary with age.

Speaking on the subject, "Dodging War in Europe," Mr. Miller alluded to an experience homewardbound, when he witnessed an encounter between two destroyers and a German submarine. In part, Mr. Miller's experience ran briefly as follows:

As we steamed out into the Irish sea and headed north between Ireland and England, the two passenger ships were about a quarter of a mile apart while on left and right were the two British destroyers that were to convey us through the danger zone.

"I seemed quite thrilling for a while," he continued. "But nothing unpleasant and, as is always the case with human beings, we began to take it all for granted. The sun descended directly behind the northern half of the Isle of Man on our left. It threw up around the island a beautiful crimson glow which we were watching.

"Suddenly I heard two or three explosions. They sounded muffled but powerful. From my position at the rail I peered intently ahead. I could see nothing.

"The man at my side grasped my arm. 'Did you see that?' he exclaimed.

"He pointed to the destroyer on our left. It had let loose depth charges that sent up great columns of water higher than the ship. A signal light blinked some kind of a message to our ship as the destroyer turned sharply and raced back over the course it had just covered.

"It dropped another depth bomb, proceeded perhaps half a mile, then turned and retraced its course once again.

"Another message was sent to us by blinker code. It just happened that several British navy signallers were aboard as passengers and some of them told us the message reported bringing up oil and a little debris.
Those are the signs that a submarine has been burst open by explosions.

"Later, a member of our gun crew told my daughter that he and three of his mates had seen the submarine. Officers of our ship also declared that there was no doubt a submarine was detected and destroyed in true British fashion nothing official was issued."

When air-raid sirens blare out their warnings to take cover, Lon-scream for the bomb-proof shelter. The coverlet is shown at left as a
