CAPITAL PROBLEMS

Our greatest national problem is the approaching shortages in producing capacity for steel, airplanes, possibly later for automobiles, certainly now for explosives, cannon and many lesser munitions. Nobody can expect "business as usual." Military and naval needs must have an absolute right-of-way.

But that principle must not be permitted to ride roughshod over civilian necessities or to avoidable staggering of our economic system unless these sacrifices are the only way—especially if they are a worse way—to attain our real end, which is the quickest and the greatest concentration of our men and metal at every threatened point.

There is another principle, which is very apt to be forgotten among defense executives under constant fire of criticism and staggering responsibility for particular results, with none responsible for the combined result. It is that maintenance of civilian morale is of equal or greater importance as compared with the maintenance of military morale.

A modern war is not merely a matter of battles between armed forces. It is, to an equal or even greater degree, a death struggle between economic systems—entire nations mobilized for war from the most remote farm or factory to the actual battle line. Employment must be maintained, prices stabilized, hardships minimized to the full extent that this is possible without reducing military and naval prowess—and especially if this is possible with an effect of increasing that progress.

It is easy and specious to say that the way to increase available mobility and naval steel is to increase steel mills faster, to the way to increase available military aircraft is to put the production of civilian transport planes and the way to motorize infantry divisions is to take all automotive truck production to equip the army.

A series of parades and caroling events will be held for the various departments of the Sand School during the week. The church services are used in the Baptist church.

After a general organization service on Dec. 19, Sunday, the Methodist Church School will give a play, with members of the Epworth League joining the Sandusky School to make up the cast. The choir will also assist. The play is "The Lost Christians," in which the principal actor dreams of a world in which Christ had not come. This program is open to the members of the congregation as well as the church school.

The drama presentation will be followed immediately by a special worship hour, an antiphonal arrangement between the pastor and choir. Mrs. Henry Blake will play instrumental numbers on the violin, accompanied by Mrs. Barton Connor on the organ for the prelude, offertory and postlude.

The numbers will be "Because Jesus" by Godard, "Ave Maris Stella" by Edward Greg, and "Holy Night" by Adolph Achar. Persons will be recruited into church membership at this time.

The Christmas program and party for the presbytery and junior departments will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday, in the church house. A white gift offering will be taken at both the Sunday and Monday services.

At the Presbyterian church, the Rev. Dr. T. W. Smith will deliver

250 Persons See First Exhibition in Ring at Gym

Bouts Are Sponsored This Year by Scouts and Recreation Department

The first boxing exhibition of the season was held Tuesday evening, Dec. 17, in the ring at the high school gym, with Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, South Lyon, Northville and Novi having contestants in the bouts which were witnessed by some 250 persons.

In the first bout, Fred Smith of Novi, met Lawrence Smith, also of Novi. Both boys weighed in at 65 pounds and their boxing was as equal as their weight—the fight ended in a draw.

Dave Bell of Scout Troop N-7, defeated Earl Croll of the same troop, in one of the best bouts of the evening. The boys were well matched and the winner was decided, Dec. 13, 1938.

Other officers to assume their chairs during the installation were: William Duguid, senior warden; Howard Atwood, junior warden; Harold Pencler, senior deacon; Ivan Gray, junior deacon; Robert P. Coolman, secretary; C. J. Smith, treasurer; Cecil Fry and J. Tremain, stewards; John McCulley, Tyler; Clifford Sundin, chaplain.

Raphael Metzetal was the installing officer.

Tom Hancock of Scout Troop N-7, defeated Robert McGhee, also of N-7, in a good bout.

Mr. Towens, who has gained recognition recently for his photographic contributions in the Free Press' graphic section, began his newspaper work in 1926 as a photo- grapher for the Springfield (Mass.) Republican. He was later staff photographer for the Federal Housing Administration, the Washington Sun and the Settlement Administration in Washington. He is with the Free Press for the past four years.

Mr. Haskins is a feature writer, being the author of "Biography in Brief" and "The World This Week."

At one time, he assisted with special writing for The Plymouth Mail.

Wishes for Peace Are Penned by Minister in Yule Message

Following the custom which has been a tradition of The Record for many years, a Christmas message is printed from the pen of a Northville minister. This year, the message is written by the Rev. Fr. Joseph Schramm of Our Lady of Victory church.

Cy Hughes of Ann Arbor displayed some clever boxing before knocking out Pat Bonner of South Lyon, in the second round.

In the best bout of the evening, Dave Grubbs of Ann Arbor, and Clyde Oldendorf of Ypsilanti, battled to a draw. Both boys showed a lot of boxing skill and both were very fast.

The show was sponsored jointly by the Recreation department and the Boy Scouts. George Risher was the emcee.

My Gift . . .

What shall I give for Christmas?
It's been troubling me no end.
What can I give to folks this year,
When I have so little to spend.

In a flash one day came the answer,
At last I had seen the light.
Give of yourself this Christmas,
And things will come out all right.

Give kindness and understanding
And plenty of sympathy, too;
Take time to be a good listener,
When friends bring their trouble to you.

Do your best to be a good neighbor
To the lonely old lady next door;
Speak a word of appreciation,
To the first clerk at the store.

If you can't give someone a motor car,
You can give a friend a ride;
If you can't entertain on a lavish scale,
You can share your home with pride.

And what a lovely gift 'twould be,
To have mother happy and glad.
Instead of tense and grieving,
For the things that can't be had.

Yes— I think I've caught a vision,
Of what Christmas really should be;
And I'm giving myself this season
To my friends and family.

Note: The above poem was very kindly handed us by a friend from the corner — "a real Christmas poem," quoth he, and searching for our greeting to you — we found nothing so genuinely typical of our conception of Christmas as this poem. We know not its author, but pass it on through the kindly thoughtfulness of a Northville friend.

At Christmas . . .

Another year finds us on the threshold of the joyous Christmas time. We are thankful that we may join with you in this season of joy, happiness, good fellowship and in the spirit of peace on earth, good will toward men. This season of the year brings to touch of kindness and contemplation, so many friendly regards . . . deeper affections . . . and we somehow know they are here all the time — for we meet this Spirit of Christmas along the way every day in word and deed. But at Christmas time the very atmosphere here . . . sweeps aside all other thing in a wave of friendliness and affection. And isn't it just such a grand climax to all the kindly thoughts and actions of the year so near an end? Let us resolve to make this truly Merry Christmas by contributing our share of encouragement and joy.

Christmas Day we are again privileged to celebrate the most important event in all human history . . . THE BIRTH OF CHRIST. His deep significance, the courage and hope it has given to countless generations . . . all that it means to you and yours . . . its far-reaching effect upon generations yet unborn . . . are too often forgotten in our pursuit of pleasure and the routine of our daily life.

And yet our civilization that molds the decencies and sanctities of life found their inception on this sacred day. In this hour, when most of the world is torn by strife and hate, raise a prayer for those unhappy peoples held in the throes of war and oppression, and THANK GOD YOU ARE AN AMERICAN.

Christmas at School

The very first place in Northville to break out with Christmas was our public school. In that beehive of youthful enthusiasm, teacher and pupil have been thinking, planning, talking and working Christmas for weeks. And it is no wonder that those beautiful Christmas decorations on the windows of the grade school first heralded the oncoming of Christmas. Twice a day we have feasted our eyes upon those Christmas decorations on the windows of the school . . . as many times have we thought how lovely, how beautiful and how grand the inspiration to our children — if poor "we" passing in our ear felt the very pulse of Christmas as we only passed by. Yes, if you want to get the real Christmas spirit you should have visited your school these days just prior to the holiday . . . you would know the story it tells of Christmas, you'd know the feeling it raises, and you'd know that Christ is in the air.

Last year we marvelled at the display, and when the wind display vanished and bare clear windows took their place we felt that something had passed from the atmosphere of the school and of the community. This year we are told these Yule tide displays may cheer us and greet us all through the season even up to and including New Year's Day. May we humbly congratulate our school, our teachers and our pupils for their splendid contribution to the Spirit of Christmas in our midst and throughout the community.

"FORGOTTEN"

Your Northville . . .

And how grand our business section looks this holiday time. Lights of holiday colors, evergreen strands, festoons, wreaths, candles, lighted trees and Christmas inspiration visible in myriad forms and shapes. And the windows with their lights, and displays of attractive gifts makes one wonder why all this . . . what inspires it . . . who does it, and why? You know and so do I. And why, well just visualize a year without its holidays — no Fourth of July, no Thanksgiving, no Christmas — and then you will know what inspires folks. Why little children? Why Santa Claus, and why we all love each other. Christmas Eve drive about town, comment and give your ideas of our civic beauty. Listen to travellers praise the village, and then drive out east and return toward Northville on the Seven Mile road. As you top the hill stop a moment and gaze upon your village in gay array . . . and know this is YOUR NORTHVILLE.

Decorate your home for Christmas — share it with others by making the exterior of your home Christmasy — already many are entering their homes in the Christmas decoration contest — not so much for the prizes of which there are three of cash and a silver loving cup — but to the uplift and joy of sharing with others and adding something of beauty and attractiveness to the village.

Superstitions About Christmas

SIGNIFICANT meanings surround Christmas, according to superstitions believed in various parts of the world. In Holstein, Mistetoe is not only supposed to be a cure for all green wounds, but will insure success in the chase and give strength to the wrestler.

Early Norwegians believed for centuries that the Mistetoe would give protection against both bodily ailments and evil spirits.

A person who is born on Christmas will have power to see and command spirits, according to a Scottish belief.

French peasants believe that babies born on Christmas have the gift of prophecy.

If a baby is born at sermon time on Christmas Eve in Middle Europe, it portends that someone in the house will die within the year.

Daughters born in the Vosges, France, on December 25 will be wise, witty and virtuous.

A baby born on Christmas in Silesia will become either a lawyer or a thief.

In the ancient Duchy of Swabia's section missed the opportunity offered by Christmas to look into the future at their future husbands. On Christmas Eve they would go to the woodpile to draw sticks. If a girl pulled a thick stick, her husband would be stout; if a long stick, he would be tall; if a crooked stick, he would be deformed. They would determine the business of their future by the way it was broken.

It is said that bread baked on Christmas in England never becomes moldy.

Ashes must not be thrown out on Christmas day in some sections of Europe, for fear they might be thrown into the Saviour's face.

Some families in Scandinavia place all their shoes together on Christmas. This will cause them to live a turn throughout the year.

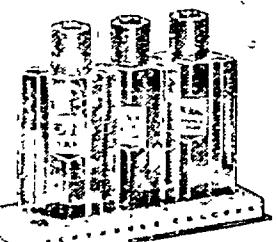

Attending the Ford House in Detroit, Sunday evening were: Dr. N.

C. Kephart, Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Hutton, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schnute, the Rev. and Mrs. E. E. Rossow and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Johnson.

That's easy—everyone who sees it feels she must have it. Three of Lucien Lelong's grandest Colognes in one exciting package. She'll like your letter if you give it!

Our Christmas Wish for You

MAY EVERYBODY this Christmas get back the faith and trust of the little child. The faith that moves mountains and fills stockings.

May all those who have grown up regain the illusions they may have lost, and face the world with renewed trust and good fellowship. That is the Christmas wish we make for you and the hope we cherish for others.

That Faith will Bring a Prosperous New Year

THE ORANGE AND BLACK

A get-together of several school chums of Helen Dixon was held in honor of her sixteenth birthday at Jane Ely's house last Wednesday. After the theatre, the girls returned to Jane's house for sandwiches, coke, ice cream and cake. All yes, the birthday cake. It was the cause for much merriment, as it was made by Jane Behen. She really paid for it, with all the raising she got. In fact, one member of the party was unable to come to school the next morning.

EDITORIALS

As Christmas rolls around once more, we are all excited by this jolly and poor alike in Europe. There time of the year. During the yule, is not one of us who does not wish tide the students should be doubly that these unfortunate people could be having a Merry Christmas and be spending their yuletide season enjoying themselves in the Christmas customs of their own countries. But for all of Europe's suffering we of America will enjoy our Christmas trees, Santa Claus, mistletoe, plum pudding and turkey. So with a merry chirricle and a wink of the eye, we wish everyone a Merry Christmas.

This is the time when we of America are filled with the thoughts of sending cards and giving gifts rather than sorrow and hunger.

Northville Drops League Game

Melvindale Takes First Home Encounter, 35-27, Friday

The Northville Mustangs lost their first league basketball encounter with Melvindale, Friday, with a score of 35-27.

Their weakness at the foul line throughout the game and their careless guarding and passing in the second half cost the Mustangs

Around the School

Because of bad weather, the Latin II Club postponed their trip to Ann Arbor until a later date.

The group enjoyed a Christmas Party Friday, Dec. 20. They gave a play called the "Saturnalia" which had to do with a Roman holiday falling at about the same time as our Christmas. The following students took part: Ralph Hay, Donald Butler, Walter Sterner, James Remaley and James Murray. Songs in Latin were sung, games were played, and gifts exchanged. The refreshments were ice cream and cookies.

Dorothy Jane Congo entertained the French club at a Christmas party given at her home. Gifts were exchanged.

The Book-Worms' club invited the rest of the members of Miss Jane Palmer's home room to a Christmas entertainment and party today. Carol ear Revizer had charge of the program which consisted of Christmas in other lands. Refreshments were served, and gifts were exchanged.

On Dec. 16, Gertrude Gatten, Imogene Baughman, Marjorie Penberthy and Betty Stukell posed for a Detroit Free Press photographer in getting pictures of the water wheel at the Ford Plant and of the spring.

Our new coach, Thomas W. Wells, besides teaching the seventh eighth and ninth grade general science classes has also a class in American Government. These classes along with his duties as the assistant coach in charge of the second team in basketball make his schedule quite complete.

The French I class received their monthly issue of the Le Petit Journal. The class finds their vocabulary increasing with every copy and very smart now that they are able to read an article without looking all the words up.

Home Making II class are making cookies and candy for Christmas. Some of the varieties are peanut clusters, peanut brittle, chocolate marshmallows, and fresh butter candy. Some of the cookies are: butterscotch bars, date and nut bars or rolled sugar cookies.

Pat Klein, a graduate from the Northville class of 1940, is vacationing from her school duties at Wayne University. She visited N.H.S. Monday. Pat now lives in Detroit.

Because Friday was the thirteenth, the American Government test was postponed until Tuesday, Dec. 17.

Cards with both boys and girls basketball schedules on them are being made. You can get them from any student council member. They are free.

Classes will run right through until 3:30 p.m. Friday.

The Student Council is issuing a plan for the students to stay off the school lawn especially while it is soft.

The seventh grade Honor Roll did not appear in last week's paper, but fortunately there is one honor student, Peggy Behen, who had 6 B's.

Monday morning we had a pleasant surprise. A big, beautiful Christmas tree stood on the stage in the assembly with pretty blue, red and red lights.

New managers have been chosen for the girls' basketball team. They are Norma Hoagton and Mary Hollis, chosen by vote from the junior high, which sponsors girls' basketball.

A brief assembly was held here shortly before noon last Friday, an assembly with two-fold purpose of wishing Coach Harry B. Smith farewell and welcoming Thomas and Blue Citizens club. The officers are: president, Marilyn Goza; vice-president, Andrew Tokar; secretary-treasurer, Helen Toma; and C. Nollens has been busily work-

TONIGHT'S GAME

Tonight the Mustangs will play their second league game of the season with Van Dyke in the Van Dyke gym. Both first and second teams promise hard-fought games.

the game. Out of 23 fouls, Northville made good only 15, while Melvindale shot 11 successful baskets out of 18.

Northville was very close to the Cardinals at one time in the third period — being only two baskets behind — but the boys became excited and began throwing wild passes, thus failing to out-score their opponents.

Coach Neville Walker expects a definite improvement after vacation, for Ray Hartner, Jack Holcomb and Eugene Cole — who have been out due to injuries — will return to the squad. Their mere presence will stimulate the team's spirit and strengthen their hopes for a top berth in the league contest.

(Continued from front page) Cats, will be held at 7 p.m. Dec. 24, at the Village Hall. It is expected that some 600 children will attend.

The "Christmas" party and the scene decorations have been made possible through contributions which came from the business men and through an appropriation made by the village council. The list of individual contributors was published last week. Since that time Sessions Hospital has donated $100 to the cause.

There's a lot of fun to it! Between 20,000 and 30,000 persons are being invited to the round's payroll during the holiday rush, and the turnover should raise total 1940 sales for the year to at least last year's volume of nearly $100,000,000.

Comfort for Preacher A Seventeenth century English clergyman poet said that always when the sermon was just unbearable, God Himself came to him and said, "This frets you beyond bearing, and yet I am putting up with you."

Memories of the senior Christian Endeavor will have a candle-light service at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, in the Presbyterian manse.
